

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1947

No. 1

Williams Football Squad Faces Middlebury October 4th One Hundred Nine Given Degrees At Commencement

Sachs, Redlich, Cole Address Large Crowd

Johnson Comments On Russo-U. S. Relations In Keynote Address

Sees Situation As 'Cold-War' In Talk

Sachs Is Valedictorian; Award To Redlich

by J. Edward Pawlick

Misunderstanding between Russia and the United States is the main cause of the two power "cold-war" in the world today, Professor Joseph E. Johnson, former member of the State Department, said last Friday before the 109 members of Williams College's 158th graduating class.

Russians have driven American delegates and representatives through a cycle of "puzzled bewilderment, then mounting frustration, and finally anger", he continued. "In most cases, understanding has come eventually and with it at least outward calm."

Redlich Awarded Prize

Howard F. Sachs delivered the Valedictory Address at the Chapin Hall exercises while Norman Redlich and Charles F. Cole were the two speakers elected by the class. Redlich received the Dewey prize.

Professor Johnson, who has just returned to Williams after a wartime leave of absence with the Foreign Policy Planning Staff, added that there are many examples of Russia's misunderstanding the United States, the most obvious example being their complete lack of comprehension of our freedom of the press.

Problems Novel

The novelty of the world's problems is another one of the difficulties facing us, Professor (See GRADUATION Page 7)

Surveys Find Library Light Below Normal

Recommendations Made For Improvement of Improper Lighting

Recommendations for the improvement of lighting conditions in the main reading room and the stack cubicles of Stetson Library have been made by Willis E. Wright, College Librarian, to Treasurer Charles D. Makepiece. First acquainted with the improper lighting by a survey presented to the RECORD last spring, Mr. Wright conducted a personal survey during the recent summer term which substantially verified the original report. On the strength of the two experiments, it has been recommended that a lighting engineer be consulted to determine the best method of rectifying the situation.

Intensity Low

The Record survey, carried out by Stuart H. Jacobs, '47, and John H. Birchall, '48, showed that light intensities in the rooms where students study were generally below the desirable 50-100 foot-candle level and often below the minimum acceptable standards of 20-50 foot-candles. Conditions at night were found

(See LIGHTING Page 2)

Baxter Gives Baccalaureate

President Supports Marshall Scheme

"Never has a nation faced a graver question than the proper implementation of the Marshall plan," President James P. Baxter, UI, said in his Baccalaureate address at the Thompson Memorial Chapel last Thursday evening.

"On economic grounds we cannot afford to let Europe go under for we have too great a stake in it. Tradition of Aid

"Our great tradition of aid to those in need reinforces the economic and strategic arguments for helping Europe to save itself. Let us tighten our belts rather than keep more than we need on this side, and make sure that we send all that is needed to the other."

Taking as his text, "this side for ourselves; this side for others," President Baxter began by stressing the importance of charitable and civic contribution. He commented that the text had always seemed to him "too good to be confined to the problem of sharing church funds between the parish and the mission field."

How Much?

"Let me use it tonight," he said, "in a wider context. How much of our income, how much of our total effort, shall we set aside for ourselves and our families; how much shall we devote to improving local, state, national and international affairs?"

Because our country is so much stronger and wealthier than any other, "we must shoulder a large share of the world's obligation to advance knowledge and promote well being," President Baxter continued.

Double Meaning

He stated that he had chosen his text for two reasons. "First because I think the problem of when and how to give is not simply a problem for the rich and gray-beards but one for the whole body of our people."

"Secondly because we must make, in the next few months, one of the crucial decisions of all time, on the amount and character of the aid we shall furnish Europe."

Summer Visitors Hit Fraternities, Lack Of Women, And Cut System; Otherwise Think Williams Is Fine

by Bob Rupen, '48

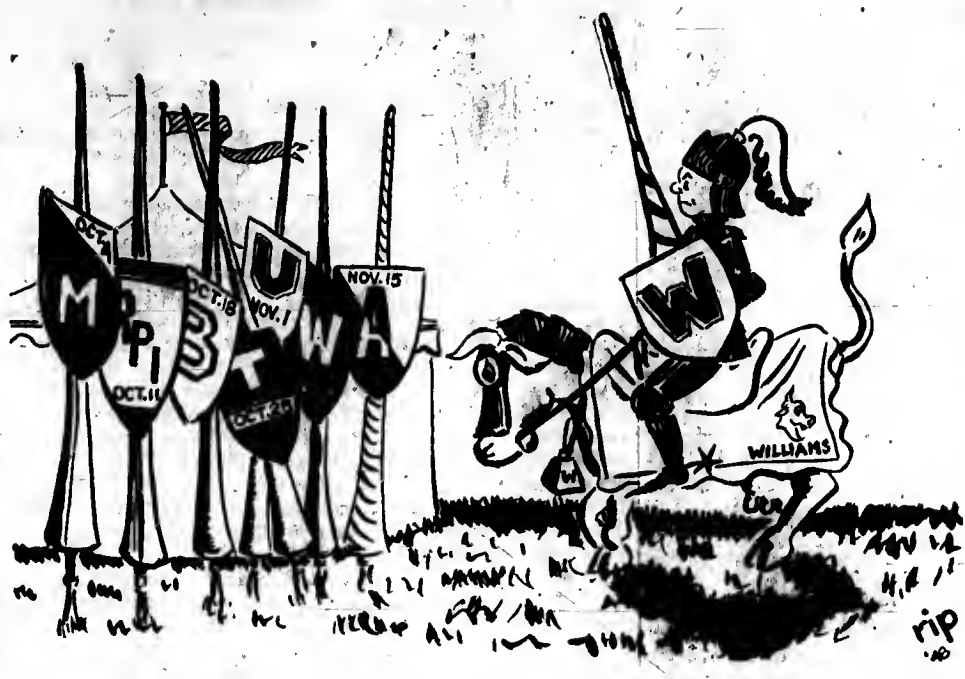

"Much too strong a fraternity system," "There aren't enough women around here," and "The cut system is terrible," were the most regularly expressed comments of the summer students from other colleges, when questioned as to their opinions about Williams.

Presented below are some of the specific comments, source identified by name and school:

George Stewart, Wesleyan: "It's nothing but a glorified prep school. The honor system shows little faith in anyone's honesty, with its juvenile signed pledges and alternate seating arrangements. There is too much textbook-teaching by the younger instructors; the cut system is a farce. However, the scholastic standard is as high as it is at Wesleyan."

Fraternities Isolated

Don Holmes, Amherst: "Everyone should eat together; there should be greater sociability. There is just too much fraternity isolation. Philosophy classes should not be held at 8 a.m. With-

Forty-Eight In Air Corps Unit

Seven Army Personnel To Direct Program

Thirty-five freshmen and thirteen upperclassmen have joined the Air ROTC Unit installed at Williams this fall. Four officers and three enlisted men commanded by Lt. Colonel Joseph A. Greco have been assigned to direct the program.

All cadets will be trained as Army Air Corps Supply Officers but they may volunteer for pilot training after graduation. An effort is also being made to provide voluntary flight training for all cadets in their senior year.

Two Years Elementary Courses

The first two years will be elementary training and cadets will only receive one credit for the two year's work while juniors and seniors will receive regular credit for the course. Thus students will be required to take five courses plus the ROTC program one year while they need only four plus the ROTC the other three years.

Freshmen who have not had any previous military training must take the four year course; if they have had six months training, they (See ROTC Page 3)

President Baxter Reveals Overcrowding, Able Faculty In Greeting Class Of '51

by Pres. James P. Baxter, III

The total number of men and women students on American campuses this fall has reached an all time high of over 2,500,000, ten per cent over last year's figure. Since facilities have not expanded as rapidly as enrollments, there is much crowding. Three or four beds go where two went before, and the share of a teacher's attention to which the average student can lay claim has grown steadily smaller.

The educational procedures which have come to be regarded as the most effective, such as small sections, honors work, and tutorial instruction, have gone pretty generally into the discard, because of the shortage of qualified teachers. Now the typical classroom is a large lecture hall.

Faculty Sufficient

On the Williams campus, we shall be well below our wartime maximum. Even so, three students will sleep where two slept before the war and there will be heavy pressure on our library and on our laboratories. But we have succeeded in enlarging our Faculty sufficiently to cope with the increased registration. Sections will be small enough for the easy give and take of classroom discussion on which we set such store.

For the first time in our history we have an Air Force ROTC on the Williams campus, which will permit a portion of our undergraduate body to qualify as reserve officers of this important service while in residence at Williams. We all extend a most cordial welcome to Colonel Greco, Major Cosgrove and the other members of their unit.

Professors Return

The History Department rejoices

Record Competitions To Start October 8

The first meeting for Record editorial and business staff will be held Wednesday, October 8, at 8:00 p. m. in the Record's Jesup Hall offices.

The competitions will deal mainly with weekly stories and office duty for editorial competes and works concerned with advertisements and subscriptions for the business staff. Since the Record will now be publishing two issues a week, many positions are open on both staffs.

es at the return, after five years' absence, of Professor Joseph E. Johnson from the Department of State, where he had been serving as a member of the top planning staff. The Physics Department hails the return of Associate Professor Alfred Emsie after six years of radar research at M.I.T. and Harvard. Williams graduates added to the faculty include James M. Burns, a former President of the Garfield Club, a new Assistant Professor of Political Science; and William B. Gates, outstanding in his undergraduate days for developing panel discussions by students and teachers, who comes to us as a Lecturer in Economics.

David Truman, former Assistant Professor of Government at Harvard will offer a new course in Public Opinion, using the rich materials so generously given to Williams not long ago by Elmo Roper, the creator of the "Fortune" Survey. Albert Keep, who resigned the headmastership of Berkshire School in 1942 to enter the Army takes over a new administrative post as Assistant Dean, and Robert Lowe comes to us from Princeton as Visiting Assistant (See WELCOME Page 3)

Record Clears Frosh Queries Informal Rushing Data Given By Reporter

by John F. Shepard '47

The purpose of rushing at Williams is to get each man located in one of the sixteen social units. Part of the Rushing Agreement that every entering freshman (and all others) must sign forbids him from talking about the social units with any upperclassmen during the rushing period.

This policy of silence is to allow the rushee to make a free choice, to eliminate the "Barefoot Boy with Cheek" type of pledging. Kidnapping is probably no longer a real threat to the freshman; but persuasion on the basis of "this house is the only house which will give you a car, free board and a case of beer..." is quite properly considered undesirable.

Because this rule of silence on rushing matters does not give an opportunity to ask some very pertinent questions, the RECORD here presents some points about the social units at Williams. The one man who can talk to the indi-

(See REPORTER Page 2)

Football Team To Start 61st Season Away

16 Lettermen Returning Squad Faces Tough Seven Tilt Schedule

Team Drilled For Almost One Month

Many Frosh Strengthen Eleven For Saturday

by Russell B. Rost, '49 and Clark Kent, '50

On Saturday, October 4, the Williams College football team will open its sixty-first season by tangling with the Middlebury Panthers in Middlebury's Porter Stadium. This game will lead the Ephs on their way through a stiff seven-game schedule, concluding with the traditional rival, Amherst, on November 15.

For this schedule head coach "Whoop" Snively has been preparing his team since early September. Of the fifty-five candidates, sixteen lettermen from last year's squad, plus eighteen men up from last year's freshmen team, form the backbone of the 1947 outfit.

Future and Past

This year's first eleven will have many of last year's faces on it. Whether last year's playing together has improved them substantially remains to be seen. The game Saturday could well be a yardstick for the answer to this question, since Middlebury also has much the same material as last year.

Saturday's game will be the twenty-fourth of a series started in 1906. Of twenty-three games, Williams has won nineteen and lost but four. The last one Williams lost to Middlebury was in 1939, by a 7-0 score. Since that time the Purple has run through (See FOOTBALL Page 5)

Rushing Week Launched For Non-Members

Saturday Holiday After First Rushing Session; Pledge Night Oct. 7

Rushing of the 282 members of the class of 1951, which started with two nights of prowling, Sunday and Monday, September 23 and 24, has now advanced into the middle of the first period. After a holiday on Saturday, the second period will begin Sunday, October 4, at 7:30 p.m.

Under the watchful eye of Rushing Arbiter, Frank R. Thoms, '31, the first period of rushing has been in progress since Tuesday, September 30 at 7:30 p.m. in fifty minute periods.

Second Period

Freshmen and other rushees may pick up their second period bids in the arbiter's office in Jesup Hall between 9 and 10 a.m. Sunday, October 4, and must return them by 1 p.m. with the preferred periods indicated.

The last date Monday, October 5, is the preferential, with the sub-preferential period immediately previous. Except that they may not be moved up to either of these last two hours, any of the dates may be interchanged or discarded to suit the rushees' convenience. (See RUSHING Page 3)

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879. Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 News Editor
JOSHUA T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Briggs Bough, '48
Charles R. Fetter, '48
James C. Forsyth, II, '48
C. Hugh Klensch, '48
H. Russell Platt, '48
John H. Schofer, '48
Peter M. Thexton, '48

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Acting Advertising Manager Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock, '49

ART BOARD

Photographic Editor Howard N. Wedelstoedt, '50
Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Feich, '48

VOL. LXI

OCTOBER 1, 1947

No. 1

Another For '51

Up to this point the Class of 1951 has had five official welcomes—three from President Baxter, in the AMI, at his reception, and on the first page of this paper; one from the UC; and one from their faculty advisers. Here is the sixth, from the editorial and business boards of the RECORD. But buck-up, '51, you probably have one more coming to you Friday night at the College Assembly.

This Is Not Your Paper

When Williams students consider the RECORD their paper, they are, in part, making a mistake. We print their news and what other news we hope may be of interest to them. We try to give them accurate information on what will take place and when. We try to serve the best interest of the College. But actually the RECORD belongs to, and is controlled by, only those who work for it.

Last year we were in what some people termed "hot water." We printed and followed-up a story of racial discrimination in a local barbershop. Among some segments of the undergraduate body there was talk of "ringing" the editor, and perhaps the whole editorial board. Soon after "the barbershop case", which was won by the complainant in the local court, we lost some, only SOME, advertising. But the RECORD—editor, editorial board, and all—finished out the year without anyone losing his position.

Since the paper belongs to, and is controlled by, only those who work for it, it is natural that the editorials and the by-line columns represent the views of the board and the staff writers, respectively. They reflect the opinions of the whole campus only insofar as the individuals responsible for the copy reflect these opinions.

The RECORD has a reputation for being a "crusader". We feel that there is a need for such newspapers. And we intend, on every occasion, to keep right on being a "crusader". The RECORD will make every endeavor to avoid muckracking, as it will make every endeavor to avoid glossing over any unnecessary evils.

On the first page of this issue is a story on lighting conditions in the Stetson Library. From information given us in a survey by two undergraduates, we decided that it was a situation which needed correction. After hearing Mr. Wright's version we published our story. We intend to see, not only that the facts are known, but that something constructive is done about them.

The RECORD, however, does not plan to go hide behind the Delta Phi House. We welcome, and will print if so desired, any suggestions or criticisms that our readers may have. And if any student wants to purchase a share in a RECORD "crusade", the price is his time, and the place is at the first RECORD compet meeting.

Reporter - - -

vidual freshman on the subject of rushing is the arbiter. It is part of his job to assist any one going to him for advice.

Which Is Best?

There are few students at Williams who do not think that their society is the best one. Some have more Gargoyles than others, some more football players. The question that the social units asks about each man whom they meet is, "Would he fit at this house?" The same sort of test is the best one that an individual can apply. The best house is the one that has the largest number of men that the freshman would like to be friends with for the next few years.

Expenses are usually not mentioned until pledge night. Some units are slightly more expensive than others, but some rough averaging can be done. The fraternities' charges for a semester for board, dues, and other expenses average between $250 and $275. Room is between $75 and $90 a term. The initiation fee—paid only once, at initiation time—averages $75. It was estimated last year that the Garfield Club would cost a man about $100 less a term.

Financial Help

All houses and the Club offer waiting jobs to men who want to earn all or part of their board. In addition, there are one or two paying jobs such as treasurer or steward in most units.

The opportunity of living in the houses has recently been restricted to juniors and seniors. Government within the units is up to the members, however, and the sophomore has a voice as well as the senior.

Hazing and Hell Week have been modified or eliminated in most units. Physical violence is forbidden and the custom in most units is to require some work on the house or in the dining-room. Initiation is held early in the second semester, usually, with a dignified ceremony being the order in most houses.

Rushing itself is confusing to most men who have seen only the individual's side. The best advice about it is to follow instructions as they are given. The important part is not the mechanics of selection but the choosing of the right group. Attention should be devoted to sizing up each place to which one is invited. And the size of the lawn in front of a house is no more important than the people in the house.

Faculty Forum

by James M. Burns

Assistant Professor of Political Science

Before long now the Adviser—the daily newspaper of Williams College—will be filled with notices about competitions for publications, dramatics, and a variety of other activities that make up the extra-curricular life of Williams. Before long, that strange breed of man known as a "compet" will be panting as he covers the rounds between classes and Jesup Hall, with a few meals thrown in here and there, and occasionally stopping long enough to wonder, "Is it worth it?"

The burden of this piece is that it's best to give the extra-curricular world a long hard look before plunging in. We've all heard the classic story of the BMOC (which means Big Man on Campus, in case that term was a war casualty) who managed the football team, edited the paper, and was both Hamlet and the Ghost in the House Party production—in fact he did everything during his four years of college except get an education.

This is not to malign extra-curricular activities. There are some radicals, of course, who would do away with the whole lot of them as useless impedimenta interfering with education. But Williams, being a long way from a large city, is especially dependent on student efforts for its musical, dramatic, and other cultural activities. This would be a poorer place were it not for the enormous amount of work that hundreds of students put into these activities. And someone must do the work necessary to put a team onto the field, to select and sponsor outside speakers, to manage intercollegiate debates, to supervise local religious services, and to carry out many other important college activities.

Moreover, a student can gain a great deal from such activities if he makes them part of his education, and not a deterrent to it. Since this is "advice-to-the-freshmen week", here are some points to remember in looking over the field:

In the first place, you don't need to join anything to have a happy life outside classes. You can climb up to the snow hole on the Taconic range, and investigate the college library (where you'll find the "100 Great Books" and other great ones too), and take part in intra-mural sports, and drop in on professors at their offices (they like it), and visit the Chapin rare book collection, the Lawrence Art Museum, the geology museum, and other displays, to name a few possibilities.

The BMOC-type glamor may be absent in some organizations, but they more than make up for that in solid worth and you don't need to "compete" for membership in them. Closely related to educational pursuits, such groups as the Classical Society, the International Relations Club, the Philosophical Union, the Alliance Francaise, the Deutscher Verein, and the Science Club afford a pleasant way of carrying on intellectual interests out of class.

If you choose one or more of the non-scholastic organizations, be sure to know just what you are in for. Get a copy of the little booklet called "Summary of Williams College Competitions" and find out what in general is expected of the compets. Don't try out for an organization simply because someone in your social group prodded you into it, or because you think it's the "thing to do." But you can be pretty sure of enjoying and benefiting from extra-curricular work if it's related to your general field of study in college or to the work you expect to take up after graduation.

How much extra-curricular work should one go in for? That of course depends on the individual. Some can handle quite an array of outside activities, and others should limit themselves closely. The most healthful situation is one where most of the men go in for one or two activities so that the burden and honors of outside work do not fall on a small group of overworked students.

Finally, it is well to remind yourself occasionally amidst the hurly-burly of campus life that while many of these activities may be open to you after college days are over, this present period is your only chance at the kind of education Williams College can offer.

Students - - - Library - - - or system. At Haverford, more interest is shown in the students; here the professors are too cold and formal. The Williams fellows are a swell bunch."

Bob Golden, Kenyon College, O.: "Constitutional law should be taught with less emphasis on specific cases. The seminar-type courses are good, and this is a beautiful campus. It is encouraging to see the great intellectual interest I have noted here."

Miles Dean, Howard College, Birmingham, Alabama: "You have a very good faculty, and fine facilities for teaching, living, and athletics. But it's too expensive here. The whole college should eat together, so that you can get to see and know more of the students. I got along fine with the Yankees."

Bill Hunter, Swarthmore: "It should be co-ed. Chapel is a farce and the cut system is no good. Fraternities are too strong. You need an outdoor swimming pool."

Dick Schlegel, Haverford: "There is too much unnecessary policing involved in the cut system. Rushing is crazy, for the freshmen get no chance at all to see what goes on. You need greater variety in the student body, with more foreign and colored students. Classes are too large. The fraternities are much too strong."

Over-segregation Noticed

Howie Rosenthal, Amherst: "Over-segregation is the main thing I noticed. A central dining-hall would be a good thing to break this down. The cut system is much too rigid. Dormitories should be modernized, particularly as to electrical connections. Rosenthal lived in Morgan.)

The definite shortage of girls could be overcome only by having a car, and I have no car. Teachers and courses are just as good as they are at Amherst."

John Enders, Kenyon: "Complacency" is the key word here. Nothing evidences this fact so to be the worst. In the downstairs reading room and in the stack cubicles the light intensities varied from 5-12 foot-candles, far below the absolute minimum of 20 foot-candles. Only in the reference room at the middle of the tables (where the source of light is located) were conditions found to be completely satisfactory.

Accurate Conditions

The test was made at two periods of the normal day—during the daylight hours between 1 and 3 p.m. on a sunny day with snow on the ground, and during the hours after dark. Light intensity readings were made by measuring direct and reflected light at normal angles of incidence at normal reading levels. The lightmeter used was a General Electric model known to be accurate within factory standards.

Conditions in some parts of the stacks were found to vary in the opposite direction. Light intensities during the day varied from 35-1000 foot-candles depending upon the location within the stacks relative to the position of the sun. This maximum intensity is ten times the upper limit of desirability as given in the latest edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica. Curtains have been ordered to improve this situation.

Insufficient lighting and lighting which varies in intensity within the room is known to produce eye strain and a consequent loss of efficiency in study.

much as the juvenile literary endeavors shown in the "Cow", and the lack of a serious literary magazine. With the financial resources available here, it is criminal that no serious literary effort gets a hearing."

And one of the summer visitors was overheard remarking: "We don't attract only the top social stratum at Haverford; that's why we're not at home here."

OFFICIAL OUTFITTERS TO ALL WILLIAMS

COLLEGE TEAMS

FRESHMEN!

WELCOME

TO

WILLIAMS!

The "glad hand" is always ready here. Drop in and let's get acquainted. Many little problems will crop up that we can help you with, and we're always ready and glad to cooperate. Prep School accounts welcome.

Why not drop in and see our splendid collection of new Co-op suits, topcoats, and overcoats for Fall . . . and the handsome new woollens from abroad, many of which were woven for our exclusive use. Incidentally, if you like the unusual, you'll find many a "classic" in our furnishings department.

Co-Op fine clothes

Customed-to-individual measure, or "ready-to-don"

NO ADVANCE IN PRICE

SMART-IMPORTED ACCESSORIES

Here and Only Here
OFFICIAL FRESHMAN CAPS

Gentlemen's Apparel

Lou Therrien

Jack Henderson

Spring Street

Football Prom Slated Day Of Bowdoin Game

Movies Of '46 Amherst Game To Be Shown During Intermission

The first college social function of the fall term will be a football dance, sponsored by the Purple Key, Saturday evening, October 18 after the first home game against Bowdoin.

The dance is to be run by Daniel G. Wheeler, '48, president of the Williams managerial society. Although no arrangements are definite, it will probably be held in the Lasell Gymnasium. Plans are being made to show movies of the 1946 Amherst-Williams football game during intermission.

Negotiations are being carried on for an orchestra, and there is a possibility that Harry Noring's Band may furnish the music. Noring played for the summer house-party, August 10. The dance is a revival of a pre-war Williams tradition of holding a football dance after the first home game. Decorations will be on a football theme.

Rushing - - -

Pledge List Posted

Final bids are to be picked up in Jesup Hall at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday and returned to the arbiter by 2 p.m. in the order of preference. Final invitation for the pledge period will be posted on the bulletin board in Jesup at 5:30, and all men will be at their social units for supper by 8:30.

No quota has been set for the number of men each fraternity may pledge, but fifty-seven unmarried affiliates is the maximum membership. This number was set by the Rushing Committee in accordance with the Rushing Page 8.

Construction By Chapin

Workmen put finishing touches on construction by Chapin Hall which widened road by elimination of trees.

RECORD Reporter Likens Summer Term To One Constant Houseparty

by James C. Forsyth, '48

If you were really interested in the essential activities of the 418 Williams students this summer, you would have to investigate all the beaches, ginmills, race tracks, movie houses, dance halls and carnivals within 300 miles of Williamstown.

Bennington College, open for the first and last two weeks of the term, Tanglewood, and the B'town summer theatre would alone account for many hours of pleasure.

Houseparty Highlights

Harry Noring's North Adams band was the main attraction at the houseparty on August 10, and the affair was undoubtedly the social and aesthetic high spot of a mediocre term. But the presence of females on campus was not confined to the party weekend. For some the whole term was a house-party.

In their dramatic attempts the students presented "The Late Christopher Bean" and "Macbeth". The Lecture Committee stole a page from the Placement Bureau by presenting the publishing and bull fighting industries via Messrs. Cerf and Conrad, two adepts at handling the bull.

Athletic Activities

Bobby Coombs pitched and coached the ball team to a 7-5 record. Tennis tournaments took place, and the Kap-Zete softball outfit nosed out the Club and AD's for the softball crown, but the stifling heat discouraged athletic enthusiasm.

Football students flocked to Coach "Whoops" Snively's call right after houseparties, while the second week in September witnessed the arrival of the vacationing gridiron men.

Chapin Construction

While the college president zoomed around the country drumming up money, the treasurer's office spent a goodly chunk on may start in their sophomore year; and if they have had a year's experience they may enter in their junior year.

ROTC - - -

Classes In Griffin

Classes will be held in Griffin Hall. Elementary men will receive an average of only three hours of instruction a week while advanced students will normally receive five hours.

Both groups will receive between one and two hours of drill a week. The unit will do no public parading and will march only during the specified drill periods. Col. Greco emphasized that he is here to train officers, not to organize parades.

Honor System

The honor system will apply to all ROTC courses and men will be discharged for failure to keep a satisfactory scholastic average. No cuts will be allowed, but there will be no Saturday classes.

Regular officer uniforms with ROTC insignia will be issued by the government, and juniors and seniors will receive $24 monthly.

A rifle team will be coached by Major John A. Cosgrove who coached two championship teams in Hawaii. The team will compete with other local ROTC units.

Graduate of Trinity

Other personnel includes 1st Lt. George A. Bennett, a former pilot; 1st Lt. Orrin T. Bowland, who dropped supplies to the Norwegian underground during the war; M/Sgt. Edward J. Russell, Jr.; S/Sgt. Paul E. Caudell; and S/Sgt. Gerald Skinner.

A graduate of Trinity in 1937, Col. Greco enlisted in the Army in 1939 and flew fighters in the Pacific during the war. He was in the battle of Midway. He taught last year at the U. of New Hampshire in the ROTC program.

Welcome - - -

Professor of English.

Skill and Zest

The overburdened Chemistry Department has recruited two new men, Assistant Professor Aspinall and Harrison Young, Jr., who served during the war as members of Division 8 of the famous National Defense Research Committee, which was charged with research on explosives and propellants. Our most recent recruit, Associate Professor Chandler Morse, comes to our Economics Department from the staff of the Federal Reserve Board, where he served as Assistant Director of Research.

These men, like those senior to them on the Williams Faculty have been picked because they combine mastery of their subject with skill and zest in the teaching of undergraduates. They and their

Lawrence Art Exhibits Held

Life Photos, Local Art Shown Over Summer

An annual exhibition of paintings by Northern Berkshire artists and a photographic display prepared by the editors of Life magazine about the "Medieval World" were the two exhibits at the Lawrence Art Museum during the summer.

The paintings by local artists showed marked improvement in technique and conception over past years' entries. New England countrysides and villages were still the most popular subjects, while flower pieces were the most popular still-life subjects. The contributing artists were from Adams, Berkshire, Dalton, Hancock, Housatonic, North Adams, Pittsfield, Pownal, and Williamstown.

Medieval Life Shown

The photographic display reflected the life of medieval people and included prints used in a pictorial essay in "Life" as well as other pictures not used in the magazine due to lack of space.

Twenty-four panels, each containing from one to six photographs and captions, delineated the roles of the Church, town, and castle in the day-to-day life of the people.

Included Street Scenes

The second division treated town life, late in the Middle Ages. There were engravings of anonymous streets and street scenes as well as such centers of medieval life as Nuremberg, Constance, Carcassonne and Avignon.

Feudal life, centering around the lord's castle, was portrayed in the third section. Color reproductions included the famous Unicorn Hunt tapestry and life in the manor from a 15th century Flemish manuscript in the Morgan library. Medieval works of art from the Lawrence Art Museum were also included.

colleagues have much to offer, but the Williams student learns early the fundamental truth that the education that will best stick by him throughout life is what he gets for himself. Our Faculty will seek, not to spray facts and opinions over you three times a week, but to rouse your interest, and show you how to find solutions for yourself. I bid you good hunting.

OPEN A CHECKING ACCOUNT NOW

Williamstown

National

Bank

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

COLLEGE STATIONERY

PIPES - TOBACCO
MAGAZINES

ALL STUDENT SUPPLIES
AT

The Bemis Store

Rackets Restring.
Typewriters Repaired

Please Patronize
RECORD
Advertisers

The Co-op
Presents
The ADLER SOCK

wash them

any way you like

We guarantee the size

OR YOUR MONEY BACK

TUB and RUB and SCRUB them

Guaranteed to Fit for the
Life of the Sock

Young people who study scientific facts should be interested in Adler SC socks. Facts are that we guarantee perfect fit for the life of these 100% virgin wool socks! Or your money back, cheerfully!

Super swell for campus wear—for guys—for gals. No more cramped toes—less mending. And 33% longer life because Adler SC's have Nylon reinforced heel and toe. Creamy white—full sizes 9 thru 13. At all better stores. By the makers of Adler SC Chic Rib nylon-wool slak socks.

THE ADLER COMPANY
Cincinnati 14, Ohio

NOW on display
Ask to see the famous
ADLER SOCK

Williams Co-op

Parker "51"

● 77 surveys in 29 countries confirm the Parker 51's amazing popularity. At 20 leading American universities, senior men and women voted Parker more-wanted than the next three makes of pens combined. ● This preference stems from the 51's distinctive styling—its incomparable performance. Precision-made, it starts on the instant—glides with satin smoothness. And only the "51" is designed for satisfactory use with new Parker Superchrome—the super-brilliant, super-permanent ink that dries as it writes! ● Choice of points... smart colors. $12.50; $15.00. Pencils, $5.00; $7.50. Sets, $17.50 to $80.00. Parker "V-S" Pens, $8.75. Pencils, $4.00. The Parker Pen Co., Janesville, Wis., and Toronto, Can.

world's most wanted pen...
"51" writes dry with wet ink!

Copyright 1947 by The Parker Pen Company

A WHOLLY NEW IDEA
IN PENS PARKER "51"

"Writes dry with wet ink"

● Let us show you the magic in the new Parker "51". Uses amazing new Parker "51" Ink that dries as you write! You need no blotter! The "51" pen starts on the split second... gives you satin-smooth writing. Many lustrous colors. See them today. $12.50 and $15.00.

HART'S
Pharmacy

Champlain Match Saturday Opens Tougo Soccer Season

Wesleyan, Amherst Dangerous Foes

Veteran Laden Varsity Already Working Out

The 1947 Soccer season will open next Saturday with a game against Champlain College at Cole Field. This will be the first of a tough seven game schedule. Practice began last Wednesday as a squad of about twenty-five men reported for pre-season workouts. Coach "Uncle Ed" Bullock has been holding practice sessions twice daily in order to whip the squad into shape for the opening game.

It is too early to pick a tentative starting line-up, since some regulars from last year's varsity and many members of last year's freshman team have not reported. There will be ten men back, however, who have had some varsity experience.

The returning varsity men are headed by goal-tender and captain, Denny Lunt, who will report late, due to his recent marriage. At the fullback posts, Pete Geier, injured in the Amherst game last year, and Jerry Page will be back from last year's team, while "Bump" Hadley will return from the 1944 team. Page, originally a half-back, and possessor of throw-in fame may return to half-back this year, because of the graduation of last year's entire half-back line. Dick Debevoise and John Bowen both saw action at half-back last year, and are trying to hold down varsity spots this fall. In the forward line Barry Emmert at outside left, Larry Smith at center, Bob Johnston at inside right, and Frank Donnelly at outside right return from last year's team, leaving only the left inside position unfilled.

Many players are coming up from last year's Little-Three Champion freshman team who will probably see plenty of action this year. There are also several players reporting for the first time who have shown up well in early scrimmages.

With so many experienced players, indications point toward a powerful team this year. Such key players as Art Jurjuran in the forward line and Red Townsend at center half-back, however, will be missing from last year's team which ran up a 6-1 record, losing only to Wesleyan by a 3-2 score.

Little is known about Champlain College, which will be the Eph's opponent in the opener on October 4. Champlain will have an experienced squad because the G.I. college fielded a team last year. Once past Champlain, however, the Purples will have to face such opposition as Springfield, 1946 Inter-collegiate Champions, and the ever dangerous teams of Wesleyan and Amherst.

Opponents' Scores September 27

Union 6, St. Lawrence 27
Bowdoin 12, Tufts 21
Middlebury 13, Hobart 6
RPI 19, Coast Guard 19
Amherst 21, Champlain 0

1947 Football Roster

	Age	Height	Weight	Class	Affiliation
Bennett, Richard	20	6'1"	155	1950	Theta Delt
Blanks, William C.	24	5'11"	193	1948
Collins, Henry R.	19	5'8"	147	1950	DU
Conroy, Thomas M.	19	5'10"	160	1950	Chi Psi
Conway, Timothy J., Jr.	23	6'0"	210	1948	Phi Delt
Cool, Stuart H.	20	6'3"	180	1950	Sigma Phi
DeOnis, Juan	21	5'9"	165	1948	DKE
Detmer, Eugene T.	24	5'11"	185	1948	Chi Psi
Detmer, Martin J.	19	6'2"	210	1950	Chi Psi
Dickerman, Sherwood E.	21	5'11"	195	1950	Garfield
Duffield, Stuart	20	6'0"	175	1950	Phi Gam
Eblen, William R.	21	6'2"	175	1949	Delta Psi
Farmer, Clifford M.	21	5'10"	174	1950	Chi Psi
Fawcett, Wm. V. M. Jr.	21	5'10"	163	1950	Phi Delt
Fuzak, Victor T.	21	5'11"	160	1948	Phi Delt
Garfield, Douglas D.	20	6'2"	170	1950	Alpha Delt
Glancey, John J.	22	6'2"	188	1949	DKE
Green, Edwin R.	19	6'0"	220	1950
Gregory, F. Gilbert	19	5'11"	175	1950	Phi Gam
Gucker, Henry	21	5'10"	210	1950	Garfield
Hartman, Paul H., Jr.	21	5'10"	178	1950
Hayman, Robert W.	19	6'2"	178	1950
Heekin, James R.	21	5'10"	175	1948	Chi Psi
Higgins, Patrick A.	23	6'0"	200	1948	DU
Hyde, George A., Jr.	21	5'9"	149	1949	Zeta Psi
Jensch, Charles C.	18	5'9"	160	1950	Alpha Delt
Leous, Thomas M., Jr.	21	5'10"	210	1950	DKE
Lukas, Henry H. F. L., Jr.	20	6'1"	190	1948	Phi Sig
Lyons, James T., Jr.	19	6'1"	207	1950	DU
McDaniel, Harry C.	19	5'8"	145	1949	Garfield
McDonald, Duncan K.	19	6'1"	170	1950	DU
Mahoney, Daniel O.	18	6'0"	189	1950	Phi Delt
Murphy, Eugene	25	5'7"	192	1948	DKE
Olson, Norman L.	20	6'1"	170	1950	Phi Delt
Orr, Alexander G.	23	5'11"	170	1948	DKE
Peabody, Alexander S., Jr.	21	6'0"	170	1950	Chi Psi
Pritchard, George F.	20	6'0"	184	1950	Theta Delt
Pyncheon, David M.	20	5'11"	155	1950	DU
Quinlan, Edward J., Jr.	20	5'8"	165	1950	DKE
Ratcliffe, Donald	18	6'2"	208	1950	Garfield
Reid, James A.	21	5'8"	166	1948	DKE
Reynolds, Marcus T.	21	6'3"	195	1950	Sigma Phi
Roach, Daniel T.	18	6'3"	185	1950	DU
Salmon, Fred D., Jr.	22	5'9"	182	1948	DKE
Schelde, Philip C.	21	6'0"	210	1950	Sigma Phi
Sikes, Jay O.	20	5'7"	172	1948	Beta Theta Pi
Steiger, Ralph A.	20	6'1"	188	1950
Stillwell, John A.	21	6'3"	200	1949	Delta Psi
Stowers, Clifford H.	19	5'7"	155	1950	Alpha Delt
Templeton, S. John	22	6'1"	165	1949	Alpha Delt
Todd, Frank J.	21	6'2"	190	1948	DU
Van Alstyne, David	18	5'8"	150	1950	Kappa Alpha
White, Charles M.	20	6'3"	195	1949	Chi Psi
Whitney, Dickson L.	20	5'11"	173	1949	Chi Psi
Wilson, John L.	22	5'8"	150	1948	Garfield
Wood, Norman S.	19	5'11"	159	1950	Zeta Psi
Wood, William R.	20	6'1"	177	1948	Phi Sig
Young, David H.	19	6'2"	190	1950	Phi Delt

In Ev'ry Play

by Barry Emmert

Football, Fall, and Freshmen

The three "F's" are back on the campus—football, fall, and freshmen, in order of their appearance at Billville. And with the arrival of the last-named, all the ingredients are present to insure the American-as-apple-pie autumnal scene to be found on most campuses. The only possible difference between the Williams scene and that of some other college is that here football is still a game—not a major.

Nevertheless, football is still the main attraction. The probability is that it will continue to be so if the incoming freshmen are any indication. For with them come no less than thirteen former captains of prep and high school teams. This will present coaches Harvey Potter and Bobby Coombs with a wealth of material from which to pick a team, but it will also give them a few headaches. One which we anticipate will be the deciding of which two captains are to warm the bench. We can imagine an irate secondary school coach writing Harv to find out why his former All East Oshkosh Quarterback is growing flowers in his unused helmet.

Some Not Captains

An additional complication is of course the fact (and the Dean's Office assures us this is so) that not all the freshmen football players are ex-captains. There are, in fact, some freshmen who are just plain ordinary common starters. And as if this were not terrifying enough, we are even told that there are one or two men coming up who were only substitutes. So Harv and Bobby will have their hands full trying to keep these worthless individuals from con-taminating their all-captain team. Some sort of a caste system will undoubtedly be arranged to prevent this, however, and we predict that a reasonable amount of harmony will prevail on the squad. To soothe the injured feelings of the twelfth and thirteenth captains, Professor Bushnell, it is rumored, has offered to compose an "Ode to the Benched Captains of Local 172".

There is of course another freshman team on campus. In fact there are two others - soccer and cross country. But these really present no problem to either Coach Chaffee or Plansky for the simple reason that there are only two soccer captains and (get hold of yourself) no cross country captains. We can't help but feel that it was unfair of the Committee on Admissions to so over-burden Coaches Potter and Coombs with such problems while allowing Messrs. Chaffee and Plansky to escape without so much as a wrinkled brow.

Seriously, though, as all freshmen will discover for themselves, the men who produce will make the teams, regardless of where or how well they played the previous year. College coaches are notorious for letting each man make good on his own merits. It is even conceivable that a coach may not know what member of his squad was a captain - unless someone makes the mistake of telling him.

So forget about how well or how badly you did last year, and go out for any of the three sports. You'll get a fair deal from any of the four freshmen coaches, and you'll have the satisfaction of being able to thank yourself for whatever degree of success you have.

The Cadets are flying again!

The U. S. Air Force now offers you the chance of a lifetime to start your career in aviation.

If you want to learn to fly, you have one of the finest opportunities ever offered in peacetime. Aviation Cadet pilot training has been reopened to qualified applicants presently serving enlistments in the Army, and to civilian young men who can meet the same high standards.

In order to be eligible, each applicant must be: a single male citizen, between 20 and 26½ years old, of excellent character and physically fit. He must have completed at least one half the credits leading to a degree from an accredited college or university, or be able to pass a mental examination given by the USAF. He must now be living within the continental limits of the United States.

Upon successful completion of the training course, Cadets will be rated as pilots, commissioned Second Lieutenants, and assigned to flying duty.

Reactivation of Aviation Cadet pilot training is only one of the several choices open to outstanding men who want increased responsibility and advancement in the field of aviation. It is now possible for qualified men to apply for attendance at USAF Officer Candidate School—and thus be able to equip themselves for such important specialties as engineering, armament, administration and supply.

You have a real chance to make progress and build a sound career for yourself in today's U. S. Air Force. Talk it over with the Recruiting Officer today at any U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station.

U. S. ARMY AND AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE

HIGH QUALITY

WELCOME BACK!!!

Before Classes Start --- Stock Up On:
Shoes For Campus Wear

- Mocassins
- Loafers
- Gym Shoes
- Sport Shoes

Accessories and Supplies
Expert Shoe Repairing

SALVY'S

Spring Street Tel. 600
Serving Williams Men Since 1901
LOW PRICES

THERE IS MORE COCA-COLA NOW

5¢

PLEASE return
empty bottles promptly

Ask for it either way... both trade-marks mean the same thing.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
BERKSHIRE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

© 1947 The C-C Co.

Football Team To Start 61st Season Away

16 Lettermen Returning Squad Faces Tough
Seven Tilt Schedule

the Blue and White four consecutive times, topped off by last year's 12-6 outcome. That was the game in which Williams rallied to score twice in the fourth period to overcome a one-touchdown deficit.

From End to End

When Williams takes the field Saturday, the lineup will read something like this. At center probably will be Jim Lyons, center and captain of last year's freshman team. A possible starter is Tim Conway, veteran of last fall's eleven. The guard slots should be well taken care of this fall. Captain Gene Murphy will handle one post, while Jim Heekin and "Frog" Salmon battle it out for the other. The tackle positions should be well manned, also. Three veterans from last year, Tom Leous, "Hank" Lukas, and John Glancey, are back, and "Marty" Detmer, another youngster up from the freshmen team, figure to fill in the holes at tackle.

On paper the end positions present the problem. Coach "Whoop" Snively has converted Gene Detmer, "Marty's" older brother, and a center from last year, over to end, and at the other flank he has Frank Todd, a back from the 1946 team. Both these boys look as if they have possibilities at their new positions. And they will be pressed by "Bud" Cool, Dan Mahoney, (See FOOTBALL Page 8)

Fall Schedules 1947

Varsity Football

Oct. 4 Middlebury, Away
Oct. 11 RPI, Away
Oct. 18 Bowdoin, Home
Oct. 25 Trinity, Away
Nov. 1 Union, Home
Nov. 8 Wesleyan, Away
Nov. 15 Amherst, Home

Varsity Soccer

Oct. 4 Champlain, Home
Oct. 11 Univ. of Mass., Away
Oct. 18 Univ. of Conn., Away
Oct. 25 Springfield, Home
Nov. 1 Clark Univ., Home
Nov. 8 Wesleyan, Away
Nov. 15 Amherst, Home

Varsity Cross Country

Oct. 11 RPI, Home
Oct. 25 Univ. of Vermont, Away
Nov. 1 Union, Home
Nov. 5 Little Three, Amherst

Wilson to Higgins Against Amherst

Pat Higgins takes a pass from Buddy Wilson to make the score 8-0 against Amherst last year. Williams won, 21-13.

Freshman Football

Oct. 18 RPI, Home
Oct. 25 Wesleyan, Home
Nov. 1 Amherst, Away
Nov. 8 Union, Away

Freshman Soccer

Oct. 18 Mt. Hermon, Away
Oct. 25 Wesleyan, Home
Nov. 1 Amherst, Away
Nov. 8 Springfield, Home

Freshman Cross Country

Oct. 11 RPI, Home
Oct. 18 Mt. Hermon, Away
Nov. 5 Little Three, Amherst

Opponents' Schedule

October 4

RPI vs.

Buffalo, away

Bowdoin vs.

Mass. U., home

Trinity vs.

Bates, away

Union vs.

Rochester, home

Wesleyan vs.

Worcester Tech., home

Amherst vs.

Coast Guard, away

Three Lettermen Bolster Harriers

Cross Country Squad
Has Strong Nucleus

The first three men will return from last season's Little Three champions, as well as some experienced harriers from the freshman squad, making Coach Tony Plan-sky optimistic about the coming cross-country season.

Expected to serve as a nucleus for the seven man squad which opens its schedule against RPI on October 11, are Herb Chisholm, who led the Little Three pack home last fall, and lettermen Kevin Delany and Paul Cook. Bill Kelton, unbeaten freshman star, will probably rank among the first four Ephmen, though no positions are assured.

Fifth Spot Vacant

Since cross-country rules state that five team members must finish before the score is taken, Plan-sky is faced with the problem of picking the important fifth man from the remaining material, which includes Davis, May, Collins and Neilligan of last season's frosh.

With the first meet only two weeks away, much hard conditioning is in store for the "thin-clads". Following the RPI opener at home, these meets have been scheduled: Vermont—Oct. 25, at Vermont; Union—Nov. 1, at home; and the Little Three meet—Nov. 5, at Amherst.

The freshmen will engage in three meets: RPI—Oct. 11; Mt. Hermon—Oct. 18; and the Little Three contest—Nov. 5.

Class of 1951 Has Forty-Six Team Leaders

Football Top With 13
Basketball Close 2nd
The Hill Sends Most

Stock in Williams athletic fortunes veered sharply upwards last week, as the campus was invaded by more than 280 freshmen, among whom were forty-six captains of various sports in the high schools and prep schools from which they came.

The Hill led the 32 schools represented by sending four captains (golf, baseball and two wrestling) to Billville. Close behind came Williamstown High, which awarded the college a 3-in-1 combination in the person of Joseph Como, leader in baseball, basketball and football. Poly Prep, Milton Academy, Millbrook School, University School, St. Albans, Albany Academy, Nichols School and Ashville each contributed two captains.

At first glance Eph football seems to be the greatest benefactor, with no less than thirteen grid pilots among the freshmen. There are ten captains of basketball, six of baseball, three of tennis, two of soccer, golf and hockey and one each of track and crew. Freshmen sports will now be strengthened by the change in the Little Three eligibility rule which does not allow frosh veterans to compete on varsity teams.

Harvey Potter will coach the freshmen football team, while Clarence Chaffee and Tony Plan-sky will direct the soccer and the cross country squads respectively.

Welcome Class of 1951!

Get your text books for college courses this week!

Avoid the rush

CURRENT FICTION AND NON-FICTION

MAGAZINE SUBSCRIPTION

SUPPLIES

COLLEGE STATIONERY

COLLEGE BOOK STORE

Established 1848

RAYMOND WASHBURN

"Mother,
Mother,
Mother"

WHAT A RECORD! ★

BERYL DAVIS'S NEW DISC FOR RCA VICTOR

★ It's a groovy group of notes—done to a turn by one of the top of the new crop of singers.

Yes, Beryl Davis knows how to pick a tune... knows how to pick a cigarette too. "I tried many different brands and compared," says Beryl Davis—"I found Camels suit me best."

That's how millions learned from experience that there are big differences in cigarette quality. Try Camels in your "T-Zone" (Taste and Throat). Let your own experience tell you why more people are smoking Camels than ever before!

Beryl Davis

THE CIGARETTE
FOR ME IS CAMEL!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO.
Winston-Salem, N. C.

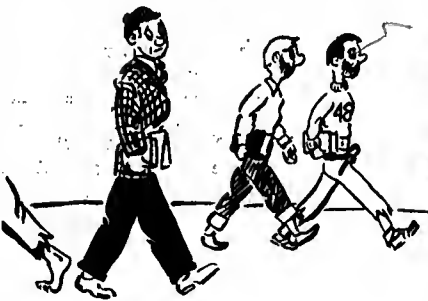

More people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!

New Freshman Class Of '51 Boasts 282 Members

WELCOME FRESHMEN!

WE HOPE YOU DIDN'T TAKE THE BACK-TO-COLLEGE ISSUE OF ESQUIRE TOO SERIOUSLY.

BUT WE DON'T RECOMMEND CROW-BACK AT ITS BEST, IT'S PRECARIOUS, AND IT'S DOWNRIGHT CHILLY IN THE WINTER.

AS WE MENTIONED BEFORE, BENNINGTON IS CLOSE BY.

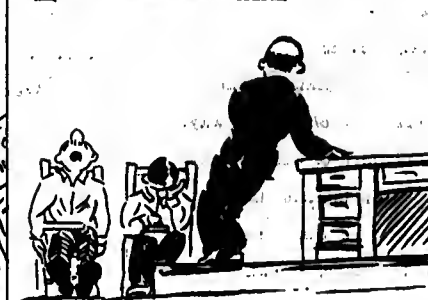

THERE'S A CERTAIN TRADITION TO BE UPHELD

à la DAHL

YOU WILL BE GIVEN VARIOUS OPPORTUNITIES TO SIGN PETITIONS ABOLISHING THIS INSTITUTION

AND JUST SO THE TERM WON'T SEEM TOO INTERMINABLE

HAVE A GOOD TIME !!

W-WILLIAMS	S-SAGE
G-GREYLOCK	H-HOME
*Veteran *Son of an Alumnus
*Allen, Richmond	W42
Middlesex School
Anderson, William A.	W12
Phillips Exeter
*Angevine, William	W2
Newton High
*Austrian, Carl J., Jr.	W35
Westminster & Hill Schools
Avery, Paul F., Jr.	W35
Belmont Hill School
Axford, Roy A.	S13
Redford High
Bacharach, Andrew	S9
Riverdale School for Boys
Bailey, Frank R., Jr.	W5
Carteret School
Beal, Thomas P.	S10
Brooks School, Hebron Acad.
Bennett, Garrard	S12
Poly Prep C. D. School
*Bergen, Robert L., Jr.	W5
St. Paul's School
Bevier, David G.	S12
Taft School
Bianchi, Albert R.	S29
Pittsfield High, Cramwell Prep
*Biddgood, Berkeley C.	S20
Phillips Academy
Blodgett, Timothy B.	S17
St. Paul Academy
Bortz, Walter M., II	W17
Episcopal Academy
Bradley, Clifton N. Jr.	S2
Fort Hamilton High
Bray, Timothy M.	S27
Millbrook Prep.
Breckenridge, Malcolm K.	S6
St. Louis C.D. School
Brooks, George R.	S27
St. Louis C. D.
Brooks, Robert W.	W13
Phillips Andover Academy
*Brown, James P.	S14
St. Paul Academy
Brown, Jesse D.	S13
Redford High
Brown, John L., IV	S44
Staples High, Westport
*Callahan, Joseph M., Jr.	W15
Cranwell Prep.
Campbell, William H., III	S24
Columbia High
Carleton, Charles G.	S23
Milton Academy
*Carrington, Robert B.	W6
Deerfield Academy
Chapman, Donald S.	W47
Rochester High
Cherry, George F.	W16
Scott High, Toledo
*Childs, Edward R., Jr.	W34
Middlesex School
Chinman, Richard A.	W7
Forest Hills High
Clarey, Wilbur B.	S5
Middlesex School
Clarke, Allen G., Jr.	W16
The Hill School
Como, Joseph A.	H
Williamstown High
Congdon, Theodore G.	W26
St. Mark's School
Conway, James S.	S19
University School
Cook, Philip S.	S14
Loomis School
Costikyan, Thomas W.	S22
Hotchkiss School
Craven, William J.	H
St. Joseph's High
Cremins, John E.	G6
Friends School, Baltimore
Cremin, Robert H.	S6
Mamaroneck High
*Crosby, James E., Jr.	W12
Ridgewood High School
*Curtis, Edward P., Jr.	W48
Deerfield Academy
Daley, Royston T.	W14
Belmont Hill School
*Day, Warner B., Jr.	W8
Deerfield Academy
*Debevoise, Peter H.	S4
Deerfield Academy
DeLisser, Peter	W33
Manlius School
*Dewey, Joseph E.	W9
So. Kent School, Univ. School
Diskinson, Roger A.	S24
Poly Prep School
Dorton, George H.	S5
Trinity School
*Dunn, Malcolm, Jr.	W17
Newton High School
Dunlap, William W.	S23
Culver Military Academy
Ebbets, William H.	W2
Salisbury School
Edgeworth, Arthur B., Jr.	S15
Dover High
Edwards, Hamilton P., Jr.	S4
Deerfield Academy
Ellis, John D.	S16
Walnut Hills High
Everett, William H.	W27
Mamaroneck High
Fagerburg, Dewey F., Jr.	S45
Asheville School

*Fall, David R., Jr.	S16
Asheville School
Fargo, Bronson	S23
Milton High, Milton Academy
Farley, Donald E.	H
St. Joseph's High
Farrington, Brendan J.	W13
Phillips Andover Academy
*Fay, David W.	S31
The Choate School
*Field, John H.	S48
Brooklyn Poly Prep C. D.
*Fish, Mitchell	S20
Governor Drummer, Phillips A
*Fisher, Harris B., III	S38
Manlius School
*Fiske, George W., Jr.	W44
Madison High, Manlius Sch.
Foley, Eugene F., Jr.	S15
Phillips Exeter Academy
Foss, Clifton M., Jr.	G22-24
Deering H.S., Deerfield Acad.
Fox, Edward A., Jr.	S38
Oak Park High School
Frankenheimer, John M.	S25
La Salle Military Academy
Fraser, John M.	W41
New Hartford H., Deerfield A
Frazier, Harry, III	S47
Woodberry Forest School
Frazier, Malcolm, J.P.	S37
Middlesex School
French, John B.	S44
Trinity College School
Garver, Theodore M.	S16
Nichols School
*Geier, James A. D.	S50
Berkshire School
Geniesse, Robert John	W28
New Trier High School
*Gillette, Jeremiah B.	S34
Deerfield Academy
Graham, Patrick G.	G9-11
Pembroke Country Day
*Greer, John K.	S54
Taft School
*Gregg, Donald P.	W29
Hastings-on-Hudson High
*Gregor, David G., Jr.	W14
Phillips Exeter Academy
*Gregory, Donald C.	W37
Hamburg High
Griffin, Robert M., Jr.	S3
St. Albans School
*Hall, Burton H.	S55
Westtown Friends School
Hall, Gordon R.	S3
Walnut Hills High
Halleck, Charles W.	G8
St. Albans School
*Hamilton, Kenneth M.	S12
Belmont Hill School
Hartel, Charles W.	S16
Governor Dummer Academy
Hastings, Joseph C.	W37
Haverford School, Deerfield A.
*Hastings, Richard W.	G10-12
Phillips Exeter
*Haven, Robert D.	G16-20
Manasquan High
*Hawkins, Ira A., III	W40
Phillips Exeter Academy
Hazen, Stanley S.	W45
Belmont Hill
Helmle, David E.	W21
Mackley School
Helprin, Theodore W.	S49
The Choate School
Hendee, Thomas R.	S46
Milwaukee University S.
Henderson, Earl C., Jr.	G5-7
Kingswood School

Hoffer, Charles R.	S25
Vermont Academy
*Hollister, William H.	S30
Woodrow Wilson High
Holt, William	S55
Phillips Exeter Academy
Hopfenbeck, George M., Jr.	W3
Trinity School
Hornor, John L., III	S51
Collegiate School
Host, Lewis C., III	S49
Millburn High
Howard, Joseph S.	W49
The Choate School

Humphrey, David M.	W24
South Kent School
*Humpstone, John H., Jr.	S33
Gilman School
Hunt, (Harold) Robert	W49
East Aurora High
Huston, Robert L.	S48
John R. Buchtel High
*Hutton, George V. D., Jr.	W30
Deerfield Academy
Hyland, William G.	W49
The Choate School
*Irish, James Louis	G18-20
Rangeley High

Jackson, David W.	W27
Fountain Valley School
*Jacob, Leonard, Jr.	W6
St. Paul's School, Concord
Jaffray, Benjamin S.	W24
Shattuck School
Jannotta, Frank S.	S38
Oak Park Township School
Jarvis, Graham P.	W24
Ridley College
*Jeffery, David E., Jr.	S15
Millford School
*Jeffrey, Robert H., II	G5-7
Columbus Academy
Johnson, Douglas L.	W45
Blake Country Day
*Johnson, Wesley Hartwell	G15-17
The Citadel
Johnstone, Peter	G4
Greenwich High
Jones, Edward W.	W19
Western Reserve Academy
Jordan, Robert M.	S53
Scarsdale High
Kadyk, John A.	W38
New Trier High
Kaplan, David A.	W38
Adelphi Academy
Kellogg, George F.	W40
Blair Academy
*Kent, Peter R.	W46
Bronxville High, Christ School
*Kent, Thomas D.	S39
Lawrenceville School
Kimbrough, Robert A., III	S28
Haverford School
Kolb, Charles E.	W40
Battle Creek High
Lamborn, Arthur H., III	W26
Canterbury School
Lane, Arthur D., Jr.	W23
Blair Academy
Larson, Robert R.	W46
Lansingburgh High
Lehmann, Ernest Karl	S39
New Rochelle High
*Leltzinger, William A. E., Jr.	W29
The Hill School
*Lester, Milford D.	S31
Scarsdale High
Lippincott, Richard C.	W17
Worcester Academy
Loney, Frederick R., Jr.	W46
Tabor Academy
Lund, John S.	W48
Deerfield Academy
Luther, Michael	S40
Groton School
*Luthy, Martin P., Jr.	G15-17
Newton High, Manlius Sch.
Lynch, James B.	W34
B.M.C. Durfee High
*MacNeil, John W.	S20
Browne and Nichols
Madsen, Per A.	S28
Birkerod Gymnasium
Mann, Timothy C. N.	S49
St. Andrews School
Mann, Wallace V. Jr.	S13
Cushing Academy
Manning, Richard B.	S54
Frankford High
*Martin, Keith	H
San Jacinto High
Mason, Gilbert	S24
N. Y. M. Academy
Mason, Lowell, Jr.	W38
Gunnery School
*Mauck, Ward L.	S22
Hotchkiss School
Maxwell, Clyde E., III	S2
Nichols School

*May, Ernest N., Jr.	G18-20
Kent School
May, James B.	S22
South Side High
McCombe, John Samuel	W19
Western Reserve Academy
McElroy, Joseph P., Jr.	S53
Poly Prep C. D. School
*McGregor, Wm. Albert, Jr.	G22-24
Bronxville High
McKeon, James J.	H
Drury High School
McLean, Albert F., Jr.	S35
Phillips Andover Academy
McNerney, Norris J.	W26
Canterbury School
McWilliams, Gordon	H
Deerfield Academy
Megna, Phillip E.	S7
Peekskill Military Academy
Merrell, Cyrus W., Jr.	S6
St. Louis C. D. School
*Midwood, Arnold J., Jr.	G10-12
Phillips Exeter Academy
*Mierzejewski, Ernest J.	W34
N.B. Vocational H., Tabor A.
Mill, (William) Robert	W35
Phillips Exeter Academy
*Moffat, Fraser M., III	S21
Phillips Exeter Academy
Moffat, (William) Kenneth	W23
Blair Academy
Moir, Ronald B.	W4
Milton Academy
*Moody, Edson B.	W22
Lawrenceville School
*Moore, Peter L.	W20
Millbrook School
*Moran, Kevin P.	G3
Portsmouth Priory
Moriarty, Paul F.	S8
Abington High
Morrison Thomas H.	W4
Milton Academy
*Morse, Walter H.	W41
Deerfield Academy
Muhlenberg, David B.	W39
Sr. High, Ft. Thomas, Ky.
Muhlfelder, Fred, Jr.	W31
Albany Academy
Muller, George	S53
Oundle (Eng.) Tabor Acad.
Neff, Richard W., Jr.	W48
Deerfield Academy
O'Herron, Jonathan T.	H
Cranwell Prep.
Olsson, Robert M.	W39
Storm King
Ottlev, Edward G.	S29
Culver Military
Parker, Charles P.	S39
St. Paul's School, Concord
Parker, Patrick S.	S19
University School
*Paton, William K., Jr.	S55
Exeter Academy
Perry, Blair L.	W41
Deerfield Academy
Perry, Crosby B.	W16
The Hill School
Pinkham, William D., Jr.	S27
Phillips Exeter Academy
*Plumb, Raymond F.	H
Drury High School
*Poel, Harold E., Jr.	S36
Salisbury School
Pollock, Peter L.	S30
Far Rockaway High
Poole, Herbert S., II	S39
St. Paul's School, Concord
Porter, James J.	W4
New Trier High
*Prescott, Edward P., Jr.	S12
Taft School
Proctor, Arthur W., Jr.	W22
Phillips Exeter Academy
Purcell, Bradford M.	S25
Lasalle Military Academy
Pusey, Bradford N.	S30
St. John's College High
Pusey, Charles E., Jr.	W3
Tredyffrin-Eastown High
*Quinby, Howard W., Jr.	W29
Forest Hills High
Raynolds, John F.	W10
Blake School
Reiche, Frank P.	W14
Bristol High School
*Reinhardt, Peter W.	S29
Lewis and Clark School
*Remick, Jerome H., III	W17
Portsmouth Priory School
Reynolds, William M.	W45
Lake Forest Academy
*Rockwell, Dwight, Jr.	W44
Phillips Andover Academy
Rodie, William S., III	S34
The Hill School
Rogers, Henry C.	W30
Deerfield Academy
Rogers, John A.	S44
Hotchkiss School
Ruder, David S.	S36
Wausau Sr. High
Russell, Mercer P.	S36
Staunton Military Academy
St. Clair, William W.	S26
Columbia High
Sanford, Donald E., Jr.	W38
Ogdensburg Free Academy
Schiferle, Ray G., Jr.	W33
Nichols School
Schlosser, Alfred M.	S25
Horace Mann School

(See NAMES Page 7)

DOCTORS WERE AMAZED

"They can hardly believe their microscopes" says eminent

PUBLIC HEALTH

authority

It's a FACT. Future Doctors, at one of the nation's large midwestern Universities, are required to study the importance of professional laundry service in maintaining public health!

"They can hardly believe their microscopes when they see that even such heavily soiled items as gauze bandages come out of the washwheel germ-free and sterile," said the director of the school.

We follow the recommendations of the American Institute of Laundering which places special emphasis on the bacteria-killing effectiveness of laundering formulas....

there are 2 BIG REASONS why RUDNICK-washed clothes are SAFE

1. We use 4.5 gallons of water per pound of clothes; 1.7 gallons average at home.

2. Water heat, sustained at 140° (or over) during numerous sudings, kills microscopic germs.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST IN LAUNDRY SERVICE

Let George do it!

GEORGE RUDNICK

PHONE 433

MASTER CLEANERS

Importers

Haberdashers

House of Walsh

WILLIAMSTOWN, MASSACHUSETTS

Custom Clothing

Ladies Country Clothes

Lloyd and Haig Shoes

OF COURSE WE HAVE YOUR FRESHMAN CAP

PHILLIP B. WALSH

THOMAS B. WALSH

For a winning beginning...

*Step forth
with Seaforth!*

Discover the creamy-rich lather of Seaforth Shaving Soap, the heather-fresh exhilaration of Seaforth Lotion. Enjoy them yourself...soon! These and other Seaforth essentials, packaged in handsome stoneware, only $1.00 each. Gift sets $2.00 to $7.00. Seaforth, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20.

Yes Sir...

Get your Seaforth at College Pharmacy today.

A complete assortment in stock at all times.

COLLEGE PHARMACY
Tel. 401IRENE'S
Gift Shop

UNIQUE ROOM
FURNISHINGS

Williamstown's
Newest Store

WALDEN THEATRE
BUILDINGKING'S PACKAGE
STORE

- WINES
- BEERS
- CHAMPAGNE

Open 9 A.M. to 11 P.M.

WALDEN THEATRE
BUILDINGHOPKINS
Furniture StoreHEADQUARTERS FOR STUDENT
ROOM FURNISHINGS

OPPOSITE THE POST OFFICE

Serving Williams Men Since 1888

Names - - -

*Seager, George B., Jr. W24
Bishop's College School
Selly, George W. W3
Trinity School
Sheehy, Harry C., Jr. W42
St. Paul's Sch. (Garden City)
*Sheperd, John R. G1
Loomis School
Shorb, Paul E., Jr. S3
St. Albans School
Showers, Eric J. S14
New Trier High
Siegel, Richard M. S31
Erasmus Hall
Smith, Berry C. S5
Trinity School
*Smith, Everett J. S29
Phillips Exeter Academy
Smith, Howard W. W13
Washington Irving High
*Smythe, Charles L., Jr. S19
University School
*Snare, William D. W44
Phillips Andover Academy
*Sniveley, A. Barr, III H
Deerfield Academy
Snyder, John B. S11
New Trier High
Spang, John L. W49
The Choate School
Speck, Donald J. S31
Mineola High
*Spencer, Earle F., Jr. G19-21
Phillips Andover Academy
*Sperry, William E. W36
Scarsdale High
Stebbins, Edward C. W6
St. Paul's School, Concord
Stephenson, Donald H. H
Williamstown High
Stockton, Bayard A. W21
Phillips Exeter Academy
Sutherland, William P., II W31
Albany Academy

*Swain, Leonard, Jr. V12
St. George's School
*Symons, Arthur E., Jr. S34
LaFayette School
Sziklas, Edward A. S21
Roxbury Latin School
Ezickas, John J. S17
Roxbury Latin School
Terry, Charles F. S17
Texas C. D. School
Thexton, Fred L. S17
Walnut Hills High
Thomson, Ian W15
Kent School
Thomson, John O. W2
Allendale School
Thys, Edward C. W27
Fountain Valley School
Tone, Frank J., III S34
The Hill School
*Traphagen, Hugh M. S42
Browning School, N. Y. Prep.
Troman, Arthur B., Jr. W41
Deerfield Academy
Tuttle, William F., Jr. W31
Cranbrook School
Van Anda, Paul R. W30
Deerfield Academy
Vandervoort, Peter W28
The Choate School
Vogel, Donald F. W21
Garden City High
Voorhis, H. M. Baird W22
Collegiate School
Walker, Basil E. H
Williamstown High
Walker, Bryant D. H
Williamstown High
*Wallace, Richard V. D. W15
Goshen Central High
*Walters, John R. G15-17
Scarsdale High
*Walthour, John R., Jr. W19
Greensburg High
Ward, John A. S41
Haverford School

Grad No. 110

Summer - - -

Everybody wants to get into the act, even Flash, personal property of recent graduate Jim Stone.

*Warner, Scott F. S48
Riverdale C. D. School
Wear, John B., Jr. W37
Wisconsin High
Webster, Dean K., III W28
Phillips Andover Academy
Weiland, Richard A. W20
Walnut Hills High
*Wetmore, Andrew C. S27
Millbrook School
Whaley, Frederick W. W47
The Hill School
Wheeler, David L. W23
Noble and Greenough
Whitehead, Donald W. S24
Columbia High
*Whitelaw, Robert E. S52
Kent School
*Wilcox, David S. S34
Governor Dummer Academy
Windle, William W. W31
Deerfield Academy
Winter, Gordon C. 6 9-11
Lakewood High
Wiseman, Frederick
Boston Public Latin
Rivers C. D. School
Wood, Richard P. W5
Tabor Academy
*Woolson, Lawrence B. S4
Deerfield Academy
Wright, Charles C. W47
Manlius School
*Wyman, Donald, Jr. S36
The Hill School
Zebryk, John Richard S21
S. Hadley High
Zeller, G. Frederick, Jr. S2
Nichols School
Ziegenhals, Walter E. W20
Walnut Hills High

widening the Chapin Hall road, and installing sewers to eliminate the feet-soaking puddles.

Also worthy of mention was the attempted burning of Phiney's "adobe hacienda" and Greylock Hall one afternoon in July. It was a carefully planned job which greatly upset Mert Odell.

The barbershop discrimination case was dropped by the barber's union before it reached Pittsfield, but Mr. Bleau now gave hair cuts "By appointment only".

A group of strange men with brief cases and well read copies of the New York Times invaded the campus in mid-September, tipping off everyone that the latest conference was in session. This one was a public opinion conference lasting for nine meals and an equal number of round tables.

Professor Joseph E. Johnson's address at the 158th Commencement last Friday morning marked the closing of the term, one that will go down in history only because 50 students from other colleges attended along with the sons of Eph Williams.

Graduation - - -

Johnson continued. "Not having faced a comparable situation since the fall of Carthage, the world has little experience to draw on. It must revise its concepts of the balance of power, of the relationship between small states and large."

Not Prepared

The whole problem is complicated by the fact, he continued, that neither the United States nor Russia "was adequately prepared for its new role" of world leadership. They both had comparatively little experience in leadership.

This lack of experience is far less important, however, than the fact that the two great powers have "totally different—opposing ways of life." He added that the lack of understanding is aided by the barriers imposed by the Russian government on free interrelations between the two countries.

Merit of Marshall Plan

He continued that the "middle" states must not be overlooked however. One of the merits of the

(See GRADUATION Page 8)

SPALDING'S POPULAR J&V IS THE OFFICIAL FOOTBALL IN THE NATION'S LEADING GRIMMOR CLASSICS AND ANNUAL BOWL GAMES FROM COAST TO COAST!

...AND SPALDING MADE THE FIRST FOOTBALL EVER PRODUCED IN THE UNITED STATES

SPALDING
SETS THE PACE
IN SPORTS

Williams Co-op

◀ WALDEN ▶
THEATRE

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

BUCK PRIVATES COME HOME

ABBOTT and COSTELLO

SUNDAY, MONDAY, TUESDAY

POSSESSED

JOAN CRAWFORD, VAN HEFLIN

WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY

DEAR RUTH

WILLIAM HOLDEN, JOAN CAULFIELD

How Do YOU Choose Your Laundry?

Quality? We specialize in doing shirts well, so that when the weekend rolls around you don't have to dig through your drawer to find a shirt that is right to wear. And shirts properly washed in soft water of just the right temperature, properly rinsed and ironed, last longer.

Cost? Our records show that most student customers spent LESS THAN $22 on laundry last semester, INCLUDING EXAM WEEK. You pay only for what YOU send and get in addition the best quality work and service.

Service? Bundles picked up when you wish—delivered to your room in three to four days. Emergency service when you need it.

When you have laundry or dry cleaning and want top quality, reasonable cost, and quick service . . .

Let George do it!

PHONE 433 or stop in at

George Rudnick, Inc.

Spring street

We CALL and DELIVER

Campus to GENERAL ELECTRIC

STUDENT OF NUCLEONICS

The Story of Ken Kesselring

On January 7, 1946, only a couple of weeks after being separated from the Army Ordnance Department, Ken Kesselring finally began the engineering career he had planned for himself five years earlier.

He had hoped to come to work at General Electric when he received his E.E. degree from Cornell in 1941. Instead he had gone into Ordnance as a second lieutenant.

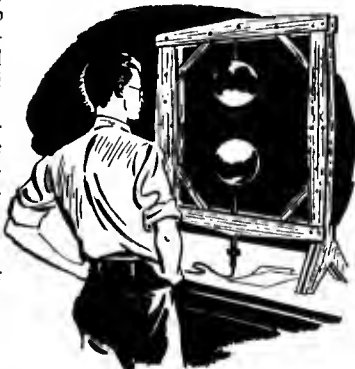

There he worked with the Research and Development Center at Aberdeen Proving Ground, with "Kangaroo"—the group formed to introduce new weapons into combat outfits—and with the Ordnance Technical Intelligence Group assigned to study Nazi weapons and engineering developments.

At G.E. he entered the Rotating Engineering Program—especially set up to give the returning veteran a period of familiarization and general orientation. Upon completing his assignments under the program, Ken was assigned to the General Electric Atomic Power Engineering Project and is today a section head and project engineer of the Design Group. The objective: the harnessing of atomic energy for power development and generation.

For your copy of "Careers in the Electrical Industry," write to Dept. 237-6, General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Out of the Army less than two years, Ken is already heading up a design group connected with the G-E Atomic Power Engineering Project.

At Cornell, Ken studied power engineering, specializing in high-voltage protective equipment. He graduated first in his class in 1941.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

Football - - -

George Prichard, the latter two, last year's frosh ends, plus others.

Backfield Uncertain

The backfield is still undecided, but at any rate looks to be strong in all departments. Last year's captain, Pat Higgins, is one starter. "Buz" Duffield, running and passing star of the 1946 freshman team, appears to have nailed down another spot in the backfield. Bill Blanks, who was here in V-12, may start at a third backfield post, and Vic Fuzak of last year's team may be the fourth starter in this backfield. "Sandy" Orr and Dick Whitney, lettermen, and "Dunc" McDonald and "Cliff" Stowers, up from the frosh team, seem to give the backfield ample replacements.

Saturday's game is likely to be very similar to last year's Middlebury encounter, in that both have so many men back. Coach "Duke" Nelson has twenty-three lettermen and he would like very much to get back that 12-6 reversal. Backs Johnny Corbisiero, Bill McNamara, "Che-Che" Barquin, and Homer Ellis will be running behind veteran linemen Irv Meeker, "Mike" Hunt, Jack Hamre, Paul Thompson, Bard Lindeman, Tony Monaco, and center and captain Charley Puksta.

Graduation - - -

Marshall plan was that it recognized the "tremendous importance of the middle powers of Europe."

Professor Johnson then outlined four other important points in the international scene. The first was the possibility that ten years from now both the United States and Russia might have atomic weapons without any world control.

Diplomatic Tools

The second was the importance of the UN as a diplomatic tool and he pointed out that this is the first time we have ever had diplomatic problems tackled in the "full glare of publicity."

The third was the ferment of nationalism among colonial nations and the fourth was the greatly altered economic power.

Professor Johnson concluded by saying that the American people will determine the fate of the world for the next 25 years because "I know from first hand experience" that the American people "determine the broad outlines of our foreign policy."

Williams Reflects

Norman Redlich declared that by observing Williams in future years we may learn what direction our country is taking. "Williams, through both students and

Rushing - - -

cordance with the Interfraternity Rushing Agreement, which has been changed only slightly this year.

Until the sub-preferential and preferential dates of the second period, only cigarettes, mints, and water may be served as refreshments, but for the last two dates Monday night, soft drinks and light snacks are allowed. There are no restrictions on pledge night.

The Rushing Arbiter, and his undergraduate assistant, Clifford H. Hall, '48, will be in Jesup Hall office continuously throughout rushing to answer questions and to supervise and enforce the rushing system.

faculty, will tend to reflect the conservatism or liberalism of our times and the responsibility or irresponsibility of our youth."

Howard Sachs warned his class that "we should be willing to consider views which may seem strange and unusual . . . and we must test these ideas by exercising our own powers of criticism."

Charles F. Cole told his classmates to see that the government is run as efficiently as possible, to see that only the most capable men are given any power in it.

Here's the one I'm really glad to put my name on . . . They Satisfy me

Joe DiMaggio

Yankees

Chesterfield CIGARETTES

With the KINGS OF SPORTS it's CHESTERFIELD

ALWAYS Milder
BETTER TASTING
COOLER SMOKING

The Sum Total of Smoking Pleasure

ALWAYS BUY CHESTERFIELD

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1947

No. 2

Purple Loses Opener To Middlebury In Upset, 19 To 7

Entering Class Swells College To Peak Size

Crowding To Continue Three More Years

'51 Has. 278 Men

Only 53% Of College Now Are Veterans

by J. Edward Pawlek, '49
A freshman class of 278 swelled college ranks to an all-time high of 1107 last week. The college will not return to the normal enrollment of 800 students until the present freshmen are last term seniors in February 1951. Next fall will be just as crowded with an expected enrollment of 1100. It will drop to 1000 that February, to 950 in September 1949, to 900 that February, to 850 in September 1950, and finally to 800 in February 1951.

Vets Compose over Half
The present student body of 1107 breaks down into 278 freshmen, 381 sophomores, 224 juniors, and 221 seniors. 53 per cent or 606 students are veterans.

Only 26 per cent or 75 freshmen came from high schools while the other 74 per cent were prep school men; 34 were veterans. Twenty five states, Washington D.C., Denmark, and Hawaii were represented.

Deerfield Envoys Prevalent
Deerfield sent the largest delegation of freshmen, 21. Exeter followed with 14. Andover had 9 and Hill and Choate sent 8 and 6 students. New Trier, Illinois and Walnut Hill High in Cincinnati, Ohio tied for the largest high school group with five apiece. Scarsdale, New York and Williamstown High each sent four. The class of '51 was well represented in extra-curricular activities. Twenty-nine men were class representatives.
(See ENTERING Page 6)

WCA Meeting To Take Place Late In Week

Association's Chairman Tells Scope, Purpose Of Christian Group

The Williams Christian Association will hold its first meeting of the term Thursday evening, October 9, recently announced WCA chairman Charles Schmidt, '48, who also took the opportunity to discuss the purpose, organization and scope of the association.

The Fall Membership Drive, slated to be held within the next two or three weeks, heads the agenda of the opening meeting, with other business including the formulation of plans for the Chest Fund drive to take place late this Fall and the reorganization of various committees. Election of new committee chairmen to fill those posts vacated by recent graduates will also be held.

Christian Purpose Stressed
"WCA has always considered itself THE organization on Campus", declared Chairman Schmidt. Founded in 1806 by Williams undergraduates, WCA has devoted itself to organize and further Christian work by the students, not only in the College, but in surrounding communities and the world at large.

The Central Cabinet of WCA is composed of the chairman and officers of the association and the committee chairmen and holds the reins of the organization.
(See WCA Page 3)

Public Opinion Course Begins

Analyzes Pressure On National Government

The importance of public opinion in the American government and in other phases of our life will be demonstrated in the first semester of the new public opinion course to be taught this fall by Professor David Truman.

It will not produce men qualified to do public opinion work such as polling but it will evaluate the techniques involved in measuring public opinion. The second term will be devoted to the study of propaganda and pressure groups.

Juniors who have had Political Science I are eligible for the course.

Discussion Course
With emphasis being placed on classroom discussion with a minimum of lectures, the course will use the polling material given to Williams by Elmo Roper for discussion and reference. Using Roper's cards, containing all the information derived from the holes punched on them, the classes will be able to examine certain aspects of this material in a lab session which Truman is planning to incorporate into the course.

It is Truman's conviction that the phenomena of public opinion are basic to the operation of our political institutions, and the course will therefore treat this phase very thoroughly, although it will touch on other aspects of the subject as well. Having a definite connection with History, English and Psychology, the scope of the course is broad.

(See TRUMAN Page 6)

Houseparty Change To Union Weekend

The Fall Houseparty has been advanced from November 15 to the Union week end of November 1 to avoid conflict with Homecoming week end. Hugh Higbe, '48, President of the Ole Club, sponsor of the Houseparty, announced recently that the organization is formulating plans for the festivities.

Peggy Lamson Pans COW Calls For Better Editing Revised Policy, Originality

by Peggy Lamson.

It is high time for the editors of the PURPLE COW to make up their minds just exactly what the purpose, function and aim of their magazine is. If the COW wants to be a funny magazine it must be funnier—much funnier. If it wants to be a literary magazine its literary content must be greatly strengthened, and if it wants to be a magazine of undergraduate opinion it must establish itself as such by presenting a reasonably wide cross-section of student views on matters of collegiate importance. If on the other hand the COW wants to continue as a pot-pourri it must somehow contrive to use top-notch ingredients instead of the very mediocre fare which makes up the current issue.

It has been suggested that reviewers of the magazine not appreciate the fact that this is a college publication tend to review it on "Atlantic Monthly" or "Harpers" standards. It seems unlikely, however, that any reviewer could fail to be all too aware that this is college material—unless he fell into the quite understandable error of judging the work by High School standards. The PURPLE COW cannot boast of a point of view, a sense of humor or a literary style. Taken as a whole it adds up to approximately zero. It is therefore not surprising that contributors to the magazine are unable to raise their heads above a standard which sets mediocrity as its highest goal.

Individually the pieces in the COW might with judicious editing and cutting get by. A good number of them show a latent ability on the part of the authors, but one wonders if they represent the best work of which these authors are capable. It seems unlikely. It also seems unlikely that there are not at least a few writers of greater ability on the campus who would be eager to submit work to a magazine of greater challenge.

The COW was read by this reviewer in its dummy form—a pasted up job (wet paste). It would therefore be unfair to try to give any estimate of the physical make-up of the magazine. Such art work as there was seemed routine and uninspired, but perhaps in the finished magazine it will take on a dimension which was not apparent in the rough form.

(See COW REVIEW Page 2)

College Gets Bronze Plaque

Training Of Navy Men Praised at Meeting

A bronze plaque showing the Navy Department's appreciation for the work done by Williams College in training Naval personnel during the war was presented to President James P. Baxter, III, by Captain L. G. McGlone last Friday at the first college meeting in Chapin Hall.

President Baxter spoke about the ROTC program and introduced the commanding officers, Lt. Colonel Joseph A. Greco and Major John A. Cosgrove. Albert Keep, the new assistant dean, was also introduced.

Robert Boyer welcomed the freshmen for the UC after which Denhan Lunt, '48, and Eugene Murphy, '48, spoke on behalf of the soccer and football teams.

Bidwell, Halsted Represent Williams At Wisconsin Convention of WSA; Constitution Adopted; Plans Made

In the near future, you will have an opportunity to hear of the national convention of the National Student Association which was held this summer from August 30 to September 7 at the University of Wisconsin from either Seth M. Bidwell '49 or Henry M. Halsted '48 who represented Williams at the convention.

Perhaps you have wondered sometimes what and how people study at Harvard, Stanford, Notre Dame. How does Williams' academic standard compare with that of other colleges? Does the atmosphere and environment at other colleges give other students a different slant on life than what we get at Williams? Have you ever wished for information on opportunities for student travel in Latin America, Europe, or Asia, or thought that you might be able to work towards making such opportunities? Have you ever had the thought that what Williams is and what leadership there is among us could do much to help students in other parts of the country, while we could learn more about this country of ours, about people, and about the world?

Constitution, Program Prepared

This summer at Madison representatives of over 350 colleges and universities gathered at university to adopt a constitution and prepare a program for a proposed National Student Association that might answer such questions as those above. The story behind the constitutional convention is a relatively simple one. The series of events that led up to it started at a meeting of the World Student Congress at Prague, Czechoslovakia, in August, 1946. It was at this congress that the International Union of Students was formally launched.

Present at Prague, among students from almost every nation, were 25 American delegates, ten elected by the student bodies of ten universities scattered about the United States and fifteen from existing national student organizations, such as the National Christian Council (YM-YWCA), the National Federation of Catholic College Students, and the Newman Club Federation, the American Youth for Democracy, the Student Federalist, etc.

European Students Organized

While in Europe, these American delegates were very much impressed by the work of national unions of students in England and Europe, as well as by the possibilities of promoting international understanding through the International Union of Students. When they returned to the United States, these delegates decided to call a conference of

(See NSA Page 4)

RECORD Compets To Meet October 8

The first meeting for Record editorial and business staff compets will be held Wednesday, October 8, at 8:00 p.m. in the Record's Jesup Hall offices.

The competitions will deal mainly with weekly stories and office duty for editorial compets and work on advertisements and subscriptions for the business staff. Since the Record will be publishing two issues a week, many positions are open on both staffs.

Higgins Tallies On 75 Yard Run In First

Freshman Substitutes, Farrell and Forbes, Pace Panther Push

Williams Defense Needs Correction

Duffield And Lyons Hurt In First Half

Williams' lopsided defeat, 19-7, at the hands of underdog Middlebury was a stunning upset. Favored by most sports fans as a one touchdown favorite, Williams was hopelessly outclassed through the second half and fell apart completely in the closing quarter. Only in the first quarter, when the Purple went into a 7-0 lead by virtue of Pat Higgins' dazzling 75 yard punt return for a score, did the Williams team show anything of its predicted improvement.

Recovering swiftly from the shock of Williams' opening power, Middlebury's line dug in while its backs were content to peck away at the Williams defense through the air and over the ground. At the very close of the first half Farrell, a freshman substitute of Middlebury, found the weakness they sought, began driving hard through the Purple line.

Frosh Backs Pound Williams

In the second half the Panthers disdained the aerial attack and concentrated on a hard running offense which tore through the Williams line at will. Farrell and Forbes, another frosh sub, of the Vermonters carried the attack deep into Purple territory and great punting by Forbes backed Williams up to its one foot line. Only a booming punt by Higgins out to the midfield stripe saved Williams from a rout.
(See FOOTBALL Page 5)

Cap and Bells Schedules Full Dramatic Year

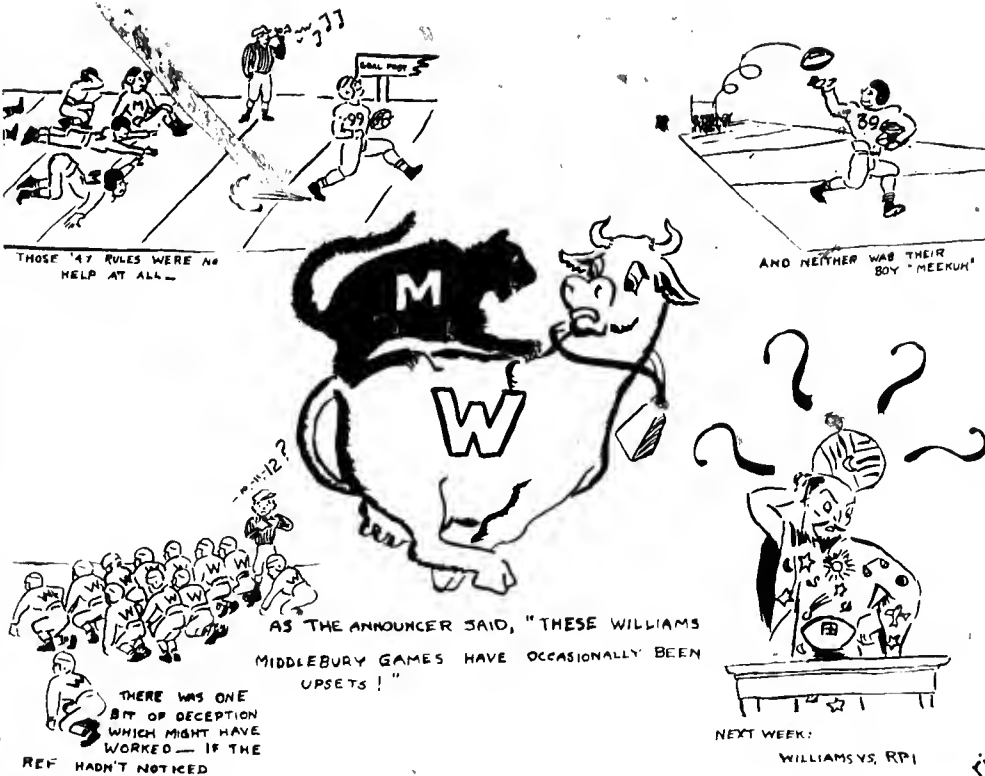

Student-Directed Plays Included In Season Opening Next Month

Cap and Bells has a full slate scheduled for the 1947-8 dramatics season, with three major productions, four experimental productions, and two drama class plays in the offing. This year will also be marked by the inauguration of a season ticket system, designed to save both time and money.

The season will open on the weekend of November 13-15, when the curtain will rise on "The Beaux' Stratagem," a lusty Restoration comedy by Farquhar. The work will receive full production, that is complete emphasis will be placed on all phases of the play.

Students To Direct

Close on the heels of "The Beaux' Stratagem" will come a trio of student directed one-act plays—Edna St. Vincent Mallay's "Aria da Capo," Noel Coward's "Ways and Means," and Tennessee Williams' "Portrait of a Madonna." All three plays, presented on December 5 only, will be experimental productions, in which emphasis will be laid on only one aspect of the works. Less than two weeks later, on December 17, the men in Drama 1-2 will offer "Holy Night," a Christmas play by Martinez Sierra. Admission is open to the public without charge.
(See PLAYS Page 2)

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 News Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Briggs Baugh, '48 H. Russell Platt, '48
Charles R. Fetter, '48 John H. Schafer, '48
James C. Forsyth, II, '48 Peter M. Thexton, '48
C. Hugh Klensch, '48

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

William R. Borney, Jr., '49 Russell B. Frost, '49
Seth M. Bidwell, '49 Edwin Kuh, '49
Jerry J. Cole, '49 J. Edward Powlick, '49
Joseph F. Dorsey, '49

EDITORIAL STAFF

S. F. Blaschke, '50 E. V. Gouinlock, '50 W. P. Stern, '50
K. V. X. Delany, '50 R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50 P. W. Stites, '49
W. V. M. Fowcett, Jr., '50 H. D. Mohring, '50 R. S. Taylor, '49
R. Fowle, '50 D. T. Roach, '50 C. E. Urley, '49
J. B. Gibson, '50 S. Robinowitz, '50 H. Van Horne, '50
J. G. Golding, '50 J. B. Shepardon, '50 N. S. Wood, '50

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Acting Advertising Manager Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock, '49

BUSINESS STAFF

P. C. Graney, '49 T. H. Lichtenfels, '50 B. M. Sapiro, '48
R. P. Klopman, '49 M. J. Murray, '50 A. R. Shay, '50
R. A. LeCount, '49 J. S. Prescott, '50 R. B. Stallworth, '48
J. M. Reid, '49

ART BOARD

Photographic Editor Howard N. Wedelstoedt, '50
Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Felch, '48

VOL. LXI

OCTOBER 8, 1947

No. 2

Should We Lay Off?

On the first page of this issue the RECORD again prints a review of the college magazine, "The Purple Cow." As has been all too true in the past, this review is another severe criticism of the poor quality of the magazine.

Originally the RECORD reviewed each issue of the college magazine partially to give it some good publicity. But the criticism turned in by English department members Hunt, Stocking, and Smith were what might better be termed as very bad publicity. Gene Detmer, varsity end on the football team, liked the issue he reviewed as did Cow-Record reporter Joe Horton.

This week's article is done by Mrs. Roy Lamson, wife of a member of the English department, and a successful author in her own right. Mrs. Lamson agrees with the faculty reviewers. She terms the stories "not the best work of which the authors are capable," and calls for judicious editing of these stories. At this time, just prior to the Cow subscription drive, this review is more bad publicity.

The RECORD and the Cow are both college publications. There is some duplication in our staffs. Both, in our own way, are trying to serve the best interest of the college. Therefore, why should the RECORD print something which is so obviously bad news to the Cow?

As far as the RECORD is concerned there is no jealousy between the two organizations. There are no hard feelings. No member of the RECORD Board "has it in for" any member of the Cow board. But we do agree with Mrs. Lamson that there is considerable room for improvement in our college magazine. (We are not basing our judgment, nor is Mrs. Lamson, on "New Yorker" standards.)

Our object, in printing this review, and ones similar to it, are twofold. First, we want our readers to have the honest opinions of qualified people. Secondly, considering the long-run point of view, we are concerned with the eventual rise of the Cow to a point where it can be a college magazine without equal.

Thus, in a round-about way, which allows us to keep our integrity, we are giving a plug for the Cow. We do not think that as it stands, the Cow is good. But we feel that with the material submitted, and with the reluctance of the authors of this material to trust the judgment of the editors as to changes, the Cow editors do a good job.

We are not trying to claim that the Cow Staff is incompetent. We are just asking that writers, artists, and poets, who up to now have contributed nothing to improve our magazine, get busy. We should judge that this would hold true of the Class of '51 also.

Cow Review - - -

Of the five short stories Rhett Austell's "Only Eight" seemed the most sensitive bit of writing and Taylor's "Pop Grundy" had the best basic idea. Mr. Austell's "Only Eight" gives a convincing and sympathetic picture of a mother's emotions and misgivings when taking her "Only Eight" year old son to a summer camp for the first time. The story could have been heightened and strengthened if the treatment of the child and the child's father had been more sharply etched. As it stands, the piece has a one-dimensional quality which is good as far as it goes but seems somehow incomplete.

On the other hand Mr. Taylor's "Pop Grundy" dots its i's and crosses its t's a bit too decidedly. The story of an ageing and no longer useful diamond cutter and sea faring man, it deals with the closing chapter in the old man's life when he is given a last opportunity to cut a rare and perfect diamond for an uncouth thug. Pop Grundy's passion of the gem becomes in Mr. Taylor's hands, overdone and tedious. The author is at great pains to see how often and in how many different ways he can describe the old man's feelings as he cuts the stone and as a result frequently resorts to clichés ("Like the Sun shining

(See COW REVIEW Page 6)

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

So many requests have reached me begging me not to reprint the T. S. Confusion Method of playing bridge, that I have decided not to reprint it. Those who simply cannot live without it, will have to die; and I, for one, will shirk all responsibility of cleaning cadavers from the lab campus. Instead, I have sat down and thought up the most wonderful method of dirty rushing. And to keep idle minds busy until classes end, here is something to cogitate—the T. S. Confusion Method of Dirty Rushing!

Dirty rushing is in such wide use, that it seems a heinous crime that rules for its correct practice have not been decreed by the organization which decrees such things. More than a handful of houses have created the position of Dirty Rushing Chairman. The holder of this office receives an expense account of approximately six hundred twenty-six dollars and eighty-nine cents semi-annually. Now this is nothing to be sneezed at or—for my reader who suffers from asthma—wheezed at.

T. S. Plan Stolen

Of course, the creation of this office is a steal from the T. S. Confusion Method which recommends such a measure in Article I Paragraph 19. I shan't sue, but I want it understood that the person responsible for more dirty rushing at Williams is none other than:

The correct application of the T. S. Confusion Method of Dirty Rushing requires the hand of a well-trained master. It is of the utmost necessity that the utmost secrecy be maintained. In Article II of the Method, it is suggested by the fun-loving author that a slight penalty be given for each discovered act of dirty rushing. Something like fifty lashes for each member of the house—just to add a little zip to the old game.

A Case In Point

To understand the T. S. Confusion Method of Dirty Rushing to its full measure of greatness, let us examine a typical case from my copious files. Case No. T. S. 192 is that of X. Y. whom we shall call T. Snaggle Fagerschnock. Snaggle was a typical green-blooded American boy. He had been kicked out of St. Paul's, all the Phillips Academies, Drury High and Columbia High. His record was excellent—nay, superb. Physically he was a specimen of some sort. He wore dark grey flannel slacks, an odd sport coat, a knitted tie with holes for a Gargoyle pin and white shoes. He was a wheel all right.

Every fraternity on campus was after Snaggle. At each hack session the cry was, "Let's snag Snaggle, fellas!!" Of necessity, clean rushing was out of the question, since Snaggle was hardly the type to succumb to ice water, cigarettes, and candy mints. This was to be the trial by fire of the T. S. Confusion Method.

T. S. To The Rescue

The Dirty Rushing Chairman of Dogma Nu placed the case in my hands. "You'll help your old fraternity brothers won't you, you good old Dogma Nuer!" he said. And of course one could hardly refuse a request so charmingly made. Besides, he had my head in a vice.

Step number one consisted of spreading conflicting stories to the other fraternities concerning Snaggle. To one I said he had dandruff, to another I revealed that he had no charge account at Brooks Brothers, to a third I craftily said that Snaggle had not really been captain of the marble team when his school so soundly trounced Deerfield. Oh how exceeding clever!

Semper Confusion

While these dire reports were seething and working within the minds of the other fraternities, Dogma Nu was giving T. Snaggle Fagerschnock such a dirty rush as has never been seen since. The snow that fell and the fertilizer that was tossed have never been equalled. Snaggle was greeted at the door by the entire house. And he was plopped into luxury's lap. Sexy Bennington women sprawled about the room, and champagne corks popped wickedly. Even his ice water was spiked.

The other rushees who arrived during the same period were given a Franky-Thomas-has-made-a-mistake stare and shoved into the John to play gin rummy. All efforts were concentrated upon Snaggle. The Method worked to perfection. Snaggle became dazed, he became befuddled, he became tight, he became a Dogma Nu pledge. As the brothers pinned the pledge badge on his undershirt, they gratefully proffered gifts of thanks. They offered five hundred dollars. I grudgingly accepted a thousand.

That was the case of T. Snaggle Fagerschnock who transferred to the University of Reykjavik the following term. Thus, the seed of the T. S. Confusion Method of Dirty Rushing was planted in foreign soil. And God knows to what lengths the Method might have gone in Iceland had not the peasantry of that region drawn and quartered Snaggle for attempting variations of it in rushing little Iceland squeezes.

Plays - - - charge.

On January 23, another experimental production, "The Infernal Machine," the translation of a modern French play by Jean Cocteau, will have a one night stand. The work is based on the theme of the classic Greek play, "Oedipus Rex," in which the central figure is completely dominated by his mother.

Social Drama Stated

Clifford Odets' "Golden Boy" is on the calendar for March 11-13. A major production, the work is the social drama with a prize fighter who yearns to be a violinist for its hero. This play will be followed on March 26 with the experimental production of a translation of a classic Greek play, as yet unchosen.

A student written musical comedy will be presented to the audience in the AMT on April 29, and a second drama class offering, "The Dog Beneath the Skin," a fantasy by W. H. Auden and Christopher Isherwood, will be given on May 14, again gratis. The last production of the season is to be a new, untried script, as yet unchosen.

Subscription Tickets Explained

The season ticket system that has been put into effect by Cap and Bells not only saves money for the ticket holder but also admits him to productions which will not be open to those who buy at the box office. For $5.00 plus a 20% government tax (a total of $6.00) a person can see seven plays

Council - - -

The other committees also functioning excellently were the Rushing Committee, the Entertainment Committee which sponsored Summer Houseparties, The Nominations and Rules Committee which made changes in the By-Laws permitting Summer transfer students to sit in on UC meetings, the Scholastic Committee which recommended that the free cuts be given for all athletic trips—a matter still pending before the faculty, and the Student Activities Committee.

Stresses Committees' Importance
Boyer announced his appointment of a committee to make recommendations for consideration by the Fall council. In mentioning the establishing of weekly committee reports, he declared "the success or failure of the UC depends upon the success or failure of each individual committee."

The UC is at present in a period of transition from the Summer to Fall Council, but hopes to begin operations as soon as possible. A temporary Nominations and Rules Committee has been appointed which will set up class election schedules, and upon arrangement of this, permanent UC officers will be elected.

which would cost him $8.40 at the regular price of $1.20 each. Furthermore, four of these plays, the experimental productions, are restricted to holders of season tickets alone.

With the creamy-rich lather of Seaforth Shaving Soap, the heather-fresh exhilaration of Seaforth Lotion, you're headed for better, pleasanter grooming. Enjoy them yourself... soon! These and other Seaforth essentials, packaged in handsome stoneware, only $1.

Seaforth, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, N. Y. 20

Yes Sir . . .

Get your Seaforth at College Pharmacy today.

A complete assortment in stock at all times.

COLLEGE PHARMACY
Tel. 401

IT'S TIME TO GET YOUR CAR IN SHAPE
FOR WINTER

WINTER-PROOF YOUR CAR
NOW

EXPERT WHEEL-BALANCING SERVICE BY THE BEAR
METHOD

PONTIAC SALES and SERVICE

GRUNDY'S GARAGE

Main and Water Streets

Tel. 5

"Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" . . .

is a whimsical statement unsupported by the evidence

But . . .

"College Men Prefer Arrows" . . .

is a true tradition
based on solid facts*

*More than 3 out of 4 college men prefer Arrow shirts —survey by National College Research Bureau.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Opportunities For '51

All freshmen who are interested in editorial and business newspaper work. The WILLIAMS RECORD is planning a greater schedule of publications than ever before and many staff positions must be filled soon. Photographers are especially welcome.

ATTENTION:
An unlimited number of men to compete for both business and editorial positions on the Purple Cow. Many board positions are open now and there is good opportunity for advancement. Time and place for the first meeting will be announced.

UNLIMITED OPPORTUNITIES:
Positions for art, business, editorial, and photographic divisions of the Williams year book, the Gulielmian, are open now to ambitious freshmen. The time and place for the competes meeting will be announced in the Adviser.

URGENT:
Ten to 15 men are needed to write articles for the Associated Press, New York, Boston and local newspapers through the Williams News Bureau. Freshmen will be paid according to how much they write. Competes will be required to work one afternoon a week. Time and place to be announced.

FOUR MEN WANTED:
The Student Bookstore needs

four competes for managerial positions. 10% of the years profits will be split among these men. They will be required to work afternoons in the store. The competition is on a year long basis. Full details will be explained at the meeting which will be announced shortly.

RADIO MEN ATTENTION:

Thirty-five men are urgently needed to compete for announcing, business production, and technical positions on WMS. The duration of the competition is a month and a half. Time and place to be announced.

WANTED:

Six upperclassmen to compete for the varsity football managership. Two freshmen are needed to compete for the frosh football managership. Six upperclassmen and six freshmen are wanted for varsity and freshmen soccer respectively. Four of each for the cross-country team are needed as well. Those men who make the competition become members of the Purple Key society. A meeting will be announced shortly.

CAMERA FIENDS:

All you shutter-happy freshmen listen. The Williams Photo Service needs all the competes it can get. Pictures will be taken of all news worthy events through the

(See WANTED Page 6)

Murdered Mutt

The late lamented George with his DKE owners immediately following his release from the local pound. Beaming George is shown during the prime of his short life.

Campus Mongrel Courted Pekingese But her Old Man Kept A Shotgun

by Clark Kent, '50

Local officials are frantically searching for the body of George, brown campus mongrel, who was mercilessly shot and killed by an unknown assailant while he was searching for his tennis ball in a Park Street chicken coop shortly before the end of the summer term.

Anyone revealing information as to the whereabouts of the body will be given a $5 reward by the WILLIAMS RECORD.

Two Shots Fired

Eye witnesses who heard two shots ring out in the middle of the night say they rushed to the chicken coop down past the infirmary where they saw George's dead body on the floor. They called local officials but when they arrived the battered body was gone.

Six dead chickens were also found in the coop and it is believed that the assailant killed them after brutally murdering George. The tennis ball is also missing and authoritative sources are confident that the murderer stole this important piece of evidence.

Assailant Escaped

The assailant was just taking the six dead chickens when the officials arrived, but he jumped out a window and escaped. The officials took chase and fired two shots but were unable to capture him.

It is thought that the murderer was the angry owner of a thoroughbred Pekingese bitch with whom George had been going steady. Officials have been unable to find its owner but they have found several clues.

Well Loved

George was a well loved campus character before his death and everyone was familiar with his dashes after automobiles or other dogs. Perhaps his greatest claim to fame was his famous tennis ball and it is known that he would do anything—even enter a chicken coop—to retrieve it from where playful students had thrown it.

One day in the summer of 1946, when George was unable to find his ball anywhere he ran a personal ad in the Adviser. He had the ball the next day.

In Trouble

He was in trouble with the law only once—officially. That was a year ago. The WILLIAMS RECORD revealed that when he was thrown in the pound for not having a license. All fraternities rush-monthly meetings to integrate committee activities. The individual committees, however, carry out the organization's numerous activities.

(See GEORGE Page 6)

WCA . . .

Committees Described

The Chest Fund committee organizes the Chest Fund Drive, sole monetary appeal during the year by the association. The Boys' Club committee supervises and coaches athletic, recreational and educational activities of the Williamstown Boys' Club besides conducting a summer camp.

Old clothes and magazines are collected by the Charities committee while the Deputations committee members teach Sunday School and have opportunities to preach in the churches of surrounding communities.

New Fields of WCA

Relatively new, the Forum and Discussion Group holds campus opinion forums on WMS, the college radio station, and holds meetings with other colleges. The Activities committee promotes such not purely religious work as the organization of beer parties and dances for students and married vets.

In urging students to join, Schmidt emphasized WCA's unlimited membership in all fields "from athletics and business to religious and charitable" and that a member is "under no obligation, but works as he sees fit."

Please Patronize
RECORD
Advertisers

D & D OFFICE SERVICE

Let D & D Do Your Typing For You

Leave material to be typed at 85 Spring Street next to the Alumni House

TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

Buxton School Transfers To Williamstown

Boarding School Was Formerly Situated In Short Hills, N. J.

The Buxton Upper School of Short Hills, N. J., founded and operated by Mrs. Ellen Geer Sanger, daughter of the late Bently Wirt Warren, LL.D., Williams '85 and former trustee of the college, will be transferred this fall to the family 140 acre estate on Stone Hill, located on the road beyond the Phi Sigma Kappa house and the golf course. Buxton will board students and offer a college preparatory course.

The school will emphasize the creative arts, including drama, art, music, creative writing and crafts, as well as an intensive athletic program involving participation by every student. Co-operative student-faculty government and a required course concerning national and international problems also will be featured by the school.

To Cooperate with Pine Cobble Plans have been arranged with (See SCHOOL Page 6)

IRENE'S Gift Shop

Featuring

- FINE LEATHER GOODS
- HAND WROUGHT ALUMINUM WARE
- PLASTIC PLAYING CARDS
- TABLE LAMPS
- HURRICANE LAMPS

LARGE VARIETY OF GIFTS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

Come in and look around

Under the Monagement of MRS. IRENE KING

"Dancing with a Deb" GREAT RECORD! ★

—"Skitch" Henderson's Newest Disc for Capitol

"Skitch" and some of his side-men looking over an arrangement of "Dancing With a Deb."

IT'S
CAMELS
WITH ME!

The platter that's causing plenty of chatter in juke circles is "Skitch" Henderson's latest instrumental—"Dancing With a Deb." Boy—what a record!

It's obvious "Skitch" has had plenty of experience in tickling those ivories, and he follows that experience rule in smoking too. "I smoked many different brands and compared," says "Skitch." "My choice from experience is Camel."

Try Camels. Compare. Let your own experience tell you why more people are smoking Camels than ever before!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.
Winston-Salem, N. C.

More people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!

(WALDEN) THEATRE

WEDNESDAY THURSDAY
FRIDAY

DEAR RUTH

JOAN CAULFIELD and BILL HOLDEN

SATURDAY

SEA HAWK

ERROL FLYNN

SUNDAY MONDAY

SINBAD THE SAILOR

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS
and
MAUREEN O'HARA

Williams Booters Conquer Champlain 5 - 0 In Opener

Bullock's Men Perform Well In First Tilt

Strong Forward Line Leads Purple Eleven For Initial Victory

Williams won the opening game of the 1947 soccer season last Saturday, as the Ephmen rang up a 5-0 victory over Champlain College on Cole Field before a small crowd.

The playing of the Purple line was the difference in the game. Williams' forward line entirely outclassed Champlain, scoring at least once in every period, and countering twice in the third quarter, while the GI college was being held scoreless. Frank Donnelly paced the Eph attack with three goals, while Barry Emmert and Larry Gourley each scored for the home team.

Emmert Scores First Goal

The first score came about midway in the first period, as Emmert drilled a shot past the Blue goalie after receiving a nice pass from Frenchy Oudin. Williams had dominated the play in the first quarter, keeping the ball in Champlain's half of the field most of the time, and barely missing on several scoring opportunities.

The Ephmen could not score again until seventeen minutes of the second quarter had elapsed. At that point Donnelly received a pass from Gourley and dropped a bloop over the goalie's head for Williams' second score.

Two minutes after the second half opened, the Purple booters scored again, as Gourley booted in a goal after receiving Donnelly's corner kick. Several minutes later,

Rockwood Cup Field Headed By Robinson

The 1948 Rockwood Cup tennis tournament opened Monday with seventy-nine men entered in the contest for the individual College championship. Since last year's winner, Dick Hole, has graduated and the runner-up, Fred Scribner, is not in College this term, the tournament remains a wide open affair. Leading contender is Stu Robinson, who played number one last season. Also bracketed high in the listings are Charley Schaaf, Joe Takamine, and George Wright.

Donnelly scored his second goal of the afternoon, driving home the ball after a corner kick by Oudin. At this point the game slowed down until the end of the quarter when Champlain got its best chance to score, as they were awarded a penalty kick, but missed as the attempt was high.

Donnelly High Scorer

In the fourth quarter, Champlain became more aggressive, and carried the play into the Purple territory for a while. Williams, however, scored once again, when Donnelly blasted his third goal of the day, scoring on a penalty kick. This ended the scoring for the afternoon.

Standing out for the home team was the play of the whole forward line. The halfbacks played a steady, if not too aggressive game, while the fullbacks cleared the ball well. The play, as a whole, in this, the opening game of the season was somewhat ragged. Champlain's team was led by their outside left from Venezuela, Jose DeLosRios.

The game was played before a small crowd, composed mostly of freshmen on a dry field in unseasonably warm weather. Williams will play again next Saturday against the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

The summary:

Williams (5)	Champlain (0)
Lunt, (Capt.), g	g, Broderick
Hadley, rf	rf, Kehin
Dewey, lf	lf, Conway
Page, rh	rh, McKimm
Kneass, ch	ch, Robinson (Capt.)
Bowen, lh	lh, Veneman
Donnelly, or	or, Hass
Johnson, ir	ir, Schanck
Emmert, cf	cf, Forgiore
Mayshark, il	il, Israel
Oudin, ol	ol, DeLosRios

Score by periods:

	1	2	3	4
Williams	1	1	2	1-5
Champlain	0	0	0	0-0

Scoring: Williams, Emmert, Donnelly (3), Gourley. Substitutions: Williams, Palmedo, Gourley, Edwards, Debevoise, Powle, Champlain, Eherlich, Miner, McGorry. Referee, Williams.

Williams Yacht Club Represented By Wesson, Wells At New London

Sailing under the colors of the Williams Yacht Club William R. Wesson, '48, and H. Prescott Wells, '49, participated in the International Star Class Championship Preliminaries held at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy Sunday, September 28. The Williams and Princeton entries, sailing in the third division, were eliminated during the second day of racing on the Thames River at New London, in competition with M. I. T., Cornell and Princeton.

Commodore Wesson and Vice Commodore Wells, co-skippering, raced Stars for the first time in our opening regatta of the fall season. After placing last in three races they came back to win the final round robin during which Wells was obliged to set their jib by holding it out with the stub end of a broken whisker pole along the entire two mile reach of the second leg of the course.

Busy Fall Season

The remainder of the month holds a busy schedule for members of the Yacht Club. October 11 and 12 are the dates for another regatta at the Coast Guard Academy, where twelve college teams will compete for the Danmark Trophy in the Intercollegiate Twelve Ft. Dingy Regatta.

The following Saturday, October 18, the Brown University Yacht Club will play host for one of four Freshman Dingy Championship Preliminaries. Williams will sail against Northeastern University, Amherst, Yale, Rhode Island and Trinity in preliminary "B." This same Saturday a dual regatta is scheduled to be held on the Hudson with the U. S. Military Academy Sailing Club.

New Race

Saturday and Sunday, October 25 and 26, will be another busy weekend for Williams sailors, with the finals of the freshman Dingy Championships being held at M. I. T. on the Charles River Basin. Perhaps the most spirited race of the season will be found in a newly scheduled meet. The "Little Three" Dingy Championship will find Williams, Amherst and Wesleyan sailing against each other on the Connecticut River for the first time in a regularly scheduled regatta.

The last race of the fall season will occur on the weekend of November 1 and 2, when the Fall Open Invitation Regatta should find twelve colleges competing for the Schelle Trophy at M. I. T.

Yacht Club Objectives

Williams College is an old and recognized active member of the Inter-Collegiate Yacht Racing Association, which is composed of twenty-four member colleges and eighteen associate member colleges. The Williams Club is interested in obtaining new members who are enthusiastic about sailing this fall and next spring. It wishes to establish an organization which is an integral part of recognized undergraduate activities, offering close competitive association with forty-two colleges of the Eastern seaboard belonging to the I. C. Y. R. A., plus a group of co-ed and girls colleges which are members of the newly formed New England Yacht Racing Association.

The Breeze and Wesson

Commodore Wesson in action on September 28 at the Coast Guard Academy.

Wesson is negotiating with the Pontoosuc Sailing Association under the auspices of the Pittsfield Y. M. C. A. to obtain sailing facilities on Lake Pontoosuc, which is only a twenty-five minute drive from Williamstown over a newly completed highway. It is hoped that within a year Williams may play host to some of the above mentioned colleges.

Statistics Of The Middlebury Game

	M	W
Yards gained rushing	261	81
Yards gained passing	50	17
First downs	15	6
Passes attempted	11	5
Passes completed	4	1
Passes intercepted by	2	0
Yards gained on interceptions	28	0
Fumbles	2	4
Fumbles recovered, opponent's	2	2
Punts	5	5
Average distance (from scrimmage)	38.4	43
Runbacks of punts, total distance	42	75
Penalties against	2	2
Yards lost on penalties	15	10

Opponents' Scores

October 4th

RPI 7, Buffalo 14
Bowdoin 6, Univ. of Mass. 7
Trinity 33, Bates 13
Union 13, Rochester 18
Wesleyan 19, Worcester Tech. 0
Amherst 13, Coast Guard 0

Turnouts For Frosh Sports Seem Strong

Six Teams For Potter Booters To Defend Little Three Crown

All eyes in the freshman class are riveted on the eighty-five men who reported to Coach Harvey Potter for football last week because the duration of beanle-wearing rests squarely on the broad shoulders of these young men.

At the same time thirty-six soccer players reported to Coach Chaffee to begin their fight for another freshman Little Three crown.

12 Captains Report

Harvey Potter and line coach Bobby Coombs were pleased with the size of the squad, both in weights and in numbers. The six complete lines and backfields have been working out and are reported to contain twelve former captains and numerous prep school stars.

Harv Potter who "Hopes we'll win all our ball games" mentioned Bronson Fargo, Skip Dunlap, and Bob Genlesse as promising tackle material while Ernie Mierzejewski and Mitch Fish seem to look good at guard and end.

Fast Backs

Doug Johnson, Pete DeLisser and Bill Sperry are fighting for the all important T-formation quarterback slot while Pete Fisher, George Flake and Pete Smythe seem to be big and fast back-field material.

The soccer squad, which plays its first game at Mount Hermon on October 18, also seems to have some promising material. In an early scrimmage Rog Dickinson, a former Poly prep captain looked very good at right inside while Artie Lade, John Rogers, and Dick Manning also stood out.

The Williams News Room

HAROLD E. NORTHRUP

- Magazines
- Newspapers
- School Supplies

Tel. 162 Spring St.

NSA - - -

American students to sound out campus opinion on the desirability of forming a National Student Organization for the United States.

The conference was held at the University of Chicago, December 28-30, 1946. Here over 700 students, representing 800,000 students of 300 colleges and universities, and 20 national student organizations, discussed the aims and purposes of the proposed NSA and its organizational principles and decided to organize a "National Student Association." Also, the Chicago Student Conference decided to form a National Continuities committee whose duties were to raise funds, publicize the constitutional convention, and prepare a draft constitution, as a basis for this summer's meeting. The Chicago Student Conference elected the officers for the NCC, the chairmen of the various geographical regions throughout the United States, and a staff committee of four to prepare material for the meeting at Wisconsin.

Many Activities Proposed

The Wisconsin meeting was a great success, and an NSA has been set up on a representative basis. It is dedicated to developing student self-government, securing equal educational rights for all students, fostering better educational standards and methods, improving student's welfare, awakening the student to his responsibilities, to his nation, and the world, and promoting international understanding. An extremely ambitious program of activities to implement the above has been drawn up, which calls for surveys and recommendations designed to get the students themselves to take more interest and initiative in improving conditions on their own campuses, in their own region.

(See NSA Page 6)

The Purple Cow Laundry Invades The Campus

QUALITY 48 HOUR SERVICE

"Let us take you to the cleaners."

DAILY PICK-UPS AND DELIVERIES

TRANSPORTATION FOR YOU TO

All out-of-town games or for weekend trips
MADE AVAILABLE THROUGH VETERAN'S TAXI

At Reasonable Rates
For 24 Hour Service Call 729W

KING'S PACKAGE STORE

- WINES
- BEERS
- CHAMPAGNE

Open 9 A.M. to 11 P.M.

WALDEN THEATRE BUILDING

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

Rules of the Contest

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 6 p.m., Friday
2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.
3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.
4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

ONE MEAL AT THE COLLEGE RESTAURANT

1. <input type="checkbox"/> Williams	vs.	R. P. I.	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/> Amherst	vs.	Bowdoin	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/> Wesleyan	vs.	Connecticut U.	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/> Harvard	vs.	Virginia	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/> Columbia	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/> Penn	vs.	Dartmouth	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/> Villanova	vs.	Holy Cross	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/> Army	vs.	Illinois	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/> Duke	vs.	Navy	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/> Ohio State	vs.	Univ. So. Cal.	<input type="checkbox"/>

ONE SHIRT AT THE WILLIAMS CO-OP

1. <input type="checkbox"/> Williams	vs.	R. P. I.	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/> Amherst	vs.	Bowdoin	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/> Wesleyan	vs.	Connecticut U.	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/> Harvard	vs.	Virginia	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/> Columbia	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/> Penn	vs.	Dartmouth	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/> Villanova	vs.	Holy Cross	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/> Army	vs.	Illinois	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/> Duke	vs.	Navy	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/> Ohio State	vs.	Univ. So. Cal.	<input type="checkbox"/>

Purple Loses Opener To Middlebury In Upset, 19 To 7

Higgins Tallies On 75 Yard Run In First

Freshman Substitutes, Farrell and Forbes, Pace Panther Push

Williams Defense Needs Correction

Duffield, And Lyons Hurt In First Half

(Continued from Page 1)

them from being scored on immediately. But the close of the scoreless third period saw Farrell again driving irresistibly down to the one foot line as the Williams defense appeared to lose all semblance of organization.

Veteran Middlebury back, Corbisiero, opened the fateful last quarter by lunging across with the score, and Connors' failure to convert, leaving Williams ahead 7-6, was only temporary balm to Purple rooters. One last Williams bid for a score stalled out suddenly when reliable Corbisiero intercepted Fuzak's toss and returned it to the Middlebury 44.

Score Three In Last

From there on out it was Farrell and Forbes all the way. The Panthers ripped through to the Williams 10 where Farrell calmly faded back to find Meeker, right end, in the end zone with a pass. A blocked try for the extra point was unimportant.

Stopping Williams cold at mid-field after the kick-off, Middlebury again drove down to the Purple 23 where Farrell once more found Meeker with a touchdown pass. This time the Middle decided not to kick the point after touchdown, and Corbisiero tossed a short pass to Meeker again to make it 19-7. As time ran out and the game ended, Farrell was driving for a first down on the Williams 19.

Played Whole Game

Pat Higgins who starred for a losing cause at Middlebury on Saturday.

Poor Tackling Hampers Williams

Unless Middlebury backs are potential All-Americans, it looks as though the Williams squad needs lots of tackling practice. Throughout the game they showed flashes of brilliant defensive play, but generally they looked ineffective. Panther backs dragged two and three Williams tacklers at a time for valuable yardage. In the broken field tackling Williams was unable to hit cleanly. Once Middlebury got its backs in high gear Williams never had a real chance to unwrap its new offense. They were too busy being on the defense.

The Williams squad never stopped trying to pull itself together though. The line fought it out doggedly and absorbed a lot of punishment. Lyons injury in the second frame seemed to start the trouble. He had been playing a good defensive game right along. From end to end during the first half, the line was holding; but once the Middlebury attack stopped experimenting and began to concentrate, poor tackling by Williams showed up badly.

Some Improvement Over '46

Backfield play looked at first to be vastly improved over last year. While on the offense, Fuzak, Higgins, Duffield and Blanks performed well. Duffield's injury in the first quarter was a setback, but Whitney, replacing him, did a creditable job. Collins, coming in in the second half, showed promise. He pulled a sneak run through center for 19 yards in the last quarter which was a honey. Pat Higgins appears to have speeded up this year and was several times on the verge of breaking away but for some lackadaisical blocking. On his sensational touchdown jaunt the team looked tremendous as a unit. He had a host of blockers the whole trip.

First Quarter

Higgins kicked off, Middlebury bringing it back to the 35. Picking up 9 yards on two plays, Middlebury fumbled on the 42 with Williams recovering. Higgins and Duffield ran the ball to the Middle 8. Duffield was hurt, Whitney replacing him. A bad fumble by Williams lost 21 yards as Middlebury recovered on the 37. After being held there, an exchange of punts put Middlebury back to their own 20. Ellis' diving catch of Corbisiero's pass brought them up to the 38 yard line. Higgins took Ellis' punt on the Williams 25 and weaved his way 75 yards for a score and converted to make it 7-0. It looked like Lyons making a great downfield block on the run. Farrell took the kickoff on his own 10, brought it up to the 35. From there he and Corbisiero carried it to the Williams 38 as the quarter closed.

Second Quarter

Forbes of Middlebury made a nice punt out of bounds on the Williams 5. After picking up a first down, Williams was penalized for offsidess and kicked from their own 11 to the Middle 45. Middlebury lost 15 yards on a clipping penalty, kicked and on the play Williams was offside, moving the ball to M 46 for a first down for Middlebury. Glancy recovered a Middle fumble on the W39 and Williams moved up to midfield. Lyons was hurt and replaced by Scheide. A pass by Fuzak was intercepted by Forbes who returned it to midfield. An exchange of punts placed the ball on the M41. As the half ended Farrell and Corbisiero ran to the W27. A pass to the 8 was nullified by a double penalty and the half ended.

Third Quarter

Farrell received Higgins' kick-off on his own 15, ran it back to the 34. From there he made a 27 yard run to the W37, Higgins making the safety tackle. Middlebury moved down to the W12 and was thrown for a loss of 9 yards on two runs. An attempted field goal fell short, was run out by Higgins to the M40. The officials called it back to the W20, saying it had been caught in the end zone, was an automatic touch-back. After three running plays, Higgins kicked out to the M42, out of bounds. The Williams line held and Forbes kicked. It looked like a coffin corner kick and Fuzak, trying to run it out, fumbled. The ball went into the end zone, Fuzak making a desperate leap to recover and fall across to the one foot line to prevent the safety.

Higgins made a great kick out to midfield, but Middlebury returned it to the one foot line as the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter

Corbisiero scored on the first play, and as the conversion fell short, the score was 7-6, Williams. Williams ran the kickoff to their own 38, lost 5 yards as the Middle line broke through. Collins of Williams made a nice run of 19 yards to the M48, picked up two more to the 46. Fuzak threw a long pass which Corbisiero intercepted on his own 26 and returned to the 42. Forbes and Farrell ran the ball to the W10. Farrell passed to Meeker in the end zone for a score making it 12-7 as the kick was blocked by the Williams line. The Middle kickoff was short, Cool running it back to the W39. Whitney picked up 7 yards. Another run failed to gain and Glancy was hurt and taken out of the game. Higgins was thrown for an 8 yard loss and Middlebury took over on downs. Middlebury ran to the W24 and Farrell again passed to Meeker in the end zone for a score. Corbisiero passed to Meeker for the extra point and Middlebury was ahead, 19-7. Collins made a nice runback on the kickoff to the W32. On the next play Shahan of Middlebury recovered a Williams fumble on the W23. Forbes drive to the 15 was short of first down and Williams took over. A short pass from Fuzak to Higgins was successful and Higgins picked his way to the W32. The next two passes failed and Middlebury took possession. As the game ended they moved to the W19.

Middlebury

Meeker
Hamre
Monaco
Puksta, Capt.
Lindeman
Thompson
Hunt
Shahan
Barquin
Ellis
Corbisiero

RE
RT
RG
C LG
LT
LE
QB
LH
RH
FB

See FOOTBALL Page 6

In Ev'ry Play

by Seth Bidwell

Freshman duties at Middlebury were a joy for the boys of the "blue beanies" last Saturday and the sorrow of Williams as the boys from Vermont rang the college victory bells with reckless abandon. As you all know by now, Williams opened the season by getting severely swacked by the underdog Panthers, and to those of us who experienced many Saturday afternoons like this last year, it was most discouraging, to say nothing for the team which has sweated blood for "Whoop" Snively getting ready for the first encounter. So as a sports-writer (so-called) and at heart a grandstand quarterback, it is my duty to give out with my opinion of the why of last Saturday's mistake.

First, it appears that Williams has a strong starting eleven, and then you can drop your voice. It seems that the Ephs just haven't any substitutes (that can present as formidable a team as the starters, and that after pounding their heads for two or three quarters against a solid wall such as Middlebury presented, that the starters just can't continue to play like it was the first quarter.

This is nothing derogatory about either the first or second string. There have been very few 60-minute elevens since the famous Iowa team of Nile Kinnich days. We did have two 60-minute men last weekend and they both played a terrific game. Captain Gene Murphy played the whole game on the line, and Pat Higgins also spent the afternoon in the fullback slot. However, to have a team of eleven like that is almost an impossibility at a college the size of Williams.

So in a case like that the power of a team lies in its depth in every position, and apparently, we aren't too deep. However, it is not the substitutes fault for most of them are sophomores or juniors, and for most this is their first year playing college varsity ball. So therein lies our difficulty, and some football wise observers say that this is complicated because the first string is over-trained in an attempt to make them 60-minute men.

Thus when you come to this stage in an analysis, it is always time to attempt to predict the future, like most fool sports-writers are prone to do at one time or another. At heart I believe that the team has a great potential. However, I will limit this statement by saying that a great deal of improvement must be shown, and I am not trying to hedge because I firmly believe in the team's possibilities. The coaches know their business, and it is up to them to remedy such mistakes as the line and backfield over-shifting when the opposition shifts to the right or left and then runs a play over the weak side of the line.

JUST THE PLACE TO GO FOR

- FINE BEERS and WINES
- DELICIOUS FOOD

The Four Acres

ON THE ROAD TO NORTH ADAMS

JOB PRINTERS

Miller Lamb & Hunter

Incorporated

NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

St. Pierre's Barbershop

HERE TO PLEASE WILLIAMS MEN

Spring St. Williamstown

The Haller Inn

"A Modern Inn With New England Charm"

American
or European Plan

Owner Manager
Frank Thoms '30

1947 GUL

NOW ON SALE AT-

STUDENT BOOKSTORE
COLLEGE BOOKSTORE
BEMIS STORE
WILLIAMS NEWSROOM

•For Original Gul Pictures, See
Jerry Youngman, 9 West College

DANCING
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

The 1896 House

Dinner Reservations

PHONE
WILLIAMSTOWN 267

LET US DRY CLEAN ONE SUIT!

THEN YOU'LL WANT THIS BETTER
DRY CLEANING
EVERY TIME

Here's What You Get with

SANITONE SERVICE

SPOTS GONE MORE DIRT REMOVED
BETTER PRESS HOLDS LONGER NO
DRY CLEANING ODOR

Just bring in one suit. Compare the result with any other dry cleaning. You'll really be amazed at the difference. Your suit will look and feel like new. The original feel of the fabric is restored . . . colors look like new. And the press lasts much longer than with ordinary dry cleaning. Just try it once, and you'll be sold on our service.

RUDNICK

MASTER CLEANERS AND LAUNDERERS

Miss Osborne Quits Library

Chapin Collection Sewed Since 1922

Williams College recently announced the retirement of Lucy Eugenia Osborne, custodian of the Chapin Library of rare books since 1922, effective August 15. Miss Osborne, who has been called "one of this country's most competent bibliographers," came to Williams in 1914 as assistant in the Williams College Library.

From 1919 to 1922, she was head cataloguer of the college library until she was appointed custodian of the Chapin Library, a collection of over 12,200 volumes of great rarity, the gift of the late Alfred Clark Chapin to Williams College in 1923.

Pioneer in Field

Miss Osborne is among a group of distinguished women in the United States included in "American Women", a "Who's Who" of the feminine world, and in addition, is listed in "Who's Who in America." In her field, she is a pioneer in relating rare books to the institution in which they belong.

Over a period of years, she has arranged special exhibitions to illustrate college courses, which not only furnished opportunities of viewing rare books but contributed to undergraduate education. Since 1928, except for three years during the war, she gave a course in the history of the printed book to a selected group of juniors and seniors, and for two years, conducted a similar course for faculty members.

Among Miss Osborne's great contributions to the field of rare books is the "Short-Title List" of the Chapin Library, which she compiled in 1939. In addition to her translation of "The Study of Incunabula" by Konrad Haebler, she is the author of numerous articles in the "Colophon" and other publications relating to rare books.

George - - -

ed to bail him out but the DKE's were first. So they are the official owners and any messages of condolence or sympathy should be sent to them.

NSA - - -

gions, in their own country, and in the world.

Specifically what this means for Williams is a chance to compare our student government and student activities with those of other colleges. It means we can help compile information that will help high school graduates find the college best suited to their objectives, and college students find the graduate school that gives them what they want. It will make readily available information on foreign student opportunities, and perhaps most important, it can lead us to think more about our position as students in this society of ours.

Paragraphs In News

Lt. Col. Joseph A. Greco, officer-in-charge of the Williams Air ROTC unit, and Richard A. Newhall, Chairman of the faculty, were among 140 delegates from 38 educational institutions attending the Northeastern ROTC Conference at Yale on August 27. The educators were told by General Bres that the War Department is looking to them to produce the military leaders of the future and that the finished product must be better than ever if the nation is to survive.

Informal musical concerts are presented every other week by members of the Bennington College faculty. The next concert will be held next Wednesday.

Two Williamstown girls who graduated from Pine Cobble School are members of the Middlebury freshman class. They are Phyllis A. Cole of Ide Road and Virginia O. Snively of South Street.

Veterans no longer need to make periodic reports of earnings the Veterans Administration has announced. The new plan, to streamline procedures for paying subsistence allowances was adopted after a survey showed that not more than 1% of the veterans in college training reported any difference between their estimated earnings and actual income during a school year.

Veterans will estimate their earnings for the full period of enrollment when they register. The amount of their subsistence allowances will be made on these estimates.

Whether a veteran should authorize the Veterans Administration to pay study costs in excess of $500 per school year is not a decision to be made lightly the VA has warned. For every $2.10 paid over the $500 rate the veteran is charged with one day's entitlement. Such discharge of each day's entitlement allows no accompanying subsistence allowance, which varies from $2.17 to $3 extra for each normal day of study.

Entering - - - presidents, 18 were school council heads, and 58 were on school publications. There were many team captains, including 13 in football, 10 in basketball, and 5 in baseball.

Most Fall from N. Y.

New York sent the largest delegation, 89 men; Massachusetts had 53; Connecticut, 21; Ohio, 19; New Jersey, 18; Illinois, 11; Pennsylvania, 11; Michigan, 9; Minnesota and Vermont, 5; Maine and Maryland, 4; Delaware, Missouri, Rhode Island, Washington, D. C. and Wisconsin, 3; Colorado, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Texas, Washington, 2; Arizona, California, North Carolina, Virginia, Denmark, and Hawaii, 1.

Truman - - -

of the course will include social, labor and similar implications of public opinion.

Two Separate Courses

The second semester course, which can be taken by men irrespective of whether they have had the first course or not, concerns through a cathedral window") and awkward childish bit of phrasing. Vice cutting and sharpening would have greatly improved a promising story.

Cow Review - - -

Stephen Sondheim's "Cocktail Party" is a good example of bright forced, writing about three unrealistic and totally unbelievable people. Mr. Sondheim writes good descriptive prose and shows a marked facility with his pen, but his writing becomes lost in his inept characterizations.

"Le Cadeau" by Rick Green is an adequate treatment of a shop worn theme. The author has depended heavily on a twist finish which unfortunately is not strong enough or surprising enough to justify a piece which has little else to offer.

Harry Earle's Story (This was its only title in the dummy version) is a detailed and fairly convincing piece of descriptive writing about a Williams graduate's being interviewed for a job in a publishing house in New York. The protagonist, who feels that his Williams A.B. and veteran status are sufficient inducements to overcome inexperience and lack of qualification, is told some harsh facts of life by a realistic personnel director. The chief virtue of the story is that Mr. Earle has contrived to make both the personnel director and the Williams graduate sympathetic. Though it is to be hoped that the Williams man's naive views about the world of commerce are not typical.

The two editorial features of the magazine, are in this reviewer's opinion, almost completely without merit. "Ruminations", after extending a not very well written welcome to the incoming freshmen and urging their cooperation and contributions to the Cow, goes on to deal with the problem of student's free choice of instructors in courses of many sections. It winds up by advocating a sort of first-come first serve policy which would leave few of the students any better or worse off than they are now. It does not seem a particularly pressing problem at best.

"NEATH THE SHADOW" launches inexplicably into a fairly dull and pointless piece about life in the Barco-oil fields in Columbo, where green newcomers are treated to Boa Constrictors, done up in orchids, with their soup. If this piece is to introduce some sort of regular travelogue or quaint native customs feature in the magazine, some explanation—or better still—some warning—should proceed it. The rest of the feature is devoted to a long and painfully unfunny piece about George the campus dog, now deceased, and at this point the Purple Cow drops from High School to Eighth Grade standards.

It would have been pleasant and agreeable to give the magazine and its editors a better send off on its new season. But unfortunately the only send off this reviewer can honestly recommend for the Purple Cow is one which will lead it to extinction and make way for a fresh literary magazine of a calibre worthy of the abilities which must and do exist on the Williams College campus.

FAIRFIELDS FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

Richmond Hotel
HERE TO SERVE
WILLIAMS
THE WAY YOU LIKE
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

the "ways in which public opinion is manufactured and manipulated through organized elements in our society." The political character of a variety of pressure groups will be investigated, and the technique of propaganda will be studied, propaganda being the most important factor in the creation of public opinion. As in the other course case materials will be used, and lectures will be used only occasionally to present a broad body of material.

Summer Conference Held

The Second International Conference on Public Opinion Research was held in Williamstown September 2-5 and was attended by approximately 250 people prominent in this field, many from foreign countries. The conference, with George Gallup, Elmo Roper, Claude Robinson and Archibald Crossley present, was welcomed by President James Phinney Baxter, III, the keynote address being delivered by William Benton, Assistant Secretary of State.

The delegates, representing both academic and commercial interests, met to exchange ideas and to establish ethical standards of practice in practical public opinion work. Ethics in opinion surveys are highly important, Truman stated, and fakers can do a great disservice in this respect.

Wanted - - -

year and sold to both local and city newspapers. Those chosen will receive a cut of the profits. For full information come to the meeting which will be announced in the Advisor.

NEEDED:

As many men as possible to turn out for the coming Cap and Bells production. Light and sound effect crews are wanted as well as set construction men. The first meeting will be held in the Adams Memorial Theatre on Wednesday night at 7:30.

MUSICIANS WANTED:

A reorganizational meeting will be held in the A. M. T. on Thursday evening at 7:30 for the Williams College Band. Old members as well as all those interested are asked to come to this meeting. Bring your own instruments if possible. This is the 35 piece band that plays at all football games.

URGENT:

All undergraduates interested in the Purple Knights are requested to come to a meeting to be announced shortly. This is the dance band that plays at many college dances besides having several out of town engagements. CAN YOU SING?

All freshmen and upperclassmen who have not yet tried out for the College Choir are asked the Pine Cobble School permitting the two schools to combine athletic and some creative activities at Buxton. Before the 1948-49 term opens, it is expected that a boys' dormitory, gymnasium, and faculty residences will be completed.

School - - -

Football - - -

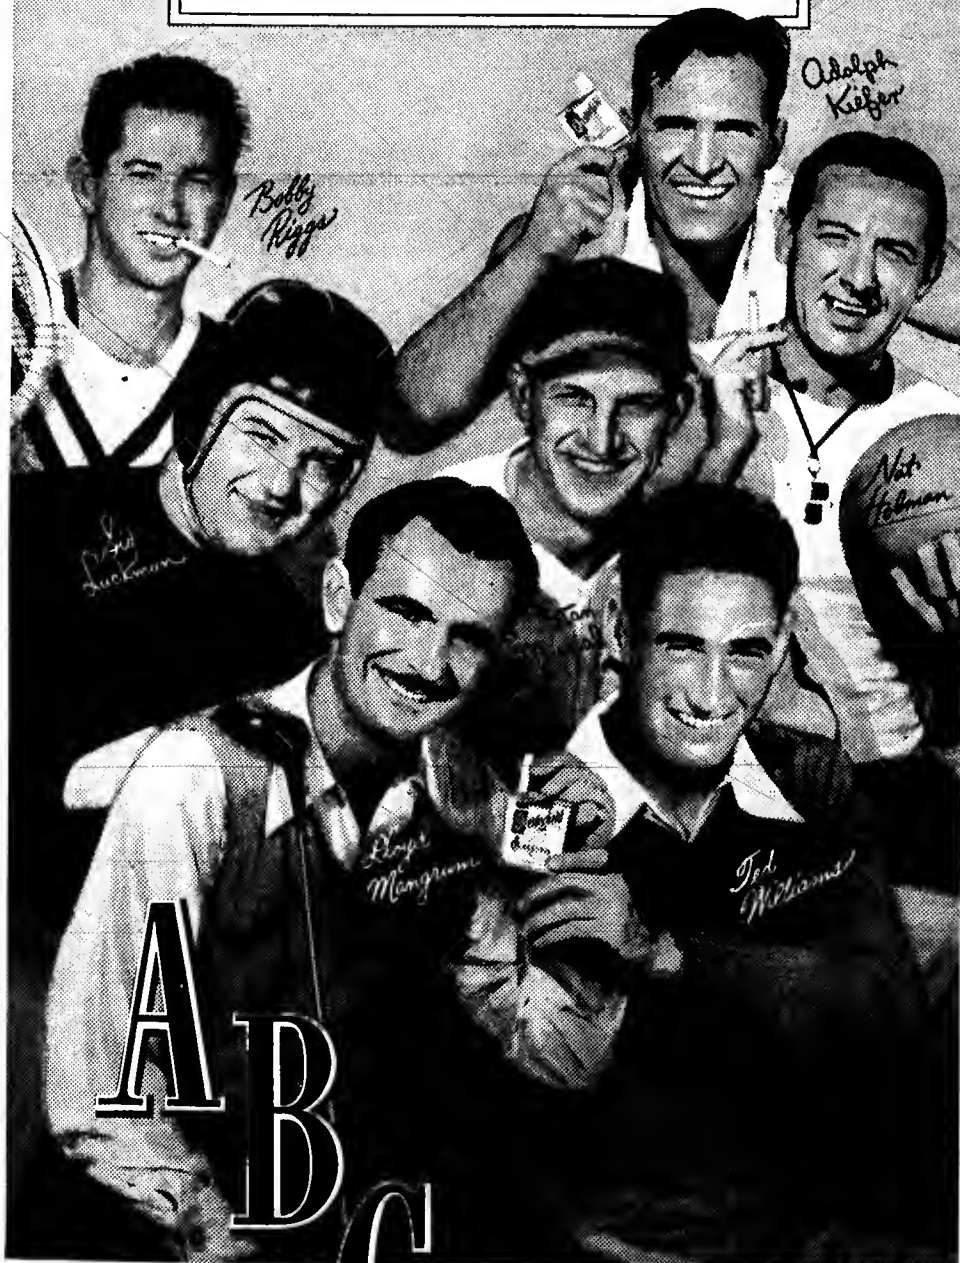

Williams
Detmer	RE
Glancy	RT
Salmon	RG
Lyons	LT
Murphy, Capt.	LG
Lukas	LT
Cool	LE
Fuzak	QB
Duffield	LM
Blanks	RM
Higgins	PE

to do so a meeting in the A. M. T. on Wednesday afternoon between 4 and 6. Glee Club aspirants can attend this meeting for further information.

URGENTLY NEEDED:

Twenty freshmen to compete for Phi Beta Kappa. Must be willing to give up wine, Bennington and song for four year period. Grindstones may be obtained at all better classrooms.

With the KINGS of SPORTS
it's CHESTERFIELD

Always Buy

CHESTERFIELD

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

The Sum Total of Smoking Pleasure

PHILLIPS GENERAL STORE

- DUNGAREES
- ELECTRICAL FIXTURES
- HARDWARE and TOOLS
- MAZDA LAMPS
- WINDOW GLASS
- TWO BURNER HOT PLATES

Water Street

Telephone 89

M. Salvatore

Established 1901

Agents For

J. P. SMITH SHOES HANNAN SHOES
BASS LOAFERS and SKI BOOTS
GYM and TENNIS SHOES

SALVY'S

SPRING STREET

TELEPHONE 600

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1947

No. 3

Williams Grid Eleven Tackles RPI Today At Troy In Quest Of Season's First Win

Soviet Government Expects Calamitous U. S. Depression

Professor Johnson Expounds On UN

Free Enterprise Not Cure For W. Europe

by Ed Kuh, '48

Present Soviet foreign policy, based on the assumption that the United States will suffer a calamitous depression, will continue to be aggressive and unaccommodating until the Kremlin is convinced that the United States can maintain a level economic keel and a consistent position in foreign affairs. There is little hope for a friendly settlement on major issues until such a conviction is driven home," stated Professor Joseph E. Johnson, who was closely associated with the UN Security Council before returning to Williams to resume teaching.

After five years of government service with the State Department, Professor Johnson has returned to the Williams faculty. He worked on a policy-making level of the United Nations Organization from its inception, as head of a State Department bureau dealing with affairs of international security, specializing in Security Council matters.

Worked Behind Scenes

Prof. Johnson attended the historic conferences leading to the UN's formation held at Dumbarton Oaks and San Francisco. Early 1945 found him in London where the Security Council and General Assembly first went into operation. He worked long and hard behind the scenes as technical advisor to ranking United States delegates Connally, Dulles, and Vandenberg, writing speeches and delving for pertinent information.

He recalls as an interesting highlight of his career sitting on a UN sub-committee last fall with Vishinsky. Delegates may, expect

See JOHNSON Page 4

Five Students Compete For Oxford Study

College Endorses Them As Candidates For Rhodes Scholarships

Five seniors at Williams have been endorsed by the college as candidates for the elections of Rhodes Scholars to be held in December of this year, according to a statement by Professor R. J. Allen, local institutional representative of the Rhodes Scholarships.

Those approved are Rhett Austell, Joel Carr, Robert Gleckner, E. W. Spencer and George Smith. Before qualifying for a scholarship, each candidate is examined by a state and a district board, the final selections being announced about the middle of December.

McClellan at Oxford

Of the seven candidates endorsed by the college last year, two survived the screening of their state committees, and one, Bruce McClellan, was elected by the District committee of New England. He is now at Oxford, ready to begin the first of the

See RHODES Page 4

Prof. Joseph E. Johnson
Photo by Vrabel

Donahue Band Signs To Play

Union Game Slated For HP Weekend

The music of Sam Donahue's orchestra, currently recording for Capitol, will be featured at the Friday night Halloween dance of the Glee Club sponsored House-party on the week end of the Williams-Union football game, October 31 - November 2, announced Glee Club President Hugh Higbe, '48, last Wednesday.

A tremendous success at the Dartmouth Carnival last year, the sixteen-piece band will bring two vocalists to Williams for the dance, scheduled to last from 10 p.m. Friday until 2 a.m. Saturday in the Gym, which the Glee Club plans to decorate on a Halloween theme. Called by eastern promoters the top new band of the year, Donahue's organization has played on most major networks from coast to coast, and is best known for its Capitol recording of "I Never Knew."

In addition to the Union game Saturday afternoon on Weston Field, there will be other athletic contests including the Varsity soccer game with Clark University on Cole Field and the Cross country meet with Union. Saturday evening the social units will hold forth with their own parties.

Flying Club Opens Fall Activities

Aeronas Available At Local Airport

Having reopened activities for the fall, the Flying Club will hold their first meeting early next week, Vice President Thomas Edwards, '50, recently announced.

The Club is a member of the Associated New England College Flying Clubs, and last spring won the trophy at the annual flying meet sponsored by the association. At Fairview Airport two miles from Williamstown on Route 7, five Aeronas are available to Flying Club members, with special rates given by the airport.

Freshmen are especially urged to attend the first meeting. The Club is open, however, to all classes and is anxious to expand its membership. Flying experience is unnecessary. The officers for the coming year will also be

See FLYING CLUB Page 4

Student Federalists To Meet Thursday

Richard Goodman, '49, has announced that there will be an organizational meeting of the Student Federalists on Thursday, October 16, in 3 Griffin Hall at 7:30 p.m. at which Vincent M. Barnett, Associate Professor of Political Science, will speak. The Student Federalists are a branch of the United World Federalists, an organization devoted to the establishment of a World Federal Government.

Key Sponsors Benefit Dance

Purple Knights To Play After Bowdoin Game

Opening the fall social season is the football benefit dance October 18, after the Bowdoin game. The dance is sponsored by the Purple Key, and will be held in Lasell Gymnasium.

Daniel G. Wheeler, '48, president of the Williams managerial society will run the dance which will start at 8 p.m. and end at midnight. The interior of the gym will be decorated on a football theme. Music will be supplied by the Williams Purple Knights Sextet. The Sextet is composed of the same musicians who were heard over WMS, the college radio station, last year, and who played for the U. C. dance March 15.

Dance Traditional

During intermission it is planned to show movies of the thrilling 21-13 football victory of Williams over Amherst on Pratt Field in 1946. The dance will be similar to the one which was such a success the weekend of the Trinity game last fall, and will be a return to the pre-war Williams tradition of holding a football dance after the season's first home game.

Tickets will go on sale at Bastiens Jewelry Store next Monday, and may possibly be distributed through house representatives. The tickets will be priced at $1.80 per couple and $1.20 for stages. It has been suggested that the Open House party at Bennington last night might have set forth the opportunity to obtain a companion for the dance after the Bowdoin game.

Williams Couple Experiences Many Thrilling Adventures During Alaskan Honeymoon

By Frank P. Reiche

Bennington has been the beginning of many a thrilling experience for Williams men. This longtime belief has been further substantiated by Wallace Barnes, '49, who recently returned to college after an exciting Alaskan tour which resulted from a harmless journey to the friendly Vermont rendezvous.

When Wally returned to school last year he met Audrey Kent, then a student at Bennington. Within eight months they were married and spent their honeymoon on a trip to Alaska via the Alcan highway.

Following the wedding on June 14 Wally and Audrey started out on their 12,000 mile journey in a 1946 club coupe. Having heard numerous tales of the ruggedness of the Alcan highway, they equipped

290 Join Sixteen Social Units In Tuesday Finale To Rushing

Fraternities Take 218 Men In Last Rush Until September '48

When the 290 freshmen and returnees joined the sixteen social units last Tuesday evening, the first truly post-war rushing period came to an end. The RECORD presents here a list of the new affiliates by social units.

Rush week will not take place again until the fall term of 1948.

ALPHA DELTA PHI

Robert W. Brooks
James P. Brown
Charles G. Carleton
Theodore G. Congdon
Thomas Cooper
Dewey Fagerburg
Edward A. Fox
John M. Frankenhimer
John B. French
Robert J. Geniesse
Jeremiah B. Gillette
Frank S. Jannotta
Edward W. Jones
Crosby B. Perry
Edward P. Prescott, Jr.
Bradford M. Purcell
William S. Rodie
Howard W. Smith
Edward A. Sziklas
John J. Sziklas
Fred L. Thexton
Frank J. Tone, III
William W. Windle
Charles C. Wright
Walter E. Ziegenhals

BETA THETA PI

Frank R. Bailey
Gordon R. Hall
Charles W. Halleck
William H. Hollister
George V. D. Hutton, Jr.
Michael Luther
Martin P. Luthy, Jr.
James B. Lynch
Gilbert Mason
Ronald B. Moir
Charles E. Pusey, Jr.
Bradford N. Pusey
Henry C. Rogers
Howard Schow

Paul R. Van Anda

CHI PSI

William H. Campbell, III
Thomas W. Costikyan
George W. Fiske, Jr.
John M. Fraser
Robert A. Kimbrough, III
Charles Kolb
Robert H. Jeffrey, II
Douglas L. Johnson
Peyton Mead
Walter H. Morse
John F. Reynolds
William W. St. Clair
H. M. Baird Voorhis
Donald W. Whitehead

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON

Joseph M. Callahan, Jr.
Peter H. Debevoise
Hamilton P. Edwards, Jr.
Robert M. Jordan
George F. Kellogg
Keith Martin
Howard W. Quinby, Jr.
George W. Selly
Berry C. Smith
See NEW AFFILIATES Page 2

Send VA Premiums To Home VA Office

Veterans whose permanent residences are outside of New England but who are attending school here are urged to send their National Service Life Insurance premium payments to the Veterans Administration Branch Office having jurisdiction over the areas in which their homes are located, according to the Veterans Administration.

The veteran, however, is given the alternative choice of having the Veterans Administration bill him at his school address.

AMT Will Produce "Alice In Wonderland"

New Version Presents Pat Lamson In Lead

Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" will be presented on the evening of October 24th in Adams Memorial Theatre, with Michael Casey, AMT assistant, doing the directing. A new adaption of the book has been prepared by Peggy Lamson, wife of Associate Professor Roy Lamson. The production is sponsored by the Women's Faculty Club, and Patricia Lamson has been cast in the leading role of Alice.

Martin Bailyn '48, is composing special music for the production, and Molly Gordon is in charge of costumes. Russell Wheeler has completed designs for the backdrops and Alice Stephens, Mary Fox, Edgar Noyes, John Hopkins, Theodore Lohrke '50, Peter Candler '49, and Burton M. Sapiro '48, are assisting in various capacities. The production is a benefit for the Williamstown High School Music Fund.

Backs Injured At Middlebury Pose Problem

Line At Full Strength With Lyons, Glancy Due Back In Action

Snively Drills Team In Tackling, Passes

RPI Appears Strong Despite Defeat, Tie

This afternoon the Williams football team will journey to nearby Troy to scrap with a fighting RPI Engineer eleven. Although the Engineer's record is far from overly impressive, observers and sportswriters alike say that RPI has a team that in fight, at any rate, ranks with the best.

Of the two games thus far, Rensselaer has lost one and tied one. But the story of the tie is the story of victory. In their opener with Coast Guard Academy, the Engineers found themselves on the short end of a 19-6 count, going into the fourth quarter. The Coast Guardsmen had capitalized on a pass interception and 95 yard runback, and a fumble by RPI in the Engineer's own territory, to forge their way into a two-touchdown lead.

Two Touchdown Drives

The Engineers, however, refused to be licked, driving for 90 and 55 yard marches, paydirt, and a tie, beaten only by their inability to make those all-important points after touchdown. The score of the game, moreover, was one quite different from that found in the statistics. RPI had 15 first downs to Coast Guard's five, 295 yards rushing to Coast Guard's 86. And the Engineers were threatening for another touchdown at the final gun.

That RPI should boast such a

See FOOTBALL Page 3

IRC Sponsors Discussion On Marshall Plan

Roll, Johnson, Despres, Schuman To Speak On European Relief

"The Marshall Plan" will be the subject of a round table discussion to be presented by the International Relations Club Tuesday, October 14. Robert A. Rupen, '48, president of the IRC announced that Professor Joseph E. Johnson, Professor Frederick L. Schuman, Mr. Eric Roll and Professor Emile Despres would take part in the discussion to be held in Jesup Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Professor Johnson, recently returned to the Williams College faculty in the History Department was formerly at work with the State Department in Washington. Mr. Schuman, Woodrow Wilson Professor of Government, will be making his first college appearance in any discussion group since his serious automobile accident last June.

Working on Marshall Plan
A member of the British Ministry of Food, Mr. Roll attended the Paris Conference on European Cooperation, and is now in Washington with the British Delegation working out details of the Marshall Plan.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 News Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN S. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Briggs Baugh, '48 H. Russell Platt, '48
Charles R. Fetter, '48 John H. Schafer, '48
James C. Forsyth, II, '48 Peter M. Thexton, '48
C. Hugh Klensch, '48

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

William R. Borney, Jr., '49 Russell B. Frost, '49
Seth M. Bidwell, '49 Edwin Kuh, '49
Jerry J. Cole, '49 J. Edward Powlick, '49
Joseph F. Dorsey, '49

EDITORIAL STAFF

S. F. Blaschke, '50 E. V. Gouinlock, '50 W. P. Stern, '50
K. V. X. Delany, '50 R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50 P. W. Stites, '49
W. V. M. Fowcett, Jr., '50 H. D. Mohring, '50 R. S. Taylor, '49
R. Fowle, '50 D. T. Roach, '50 C. E. Urley, '49
J. B. Gibson, '50 S. Robinowitz, '50 H. Van Horne, '50
J. G. Golding, '50 J. B. Shephardson, '50 N. S. Wood, '50

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Acting Advertising Manager Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock, '49

BUSINESS STAFF

P. C. Graney, '49 T. H. Lichtenfels, '50 B. M. Sapira, '48
R. P. Klapman, '49 M. J. Murray, '50 A. R. Shay, '50
R. A. LeCount, '49 J. S. Prescott, '50 R. B. Stallworth, '48
J. M. Reid, '49

ART BOARD

Photographic Editor Howard N. Wedelstaedt, '50
Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Felch, '48

VOL. LXI

OCTOBER 11, 1947

No. 3

Mints And Water

Before the problems of rushing have been dropped for another year, we would like to suggest that the Rushing Agreement be altered to prevent a recurrence or possibly a further development of the recent process of stretching the rules concerning refreshments and entertainment during the preferential and sub-preferential periods.

To our knowledge nothing was illegal, as far as "dirty" rushing is concerned. But to equalize the conditions of rushing, and to protect all the social units from a war to see who can spend the most money for "light snacks," we propose that the Rushing Agreement be changed to read that: "The social units, during all periods of rushing, may serve only water, mints, and cigarettes."

This change in the rules will mean that there will be no return to the pre-war rushing custom of dinner dates, thus eliminating the chance of an even greater financial "war" over filet mignon and champagne. Social units will be judged more on the basis of the members, and less on the basis of steak sandwiches.

Towards A "Live" Tradition

Other than being the seat of dreaded compulsion, The Thompson Memorial Chapel has another claim to fame. It is supposed to be the final resting place of a Williams tradition. On June 20, 1920, with great pomp and circumstance, a handful of sand from Lake George, labelled "Colonel Ephriam Williams, the Revered Founder of Our Institution," was transplanted to the rocky soil of the chapel sub-basement.

The Colonel as a tradition has his advantages. Our founder was a famous man. He opened up the territory by his many expeditions into what was then dangerous country. He risked his life innumerable times to make the Berkshire Valley safe from the Indians, and finally he lost his life in the service of his country at the Battle of Ticonderoga. Not even Lord Jeffery Amherst could boast a more commendable record. But then, as a tradition, Ephriam Williams has his disadvantages.

Vacillating Boodle

Our founder, from what history has to say, must have been either a vain or a selfish man in one respect. He insisted that the community which accepted his boodle for the foundation of a free school (Williams was once intended to be a free school) take his name. Because of the hesitance of the Spring Street merchants of the time to accept his conditions, the Colonel was for a time considering the community which is now known as Amherst. This is an obvious, black mark against him as a Williams tradition.

The Colonel also had no drag with the alumni. Unfortunately very few alumni ever got to know Ephriam Williams very well. This is another weak point in his career. Old Eph had the grave misfortune to be interred in an unmarked grave. It is, or at least was until June 20, 1920, disturbing to have a founder who could not be located. After due consideration of the pros and cons, it may be assumed that our founder is not a complete enough Williams Tradition to entirely monopolize his present resting place.

We therefore propose that our chapel also house a more "alive" tradition—George, the campus ex-mascot. As Colonel Eph had his sword, our mongrel had his tennis ball; our founder chased the Indians, George chased autos. And what alumnus from the classes of 1946-50 will ever forget him. Always a loyal Williams rooter, George once bit an Amherst policeman who threw whitewash at him. Doesn't he still rate his place at the feet of our founder. And winter is coming; it is getting cold outside. Soon the ground will be frozen.

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

After straining my eyes and my sides reading Peggy "A-Successful-Author-In-Her-Own-Right" Lamson's scathingly unbiased review of this month's issue of the other campus publication, it flashed through the duller recesses of my mind that I was a very lucky kid. "Joe," I said, "don't let anyone tell you that you aren't a lucky kid."

The reason for my boundless joy was that I had written nothing which was printed in the above-mentioned issue of the PURPLE COW. Last year, you know, I received the Agnes P. Scrobney Prize for "that article, appearing in a student publication, which receives the most violent faculty criticism." The prize was a hammer with which one might break one's typewriter when one gets that irrepressible urge to pour out an outpouring of the sort of stuff I pour out. Unfortunately, I sold the hammer and bought a new ribbon for my typewriter, and here I am as big as life (slightly larger—in fact—than last term) all ready to delight critics with my inept and highly unrefined trash.

Critics Breathe

Once again, that unfortunate creature forced to write a review of the PURPLE COW will be able to breathe easier. Horton's writings are welcomed if for no other reason than they provide balm for the consciences of critics. When it becomes a little difficult for a reviewer of the COW to uphold the "Pan-Hell-Out-of-The-COW" policy of the department, then he may—with no trembling sense of unfaithfulness to his readers—give his true opinion of Horton. And when the opinion is put in printable condition, he may sleep with no more than a minor tremor of conscience.

At any rate, since we had a successful author offer her very own pair of the COW, let's see what an unsuccessful author might say. The advantage of being unsuccessful and not having any connection with the English Department is that one has no reputation to uphold and no feeling of the necessity for consistency.

Josie Horton Pans Hell Out Of COW

"Needs More Bull," Says Unsuccessful Author

by Josie Horton

It is my unpleasant duty to be able to kick in the udder the first issue of the PURPLE COW. Boy, was THIS an issue. Talk about a calf with two heads—this product of the labor pains of the COW would be of more service to all concerned—including those imbecilic ninnyes who run it—if it had been mercifully smothered at the moment of its birth. But instead it plods about the campus mournfully lowing from one head and mooing with carefree abandon from the other. It moves unsteadily in any direction; its two heads do not permit logical advancement in the direction of either serious writing or funny stuff.

NOTE: ONE MUST NOT—NAY, CANNOT—FORGET THAT THE AUTHOR IS AN UNSUCCESSFUL ONE. THE ABOVE IMPRESSIVE LITTLE ANALOGY SHOULD BE ENOUGH TO TURN ANYONE'S STOMACH AND INCIDENTALLY AFFORD THE REASON FOR HIS LACK OF SUCCESS. T. S.)

The best story of the issue is "The Constant Lymph" by Terwilliger Traphagen. Such depth of feeling! Such richness of prose! I quote a typical line: "John's eyes lighted like sixty-watt light bulbs when he saw how terrific Mary looked in her new bathing suit. She really looked terrific."

Traphagen Terrific

Terwilliger Traphagen really crosses a mean T and dots a mean I. What the COW needs is more writers like this. His prose is so prosaic. And what is more, he studied English Corrective Composition for two years under none other than.

Then there is a story by Oswego Carp called "The Tempestuous Teapot." The subject matter is a little difficult to be grasped by minds on the college level. It concerns a boy who is in love with a girl who has money. And the boy's father doesn't want them to get married and neither does the girl's mother. So they don't and they all live happily ever after—especially the boy's father and the girl's mother who get married after they take care of their respective spouses and collect double indemnity by pushing them underneath a bakery truck. It's all really quite fascinating. And part of its true greatness lies in the fact that genius Carp has made each character LIVE. The boy sounds like a boy, and the girl sounds like a girl, and so on all the way down the line.

Poets Cornered

The best poetry in the magazine is two selections from a book to be published in the near future—"The Hole in Your Head" by Sean Higginbotham. Such delicacy of rime and intensity of meter have seldom if ever been read on this or any other campus. The author is a real bricklayer of a poet—if I've ever seen a bricklayer. In all fairness, I must admit that the verse is fairly obscure. Notes by the author failed to explain many of the images and allusions. May I quote a line or two? Thank you.

"Oh fairest love of all my loves,
You suit me like a pair of gloves.
Come December, June, or May
I'll pay you if you'll go away."

Of course, one must not expect from a mere college poet the lyric beauty found in the pages of "The Saturday Evening Post." But in these lines, Sean Higginbotham may well find the ladder to a success gained thus far only by such great bards as Edgar Guest.

As far as I'm concerned, the three articles mentioned above are the only ones worth paying any attention to. There really isn't another good thing in the whole lousy magazine. The prose is too damned prosaic, and vice versa. I did my criticism from a paste-up dummy, and somehow all the pages seemed to get stuck together, which didn't help much, and now my fingers are sticking to the keys of this lousy typewriter, and the ribbon doesn't seem to go anywhere when I push the hickey, and—oh hell, I give up.

Beef About Cow

Listen, just take my word for it, there's nothing else good in the COW. I've told you how good the things are which were written by the people whom I know, and I haven't gotten the word on the others yet, besides I can't think of anything really cleverly nasty to say, and I'm sure you don't want to read just a straight criticism.

All you have to remember is that the COW smells. Now, I have nothing against those dopes who run it, and it's for their own good that I recommend that they scrap the whole idea at once. If not, I recommend that a warning be issued well in advance of each issue, so that I, and others with sensitive stomachs, may stay well away from our respective newsstands. I hate the COW, dammit!

Well, that's the way it goes. Apparently the only good thing the COW does is to provide fun for critics and reviewers writing in the RECORD. And they certainly have fun! Maybe someday, we'll have two criticisms—that written by the critic and, printed in a small paragraph beside it, the constructive criticism gleaned from among the bushels of side-attaining remarks which are often thrown together in a piece of literature much more easily criticized in itself than that which is criticized therein. And who can tell—maybe someday the criticized will be the critics, and then watch the shoe change feet with a speed like unto a lightning bolt! I should know.

New Affiliates

Charles L. Smythe, Jr.
Daniel Spaeth
Earle F. Spencer, Jr.
Arthur E. Symons, Jr.
John O. Thomson
Arthur B. Treman, Jr.
Scott F. Warner
Donald Wyman, Jr.

DELTA PHI

Brendon J. Farrington
Eugene F. Foley, Jr.
Theodore Oakley Lohrke
John Samuel McCombe
Wm. Albert McGregor, Jr.
George Muller
Robert M. Olsson
Frank P. Reiche
William M. Reynolds
Bayard A. Stockton
Dean K. Webster, III
Donald F. Vogel
John R. Walthour, Jr.
John Richard Zebryk

DELTA Upsilon

William A. Anderson
Donald S. Chapman
Allen G. Clarke, Jr.
Peter DeLisser
John K. Greer
Robert Hunt
Wallace V. Mann, Jr.
John B. Snyder
Andrew C. Wetmore
Frederick W. Whaley

KAPPA ALPHA

Joseph E. Dewey
James Louis Irish
William A. E. Leitzinger, Jr.
Richard B. Manning
Ward L. Mauck
Clyde E. Maxwell, III
Harold E. Poel, Jr.
G. Frederick Zeller, Jr.

PHI DELTA THETA

James S. Conway
William H. Everett
Patrick G. Graham
Donald P. Gregg
Charles R. Hoffer
Donald F. LeSage
Milford D. Lester
John W. MacNeil
Norris J. McMerney
Cyrus W. Merrell, Jr.
Jonathan T. O'Herron
Patrick S. Parker
James J. Porter
Eric J. Showers

PHI GAMMA DELTA

William Angevine
Merrill Behre
Robert H. Cremin
Thomas A. Edwards
Donald C. Gregory
Kenneth M. Hamilton
Ira A. Hawkins, III
Joseph S. Howard
David W. Jackson
William D. Pinkham, Jr.
Mercer P. Russell
John P. Seaman
William E. Sperry
William P. Sutherland, II
Edward C. Thys
John R. Walters

PHI SIGMA KAPPA

Robert L. Bergen, Jr.
David G. Bevier
George H. Dorion
John Glore
Jack W. Hardman
Richard M. Hayman
David E. Helmle
Theodore W. Helprin
Robert R. Larson
Ernest K. Lehmann
Albert F. McLean, Jr.
Phillip E. Megna

Walter E. Pratt
Henry E. Reed
Sidney A. Stewart, Jr.
John A. Ward

PSI Upsilon

George F. Cherry
Joseph A. Como
James E. Crosby, Jr.
Robert L. Huston
William G. Hyland
Benjamin S. Jaffray
Peter R. Kent
Thomas D. Kent
Arthur H. Lamborn, III
Richard C. Lippincott
Edson B. Moody
Hubert S. Poole, II
David L. Wheeler
David S. Wilcox

SIGMA PHI

Clifton N. Bradley, Jr.
Richard A. Chinman
William W. Dunlap
Richard W. Hastings
Thomas R. Hendee
Leonard Jacob, Jr.
Per A. Madsen
Ernest J. Mierzejewski
Gordon T. Schofield
Everett J. Smith
Lawrence B. Woolson

ST. ANTHONY

Berkeley C. Bidgood
Edward R. Childs, Jr.
Nicholas Danforth, Jr.
Warner B. Day, Jr.
Bronson Fargo
Mitchell Fish
Harris B. Fisher, III
Frederick R. Loney, Jr.
Harry McDaniel
Gordon McWilliams
Fraser M. Moffat, III
Carlos E. Munger
Dwight Rockwell, Jr.
Paul E. Shorb, Jr.
William D. Snare
A. Barr Snively, III
John L. Spang

THETA DELTA CHI

Garrard Bennett
Charles Brock
Malcolm Dunn, Jr.
Clifton M. Foss, Jr.
Burton H. Hall
Lewis C. Host, III
Daird E. Jeffery, Jr.
Ernest N. May, Jr.
Ben B. Newmark
William K. Paton, Jr.
John Shepherd
Richard V. D. Wallace
John Warren

ZETA PSI

John E. Cremeans
Edward P. Curtis, Jr.
Stewart Dalrymple
David R. Fall, Jr.
Theodore M. Garver
James A. D. Geier
Charles W. Hartel
John L. Hornor, III
John H. Humpstone, Jr.
John S. Lund
James B. McClements, III
Richard Meryman
Charles S. Parker
Edward C. Stebbins

GARFIELD CLUB

Richmond Allen
Carl J. Austrian, Jr.
Paul F. Avery, Jr.
Roy A. Axford
Thomas P. Beal
James B. May
Joseph P. McElroy, Jr.
Arnold J. Midwood, Jr.

See NEW AFFILIATES Page 4

Harriers Open '47 Season; Booters Oppose Mass. State

Football - - -

team is not surprising, considering their squad. All but one man on their first two teams played last year, and he played in 1941. There are eighteen lettermen, which, with several other men, make the squad two deep in every position. In fact, the Engineers are said to have two lines of equal strength, averaging about 195 lbs.

Buffalo Topped RPI

These statistics sound fairly impressive. Yet last Saturday the University of Buffalo toppled the Engineers, 14-7. From all reports, it was once again the indomitable spirit of the RPI eleven which enabled it to stay in the ball game, within one touchdown distance of Buffalo. This fighting ball club could easily give the Ephmen a real tussle this afternoon.

Here in the Purple camp, Coach "Whoop" Snively has been busy correcting the mistakes of the so-disappointing Middlebury upset last Saturday. One of the weakest departments in the game, shown especially in the movies, was the Ephmen's tackling. Snively has seen that tackling gets its full share of attention this past week. He has also seen that his passers and receivers get plenty of practice for an aerial attack to go with the rapidly improving ground attack.

Purple Team Eager

The Ephmen are eager to get back that 6-0 setback of last year. Those who saw it will remember that a Purple touchdown was called back on a penalty. This year's eleven would like to play a good brand of ball so that one penalty could spell the difference between victory and defeat. In the twenty-three contests with RPI, in a series that started in 1882, Williams has dropped only two, tied two. The last two games with them, in 1946 and 1932, both ended in defeats for the Ephmen. They want to make Saturday's game victory number twenty.

The eleven men who will start this afternoon should comprise much the same lineup as started last week. Jim Lyons, although injured in the second period last Saturday, will be back at center. Captain Gene Murphy, who played sixty minutes at Middlebury, and "Frog" Salmon are at guard. John Glancy, also injured Saturday will be all right, and will start at tackle along with Hank Lukas. The end slots are undetermined, but Bud Cool, Frank Todd or Gene Detmer might be in there.

Backfield Question Mark

Vic Fuzak, at quarterback, and Pat Higgins, at fullback, are two probable starters in the backfield. Elsewhere it is not so certain. Bill Blanks is nursing along a leg injury, while "Stu" Duffield still has that rib injury contacted in the early minutes of play at Middlebury. Dick Whitney might get a starting halfback post, and so might sophomore Roy Collins. Coaches Snively and Burnett have been experimenting with both Gene Detmer and Frank Todd in the backfield, and "Sandy" Orr should be ready by this afternoon. The backfield remains a question mark.

Soccer Squad Prepares For Second Game

Champlain Game Shows Strong Forward Line

Teamwork Stressed

Larry Smith Returns To Center Forward

Coach Ed Bullock's soccer eleven takes on the ever rough University of Massachusetts outfit this afternoon, and rumor has it that the opposition is nothing to write home about but nevertheless, it promises to be a scrappy outfit. Larry Smith, last year's center forward reported back this week for Williams, and in all probability will be inserted in his old position to bolster the Eph team against any possible up-set.

Throughout this week "Uncle Ed" has been putting the team through rigorous scrimmages trying to iron out the faults displayed in the last week's Champlain encounter. One of the more noticeable defects was the lack of accurate passing and able ball handling. The probable starting line-up has been playing together in an effort to achieve this all important teamwork and co-ordination necessary for a successful season.

Forward Line Looks Good

The Champlain game demonstrated the power and punch of the forward line while the Eph fullbacks held off the opponents from any serious threat. "Red" Townsend is missed in the half-back line but Bullock has able substitutions from the 1946 Freshman team in Art Bohner and Roland Palmedo who promise to be regulars on future Purple teams.

Reports from Amherst tell of an excellent goalie and two strong full-backs, but as each day of practice is concluded in the Williams camp, the outlook for both the coming University of Massachusetts game and the entire season grow brighter daily.

In Ev'ry Play

Old J. H. (Jesup Hall that is) was rocking on its heels last Sunday, and gathered around the outside were many of the old-timers waiting for the final collapse of the venerable relic of the days of Eph himself. However, upon investigation, the noise and stuff that was giving forth from old J. H. was the indoctrination of the class of '51 with numerous Williams yells, and Jesup is still standing.

Being unable to think of any moral which might arise from the fact that Jesup is still standing, we turn to the spirit of the newly-baptized freshmen. To the numbers who have been counting the falling sands around here before, these highly spirited lads are a great addition. Last year, the football games, or other so-called athletic contests were poorly attended, and when they were attended the spirit demonstrated by all apparently interested spectators was sadly lacking in any demonstrative out-bursts, and your commentator on this situation was no different than anyone else. However, my case is not exceptional, but merely typical.

Thus we arrive at the point of this so far pointless article. One of the most important additions that the class of '51 can give to Williams is a shot in the arm of what is at various times derogatively called the "old college try." Although this sounds ridiculous to many people, it is one of the things that makes a college an integrated student body, and it also makes for a good time had by one and all.

Going down to Weston Field on Saturday afternoon, and wrapping up in a blanket with your favorite girl, and sometimes not your favorite but merely a girl, and cheering the team on, is part of your education at Williams. However, you can readily notice that there is something wrong when everybody sits there, like a bump on a pickle with that bored attitude of the party-boy waiting for the five o'clock blast to start.

This Saturday the football team travels to Troy to take on the Engineers of RPI. Now to all intents and purposes, Troy, the shirt city, is practically only a hop and a small jump to Billsville, and now that the freshman can talk to the upper classmen, and dirty rushing is a thing of the past, it is time for the inspired frosh to hit the road and back the team with all that spirit that rocked "good old J. H." Just as a reminder for those who may have forgotten, and to those who haven't received the word, we have plenty of room for the goal posts when we win Saturday.

Mill ON THE Moss

STEAKS - - - CHOPS
ROAST BEEF

GUEST ACCOMODATIONS

BREAKFAST LUNCHEONS
DINNERS

9 Miles South of Williamstown
10 Miles From Pittsfield on Route 7

HOWARD JOHNSON'S WILLIAMSTOWN

Open from 11 a.m.
to 8 p.m.

YOUR FAVORITE
FLAVORS
OF
HOWARD JOHNSON'S FAMOUS
Ice Cream
and
Ice Cream Sodas

DAILY FEATURE 95c
HOWARD JOHNSON'S
FAMOUS

- FRIED IPSWICH CLAM AND TARTAR SAUCE
- COLE SLAW
- FRENCH FRIED POTATOES
- FRESHLY BAKED ROLLS
- LEGAL BEVERAGES

Dan Barzie

AND HIS 14 PIECE ORCHESTRA
SATURDAY, OCT. 18
ADMISSION - - - 85 cents
NORTH ADAMS
ARMORY
DANCING EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT

WINTER LUBRICANTS

will

- Provide thorough lubrication for all parts even during the very coldest weather.
- Make your car ride better and steer easier.
- Help avoid excessive wear that results in expensive repairs.

Bring Your Car
"Back Home" to us for
Winter Lubrication

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

Race For Fall Golf Title On

Cole, Marchese Ahead In Qualifying Round

Williams' golf coach Dick Baxter has announced that those who wish to qualify for the 25th annual fall championship must complete thirty-six holes by Sunday night. The low eight will comprise the championship flight, with the possibility that there will be a second division of the same number.

A new champion is sure to be crowned because Pete Griggs, last year's winner has not returned to school. But from Pete's home club in Bridgeport, Conn. comes Bill Rodle who captained the golf team at Hill School last year. Other freshmen expected to make a bid for Griggs' vacated spot are the Sziklas twins Ed and John from Roxbury Latin in Boston.

Bucky Marchese who lost to Griggs in last year's finals will be a strong contender. This summer Bucky shot some fine golf, going to the finals of the Massachusetts State Junior, and the semi-finals of the New England Junior.

Last Spring's college tournament winner Dick Wells will attempt to qualify as will Jerry Cole, a member of the golf team for the last two years.

Among the others trying out at Taconic Golf Club this week will be Larry Witten, Dick Heuer, Corky MacLeod, Bill Burke, Doug Coleman, Bill Kaufman, and Seth Bidwell.

As this article goes to press a few scores have been turned in so far. Jerry Cole's 162 leads, with Bucky Marchese close behind at 163. Leading the eighteen hole cards were Dick Wells and Larry Witten, both with 81. It appears that because of the difficult playing conditions that prevail around Williamstown at this time of year, that the scores of the qualifiers will be higher than the normal swats required to go around the course.

Harriers, RPI To Battle In First Contest

Thinclads Hampered By Lack Of Workouts

Chisholm Benched

Bad Leg Keeps Star From Running Today

With only one week of practice under their belts and with last year's star, Herb Chisholm, out of running with a game leg, the Williams harriers will meet with RPI today in their first encounter of the season.

The meet will be more of a practice session than anything else for with Chisholm laid up and such a short time in which to prepare for the tilt, the Purple thin-clads will be nowhere near full strength, while the RPI team has been going over the courses for several weeks. With the results of the coming meet, however, Coach Tony Plansky will be able to estimate how rapidly his squad, last year's Little Three champions, are progressing, and the difficulty they will have when they run against Vermont on October 25.

It is still too early to know the Williams line-up for the opener, but it's certain that Kevin Delaney and Paul Cook of the 1946 team and Bill Kelton, undefeated as a yearling will head the list. Other probable starters of the seven man contingent will be Bill Barney, last spring's dashman and Lehman cup winner, numeral winner Ernie May, and Phil Collins who has shown great improvement at this early date. Pete Sylvester is almost certain to compete to round out the Purple eleven.

Coach Plansky's runners will accompany the varsity soccer eleven on a tour to the University of Vermont next week-end.

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 6 p.m., Friday
2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.
3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.
4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

One Deck of Plastic Playing Cards from IRENE'S GIFT SHOP

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	R. P. I.	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	Bowdoin	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Wesleyan	vs.	Connecticut U.	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Virginia	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Columbia	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn	vs.	Dartmouth	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Villanova	vs.	Holy Cross	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Illinois	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Duke	vs.	Navy	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Ohio State	vs.	Univ. So. Cal.	<input type="checkbox"/>

One Suit Cleaned at RUDNICK'S

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	R. P. I.	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	Bowdoin	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Wesleyan	vs.	Connecticut U.	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Virginia	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Columbia	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn	vs.	Dartmouth	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Villanova	vs.	Holy Cross	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Illinois	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Duke	vs.	Navy	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Ohio State	vs.	Univ. So. Cal.	<input type="checkbox"/>

INSURANCE BROKERS TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

M. Salvatore

Established 1901

Agents For

J. P. SMITH SHOES HANNAN SHOES
BASS LOAFERS and SKI BOOTS
GYM and TENNIS SHOES

SALVY'S

SPRING STREET

TELEPHONE 600

Robert Field Johnson - - - Lectures Here November 5th

Former Disney Artist To Discuss Animated Cartoons At Jesup

Robert D. Field, former Disney artist and writer, will be this year's first Lecture Committee speaker, Paul R. Barstow, '48, Lecture Committee Chairman, has announced. Mr. Field, co-sponsored by the Fine Arts Department, will talk Wednesday, November 5, on "Disney and the Animated Cartoon as a 20th Century Art."

Also announced were four other dates in the partial schedule compiled for this year. All lectures will be held in Jessup Hall at eight o'clock in the evening.

Kermit Roosevelt, Near East expert and free-lance author, who has an article in this month's "Harper's" on Egypt, will speak here December 4 on the topic "The Arabs Live There Too," co-sponsored by the International Relations Club.

On January 22 Bernard DeVoto, well-known novelist and historian, author of "The Year of Decision," and writer of the Harper's column, "The Easy Chair," will consider "The Novelist and the Reader."

Two other speakers are so far scheduled for next term: John Scott, head of "Time" and "Life" European bureau, to speak on "The German Today," March 4, co-sponsored by the International Relations Club; and Bernard Idings Bell, author and educational philosopher, speaking April 1 on "Education and the Common Man." Mr. Bell's recent article in the "New York Times Magazine" on this topic produced more comment than that publication has ever received on any article.

Flying Club - - -

selected at the meeting. Breakfast flights with other college flying clubs as well as an intra-college flying meet are tentatively planned for this year.

Edwards suggests that interested men watch the RECORD for further developments.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

change bitter remarks in speeches, he observed, but most personal relationships remained friendly.

Believes War Unlikely
Feeling that war in the near future is unlikely, Prof. Johnson remarked, "Since no country wants war, nor is prepared for war, it should be possible to pass through a period of tension lasting five to twenty years without open warfare, although there is always a possibility of incidents which will lead to war."

"The task before the American government and people is to prevent the strain from becoming so great that there is war. We must try to see that the tension is gradually relaxed until the present uneasy peace is transformed into true peace."

No Strings on Marshall Plan
Commenting on the Marshall Plan, Prof. Johnson predicted that our hopes for the revival of Western Europe are certain to be unfulfilled if the United States insists that European countries revert to the free enterprise system as a prerequisite for US dollars.

"The attempt to establish new UN machinery to deal with international political problems is readily understandable in view of the difficulties encountered by the Security Council in reaching decisions during the past year and a half," said Prof. Johnson, of Secretary Marshall's proposal to set up a permanent committee of the General Assembly.

"And," he added, "Marshall's proposed revision is clearly constitutional under the UN charter."

Rhodes - - -

three terms into which the English college year is divided.

McClellan is in the first group of Rhodes Scholars who have been able to combine G.I. benefits with their scholarships and who have been permitted to hold a scholarship after being married. Since the Rhodes Scholarships were first awarded in 1904, Williams has qualified fourteen men, as compared with three from Amherst, and six from Wesleyan.

Barnes - - -

One morning before crossing into Alaska the couple awoke to find bear tracks around the car. This prompted Wally to purchase a full-blooded Huskie whom they named "Plunger."

Finally they reached Fairbanks, Alaska. While there they took many side tours to nearby towns and got close enough to Mount McKinley one evening to view the mountain at sunset. One day at Anchorage Wally, a Chi Psi, had the most unique experience of the entire trip when fraternity brother Warren Sheridan happened to appear at the edge of a brook where Wally and Audrey were sitting.

As they prepared to depart for home the thought of traveling over those rough, dusty roads became more and more unbearable, so Wally traded in the car and purchased a small plane. In this the three - Wally, Audrey and Plunger took off for the States. They arrived at their destination two days later. Now, back in Williamstown, Audrey has set up housekeeping in the barracks apartments, Wally has resumed his studies and Plunger has begun exploring the neighborhood. But, looking back on a wonderful summer, Wally can only say, "It began at Bennington!"

New Affiliates - - -

Gordon C. Winter
Frederick Wiseman
Richard P. Wood
Albert R. Bianchi
Timothy B. Blodgett
Timothy M. Bray
Malcolm K. Breckenridge
George R. Brooks
Jesse D. Brown
John L. Brown, IV
Robert B. Carrington
Wilbur B. Clarey
Philip S. Cook
Royston T. Daley
Roger A. Dickinson
William H. Ebbets
Arthur B. Edgeworth, Jr.
John D. Ellis
David W. Fay
John H. Field
Harry Frazier, III
Malcolm J. P. Frazier
David G. Gregor, Jr.
Robert M. Griffin, Jr.
Joseph C. Hastings
Robert D. Haven
Stanley S. Hazen
Earl C. Henderson, Jr.
William Holt
George M. Hopfenbeck, Jr.
Graham P. Jarvis
Peter Johnstone
John A. Kadyk
David A. Kaplan
Arthur D. Lane, Jr.
Timothy C. N. Mann
Lowell Mason, Jr.

Robert (William) Mill
Fraser M. Moffat, III
Peter L. Moore
Kevin P. Moran
Paul F. Moriarty
David S. Muhlenberg
Fred Muhlfelder, Jr.
Richard W. Neff, Jr.
Edward G. Otley
Blair L. Perry
Peter L. Pollock
Arthur W. Proctor, Jr.
Horace W. Reid, Jr.
Peter W. Reinhardt
Jerome H. Remick, III
John A. Rogers
David S. Ruder
Donald E. Sanford, Jr.
Ray G. Schiferle, Jr.
Alfred M. Schlosser
George B. Seager, Jr.
Harry C. Sheehy, Jr.
Richard M. Siegel
Donald J. Speck
Donald H. Stephenson
Leonard Swain, Jr.
Charles F. Terry
Ian Thomson
William F. Tuttle, Jr.
Peter Vandervoort
Bryant D. Walker
John B. Wear, Jr.
Richard A. Welland

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in . . .

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.
On Sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newstands

NORTHSIDE TOURIST HOME

Next to the
Phi Gam House
29 North St.

Mr. & Mrs. A. L. Roberts
Tel. 776

SABINS CLOTHING

© TUXEDOS FOR RENT
© FINE SUITS AND SPORTCOATS

77 Center St.

TEL. 2398-M
North Adams

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL: 498-R

WILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED

ROUTE 2

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

Man with a system

Simply pick up your telephone and you can route your voice through any one of thousands of central offices—some with dial mechanisms so complex they stagger the imagination, yet so efficient they seem to work like magic—others staffed by competent, courteous operators whose standards of work have long been a fine tradition.

You command, in effect, millions of miles of telephone wire and cable.

You can direct your call—one of some 110,000,000 that will be made today—to any one of some 53,000,000 telephones here and abroad.

The operation of this vast system is big business. It is a complex, many-sided business in which thousands of college trained men are working in their chosen fields—development or research, engineering planning, accounting or statistics, public contacts, supervision of operations or other phases of management. These men have found highly interesting and rewarding careers.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

WE INVITE YOU TO

Challenge

OUR SANITONE DRY CLEANING!

See for Yourself!

PERSPIRATION STAINS REMOVED

When perspiration stains and odors are removed your clothes are fresh as new . . . A new life added to summer-wear garments.

SPOTS GONE—MORE DIRT REMOVED

. . . and see how our Sanitone Service coaxes new brilliance into dim colors. Actually revives your clothes.

PRESS HOLDS LONGER

. . . the "how" is a secret—but see for yourself. Actually the press on your clothes will last longer.

NO DRY CLEANING ODORS

At last! A better dry cleaning that doesn't leave a tell tale odor to destroy the freshness of your clothes.

OUR SANTONE SERVICE IS A BETTER KIND OF DRY CLEANING

RUDNICK'S

Free
SONG WRITING INFORMATION
Song My Build 32-page Folio No. 16 shows how you may get $1,500 advance royalties. Answers all your questions about songwriting. Send 10¢ coin to cover cost of mailing and handling. Write Today! Dept. CP.

Richmond Hotel
HERE TO SERVE
WILLIAMS
THE WAY YOU LIKE
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corone
Underwood
Royal

108 Main Street
North Adams

KRONICK'S
ESSO SERVICE STATION

CARS WASHED $1.50
POLISHING AND WAXING

State Road - Opp. Howard Johnson

(WALDEN) THEATRE

SATURDAY

SEA HAWK

ERROL FLYNN

SUNDAY MONDAY

SINBAD THE SAILOR

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY
THURSDAY

FIESTA

in
TECHNICOLOR

ESTER WILLIAMS

Please
Patronize
RECORD
Advertisers

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1947

No. 4

Injuries And Penalties Plague Williams Squad As RPI Skyrockets 40-0 For Their First Win

Football Rally Scheduled For Friday Night

Gargoyle, Managers Lead Lab Campus Session With Bonfire, Songs

A college football rally, sponsored by Gargoyle and the Purple Key, will be held on the Lab Campus on the eve of the Bowdoin Game this Friday at 8:30 p.m., highlighted by a bonfire, singing and speeches by college celebrities. It is expected that the entire student body will turn out to give the team a real boost. The bonfire, to be held in the center of the campus in front of Jesup Hall, will derive fuel from willing freshmen who are to be directed by their respective social units to scavenge the country for kindling, telephone poles, covered bridges, etc.

Bamboozle Bowdoin!
Speeches will be made by Captain Eugene Murphy, '48, and other officials of the football team, athletic department and the college from a platform in front of Jesup Hall. The entire football team will also be assembled there facing the student body, which will spread itself about the fire on the campus.
The college band will furnish music, and the Glee Club will be on hand to lead in the singing of college songs. The cheer leaders, under the direction of Chuck Schmidt, '48, will be present to organize the boisterous cries which, it is conjectured, will be heard as far afield as Brunswick, Maine.
At the moment the rally's sponsors are endeavoring to procure a license to drive a sound amplification truck around the college prior to the rally.

Club Rings Up Top Average

Spring Term Ratings List Theta Delt Next

The Dean's Office announces the scholastic standings of the Williams social units for the February to June, 1947 term. In arriving at the average mark, the following numerical equivalents are given letter grades: A, 5; B, 4; C, 3; D, 2; E, 1. The following list is composed of rank, social group, number of men in social group, and the group's semester average:

1 Garfield Club	250	3.5980
2 Theta Delta Chi	54	3.5478
3 Beta Theta Pi	49	3.4808
4 Delta Phi	45	3.4751
5 Kappa Alpha	65	3.4480
6 Non-affiliates	32	3.4450
7 Phi Delta Theta	54	3.4419
8 Phi Gamma Delta	52	3.4175
9 Zeta Psi	51	3.4055
10 Chi Psi	52	3.3887
11 Alpha Delta Phi	51	3.3678
12 Delta Upsilon	57	3.3361
13 Psi Upsilon	53	3.3334
14 Delta Kappa Epsilon	45	3.3067
15 Phi Sigma Kappa	50	3.2620
16 Sigma Phi	51	3.2725
17 Delta Psi	46	3.1876

The total number of students receiving grades was 1046. The college average was 3.42.

As a means of comparison, the RECORD presents the scholastic standings of the social units for the October, '46-February, '47 semester: 1, Garfield Club; 2,

Improved Broadcast, Better Reception For WMS

Football Pool Won By Burke, Fawcett

The Football contest which last week was met with a mild reception as only 17 entries were received by three Spring Street merchants, Rudnicks, Irene's Gift Shop and the Williams Co-Op. No winner for the contest was announced by the College Restaurant.

William Burke, '49, was top man in the Co-Op's pool, picking all ten winners. Sophomore William Fawcett, who missed the winner in three games, nevertheless won at Rudnicks and Irene's.

WCA Leaders Discuss Plans

Smoker Features Drive For Members Oct. 16

At a meeting of the cabinet and officers of WCA last Thursday, the fall membership drive, Chest fund drive, cabinet nominations, and plans for the Deputation committee and Student Christian movement were discussed.

The WCA membership drive this fall will consist of a smoker in the lower lounge of Currier Hall, Thursday evening, October 16, at nine. Cider and doughnuts will be served and the Williams Octet will hold forth at that time. Anyone interested in working on any WCA committee—especially freshmen—are cordially invited to attend.

Chest Fund Drive
Plans for the yearly Chest Fund Drive were outlined by Patrick Graney, '49, who will head the committee. Plans for the reorganization of the Embassy Committee were formulated.

This committee will have charge of visiting clergymen and will arrange discussions with various ministers. Each house on campus will be designated to entertain a chapel speaker at dinner Sunday night once a term.

Nominations were made to fill
See WCA Page 2

Four Returnees In Purple Knights

Smaller Group Greeted With Busy Schedule

With the aim of a fairly small, but good, band in mind, the Purple Knights, the college dance orchestra, is now in the process of reformation.

Four veterans from last year's band have definitely been slated to play with the new group, and auditions for the remaining five or six members will be held shortly. The four returnees include Sidney L. Werkman, '48, at the clarinet, Horton H. Kellogg, '48, on the sax, Walter L. Oleson, '49 on the piano, and Arthur L. Singer '50, with the guitar.

Horton Kellogg, business manager, is encouraged at the prospect of a full schedule of jobs. Many letters requesting the band have already been received from other colleges, but no definite appointments have been set as yet.

SAC Gives $2000 For New Equipment And Station Remodeling

The SAC has appropriated $2,000 for station WMS with which the station is buying new equipment, remodeling the studio, and installing the new "Carrier Current Transmitter," which will change the entire system of broadcasting. WMS President Dick Morrill gave Monday, October 27, as a tentative date for the new set-up to start operating.

Competitions are already underway for posts in the various departments. Morrill urges all men who are interested in radio work to see him now, while plans are forming for the year's activities.

Reception Vastly Improved

Nort Cushman, Technical Director for WMS, stated that "Carrier Current" operates thru the power lines rather than over the air. This means that WMS will come in louder and clearer than before, with no interference from other larger broadcasting units. The station will broadcast at 840 kilocycles, as it did last year, but now it should be as loud as any spot on the dial.

WMS will be connected with all the college buildings, and without this direct line no off-campus radio can receive it. In order that programs may start soon, the fraternity houses and the married veterans homes will not be connected until two or three weeks after broadcasting has begun to the college owned buildings.

New Order Drawn Up

Disordered broadcasts will be eliminated this year by establishing departments arranged to handle each phase of the program. These are Engineering, Production Business and Announcing, each having its own carefully outlined duties. There will be no overlapping as there has been in the past.

Programs will be worked out and rehearsed in advance more
See WMS Page 2

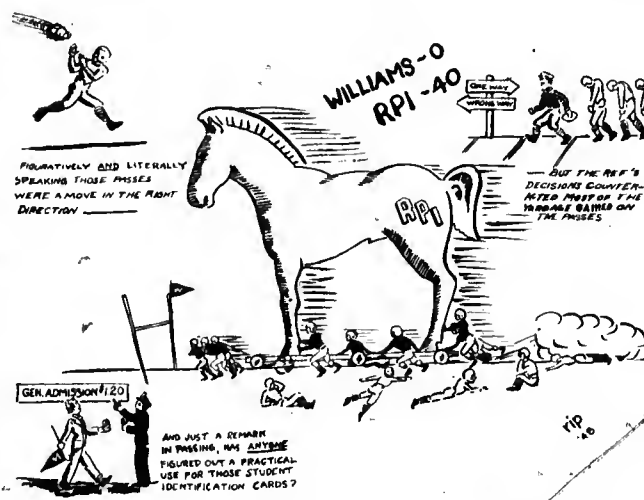

Interviewers From Eighteen Firms Scan Summer Seniors For Talent; Few Fail To Hire, Wyckoff States

"Representatives from eighteen business organizations were eighteen more than we expected during the summer term," announced William O. Wyckoff, '14, Director of the Williams Placement Bureau, last Friday, "and few of them left without giving jobs to members of the September graduating class."

Throughout the spring various companies send men to Williams-town to interview, through the Placement Bureau, job applicants from the senior class, and although none were expected during the summer, nearly a score of these envoys arrived during the course of the term. One of these men alone made offers to fifteen seniors, and actually gave out eight jobs, said Mr. Wyckoff.

Helps Find Jobs

The placement director has a twofold responsibility: he seeks, first of all, by interviewing a junior, senior or recent graduate, to "guide him vocationally," to help him discover the job to which he is best suited and most inclined and help place him in such a job. The second responsibility is to the prospective employer, to suggest to him a man who

Veteran Bennington Beauties Edge Outweighed Zetes, 1 - 0

O'Sullivan Scores In Last Seconds

Penalties and Injuries Mark Bloody Battle

by Bud Stege

A strong Bennington field-hockey squad scored a fluke goal in the last minute of the final quarter to defeat the hard-hitting Zetes 1-0 in the annual Field Hockey Classic last Wednesday. The girls were sparked by many returning letter-men, among them their star two-hundred and twenty pound center full-back, Mildred Zaharias, sister of the famous Babe Zaharias, from Texas. The Zetes were apparently sparked only by beer.

The first quarter started slowly as many of the Zetes seemed reluctant to leave the sidelines. As the minutes rolled by, however, it became obvious that the girls were in for a tough struggle. Most of the play was in their end of the field, and several arrow-true Zete goal-shots missed the cage by only a few inches.

Moo-Men Rush Hard
The second quarter started a little faster with a strong rush by the Moo-Men which carried the ball deep into Bennington territory. This play was recalled on a foul, however, as one Bennington girl was carried from the field. The aroused Benningtons, sensing blood, swarmed down the field behind their two-hundred pound forward wall. Only the dexterity of the Zete goalie, Black Swede Suneson, prevented the

See ZETES Page 4

Williams Liberalism Lauded And Damned

In an interview for the Amherst "Student", following an address at Smith College last week, Henry Wallace stated that he was "impressed by the increasing liberalism of Williams College students and faculty." Later during the course of the interview he stated, "Williams College . . . has increasingly attracted liberal students and faculty to its gates. As for Amherst, I just don't know."

And from a UCLA undergraduate publication: "groups at many Northeastern Campuses . . . are dominated by pink leaders . . . Bowdoin and Williams perhaps lead in this situation but colleges such as Vermont, Middlebury, Maine, Colby, Amherst, Hamilton and Wesleyan have their share."

No Change Made In Parking Rules

Violations May End In Permit Suspension

Parking regulations issued by the Dean's Office last week are the same as those in effect last term. Punishments have not yet been determined but it is expected that violators will have their permits temporarily suspended.

No overnight parking will be allowed along the Jesup Hall or Chapin Hall roads in order to eliminate cars being stored there from one weekend to the next. Cars will be given tickets after 2 a.m.

The area between the physics lab and Jesup Hall and that between the corner of Lawrence Hall and the northwest corner of Fayerweather are both reserved for faculty.

Only guest and faculty may use the space in front of Hopkins where the curb is painted yellow and from the front of the library to the driveway behind the Chapel. No parking is allowed where a curb is painted red.

Last Quarter Is Fatal For Weary Purple

Higgins, Duffield Out On Injuries; Wilson Appears Last Half

Eph's Pass Offense Almost Turns Tide

RPI Reserve Backs Chalk Up Two TD's

by Russ Frost

Saturday's setback at the hands of RPI, 40-0 was strongly reminiscent of the opening game against Middlebury. Playing before a capacity crowd in '86 Field at Troy, Williams looked great for three quarters, holding RPI to two touchdowns. In the fourth, however, the team tired rapidly and RPI ran rampant to score four times.

The Purple team ran into hard luck right from the start. Fullback Pat Higgins was injured early in the first quarter and benched for the remainder of the game. Stu Duffield's injuries from the Middlebury game kept him from appearing at all, thus robbing Williams of two of their best backs. In the second quarter, in which Williams looked its best, two fifteen yard penalties effectively throttled promising Purple attacks and in the wide-open third period, an Eph aerial offensive failed by scant inches as the ball bounced heartbreakingly off a receiver's fingertips.

Daymon Jordan, RPI's 190 pound halfback, opened the scoring when he pushed across from the 5 yard line in the first quarter after RPI recovered a Will-
See RPI Page 2

Houses, Club List Officers

Three Units To Elect New Officers Soon

The RECORD presents a current list of the presidents and treasurers of the sixteen social units on campus. In all but three houses these officers will serve until house elections occur sometime next term. House elections are scheduled for sometime this week in Delta Phi, Delta Upsilon (for president only), and the Garfield Club.

The presidents and treasurers, respectively, of the houses are: Alpha Delta Phi: Robert J. Boyer, '48, Robert W. Stanley, '49; Beta Theta Pi: Jay O. Sikes, '48, Robert A. LeCount, '49; Chi Psi: Eugene T. Detmer, '48, Joseph H. Durrell, Jr., '49; Delta Kappa Epsilon: Dickinson R. Debevoise, '48, Charles C. Jordan, Jr., '48; Delta Phi: Arthur L. Stevenson, Jr., '48, Donald E. Hewitt, '49; Delta Upsilon: Robert T. Reynolds, '49, James R. Harrison, '48; Kappa Alpha: Henry B. Dewey, '48, Samuel H. Graybill, Jr., '48; Phi Delta Theta: Edson W. Spencer, '48, Robert M. Mahoney, Jr., '49;

Phi Gamma Delta: Leroy N. McWhinney, Jr., '48, Frederick J. Henry, Jr., '48; Phi Sigma Kappa: Henry F. Lukas, '48, Robert P. Messimer, '49; Psi Upsilon: Dudley S. Taft, '48, J. Leonard Graham, '48; St. Anthony Hall: Henry
See OFFICERS Page 2

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 News Editor
JOSHIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Briggs Baugh, '48 H. Russell Platt, '48
Charles R. Fetter, '48 John H. Schofer, '48
James C. Forsyth, II, '48 Peter M. Thexton, '48
C. Hugh Klensch, '48

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

William R. Barney, Jr., '49 Russell B. Frost, '49
Seth M. Bidwell, '49 Edwin Kuh, '49
Jerry J. Cole, '49 J. Edward Pawlick, '49
Joseph F. Dorsey, '49

EDITORIAL STAFF

S. F. Blaschke, '50 E. V. Gouinlock, '50 W. P. Stern, '50
K. V. X. Delany, '50 R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50 P. W. Stites, '49
W. V. M. Fowcett, Jr., '50 D. T. Roach, '50 R. S. Taylor, '49
R. Fowle, '50 S. Rabinowitz, '50 C. E. Utley, '49
J. B. Gibson, '50 J. B. Shepardon, '50 H. Van Horne, '50
J. G. Golding, '50 N. S. Wood, '50

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Acting Advertising Manager Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock, '49

BUSINESS STAFF

P. C. Graney, '49 T. H. Lichtenfels, '50 B. M. Sapiro, '48
R. P. Klopman, '49 M. J. Murray, '50 A. R. Shay, '50
R. A. LeCount, '49 J. S. Prescott, '50 R. B. Stallworth, '48
J. M. Reid, '49

ART BOARD

Photographic Editor Howard N. Wedelstoedt, '50
Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Felch, '48

VOL. LXI

OCTOBER 15, 1947

No. 4

It's Your Fault Too

"How the hell do they expect us to play football for a college that will do nothing for us," was the way one member of the Williams football team expressed his sentiments about the "strange" 1947 season. If this is not the opinion of the whole squad, it ought to be.

Everywhere on campus people are telling their version of what is generally considered a very poor showing thus far. Some blame coaching, some blame team spirit, some note the many backfield injuries, some point to the lack of experienced ends. But WE want to put a large part of the blame on Williams students in general.

Undergraduates argue that they cannot be expected to participate in a lot of "rah-rah" college doings. Expressed in that manner their arguments may hold water. But students should be willing, if they want a winning team, to back it. That means at the rally Friday night, then at the game with Bowdoin Saturday afternoon, and then at the football benefit dance Saturday evening.

It seems only fair that before the students blame Coach Snively or his team they ought to first prove that they are completely behind them. If, after proving unanimous support, before, during, and after the game, the undergraduate body still feels that the team and its coaching is lacking, then they can start looking around for a scape-goat.

Let's Go Dancing

This Saturday evening in the Lasell Gymnasium the Purple Key Society is sponsoring a "football benefit" dance. The term "football benefit" does not mean much, and certainly does not explain why the undergraduate body should give this dance their full support.

The affair is actually a benefit dance to make up a deficit incurred in the operation of last year's football training table. Due to the unsettled conditions last fall, caused by the abrupt return to pre-war customs of running the training table, there was a misunderstanding which resulted in a loss of $300 by the Garfield Club. Food was prepared by the Club for the whole squad, but not all the squad ate at the training table. Therefore when the absent members were billed for the food that the Club had prepared for them, they were being charged double, since they had previously paid for their food at their respective social units.

In order to return the training table to the Garfield Club Dining Hall again this year, the deficit had to be met. The suggestion was made that the Purple Key follow a precedent established before the war to take care of such emergencies, namely running a benefit dance after the first home game. Since it was not felt that the players should be held responsible, and that money allotted for necessary equipment should be taken out of the Athletic Fund, and that the Garfield Club should certainly not be made to take the loss, the dance seemed to be the best solution.

The Purple Key has arranged for a band to provide danceable music, there will be movies of the '46 Amherst game during intermission, and decorations will be quite original and entertaining.

Therefore we urge you, to show that the undergraduates are behind the team, to get a date and go dancing.

No More Lead Pipes, Please

Last year on the Thursday night before the Amherst game there was a disastrous mass exodus to the town of Amherst. The boys were going down just to paint up the town a little bit. When they arrived they found that the Amherst students, backed up by state and local police, had slightly different ideas. Lead pipes

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

The indisputable, hardly refutable fact of a lacking of space Here.

Combined with, entwined with, and fully in line with considerable falling from grace

Here. Demands that I ban what I usually plan to inscribe in my usual place Here.

Standings - - -

Non-affiliates; 3, Beta Theta Pi; 4, Kappa Alpha; 5, Theta Delta Chi; 6, Phi Delta Theta; 7, Sigma Phi; 8, Phi Gamma Delta; 9, Zeta Psi; 10, Phi Sigma Kappa; 11, Chi Psi; 12, Delta Phi; 13, Delta Psi; 14, Alpha Delta Phi; 15, Psi Upsilon; 16, Delta Upsilon; 17, Delta Kappa Epsilon.

WCA - - -

cabinet posts left vacant by graduating officers and chairmen; elections will be held at the next cabinet meeting.

Deputations Committee

Headed by Charles Blakney, '48, the Deputations Committee will begin to fill the need for Sunday School teachers in the surrounding community as soon as possible after the results of the membership drive are known.

Ed Spencer, '48, in charge of the Student Christian Movement, disclosed numerous plans for coming intercollegiate conferences as well as an inter-cabinet WCA meeting of the Little Three sometime this term.

Officers - - -

ry M. Halsted, III, '48, Richard A. Warner, '48;

Sigma Phi: James A. Young, '48, John H. Hendee, Jr., '50; Theta Delta Chi: Bernard J. Felch '48, Francis C. Stokes, '48; Zeta Psi: Wolcott J. Humphrey, Jr., '48, Peter L. Sylvester, '49; Garfield Club: Bradley B. Hammond, Jr., '48, no treasurer until the coming elections.

WMS - - -

thoroughly than last year. Among the new features will be a 500 word news summary sent by the New York Times each day. Announcers will be more carefully selected this year, and trained on the college recording machine, loaned to the station for that purpose.

Please Patronize
RECORD
Advertisers

Calendar

TUESDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football
Beta vs. Zeta Psi
Delta Psi vs. Psi U
K A vs. Phi Sig
Chi Psi vs. Phi Delta
8:00 p.m. IRC discussion in Jesup on Marshall Plan with Messrs. Schuman, Roll, Johnson, Despres. Public Invited.

WEDNESDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football
D U vs. A D
D Phi vs. Phi Gam
Garfield vs. D K E
Theta Delta vs. Sig Phi

THURSDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football
Phi Delta vs. Delta Psi
Beta vs. Phi Sig
Chi Psi vs. Psi U
K A vs. Zeta Psi

Saturday

2:00 p.m.: Varsity Football, Bowdoin, Weston Field
Varsity Soccer, University of Connecticut, Away

Afternoon: Varsity Cross Country
Bowdoin, Finishes between halves of football game on Weston Field.

Freshman Football, RPI, Home
Freshman Soccer, Mt. Herman, Away

Freshman Cross Country, Mt. Herman, Away

8:30 p.m.: Football Dance, Lasell Gym, Purple Knight Sextet.

(All organizations wishing to have items in the RECORD calendar are requested to have the information in at the RECORD office by 3:00 p.m. on Sundays and Wednesdays.)

and fraternity paddles mingled with stone and unbaked potatoes formed a very unwelcome greeting and resulted in considerable damage to visiting autos.

Also, just in the spirit of fun, Amherst students visited Wesleyan last year with greater success. They succeeded, in fact, in doing several thousand dollars worth of damage. In each case the cries of the defeated were "Wait until next year."

To avoid a lot of unnecessary damage, we propose that the Undergraduate Council recommend severe penalties for anyone taking part in a pre-game raid on either Wesleyan or Amherst. Any "hard feelings" or irrepressible desires for souvenirs could with much greater profit, be reserved for post-game exhibitions.

Step up your face value...

Step forth
with Seaforth!

Add a plus to your
days and your dates...

enjoy the creamy-rich
luxury of a Seaforth
shave, the bracing
follow-up of Seaforth's
heather-fresh Lotion.

Try them—soon! These and other Seaforth essentials, packaged in handsome stoneware, only $1 each. Gift sets, $2 to $7.
Seaforth, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20.

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

HOPKINS
Furniture Store

HEADQUARTERS FOR STUDENT
ROOM FURNISHINGS

OPPOSITE THE POST OFFICE

Serving Williams Men Since 1888

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Friday.

2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.

3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.

4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

One Deck of Duratone Plastic Playing Cards Beautifully
Engraved from IRENE'S GIFT SHOP

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Bowdoin	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Colby	vs.	Amherst	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Yale	vs.	Wisconsin	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Minnesota	vs.	Illinois	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Cornell	vs.	Navy	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Harvard	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	V. P. I.	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Vanderbilt	vs.	Kentucky	<input type="checkbox"/>

One Shirt from the WILLIAMS CO-OP

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Bowdoin	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Colby	vs.	Amherst	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Yale	vs.	Wisconsin	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Minnesota	vs.	Illinois	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Cornell	vs.	Navy	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Harvard	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	V. P. I.	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Vanderbilt	vs.	Kentucky	<input type="checkbox"/>

Williams Loses Soccer, Wins In Cross Country

Eph Soccermen Fade Before Mass. U. Attack, Lose 3 - 2

Second Half Brings Williams' Scores

Eph Rout Prevented By Emmert, Kneass

The Williams soccer team journeyed to Amherst last Saturday, to face the University of Massachusetts, and came back on the short end of a 3-2 score.

The maroon team, which went under the name of Mass. State last year, completely outplayed the Ephmen; only two quick goals by the Purples at the beginning of the second half kept the game from being a complete rout. The Mass. booters held the edge in passing, shooting, offense and defense during most of the game. They outfought and outplayed Williams all afternoon.

After a first half in which the University of Massachusetts had jumped to a 2-0 lead, scoring once in each of the first two quarters, the Ephmen came back fast. Two minutes after the second half opened, Barry Emmert took a pass from Frenchy Oudin, and converted on it, to make the score 2-1. Seven minutes later, center half back George Kneass sent a long kick in from near center field, which the maroon goalie momentarily lost, and Frank Donnelly put the ball into the nets, to tie the score at 2 all.

The Purples could not score again, however, and when the Mass. booters put in a penalty kick a few minutes before the end of the third period, that was the ball game. Williams could not make their passes connect, or their plays click. Although they threatened several times in the last quarter, they could not score again.

From the beginning of the game it seemed evident that the Maroon booters had the edge. They dominated the play throughout the first quarter, keeping the ball down in Williams' territory most of the time. With forty-five seconds remaining in the first period, outside left Winton drove a shot past Captain Denny Lunt for the home team's first score. With scarcely a minute gone in the second period, Mass. scored again, after a pile-up in the goal-mouth. They continued to dominate the play throughout most of the first half, with a few scant purple threats being thwarted by the agile Mass. goalie. Just before the first half ended, the Maroon team drilled another shot into the nets, but was offside on the play.

After Williams' two quick scores in the second half, the University again took over the offensive, and was never headed. After keeping the ball deep in Williams' territory most of the period, and being awarded several free kicks from close range, on which they failed to convert, Massachusetts was awarded a penalty kick with two minutes remaining in the third period. Captain Magri drilled a hard shot into the nets on this penalty shot on which Goalie Lunt never had a chance, and that was the game.

Williams was forced to play without the services of center Larry Smith, who was kept out by an injury. This necessitated moving Emmert to center. Sigh Mayshark to outside left, and Frenchy Oudin to inside left, at the last minute. This line never could seem to get rolling. The halfback line was outfought by the home team.

Freshmen Set For RPI Tilt: Seek Revenge

Frosh Eleven Is Packed With Bigger, More Experienced Men

The freshman football team will seek revenge for the decisive RPI victory over the varsity when they play the RPI freshmen here next Saturday.

At this point the team looks bigger and more experienced than last year's frosh and there seems to be so much material that none is assured of a definite starting berth. At tackle, for instance, John Zebryk, Scip Dunlap, Bob Geniesse, Bronson Fargo and Harry Lamborn are fighting it out, while Don Whitehead, Ernie Mierzejewski, Al Bianchi, Wally Mann, and Howie Smith seem to be almost equally matched in the battle for the starting guard positions.

Quarterback Uncertain

Cary Bidgood has looked good at center while Mitch Fish and Dave Jackson look like a fine pair of offensive ends. Bill Sperry and little Pete DeLisser are still fighting it out for the quarterback slot and it looks as if Pete Smythe and Fritz Zeller may be the offensive halfbacks with George Fiske and Jack French close behind because of their fine defensive play.

Statistics Of The RPI Game

Yards gained rushing, net	28	347
Yards gained passing, net	100	42
First downs	5	17
Passes attempted	19	10
Passes completed	4	3
Passes intercepted by	2	4
Yards gained on interceptions	25	43
Fumbles	4	6
Fumbles recovered, opponents	2	4
Punts	9	4
Average distance, from scrimmage	23	29
Runback of punts, total distance	16	19
Penalties against	3	3
Yards lost on penalties	35	25

In Every Play

by Jack Schafer

Williams hasn't won a football game in its last two starts and nothing is expected to change next Saturday but the number. Having viewed the Bowdoin club in its outing against Amherst, this department is more than casually certain that the Mainiacs have enough to edge next week's home team.

For the record, the score on the Amherst-Bowdoin fray was 8 to 6, winner Bowdoin. Such a score indicates no wealth of power is being enjoyed by either team. Such is very much the truth. As a matter of miserable fact, it was a stinko ball game from the word go, each team being guilty of major near-catastrophes.

Mental Deficiencies

On one fragrant instance the Bowdoin quarterback, with his running game going nicely, called a pass on his own thirty-seven with two yards to go on third down. The passer, a good one—gent by the name of Burke, almost got his head handed to him when mauled most unceremoniously by a whole horde of Jeffs about fifteen yards behind the starting line. Never did get the throw off.

And, with his team trailing 6-0 in the second quarter, the Bowdoin left end, Zdanowicz, showed a curious, Nostradamus-like insight into the final score when he picked up a loose ball in the Amherst backfield (he spent most of the afternoon there) and immediately released it, letting Amherst's recover. It would be salting no steak on Zdanowicz's table to say that the lad could easily have cruised into enemy pay-dirt for the tying score. Seems he just wanted to keep the count close and give the fans a thrill.

The Bowdoin T

The Bowdoin Bears use the T exclusively and seem to have all the components necessary for the execution of this type of offensive except for a clever field general, a sharp passer, and a line capable of blasting holes for quick-opening power plays. Outside of this they are alright. Their main strength and sustenance seem to be two backfield operatives who work under the handle of Bob McAvoy and Gilmour Dobie.

Dobie, whose relationship to the immortal Gil remains obscure to this agent, showed as the fastest and smartest runner on the Maine club. In the Bowdoin drive

Eph Harriers Defeat RPI

Victory In First Meet Indicates Good Year

The Williams cross-country team opened its season on Saturday by surprising a good RPI squad to the tune of 25-30. The victory over the ever capable Engineers after only a week of serious practice gave hope of a successful year for Tony Plansky's harriers.

Clapp of RPI found the hot running weather to his liking and was the first to complete the 3.7 mile course in the good early-season time of 21.52 minutes. Two Purple "thin-clads", Bill Kelton and Kev Delany finished about seventy yards back in a dead heat for second and third places. Paul Cook of Williams was another fifty yards behind them to seal the fourth position. Phil Collins and Ernie May were the seventh and ninth finishers at Weston Field to complete the scoring for last fall's Little Three champs.

Freshmen Lose

The freshmen harriers fared not quite as well as their varsity teammates as the well-conditioned RPI yearlings defeated them by a score of 17-38. Hutton and Dorian were first home for the Ephs in fifth and sixth places.

for their touchdown early in the second half, it was Dobie who repeatedly supplied the long gainers with sweeps around the Amherst ends. And when they gave him the apple on the Amherst five yard line with two to pick up for a first down Dobie went all the way. The play was supposed to be an off tackle smash but when he arrived at the scene with the leather under his arm there was no hole to be found. So he simply picked up and turned the end for the score.

Was A Hot Day

The margin of difference was thoughtfully supplied by one Ray Smith, Amherst safety man, who kicked a Bowdoin punt around so long in the vicinity of his end zone that he was finally bruisingly caressed by beaucoup Bowdoin as he tried to dive out to the playing field.

It was a hot day anyway, and no one felt much like playing football.

Williams Co-op

Presents

The ADLER SOCK

wash them

any way you like

We guarantee the size

OR YOUR MONEY BACK

TUB and RUB and SCRUB them

Guaranteed to Fit for the Life of the Sock

Young people who study scientific facts should be interested in Adler SC socks. Facts are that we guarantee perfect fit for the life of these 100% virgin wool socks! Or your money back, cheerfully!

Super swell for campus wear—for guys—for gals. No more cramped toes—less mending. And 33% longer life because Adler SC's have Nylon reinforced heel and toe. Creamy white—full sizes 9 thru 13. At all better stores. By the makers of Adler SC Chic Rib nylon-wool slak soks.

THE ADLER COMPANY

Cincinnati 14 • Ohio

Used by ALL

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

Athletic Teams

Williams Co-op

College and Fraternity

STATIONERY

TYPEWRITERS

Sold and Repaired

The

Bemis Store

All Students Supplies

PAUSE FOR COKE RELAXES GOLFERS

5¢

PLEASE return empty bottles promptly

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY BERKSHIRE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

© 1947 The C-C Co.

Campus to GENERAL ELECTRIC

APPLICATION ENGINEER

The Story of Frank Lewis

Struggling to become airborne in the teeth of an Aleutian gale, the B-25 in which Frank Lewis was serving as co-pilot spun down into a fiery crash. Frank took the long way home. Badly burned about the face and shoulders, he spent two years in Army hospitals.

When he came back to work at General Electric this spring he had been away exactly six years. He had forgotten a lot, changed a lot since the days when, fresh out of the State College of Washington, he had worked on "Test" with G.E.

He took naturally, therefore, to the G-E Rotating Engineering Plan—especially set up to give the veteran a period of familiarization and general orientation.

"The idea worked fine," Frank says. "Any department I was interested in was ready to open its doors for me so I could come in and look it over. When I found a groove that suited me, that's where I would stick."

Frank decided to stick with application engineering. His work proved he was capable of it. On August 1, he took over a desk and drew the first important assignment of his new career.

For your copy of "Careers in the Electrical Industry," write to Dept. 237-6, General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

After six years of Army service, Frank is today tackling his first assignments as a General Electric application engineer.

Critically injured in a plane crash, Frank spent two years in Army hospitals before resuming his engineering career.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

Zetes . . .

girls from scoring as he testered, wobbled, and then fell on the ball for the most sensational save of the afternoon.

The third quarter saw a gradual slow-down of the Moo-Men's attack as young Waldo Humphrey, playing truly fanatical ball, vainly exhorted his team to leave the beer alone until the final gun. He was injured in a collision with Mildred on a subsequent play and had to be assisted from the field.

Zetes Pull 14 Penalties

The fourth quarter was a knock-down, drag-out affair. This period saw fourteen penalties called on the Zetes, who had six men carried off the field to Bennington's two. The two teams, sensing the futility of a tie-game, called on their entire squads as both captains threw in substitutions recklessly. Young Humphrey recovered from his earlier injury, and along with Pontiac Pete Geier made several bull-like rushes at the Bennington goal.

Finally, with only one minute to go in the game, the girls started a fast, hard drive which carried them well within the Zete lines. Mildred passed the ball to her one-hundred and ninety pound comrade, Matumbamba Black, last year's semi-pro sensation, who passed to Bounding Bunny O'Sullivan. BB sent a slow dribbler at the cage, but Black Swede Suneson had his back to the play, as he was amusing the crowd behind the cage with filthy stories. He turned around at the shrill cry of the anguished Zete bench, but too late to save the score. Bennington went ahead 1-0 with forty-five seconds left in the game.

Swede Curses Futilely

The Moo-Men were desperate. Leaving Black Swede to hurl futile curses at his delighted audience, they threw everything into one concerted rush down the field. Benningtons battled them all the way, but a truly sterling pass to Spider Platt by young Harter resulted in a ball which shot by the cage only a few inches outside the scoring zone. Spider started a mild argument over a claimed foul from Miss Matumbamba, but the final whistle blew before he could get anywhere.

At the raucous party which followed the game it was obvious that the Moo-Men were downcast. But Head-Coach J. L. Neville Smythe said, "Our boys had some sterling plays in there, and we're looking for a big improvement next year when we hope to be able to match the Bennington squad pound for pound."

(WALDEN)

THEATRE

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY
THURSDAY

FIESTA

In

TECHNICOLOR

ESTHER WILLIAMS

FRIDAY and SATURDAY

I WONDER WHO'S KISSING HER NOW

with

June Haver, Mark Stevens

in TECHNICOLOR

SUNDAY and MONDAY

THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER

with

LORETTA YOUNG

and

JOSEPH COTTON

MOUNT WILLIAMS GREENHOUSE

FLOWERS BY WIRE and FOR ALL OCCASIONS

SPECIAL RATES TO WILLIAMS STUDENTS FOR "MUMS" CORSAGES FOR THE BOWDOIN GAME

On State Road just outside of Williamstown

Tel. North Adams
1954

They're on their way up!

will you join them after you graduate?

You probably know a number of men in your class who were pilots in the wartime Air Force. They are the best advertisements for the Aviation Cadet program. Talk with them about it.

Chances are, they'll tell you their service as pilots was one of the most interesting and exciting phases of their lives. Fast action, comradeship, and the chance to serve their country paid them dividends they don't forget . . . added something to their stature and poise that they couldn't have gotten anywhere else.

Cadet life today is no different. As a potential pilot in the new U. S. Air Force, you serve at a time of equal importance to the nation. Freedom, responsibility, the chance to use your own initiative are all yours.

The training you get is the finest your government can provide — $35,000 worth for every Cadet.

You're taught by skilled instructors, fly the best airplanes. Your living facilities are excellent.

Learning to fly today opens profitable fields to you in aviation — which is expanding more rapidly than at any other time in history.

Pilot training is open, now, to single men, 20 to 26½ years old, who have completed at least one-half the credits for a degree from an accredited college or university — or pass an equivalent examination. Cadets completing the course will be commissioned Second Lieutenants, ORC, and assigned to active duty as pilots with the Air Force. During their tours of duty they will be given a chance to qualify for Regular Air Force Commissions. This is your opportunity! Look into it today at your nearest U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station.

U. S. ARMY AND AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE

Stop in at Williamstown's
Newest Shoe
Store . . .

LUPO'S

Gives 24 hour
Service on Shoe Repairing

At the end of Spring St.

JOB PRINTERS

Miller Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

D & D OFFICE SERVICE

Let D & D Do Your
Typing For You

Leave material to be typed at 85 Spring Street
next to the Alumni House
TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

Richmond Hotel

HERE TO SERVE
WILLIAMS
THE WAY YOU LIKE
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Stars of "Club 15"
Air Show

ANDREWS SISTERS have a honey of a new record*

It's the latest disc for Decca...
"ON THE AVENUE"

THOSE terrifically popular Andrews Sisters have an individual singing style all their own. When it comes to cigarettes — well, let Patty tell you: "I've smoked many different brands and compared, and I learned from experience that Camels suit me best!"

With thousands and thousands of smokers who have compared cigarettes — Camels are the "Choice of Experience."

Try Camels. Let your own experience tell you why Camels are setting a new record!

More people are smoking
CAMELS
than ever before!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

Rumor Claims JA Instigator Of Class Riot

Lehman Hall Besieged
By Angry Frosh
At Start of Fight

Defense Broken
Thru Open Window

Sage, Williams Flooded
As Sophs Retaliate

by William R. Barney, '49
"The freshmen are a bunch of turkeys, and I can lick the first ten that wanna make somethin' of it!"

As these words resounded throughout the freshmen quad about 8:30 p.m. last Tuesday evening, scores of bewildered, but valiant young neophytes, poured from Williams and Sage Halls in pursuit of the shrewd name-called who disappeared into the darkness. Rumor has it that the instigator was none other than an "old reliable" junior adviser.

A fair scale Freshman-Sophomore riot was taking shape. The tempo of anger and excitement increased, as the yearling group spearheaded toward Lehman Hall, sophomore dorm, in an effort to soothe its injured pride.

Lehman Besieged
Frightened sophomores in the meantime smelled the proverbial rat and intelligently barricaded and bolted their Lehman dwelling only to find that it was a veritable "Magnet Line". An enterprising frosh youngster hopped through an open window, unlocked the doors thus bringing the tension to a head as the two seething groups engaged in hand-to-fire extinguisher combat.

Suddenly the battlefield shifted back to Williams and Sage. It was here that fists and fire really flew for a full hour during which a considerable amount of casualties and damage was incurred on both sides.

Despite the fact that no fire alarm was sounded, the hoses managed to manipulate themselves in such a way as to flood the first floor of Sage.

Pseudo-Soph
Simultaneously with the action across the way, a considerable fracas was kindled in Williams. They saw too that this

See RIOT Page 4

Course Quirks To Be Fixed By Dean Keep

Ex-Headmaster Served
With Army Historical Division in Pacific

When you walk into the Dean's Office in Hopkins, you can't help but notice the busy office to your right beyond the magazine table. This is new Associate Dean Albert Keep's office. His job? He calls himself a "clearing house for academic adjustment."

You may have met him—if you are a freshman, chances are 3-1 you have. He's the man you saw you have. He's the man you saw too advanced for you or if you wanted to change your course you didn't like or didn't think you should take. In short, he puts in a full eight-hour day discovering and advising cases of square students in round courses.

Unsnarl Administration Problem
Dean Keep is here because for a long time President Baxter and others of the Administration had seen the need for one central office to handle problems of registration and academic requirements in the third floor of

See DEAN KEEP Page 4

Schuman And The Experts.

Prof. Frederick L. Schuman (far right), who calls himself a comparative beginner on the subject, talks over the Marshall Plan with the other participants of Tuesday night's roundtable. The others (left to right) Eric Roll, Prof. Joseph E. Johnson and Prof. Emile Despres.

Photo by Williams Photo Service

Delusion Of Marshall Plan Hit By Schuman In Jesup Hall

Despres, Johnson, Roll Defend Proposal as Best Possible Cure

Secretary of State George C. Marshall's proposal for European recovery, the "Marshall Plan" was denounced as doomed to failure by Prof. Frederick L. Schuman, member of a panel of political science and economics experts who discussed the "plan" in an International Relations Club roundtable discussion Tuesday evening in Jesup Hall.

The other panel members, history professor Joseph E. Johnson, economics professor Emil Despres—both former government officials—and Mr. Eric Roll, who is in this country to represent the United Kingdom in the European Economics Commission conferences in Washington, in turn heatedly denounced Professor Schuman's stand. They admitted the proposal was not a cure-all

Eph Pigskin Movies For Tonight's Dance

Movies of the famous Williams football games will be shown continuously at the football dance to be held tonight from 8 p.m. until midnight in the Lasell Gymnasium. The first public screening of last year's thrilling 21-13 victory over Amherst will be the feature attraction.

Music will be provided by the Purple Knights Sextet, the same band that was heard over WMS last year and that played at the UC dance last spring. Tickets will be $1.80 for couples and $1.20 for stags.

No Seats Reserved For Bowd'n, Union

Tickets Now On Sale
For Amherst Contest

There will be no sale of reserve seats for today's football game against Bowdoin and next week's encounter with Union according to a release from Freshman Dean Sheehan's office.

Students will be admitted to both games upon presentation of athletic passes. Tickets for dates at either game will cost $2.40, and the girls will not be allowed to sit in the cheering section.

The special seating arrangement for the Amherst game on November 15 provides for a cheering section on the fifty yard line for stag seniors and juniors. Sophomores and freshmen will be assigned to Section 24 on the southwest corner of the field. Girls will not be permitted to sit in these sections.

Students from any of the four

See RESERVED SEATS Page 4

for Europe's long-range economic illa, but stressed its vital importance as a constructive emergency program.

Astute Truman Move?

In opposing Professor Schuman's theory that the plan was merely a move of American power politics to keep Western Europe out of the Russian camp and a further astute Truman move in domestic relations, Professor Despres stated that Truman just isn't that astute. "Power politics or not," Professor Johnson commented further, "even if there were no Europe east of the Adriatic, it would still be to our advantage to re-build Europe."

Mr. Roll, who stressed the fact that he was speaking in a purely unofficial capacity, said that although no plan that could possibly be devised would have complete assurance of ultimate success, if Europe can obtain imports to build agricultural and industrial resources, the European crises will be immeasurably lessened.

Plan Will Fail

Professor Schuman, however, held no such optimistic view. "The Marshall Plan will fail," he said, "and as long as we continue to go along on the basis of false premises, false illusions and false hopes, we will move from failure to failure, ad infinitum." "I don't think the Soviet can do it," was Professor Johnson's reply to Dr. Schuman's opinion that Russia must defeat the Marshall approach as a matter of power politics and that since the plan is completely unworkable, it would not be a difficult task. Mr. Roll, too, took issue with the

See MARSHALL PLAN Page 4

Beauty Of Williams Valley Lures Smith Star-seekers On Famous Mountain Day

Last Tuesday was MOUNTAIN DAY at SMITH. Rose-cheeked American girls flew from the classrooms to let the welkin ring with their shouts as they climbed ever upward, closer to their Maker.

The factual history of Mountain Day has, alas, become clouded. But we know that it was set aside, and rightly so, to furnish the girls with a time for queating beyond the crass finitudes of life; time for communion with Orpheus.

Perhaps when Sophia laid the first cornerstone in Northampton she gestured with her trowel at the girls gathered about: "Go, ye seekers," she may have called. "Go to the slopes of Mount Tom, or Holyoke. Climb there, high and far, and let this day be known as MOUNTAIN DAY!"

And black bloomed legs churned like pistons, up the slopes and through the woodlands, carrying their owners in search of a star.

Interview With Star-Seeker

Williams Meets Bowdoin On Local Gridiron Today

Cap and Bells
Gives Erskine
Comedy Lead

"The Beaux Stratagem"
Set For Production
Homecoming Week

Howard Erskine, '49, has been cast as Archer in the lead role of George Farquhar's bawdy restoration comedy "The Beaux Stratagem." As a nobleman of broken fortune, the play revolves around he and his friend Aimwell who have gone to the country with hopes of marrying a fortune there. The play, which will be directed by David Bryant, is scheduled to be presented the weekend of the Amherst game.

Although a freshman without previous experience in Cap and Bells, Timothy Mann has been selected to play Aimwell, interesting character who poses as Archer's master.

Unhappy Country Duo

Mr. and Mrs. Sullen, a discontented country couple, will be played by Richard Schwab, '48 and Nancy Ross, respectively. Sullen, a sullen oaf, cannot stand the constant chattering of his wife, a London girl who is bored with the country.

In the dispute between them, Dorinda, Audrey Barnes, is torn between loyalty to her brother, Sullen, and sympathy for his wife.

Mrs. Sullen's mother, Lady Bountiful, played by Constance Holt, is a healer who subscribes to all the superstitions of her trade. Cherry, Josephine Miser, as the daughter of the innkeeper Boniface, Ralph Horween, '50, has a surprising function in the play's plot.

Scrub, Bernard Felch, '48, and Gypsy, Barbara Closson, are servants in the Sullen household. Joel Carr, '48, has been cast as a French priest.

Cast Stars Summer Vets

David Brown, '51, James Bissell, '49, and Miller Barney, '49, play the part of highwaymen named Gibbet, Hounslow, and Bagshot, respectively. Helen Kelly will be the country woman whose husband is sick.

Sir Charles Freeman, H. B. Roll, '48, is a welcome character who enters at the end of the play

Elections Scheduled For Next Wednesday

Class elections will be held next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. with seniors meeting in Jesup, Juniors in Goodrich and Sophomores in Chapin. It is urged that everyone attend because all class officers serve on the Honor System Committee and presidents are members of the U.C.

Seniors will elect a president, a secretary, two honor system representatives and two Tyng Scholarship Committeemen. The Juniors will elect a president, a secretary and an honor system representative. Sophomores elect a president and secretary.

UC To Punish All Vandalism

Saturday Classes Cut
For Two Weekends

Measures to severely discipline students who damage the property of other colleges, were decided upon at the UC meeting held last Monday.

The Council also voted to abolish Saturday classes on Houseparty and Wesleyan game weekends and to require students to attend all five of their classes both before and after vacations.

Any student who paints or otherwise defaces or damages other college campuses will be brought before the student committee on discipline and recommended for dismissal from the college. This rule which has been put through by the college administrations of Amherst and Wesleyan as a result of last year's pre-game raids, was suggested in a RECORD editorial last Saturday.

Attendance Rules Changed

No classes will be held Saturday morning of Houseparty weekend, November 1, while the classes of November 8 will take place the morning before, so that students may attend the Wesleyan game at Middletown, according to an announcement by the Dean's office.

Dean Brooks also has declared that the college rules have been amended to state that attendance at all five classes both before and after vacations is required, which means all those of the two days preceding and following the vacation.

Football Band Needs More Players

Werkman States Band
Will Produce Or Quit

"The football band this year will be a high calibre musical organization or we will drop it entirely," Sidney L. Werkman, director of the band, told the Record. He added: "We need all the good musicians in college playing to make it a good group. We are not going to compromise."

The band will be a non-marching organization this year with the emphasis shifted to good musical performance. It will play at all home games and travel to Middletown for the Wesleyan contest.

At present the band comprises thirty pieces. Although more men are needed on all instruments, the clarinet and trumpet sections are especially Anyone interested in playing in the band should report to rehearsals in Chapin Hall on Monday nights at 7:30 p.m.

Ephmen Seek First Victory Of Campaign

Series Of Casualties
Plague Both Squads;
Starters Unknown

Bowdoin Wins One
In Three Contests

Eph Defense, Passing
Sharpened In Drills

Unsuccessful in their first two bids for victory, the battered Williams gridmen return home this afternoon at 2:00 p.m. to try their luck again. The opposition this time will be supplied by the Polar Bears from Bowdoin, who sport a somewhat more impressive record with one win among their two setbacks.

In their first start on familiar stamping grounds the Ephmen seek to put an end to a victory famine, which has included a 19-7 loss to Middlebury and a 40-0 bruising by RPI.

Still hampered by injury jinx the squad has been working hard all week with special emphasis on passing, the one bright spot in last week's unpleasantness at Troy, and tackling and defense, which has been disappointing in the two previous games. Kicking especially poor in the last half against R.P.I., has also been stressed.

The advantage of home grounds and the last week of hard drilling will stand the local athletes in good stead if they plan to topple the Bears from Brunswick, Maine. To gain their first win, Coach Snively's charges must be able for sixty minutes to maintain the brand of inspired ball they have flashed only sporadically this season.

Bowdoin has won only once, while dropping two contests, but the lads from out of the north should be tough, despite their

See HOPEFUL Page 3

Campus Will Vote On NSA Participation

Representatives Here
To Explain Program
Before Referendum

Henry Halsted, '48 and Seth Bidwell, '49, will speak to each social unit next week about the developments, aims, and methods of the National Student Association, and at that time they will answer questions that any student may have about the organization. After these talks have been completed, a referendum will be held on the campus to determine whether Williams will remain a member of the National Student Organization.

If campus approval is received, the present committee will then reorganize the Williams NSA on the lines prescribed at the national convention held at Madison, Wisconsin, this summer.

An attempt will be made to make Williams an integral part of both the regional and national organizations of the NSA.

Activities For Williams
If the present committee is approved
See NSA Page 4

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 News Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Briggs Baugh, '48
Charles R. Fetter, '48
C. Hugh Klensch, '48
H. Russell Platt, '48
John H. Schafer, '48
Peter M. Thexton, '48

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

William R. Barney, Jr., '49
Seth M. Bidwell, '49
Jerry J. Cole, '49
Joseph F. Dorsey, '49
Russell B. Frost, '49
Edwin Kuh, '49
J. Edward Pawlick, '49
R. S. Taylor, '49

EDITORIAL STAFF

S. F. Blaschke, '50
K. V. X. Delany, '50
W. V. M. Fawcett, Jr., '50
R. Fowle, '50
J. B. Gibson, '50
J. G. Golding, '50
E. V. Gouinlock, '50
R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50
H. D. Mohring, '50
D. T. Roach, '50
S. Robinowitz, '50
J. B. Shepardon, '50
W. P. Stern, '50
P. W. Stites, '49
C. E. Utley, '49
H. Van Horne, '50
N. S. Wood, '50

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Acting Advertising Manager Edward L. Stackhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pallock, '49

BUSINESS STAFF

P. C. Graney, '49
R. P. Klopman, '49
R. A. LeCount, '49
T. H. Lichtenfels, '50
M. J. Murray, '50
J. S. Prescott, '50
J. M. Reid, '49
B. M. Sapiro, '48
A. R. Shay, '50
R. B. Stallworth, '48

ART BOARD

Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Felch, '48

VOL. LXI

OCTOBER 18, 1947

No. 5

Why We Pay

Many undergraduates have raised questions about the ticket and seating situation for the Amherst football game. There have been complaints voiced as to the price of tickets for those undergraduates choosing to sit in the reserve section of the grandstands; and there have been complaints by freshmen and sophomores being required to sit near the end of the field.

Because of a situation which appears every two years, when we have a home game with Amherst, there is nothing which can effectively be done to eliminate these complaints.

This year we are playing the first home game with Amherst in five years. That means that a larger group of alumni will be, and have already, applied for tickets. With the college enrollment at its present level, more parents than ever before want to see the game, in addition to the larger number of undergraduates who will attend.

Without the expenditure of several thousands of dollars, which the Athletic Council does not have to spare, the seating capacity cannot be increased to handle the overflow. Therefore, because of our obvious debt to the alumni and to the parents, it is necessary that a part of the undergraduate body be shunted to the end of the field. This has been done on a class basis, which is about the only fair way of handling the situation.

Since the Athletic Association just about breaks even financially by following their present policy as to ticket sale price, it is necessary that this policy be maintained. No one makes any money off of football admission rates, and there are many other colleges which do not give their undergraduates the break that we are getting. Things are far from ideal, but under the present circumstances, it is the best that can be done with the situation.

A Sanitation Problem

One of the most disgusting and disgraceful eyesores on the Williams College campus today is the restroom situation at Weston Field.

Numerous complaints have been registered about these toilet facilities. The only resemblance to a convenience appears to be a poor excuse for the old-fashioned "hole-in-board" apparatus. And there is no apparent difference in the calibre of the MEN'S and LADIES' accommodations. Both are outmoded and inadequate.

Houseparty and Homecoming weekends definitely do not create a very favorable impression upon those who are forced to make use of the washrooms in which people are unable to wash much less see what they are doing.

Mr. Walter Sheehan, director of athletics, in a statement this week, explained that something will be done about this deplorable situation as soon as funds permit. We feel that the problem is serious enough to warrant use of current funds.

Calendar

FRIDAY

7:30 p.m.: National Student Association meeting in 3 Griffin
8:00 p.m.: Football rally on Lab Campus.

SATURDAY

Yacht Club, Freshman Dingy Championship Preliminaries, away.
Yacht Club, U.S. Military Academy Sailing Club, away.
2:00 p.m.: Football, Bowdoin, Weston Field.
Afternoon: Soccer, University of Connecticut, away.
Freshman Football, RPI, home.
Freshman Soccer, Mt. Herman, away.
Freshman Cross Country, Mt. Herman, away.
8:00 p.m.: Football Benefit Dance, Lasell Gym, until midnight.

SUNDAY

Chapel Speaker: The Rev. Charles W. Gilkey, D.D., Dean of the Chapel, University of Chicago.

TUESDAY

Adelphic Union Meeting.
7:30 p.m.: IRC Meeting, 3 Griffin.

Communications

Editor, The RECORD:

I enclose a copy of a letter to Miss Osborne, whose friends would be very glad to see printed in the RECORD. As you know, Miss Osborne retired this past summer from her position as custodian of the Chapin Library. Years ago she studied under Mr. Harper, a dealer in rare books, through whom most of the books, especially those in the field of English and Americana, passed as they were acquired by Mr. Chapin.

Very sincerely,

Orle W. Long

Dear Miss Osborne:

It is unnecessary to say that your departure as Custodian of the Chapin Library has a special significance for me. After Mr. Chapin's death you were a continuing link in the close personal association I had with him and the formation of his library, and I felt strongly that you had carried out his wishes . . . as to what he wanted the Library to mean to Williams. It will be hard for the Trustees to find anyone to fill your place adequately.

In retiring, you can, however, feel that you have had an active and important part in guiding and administering one of the finest libraries ever given an institution in this country. Your reports, with their detailed accounts of adapting the Library's resources to student courses; your occasional contributions to "The Library" and to the American Bibliographical Society Papers; your translation of Haebler for the Grollier Club; and finally the Chapin Library Check List, are all enduring testimonies to your scholarship and the ideals Mr. Chapin stood for.

Sincerely yours,

Lathrop C. Harper

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

I could spit! What a lousy sheet is the Williams RECORD. And to think that I would have paid five dollars for it if I had subscribed! Right smack in the middle of the front page where decent law-abiding students couldn't fail to see it, is a statement praising the "liberal attitude" at Williams College. And this statement is quoted from the ravings of no other idiot than Henry Wallace. HENRY WALLACE! I could just spit.

I feel that it is only fair to warn Mr. Henry Wallace that he can never expect my vote if he runs for president. And if that doesn't discourage him from trying, I promise also my full and unqualified opposition. This whole thing may well turn out to be a tooth and nail struggle between the two of us. And a man his age may not even have his own teeth — which fact in itself cannot help but indicate the outcome.

Heartaches

Being tagged a "liberal" by Henry Wallace is probably a heart-rending experience to a good grass-roots American radical. The only comparable outrage would be that of a person labelled a "good conservative" by Gerald L. K. Smith or Elizabeth Dilling. It isn't that I don't like Henry Wallace — someone told me that he produced some very good corn. But then who couldn't, in Iowa?

Actually, "liberal" is an all-compassing term. There are liberals and liberals. One type of liberal wants to kill little pigs, build big dams, and spend lots of someone else's ill-gotten capitalistic millions. He becomes a New Deal Democrat. Admittedly this stage of liberalism is on the way out. Now it's no more fashionable to be a New Deal person than it is to be a whiz at whist.

No Bald Socialists

As it becomes more and more difficult for the New Deal addict to pick up an honest dollar, he goes through the stages of bureaucrat, economist, and finally college professor. The college professor is in the last stage of New Dealism, for as his hair grows longer he becomes a Socialist. Not every college professor becomes a Socialist, because some are bald.

When things become tougher, the Socialist lets his hair grow even longer, takes up bomb-throwing, and becomes a Communist. The intermediate stage in which one's hair is too long to brand one a Socialist, and one's aim is not good enough to deem one a Comrade, is the stage of the Henry Wallace "liberal". These are the people who find it difficult convincing Congress that their intentions are good. It's rather like convincing a man whom you are choking that it's all for his own good and that he'll be better off not having to breathe.

Retrospective Liberalism

The advanced stages of this disease result in what has been aptly termed (by me) "retrospective liberalism" in which the victim is so damned liberal that he wants to revert to a feudal system where the life of the citizen depends entirely upon the Leader. In his deluded mind, the "liberal" envisions himself as the Leader, so the ideal state of the "liberal" turns out to be one in which there are 135 million Leaders and no followers.

Well, comes the Revolution, and the New Deal-Socialist-Liberal-Communist brushes his locks from his dreamy eyes and becomes a Reactionary Republican to protect what he has gained from those damned "liberals" who are springing up all over the place and demanding some foolish thing like democracy or free competitive enterprise. And naturally he is done away with in some purge or other — which fate must surely await all Reactionary Republicans.

Reactionary Wallace

So the way I figure it — if Henry Wallace is smart he'll become a Reactionary right now. It will save him a lot of time and trouble. He can sit tight and wait until the cycle of revolutions comes around to him, and he can join it as a Republican and get killed in a purge anyway. And think how much fresher he'll be for having taken life easy while Senator Taft and those other up-and-coming radicals beat their brains out and become old and worn before they are killed.

Perhaps it is too much to hope that Mr. Wallace will accept my advice, so I am preparing battle. Believe me, if Henry Wallace intends running for president, he'll have to choose some party other than the Republican Party, because that's one place where I have influence. Maybe I've been too harsh on him — it may be that he's just trying to make a living. There's really good money in liberalism these days.

But despite Henry Wallace and the RECORD, one must not accuse Williams of having a "liberal attitude." In the first place the statement could hardly have been of great value in speeding the collection of Phinney's Phund. And besides there are too many nice boys at Williams to besmirch its fair name with the tag of "liberalism."

And what is more — everyone knows that no matter what a Williams man learns in college, he has a tremendous faculty for becoming perfectly normal after graduation.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL
AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

FAIRFIELDS FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

The Square Deal Store

HOWARD MOON, Proprietor

LIQUORS

WINES

BEER

FRUITS

GROCERIES

VEGETABLES

43 Spring St.

Williamstown

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

INSURANCE BROKERS

TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL: 498-RWILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED

ROUTE 2

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Friday.

2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.

3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.

4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

Saturday, October 25 Games

One Bottle Champagne at CAL KING'S

1.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Alabama	vs.	Georgia	<input type="checkbox"/>
2.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	Wesleyan	<input type="checkbox"/>
3.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
4.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Cornell	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
5.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Dartmouth	<input type="checkbox"/>
6.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Northwestern	vs.	Indiana	<input type="checkbox"/>
7.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Notre Dame	vs.	Iowa	<input type="checkbox"/>
8.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Navy	<input type="checkbox"/>
9.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Colgate	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
10.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Trinity	<input type="checkbox"/>

One Suit Cleaned at RUDNICK'S

1.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Alabama	vs.	Georgia	<input type="checkbox"/>
2.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	Wesleyan	<input type="checkbox"/>
3.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
4.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Cornell	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
5.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Dartmouth	<input type="checkbox"/>
6.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Northwestern	vs.	Indiana	<input type="checkbox"/>
7.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Notre Dame	vs.	Iowa	<input type="checkbox"/>
8.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Navy	<input type="checkbox"/>
9.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Colgate	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
10.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Trinity	<input type="checkbox"/>

Hopeful Ephs Meet Bowdoin

Football Team Seeks First Victory Today

spotty record, which doesn't give a true picture of the team's ability. Remember, underrated R.P.I. had a deceiving record of 2 losses as against no wins before last week.

Plagued by fumbles, which also troubled the Purple, the Bears dropped their first game 21-12 to Tufts, and then lost a heart-breaker to Mass. U., 7-6. These two contests shelved seven men who were unable to play last week, when Bowdoin outscored Amherst 8-6.

A breakdown of statistics of the Amherst defeat show by how much the Brunswick squad out-classed the Sabrinas. Bowdoin out-rushed Amherst 203 to 72 yards, clicked off 13 first downs to the Jeff's 8 and gained 56 yards in two passes as compared to Amherst's 55 yards in four completions. Bowdoin, previously rated for its passing attack, proved its running sound on Saturday and brings a well balanced offense to town today.

Solace may be found, however, in the injury bugaboo, another nemesis of the Purple eleven, which has pursued the Bears all season. Neither team will be at full strength this afternoon.

Comfort can also be found among the dusty accounts of the previous Williams-Bowdoin meetings. Since 1890, the Ephmen have triumphed eleven times, lost five times and tied five times.

With both squads riddled by injuries, the starting line-ups are a matter of guess work. For Williams, Frank Todd, Gene Derrmar and Bud Cool should all see action at the ends. John Clancy and "Hank" Lucas will be at tackle. Captain Gene Murphy and "Frog" Salmon at guards and Jim Lyons at center. Tackle Tom Leous is now off the injury list and should see service, also.

The Eph backfield poses even more uncertainties than last week. Bud Wilson and Vic Fuzak will be ready at quarterback with Bill Blanks and Dick Whitney at the halves. The fullback slot is still open with "Stu" Duffield and Pat Higgins, two of the squads best runners, benched with injuries.

Bowdoin's lineup is not much more certain. The ends will no doubt be Bill Ireland and Al Nicholson. Jim Sibson and Dougherty will be at tackles, Charlie Lovejoy and Vic Fortin, at guards, and Jim Draper, at center, should complete the forward wall. In the backfield, Burke, Doble, Pierce, and Williams, the quartet that started at Amherst, could well be the starters this afternoon.

Opponents' Schedule October 18

Middlebury vs. Coast Guard	Away
R.P.I. vs. Union	Away
Trinity vs. Hobart	Away
Wesleyan vs. Swarthmore	Home
Amherst vs. Colby	Away

J. Cole's 162 Tops Golfers In Qualifying

Field Of Eight Begins Individual Contests To Determine Champ

Combining scores of 80 and 82, Jerry Cole won the medal in the qualifying rounds of the fall golf tournament at the Taconic Golf Club last week.

Deadlocked for runner-up honors were Bucky Marchese and Kim Whitney with 163. Bill Burke and Larry Witten followed with 165. The flight of eight was rounded out by Dick Wells, Dick Heuer, and Bill Ward. A total of 166 was needed to make the championship division. Bill Rodie had identical rounds with Ward, but Ward got the last spot on a matching of cards.

First Round Matches Begin
To date two of the first round matches have been played. Jerry Cole downed Larry Witten 7 & 5 as Larry three-putted himself out of the tournament. And Bill Burke encountered the same difficulty as he blew a four hole lead to Bill Ward, losing one down. Burke won four of the first six holes as he fired six consecutive fours, but then his putter failed him and he began to miss two-footers. The other two matches will see Whitney against Heuer, the winner to meet Cole, and Marchese against Wells, the winner to oppose Ward.

Something new this year is the formation by Dick Baxter of a freshman flight, which should give Dick a good preview of the material, he will have to work with next spring. The freshmen pairings are: Rodie vs. Jeffrey, Frazier vs. Stone, Smith vs. Whaley and Wright vs. Windle. Championship qualifying scores:

Jerry Cole	80-82-162
Bucky Marchese	83-80-163
Kim Whitney	80-83-163
Bill Burke	84-81-164
Larry Witten	81-84-164
Dick Wells	81-85-165
Dick Heuer	82-85-167
Bill Ward	89-79-168

always been strongest in track, are piloted by Jack McGee, a veteran coach who has put several men on the U.S. Olympic teams in the past.

With Herb Chisholm still benched on doctor's orders, it is a almost sure bet that the same seven harriers who outsped RPI last week will run for Williams in the coming tilt — Bill Kelton, Kevin Delany, Paul Cook, Phil Collins, Ernie May, Willie Davis, and Ken Nelligan.

The freshman thincads, who were mauled 17-38 by the RPI yearlings in their opener, will probably fare no better when they take the field against Mt. Herman whom they will meet Saturday. With only eight men out for positions on a seven man squad, there just isn't too much talent to choose from.

Tennis Match Play Advances

Robinson, Schaaf Lead Palmer Wins Upset

The Annual Rockwood Tennis Tournament for the College Championship has reached the fourth round. To date the top two seeded players, Stu Robinson and Charlie Schaaf have had little trouble in advancing to the quarter-finals. In four matches so far Robinson has lost only five games.

Unseeded Dick Palmer has contributed the biggest upset of the tournament when he routed fifth seeded Ed Spencer 6-2, 6-1. Palmer, therefore, has established himself as the darkhorse of the tournament and should give fourth seeded Joe Takamine a good battle in their quarter final match.

Other matches have seen George Wright, seeded third, and Pat Humphreys, seeded eighth, also reach the quarter-final round with out much trouble.

Bowdoin Next For Williams Harriers

Kelton, Delaney Collins To Run On Saturday

Fresh from a 25-30 victory over RPI in their first meet of the season, the varsity cross country squad is rapidly whipping into shape for a contest with Bowdoin Saturday.

Daily workouts under the direction of coach Tony Plansky have been doing wonders for the thincads, and the time trials over the course show steady improvement. Nevertheless, Bowdoin will be a hard nut to crack, since the men from Maine, who have

WALDEN THEATRE

SUNDAY and MONDAY

CYNTHIA

Starring

ELIZABETH TAYLOR

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY THURSDAY

STAIRWAY TO HEAVEN

in TECHNICOLOR
ALL STAR CAST

FRIDAY and SATURDAY

CRY WOLF

with

ERROL FLYNN

BARBARA STANWYCK

Matinee - Sunday 2:15

Ford Owners!

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

In Ev'ry Play

by Seth Bidwell

Dear Sir:
I am really disappointed and disgusted — hence the first "letter to the editor" I have ever written.

Coming from a small Ohio town and having watched small college football since I was old enough to sit on my father's knee at the game, I have developed a keen sense of enjoyment in watching clean, fast, hard, win or lose football. On coming to Williams last year I hoped to see the same sort of interesting ball played here and I am sorry to say that I was sorely disappointed.

Last year the Ephmen were colorless, slow, and played ragged football. I have watched numerous high school teams which appeared to be better coached and played sharper, more up-to-date football. This year when I heard the team had adopted the "T" formation I hoped we would all get a chance to see smart, heads-up ball being played. The two games this year, which I have loyally trekked far to witness, have shown nothing to warrant this hope.

Let's wake up here at Williams and establish an athletic program that will warrant respect from our opponents instead of the laughs we now hear. Let's organize an athletic office that will try to foster school spirit and support for the team — not one that breaks down when more than one bus-load of freshmen desire to attend the Middlebury game. Let's turn out a well-coached eleven that will bring the same respect on the gridiron which Williams now holds in the classroom.

In short, Williams, let's get on the ball!

Sincerely,

Edgar Graef, Jr.

ED. I cannot endorse Ed Graef's letter as the feelings of the RECORD, however, my own feelings are very similar to Ed's when I note the following headlines of the RECORD which may be summarized as follows:

Wednesday, October 8. "Big Blue Trounces Purple"
Wednesday, October 15. "Big Red Swamps Purple"

I hope that the one next week won't read "Big White Crushes Purple." These teams were never such tough competition for Williams in the past, and if such is the case, the Ephmen's football jerseys won't any longer be Purple, but a wierd combination of colors very well ground in.

Was walking down the Street the other day, and ran into one of the cheer-leaders coming out of Salvy's with a new pair of white Bucks (that's shoes, that is) and as usual lacking any other conversation, remarked on how lucky he was to have the college paying for his attire now-a-days. "Like - - -", he says to me, "these jobs put me back eleven bucks, and on top a dat, I gotta keep'em white." Obviously, noticing that his diction was of the best variety associated with "the dandy little school in the Berkshires," as one of my colleagues is so fond of calling Williams, I immediately figured that he would be an excellent cheerleader, and remarked that for his efforts the college should be at least willing to expend a little dough for the cheerleaders.

Was wondering how it was figured that Art Beard of RPI, who ran around Williams' backfield last Saturday, was allowed to play when he already has a degree from RPI.

Soccer Team Prepares For Connecticut U

Freshmen Open Season Against Mt. Hermon With Strong Eleven

by Norden Van Horne

Coach Ed Bullock's eleven is on the road again this Saturday, encountering a formidable University of Connecticut squad at Storrs. After last week's 3-2 upset at the hands of the University of Massachusetts, the team is eager to return to the win side of the ledger once more.

The purple booters have been scrimaging Clarence Chaffee's spirited Frosh outfit this week in an effort to overcome the haphazard brand of soccer exhibited at Amherst a week ago. It can't be denied that on paper the team isn't a strong offensive unit, but when on the field they lack the aggressiveness and spirit necessary for a good record when the season closes.

Line-up May Be Switched

As "Uncle Ed" remarked, "I should have used the J.V.'s." That is of course to be taken with a grain of salt, but it might very well mean that no one person has a position "cinched." As the situation now stands, any player showing ability and spirit could be promoted to the varsity squad without any hesitation.

Connecticut recently enjoyed an 8-1 victory over Tufts and they, although beaten by the Purple last year, promise to put up a top notch soccer team on the field. Win or lose, if the team can display a fighting spirit and will to win, it will be a vast improvement over last week. On the other hand if sloppy play is again evident, you can look for some changes in the line-up when the team plays Springfield a week from now. See SOCCER Page 4

And in 20 great universities, too—it's the pen preferred above all others!

Parker "51"

world's most wanted pen

● Recently, the seniors in leading universities voted Parker more wanted than the next 3 makes of pens combined. Here's added evidence of the tremendous Parker popularity which has already been proved in 77 surveys in 29 countries. ● The reason for such popularity is simple. In your hand, the "51" balances with eager, handsome poise. It starts instantly—and writes with light and pressureless touch. So smooth. Precision-made, only the "51" is designed for satisfactory use with new Parker Superchrome—the super-brilliant, super-permanent ink that writes dry! ● See the "51" today. Choice of custom points and smart colors. $12.50; $15.00. Pencils, $5.00; $7.50. Sets, $17.50 to $80.00. Parker V-S Pens, $8.75. Pencils, $4.00. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin, U. S. A., and Toronto, Canada.

$25 CASH GIVEN AWAY—for interesting, true stories about Parker "51" Pens. Base it on your own G. I. experience—or relate what happened to some friend. $25.00 for each story used. Just report the facts. Stories are judged on facts alone. All letters become our property—cannot be returned. Address: The Parker Pen Company, Dept. CN-47, Janesville, Wis.

(Cop. 1947 by The Parker Pen Company)

"51" writes dry with wet ink!

"I go all out for Dentyne Chewing Gum!"

"Excuse it, please—but I'll come flying anytime anybody offers me Dentyne Chewing Gum! That clean-tasting, long-lasting flavor is out of this world, and Dentyne sure helps keep teeth white."

Dentyne Gum—Made Only by Adams

Wyckoff Sends Job Placement Questionnaire

Director Asserts Half Graduates Leave Here Unassured Of Future

The Placement Bureau has sent out questionnaires to all members of the Junior Class which must be returned by October 22. Placement Director William O. Wyckoff, '14, announced. He will hold interviews with every junior during the next month.

"In a year and a half," said Mr. Wyckoff, "fellows now in their junior year will be out on their own, and it's time they started thinking of what they are going to do."

According to past records, nearly half of every class has no assurance of a job upon graduation, and in many cases has had no idea of what field he wants to follow. The purpose of the questionnaires and interviews to be held from now until Thanksgiving is to help such fellows decide which vocation they will take up."

Director To Attend Meeting

On November 6 Mr. Wyckoff will attend a three day meeting in Albany of the Eastern College Personal Officers where he is to run a panel. This organization is composed of personnel officers of business firms as well as college placement directors. One hundred and fifty men and women will be present.

The director recently returned from a field trip to several eastern cities where he interviewed heads and personnel officers of various schools and business regarding openings for Williams men — alumni and undergraduates in their senior year. Information concerning jobs gathered on these trips and notices sent him by job sources Mr. Wyckoff sends on to men registered with the Placement Bureau.

Soccer - - -

Saturday.

Fresh Season Opens

A united and spirited Freshman team will open their season this Saturday against Mt. Hermon on the opponents field. The team has looked very good in many scrimmages against the Varsity squad and should put up a determined fight in their initial encounter. It is too early to say anything about their Little Three chances but Coach Chaffee having copped it last year, would like nothing better than to repeat. He has several promising players in Milford Lester goalie, Roger Dickerson, right half and George Mueller right inside, around whom he can build a strong team.

NSA - - -

proved at the campus referendum it will attempt to have the Regional periodical published on this campus in order to acquaint the college with the organization and to have the opinions of Williams heard at places other than Williams College.

Another idea which the committee plans to promote at the present time is the construction of a Student Union building. The NSA will provide accurate, practical information from colleges the same size as Williams concerning the construction, maintenance and organization of such a campus structure.

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corono
Underwood
Royal

Lamb's
STATIONERY STORE

108 Main Street
North Adams

Riot - - -

"A" entry. Again the fire hoses went to work, and the drenched maulers mauled some more.

A sadistic freshman, name unknown, declared in a loud voice that he was a sophomore, thus drawing men from both camps to the scene where another skirmish quickly cropped out. In still another sector, a helpless freshman lay on the stairway as his comrades trampled over him in a vicious counter-attack.

Armistice

As befuddled JA's tore out their hair, the battle subsided only when Mr. Sheehan appeared on the scene. Eye witnesses claim that despite the fact that they were outnumbered the Sophs performed admirably. Both groups acquired their shares of missing teeth and muscle strains.

The smoke of battle has cleared, and quiet reigns once again in the land of the youngsters. But there are some who won't soon forget. For example, the lad who was caught redhanded with the fire hose, the surprised person that found his room swamped in 18 inches of water, or the unfortunate who are missing ivory from their jaws. The alleged JA instigator never did turn up.

Dean Keep - - -

kind of work required a full-time administrator to leave faculty members who had done these things in the past more time for their own courses.

The meeting of President Baxter and Mr. Keep last summer seemed the happy solution to the situation. Mr. Keep was the pre-war Headmaster of the Berkshire School, where he had much first-hand contact with the academic problems of school-boys. He was well accustomed to the responsibility of what he terms "helping adjust the program to the individual and the individual to the program."

Wrote Military History

Called to the colors (i.e. drafted) in 1943, Mr. Keep served briefly with the Signal Corps and Military Intelligence. A year later he was commissioned and transferred to the Historical division, which was founded by Mr. Baxter.

Shortly before the end of hostilities in the Pacific, Lt. Keep was sent to that theatre of operations as Historical Officer with the First Information and Historical Service attached to the XXIVth Corps. After the Japanese surrender he went to Korea, where he became Commanding Officer of the First I. and H. Sv. with the Official title of "Historian USAFIK", and was a member of the Headquarters Staff of Lieutenant-General.

Studied at Princeton

Mr. Keep was born in Chicago, where he spent most of his childhood. Two years prior to World War I he travelled extensively through Western Europe, returning for his preparatory education which he completed at the Berkshire School in 1924. He received his Bachelor's degree in history at Princeton in 1928, and returned to the Berkshire School where he taught history for three years.

He left again for Princeton in 1931 for graduate work in history and received his Master's degree in 1932. He was made Assistant Headmaster of Berkshire in 1936 and in 1942 he became Headmaster.

Six Seniors Elected To Phi Beta Kappa

The Phi Beta Kappa Society has elected six new members from the Senior class this term: Robert E. Cornwell, Jr., IRC member; Purple Cow Chairman Robert C. Gleckner; Burton M. Sapero, WMS staff member; Robert L. Nelson; and Francis C. Stokes, Secretary of the Outing Club, and R. Rhett Austell, Jr., Managing Editor of the Record.

The Massachusetts Gamma of Phi Beta Kappa, established at Williams in 1864, elects its members from the upper fourteenth of the junior and senior classes. Juniors must have an average of eleven A's above B, while seniors may be elected with eight A's above B.

WOC Suggests Greylock Hike

Members of the Williams Outing Club made plans, last Monday evening, for an outing with Bennington on October 25. They also discussed arrangements for a Williams Winter Carnival, early next term. The club has recently put out a trail map-guide showing all the trails in this area.

Details for the Bennington outing are uncertain, but one of the suggestions was climbing Mt. Greylock. This will be the first of a series of outings planned with nearby girls' colleges. The Winter Carnival date is also unknown but it is tentatively slated for the second weekend in the winter term, weather permitting. This will be the first Williams Winter Carnival since the war.

Keeping Trails Clear

The WOC had been busy this fall keeping the Appalachian Mountain Trail and other adjoining trails in this vicinity clear. The club is only one of many which helps the Appalachian Mountain Club to patrol. The trail guide which the WOC has issued shows all the trails in this area, and contains other information interesting to outdoorsmen.

The Trails Committee will hold a meeting, next Thursday night, in 3 Griffin Hall. The guide which the Committee has made up will be given to all members of the Outing Club, or can be obtained at Bastien's on Spring Street.

Reserved Seats - - -

classes who plan to take dates can get reserved seats at $4.50 a pair by placing their order through their social unit. Hank Flynt will be in the conference room in the gymnasium to take reservations from 10:30 a.m. to noon every day.

Record Notice

A brief orientation meeting for all RECORD editorial staff compets will be held in Jesup Hall offices Monday evening, October 20, at 7:15.

THE GYM LUNCH

We do our best to give prompt, friendly service and the kind of food YOU like!!!

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service to . . .

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.
On Sale at 5 p.m. on all Williamstown Newstands

Raise Despres Allen Barnett One Grade

Promote Foote, Stoddard To Associate Level

The promotions of three faculty members to full professorships and of two more to associate professorships were announced at the close of last weekend's trustees meeting. In addition announcement of two new appointments to the faculty was made.

Effective July 1, 1948, Robert J. Allen will be promoted to professor of English, Vincent M. Barnett will be professor of Political Science, and Emile Despres will be professor of Economics. Freeman Foote was promoted to associate professor of Geology and Whitney S. Stoddard to associate professor of art.

New Religion Professor

The Trustees also appointed John A. Hutchinson to the newly created Cluett Professorship of Religion. After a year's study at Edinburgh and Basel Professor Hutchinson will join the faculty next July 1. He graduated from Lafayette College in 1932 and later received his B.D. from Union Theological Seminary and his Star-seekers - - -

did one time."

Signs of a Lost Generation

The ensuing interview was confusing to both parties, but the gist of it was that no one knew exactly how Mountain Day began, and some were even vague on why it was called "Mountain Day." Mary was forced to admit that occasionally a girl actually did scramble to the peaks, but she was ever after regarded on the campus with some suspicion.

"Ah!" we cried, "there are a few then, a few who seek pastoral peace in the hills! Tell us, which is the favorite mountain? Which furnishes the soul with the grandest fulfillment, Mt. Tom or Mt. Holyoke?"

She looked demurely at the floor.

"Greylock is the best mountain now," she said.

"But dear girl—surely there's a limit to the distance you may go to climb a mountain!"

She leered suggestively.

"Smith girls can go as far as they want."

That concluded the interview.

Ph.D. from Columbia.

Also newly appointed to the faculty this fall is Chandler Morse as associate professor of Economics.

Marshall Plan - - -

Schuman opinion. "If production can be raised, the European crisis will be lessened. I do not agree with Dr. Schuman's fallurism," he said.

Origin of Crisis

The slow recovery of Europe which necessitated the Marshall Plan was caused by heavy frosts and floods, the failure of exports to increase, a dollar shortage, the high cost of American imports and the failure of Germany to recover as completely as had been expected, according to Professor Johnson. With long term assistance, and a greater degree of self help, he felt, Europe would be able to reach an economic status quo with the rest of the world.

Dr. Schuman again completely disagreed. Western Europe could not be restored to an economic par by 1952 with any sum of money, he said, since the fundamental problem is not of the here and now, but rather a development of the industrial growth of Europe during the nineteenth century. The problem could only be solved by an attempt to increase living standards throughout the world through free trade and unrestricted immigration. Since the nations of the world are unwilling to do this, he stated, the problem is hopeless.

"ALL MY FRIENDS KNOW CHESTERFIELD IS MY BRAND"

Rita Hayworth

STAR OF COLUMBIA'S TECHNICOLOR PRODUCTION "DOWN TO EARTH"

CHESTERFIELD

Always Buy

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

The sum-total of smoking pleasure

THEY SATISFY

Copyright 1947, LUGGOTT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1947

No. 6

SAC Declares Blotters Cause Loss Of Ads

Hurt Cow And Record By Local Soliciting Using College Name

Promoters Irked At SAC Accusation

Claim Free Enterprise Impaired at Williams

"It was not a question of whether one blotter or two should be sanctioned on campus," declared H. H. Kellogg, '48, chairman of the SAC, last Friday in a statement to the Record, "but whether any at all should have the privilege of using the college name and reputation in soliciting advertisements in the area." The SAC has decided that there is not room for the blotters because they drain the supply of advertising and "perform no useful service to the college."

Edward Rogers, '50, publisher of the gold and purple blotter, Walter Olesen, '49, and Charles R. Fetter, '48, owners of the green blotter business, are united in their indignation at the SAC's plan to blackball them in the Williamstown - Pittsfield - North Adams field of advertising, if not united on the finer points of what constitutes a good blotter.

To Blackball Blotters

The plan which the SAC presented at the Monday UC meeting would give to advertisers in the area a list of campus publications and a plea that they buy ads from no college activity that is not on the list. The blotters will be excluded from the list.

"Free enterprise," cry the blotter men, "is being impaired!" Says Rogers: "That students have the right to make money is basic. Do the men on the PURPLE COW and RECORD expect to sit and let the ads come to them, or will they really get out and plug their publications?"

Kellogg answers first of all that the blotter people spend only a few days of concentrated effort and then rest on their profits for

See SAC Page 2

Student Feds Form Chapter For Williams

Barnett States World Government Needed But Time Is Short

Speaking at last Thursday's organizational meeting of the Williams chapter of the Student Federalists, an international organization advocating world federal government, Professor Vincent Barnett asserted "the present world community is politically bankrupt and its future in jeopardy."

He added, "the time we have to achieve world government I am afraid is quite short; the need, I am sure, is overwhelming. Professor Barnett is faculty advisor to the group, which, although new on the campus, has become a familiar one at a great many other colleges.

The thirty-three students present at the first meeting will form the nucleus of a larger group dedicated to educating the residents of the First Congressional District of Massachusetts in the practical advantages of world federalism.

Plans for the immediate future call for the training of speakers to address local schools and civic groups, a raffle to raise money to finance its activities, and the gaining of 150 active members on campus.

Be It Ever So Humble

Photo by Williams Photo Service

Dean Brooks Turns Carpenter Weds Cape And Swiss Styles

Hopes To Finish Job On House By Spring If Shortages Allow

Dean Robert R. R. Brooks, with the able cooperation of his family, is personally building himself a new home, just off Route 7 a mile south of Williamstown. The enterprise, in full swing since the middle of June, has progressed without professional aid from any architects, engineers or day laborers, except in a consulting capacity.

Culling knowledge from experts and reading, Dean Brooks is constructing his future domicile in a secluded and beautiful location a hundred and fifty yards up the Bee Hill Road from where it meets Route 7. With a pressing need for a home as a motive and a clear idea of his family's personal requirements in mind Dean Brooks has devoted much energy to the undertaking and expects to have the modern, one story house ready for habitation next spring.

One Story House

A compatible cross between a Cape Cod dwelling and a Swiss chalet, the building incorporates the best features of modern architecture with conventional structural methods. There are a large living room, 24' x 28', 5 bedrooms and 2 baths on the one and only floor. Excavations were made to allow for a basement which contains a playroom, under the living room, and a two car garage and ample storage space.

The building, being constructed exclusively by the Brooks family with the aid of certain students and faculty members pressed into service, features a low angle roof line with overhanging eaves. A good deal of wall area will be composed of plate glass, which will disappear into the frame of the house, and the floors will be equipped with structural radiant heating.

Adapted to Environment

During the summer and fall Brooks has spent all his spare time away from the Dean's desk on the project, working early in the morning and late in the evening. The house, which grew from the inside out, has been well adapted to its environment. The basement, constructed at three different levels, conforms to the slope of the hill upon which it sits.

This slope facilitates drainage. See BROOKS Page 2

Elections Tonight In Goodrich And Chapin

The election of class officers will be held tonight, at 7:30, with seniors meeting in Jesup, juniors in Goodrich and sophomores in Chapin.

All classes will elect a president and secretary. In addition, seniors will choose two honor system representatives and two men for the Tyng Scholarship Committee.

Besides the president and secretary, juniors will select an additional honor system representative. All officers of the three classes will serve on the honor system committee and the presidents will be members of the Undergraduate Council.

Cole And Warner Win Football Pool

Outguess 74 Entrants; Pick Eight Winners

Jerry Cole, '49, and Richard Warner, '48, outguessed seventy-four other entrants in the RECORD football pool based on the outcome of ten games played last Saturday, each picking eight winners.

One deck of "Duratone Plastic Playing Cards Beautifully Engraved" from Irene's Gift Shop goes to Cole, and Warner is claimant of one shirt from the Williams Co-op.

Sectional sports propaganda fooled the majority of contestants, most of whom picked Yale to beat Wisconsin. Vanderbilt upset Kentucky contrary to the expectations of most entries. Other entries guessed the same number of winners as Cole and Warner, but these two were the first to turn in blanks.

Eph Gridmen Toppled By Bowdoin Eleven, 14-0

HP Will Draw Campus-Wide Participation

Glee Club Sees Biggest And Best Fall Party In Williams History

"The Fall Houseparty Dance on Friday evening, October 31, will be a huge success," say Committee co-chairmen Hugo S. Higbie, '48, and Charles R. Fetter, '48, "one of the biggest and best in the history of Williams College." They attribute their confidence to an extra-large student enrollment, lots of college spirit, a famous young "DANCE-band", no Saturday classes, and an active college-wide participation in line with the main theme of SONG.

With the theme of SONG as a background, Higbie has talked to the Social Chairman of all social units about elaborate individual displays by each house representing any song of their choice. These displays will be set up on the front lawns of the houses and allow for a wide range of imagination and ingenuity in their design. The Glee Club, Dance sponsors, will award prizes for the several best displays. It is hoped that the social units decorate their bars and dance floors similarly in line with the main theme.

As the Dean's Office has cut Saturday classes, Friday evening is expected to be a real night of excitement, partying, and romance. Almost everybody will be going to the Dance, on and off throughout the evening. A great many students already have dates for the week-end, and many more are getting lined up as the big weekend approaches. Decorations for both the large and small gyms will be elaborate and in keeping with the main theme of SONG, rather than the original one of Halloween which left too little for the imagination.

A professional decorating firm, which has had wide experience among Eastern colleges, will completely disguise both gyms, making

See HOUSEPARTIES Page 2

Williams Student Relates Wartime Experiences In Allied Military Government

[This is the first of two interviews with Roger Ernst '48 telling of his work and observations with the AMG in Europe]

Roger Ernst, Williams '48 has a rare story to tell about the inner functions of the American Military Government in Germany. He was connected with the AMG for more than three years, and held, at one time, the job of Assistant Secretariat within the four-power council in Berlin.

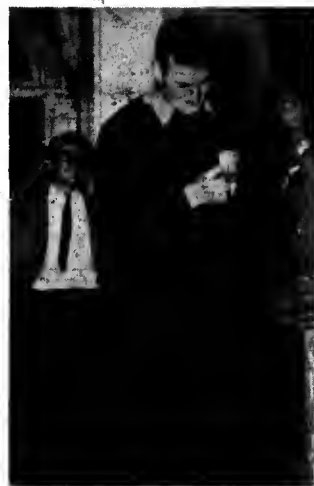

Ernst's four-and-a-half year army career began in ASTP at the University of Maryland early in 1943. The courses which he took there were designed to give a full picture of Germany, past, present and future, and his studies (German language, geography, geology, and politics) were invaluable to him in his later activities within the country itself. When ASTP disbanded in March, 1944, Ernst was assigned to a "German Country Unit," composed of British and American troops. These men were developing joint plans for military government in Germany, to be put into operation when the war was over.

Dealt With Vast Problems

An enlisted man in a staff of four officers and five GI's, Ernst worked on the problem of coordinating the widespread government departments (Displaced Persons, Manpower, Reparations, and others,) outlining policies, and producing the AMG Handbook — bible for the occupation government. His office also worked on fixing the joint four-power policies of de-nazification, and drew up an amazing map of the German political "chain of command"

The map was vitally important to the answer of the knotty government-administration problem. AMG authorities saw that it would be impossible to govern all of occupied Germany without a great deal of help from the Nazi politicians who had been doing it; they needed enormous technical aid without, of course, interference in matters of policy. The map showed all the Germans who had done anything in politics, what they had done and where. It enabled the AMG to develop an orderly plan of government and to figure out where the various politicians would do the

See ERNST Page 2

Murph addresses Friday rally with Twit and Newt in background.

Williams Photo Service

Females Flock To Rally, Game

Pep Rally Addressed By Darling, Dean Brooks

Hundreds of girls, who were lured to Williamstown last weekend for the first home social function of the year, saw the Ephmen go down to a 14-0 defeat at the hands of Bowdoin.

The houseparty-training weekend was also sparked by a sparsely attended football rally Friday night and a football benefit-dance Saturday night.

Only half of the $300 training-table deficit was earned at the Saturday night dance but the Purple Key members are already devising ways to raise the other $150.

Purple Knights Play

The Purple Knights Sextet provided the music for the dance from 8 to midnight, while the first public screening of last year's victory over Amherst spotlighted a continuous showing of famous Williams football movies.

An estimated 250 people attended the pep rally sponsored by the Gargoyle Society and led by Charles Schmidt, '48. A sound truck went up fraternity row but not many responded to its invitation to attend the rally.

The football band, the Glee Club, and the cheerleaders all led the crowd in its cheering for the team; while the team responded through a speech by its captain, Eugene Murphy, '48.

See FEMALES Page 1

Full Cuts Asked For Athletic Trip

Referred To Faculty And UC Committees

The Undergraduate Council has recommended that absences be excused which result from athletic trips or any activity in which a student represents the college. This proposal has been referred to the Athletic Committee of the faculty and the Study Committee of the Undergraduate Council for study and report back.

The Dean's Office also announced, under instruction from the Committee on Educational Policy, that any student who wishes to attend an advance section of a multi-section course may make arrangements with the Director of Athletics to do so. That is so that anyone making an athletic trip can avoid taking an absence and missing the class work in a course.

Costly Foibles Spell Season's Third Defeat

Magnificent Line Play Stops Bears' Attack; Pass Defense Poor

Scoring Drives Fall Short Of Goal Line

Tallies In Second Half Break Scoreless Tie

by Stu Robinowitz

The victory-starved Williams gridmen went hungry again Saturday afternoon.

This time it was the grizzly Polar Bears from Bowdoin who took home the bacon and the victory by scoring twice in the last half to break a scoreless tie and win 14 to 0 to the disappointment of a sunbaked crowd at Weston Field.

In their first home game, the Ephmen followed the same script, which cost them triumphs to Middlebury and RPI, by generally out-playing their rivals in the first half, only to fall victim to their old fumbling habits. These fumbles combined with a feeble passing offense and defense once again spelled doom for the Purple.

Defensively and offensively the Williams line played magnificently opening up huge holes for the Eph backs and stymying the Bowdoin ground attack. Frank Todd, playing brilliantly at left end, crashed through repeatedly to throw Bowdoin ball-carriers for losses. Taking advantage of this fine play up front, the backs, especially Royer Collins and Dick Whitney, relied almost solely on power plays off tackle and gained consistently. The lack of good passing, which would have loosened up the Bear's defense, and of adequate aerial protection hurt the Williams' chances.

For approximately two and a half quarters the Purple played inspired ball, dominated most of the play and seemed on the verge of breaking a three-week-old victory famine. Then midway in the third period Bowdoin recovered a fumble on the Eph thirty-yard and capitalized on this Williams error by scoring on a pass eight yards later. Within a matter of minutes they added another seven points, recovering a missed punt in the Purple endzone. That was the game.

Both teams were guilty of fumbling, but the Williams miscues came at more inopportune moments. Twice Coach Snively's men were unable to hang on to the ball within the enemy's twenty-five and another fumble which they managed to recover cost them yardage and a probable touchdown on Bowdoin's five yard line. Moreover, it was an Eph fumble that led directly to the Bears' first score.

Williams kicked off to start the game, and a quick exchange of punts netted the visitors five yards. Both teams were forced to kick again shortly with Williams picking up twenty-three yards on this exchange. The quarter ended with the Ephmen down on Bowdoin's eighteen-yard stripe via some hard running by Whitney. After returning a punt ten yards to the Bowdoin forty, the left halfback went thirteen yards on a hand-off from quarterback, Vic Fuzak, to the twenty-seven. The period ended two plays later with the ball on the eighteen.

Coach Snively's charges moved

See FOOTBALL Page 3

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUBEN, '48 News Editor
JOSHUA T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Briggs Baugh, '48
Charles R. Fetter, '48
C. Hugh Klensch, '48
H. Russell Platt, '48
John H. Schofer, '48
Peter M. Thexton, '48

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

William R. Borney, Jr., '49
Seth M. Bidwell, '49
Jerry J. Cole, '49
Joseph F. Dorsey, '49
Russell B. Frast, '49
Edwin Kuh, '49
J. Edward Pawlick, '49
R. S. Taylor, '49

EDITORIAL STAFF

S. F. Blaschke, '50
K. V. X. Delony, '50
W. V. M. Fawcett, Jr., '50
R. Fowle, '50
J. B. Gibson, '50
J. G. Golding, '50
E. V. Gauinlock, '50
R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50
H. D. Mohring, '50
D. T. Raach, '50
S. Robinson, '50
J. B. Shepardson, '50
W. P. Stern, '50
P. W. Stites, '49
C. E. Utley, '49
H. Von Horne, '50
N. S. Wood, '50

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Acting Advertising Manager Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollack, '49

BUSINESS STAFF

P. C. Groney, '49
R. P. Klopman, '49
R. A. LeCount, '49
T. H. Lichtenfels, '50
M. J. Murray, '50
J. S. Prescott, '50
J. M. Reid, '49
B. M. Sopira, '48
A. R. Shay, '50
R. B. Stollworth, '48

ART BOARD

Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Felch, '48

VOL. LXI OCTOBER 22, 1947 No. 6

Heave Ho

[The ensuing comments are intended primarily for freshmen and sophomores only, but all are welcome if they see fit.]

If the law of the Dean of Freshmen holds true to form, the frosh-soph riot has already taken place. True, it was only a minor fracas in the quad last Tuesday, but judging from "appearances", and who made them, the annual riot may now be spoken of in the past tense. Last year a similar disturbance, although of an equally mild nature, was decreed to have been the annual riot. Any recurrences were to be punishable.

It is indeed regrettable that more was not made of the opportunity. In pre-war days things of that nature were much better organized. Of course there was much more damage, but the satisfaction of a job well done was correspondingly greater. Meetings were held, times arranged, and Junior Advisors advised to be absent, that is if they did not participate in the actual organization.

LOOSE YOUR PASSIONS

But there is no use crying over spoiled riots. Rather let us turn our attention to somehow rectifying an admittedly bad situation. At this time of year the waters of the Green River are considered to be rather cold. If either the freshmen or the sophomores have any pent-up passions about their frustrated riot, why not take them out in a tug-of-war across the river.

Such an affair is not without precedent. Long ago it used to be an annual Williams custom, but it went the way of the Cane Rush (during which much damage was done, both personal and property), and for somewhat the same reasons. It seems that one year the sophs were losing a hard fought battle and in danger of getting wet. So they tied their end of the rope to a nearby bridge. The freshmen, not to be outdone, succeeded in pulling down the bridge.

THE "REVENGE" PLATFORM

Since the victorious class in such a tug-of-war should have all possible acclaim, and the losers be thoroughly shamed, what better time is there to renew this age-old tradition than November 1, Houseparty Weekend, on Saturday morning about 11 a.m. A very slight monetary contribution from each member of both classes would be enough to purchase a stout rope. This rope could then be passed on from class to class until it breaks, or, if so desired, could be portioned out to the victors as trophies. The RECORD board would be willing to act as unbiased judges.

Before long class elections will be held. Freshmen and Sophomores, make sure your officers are elected on the "Revenge Through A Tug-Of-War" Platform. And make sure that, once elected, they toe the mark, so that you can tug the rope.

Calendar

WEDNESDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football.
Phi Delt vs KA
Beta vs Psi U
Chi Psi vs Phi Sig
Delta Psi vs Zeta Psi

THURSDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football.
Delta Phi vs Theta Delt
Garfield vs Sigma Phi
Alpha Delt vs Phi Gamm
DU vs DKE

FRIDAY

8:30 p.m. Women's Faculty Club presents a new version of Alice in Wonderland at the Adams Memorial Theatre.

SATURDAY

Afternoon: Varsity Football, Trinity, away.

2:00 p.m. Varsity Soccer, Springfield, Cole Field.
2:00 p.m. Freshman Soccer, Wesleyan, Cole Field.
2:00 p.m. Freshman Football, Wesleyan, Cole Field.
3:30 p.m. Alice in Wonderland
Varsity Cross Country, University of Vermont, Away.

Houseparties - - -

ing sure to give an air of spaciousness to the ballroom. Besides a huge evening-blue "sky" hung from the ceiling, decorations will feature in the large gym about eight "Songs of Williams" in lighted displays around the dance floor. Behind the band-stand will hang a large Royal Purple "blanket", with a ten-foot gold W imprinter on it.

At the East end of the dance floor, low in the "sky", will be a large yellow Harvest Moon, echoing the full moon outside which the Almanac forecasts for that evening.

In the small gym, instead of Williams Songs, the decorations will feature large displays of off-sung and well known drinking songs, with decorative beer-mugs interspersed. At the end of the gym, a bar serving Coke, cider, gingerale, and other soft drinks will stretch the full width of the gym to avoid congestion during intermissions. Completely around the outside of the small gym there will be small tables for partying during intermissions and throughout the evening.

In the upstairs gym, there will be a large check-room featuring a pretty hat check girl. This gym will also be discreetly hidden by a large drape to give a handsome "night-club" appearance. Besides this service, there will be a photographer on hand to take pictures of groups and couples for souvenirs of the weekend.

The Main Street entrance to the large gym will be brought out by flood-lighting and a large canopy extending some ways out above the side-walk. It is urged that everyone come in this way so that his date may better appreciate the spectacle of the decorations and Sam Donahue's famous band from this best view.

Door prizes "of good souvenir value" will be awarded during intermissions, so numbered ticket stubs should be kept. It is hoped that Williamstown merchants will cooperate by donating these prizes.

Despite the risk of such a Dance increasing costs, and the niring of the most promising young bands in the country, the price will remain, as in the past, at $4.80 a couple including tax and $2.40 for stags. Tickets and invitations may be obtained ahead of time from social unit representatives, any Glee Club member, and Bastien's. They may be had also, of course, at the door. Because of the nature of this Dance, a policy of "No Crashing" will be strictly and efficiently enforced.

Ernst - - -

most good, long before hostilities ended. At this time, in 1944, Ernst was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant.

Nazis Threatened, Evacuate

In the winter of 1944-45, U.S. Intelligence reported that the Germans were evacuating their government. This would be the equivalent of taking U.S. Departments of State, Interior, etc. and spreading them all over the country. AMG had to locate these documents and personnel before any efficient government possibly could be set up.

Ernst, with several other officers, followed all available leads and finally, after a search that lasted from May until August, turned up in the Bavarian Alps with 350 boxcars filled with documents, and 1200 civil service employees who ranged from the Under-Secretary of State down to his office boy.

Records Examined

The documents represented 60% of all government records, and they told the "other half" of the story on all the treaties, pacts, etc. which the Nazis had made since their ascension. These papers, which are still being examined gave information important both in the war with the Japanese, and in the prosecution of the Nuremberg Trials. However, they proved inoperative as a basis for the four-power government in Germany.

After the Potsdam Conference, Ernst, who had been in London, was sent to Berlin and made Assistant to the U.S. Secretariat in the four-power control council. This council had ten subordinate four-power directorates which covered all main fields of government, such as Education, Agriculture, etc. The directorates, in their turn, were in charge of 150 more four-part organs of government, and the windows are located so as to receive a maximum amount of sunlight, the playroom windows being exposed at the lower end of the slope.

Brooks - - -

A Personalized Home

The home is also well adapted to the Brooks' personal tastes and requirements. The playroom is sufficiently large to accommodate 4 squares of dancing. There is a fine view extending about nine miles.

The project has not progressed without certain practical difficulties, however. Lack of nails has been a pitfall, and metals and glass have proved to be scarce items. Special hollow beams had to be developed to support the main room's large floor space, and many other such structural problems had to be met.

Work Progressing Well

A well mapped schedule has been followed since the Brooks family first began the initial concrete forms in the latter half of June. The structure's walls are nearly completed and Dean Brooks is now cutting rafters in order to have a roof over the floor by the middle of next month. When completed the new dwelling will combine the advantages of a magnificent view, a secluded location, a personalized home and only a two minute drive from the location to the heart of Williamstown.

Whitney Stoddard, Assistant Professor of Art and the faculty's authority on modern architecture, was very enthusiastic about anyone possessing the "audacity and ability to attempt such an undertaking." He commented on the excellent view, to north and south, of Greylock, Pine Cobble, the Dome and other hills, and characterized the building as having an excellent basic plan.

SAC - - -

the remainder of the term. Secondly, he says that the first issues of the RECORD and COW have suffered because certain Spring Street storekeepers told them they had already given their ad funds to the blotters. "Also," remarked Kellogg, "I have heard that the blotters are not being used and that many are stacked on the floors of dormitory entries." When reminded of the blotters' claim, in reply to the "no useful service to the college" accusation, that college sport and activity schedules had been given as much as 30% of ad space on one of the blotters, Kellogg declared "I have not noticed that."

"Williams" Printed on One

Rogers spent time intermittently throughout the summer working on his blotter which is the more ornamental of the two, but which has far fewer ads. It has "Williams" printed diagonally down the front, the college seal and an illustration of the verse, "I never saw a purple cow." Fetter and Olesen spent but four days working on the make-up and soliciting ads for their blotter, which is green, a color that reduces eyestrain. Each publisher claims that his blotter is the best buy.

Fetter is a member of the SAC himself and voted for the resolution that the blotters be discouraged, because: "At that time I had supposed that the staffs of other publications had been working as diligently and efficiently as they were able to obtain local . . . and to increase national advertising . . . Believing this, I felt that no profit making organization should threaten their existence."

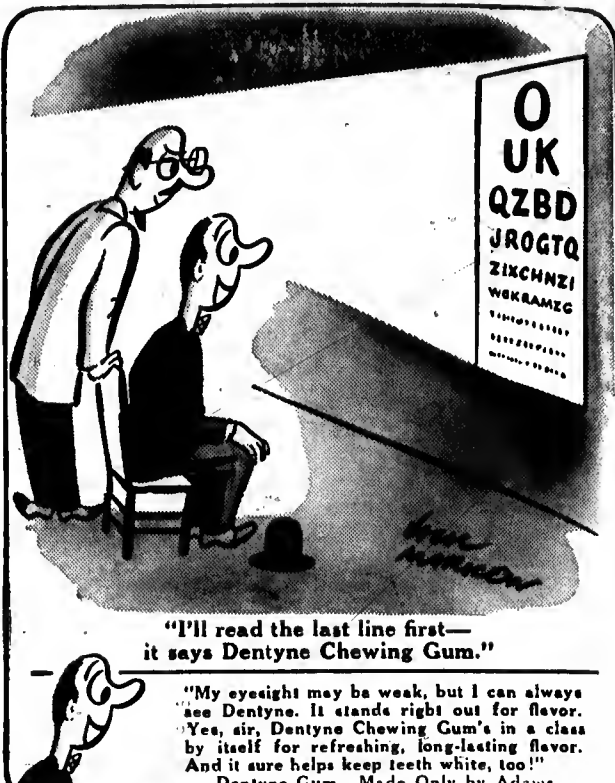

all of which met in Berlin, where there were from 15-25 such meetings every day.

Ernst remained in Berlin until last winter, when he went to the London Deputy Foreign Ministers Meeting to work for Ambassador Murphy. Shortly after his work in London was completed, Ernst was sent back to the United States and discharged from the Army.

Please Patronize

RECORD

Advertisers

"I'll read the last line first— it says Dentyne Chewing Gum."

"My eyesight may be weak, but I can always see Dentyne. It stands right out for flavor. Yes, sir, Dentyne Chewing Gum's in a class by itself for refreshing, long-lasting flavor. And it sure helps keep teeth white, too!"

Dentyne Gum—Made Only by Adams

COKE REFRESHES BOWLING TEAMS AND SPECTATORS

5¢

PLEASE return empty bottles promptly

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
BERKSHIRE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY
© 1947 The C-C Co.

College men

who set the pace . . .

Step forth with Seaforth!

Enjoy the lavish lather of Seaforth Shaving Soap, the heather-fresh exhilaration of Seaforth Lotion. Try them—soon!

These and other Seaforth essentials . . . each packaged in handsome stoneware, only $1. Gift sets, $2 to $7. Seaforth, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20, N.Y.

Football, Soccer Teams Lose, Cross Country Wins

Bears Inflict Third Defeat On Eph Team

(Continued from Page 1)

the ball to the twelve in two successive plays, but were halted there, and the Bears took over. Four plays later Bowdoin was forced to punt again. Whitney returned the boot from his own forty to Bowdoin's forty-seven and then bucked through the line and almost broke loose before being dropped on the twenty-five, after Cliff Farmer had picked up eight yards on two line charges.

The Purple managed to advance as far as the twenty-two before Bowdoin claimed possession on downs. The teams exchanged fumbles here, as Marty Detmar recovered a Bowdoin miscue, and in the following play Paul Zdanowicz fell on a Williams fumble.

The remainder of the half was concerned with punt exchanges, another Bowdoin fumble recovered by Williams and a pass interception by the Bears, who drove to the Purple twenty-five in the last minutes of the second quarter.

As far as the Ephmen were concerned, the game should have ended at the conclusion of the half, for they would have departed from the field with the inner glow of a moral victory. Unfortunately, they played two halves Saturday. The second one was extremely unpleasant.

Collins raced the Bowdoin kickoff back fifty yards to the Bear's thirty-five in an electrifying dash down the sidelines to start the ill-fated third quarter. Bud Wilson, quarterbacking despite a bad leg injury, then tossed a blooper to Dan Mahoney on the eighteen. At this point, the butter-finger nemesis cropped up, and Bill Ireland pounced on an Eph fumble, allowing the visitors to punt out of danger three plays later.

The Purple were not discouraged, however, and they battled back to Bowdoin's twenty-three on runs by Collins and Whitney and two aeriels by Fuzak. This marked the fourth time that the Ephmen had been in possession within their opponents' twenty-five. Once again they wasted their scoring opportunity, as one of Fuzak's passes was intercepted. The Bears struggled to mid-field before they punted to the Williams thirty, where the home team very hospitably returned the skin to their guests via a fumble. They paid dearly for this act of kindness. Seven running plays advanced the ball to the teen, and then Dave Burke popped back to the twenty-three and heaved a touchdown pass to Zdanowicz. Jim Drapper then booted the conversion making the score 7-0.

This was all the margin the Bears needed, but they threw the teachers into a temporary state of bewilderment early in the next quarter by tallying in a sudden and most unexpected fashion. The first Bowdoin kickoff was called back for a Williams offside, and the second was picked up on the goal line by Ed Quinlan and advanced five yards. On the ensuing play, Bud Wilson took a low center and attempted to punt, but missed the ball, which bounced around in the end zone. Jim Butler pounced upon it for the second Bowdoin score. Drapper's conversion was good to make the count 14-0.

Whitney revived the Williams hopes momentarily midway in the period by bucking through the Bowdoin line and galloping from his own fourteen to the victor's five, before being overhauled from behind by Gillen. In two plays the Ephmen drove to the one-yard line, where they once again fumbled. This time they recovered but lost four yards on their last down.

Frosh Avenge Varsity, Take RPI By 19-0

Fiske, DeLisser Score As Freshmen Show Promise For Future

Three touchdowns in the first half were enough to give promising freshman team a 19-0 victory over the RPI freshmen at Cole field last Saturday.

The frosh still looked rough around the edges, particularly in the backfield blocking assignments, but the fine spirit and willingness of the team seemed to justify high hopes for the future.

George Fiske, a Manlius alumni opened the scoring in the first period when he went 15 yards around left end. In the second period little Pete DeLisser made it a regular Manlius homecoming as he took the ball over from the three on a quarterback sneak. Later in the same period Fiske scored again by cutting off tackle from ten yards out. Ernie Mierzejewski completed the scoring when he split the uprights for the extra point.

Sperry To Fish

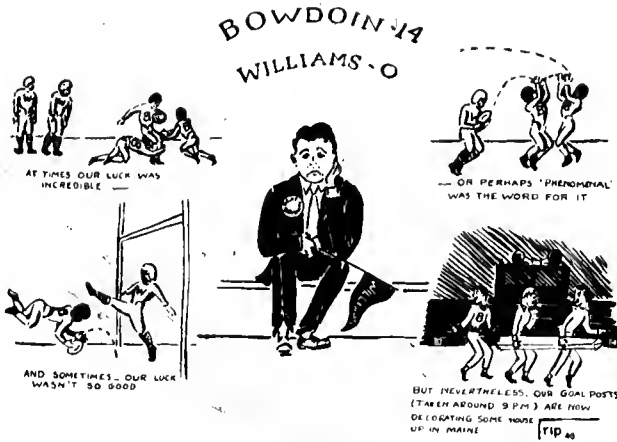

Al Bianchi's and Cary Bidgood's smashing line play were outstanding as were Bill Sperry's fine passing and Mitch Fish's receiving in a promising Sperry to Fish combination.

Perhaps the outstanding plays of the game were turned in by Dewey Fagerburg, who pulled a touchdown-bound opponent down from behind, and Pete Fisher, who punted from his own 45 to the RPI 5. This play was loudly applauded by Harry Fisher, a Williams immortal, who saw his son play for the Purple for the first time.

Despite the victory, Harv Potter feels that the team must sharpen up a good deal in order to beat Wesleyan here next week. The RPI game, however, showed that this team hustles and is willing to learn, so hopes run high for a general beanie-shedding on November 1st.

Opponents' Scores

Union 24 - RPI 33
Trinity 27 - Hobart 7
Wesleyan 40 - Swarthmore 7
Amherst 13 - Colby 7

Frosh Soccer Cross-Country Triumphs 4-1 Team Swamps Inept Bowdoin

Manning Team Captain As Ephmen Conquer Mt. Hermon School

A spirited Williams Freshman team took the measure of Mt. Hermon in their opening game of the season last Saturday, winning over the prep school by a 4-1 score. The game was played at Mt. Hermon.

The Ephmen looked very impressive in ringing up their victory. They cleared the ball well, kept the play down in the opponent's territory most of the game, and did some nice passing, especially from the backs up to the line.

Manning Captain

Dick Manning, elected captain before the game, scored the first goal of the game in the opening period on a penalty kick. Mt. Hermon came back to tie the score on a free kick, but the Purples scored twice in the third period and once in the fourth quarter to sew up the game. Right half-back Rog Dickinson scored after a corner kick. George Muller headed in a goal, and center forward Tom Kent sent home a shot to complete the scoring.

The whole team played well and showed plenty of fight in the game. They will face the Wesleyan Frosh next Saturday afternoon at Cole Field.

Kelton, Delaney, Cook Lead Eph Harriers To Perfect Victory

Making a clean sweep of the first six places, the varsity cross-country team beat the Bowdoin harriers on Saturday by the perfect score of 15-40. It was the second win in as many starts for Tony Plansky's boys while the Bears were making their initial outing.

Bill Kelton led the pack home in the good time of 22:14 minutes despite the sweltering heat. A hundred yards back were Ken Delaney and Paul Cook who locked hands to tie for second place.

Chisholm's Form Returns

Following in fairly close order, Williams nailed down the next three positions in the persons of Phil Collins, Ernie May and Herb Chisholm to complete the route before Woods finished first for Bowdoin. Chisholm's showing was encouraging to Plansky for it was the first attempt at competition by last fall's Little Three champ. Up to last weekend a leg ailment had sidelined him.

Nelligan, Sylvester and Davis covered the golf course well ahead of some of the men from Maine to give the team added starting strength. Next weekend the squad makes the long journey to Burlington for a meet with the University of Vermont on their tough 4.5 mile course.

Rough Season In Intramural Rivalry Begins

Phi Delta, Betes, Kaps Tops In One League; AD's Best In Other

In the opening games of this year's intramural football season the Phi Deltas, Betes, and Kaps loomed as the power squads in the Tuesday-Thursday league, while the Alpha Deltas showed that they would probably dominate the Wednesday league, as they smacked down DU, 42-8.

The Phi Deltas chalked up a lop-sided win in their first game on Tuesday, October 14, when they flattened Chi Psi 36-8. The Deltas lost no time at all in beginning their attack, pushing over a touchdown on the opening play and rolling steadily onward in a fast-moving offense sparked by Bob Brownell and Don LeSage. When Thursday came, it was the same thing all over again, this time with the Saints on the losing end of the score.

The Betes also displayed good form last week, with an 18-12 victory over Zeta Psi on Tuesday and a 30-6 win over Phi Sig on Thursday. The Zetes gave the Betes a hard time, as they battled to a 6-6 tie at the end of the regular periods. But in the second overtime a long aerial netted the Beta team six points, and a few minutes later a tally on an intercepted pass by Bob Gleckner put the game on ice.

Playing consistently good ball, the Kaps, third pillar of strength in the Tuesday-Thursday league, defeated the Phi Sigs 20-0 in their first game, and took their match with the Zetes, 30-6.

Though the teams in the Wednesday league have played only one game apiece, it is obvious that Alpha Delta will be the team to watch, unless the Garfield Club comes to the front. Behind 8-0 in the opening minutes of the game with DU, the AD's soon began to click, and finally ran away with the tilt, winning 42-8. The AD's couldn't be stopped, and in an attack led by the Bell brothers, Bill and George, they racked up point after point.

The Garfield Club showed power against the Dekes, whom they subdued, 8-0. A safety at the beginning of the first half and a touchdown pass gave the Clubmen their points.

Purple Soccer Team Toppled By U. of Conn.

Suffers Second Loss Of Current Season In Defensive Contest

The Williams soccer team, playing with a revised line-up, dropped its second game of the season last Saturday, as they lost a 5-2 decision to the University of Connecticut at Storres.

For the second time in as many weeks, the Ephmen could not get their offense rolling. The ball was in the Purple half of the field most of the afternoon; thus Williams had to play a defensive game a large part of the time. Ucon scored twice in the first period, once in the second, and came back with two goals in the final stanza to subdue the visitors. Williams scored once in the second and once in the fourth period.

New Eph Line Up

Trying to snap back after their loss of the previous week, the Ephmen fielded a revised line-up. Larry Smith, out with an injury the previous week was back at center forward, with Barry Emmert moving to inside left. Jerry Page, a fullback on last year's crack team, who had been playing half-back this year, moved back to fullback while newcomer Emmy Brown took over his half-back spot.

This team could not seem to click, however. Their passes were intercepted, their offense weak. They were completely outplayed by the home team, which rotated eight substitutes very effectively to keep in a fresh team all the time. Ucon repeatedly beat Williams to the ball; their passes were accurate, their trapping good.

Williams' two goals were scored by Frank Donnelly, who has scored at least once in every game this year, and Frenchy Oudin. Donnelly's score came on a penalty kick in the second period. Oudin scored in the fourth period, after the Ucon goalie fumbled the ball.

Aside from these two scores, there were very few bright spots for Williams during the afternoon.

The Ephmen will meet Springfield, last year's Intercollegiate Champions, next Saturday afternoon on Cole Field, in their second home game of the season.

The Three Suns
—reading down:
Morty Dunn
Artie Dunn
Al Nevins

"Sleepy Time Gal"
Whatta Gal!
Whatta RECORD!

... latest disk by The Three Suns for RCA Victor

BACK in '25 everybody was humming 'bout that "Sleepy Time Gal." Now "Gal" is back in a new and wonderful record.

And here's another favorite with a great record: cool, mild, flavorful Camel cigarettes. More men and more women are smoking Camels than ever before.

Why? The answer is in your "T-Zone" (T for Taste and T for Throat).

Try Camels. Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience"!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

I LEARNED BY EXPERIENCE THAT
CAMELS
SUIT ME BEST!

More people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!

Three Undergrad Laundries Compete For Student Dollar

by Ed Gouinlock, '50

Delving into the confusion concerning the various student laundry and dry cleaning services, the RECORD now presents a summary of what each organization offers. Out of the maze of propaganda and extravagant claims, certain facts concerning these facilities are discernible.

First, by reason of seniority, is the Student Laundry, which has existed for some 32 years, being handed down from graduate to undergraduate. Operated at present by Jack Austin, '48, Star King, '50 and Richard Killian, '48, it is a commission agency, sending its bundles to a commercial laundry in North Adams.

Three Day Service

Offering three and four day service with pick ups on Mondays and Thursdays, the laundry is deposited in each entry upon being returned. There is a flat rate of $27 a term as well as a piece work system, and all laundry lost, strayed or ruined is paid for. Withdrawal from the flat rate system, with proportional rebate on the term charge, is possible. Piece work prices are on a par with the prices being generally charged by all laundries in this area.

The newest campus laundry, the Berkshire Cooperative, has been in operation for one term and is managed by the collective genius of Bob Agger '48, Don Agger '48, and Don LeSage '49. Picking up and delivering to individual doorways on Wednesday, this weekly service offers a flat rate of $27 with unlimited laundry and guarantees payment for all losses incurred.

Withdrawal Also Possible

As with the Student Laundry, withdrawal with appropriate rebate is allowed, but no piece work rates are offered. The Berkshire's work is done at White's, a commercial laundry in North Adams.

The Purple Cow Cleaners represent the lone student business in the pressing and dry cleaning field. Operating their own truck and taking the clothes to Petri in North Adams, they offer two day service, with possible one day service. They have representatives paid on a commission basis, in every house and dormitory. Collections are made every weekday evening.

A new organization this term, the Purple Cow is run by Bill Eldridge '49, and offers prices which compare approximately with those being currently charged in Williamstown and vicinity.

Patronize
RECORD
Advertisers

Females - - -

Dean Speaks

Dean Robert R. R. Brooks warned everyone not to lose hope. He recalled his undergraduate days at Wesleyan when the football team on which he played lost 72-8, to Amherst; beat Williams; and then watched the Ephemen take over Amherst.

Freshman Dean Sheehan also spoke at the rally. Newton P. Darling, '48 tried to speak but deafening applause forced him to retire before he could tell the crowd about ticket conditions for the ensuing game.

An attempt was made to keep the spirit going after the rally was disbanded but no Bowdoin men could be found and the college soon settled back to its studies. Darling led a group of cheering undergraduates up Spring Street and towards fraternity row, but halfway there, he lost most of them and the parade had to be called off.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Stop in at Williamstown's
Newest Shoe
Store . . .

LUPO'S

Gives 24 hour
Service on
Shoe Repairing

At the end of Spring St.

WALDEN THEATRE

ENDS THURSDAY
STAIRWAY TO HEAVEN

in TECHNICOLOR
DAVID NIVEN and
RAYMOND MASSEY

FRIDAY and SATURDAY

CRY WOLF

with
ERROL FLYNN
BARBARA STANWYCK

SUNDAY and MONDAY

THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER

LORETTA YOUNG
and
JOSEPH COTTON

IRC To Hold First Meeting Tomorrow

The International Relations Club will hold its first student meeting of the semester tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. in 3 Oriffin. Among the activities of this group are conferences with different schools, to which Williams representatives are sent and various panel discussions, such as the Marshall Plan Forum held last week and sponsored by the I. R. C.

"Especially needed," said Bob Rupen, '48, president of the organization, "are men interested in writing radio script for WMS about matters of current interest, and someone to edit the intercollegiate IRC bulletin."

DANCING
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

The 1896 House

Dinner Reservations
For The Finest
FOODS and LIQUORS

PHONE
WILLIAMSTOWN 267

The All American SAXOPHONIST
TONY PASTOR
Direct from the Sign of the Drum, Cincinnati
OCT. 23 and OCT. 23
and
HIS FAMOUS ORCHESTRA
Starring
THE CLOONEY SISTERS
Dancing 8:30 to 12:30
NORTH ADAMS
ARMORY
Admission $1.25 Plus Tax

HOWARD JOHNSON'S WILLIAMSTOWN

Open from 11 a.m.
to 8 p.m.

YOUR FAVORITE
FLAVORS
OF
HOWARD JOHNSON'S FAMOUS

Ice Cream
and
Ice Cream Sodas

DAILY FEATURE 95c
HOWARD JOHNSON'S
FAMOUS

- FRIED IPSWICH CLAM AND TARTAR SAUCE
- COLE SLAW
- FRENCH FRIED POTATOES
- FRESHLY BAKED ROLLS
- LEGAL BEVERAGES

TOWN TAXI

The Williams Inn Taxi
PHONE 531-R

D & D OFFICE SERVICE

Let D & D Do Your
Typing For You
Leave material to be
typed at 85 Spring Street
next to the Alumni House
TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.
Telephone 3553

Williamstown

National

Bank

"Pay it by Check"

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

Enjoy this favorite meeting place of Williams Men
when in New York
Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

KEEP YOUR FORD'S Showroom Complexion BRIGHT

Expert body and fender repairs done the FORD WAY . . . with special FORD equipment and finishing materials. Reasonable prices.

The SMITH BAKER CO., Incorporated North Adams.

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C. Beckman 3-4730

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Saturday.
2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.
3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.
4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

Saturday, October 25 Games

One Shirt at the WILLIAM'S CO-OP

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Alabama	vs.	Georgia	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	Wesleyan	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Cornell	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Dartmouth	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Northwestern	vs.	Indiana	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Notre Dame	vs.	Iowa	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Navy	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Colgate	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Trinity	<input type="checkbox"/>

One Williams Beer Mug or one Picture Framed at BASTIEN'S

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Alabama	vs.	Georgia	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	Wesleyan	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Cornell	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Dartmouth	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Northwestern	vs.	Indiana	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Notre Dame	vs.	Iowa	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Navy	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Colgate	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Trinity	<input type="checkbox"/>

THIS? WHY IT'S A BASKET BALL

THE FIRST BASKET BALL EVER MADE IN AMERICA WAS MADE BY SPALDING

NEVER HEARD OF ONE

FIRST IN BASKET-BALL!

THE FAMOUS LAST BILT PERFECTLY ROUND, PERFECTLY BALANCED BECAUSE IT'S BUILT OVER A LAST THAT'S A PERFECT SPHERE

SPALDING TOP-PLATE OFFICIAL BALL

THE COACH

SPALDING SETS THE PACE IN SPORTS

BACON'S GARAGE

Auto Washing

Auto Glass Installation

Repairs of all Kinds

Fender and Body Work

Acetylene and Electric Welding

WE HAVE BEEN YOUR FORD DEALER
FOR 14 YEARS

Calling all Massachusetts State Cars to the October Brake and Light Inspection . . .

PHONE WILLIAMSTOWN 420

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1947

No. 7

Eph Eleven Travels To Hartford Today

Trinity Claims Great Passer In Kunkiewicz

Injury Ridden Backs Face Unbeaten Team; Purple Line Intact

This afternoon the thrice-beaten, injury-ridden Purple gridmen pack up and head for the strange territory of Hartford, Connecticut, to meet a highly-touted Trinity eleven. This Trinity team enters the ball game with a three-game victory string, and clever and extremely capable quarterback and passer, "Whitney" Kunkiewicz.

Those who sat through last year's 19-7 defeat, the second in nine encounters with Trinity, will recall that it was Kunkiewicz who beat Williams. They came back from the short end of a 7-0 tally at halftime, with Kunkiewicz fairly tossing them to victory. Passes to Kent and Ponsalle accounted for the scoring, after Kunkiewicz had helped set up the allies with passes all over the field.

Kunkiewicz still pitching. This year's team is rumored to be better than last's, and the key to the lock lies in the fact that this same "Whitney" is still in there, running the team. For it is his kicking, passing, and ball-handling that makes this team the top-notch club it is.

Trinity's first three games were one-sided contests, victories over Bates, 33-12, Middlebury, 31-7, and Hobart, 25-7. Comparative scores are deceiving, for Hobart gave Trinity a real tussle, in fact forced the Nutmegs to take to the airlines for victory. No other line had so clogged up Trinity's ground game. Against Bates the Nutmegs had run pretty much the game they wanted. Against Middlebury they had varied their attack more, scoring two of their touchdowns through the air.

Higgins, Blanks, Duffield on Side. That the Purple gridmen will not be at full strength for the tussle is well-known to everybody. Fullback Pat Higgins, halfbacks Bill Blanks and "Stu" Duffield. See TRINITY Page 3

Claudio Arrau To Appear In First Concert

Recital In Chapin Hall Will Feature Pianist; Plans Varied Program

The celebrated pianist, Claudio Arrau, will appear in Chapin Hall at 8:30 p.m. Thursday evening in the first of five performances being presented by the Thompson Concert Committee this year.

Mr. Arrau will begin his program by playing selections by Bach and Beethoven. Following these, he will play several selections by Mendelssohn, two by Chopin, and one by Brahms. After a short intermission, he will complete the recital with two selections by Ravel, one by Albeniz, and two by Debussy.

Tickets for the recital may be obtained by writing the Thompson Concert Committee, Adams Memorial Theatre. Prices of tickets are for the entire series, $6; single tickets, $2.40 and $1.80. Unreserved balcony tickets (Chapin Hall) will be sold at the door.

Gargoyles Will Tap Seniors November 2

Gargoyle, senior honorary society, will choose its fifty-fourth delegation at 11:30 a.m. on November 2, 1947, House Party Weekend, from the men who have just completed their junior year this summer and are now first term seniors.

The seniors, according to tradition, will march to their places along the Lab Campus fence, and the Gargoyles will emerge from Jesup Hall. The latter will march past the seniors and form a circle between them and the audience. Then each Gargoyle will withdraw from the circle and, walking the length of the fence, tap his man and lead him into the circle.

Baxter Meets UC, Gargoyle

Asks Fund Drive Aid; Vandalism Discussed

The Undergraduate Council has voted to establish a Student Fund Raising Committee, composed of UC and Gargoyle members, as requested by President James P. Baxter at the Monday night meeting.

The committee will be formed after UC elections, October 27, and will organize the drive for the undergraduate contributions to the fund.

Elaborates Vandalism Stand. Robert Boyer, '48, temporary UC president, also elaborated at the meeting on the UC's decision to punish vandalism. All matters which the Student Committee on Discipline deem "ungentlemanly" or "destructive of property" either in connection with the Amherst and Wesleyan games or at other times, will be brought to the attention of the committee.

This will apply to vandalism involving cars and property in Williamstown and vicinity as well as to the defacement of property.

Modern Design For Phi Gams

Fine Arts Professor Snared As Consultant

Even fine arts professor Lane Faison was confused as the Phi Gams went about redecorating their house last week.

With his reputation at stake, Professor Faison, asked by the house to offer suggestions, attempted to keep all interested parties at peace in the midst of a maelstrom of ideas. At the same time he tried to get the various pigments mixed in the proper proportions to produce the desired harmonious black and gray effect.

Pledges Sand Walls. Pledges are busily sanding walls to make way for a new living room wallpaper in a green motif, while the overhead workers are dexterously whitening the ceilings throughout the house. The dining room is undergoing a complete renovation, with new gray walls and black trim topped off by rust and blue drapes, and the powder room has been painted a bright green as a finishing touch.

With surrealism running rampant in the dining room and the hall a shining pale green, the Fijis await the result of the acid test—Will their houseparty dates approve?

SAC Election Fills Vacated Board Posts

Organization Announces Posting Of Calendar On Board In Jesup

Elections to fill posts on the SAC executive committee vacated by retirements and summer graduates were held at the Tuesday, October 21 meeting of the SAC.

H. R. Austell, '48, Chairman of the Spring Conference Committee, was elected secretary of the organization. Austell, a member of Sigma Phi, is a married veteran and managing editor of the RECORD. Arthur F. Dodd, '48, Paul Barstow, '48, and Charles R. Fetter, '48, were the other three men chosen to fill the vacant positions on the committee.

Fetter is manager of the Glee club, treasurer of Beta Theta Pi, and also a staff member of the Record. Dodd is business manager as well as acting treasurer of the Record, while Barstow is an active member of the WCA, the College choir, and chairman of the lecture committee. The position of treasurer is still held by Dick Debevoise, president of Phi Beta Kappa and a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Calendars in Jesup. Following the meeting, SAC President H. H. Kellogg announced the posting of two college calendars on the bulletin board in Jesup Hall, where campus organizations may announce any meetings or activities scheduled in the future.

The larger calendar concerns evening hour tests, athletic events, plays and concerts taking place on campus throughout the year. Anyone wishing to add other events, especially IRC, Lecture Committee, or Phil Union lectures, may do so themselves or may call Miss McGowan in the Alumni Office on the first floor of Jesup. Conflicts must be cleared through the president of the SAC.

Organization meetings such as the Record and Purple Cow may be announced on the smaller sheet above the main calendar. This sheet will be changed every two weeks, and organizations will have preference to more opportune times on a "first come first served" basis, if they want to avoid conflicts.

In other colleges. The Committee on Discipline will recommend to the Dean that the participants involved be dismissed from college.

Lack Of Personnel Hinders AMG In Occupied Germany Roger Ernst '48 Declares

(This is the second of two articles)

When a man struggles for three years with one problem, as Roger Ernst '48 did with the American Military Government, he will draw some pretty concrete conclusions about it. Thus, when Ernst was asked for personal remarks, he did not ponder long.

"If I had a message to give," he said, "it would be that we are trying to do an enormous job with a shockingly small number of personnel. The AMG in Germany has only 5000 employees to perform every duty of government. The inadequacy of the number is startling when you consider that New York City must employ 20,000 policemen alone!"

Foreign Service Offered. The War Department is now operating a training program for college graduates in order to improve the AMG. The trainee signs a contract for a year, and is sent

Wilson Senior President Juniors Choose Stillwell

Sandy Orr '48, whose leg was broken in football practice last week, hears news in college infirmary of election as senior class secretary.

Photo by Williams Photo Service

Rudnick Shows Improvements To Visiting Record Reporter

Louis Rudnick Praises Quality And Efficiency In Lucid Sales Talk

Easing up of shortages bore fruit to the cleaning establishment of George Rudnick, Inc., this past summer with the arrival of new equipment ordered two years ago, according to Louis Rudnick, eldest son of the late but near legendary founder of the concern. Louis, and his two younger brothers, Phil and Cy, now conduct the business.

"It's a veritable production line," declared Louis, Williams, '15.

But with a modesty that would more accurately be called reluctance to divulge trade secrets, Mr. Rudnick started off a guided tour of the renovated cleaning plant by explaining the weighing of clothing as it is brought in. "The new machines," he said, "operate at a maximum efficiency when loaded with a certain weight. We check the weight to prevent over or underloading."

Sanitone Cleans Clean. Approaching the new equipment he pointed to the gaping mouth of one machine and said, "Here's where we insert the clothing. In here they are cleaned in Sanitone Solvent."

In the process, the dirty solvent was pumped out of the cleaning machine at ninety gallons a minute, filtered and distilled by new and larger equipment and finally pumped clean back into the machine. The clean clothes, after being dried, are handled by "spotters" who look for and remove stains not dissolved by the solvent.

The entire "finishing" (professional slang for "pressing") department was moved this summer from the crowded quarters at the office on Spring Street to the cleaning plant behind the Walden Theatre. Here, with the aid of additional personnel hired during the past four months, the clothes are pressed and hung on a long rack which runs around the room to the door where they are loaded for delivery.

"Lots faster, more efficient and makes for better quality," commented Louis Rudnick.

Garfield Club Picks Hammond President

Bradley Hammond '48 was elected Garfield Club president last Wednesday evening following a spirited campaign between him and the defeated candidate, Robert Rupen '48. At the same time Howard Cadmus '50 and David Brown '51 were chosen Club Treasurer and Secretary, respectively, for the coming year.

Hammond is a past Vice President of the Club, has been Junior class president during the summer term and has been the Secretary of the UC. Cadmus and Brown are both Tyng scholars, and Cadmus has been a Club Executive Committee member.

Topic Selected For Spring Conference

Discussion On Politics Organized At Meeting

"The Challenge to American Politics: 1948 and Beyond" will be the subject of the Annual Spring Conference to be held May 14-16 of next year. The general plan for the conference was laid out in a meeting last Friday.

The conference will open with a plenary session which will include the keynote address to set the general tone of the discussions to follow by dealing with the inevitable interrelationship between domestic and foreign politics.

See CONFERENCE Page 4

Sophs Select Irwin, Stowers Class Officers

Boyer, Spencer, Worley Elected To Honor System Committee

Injured Orr New Senior Secretary

Page, Junior Secretary In Goodrich Election

John N. Wilson '48 and Alexander G. Orr '48 were chosen president and secretary of the senior class as a result of elections held last Wednesday in Goodrich Hall. During meetings in Jesup which were marked by extreme confusion, the junior class elected John A. Stillwell '49, president and Jerome F. Page, Jr. '49 secretary, while Dudley M. Irwin III '50 and Clifton H. Stowers, Jr. '50 were picked for the respective offices by the sophomores.

The senior class also elected Robert J. Boyer '48 and Edson W. Spencer '48 to be its Honor System Committee. Daniel W. Wheeler '48 and Dickinson R. Debevoise '48 will represent the class on the Tyng Scholarship Committee. The juniors chose Robert D. Worley '49 as their Honor System Committee representative.

Wilson Also Junior Head. Member of Gargoyle and president of the Chapel Committee, Bud Wilson, the new senior class president, is a member of the Garfield Club and plays on the varsity football and baseball teams. Bud was president of last year's junior class and was a Junior Adviser.

Sandy Orr, the senior class secretary, was president of his class as a sophomore and secretary of the junior class. He is a member of DKE, a varsity football player and a member of the Undergraduate ELECTIONS Page 4

Colleges Meet On Christian World Action

Four Williams Students At Amherst Meeting; Spencer Heads Group

Amherst College was the scene of the Connecticut Valley Regional Conference of the New England Student Christian Movement from Friday, October 17 to Sunday, October 19.

One hundred fifty student delegates from a dozen colleges and universities in the region, including fifteen delegates from Yale, fifteen from Smith, and twenty-five from the University of Massachusetts, were present. Williams was represented by Ed Spencer, Art Singer, Brad Pusey, and Scott Warner.

The conference met to discuss the work programs outlined by the four commissions of the Student Christian Movement at their previous conference in September. The four commissions, Christian Beliefs, Community Responsibility, Personal Life and Relations, and World Relatedness, each presented their recommendations, which were then discussed in a series of seminars to enable the

See COLLEGES Page 4

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 News Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Acting Advertising Manager Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock, '49

VOL. LXI OCTOBER 25, 1947 No. 7

Weston Field Rest Rooms

Top and bottom left: Men's rest room. Bottom right: Wash basins in women's rest room.

Photo by Williams Photo Service

Shown above are the Weston Field rest room conditions which were commented upon in the issue of October 18. The RECORD assigned a photographer to take the pictures. But on seeing the conditions thus illustrated, we questioned the taste of printing them. We decided to go ahead, however, after learning from College Treasurer Charles D. Makepeace that, to his knowledge, no improvements were under way.

Paragraphs in the News

In elections held last week, Donald E. Hewat, '49 was elected as the president of the Delta Phi Fraternity, succeeding Arthur L. Stevenson '48. James H. Stone was elected vice-president.

The Purple Cow announced last week the addition of three comps to the editorial staff. They are Brad Lynch '48, Ed Perrin '49 and Norden van Horne '50. Four members of the editorial staff were promoted to associate editors: Russell Bourne '50, Stephen Sondheim '50, George Stege '50 and Alexander Peabody '50. Charles Klensch '48 was promoted from Associate Editor to the position of cartoonist.

William E. Carl '48 is the newly elected president of Delta Upsilon.

The University of Massachusetts Collegian prints the following item concerning food prices: "Draper Hall (at Mass.) serves twenty-one meals for $8.50. The rate at Devens is fifteen meals for $9.81.... Williams College serves twenty meals for $12.00." —Where?

The Dean's Office announced this week that John L. Brown and Timothy Mann of the incoming freshman class had won $50 certificates of merit as finalists in the 1947 Pepsi-Cola scholarship competition.

At a meeting of the undergraduate members of the Phi Beta Kappa Society Monday evening Dick Debevoise '48 DKE, was elected president for the coming year.

The faculty production of "Alice in Wonderland" will take place Friday at 8 p.m. in the AMT. A matinee performance will be held Saturday at 3 p.m.

Many students might be interested in the autograph collection housed in West College. Remarkably well preserved initials, names and dates going back as far as 1804 are carved in the interior rafters and planking supporting the tower. Particularly noteworthy is the decline of the craftsmanship of the carvings, those of 19th century vintage being masterpieces while the modern work is no better than that on any school desk. One might wonder, in peering at the musty records, what figures of history may have left these mementoes of their school days.

The Pepsi-Cola Scholarship Board will award twenty-six graduate fellowships for students graduating from college during the 1947-48 school year. These fellowships will pay full tuition and $750 each year for three years. The winners may attend any accredited graduate school in the United States or Canada. Applications can be obtained at the dean's office or from the Pepsi-Cola Scholarship Board, 532 Emerson St., Palo Alto, California. Applications must be received by the Board not later than January 1, 1948.

The Williams Outing Club is making plans to hold a Winter Carnival here March 7, "weather permitting."

FACULTY FORUM

by Robert Barrow
Associate Professor of Music

For the student interested in music Williams offers abundant facilities, many of them rather unique among institutions of its size. One of the most important is the opportunity of hearing fine music provided by the regular concert course, which annually presents internationally known artists at subscription rates which can rarely be equalled elsewhere.

Local support of these concerts by residents of Williamstown, North Adams, Pittsfield and other towns in this area, is spontaneous and enthusiastic. Student support, however, is distressingly small, particularly in view of the fact that the concerts are intended primarily for the student body. For example, resident subscribers this year are nearly five times as numerous as student subscribers. As this paper goes to press only forty student subscriptions have been sold, representing a mere 3.6% of the total student enrollment; some 96% of the men at Williams are apparently disinterested in these performances.

Only 3.6% of Students Subscribe

Even more surprising are the following facts: there are 122 students registered in music courses, or slightly over 10% of the student body; yet the number of student concert subscribers represents only 3.6% of the student body. One can only wonder at the peculiar point of view which makes certain students willing to take music courses but unwilling to hear any concerts. If one may be forgiven an analogy, it is rather like a student of Political Science who does not subscribe to the "New Republic."

From time to time the present writer hears various supposed reasons advanced as to why this situation exists, i. e., various criticisms and objections to the series. The remarks which follow are intended partly in answer to these and partly in the hope that they may influence more students to avail themselves of these performances.

First of all, the matter of choice of artists. They are selected by a committee of music students (none with particularly long hair), with the advice and co-operation of the Music Department. Selections are made on the basis of musical rather than publicity values: because an artist receives $2000 for a performance does not necessarily indicate that he is twice as good as one receiving $1000—(it often merely indicates that his manager is twice as good). Thus you may not be able to hear Andre Kostelanetz or Phil Spitalny's charm orchestra on the series, but there are a surprising number of people—cash customers, incidentally—who regard such performances as trivial and not quite up to the standard of some performers who have less elaborate publicity.

Rachmaninoff Dead

Furthermore, do not be surprised if not a single one of the three concert pianists whose names you know appears on the series in a given year—(Rachmaninoff is dead, by the way): this does not mean that the ones who do appear here are mere upstarts, selected solely because of the personal bias of the committee. It is accounted for simply by the fact that the number of fine artists is very great nowadays, and no one outside the field of music can be expected to know of all, or even a small part of them. If the student will take the trouble to glance at the music page of the New York "Times"—almost any issue—he will see there advertised many of the musicians who will appear in Williamstown—(though they appear here at considerably less expense to the concert-goer).

Likewise do not be surprised if a given series does not contain a particular type of instrumentalist or vocalist you desire to hear. Every effort is made to provide a balanced and varied program of concerts: thus this year there will be presented a violinist, a soprano, two pianists and a string quartet. If the committee attempted to provide one of each type of artist requested each year it would have to present twenty-five or thirty performances, ranging from zither-players to bassoonists—an obvious impossibility at least under the present budget.

Orchestra Cost High

Then there is the "orchestra question". A symphony orchestra will always attract quite a following—often, one suspects, because it involves more people and makes more noise than almost any other type of musical performance. The policy of the concert committee has been to have an orchestral performance at least every other year, and often in successive years. The cost of even a single such concert is very great—considerably more than the entire grant available annually from the Thompson Concert fund (figure on request).

Furthermore statistics are available to show that the increased cost of such performances is not offset by a proportionate increase in attendance. Other statistics also show that any increase in prices for an orchestral performance is met merely by complaints and non-attendance. No, the lack of a symphony concert—or five symphony concerts for that matter, for some demand such a program—is merely a convenient stick with which to beat the dog: the real reason for not subscribing is often a more obvious and less intellectual one.

By way of conclusion it should be pointed out that this article is not an apology for the concert series; it needs none. Anyone who doubts its excellence needs only send a list of this season's artists to any reputable musician in the country and he will receive ample assurance in that direction. If any apologies are in order it appears that they ought to come from another quarter.

Paintings By Italian Artists Shown Here

Art Museum Features Renaissance Venice

The current exhibit at the Lawrence Art Museum features a photographic exhibition of Venice, as seen recently in LIFE Magazine, plus Italian Master Drawings lent Williams by Harvard University's Fogg Museum and Prof. Paul Sachs.

Paintings describing Venice at the height of her power by such masters as Titian, Veronese, Giorgione and Carpaccio are reproduced in color, with accompanying text quoted from contemporary writers. The enlarged photographs suggest the splendor of Renaissance life. John G. Phillips of the Metropolitan Museum prepared the exhibition.

The Italian Master Drawings consist of ten drawings by Italian artists of the 15th and 16th centuries and include several chalk and charcoal studies.

Ernst - - -

classrooms, the only teachers we can get are under seventeen or over seventy.

"The important thing is this: We must get inside the German mind, and the American doesn't realize how difficult this mind is from his own. Americans think and come up with original ideas. These are absolutely unknown to the Germans. Our job is to produce thought there; a clash of ideas. Otherwise, there is nothing."

The exhibit is open daily from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 m. and from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Sunday hours are from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Please Patronize

RECORD

Advertisers

What ties go best with an ARROW button-down oxford?

ARROW ties,
of course!

But in particular, Arrow's university selection of wool plaids, English type foulards, solid color knits and striped oxfords in college colors.

See your favorite Arrow dealer for Arrow ties—top choice of college men from coast to coast. $1 and up.

DO CLOTHES MAKE THE MAN? Send for your free copy of "The What, When and Wear of Men's Clothing"—a handy guide for men who want to dress wisely and well. Write to: College Dept., Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., 10 East 40th Street, New York 16, N. Y.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

UNFINISHED BOOKCASES
STUDENT 6-WAY LAMPS
LOUNGE CHAIRS

George M. Hopkins Co.
Established 1888

66 SPRING STREET WILLIAMSTOWN
TELEPHONE 29-R

OPEN ALL YEAR TEL: 498-R WILLIAMSTOWN MASS.
CHIMNEY MIRROR
HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED
ROUTE 2 OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Saturday.
2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.
3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.
4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

Saturday, November 1 Games

One Suit cleaned at RUDNICK'S

1.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	Tufts	<input type="checkbox"/>
2.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Wash. & Lee	<input type="checkbox"/>
3.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
4.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Rutgers	<input type="checkbox"/>
5.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
6.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Illinois	vs.	Michigan	<input type="checkbox"/>
7.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Navy	vs.	Notre Dame	<input type="checkbox"/>
8.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
9.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Wesleyan	vs.	Haverford	<input type="checkbox"/>
10.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Union	<input type="checkbox"/>

One Bottle Gotham Dry Champagne at KING'S Package Store

1.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	Tufts	<input type="checkbox"/>
2.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Wash. & Lee	<input type="checkbox"/>
3.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
4.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Rutgers	<input type="checkbox"/>
5.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
6.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Illinois	vs.	Michigan	<input type="checkbox"/>
7.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Navy	vs.	Notre Dame	<input type="checkbox"/>
8.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
9.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Wesleyan	vs.	Haverford	<input type="checkbox"/>
10.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Union	<input type="checkbox"/>

Heuer Defeats Marchese For Golf Championship

Heuer Places First In Fall Golf Tourney

Marchese Runner - Up; Winner's 77 Takes Contest Three - Two

Sophomore Dick Heuer took the title of Williams Golf Champion Tuesday on the Taconic Course as he triumphed over classmate Bucky Marchese three down and two to play.

Heuer got off to a one-up lead, winning the first with a par as Bucky scooped an iron shot—the first of three that were to prove his undoing. Dick encountered rock trouble on the second hole, conceding it to Marchese. Bucky promptly went back into the hole by three-putting number three while Dick was chipping within three feet, sinking the putt for a win. At the end of the first nine Heuer held a three up lead, going out in 39. Marchese got back one, taking the tenth hole with a par three, but Heuer put himself four holes to the good, grabbing birdie fours on eleven and twelve.

Bucky's Last Bid
Bucky made his last bid by winning thirteen and fourteen with pars as Dick began to fade his shots. On the short fifteenth Dick missed the green with his tee shot, but approached twelve feet from the flag and dropped the putt for an important half. A par on the sixteenth proved sufficient to win the hole, match and championship for Dick.

Heuer played the best golf of the tourney in his march to and through the finals. In the first round he shot a 74 to dispose of Kim Whitney two and one. Dick continued his hot pace, shooting 75 against Jerry Cole and winning by the same margin. Against Bucky, Dick had a 77. Marchese gained the finals with a one up triumph over his Deke brother Dick Wells, and then beat Bill Ward by a five and four count.

Heuer Tradition
The name of Heuer is not new on the Taconic links. Dick's brother Charlie became the first college student to win the annual Taconic Invitation as a sophomore in 1942, the same year that he won the Philadelphia Junior Championship.

Opponent's Schedule

October 25

Union vs Hobart Away
Wesleyan vs Amherst
At Amherst

Booters Face Powerful Foe

Springfield To Supply Opposition Saturday

by Norden Van Horne

The soccer team, now in the throes of a two-game losing streak, has the unenviable pleasure of facing Springfield College on Cole Field this Saturday. Last week's 5-2 loss to The University of Connecticut does not change the odds in the Eph's favor, and chances of pulling an upset over the highly-touted Springfield outfit are admittedly slim.

But the Purple booters have been drilling hard this week to polish the line's passing attack and to strengthen the kicking and tackling of the half-back line. It was evident in the Connecticut defeat that the Williams club could not keep pace with the brand of soccer displayed by the home team—not that the Ephs lacked drive but they seemingly could not match the speed of their opponents.

No Line-up Change

To remedy this situation, Coach Ed Bullock has been scrimmaging the varsity offense against the defense to get his men used to handling the ball against the stiffest and fastest available opposition. No drastic change in the lineup is contemplated, although several jayvees have received Uncle Ed's call to practice with the varsity.

Forwards for the Springfield game will probably be Mayshark, Emmert, Smith, Johnston and Donnelly as usual, while Bowen, Kneass, and newcomer Emme Brown will round out the half-backs. Page and Walker should hold the fullback posts, and it is hoped that Captain Denny Lunt's arm will permit him to return to his goal station.

Springfield boasts an enviable record. Reportedly unbeaten in its last twenty-six games, it has a 2-0 victory over Yale to its credit and last Saturday ran up a football score, 10-0, against a hapless Worcester combine. The Springfields used thirty men in the contest and hence were playing with their third team for at least part of the time.

Frosh Oppose Wesmen Cubs At Home Field

Both Teams Unbeaten; Wesleyan Features Strong Aerial Attack

By Steve Blaschke

Weston Field will see a preview of the 1950 battle for the Little Three Crown when Harv Potter's undefeated gridmen meet Danny Weitecamp's unbeaten Wesleyan freshmen next Saturday.

The Wesmen won their opener against Choate by a 22-6 score and, from all reports, are sporting a tricky T-formation passing attack which is sparked by a big end who spends much of his time in the opposing backfield. Danny Weitecamp, boy-wonder coach, is not only a great natural athlete, but also has been called a smart operator by no lesser authorities than "Buddy" Wilson and Bob Weintraub, both of whom knew him in the service.

The Ephmen, however, have a classy coaching combination of their own in Harv Potter, a stand-out ex-Williams end, and line coach Bobby Coombs, who is reportedly the only athlete in Duke gridiron history to have thrown a football with "spitter" characteristics.

On Team Spirit

The Frosh's 19-0 victory over RPI showed a team with considerable promise, needing only a little tougher competition and less self-confidence. They are a curious combination of football experience and inexperience, which, in the past four weeks has been molded into a well coordinated unit with a truly admirable team spirit.

Perhaps this spirit is best typified by Bill Sperry, the 150 pound quarterback, who spent his summer throwing a football through only developed into a smart field a hoop, and as a result has not perieral but also a dead-eye passer.

Frosh Playing Field Depends On Weather

The Freshman football game on Saturday of this week with Wesleyan will be played on Weston Field if it does not rain. If it does rain, the game will be played on Cole Field.

FORD Spotlights

Very Attractive

New Design
¾ Normal Size

Same Light Intensity

$20.00 Installed
FORD Cars

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

Today's Top Hit
"NEAR YOU"
THE MUSIC HOUSE

34 Bank St. N. A. Tel: 1570-W

TUXEDOS FULL DRESS SUITS
FOR RENT OR SALE
SABIN'S
CORNER HOLDEN & CENTER STREETS
NORTH ADAMS TELEPHONE 2398-M

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.
116 John Street, N. Y. C. Beekman 3-4730

Sudden Interruption

Stu Robinson and Charlie Schaaf just before final match of Rockwood Cup Tournament for the college tennis championship

Robinson, Schaaf Tennis Bout Postponed By Freak Injury

Schaaf Turns Ankle During Fourth Set

Was Leading Opponent When Play Stopped

Charlie Schaaf, number one on the Williams tennis team, and conquerer of the Big Ten tennis champion this past summer, was within four games and one point of the Williams tennis title last Wednesday when fate intervened in the form of a sprained ankle.

Leading 2-1 in sets and trailing 2-1 in games in the fourth set Schaaf was injured as he attempted a desperate back-hand stab of an overhead smash by Stu Robinson. Play was halted at this point, and a question was raised as to what should be done. However, Coach Chaffee clarified the situation by declaring, "the boys will play the match even if we are forced to wait until next spring."

Schaaf Close To Victory
Schaaf came close to victory in three straight sets, for in the initial stanza Charlie led 5-4, only to bow before the rapid fire play of Robinson, 7-5. However, throughout the second set, Schaaf seemed more consistent and had the situation well in hand as he took a 4-0 lead. Long rallies, lobs

Injury Ridden Ephs Oppose Trinity Eleven

Higgins, Duffield, Blanks Expected In Game Houseparty Weekend

Continued from Page 1

are all probably out this afternoon but should be back by next week. Quarterbacks Viv Fuzak and Buddy Wilson may be limited in their playing time. Backfield coach Dale Burnett has been experimenting with his men, and those most likely to see action are Dick Whitney and "Ripper" Collins, spearheads in last Saturday's thrust against Bowdoin, Dunc McDonald, Cliff Stowers, Dave Van Alstyne, and Ted Quinlan.

There is more encouragement in the fact that the Williams forward wall, which performed so well Saturday, is intact, and has no injuries. The ends will be Frank Todd and Gene Detmer, the tackles, Hank Lucas and John Glancy, the guards, Gene Murphy and "Frog" Salmon, and center, Jim Lyons. They are backed up by Bud Cool and Dan Mahoney, John Stillwell and Marty Detmer, Jim Heekin and Chuck Jensch, and Tim Conway.

The Eleven Nutmegs
Trinity boasts a first-rate backfield. Besides Kunkiewicz, it has Carroll, Eblen, Heintz and Corcoran, the two best ball-toters, and Boland. The line should be: Pope and Pitkin, ends, Holmgren and Ponsalle, converted from end, tackles, Baltronis and Kolakowski, guards, and Bestor, their captain and center.

"I'm the supply member of the team"

"I help make your telephone service the world's best"

"About 50 years before you were born—back in 1877—I started making telephone equipment for the nation.

"As the manufacturing and supply member of the Bell Telephone team, I've always had a lot to do with making your service the world's best—at the lowest possible cost.

"The close teamwork made possible by my being a part of the Bell System was never more important than today—in helping to meet record demands for telephone service.

"My name is Western Electric."

Western Electric

A UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM SINCE 1882

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

IRENE'S Gift Shop

Featuring

- FINE LEATHER GOODS
- HAND WROUGHT ALUMINUM WARE
- PLASTIC PLAYING CARDS
- TABLE LAMPS
- HURRICANE LAMPS

LARGE VARIETY OF GIFTS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

Come in and look around

Under the Management of
MRS. IRENE KING

WALDEN THEATRE

ENDS SATURDAY

CRY WOLF

with

ERROL FLYNN

BARBARA STANWYCK

SUNDAY and MONDAY

THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER

LORETTA YOUNG

and

JOSEPH COTTON

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY

LIVING IN A BIG WAY

GENE KELLY

MARIE McDONALD

wmsy

by charles klensch

I never saw a purple cow
I never hope to see one
but this I'll tell you anyhow
I'd sooner see than buy one —with profound apologies to gillette burges for this travesty even though it just one in a long list of atrocities committed in the name of the patron of bliville.

this bit of doggerel has been lying around in the desk for several months now. It lay there because I was loathe to play picador to a female Ferdinand.

but now is the time for quiet rejoicing and the interim Cow (Oct. 1946 - sept 1947) may soon become a faded bit of wmsiana.

at a meeting last week editor bob gleckner told Cow staffers that the new party line would be to make the magazine more of a campus activity and less of a refuge for compclass grindings—there will be more lampooning of local sacredcows (a fertile pasture)...feature articles on sports and other activities...more (and better) cartoons...and photographs. also two or three fiction articles will be included in each issue.

it sounds to me like a good scheme. lets hope it will be the formula for a successful magazine, one which more people will be interested in reading—and buying.

the present college magazine got its start in the dim days after the last war. a group of highminded wmsmen decided that what postwar wms really needed was a magazine.

not a magazine like the old Purple Cow—which was one of the best college humor magazines in the 30's—for the old Cow smacked of judge the yalerecord and the rahrah era of hipflasks homebrew and racoon coats...

which obviously wasnt the thing for wehereatwms.

so this group who were experts at running houseparty dances and class elections decided to employ the same techniques in running a new magazine.

thus the griffin came to be published in the spring of 1946.

the griffin stated that its policy was "to publish the best writing, both serious and light, and the best cartoons, turned out by any member of the Williams College community."

the best of intentions surely but the mss were largely fugitives from compclasses, which in itself wasnt too bad.

there should be a magazine that offers undergraduates a chance to get their stuff in print — if they do any promising stuff.

but the griffin was run on a shoestring deadline allowance and the editing was perfunctory and inadequate. promising stories that should have been edited and reworked by the authors just werent.

adrenaline in the form of a newyorkeresque aroundthetown dept was tried as a circulation booster. but the adrenaline wasnt much good and there wasnt enough blood to go around anyway.

by the summer of 1946 everyone but a soft core of chinup followers of the founders was dischanted with the griffin.

then another group of students petitioned the sac for a charter to publish a magazine under the name of the Purple Cow. it was to be somewhat like the old lampooning Cow of the prewar days but it was also to include the kind of coverage of campus activities which gleckner decreed last week for the present magazine.

the sac decided however that there wasnt even enough wind for one windmill and suggested a compromise between the Cow promoters and the griffin.

the name of the griffin would be changed to the Purple Cow and the eagerbeavers who wanted to start a new magazine would be put on the staff and could bring about a Reform from Within.

but as the chairman (the old houseparty dance crowd was still in and the editor was called "the chairman") of the new Cow declared at the first meeting with the new staffers...

—nothing will be changed but the name.

and nothing—to speak of—was.

writing off the intervening year that brings us up to the present and the new policy which bob gleckner has announced.

so a skyrocket yeateamyea for the new editorial board (pruned of dead wood)* which has set out to combine the fun of the prewar Cow with the potentialities of the griffin.

* see paragraphs in the news, page 2.

Colleges - - -

delegates to analyze the programs and to get specific ideas for campus projects throughout the year. Ed Spencer served as chairman of the World Relatedness Commission.

Foreign Students Present

Also at the conference were several foreign students who had been doing relief work in Europe.

The religious leadership of the conference was under the direction of Rev. Theodore Speers, Pastor, Center Presbyterian Church, New York. William E. Wimer of the Student Christian Movement Staff and Harry Barnes, president of the Amherst Christian Association, were in charge of planning and organizing the weekend activities.

Cap and Bells Faces Setting, Acting Trouble

Academic Credit Given Ripley For Designing Of Production Sets

Sheldon Ripley '48 will be the first student to receive academic credit for stage designing as a result of his work in Cap and Bell's production of "The Beaux Strategem," November 13, 14, 15.

The main problem confronting Ripley and David Bryant, director, is in achieving historical accuracy in the production and in getting the cast used to the flowery action and language of the Restoration period. Ripley has conducted considerable research on the play in order that this Restoration atmosphere will be preserved.

Low Curtains Difficult

One example of this problem is that the female characters have had great difficulty in curtsying low enough. It seems that in late 17th century England a lady was required to do deep knee bends on one leg to conform to the social customs of the times.

Bennington College assisted by furnishing numerous costumes and accessories for the elaborate performance. John Hopkins '50 is in charge of designing the remaining costumes in addition to his duties as make-up technician.

Dick Marble '48 is stage manager. Otto W. Siebert '50 is production manager.

Business Staff Large

Theodore O. Lohrke '49 is business manager and heads the large staff of assistants for the publicity, program, box office, and house committees. This staff will cover all the social units for tickets and publicity.

Rodney Armstrong '48, Walter Allen '49, and Peter Candler '49, are in charge of props, sound, and lighting, respectively.

The lead part of Archer in the play will be played by Howard Erskine '49.

FordAntiqueCause Of Sig Law Clash

Stouthearted '24 Auto Stopped By Royal

There is no joy in Sig-ville. In fact, the gathering gloom brought about by various Minions of the Law has reached a classic peak. The reason? Reports have it that two loyal brethren, Richard Connelly '49 and Henry Strong '49 have dealt in some fancy underhandedness.

Feeling imbued with weekend spirit (and who wasn't) they took the easy way to Weston Field-driving an uninsured, non-registered, but none the less stouthearted 1924 Ford antique. Chief Royall and cohort Judge Israel Ruby could hardly condone such procedure. Result: $20 per.

The two members will be reimbursed by the contributions of 33 Sigs who had just handed out $85 for the jalopy the day before.

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

M. Salvatore

J. P. SMITH SHOES HANNAN SHOES
BASS LOAFERS and SKI BOOTS
GYM and TENNIS SHOES

SALVY'S

SPRING STREET

TELEPHONE 600

Elections - - -

ate Council.

Stillwell Leads Juniors

Newly elected president of the Junior class, John A. Stillwell '49 is a member of Delta Psi, a Junior Adviser and was secretary of the sophomore class last summer. He also plays on the varsity football, wrestling and lacross teams.

Last year's sophomore class president, Jerry Page, new junior class secretary, is a member of Chi Psi and the UG. He also plays varsity soccer and baseball and acts as a Junior Adviser.

Irwin On Record

Sophomore class president, Dud Irwin, is circulation manager of the Record and a member of Kappa Alpha. Dud also plays varsity hockey. Cliff Stowers, sophomore class secretary, is a varsity football player and a member of AD.

All the class officers will serve as members of the Honor System Committee. In addition, the presidents of each class automatically become members of the Undergraduate Council.

Patronize

RECORD

Advertisers

Conference - - -

icles, and the significance for world affairs of America's attempts to solve its domestic problems.

Three Panel Discussion

The discussions to follow will be divided into three panels. The major outlines of the economic challenge to America, in the immediate future and in the long run, will be the topic for discussion in the first panel. The second panel will move from this background to an examination of the capacity of American political machinery and processes to evolve solutions to these problems.

Examining the extent of fundamental agreement in America on these basic issues and challenges and summarizing the whole problem primarily in terms of the likelihood of solutions will be the function of the final panel.

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in...

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.

On Sale at 5 p.m. on all Williamstown Newstands

KRONICK'S ESSO SERVICE STATION

CARS WASHED $1.50
POLISHING AND WAXING

State Road - Opp. Howard Johnson

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

"CHESTERFIELDS ARE NO STRANGERS THEY'RE ALWAYS WELCOME"

Bring along

APPEARING WITH BARRY FITZGERALD IN PARAMOUNT'S "WELCOME STRANGER"

CHESTERFIELD

ALWAYS BUY

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

The sum-total of smoking pleasure They Satisfy

Weeks' Brothers Restaurant

BREAKFAST LUNCHEON DINNER

105 NORTH STREET

BENNINGTON, VT

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corona Underwood Royal

Pam's
STATIONERY STORE

108 Main Street North Adams

FAIRFIELDS FARM

GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1947

No. 9

Williams Defeated By Trinity, 33 - 0

Second String Backs Operate With Whitney

Murphy Excels In Line Which Softens From Incessant Pounding

Opposition's Passes Find Their Targets

Quinlan Gets Off Good Punts, End Sweeps

by Russ Frost

Williams' second string backfield was no match for the untied, unbeaten Trinity eleven at Trinity Field on Saturday as the Purple went down to its fourth defeat, 33-0. From start to finish it was a hard fighting Williams line battling all the way against a team that combined depth of manpower with a fast, hard-hitting attack.

Minus the services of backfield men Pat Higgins, Stu Duffield, Bill Blanks, and Vic Fuzak due to injuries, Coach Snively built a new backfield around Dick Whitney, the only veteran back left in his bag of players. Ed Quinlan went in as tailback with Dunc McDonald, Roy Collins, Cliff Stowers, Bill Fawcett and some others maneuvering around in the halfback spots.

Passing Weakness Haunts Williams

Despite lack of experience this makeshift backfield showed flashes of some fine football. Quinlan was gaining yardage on swings around end and doing good job of punting, while reliable Dick Whitney smashed at the inside of the Trinity line. It was not clicking smoothly enough, however, to overcome the absence of a passing attack and couldn't get a sus-

Three Predict Pool Winners

Most Entries Foiled By Upset Of Army

John B. Weeth '48, Wolcott J. Humphrey '49, and George F. Rush '50 received prizes from Spring St. Merchants this week for having won the Record's weekly football poll.

The poll showed that students considered the odds against a Williams victory as eleven to one, and Amherst had only one chance in fifty-two to upset Wesleyan.

Weeth's lone mistake was failure to predict Columbia's upset victory over Army. His accuracy at picking the other upsets, however, nets him either one Williams beer mug or one picture framed at Bastien's and one shirt from the Co-op.

Humphrey 90% Right

By virtue of picking the winners in nine of the ten contests listed on the poll, Humphrey will receive a bottle of champagne from Cal King's. Bush, who missed the boat on both Army and Harvard but got his slate of winners in early, will have one suit cleaned free of charge by Rudnick's.

The Army, Harvard, and Georgia upsets proved to be the nemesis on a large proportion of the 104 slips handed in to the four stores. A Columbia victory was anticipated on only four slips, while the odds against Alabama and Dartmouth's unexpected victories were three to one.

Ed Quinlan, substitute tail-back, returns a Trinity punt to the Williams 48-yard line.

Williams Photo Service

tained drive under way at any time.

It was the Williams line that carried the brunt of the attack and drew praise from even the Trinity rooters. Caught offguard by a Trinity scoring drive in the first five minutes of the game, the line rallied quickly and fought the Blue and Gold running offensive to a standstill for the bulk of the game. But they were hamstrung when Trinity took to the air with Frank Eblen and Tony Kunkiewicz doing the tossing.

Murphy and Eph Line Standout

It was a pleasure to watch Captain Gene Murphy submarining his way into the Trinity backfield time after time making tackles or slowing up the play for his team-mates. Left end Frank Todd looked as though he were enjoying his job of bringing runners down to earth, often ranging far and wide to make the tackle.

Trinity opened the game, taking the kickoff on a march of 80 yards to score in the first five minutes. Harold Heintz, one of the Blue and Gold "touchdown twins", carried the ball over for the score. The kick was good and Williams trailed 7-0 before they had time to catch their breath.

Quinlan Shows Punting Ability

For the rest of the quarter the Purple line held them in mid-field while the Eph backs sparred around with their running and passing attack. Quinlan showed his kicking ability at the close of the quarter even though it won't register in the records. He punted out on the 12 yard line, 48 yards from scrimmage, only to have it called back on a penalty. Williams received a first down on the penalty but couldn't get anywhere after that.

In the second stanza, after an exchange of punts and a penalty put Williams back on their 28, Quinlan again punted 42 yards to Trinity's 30 yard stripe and out of danger. Trinity started a drive, getting down to the Purple 27. A long pass from Kunkiewicz was incomplete and Williams took over.

Late in the first half Trinity got under way again as the Eph line tired a bit. Marching 40 yards to the Williams 40, Kunkiewicz tried to move through the air for a score. Williams rooters sighed their relief as Trinity re-

See TRINITY Page 3

WOC Plans Winter Carnival March 6-7

The Williams Outing Club is planning a winter carnival tentatively scheduled for the weekend of March 6-7.

A ski meet will be the main attraction with about six other colleges participating. Included in the activities will be cross country skiing on Saturday morning, jumping and slalom on Sheep Hill Saturday afternoon, and downhill races Sunday morning on Thunderbolt trail on Mt. Greylock. Big Bromley at Manchester will be used if weather conditions do not permit use of local surroundings.

WMS Puts Off Opening Date To November 3

News Program, Dramas, Musical Quiz Planned For Forthcoming Year

Station WMS has been forced to postpone its tentative opening date for a week because transmitter parts have not yet arrived. President Dick Morrill has announced November 3 as the new date, setting broadcasting hours at 5:15 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. and 8:00 to 11:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

WMS will remain primarily a "platter spinning station," he said but emphasized that it would continually improve its programs. The station is particularly anxious to establish a radio workshop to produce student written dramatic scripts.

Cal King On Air

The "Everything Goes Show," one of last years favorites, will return to the air this year under the sponsorship of Cal King. The program, which will probably be heard on Monday night under the direction of Harry Baldwin, will take the form of a musical quiz, with prizes of beer, wine, or champagne from King's Spring Street package store.

Other programs will include a 500 word news summary, wired daily from the New York Times, See WMS Page 4

Critics Rate Sam Donahue America's Leading Creator Of Modern Dance Rhythm

When the critics of music's "bibles", Metronome, Down Beat, Variety, and Billboard agree on a band's potentialities and its current brilliance, that's news! When they hail Sam Donahue's Orchestra as a top modern dance band, "The Band of 1947" and "America's Most Creative Orchestra", that's bigger news.

But the biggest news of all is that this band, in a class with

200 Students Battle Forest Fire At Lenox

Goalpost Fight Ends In Draw

Amherst And Wesleyan Battle After Game

Despite a 20-0 pounding at the hands of Wesleyan's gridiron wonders last Saturday on Pratt Field, the Lord Jeffs fared better in the ensuing goalpost battle, which ended in a scoreless tie.

Shortly before the final gun, Amherst frosh massed before the coveted wooden crossbars in defiance of any contrary motives which the Wesleyan youngsters might have had. Amherst freshmen are well disciplined and recognize a high degree of loyalty and respect for upperclassmen.

Battle Begins

Even as the crowd dispersed, it appeared that nothing would develop, for the Wesmen were totally unprepared for the organized goalpost defense set up by their rivals. If it had not been for the foolishness of one rather "loaded", man from Middleton, probably nothing would have happened, but it did.

Charging down from the stands, a lone figure raced directly into the middle of the Amherst blockade, only to be hurled to the ground in a helpless heap. As if the entire Wesleyan student body had witnessed the incident, they took up the offensive en masse, creating a scene which very nearly reached riot proportions. The fight was on.

Loudspeaker Supervision

Simultaneously, a rather insignificant looking little fellow leapt to the bleachers facing the near goalpost and began giving orders over the loudspeaker, which seemed to fall deaf on the ears of the bellicose frosh, who were prepared to risk life and limb for the sake of Lord Jeffrey.

The crossbars creaked and groaned, but they stubbornly refused to be brought down. Fists flew, people brawled with one another, only to find they were fighting their own men. Stray beer cans clunked off the head of more than one luckless individual. Two unfortunate "Yalles" mentioned their alma mater and were promptly pummeled into the ground.

No Pants!

At the height of the melee, an enterprising Amherst man grasped the crossbar firmly. It must have been a strong grip, for he was still hanging on the wood after his trousers had been torn away much to the excitement of female bystanders. Beaucoup confusion!

The goalposts still stood, and the intensity of the struggle increased with warlike fervor. Countless wounds in the form of blackeyes and bloody noses were incurred by both forces. Then the expected happened. A limp body fell to the ground, and would have been severely trampled had it not been for the alertness of a few individuals who made known the accident.

Surprisingly, the contest stopped as quickly as it had started. See GOALPOST Page 4

Personnel Men Want Beavers

Wyckoff Deplores Lack Of Extra-Curriculars

"It's the 'eager beavers' as well as the honor students whom the personnel officers and directors of admissions in business and graduate schools seek," declared William O. Wyckoff last Friday. Mr. Wyckoff, Director of the Williams Placement Bureau, was deploring the lack of student participation in extra-curricular activities.

"I have letters from employers in my files assuring me that they don't necessarily want the valedictorians of graduating classes," said Mr. Wyckoff, who is also the editor of Williams College in World War II. "Of course that sort of man would be fine for scientific research work," he went on, rolling his eyes as he poured the imaginary contents of one imaginary test tube into another.

Seek Experienced Men

Mr. Wyckoff warned that when a company envoy scans the dope sheet on a job-seeking senior, he wonders what the fellow does with his free time, if there are no extra-curricular activities mentioned in the record to supplement the grades. If the applicant has only fair marks, no previous experience, and gives Mr. Wyckoff no records of work at college above and beyond his studies, the prospective employer will have to assume that the man is either lazy or "just plain dumb."

See FIRE Page 4

Williams Men Relieve Guard Last Weekend

Returned Firefighters Flay Disorganization Of Army Direction

Blaze Controlled; Area Still Watched

A horde of 200 Williams men relieved three National Guard Companies at a smoldering, potentially explosive forest fire near Lenox, Massachusetts last Friday. "Disorganized... generally fouled up!" were fire fighters' comments regarding Army administration of forces combatting the blaze of unknown origin.

As the RECORD goes to press, the fires still smolders under the watchful eye of guardsmen and civilian volunteers who are hoping for a heavy rain to completely extinguish it.

Armed with shovels and GI experience, Williams students answered the Friday morning call to patrol the fire line on October Mountain. Some had spent Thursday night fighting the conflagration which had raged out of control earlier that day.

Free Cuts Offered

Spurred on by love of adventure and Dean Robert R. Brooks' offer of free cuts, a hundred men were given shovels, hoes and Indian pumps at the Lenox railroad station and sent up to the fire. The blaze was brought under control late Thursday night.

But, claimed one returning Williams man, the National Guard had taken over direction of fire fighting activities and sent most of the fire line patrolmen home after the blaze had been driven underground. As a result, the fire broke out anew at 4 a.m. Friday threatening fir trees near the Pittsfield water shed.

More Men Called

Shortly afterwards, State Fire Warden Gordon S. Farnham sent an urgent plea to Dean Brooks for more men, and at 1 p.m., 200 embarked for the Lenox railroad station where they signed in. The state offered to pay them seventy-five cents per hour.

Charles Shepard, Williamstown senior boy scout advisor who took eleven scouts to fight the blaze Thursday night, reported that at the time the National Guard had but two jeeps to convey fire fighters to the scene of action. Shepard and his crew used their own command car to transport men over the five mile long stagecoach road to fire fighting headquarters.

Lack Of Organization

One blackened individual, rolling back into college at 11 p.m. Friday, disgustedly declared, "what a farce.... we thought we had a fire to fight." He decried the lack of leadership and went on to describe the he and most of the others were driven for some five miles to field headquarters, then had to walk two or three mere to their post on the fire line.

"We each had one hundred yards of fire line to watch," he continued. The fire had seeped underground and these patrolmen had to put out small fires in their respective areas with shovels and Indian pumps as the fires broke to the surface. "We had to

Acc sax artist Sam Donahue with lovely featured vocalist Shirley Lloyd. "America's Most Creative Orchestra" appears here Friday evening in Lasell Gym for the Fall Houseparty Formal.

Stan Kenton, Elliott Lawrence, and Les Brown, will be here this Friday night, the featured attraction in the Williams Fall Houseparty Dance in Lasell Gym from ten o'clock to two.

Donahue, 27 year old tenor sax star who has played with the Gene Krupa, Harry James, and Benny Goodman bands, was recently discharged from the Navy. His famous all-Navy Swing Band toured 175,000 miles through the ETO, Mediterranean and Pacific, playing for more than three million members of our armed forces overseas.

Strictly Dance Music

"I want to have a band that is above all else, DANCEABLE," says Donahue. "Too many of my brethren have discarded rhythm and emphasized over-dramatic changes in tempo and style. Musstakes. A California boy, Bill had sung with various school and local dance bands in Berkely and Oakland, and had been a featured singer on radio stations there and in San Francisco. Maestro Donahue "discovered" him on one of his overseas tours—Bill was then in the ETO with a Navy Seabee outfit.

Shirley Lloyd, featured songstress with the Donahue outfit, could get by just standing on a bandstand. She's got looks that would charm a stone, and when she sings—look out, Mister!

Both Bill Lockwood and Shirley Lloyd will soon be heard over nation-wide network broadcasts with the Donahue Orchestra from such prominent spots as Frank Dalley's Meadowbrook in New Jersey, New York's City's Hotel Pennsylvania, and the Hotel Sherman in Chicago.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 News Editor
JOSHUA T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

William R. Borney, Jr., '49 Russell B. Frost, '49
Seth M. Bidwell, '49 Edwin Kuh, '49
Jerry J. Cole, '49 J. Edward Pawlick, '49
Joseph F. Dorsey, '49 R. S. Taylor, '49

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock, '49

ART BOARD

Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Felch, '48

VOL. LXI

OCTOBER 29, 1947

No. 8

Vote Yes

Within the next ten days a vote of undergraduates will be taken on the question: "Should Williams College affiliate with the National Student Association?" Before voting, students should know the aims and policies of N.S.A.

What is N.S.A.? N.S.A. is an organization of college students formed at Madison, Wisconsin, this summer. It seeks to be the most representative Student Organization. It is non-political and non-sectarian, interesting itself only in matters that affect students as students.

THREE LEVEL ORGANIZATION

How is N.S.A. organized? It is organized on three levels, the national, the regional and the local campus. The legislative body, or National Student Congress, composed of delegates from all member schools, will meet once a year during the summer vacation. The executive branch, composed of the National Officers plus regional chairmen, will meet three times a year. Assemblies will be held in the regions.

This year the N.S.A. will initiate its work primarily in the fields of educational opportunities and academic freedom, student government and international activity. This will include the collection and dissemination of information on curricula, educational opportunities, and academic standards and methods; will also include the sharing of information with colleges which have an ineffectual or no student government.

WORLD BASIS

On a world basis N.S.A. is seeking to promote international understanding among student groups. As a first step, N.S.A. is being granted a seat on the national UNESCO Council of U.N. N.S.A. is in close cooperation with the World Student Service Fund. A committee from N.S.A. is arranging terms for, and studying the full implications of membership in the International Union of Students. A list of the member countries of this organization will show that the ideas struggling for supremacy in the world will be competing in this I.U.S.

The Record feels that it would be a positive step for Williams to represent its views in the N.S.A., as well as to take part in its various student activities.

Letter To The Editor

October 24, 1947

Editor, The Williams Record,
Dear Sir:

So far this season our football team has been subjected to some severe punishment by its opponents. That is as nothing compared with the beating administered the English language by the editorial staff of the Record in last Saturday's issue. Witness the following:

"As a nobleman of broken fortune, the play revolves around he and his friend Almwell who have gone to the country with hopes of marrying a fortune there."

To worsen that sentence would be well nigh impossible. An assist in the beating should go to your correspondent in the same issue who writes:

"I enclose a copy of a letter to Miss Osborne, whose friends would be very glad to see printed in the Record."

It would seem to the writer that the "brief orientation meeting for all Record editorial staff competes" announced in the same issue might, with profit, be lengthened and perhaps repeated.

Very truly yours,

Ira Hawkins, '16

Calendar

TUESDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football
Phi Delt vs Psi U.
Beta vs KA
Chi Psi vs Zeta Psi
Delta Psi vs Phi Sig

WEDNESDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football
DU vs Phi Sig
D Phi vs Alpha Delt
Garfield Club vs Theta Delt
DKE vs Sig Phi

THURSDAY

Afternoon
Phi Delt vs Phi Gam
Beta vs Delta Psi
Chi Psi vs KA
Psi U vs Zeta Psi

FRIDAY

10:00 p.m. — 2:00 a.m. Glee Club sponsored house party dance in Lasell Gym. $4.80 couple.

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

how many peepul were fortunate enough to be able to read the williamsrecord last week?

did i say 'fortunate'? well, that isn't what i meant.

on the last page - or first page if you read the williamsrecord the way i do - there was a thing called 'wmsy' written by a person called 'chuklensch'.

he has recently "been promoted from the editorial board of the purple cow to a position on the art staff." (see williamsrecord) he has also been demoted from his position on the editorial staff of the williamsrecord to a position on the editorial board.

since he's a senior, he's probably working towards his matriculation in june.

besides, something seems to be wrong with the shiftkey and spacebar on his smithcorona portable, because the whole damncolym is written without CAPITAL LETTERS or spacesbetweenwords.

chuklensch has been reading too much eecummings ("buffalo bill is defunct . . .") and also too many willyumrandolphearst editorials, because he writes each sentence as a separte paragraph.

it is felt that chuklensch is carrying freedomofthepress to a nauseating xtreme.

mayhap i am hopelessly a rottenreactionary, but the whole idea might have frightening results.

forinstance sentences could be written without any space whatsoever between words thus getting readers who haven't a very easy time of it anyway hopelessly confused.

umopedsdn uetlra ed pnoo sprom .o

the system could easily be used for propaganda purposes by those who wish to drive our country into a franticfrnzy.

chairman thomas of the houseunamericanactivitiescommittee may well consider the investigation of chuklensch.

if this is the kind of writing we may expect in the newmagazine-tosupplementthepurplecow, they had best ditch the wholeaffair, because i will simply not stand for such nonsense.

let's give the berries boochnuklenschboo to this ungenious style of writing.

II

This week, let's give some calm consideration to the greatest existing campus question: IS PROFESSOR SCHUMAN QUITE MAD?

It would be quite easy and probably just as profitable to say "yes" or "no" and let it go at that, but it would be of great advantage to Professor Schuman and to those of us who must take his courses in future years to ascertain the extent of this insanity—feigned or actual - which is becoming increasingly evident.

Schuman Pops Question

The question is not one of our own devising, since Prof. Schuman himself has posed it at every opportunity. This in itself is a good sign since it is a well-known fact that the most obviously insane are those who have no qualms about it. At least twice during the present term of scholastic study, the good professor has made the statement that he is "out of residence, out of town, and some people would say out of mind." (The quotation marks are the author's.)

Unfortunately he has also been out of reach of the inquiring reporter of the RECORD, who has sought an audience with him to find just how much of the statement is fact and how much is fancy. We did manage to find a psychiatrist who was consulted by Prof. Schuman. From our conversation with this doctor, we found two pertinent items. First, that the psychiatrist came away from his consultation with the strange feeling that HE had been the one analyzed, and second, that the professor had so much conscious mind that the doctor had been singularly unsuccessful in his attempt to get into Schuman's subconscious.

Schuman's Schizophrenic Schwitzerkase

This result of psychiatric research is not uncommon in certain cases of an advanced sort of schizophrenic schwitzerkase which, unfortunately, is rare among the higher vertebrates and college professors. In the latter stages, the patient says that he is crazy so that the doctor will think that he thinks he is crazy and therefore is sane. Obviously it takes considerable intellect to continue this form of mental masquerade for any length of time. This does not necessarily remove all doubt of Prof. Schuman's suffering from this disease since one couldn't find one person in several thousand who would say—in libelous print—that the professor is devoid of intellect.

A certain noticable preoccupation with the fantastic dream world created by Peggy Lamson in collaboration with Charlie Lutwidge Dodgson (Lewis Carroll to us) would indicate Freudian tendencies. It may be that Prof. Schuman's distasteful contact with our horrible capitalistic world has driven him ever-retrogressing into the dreams of his childhood—symbolized by Alice and her card-kingsdoms and looking glass people. He has gone so far as to find within the pages of Carroll's works symbols for everyday occurrences such as Dean Brooks, President Truman, and the House Un-American Affairs Committee. This is treading on dangerous ground these days when even the sanest of us are loath to think on such things in their actuality—much less in symbols.

To Hell With Schuman

To all outward appearances, the family life of the Schumans is ideal. We discount with a horrified expression, the thought that Mrs. Schuman would ever attempt the removal of the professor from the realm of the living. It may well be that this very happiness is the cause of Professor Schuman's insanity (if indeed he be insane). It is entirely possible for one to be insanely happy and happily insane. These are almost the only alternatives remaining if we insist upon supporting Schuman in his conjecture. If this is true, then the only way to cure this case is to get rid of Prof. Schuman's happiness: his wife and child, his home, his pipe, his subscription to Pravda, in fact all the things which he enjoys. If his life becomes Hell (we are assuming that the country will go Republican in 1948) then he must of necessity become sane once more.

Of course, there may possibly be method in this madness of Prof. Schuman. If his "ravings" prove correct, he will be taken up as the prophet who was without honor in his own country—a sort of Cassandra (male) whose foolish gibberings have suddenly taken on a gospel sheen. If, by chance, Truman with his forty-dollar gold garter manages to outsmart Schuman and bring order to the chaos anyway, Professor Schuman can always seek the quiet refuge of the insane asylum. Any way you slice it, Schuman comes out ahead. Crazy? Maybe.

Schuman's group of worshippers who laugh and applaud wildly at his slightest twitch or sneer, may consider the possibility of opening a campaign to achieve his return to normalcy (hardly Harding normalcy—or even Coolidge normalcy for that matter). There will be no fee for this analysis, but we do have a parody which we may use as a closing text:

"You are nuts, Freddie Schuman," the young man said,
"And your hair has become very long;
And yet you become increasingly Red—
Do you think you could possibly be wrong?"

Could it be that Professor Schuman is so sane that we in comparison are the crack-pots? Hmm!

For a winning beginning...

Discover the creamy-rich lather of Seaforth Shaving Soap, the heather-fresh exhilaration of Seaforth Lotion. Enjoy them yourself...soon! These and other Seaforth essentials, packaged in handsome stoneware, only $1.00 each. Gift sets $2.00 to $7.00. Seaforth, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20.

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

INSURANCE BROKERS

TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Saturday.

2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.

3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.

4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

Saturday, November 1 Games

One Shirt at THE WILLIAMS CO-OP

1.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	Tufts	<input type="checkbox"/>
2.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Wash. & Lee	<input type="checkbox"/>
3.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
4.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Rutgers	<input type="checkbox"/>
5.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
6.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Illinois	vs.	Michigan	<input type="checkbox"/>
7.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Navy	vs.	Notre Dame	<input type="checkbox"/>
8.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
9.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Wesleyan	vs.	Haverford	<input type="checkbox"/>
10.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Union	<input type="checkbox"/>

One Williams Beer Mug or One Picture Framed at BASTIEN'S

1.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	Tufts	<input type="checkbox"/>
2.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Wash. & Lee	<input type="checkbox"/>
3.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
4.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Rutgers	<input type="checkbox"/>
5.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
6.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Illinois	vs.	Michigan	<input type="checkbox"/>
7.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Navy	vs.	Notre Dame	<input type="checkbox"/>
8.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
9.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Wesleyan	vs.	Haverford	<input type="checkbox"/>
10.	<input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Union	<input type="checkbox"/>

Cross Country Wins; Soccer And Football Teams Lose

Williams Soccer Meets Defeat From Springfield Champions

J.V.'s Look Sloppy; Frosh Also Lose

Plans For Clark Game Include Some Hope

The Williams varsity soccer team dropped its third straight game of the season to Springfield College by a 6-0 score on Cole Field last Saturday. The Eph freshmen and the Jayvee booters fared little better, both dropping their games.

The varsity had more than they could handle in Springfield, National Intercollegiate Champions of 1946, and unbeaten so far this year. Although they played a good game, the Ephmen could not match the skill nor scoring punch of the national champs. Springfield dominated the play, keeping the ball down in Purple territory most of the time.

Scoreless First

The game, however, was not as one-sided as the score indicates. Williams gave Springfield a good fight, and were it not for a few exceptional saves by the Maroon goalie, the home team might have had a few scores themselves. After a scoreless first period, in which the Ephmen matched Springfield rather evenly, the Maroon team came up with three goals in the second period, one of them on a penalty kick. They added two more goals in the third period, and blasted home their sixth and final score of the day in the last period.

The Purple line could not do much against the Maroon defenders. They lacked the passing and co-ordination of the national champs; many times they brought the ball down the field, only to lose it to the opposition. A great performance was turned in by Captain Denny Lunt in the goal, who time after time, blocked attempted Springfield shots. Fullbacks Jerry Page and "Bump" Hadley also turned in fine games. The halfbacks, especially Emmy Brown, performed well, but could do little against the Maroon Powerhouse.

Wesleyan Frosh Win

The Williams Freshman booters met the Wesleyan Frosh on Cole Field at the same time as the Varsity. They played the visitors even for three periods, with no score on either side, but the Cardinals came up with four goals in the last period, to swamp the Ephmen, 4-0.

Immediately after the freshman game, the Eph Jayvees met the varsity of New England College, a GI college from New Hampshire. The little purples, who looked exceedingly good in winning their opening game of the season the previous Saturday from the RPI Jayvees, could not find their scoring punch last Saturday, and lost a ragged game to the visitors by 1-0 score. The Jayvees, coached by Hank Flynt, ex-varsity player, extended the game to two overtime periods before dropping the decision in a sudden death affair.

The Varsity will meet Clark University next Saturday on Cole Field, in an attempt to gain their second win of the season. On the same day, the freshmen team will journey to Amherst to meet the Lord Jeff freshmen.

The Varsity Line-up:

Springfield (6): Williams (0)
G Thau	Lunt (Cap't.)
RF Moutinho	Hadley
LF Moorehouse	Page
RHB Sevilla	Brown
CHB Hogan	Kneass
LHB McDonald	Bowen
OR Zenaty	Donnelly
IR Molton	Emmert
CF McGhee	Smith
IL Bird	Oudin
OL Smith	Mayshark

Substitutes, Williams—Gourley, Davis

Springfield—Elliott, Lambert

Score by Periods:

Williams	0 0 0 0	— 0
Springfield	0 3 2 1	— 6

In Ev'ry Play

by Jack Schafer

The collegiate intent of this bureau is to spread as little of the rah-rah propaganda as possible. We're more than casually unconcerned with the football team that spreads the Purple gospel of grub and grind on foreign fields. Our interest lies in the Williams team because it is a group of men playing football—the fact that they represent Williams is incidental.

With the propaganda bologna dispelled, it can be stated without consciously showing any poor fanatic that the reports from the outlying regions concerning future opponents are not overly impressive. Last week it sounded like a funeral dirge. Trinity had leveled Hobart, Union had scored twenty-four points against RPI, Wesleyan had knocked Swarthmore all over the State of Connecticut, and even Smith's next door neighbors had won a game.

This week it seems no Williamstown resident need quake in his boots at the thought of the impending invasion. According to our Schenectady agent, Mel Hein's students ran around with hopeless abandon and practised disinterest against the Hobart club. They rarely came within shouting distance of paydirt. And after watching Wesleyan and Amherst mosey around Pratt Field for four chukkers, the Messrs. Higgins, Fuzak, Duffield, Blanka, and Wilson thoroughly expect to give both clubs a good show after recovering from their varied and assorted ailments.

Let not this space belie the fact, however, that currently Williams is hell-bent for the bottom of the sour sardines set.

The team has lost four straight games, and only two of the losses have been to first-class outfits. It has a couple of tough games left to play.

To say this is not to indict any one component of the football scene. This agent is not beating the bushes in order to flush some unsuspecting sucker. These myopic eyes are tired of reading such rot. What has transpired is in the record for all to see. Observations on same are in this tramp's mind and, given the space, will appear.

Freshmen Win Over Wesmen By Five TD's

Team Shows Promise In Brain And Brawn Fiske Scores Four

by Steve Blaschke

Harv Potter's freshmen found their version of the Happy Hunting-grounds last Saturday when they trampled over the Wesleyan goal line until the allotted time ran out, the score was 40-6, and the first half of the Little Three Crown was decidedly ours.

The purple yearlings unleashed an attack which was such a skillful combination of endruns, passes and straight power plays that even Harv Potter was reportedly seen to crack a smile. As soon as the ball was ours it was goal-line bound as "Whit" Fiske and Fritzle Zeller, whose off-tackle slants were a constant pain in the Cardinal's side, alternately carried the ball with Fiske finally going over for the score on an endrun which worked to perfection all afternoon. Ernie Mierzejewski followed with the first of his four successful conversions.

The second score came on a similar march, only this time it was "Hammering" Pete Fisher's line bucking which set the stage for another Fiske touchdown.

Sperry To Fish Again

The second half, saw the crusher put on as Pete Fisher's powerful plunges paved the way for Whit Fiske's third and fourth touchdowns of the afternoon.

The deluge continued when the Sperry to Fish combination payed off with a touchdown and the line got into the scoring spirit as Cary Bldgood intercepted a Wesleyan pass and promptly traversed the 35 yards between him and the goal in a Doc Blanchard Fashion.

A Well-Coached Team

It is impossible to say that any man played a standout game because the very source of the team's success was its finely co-ordinated unity. There were, however, many individual deeds which brought the crowd to its feet. There was little Bill Sperry's passing and quarterbacking, Pete DeLisser's scabback running, Mitch Fish's heady endplay and Ernie Mierzejewski's habit of giving the ball a ride on the kickoffs.

AD's Roll On; Phi Delts Win Tilt With KA

Club Still Undeclared; DU Eight Trounces Theta Delts, Dekes

Last week the Alpha Delts continued their jaunt down victory lane in the battle for the championship of their league, while in the other circuit the Phi Delts polished off one of their strongest rivals, the Kaps.

It is now three wins for the AD's. Victims in the October 21 tilt were the men from Sigma Phi, who succumbed 20-12 to an aerial and ground attack that starred Monk Stanley. And on the next Thursday the Phi Gams were on the losing end of a 20-0 score.

Clubmen Undeclared

While not so decisive in their victories, the Clubmen have kept up with the AD record of 3-0, defeating Phi Gam and Sigma Phi in last week's play. The Phi Gam match had to go into a third overtime before a trick pass to Howie Kaufman gave the Garfield Club a 6-0 triumph, but the Sigs went down much easier, 16-6.

DU bounced back from their trouncing at the hands of the AD's, toppling Theta Delt 18-6 and shellacking the hapless Dekes 18-0. Delta Phi is still undefeated, with a 6-0 win over DKE to its credit, the game with Theta Delt being postponed.

Kaps Lose

In the other league, the Phi Delts didn't seem to have much trouble in shaking the Kaps from the ranks of the unbeaten, 24-12. The Delts had the KA backfield bottled up most of the contest, while their own was constantly on the move.

With only twenty seconds left in a slow and sloppy ballgame, the Betes, still undefeated, finally completed an aerial for a 6-0 victory over Psi U. Sparked by Fred Loney, the Saints downed the Zetes 12-6; while the Phi Sigs had a field day with the Chi Psi's, whom they manhandled to a final score of 36-6.

Opponents Scores

October 25

Union 0, Hobart 6

Wesleyan 20, Amherst 0

Trinity Hands Depleted Ephs Fourth Loss

(Continued from page 1)

celvers got an attack of dropsitis, missing even easy ones.

Two plays after the kick-off for the second half, Heintz of Trinity peeled off around right end for about 30 yards down to the Purple 17. On the next play Trinity tried a lateral and fumbled with Whitney recovering on his own five. For once Quinlan's punt was short, going up only to his 29. A couple of plays later Heintz took a short lateral successfully and got down to the five, and on the next play he scored. The kick was wide and Williams trailed 13-0.

Williams Pulls Boner

Williams pulled a boner on the kick-off, letting a short kick be grounded by Trinity on the Eph 37. Lady Luck helped Williams in the guise of a 15 yard penalty against Trinity three plays later and took the punt on the Purple 15. The luck shifted suddenly and Williams was backed down to the 1 yard line on a clipping penalty. A 38 yard punt out by Quinlan and a 15 yard penalty against Trinity couldn't stop the Blue and Gold. Kunkiewicz found Bob Boland, halfback, with a 25 yard pass good to the Williams 3; and Johnny Corcoran picked his way over for the score. Kunkiewicz passed to his left end for the extra point, making it 20-0.

Williams couldn't move the ball after the kick-off and punted up to midfield. Two long runs by Trinity put the ball on the Williams 30 early in the closing frame. Then Corcoran sped around right end behind some good blocking and crossed the line for another score. A good kick and the score stood 27-0.

The Eph line dug in after the kickoff but couldn't get the backfield beyond their own 25. An exchange of punts left Williams on their 22. Suddenly Trinity guard Bill Trousdale plucked a Purple pass out of the air and galloped 30 yards for a score. The Williams line hurried the kick for extra point and the score was 33-0.

The closing minutes of the game resulted in a seesaw in Williams territory and there was no more scoring.

Cross Country Team Defeats U. of Vermont

U. of V.'s Randall First Next Seven Positions Captured By Ephmen

The unbeaten varsity cross-country team gave up the first spot and swept the next seven places to decisively defeat the University of Vermont hill and dalers on Saturday by a 20-35 score. The Ephmen's third win came in good running weather on the 4.2 mile course at Burlington, marking the first Williams visit since the war.

Randall of UVM showed the way to the pack by finishing fifty yards in front of Bill Kelton of the Purple in the near record time of 21:53 minutes. Kelton was close all the way and completed the distance in 22:11 minutes.

Close Order Finish By Ephs

Fifty yards back of second came Kevin Delany of the Little Three titleholders in 22:32. Paul Cook in 22:42 and Phil Collins in 23:21 took fourth and fifth places. In a dead heat for the sixth slot were Captain Herb Chisholm and Ernie May in 23:51. Harry Ess followed right after in 24:04 minutes to complete the second victory over Vermont in as many seasons. Our sixth and seventh men did not count in the scoring according to the IC4A replacement rule.

The match proved a good conditioner in preparation for the important Union meet to be held here this weekend. Tony Plan-sky's boys will be out to avenge last years loss to a team that scored a 21-31 win over RPI at Troy a week ago. Williams downed the Engineers in their first meet by 25-30.

★ A RECORD HIT in the making!

...It's Desi Arnaz's—
"I Love to Dance" (RCA Victor)

•From the MGM picture:
"This Time for Keeps"

THIS volatile Cuban's rhythms have been sweeping the country. Everywhere he's played, Desi Arnaz has broken attendance records! And, when Desi lights up a cigarette, it's the brand that's been a national favorite for years and is now making new records of its own! Yes, more men and women are smoking Camel cigarettes than ever before!

Why? The answer is in your "T-Zone" (T for Taste and T for Thrust).

Try Camels. Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience"!

More people are Smoking
CAMELS
than ever before!

CAMEL
is the cigarette
for me!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO.
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

Fire - - -

hike two miles down and back to get water for our pumps."

Fire hoses were strung out all over the fire lines but were mostly burned through, declared observers, and in any case the hoses did not hold water.

Blakeney Operates Walkie-Talkie

Charles Blakeney, '48, also blasted the inefficient control exercised by the National Guard. "Fighters had no clear idea of what they were to do when they arrived," asserted Blakeney, "and many were not relieved on time."

Blakeney operated a walkie-talkie radio, one of four which relayed messages back to headquarters concerning arrival of relief men, reporting new fires and calling for food.

Sandwiches sent up by the Red Cross from Lenox to headquarters were badly mangled by the time men on the fire line received them. "I never want to look another baloney sandwich in the face!" exclaimed one returned firefighter.

At this writing, the fire is confined to the ground, but National guardsmen and civilian volunteers are still keeping watch. Only a heavy rain, as yet not in sight, can effectively put out the fire.

WMS - - -

to be heard each night some time between 8:00 and 9:00 p.m., and a half hour of classical music every night at 10:30 p.m. Plans also include a weekly forum program on topics of general and campus interest and a daily sports news program to be heard around 6:00 p.m.

Radio Dramas Planned

An early attempt will be made to broadcast a dramatic skit adapted from a story by a Williams student. Morrill said that Cap and Bells and English composition courses would give credit for dramatic productions on WMS, and that the station's objective would be to develop a radio dramatic workshop. He urged students to write scripts and said that there would be a great many opportunities for students to go on the air in dramatic productions of some sort.

Intramural Standing

Team	Won	Lost	Percent
ADP	3	0	1.000
GC	3	0	1.000
D Phi	1	0	1.000
DU	2	1	.667
TDC	1	1	.500
PGD	0	2	.000
DKE	0	3	.000
SP	0	3	.000

BTP	3	0	1.000
PDT	3	0	1.000
D Psi	2	1	.667
KA	2	1	.667
CP	1	2	.333
PSK	1	2	.333
PU	0	3	.000
ZP	0	3	.000

Goalpost - - -

State police were summoned and the unconscious lad was carried to the sidelines. So far as this reporter knows, he is all right now. But as the men from Amherst and Wesleyan picked themselves up, calculated their losses in garments and teeth, and proceeded to trace down their dates who had long since left the scene, one could not help but feel that such an exhibition was a high price to pay for a few pieces of worm-eaten wood. The posts still stand.

Notice

Director William O. Wyckoff of the Placement Bureau has announced that there are twenty seniors in college who have no assurance of placement after graduation. He would like to interview these men as soon as possible.

w m s y

by charles klensch

the women's faculty club presentation of peggy lamsons dramatization of alice in wonderland last friday night was a lot of fun for young and old.

pat lamson in the title role was charming as a tenniel woodcut. she was supported by the most able cast this reviewer has had the pleasure of witnessing in the adams memorial in the past two seasons.

honorable mention of the best performance of the evening goes to professor schuman who gave a fitting schumanesk epilog, as anyone who has ever watched the professor at work well knows, he has a tough act to follow.

his introductory speech was handicapped, he explained, by the fact that he usually starts his speeches with alice, but he artfully sidestepped this barrier with a superb parody on a schuman lecture. the play which followed was a succession of colorful scenes aided by splendid costuming and the high caliber lighting and staging techniques which are an amt specialty.

i found the adaptation of the lewis carroll book most successful where there wasn't too much adaption. the familiar scenes at the teaparty...with the gryphon and the mockturtle...and at the trial were the most out-standing.

the first two were almost verbatim from the original. mrs lamsons dramatization of the trial scene was i think her best adaptation but even in this scene the transformation was a dramatization problem since the dialog comes chiefly from carroll.

the play was weakest throughout in the transitions between the carroll dialog.

in the acting department top honors properly go to miss lamson. charming is the word i used above and belonging to the spade is a spade school...

for the spade is a shovel sodturners digger school see page 3... miss lamson i repeat was charming.

as professor schuman—who certainly should know—predicted she was a refreshing bit of sanity in the whole surrealist landscape—which included those two post impressionists professors faison and pierson.

john drew oneill upheld the honors of a noble ancestor and presented the wms community with the liveliest most delightful gryphon—or griffin—since the last war.

the part of his buddy the mock turtle was duck sooop for professor bushnell.

professor pierson played the phlegmatic hatter with just the proper amount of haberdash. at 10/6 he was a steal.

helen kellys queen i rate high.

a good job was done by dean brooks who—to corn an old cliché—played the king as if he knew the queen was going to play the ace.

elizabeth newhall turned in a fine performance as the duchess. your reporter hadnt seen her since the thornton wilder oneacter last fall and hopes she wont be as far between parts in the future.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

FAIRFIELDS FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHIA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.
Telephone 3553

WINTER LUBRICANTS

will

- Provide thorough lubrication for all parts even during the very coldest weather.
- Make your car ride better and steer easier.
- Help avoid excessive wear that results in expensive repairs.

Bring Your Car
"Back Home" to us for
Winter Lubrication
The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

TUXEDOS and FULL DRESS SUITS

For Rent or Sale

SABIN'S

Corner HOLDEN
& CENTER STREETS
NORTH ADAMS TEL. 2398-M

(WALDEN) THEATRE

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY

LIVING IN A BIG WAY

GENE KELLY
MARIE McDONALD

THURSDAY

THE IRON MAJOR

PAT O'BRIEN

FRIDAY SATURDAY

TARZAN AND THE HUNTRESS

JOHNNY WEISMULLER

SUNDAY and MONDAY

THE SPIRIT OF WEST POINT

DAVIS and BLANCHARD

Self-Portrait

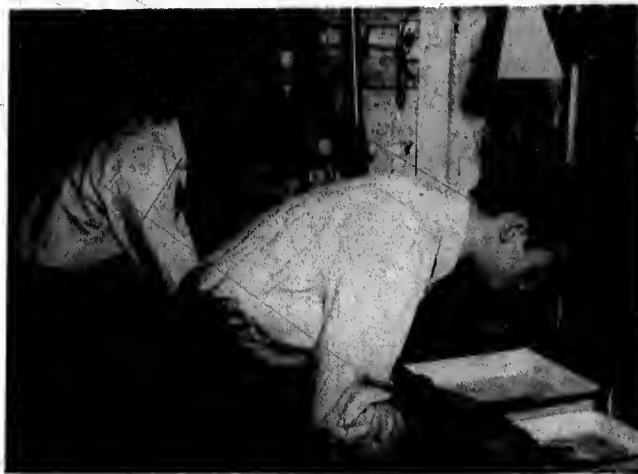

Photo by Williams Photo Service

Williams Photo Service Puts Up "Open For Business" Sign

College camera-men seen recently at important events lugging big black cameras around probably represent the Williams Photo Service, formed last Spring by Edward Rogers and Allan Shea, both '50. Current assets are plenty of manpower, $400 worth of equipment (most of it in the Jesup darkroom), and a consuming desire to take pictures for Williams students and publications.

An SAC - chartered, profit-making outfit, Rogers and Shea originally contributed eighty dollars a head for a Speed Graphic camera and the necessary equipment to call themselves a "photo service". Profits are distributed equally among the members, including, besides the founders, ten expert "competes" each of whom has contributed capital of eighty dollar entry fee.

Besides coverage of unusual and significant events, the Photo Service hopes to maintain a picture service at dances in the gym and will also do portrait work on

D & D OFFICE SERVICE

Let D & D Do Your
Typing For You

Leave material to be typed at 85 Spring Street
next to the Alumni House
TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND
GRILL for the best in food,
drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

REMEMBER...

The Williams Club
24 East 39th St. New York City

When in New York for a weekend

Enjoy this favorite meeting
place of Williams Men

Special Room Rates for Students

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL. 498-RWILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED
ROUTE 2 OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

The Williams Student Wants To Know...

How can I get reliable service?

How can I save more?

How can I get the best?

HERE'S THE ANSWER - - -

Let George do it!

Why not know you're getting the very best that money can buy at a minimum expense.

RUDNICK • LAUNDRY
• DRY CLEANING

Thursdays. They will exhibit their best work in Bastien's window, for sale to anyone interested, and Rogers, the business manager for the group, emphasizes the fact that anyone may peruse the permanent file of all pictures ever taken by the Service.

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in...

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.
On Sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newstands

Williams Co-op

Presents
The ADLER SOCK
wash them
any way you like

We guarantee the size

OR YOUR MONEY BACK

TUB and RUB and SCRUB them
Guaranteed to Fit for the
Life of the Sock

Young people who study scientific facts should be interested in Adler SC socks. Facts are that we guarantee perfect fit for the life of these 100% virgin wool socks! Or your money back, cheerfully!

Super swell for campus wear—for guys—for gals. No more cramped toes—less mending. And 33% longer life because Adler SC's have Nylon reinforced heel and toe. Creamy white—full sizes 9 thru 13. At all better stores. By the makers of Adler SC Chic Rib nylon-wool slak soks.

THE ADLER COMPANY
Cincinnati 14 • Ohio

Used by ALL
WILLIAMS COLLEGE
Athletic Teams

Williams Co-op

Purple Clashes With Union On Weston Field; Glee Club's Dance In Gym Weekend Highlight

Party Swings Into High Gear With Donahue

Smiths, Vassars Lead Seminary Delegations, Bennington Follows

Astrologer Predicts Lots of Moonshine

Cider, Do-nuts Feature Of Eph - Garnet Tilt

by Clark Kent
Billsville, Oct. 31—(Special)—In this corner (of Massachusetts) we have over 500 beautiful girls—an unparalleled occasion in the social history of Williams College, or anywhere else for that matter, 500 of the Four Hundred. The occasion is the Glee Club sponsored Houseparty weekend which features, in addition to the above-mentioned attractions, Sam Donahue's "Band of 1947" on All Hallow's Eve, and the All Saints' Day football classic with the Ephmen in purple suits and General Electricians in Union Suits.

Full Moon, Full Arms
Rising above full weekend of antic haying will be a full moon conjured up for the occasion by Octavius Plutonium, Scorpio Capricorn Professor of Astrology, from his solarium in the Chas. Addams Memorial Observatory.

Of the 500 (plus) damsels who have, are, and will be, arrived and arriving about the time this paper hits the stands, a Record survey reveals that the largest delegation will be Smiths—71. The Vassars and Benningtons trail with twenty-nine and twenty-five.

WCA Launches $8000 Drive December 8th

Five-College Conference May Be Held Here; Boys' Club Set Up

With a quota of $8000, the Williams Christian Association's 1st annual Chest Fund Drive for local, national and world relief organizations will get under way December 8. Charles Schmidt '48, WCA president, announced that although seventy men joined the association as a result of the recent membership drive, the organization has been whittled down to a working size this year, so that every member will have a job to do.

Patrick Graney '49, chairman of the Chest Fund Drive, explained that the campaign was the college counterpart of national Community Chest Drives. "It supports local organizations such as the Williamstown Boys Club as well as National and International organizations," he said.

Conference Planned
Edson Spencer '48 will manage a proposed conference of the Christian Associations of Bowdoin and the Little Three Colleges. The conference, which will probably be held in Williamstown, will feature discussions of various phases of Christian work. Charles Blakney '48, who leads the Deputation Committee, will be aided by Pierre van Norden.

News Bureau Board Headed By Pawlick

The Williams News Bureau has been reorganized with the following men composing the board: Ed Pawlick '49, president, Bill Barney '49, assignment editor, Seth Bidwell '49, sports editor, Joe Dorsey '49, prep-school editor, and Guy Chapman '49, associate editor. Functioning as a publicity organ of the college, the bureau dispatches sports and news events to newspapers, periodicals, and radio stations throughout the country. At a meeting last week, a competition was opened for all men interested in newspaper work who want to try out for future board positions.

Students Visit United Nations

Mrs. Roosevelt, Austin Talk To Group Of 22

by Edward Pawlick
Twenty-two students were taken behind the scenes at the United Nations meetings at Lake Success last Monday and Tuesday by Professor Joseph Johnson and were addressed by several officials, including Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, U.S. Assembly delegate, and Warren Austin, U.S. Assembly delegate and Security Council representative.

The group mingled with the delegates in the Delegates Lounge; and Professor Johnson, who was formerly a U.S. advisor to the UN, introduced the students to many of the representatives.

Supplement Course
Most of the visitors are members of the History 17 or Political Science 3 courses and the trip was intended to supplement the course.

They went to the United States mission on Monday morning where Chester Williams, U.S. Public Liaison Officer; Richard Winslow, Secretary-General of the U. S. Delegation, and Mrs. Roosevelt addressed them.

Winslow and Williams explained the setup of the U.S. mission. They showed for example an off-the-record description of how U. S. policy in the recent war-mongering controversy was determined.

Patience With Russia
Mrs. Roosevelt emphasized that we must "have patience with Russia." She said it will take a long time for us to understand each other, but it is evident in Russia's actions that she is mainly fearful and is trying to protect herself.

In the afternoon the students went to Lake Success and attended a Security Council meeting where the Indonesian question was being discussed. Delegate Austin later spoke to them about the problem.

On Tuesday they went to meetings of assembly committees and members of the secretariat talked to them about the organizational problems of the UN.

Impressed By Size
David J. Bryan '48 and Robert M. Gleason '49 told the Record they were impressed by the size efficiency of the organization. They emphasized that it seemed to them as though the machinery was workable for a world government—if we can learn to use it now.

On the other hand, Donald Agger '48 said that "if you go under

Over 500 Femmes Arrive; Smith Sends Most With 71

Alpha Delta Phi

Sandy Shaw	Nancy Stewart
Bob Boyer	Philadelphina, Pa.
Bill Rodie	Jane King
Walker Mason	Cleveland, O.
Chalky Wright	Adele Levertz
Jerry Tone	Manhattanville
J. Frankenheimer	Joan Gale
Brad Purcell	Andover, Mass.
Tim Lewis	Shirley Coke
Doug Garfield	Baldwin School
Phil Van Dusen	Helen Payne
Coke McCord	Cincinnati, O.
Art Louis	Dominican Academy
Mack Neale	Nancy Blake
Bill Barney	Northfield School
Chick Brashears	Dolly Lynch
Cliff Stowers	Ridgefield, Conn.
Sam Gentles	Betsy King
Joe Janotta	Vassar
Tony Cooper	Jean McGregor
Leigh Perkins	Smith
Jack Mason	Pat Williams
Ted Gushee	Bennington
Lou Lincoln	Virginia Pfeiffer
Scrobby Perry	Smith
Marty Dodd	Margery Stouffer
Ed. Sziklas	Colby
Howie Smith	Lois Corneliuss
John Sziklas	Cleveland, O.
Jack French	Gerry Lind
Bill Windle	Smith
Bob Brooks	Lee Holiday
Frank Jannotta	Pine Manor
Ted Jones	Janet Bunt
Randy Thomas	Connecticut College
Ted Fox	Edie Furst
Jerry Gillette	Vassar
	Adele Arrowsmith
	Vassar
	Mary Hammerly
	Connecticut College
	June Marion
	Wheaton
	Nancy Cooper
	Ethel Walker
	Emily Nichols
	Wheaton
	Jeanne Perdue
	Smith
	Doris Acklin
	Springfield, Mass.
	Nancy Hunt
	Colby
	Valerie Field
	Middlebury
	Anne Goewey
	Smith
	Deb Cole
	Boston, Mass.
	Hala Robinson
	Smith
	Virginia Ringo
	Middlebury
	Mary MacDonald
	Manhattanville
	Sally Albright
	Bronxville, N. Y.
	Nancy Nickerson
	Boston, Mass.
	Grace Goss
	Smith
	Sonny Putnam
	Bennett

Beta Theta Pi

Martin Luthy	Shirley J. Eston
Joe Horton	Wellesley Hills, Mass.
Art Singer	Ann W. Wadsworth
Bob Donoho	Vassar
Bob Fetter	Patricia Willard
Al Mirick	Mt. Holyoke
Gordon Hall	Marion Gaines
Shay Lynch	Wellesley
Bill Coldwell	Jannette Johnston
S. Werkman	Smith
Dud Brown	Gloria Smith
Bud Lovell	Mary Burnham
Dave Stamper	Myra Jo McCleary
Ed Graef	Smith
Pete Bigler	Sue Peck
Wally Olesen	Bennington
Bert Dean	Teddy Foran
	New Haven, Conn.
	Isabelle Childerhouse
	Wellesley
	Betty Klein
	Cedar Crest
	Lo Hilding
	Univ. of Conn.
	Grace Newcomb
	Mt. Holyoke
	Phyllis Dye
	Skidmore
	Phyllis Babb
	Wellesley
	Mitsy Herr
	Wellesley
	Kitty Kling
	Barnard

Bud Bailey	Bonita Barnes
Ken Hoeck	Sarah Lawrence
Bob Jeffrey	Betsy Leu Busher
Dave Barker	Cedar Crest
Howard Schow	Aubin Redfield
Chuck Halleck	Wells
S. Birmingham	Nancy Keefe
Bob Bishop	Lesley College
Dick Bascon	Joyce White
Peyton Mead	Barnmore
S. Pinkerton	Tommy Riepe
	Pine Manor
	D. Montgomery
	Glens Falls, N. Y.
	Joan Wint
	Michigan State
	Nancy Barnes
	Sally Noyes
	Mt. Holyoke
	Nancy Nolan
	Edgewood Park

Chi Psi

Dick Whitney	Annzy Irwin
Robert Jeffrey	Bennington
Horton Kellogg	Joan Kenney
Don Wood	Martens School
Hugo Higbie	Nancy Paul
Ray Baldwin	Smith
John Clifford	Barbara Thurston
Will O'Neill	Bradford Junior College
B. Youngman	Susan Stoppel
Pat Graney	Grosse Pointe, Mich.
Jim Heekin	Kitsey Barney
Al Slater	Vassar
Don Whitehead	Marjorie Bethel
John Fraser	Smith
Bob Kimbrough	Marion Green
Warren Sheridan	Smith
Ben Johnson	Grayce Smethurst
Walter Morse	Skidmore
Howey Erskine	Loraine Clubberson
Harold Neave	Smith
Jim Whitney	Jane Jessup
Al Peabody	South Orange, N.J.
Marty Detmer	Mary Damon
Dan Pettengill	New York City
Sidney Stewart	Elizabeth Flower
	Maplewood, N. J.
	Carol Hunt
	Simmons
	Ann Shmidheiser
	Shirley School
	Helen Kiddoo
	Smith
	Midge Lohrke
	Garden City, L. I.
	Dusty Hutton
	Bennington
	Phyllis Betz
	Vassar
	Beatrice Burchenal
	Cincinnati, O.
	Dossie Carlton
	U. of Cincinnati
	Peggy Booner
	Vassar
	Phyllis Weed
	Edgewood Park
	Bonnie White
	Smith
	Clare Pennock
	Connecticut College

Delta Kappa Epsilon

Dick Debevoise	Barbara Tracy
Tom Leous	South Orange, N.J.
Dick Palmer	Audrey Stark
Bob Johnson	Ohio Wesleyan
Pete Smythe	Barbara Doyle
Dick Wells	Smith
Bill Burke	Nancy Rifford
John Mortimer	Smith
Grant North	Sally Rounds
Ben Foster	Cleveland
Jim Cooper	Elinor Samson
Kim Whitney	Springfield, Mass.
Ted Salmon	Shirley Graves
Earle Spencer	Springfield, Mass.
Phil Hoff	Celia de Gersdorff
John Glancey	N.Y.C.
Frank Baldwin	Victoria Hurd
Duncan Roberts	N.Y.C.
	Barbara Brady
	Boston
	Sally Seidler
	Montclair, N.J.
	Caroline Evensen
	Pine Manor
	Phoebe Kirk
	Finch
	Corny Landon
	Bennet
	Joan Brower
	West Englewood, N.J.
	Regis Rodd
	Greenfield, Mass.
	Betty Brun
	Skidmore
	Buzanne Mason
	Sandy Hook, Conn.

Ephmen Hope For First Win Despite Strong Garnet Attack

HARRY DEWEY
New UC President

UC Votes In New Officers

Student Tax Levy Will Aid Council Activities

Henry B. Dewey, Edson Spencer, and Robert Boyer, all '48, were chosen president, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the Undergraduate Council at a meeting last Monday night. At this time it was announced that there would be a UC student tax levied next month, and that James Young, '48, had been selected to head the undergraduate committee in charge of the fund raising campaign.

Henry Dewey, new UC president, is president of Kappa Alpha, a member of the varsity soccer squad, and a Chapel Committee man. Ed Spencer, president of Phi Delta Theta, is a varsity hockey and tennis player and a WCA Cabinet member, in heading the college Student Christian Movement. He is also on the Chapel Committee, a senior Honor System Delegate and belongs to the International Relations Club.

See UC ELECTIONS page 2

Dick Goodman President Elect Of Federalists

Benepe, Agger Appointed To Fill Board Offices Of Local Organization

In a meeting last Tuesday, the Williams Federalists elected Richard Goodman '48 as their president. Goodman then made temporary appointments to the other offices.

These officers include Barry Benepe '50, secretary, and Robert Agger '48, treasurer. Peter Gutmann '49, Derrick Filley '49, and Richard Heuer '50, were appointed to positions as directors of speaking, membership, and publicity, respectively.

Going to St. Louis

Goodman will represent the local chapter at the United World Federalists General Assembly in St. Louis, November 15. He was instrumental in organizing the group on the Williams campus after spending the past summer in Europe where he became convinced of the need for world government.

Founded on campus two weeks ago, the organization's membership roll has already passed the fifty mark.

Union Sports Powerful Passing Offensive In Enstice, Coppola

Chapman To Play At End For Union

Fuzak, Duffield, Collins, Whitney Eph Backs

Seth Bidwell
Along with more than 500 pairs of high heels, Sam "Danceable" Donahue's music, football rallies and raffles, and much parties, Billville is also entertaining the Garnet-clad gridsters of Union College at 2 p.m. today on Weston Field, the appointed time and ground for the afternoon's combat. Both outfits sport records which are heavy on the loss side, and both will be out for scalps this afternoon, so everyone's invited to a re-hash of the Boston Tea Party.

Coach John McLaughry's Unionites however, according to the statistics are on the long end of the odds. Operating out of a Minnesota single-wing with the ever potent Enstice-to-Coppola passing combination, the Garnet will be striving for their second win against four defeats for the season. It is the Enstice-Coppola combination which has been the spark plug of the Union team.

Enstice Union Star

Three weeks ago, R.P.I. dropped Williams in their tracks to the tune of 40-0. Against the same team the Garnets scored four touchdowns while going down to a 33-24 defeat. This is only a sample of the good news to come however. Hal Enstice, tabbed by Mel Hein as "one of the best small college backs in the country," has toted the bladder 328 yards on the ground, averaging six yards per whack. In addition he has completed 13 of 38 passes for the neat average of 13 three-footers per pass.

Tony Coppola of Schenectady is the other half of this combination, and so far this season, his glue fingers have hauled down seven heaves for a total of 121 yards through enemy territory.

Besides Enstice, however, the Schenectady troops have other talented backs. According to the Union PRO, Dave Strauss, who carried the load of the Union attack against RPI after Enstice was injured, is also very capable in picking the holes which the big Garnet line has a facility of opening up.

Curiously enough, one of these talented linemen is John Chapman, a former Williams man, who has been mowing down the opposition for Union all season. So if you see the Garnetman with number 84 on his jersey raising any difficulty with the Ephmen, it will be "Chappie" having fun with his old buddies.

Union Injured Return

Brud Shaffer, the big Union center, will see his first action since his injury in the opener against St. Lawrence. Assisting him on the line will be Charles Abba, John Weiss, and John De Bello. Abba is a little fellow, who stands six feet and 195 pounds, while Weiss and DeBello are mere midgets weighing only 185 per. Not only does Union have a won-loss statistics advantage but also, by the law of averages, they should win the game. As the series now stands, Williams has won

See UNION GAME page 3

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
CHARLES H. KLENSCH, '48 Co-News Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 Co-News Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Oren T. Pollock, '49

VOL. LXI

NOVEMBER 1, 1947

No. 9

Avoid The Rush

Either college professors, at least those of the Williams variety, have an uncanny sense of timing, or they take a sadistic pleasure in scheduling tests for houseparty time. Or perhaps its part of a combined effort to eliminate undergraduate extra-curricular activities in favor of more studying. But whatever the reason, hour tests always come within five days of these gala parties, and more often than not come on Gloomy Monday.

In view of the usually observed college rule which supposedly prohibits the scheduling of any two hour tests on the same day, we would like to tip off the faculty. Winter Houseparty is scheduled for the weekend of March 6. Sign up now, and avoid the rush!

HP Highlights - - - UC Elections - - - respectively.

Activities begin this evening with dancing (10-2) in the fabulously refurbished Lasell Gym whereat Sam Donahue and his '47 Boys will stomp out their much publicised "danceable" music for the capers of careening couples.

They're Off At Hilarity

After the dance, everyone will be on his own until time to tour to the top of Mt. Greylock to sweat out the sunrise.

After the technicolor fade-in, Outing Club competes will return to Billville for milkpunch and the rest of us will drag into the sack for a bit of rest before the grand group-activities of the afternoon.

Saturday afternoon Houseparties will throng to the Cider Bowl to witness the Union electricians attempt to apply electronic milking techniques to the Purple Cow. For those who get a boot out of futbol the Uncledmen will be doing their footmost to overwhelm a Clark bar to a successful soccer spectacle.

Informal dancing, etc. at the houses will commence, after light snacks of steak sandwiches and milk shakes, etc.

In the midst of these paranoid performances the Glee Club's little scheme for making a song festival atmosphere will be cluttering up the spacious lawns of the houses. Every unit was invited to enter a competition for the best recording scheme on a song title theme. These will be judged by a sober group of fellows who, in the opinion of Glee Club Officials will be capable of sound judgements on Saturday morning. Up to the time this issue went to press, Hugo Higbee, Glee Club president, had been unable to find such a panel.

Fraternities Load Lawns

Zeta Psi sports a front door disguised as a whiskey bottle. The Zeta's theme: "Comin' Through The Rye." A sign marked "Sing, Sing, (Sing)" can be seen at the Theta Delta house, which has been dressed up to resemble a prison. At Psi Upsilon stands a witch on the front lawn under a replica of a crescent moon, representing "That Old Black Magic". "Green Eyes" is the theme of St. Anthony Hall, and this Williams variety of saints invites their people to enter. See HP HIGHLIGHTS page 8

UN Observers - - -

the assumption that peace is best attained by friendly relations between two countries, our policy is not conducive to peace since we are following an unfriendly one towards Russia which tends to provoke ill will.

"The general atmosphere which pervades our mission is one characterized by 'how are we going to foil Russia'.

"If the U.S. policy is predicated on the belief that friendship between U.S. and Russia is either unattainable or non-essential, then our policy is completely consistent with that belief."

Small Countries Change

Agger also mentioned that some

Boyer New Treasurer
The new treasurer, Bob Boyer, is president of the Alpha Delta Phi and serves on the Tyng Scholarship and Honor System committees. He was UC president during the summer term.

The UC tax of $3, to be distributed to all non-athletic activities under the SAC, is due by November 22, or else $4 is required of each student. The money, required to defray the expenses of student activities, is proportioned according to a budget which each group presents to the SAC. Men who do not pay the tax will be denied representation of the UC and will be prohibited from participation in SAC activities.

Inflation Set

It was determined that fraternities would initiate pledges during the weekend of February 21, and it was also decided that all upper class pledges could be initiated at any time by the houses. At the meeting the Outing Club suggested that the Winter Houseparty be held either on the weekend of February 28 or March 7, the definite time to depend upon the approval of the social units.

A further decision gave the NSA funds to cover the expenses of sending delegates to last summer's convention. A truce was agreed to by house delegates in reference to houseparty decorations. It was mutually determined not to molest house adornments due to the great effort put forth by the social units to decorate their buildings. It was also revealed that the College faculty had conceded to a change in the hours during which women guests may be entertained in dormitories. Girls are now permitted in dorms from noon to 6:30 p. m. The hours were formerly 1:00 to 6:30 p. m.

W C A - - -

'50 and Harry McDaniell in the organization of services at the North Pownall Church. The committee has obtained a number of Sunday school teachers for local churches and will work in local young peoples groups.

The Boys Club, under the leadership of James Stone '48 has also begun to function again. It will offer instruction in recreation, handicraft and similar projects to the young men of Williamstown.

representatives from the smaller countries told him that they are not trying to advance their interests like they were a year ago but are striving more to reconcile Russia and the U.S.

Gleason said that a member of the U.S. Mission told him that the war-mongering dispute was brought up now to discredit the United States in Western Europe.

Bryan was particularly impressed by the intricacies of the interpretation system whereby you could press a button and hear a speech in any one of five official languages.

The trip was arranged by Chester Williams, and J. B. Orrick and Olav Pauls Grunt of the Department of Public Information of the United Nations.

Cum Grano Salis

Alice In Wonderland Review

by Steve Sondheim '50

An adaptation of Lewis Carroll's Alice In Wonderland was presented last Friday night at the AMT by a group of faculty and students. The adaptation was made by Peggy Lamson, directed by Mike Casey and was furnished an introduction by Professor Schuman.

As a play, it turned out to be in part excellent, in a larger part dull, even boring. The opening, with Alice's startled fall down the rabbit-hole and her awakening in a strange land was accomplished effectively and dramatically by the use of slides projected on the cyclorama and it roused the audience out of its Schumanesque stupor. But with Alice's prolonged soliloquy, this impression soon changed to one of unrelenting, plodding talk which continued through to the end of the first act. The second act, however, picked up considerably and was for the most part highly entertaining.

The very fact that you can see Carroll's puns a mile of dialogue away is one of their charms and no charge can be made against the lines themselves. But it seems to me that the job of the adaptor is to prune unessential lines and parts of scenes which, however amusing in book form, lose life when presented on the stage where there is no prose description accompanying them. Such was the case during the first act of this Alice In Wonderland. For just two example's, Alice's aforementioned soliloquy should have been shortened along with the Mad Hatter's tea party scene. Throughout the play, the songs also were much too long, the only two which emerged with any credit being "Father William" and "Beautiful Soup."

O'Neill Tremendous

The acting honors of the evening definitely go to Mr. John O'Neill who gave a fantastically good performance as the Gryphon. His entrance alone was one of the biggest laughs of the evening, and from the Cockney accent on down to his hilarious hoofing of the Lobster Quadrille he was in large part responsible for the success of the second act. His sense of timing and of comedy were unsurpassed and he fully deserved every hand he got. He was, in short, worth the price of any two admissions.

Running a close second to Mr. O'Neill was Helen Kelly as the Imperious Queen. Without a doubt she possesses one of the most resonant voices I have ever heard, and this was perfectly suited to her continued throaty boomings of "Off with his head!" She was not quite so good (or loud) as she had been in rehearsals, but she may have been told that she was drowning everybody else out and toned herself down accordingly. This was a shame, but on all accounts she gave a superior performance and probably drew more laughs than any other member of the cast.

The last bit of unadulterated praise goes to Mr. Corning Chisholm who turned his very few lines in the rosebush scene into a precision that captured the spirit of the story perfectly. It is very hard to make a bit part outstanding, but he did it, and in such a way as to make Alice's dream-world seem real.

Lamson Role Difficult

As Alice herself, ten-year-old Patsy Lamson had the most difficult role of the evening and I am sorry to report she was not successful in overcoming it. Alice is a very proper and sane little girl but she is nevertheless interesting and fun to know. Patsy managed to convey the first two qualities but not the latter, the result being that the character of Alice emerged as somewhat obnoxious. This was in part due to the direction of her opening scene which stilted her gestures to the point of distraction (such as the foot-stamping and arm-waving orgy which she indulged in) and in part due to the fact that it takes a more mature person than a ten-year-old to interpret Alice properly.

As the fussy White Rabbit, Gordon Bullett was very funny, though he had a hard time keeping a straight face when he had to blow the trumpet in the Trial scene. Jerry O'Brien as the Caterpillar and Mr. Faison as the Frog Footman both got the most they could out of essentially dull parts. Mr. Pierson, of the Art Department appropriately enough, played the Mad Hatter. On the whole his was an enjoyable performance, but he indulged in a little too much mugging, and playing to the audience.

Unrecognizable (?) Face

One of the surprises of the evening was when a face (in a cat's mask and sprouting a few scanty whiskers) was thrown on a screen and later in a larger form on the cyclorama. It was the Cheshire Cat, of course, and its sudden appearance was certainly a shock to the audience. It spoke its lines from backstage and spoke them well, but because of the imperfect timing of the screen appearances, the audience did not believe for one minute in the existence of such an animal—they knew all along that behind those whiskers and that voice lay their old friend, John Hawley Roberts.

The part of the weeping Mock Turtle was played comically but quite inaudibly by Mr. Bushnell. This was not altogether his fault, since it is hard to be heard while weeping continuously. His singing of "Beautiful Soup" was a morose masterpiece, and his execution of the overlong Lobster Quadrille, was a marvel in view of the cumbersome shell strapped to his back.

Mrs. Newhall played the Duchess with the right amount of peppery alacrity but she too was in part inaudible. Dean Brooks started out well as the befuddled King, but in the trial scene he seemed befuddled by his cues and this slowed up the pace considerably, which was disastrous in such a lengthy scene. But his conversation with the Cheshire Cat was particularly good.

Small Parts Well Played

Smaller parts which were not written with any distinction and consequently gave little room for interpretation, but which helped to establish the dream-mood of the play were the Cook (Constance Holt), the March Hare (Giles Kelly), the Knave of Hearts (Mr. Watson), the Fish Footman (Andy Heineman), the Two and Seven of Spades (Stan Tefft and Ted Lohrke), and the Guardia (Don Rack-erby and Robert Louis Stevenson). These bit parts were all played well, but not with the energy and conviction that Mr. Chisholm achieved.

The direction of the play was most successful in the garden scene, in which the pace was held perfectly and the movement natural and continuous. It was least successful in the closing blackout in which Alice wakes from her dream. Here an essentially effective idea in the script was ruined by poor timing. As I said before, though, the imperfections can be attributed largely to the lack of enough time to whip the show up into proper shape. Again, I think that some judicious editing of the songs and the first act and trial scene would have made for an infinitely smoother play.

The original music composed and played for the occasion by Martin Bailyn was interesting enough but too consciously complex in harmony for the mood of this particular play. It tried too hard to be different, I think, and as a result the songs were undistinguished.

One thing more. I repeat that this review is personal and is probably contrary to a great many other opinions. The majority of comments which I heard after the play were most decidedly favorable, and the play did gross three hundred and fifteen dollars clear profit for a local charity, which deserves a hand even from those who didn't enjoy it unreservedly.

PASSENGERS RELY ON COCA-COLA AND TRAVEL REFRESHED

5¢ PLEASE return empty bottles promptly

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
BERKSHIRE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

© 1947, The Coca-Cola Company

THE GYM LUNCH

We do our best to give prompt, friendly service and the kind of food YOU like !!!

HAVING A PARTY?

The Square Deal Store

... fully stocked to supply your needs in every line.

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC LIQUOR and WINES

HOWARD MOON, Proprietor

"He's got something there! When it comes to girls you can love 'em and leave 'em, but once you've tasted that swell flavor of Dentyne Chewing Gum, you're sold solid for life. Brother! Dentyne keeps teeth white, too!"

Dentyne Gum — Made Only By Adams

Careers Of Autumn Sports Captains Reviewed

Lives Of Captains Murphy, Lunt and Manning Delved Into By Record Reporter

by Steve Blaschke

When a team captain walks on the field, some spectators know his name, some know his achievements, and only personal friends know his past life. In order to dispel the confusion among Williams men and their lady loves, the RECORD presents the following thumb nail sketches of three popular Williams captains.

Gene Murphy

When the crowd gets up to cheer for number 85, they'll be cheering for Gene Murphy from New York City, the varsity football captain and left guard. But even more than that they'll be cheering for that number 85 with his habit of showing up in the opposition's backfield, throwing that decisive block in the line, or in the open field. "Murph" started out his football career by playing guard at Laurenceville and even though he is shy about it, the rumor is that they called him "the crusher" even then. Arriving at Williams, he became a Deke. He played in the now immortal victory over Princeton in '42, and in the equally immortal loss to Amherst in that same year.

During the late unpleasantness, "Murph" was a captain in the Eighth Fighter Command, and again rumor has it that he spent most of his time in the opposition's backfield. He returned to Williams, and after his sensational line play of last season he found himself on so many all-opponent elevens that it looked as if he didn't have a friend in the world. The fact is that "Murph" has many friends around here. Their tales about him have almost made him a legendary figure. Our favorite "Murph" story is the one about his losing a couple of front teeth in a scrimmage and quietly picking these erstwhile possessions out of the mud only to take them to N. A. to be galvanized by the town's finest jeweler.

Denny Lunt

Ringling Brothers Circus sent a representative to Williams not so long ago in order to follow up rumors about a contortionist of no mean ability. He turned out to be none other than Denny Lunt the varsity soccer captain and goalie. Apparently the AD's had been spreading the word about Denny's phenomenal goal-tending. He learned this fine art at Deerfield, a tiny school not far from Greenfield, his hometown.

At Deerfield he played on a team which was undefeated for two years and which boasted such future Williams stars as Jerry Page, Barry Emmert and Frank Donnelly. Last year, after a few years in V-12, Denny came to Williams, and after "Red" Townsend's graduation was elected captain. It is ironic that the highest tribute paid to Denny has come from the "Amherst Student" which said that the Jeffmen would have had an undefeated season in '46 if it had not been for "that blond acrobat in the Williams cage."

Dick Manning

Frankford High, somewhere in Pennsylvania, produced Dick Manning, the freshman soccer captain. Dick is very quiet, and his teammates had to be consulted before it was discovered that he was a Kap, and that he played inside left. In addition he'd been a

Probable Starting Line - Ups

Williams		Union
Frank Todd	LE	John Chapman
John Glancy	LT	Charles Abba
Gene Murphy	LG	John DeBello
Jim Lyons	C	Harold Shaffer
Fred Salmon	RG	John Weiss
Hank Lucas	RT	Pete Carter
Gene Detmer	RE	Tony Coppola
Vic Fuzak	QB	Hal Enstice
Roy Collins	LHB	George Best
Kim Whitney	RHB	Hal Lundstrom
Stu Duffield	FB	Ken Whalen

In Ev'ry Play

by Barry Emmert

It seems to be a custom of this rag to have some sports writer dish out a summary of the athletic season for the Houseparty issue. It is generally assumed that dates enjoy reading about the previous achievements of the teams they will presumably see in action, and for that reason at H.P. time this space serves as a receptacle for won-lost percentages and explanations as to why a team has or has not been successful. It should be obvious why we do not hash these subjects over at this time—for the life of us we can't think what the Williams male would talk about this weekend if the RECORD deprived him of his quarterbacking job.

Addressing this to the dates, we would like to give a brief summary of the probable alibis and reasons your male escorts will give for the "unfortunate" showing of most Williams teams this Fall. This has a purpose—when he pulls one of these explanations, and expects you to swallow it, you can give him the old I've heard-that-before treatment, and then root for the team. You might as well—no one else around here seems to.

You'll hear gripes about the coaching. You'll be told everything from "The coaches don't know their job" to "They are too damn nice to be coaches." You'll hear threats of what may happen next year if we don't win the Amherst games. The alumni are lit-basketball player and a red-hot first baseman in high school. He scored the yearling booter's first goal, and in the team's opinion he is just a natural leader. At this point Dick got so embarrassed that the extolling of his virtues had to be discontinued.

tle better. If you happen to sit next to one or more of them at a game, they'll do more kicking than the soccer team has done all year.

After your male friend has expounded at length on the demerits of the football team, he may have enough breath to start in on the soccer (Game is at 2:00 p.m., Cole Field, today) team. He will compare it with last year's (Won 6, Lost 1) outfit. He will point to a "pushover" schedule, neglecting to mention that Springfield is the Notre Dame of college soccer, and wonder why with such light opposition we should lose by rather devastating scores.

The freshman football team will undoubtedly be dealt with in superlatives, inasmuch as they are unbeaten and polished off Wesleyan by six touchdowns. You will, of course, be told that given a chance at the varsity, the yearlings would cream 'em.

You may get the impression that people are disgusted with athletics around here. You may have the feeling that players don't go out for Williams but in spite of Williams. But if the same teams won, there would probably be no kick at all.

You would hear only praises of the players. They would be heroes. When teams lose, the Department of Athletics is at fault, seemingly.

It is safe to say that all Williams' losses have been to superior teams. Perhaps Williams just hasn't got the material this year that other colleges do. In which case this is not the time to start cutting other people's throat. What we need is some honest-to-God support for the teams. We're counting on you, the dates, to help this weekend.

Season's Records

Williams 7	Middlebury 19	Union 7	St. Lawrence 19
Williams 0	RPI 40	Union 13	Rochester 18
Williams 0	Bowdoin 14	Union 20	Vermont 7
Williams 0	Trinity 33	Union 24	RPI 33
		Union 0	Hobart 6

NEED A RIDE TO ALBANY, TROY, PITTSFIELD OR OTHER POINTS?

CALL

Vets Taxi

Telephone 729-W

House Party Guests To View Season's Second Home Game

Continued from page 1

27 games, while Union has won seven. Four of the games resulted in ties.

However, all is not gloom in Williamstown, as the hour of the battle draws closer. Stu Duffield and Vic Fuzak, who have been out of the last two contests will be starting the game, while there is a possibility that Pat Higgins, whose reputation needs no exposition for this column, may also see action. Coach Whoop Snively will probably have the team running from both the powerful T-formation and the single-wing. This combination of maneuvers should add more punch to the to-date ineffective Williams ground offensive, and it should also give Duffield a chance to throw his passes while on the run, which ordinarily gives a passer more protection on the pass.

Whitney and Collins Start

The remainder of the starting line-up will be the same as the previous game. Dick Whitney and Rip Collins, who were given battlefield promotions to the first string, have earned their positions on the varsity and will comprise the rest of the ball-toters. In addition to this quartet, Ted Quinlan will see action as the Williams punter after his fine exhibition at Trinity last week-end. This will be a tremendous boost to the Williams defense which has been handicapped most of the season by very poor punting.

On the ends, it will be Frank Todd and Gene Detmer with Bud Cool, Dan Mahoney, and Marc Reynolds adding depth to the flankers. Starting at tackle, will be John Glancy and Hank Lukas or Marty Detmer, who have been outstanding all season, and with the aid of John Stillwell and Tom Leous, should do a lot of damage in the Union backfield.

At the guards, Fred Salmon and Gene Murphy, two of the hardest-playing men on the squad will get the nod to start from Coach Snively, while Jim Lyons will start at the offensive center.

Old, reliable Tim Conway will be mashing the Garnet from the defensive center post.

This is the story for the 39th classic between Williams and Union College. Both Teams are ready to go, and both are eager for a win. Coaches Snively and Burnett have scouted the opponents in an effort to bring victory today.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

STEELE and WILES GARAGE

Automotive and Body Service

TELEPHONE 499-M

41 Spring St. Williamstown Mass.

College and Fraternity STATIONERY
TYPEWRITERS
Sold and Repaired

The Bemis Store

All Students Supplies

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES
now available

Williamstown

National

Bank

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

2 QUARTS SHERRY WINE
at
KING'S PACKAGE STORE

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

ONE SUIT CLEANED
at
RUDNICK'S

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Saturday.

2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.

3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.

4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

Saturday, November 8 Games

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	R.P.I.	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Notre Dame	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Brown	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Cornell	vs.	Syracuse	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Duke	vs.	Missouri	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Virginia	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	U.C.L.A.	vs.	Stanford	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Wesleyan	<input type="checkbox"/>

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Amherst	vs.	R.P.I.	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Army	vs.	Notre Dame	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Brown	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Cornell	vs.	Syracuse	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Duke	vs.	Missouri	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Virginia	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	U.C.L.A.	vs.	Stanford	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Wesleyan	<input type="checkbox"/>

THOMAS McMAHON & SON
EST. 1830

CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE
DUST PROOF COAL
RANGE and FUEL OILS

73 Spring St. Williamstown Mass.

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Amherst
Army
Brown
Cornell
Dartmouth
Duke
Harvard
Penn.
U.C.L.A.
Williams

vs. R.P.I.
vs. Notre Dame
vs. Yale vs. Syracuse vs. Columbia
vs. Missouri vs. Princeton vs. Virginia
vs. Stanford
vs. Wesleyan

Soccer Team Seeks To Break Losing Streak

Booters Seek Cross Country 2nd Triumph Squad Meets Against Clark Union College

Team Hopes To Utilize Springfield Defeat

Lineup Change Due

Bad Passing, Trapping Mark Worst Errors

Smarting from three straight losses, the soccer team will face Clark University on Cole Field today with the express intention of again breaking into the win column. Last Saturday's 6-0 defeat at the hands of National Champion Springfield College should have taught the Ephs a few points about the game which can be utilized against today's opponents.

Coach Ed Bullock has been doing some experimenting with his forward line which could not seem to penetrate the airtight defense set up by the Springfields. No definite changes have been made as yet, and the line will probably still be made up of some combination of Mayshark, Emmert, Smith, Johnston, and Donnelly. But "Chink" Walker and Ralph Gommery have been working out as insides, while Rick Fowie has shown exceptional promise at left wing.

Brown, Kneass Trade Jobs
As a result of his performance against Springfield, Emmey Brown may well be shifted from right to center half, trading places with George Kneass. Johnny Bowen at left half, Bump Hadley and Jerry Page at fullbacks, and Captain Denny Lunt in the goal should round out the team.

Unbeaten Eph Harriers Face Severe Test; Herb Chisholm Back

Hoping to continue their spectacular unbeaten record, Tony Plansky's harriers meet the Union cross country team here this Saturday in what promises to be the toughest contest of the season.

If comparative scores mean anything, the meet will definitely be a close one. The Purple squad defeated RPI 25-30, whereas Union edged this same team by a score of 24-31. However, at that time Captain Herb Chisholm did not compete, but has made a good showing against Bowdoin and Vermont, coming in sixth both times. Another point in Williams favor is the fact that the contest will take place on the home course, a definite advantage since the Eph thinclads are well acquainted with the hills and other irregularities of the 3.7 mile run.

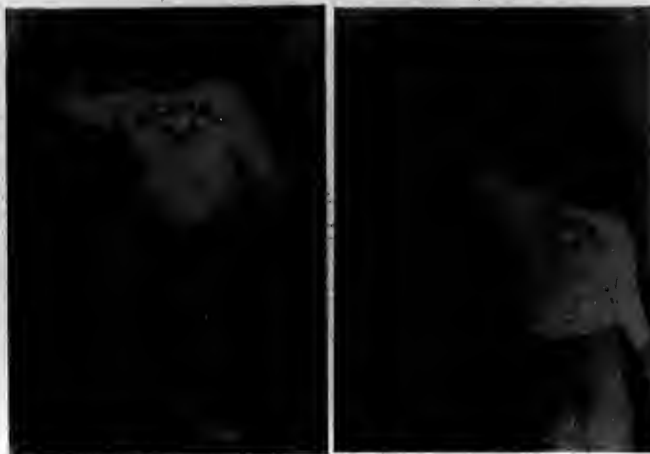

Barring any pre-meet revision, the lineup will be much the same as last week. "Dynamo" Bill Kelton is currently slated as number one man, closely followed by Kev Delaney who has consistently pressed Kelton to the tape. The other five men composing the squad are Paul Cook, Phil Collins, Ernie May, Herb Chisholm, and either Willie Davis or Harry Ess.

Little is known about Clark. A member of the New England Conference, it supports no football team, and hence its entire fall turnout is for soccer. Last year's once-defeated Williams club, with a makeshift lineup, won out 4-2 in a sloppy game. Records available show that Clark has yet to win a game this year. Included in its list of defeats is a 5-0 affair with the University of Connecticut, which flattened the Ephs 5-2 two weeks ago.

Passing and Trapping Sloppy
Chief troublemakers for the team to date have been sloppy passing and trapping in the line, while halfbacks have been unable to get off long accurate kicks.

TAKE YOUR
DATE TO COLLEGE
RESTAURANT

Practice Action

Stu Duffield, Williams ace passer, and Marty Detmer, sophomore tackle, caught midst practice contortions.

WILLIAMS Freshman Favored To Top Amherst For Little Three Crown

The sparks of rivalry between Williams and Amherst, smoldering quietly through the summer, will flame anew this afternoon when the freshmen grid editions of both schools meet at Amherst.

This game could bring Coach Harvey Potter's charges the Little Three title, since they've already trounced Wesleyan by an overwhelming 40-6 score. The cubs scored their other victory by whitewashing R. P. I. 19-0 in partial revenge for the varsity defeat.

Amherst Weak

The little Lord Jeffs, on the other hand, have shown little ability thus far, bowing to Springfield 21-6 and taking their lumps from the American International College 14-0.

Williams will start Mitch Fish and Dave Jackson on the ends with Bill Campbell in reserve. At the tackles will be Skip Dunlap and Bronson Fargo, while Ernie Mierzejewski and Al Bianci are due to start at the guard slots. Cary Bldgood will open the game at center.

Other linemen on tap will be guards Howie Smith and Don Whitehead, and John Zebryk, a tackle. In the backfield, Whit Fiske and Fred Zeller or Pete Smythe will start at the halves, while Bill Sperry and Pete Fisher are set at quarterback and fullback respectively. Pete Dellser, a quarterback, and Doug Johnson, a fullback are also due to see some action.

Amherst Lineup

The Amherst lineup will probably read Shaw and McGrath at the ends, Lieberman and Van Riper at the tackles, Lindman and Cleminshaw at the guards and Longworth at center. Conway and Damon will start at the halfback posts with Naiman at quarterback and Bowman at fullback.

Record Reporter Reviews Purple Football Coaches: Snively Star At Princeton

by Norm Wood

Many men are seen walking down Spring Street. The ones with wrinkled foreheads and grey hair before their time—they're the Williams coaches, and they're thinking about Saturday's encounters and how they can win them. There's Whoop Snively and Dale Burnett, the football coaches, Harvey Potter and "Bobby" Coomba, freshman gridiron coaches, soccer coach Ed Bullock, and frosh soccer coach Clarence Chaffee.

On these six men hang the instruction, conditioning, and strategy of four teams that represent the Purple in the fall, and in some measure, the outcome of their contests.

Whoop and Dale

Whoop Snively was a good athlete at Mercersburg Academy, where he played football and baseball, and, during the war, at U. S. Naval Academy, where he played football and lacrosse, and wrestled. At Princeton as a member of the class of 1924, he played defensive end and offensive blocking back on 1922's "Team of Destiny," was elected captain the following year, and won an award, the Poe Medal, similar to Williams' Brooks Medal. He moved on to coaching jobs, working as line coach under "Tuss" McLaughry at Brown, at the same time coaching hockey and lacrosse, and under Charley Caldwell here at Williams. He was granted a leave of absence from Williams for the duration, and coached at Dartmouth as line coach. A year ago last winter he returned to Williams as head coach in football, hockey, and lacrosse.

Dale Burnett, the varsity backfield coach, spent a varied career playing and coaching before coming to Williams. He played pro football with the New York Giants from 1930 to 1940, coached and played with the Paterson Panthers in '41 and '42. In basketball, he played and coached semi-pro and pro teams from 1930 to 1939. For the next three years he coached the Williams basketball team, and then served in the U. S. Naval Aviation training program in 1943-1945. He is also head basketball coach and freshman basketball coach.

Harv and Bobby

Harv Potter graduated from Williams in 1940. While here he was a halfback on the football team, undefeated in his 166-pound division as a wrestler, and was center and made All-American in lacrosse. After graduation he went to Duke, where he assisted Wallace Wade as head scout, and coached lacrosse. At Williams he is head coach for freshman football, wrestling and lacrosse.

Harv's assistant, Bobby Coomba, was a three-letter man at Exeter. From there he went to Duke, where he was class of 1933, and on the All-American baseball team. He played pro ball from 1933 to 1943, playing with Jersey City in '41-'42, and the New York Giants in '43. He was drafted into the Navy in 1945, and after his retirement came to Williams as head baseball coach and freshman basketball coach.

His bullet rings a bell...

30 miles away!

Zing!... and the damage is done.

A bullet... intended for game... pierces an exposed telephone cable.

Instantly, hundreds of wires are open to the ruinous effects of moisture.

Instantly, too, nitrogen gas... stored in the cable under pressure... begins its slow escape, keeping dangerous moisture out. And, as the gas pressure falls, a small contact closes and an alarm is sounded in a Bell Telephone testroom many miles away.

Through mathematical plotting the break is readily located and, within minutes, an emergency crew is on its way. Repairs are frequently made before telephone service is interrupted.

This alarm system is but one of countless expedients all of which reflect the initiative and ingenuity of Bell System personnel... men who find highly interesting and rewarding careers in an ever growing business.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Stop in at Williamstown's
Newest Shoe
Store...

LUPO'S

Gives 24 hour
Service on
Shoe Repairing

At the end of Spring St.

The Haller Inn

"A Modern Inn With New England Charm"

American
or European Plan

Owner Manager
Frank Thoms '30

DANCING...

AT THE

NORTH ADAMS
ARMORY

EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT

Saturday November 1,

BILL CAMPEDELLI
and his Orchestra

ADMISSION $.85

... AFTER
THE GAME
DROP IN AT

IRENE'S
Gift Shop

NORTHSIDE TOURIST HOME

Next to the
Phi Gam House
29 North St.

Mr. & Mrs. A. L. Roberts
Tel. 776

Today's Top Hit
"NEAR YOU"

THE MUSIC HOUSE

34 Bank St. N. A. Tel: 1570-W

Vassar Outpoints Bennington, Smith Tops Both

Continued from page 1

Bob Blanchard	Aletta Debevoise	Al Shay	Rachel Ober
Chuck Klensch	Pat Freeman	Ken Jones	Connecticut College
Howard Quinby	Barbara Lorey	John Peterson	Nancy Ann Dittmer
Kevin Delaney	Violet Herbst	Brud Ripley	West Hartford, Conn.
Don Spaeth	Margaret Hoesner	Mac Reynolds	Virginia Schauflier
Don Hodgman	Tess Rorden	Ed Brynman	Vassar
Scott Warner	Lola Alexander	Stu Robinson	Rice Owen
Berry Smith	Gay Stots	Paul Leighton	Lake Forest, Ill.
Don Wyman	Barbara Elliott	James H. Slone	Genie Aiguler
Edwards	Thyrst Upson	Harold Santee	Vassar
	Middlebury, Conn.	Helen Duchmowska	N.Y.C.
			Robbie
			Iowa
			New York City

Delta Phi

Schwartz	Margie Copeland	C. S. Turpin Jr.	Marjorie Davis
McGregor	Joyce Klein	A. B. Haddick	Hingham, Mass.
Berrin	Jinx Esty	George Wright	Mary Batchelder
White	Janet Brown	George Goodrich	Rom Kunkardt
One Foley	Edgewood Park	G. Blandy III	Cambridge, Mass.
John McCombe	Jean Thomas	Lloyd Tweedy	Nancy Needham
Stevenson	Briarcliff Jr. College	Carl Meininger	Holyoke
Ed Sauers	Mary McDonald	H. P. Wells Jr.	Worcester
Charles Schaaf	Kay Stocking	Wallace Davis	Dorothy Osburne
Frank Relche	Janice Schnick	Richard Deane	Hingham, Mass.
Pete Anderson	Pat Nash	William Eblen	Ann Whittier
Ray Stockton	Mary Jane Hoey	Belne Chisholm	Cambridge, Mass.
Al Hydeman	U. of Rochester	Duncan Denny	Phyllis Sidenberg
Joel Carr	Ann Donaldson	Charles Uley	Bennington
Ted Lohrke	Nancy Lou Crawford	George Turpin	Janet Dant
Jack Walthour	York High School	W. W. Wheeler	Barnard
Fred Peyser	Betsy Weir	William Turner	Mary Schenk
Dean Webster	Vassar	J. Z. Sperry	Smith
	Merideth Elliott	F. R. Losey	Skidmore
	Hester Fogg	E. R. Childs	Kitty Eaton
	Smith	Fred Perry	Lincoln, Mass.
	Smith	Thomas Mitchell	Marty Furey
	Smith	Richard Warner	Phyllis Brownell
	Smith	Bob Crane	Bennington
	Smith		Shirley Creamer
	Smith		Bennington

TOWN TAXI

The Williams Inn Taxi
PHONE 531-R

Records are broken every year at Williams!

Over 500 girls are dated

Fall Houseparties

Saturday Nov. 1, 1947

YOU'RE INVITED TO COME TO SEE...

The Suit That's Never Dated

The gentlemanly, natural lines of our SOUTHWICK Suit make it a perennial favorite with discerning dressers. Once a comfort-conscious man experiences the supreme ease of Southwick's soft construction and unaccustomed waist-line, he seldom switches back to the pressures and padding of commonplace clothes.

SOUTHWICK
Natural shoulders. Soft construction. Easy lines.

The Williams Co-op

REMEMBER...

THE 1896 HOUSE

OVER HOUSEPARTIES

FOR Dining

Drinking

Dancing

Telephone 267 for Reservations

Paul Smith Jr.
Belknap

Delta Psi

Jack Belding

Andy Wetmore

Bill Nelson

Bruce Smith

Roy Collina

Ted Reynolds

Dunc McDonald

Bill Carl

Charles Cook

Bill Rueckert

Don Chapman

John Snyder

Gale Allen

Frank Todd

Ted Buck

Charles Cropsey

Oren Pollock

John Greer

Morgan Murray

Tom Healy

Bob Stallworth

Al Kern

Pete Thexton

Bob Hunt

Ford Wright

Kappa Alpha

Bill Manning

Fred Pullman

John Worcester

Hal Poel

E. A. Armstrong

Jack Wideman

D. Van Alstyne

Ted Lamot

Harriet Means
Cecile Reed

Jackie Wickwire

Katherine Gibbs

Joan Reynolds

Ethel Walker

Rita Daunals

Aline Williams

Mary Washington

Marie Coburn

Turners Falls, Mass.

Buzz Gillatt

Mt. Holyoke

Renee Hubert

Bennington

Isabel Schroeder

Rockville Center, N. Y.

Edith Harwood

East Milton, Mass.

Alice Talbot

Mt. Holyoke

Nancy Reppert

Baldwin School

Tom Spring

Skidmore

Welleley

Jean Eggleston

Buffalo, N. Y.

Graydon Smith

Vassar

Jane Klauminger

Connecticut College

Shirley Gray

Connecticut College

Helen Miller

Marjorie Webster Jr. College

Betty Seward

Mt. Holyoke

Ann Kendall

Barnore College

Folly Widen

Briarcliffe Jr. College

Phyllis Brownell

Bennington

Pat Hundley

Univ. of Connecticut

Helen Persons

Colby Jr. College

Bunchy Smutny

Bennington

IN BENNINGTON
IT'S

Weeks
Brothers
Restaurant

Breakfast

Luncheon

Dinner

105 North Street
Bennington, Vermont

Sandy Lambert

John Reid

D. Coleman

J. W. Lasel

Schuyler Brooks

James Walker

Joseph Dewey

John Ferguson

Rusty Cutler

Phi Delta Theta

Ed Spencer

Jack Schafer

Vic Fuzak

Harry Hedges

Don Gregg

Tom Pugh

Gene Hughes

Jerry Fawcett

D. Young

John MacNeil

Milf Lester

Jim McNeerney

Jimmy Conway

John Dickens

Bill McCredie

Joe Mason

John Aldeborgh

Bob Barnard

Stan Roller

Larry Witten

Jon O'Herron

Cal Frese

Pat Graham

Nick Huston

Bill Downes

Norm Olson

Joe Takamini

Jim Fri

Fred Schumann

Bob Brownell

Dick Hoffer

Mickey Murray

Natika Townsend

Cynthia Cogswell

Nancy Barclay

Wellesley

Bobbie Jones

Bradford

Jane Mather

West Chester, Pa.

Elenore Munroe

Smith

Jean O'Neill

Mt. Holyoke

Sue Johanassen

Vassar

Jack Washburn

Boston U.

Janice MacNeil

Newton, Mass.

Phi Gamma Delta

Fritz Emery

Bill Shannon

Ernest Greeff

Bob McCabe

Will Swan

John Dalton

James Seaman

Ralph Stelger

Sandy Hoon

Richard Hornbeck

L. McWhinney

John Hadley

Don Gregory

Bill Angevine

Ted Thys

Dave Jackson

Bill Sutherland

Tom Edwards

Gil Gragory

Walt Stabler

Stu Duffield

Bill Pinkham

Buck Walters

Marion Col.

Nancy Wilcox

Weston, Mass.

Elsbeth Banks

Suffern, N. Y.

Nancy Greeff

Bennett College

Terry Harris

Wellesley

Betty Wise

Wellesley

Mary Kinsbury

Bennington

Jeane Adams

Springfield, Mass.

Ann Wilmer

Wellesley

Barbara Beegle

Wheelock

Diana Holland

Wheelock

Jane Logan

Boston

Joan Magarern

Colby College

Judy Swanson

Beaver College

Pat Conroy

Smith

Sue Sheaperd

Bennington

Joan Donnelly

Southern Seminary

Elizabeth Cannon

Smith

Mollie McShane

Hamburg, Penn.

Ernia Marand

Windsor, Ont.

Elizabeth Foster

Windsor, Ont.

Anne Wild

Rogers Hall

Genevieve Savage

Marrymount Col.

Bob Bernhard

Bill Yates

Dick Holmes

Briggs Baugh

Paul Cook

John Bacon

Herman Baker

Tom Earle

Joan Mack

Scarsdale, N. Y.

Joan Keenan

Ossining, N. Y.

Ginger Fischer

Longmeadow, Mass.

Mary Jane Redman

Connecticut College

Ann Lee Bowen

Bradford College

500 - Lovely Houseparty Gals - Count 'em - 500

HP Dates - - -

Continued from Page Five

George Dorion Marge Curphey
Jackson Heights, N. Y.
Vic Jevon Betty Lou Schuette
Sewickley, Pa.
Hal Elliott Connie McCarthy
Bronxville, N. Y.
Jack Hardman Leah Cunningham
Skidmore

Psi Upsilon
Dud Taft Marla Watters
Wellesley
Tom Benson Mary Lou Flanagan
Connecticut
Bill Falconer Nancy Delaport
Packer
John Cleveland June Pierson
Washington
Bill Allison Frances Haynes
Ogontz
Ray Kelley Natalie Davidson
W. Williams Audrey Stephenson
Pine Manor
Bob Huston Paula Sharp
Smith
Bud Moody Jodie Collier
Bennington
John Prescott Robin Balch
Cleveland, Ohio
Fred Klipstein Caroline Isbel
Rosemary Hall
John Day Sally Allen
Northampton
Bob Grogan Jane McNamara
Columbia
Tom Kent Edith Graham
Summit
George Cherry Anne Whitaker
Forrest Hills
Howie Green Martha Williams
Sarah Lawrence
Pete Kent Barbara Bishop
Ogontz
Rip West Dorothy Royce
Smith
Bob Gilday Algene French
N.Y.C.
Herb Poole Florence Savage
Wellesley
Ted Northrop Helen Schroeder
Smith
George Razook Nancy Sproul
Bennett
Geoff Bennett Peggy Spring
Cleveland, O.
Harry Lamborn Joan Radcliff
Pembroke
Perry Neff Helen Morgan
Connecticut
Ben Jaffray Mary Small
Skidmore
Bill Hyland Peggy Jones
Pine Manor
Rod Armstrong Ann Bushnell
Barnard
Steve Wyr Nancy Brooks
Smith
Woody Swope Pat Garlough
Skidmore
Sandy Tearse Lucie Wilshire
Vassar
Win Tuttle Claire-Lise Boepple
Bennington

Theta Delta Chi
Gil Bogart Audrey Stewart
Wellesley
Dave Maier Anne Beach
Wellesley
Dick Wallace Grace Blust
Vassar
Hank Klein Barbara Dana
Mt. Holyoke
Hank Hall Deanie Palmer
Wells
Bill Ward Jan Peck
Wells
Hilbert Schenck Louise Whetsel
New York City
B. Newmark Louise Schoonmaker
Smith
Dave Jeffery Jean Harris
N.Y.C.
Bernard Felch June Gilbert
Univ. of Rochester
George Prichard Barbara Barnes
Melrose Park, Pa.
Bill Paton Marty Holt
Bennington
Bill Eldridge Yvonne Motley
Larchmont, N.Y.
Jahn Thoman Lois Goodnough
Wellesley
Bill Worth Thelma Atwood
Katherine Gibbs
John McGrory Bettianne Shaw
College of Our Lady of the Elms
Paul Mort Meridith Cushman
Wellesley
R. W. Overton Sue Morton
Vassar
Irene May Ursula Keller
Smith
Jim Dorland Pat Reeves
Holyoke
Dick Williams MaryGay Gaines
Berkshire Hills Sch.
Bob Feely Ruth Hill

South Orange, N. J.
Lynn Wells Pat McCormack
Media, Pa.
Granville Brumbaugh Judy Eckart
Smith
Chris Acker Carol Dockstader
Berkshire Hills School
C. Pinkerton Jr. Lucy Blutchford
Williamstown
Gus Klein Liz Getzonne
Wellesley
Hays Penfield Carol Drew
Smith
Michael Moore Doris McEvoy
Westfield, N.J.
Garrard Bennett Eleanor Hilleyer
Penn Hall Jr. College
Dick Brown Betty Ogden
Utica, N. Y.
W. G. Bruce Betty Wilde
Endicott
Ray Armater Penny Brown
Vassar
George Coale Marlon Skeffy
Smith
George Fernald Debbie Carpenter
Smith
Charles Brock Anne Elsdman
Wellesley

Sigma Phi
Jim Young Barbara Beatty
Shaker Heights, Ohio
Dick Connely Mary Owen
Grosse Pointe, Mich.
Phil Scheide Anne Merryweather
Smith
Al Clement Janet Chatman
Rye, N.Y.
Steele Taylor Phyllis Gutmiller
Wheelock
Pete Goodfellow Hollis Titman
Skidmore
H. R. Hudson Carol Granniss
Middlebury
Barry Benepe Colby Jr. College
Seth Bidwell Caroline Allen
Grand Rapids, Mich.
G. Schofield Polly Ann Trafford
Middlebury, Conn.
Dan Pugh Sylvia Burleigh
Mount Holyoke
Bill Hudson Sherry Burke
Marblehead, Mass.
John Brinckerhoff Lee Widen
Colby Jr. College
Coke Scofield Jean Hoffman
Smith
Larry Fitch Diana Lum
Endicott Jr. College
Dick Heuer Dottie Pritchett
Maplewood, N.J.
Folger Oudin Harriet Lamb
Pine Manor
Steve Blaschke Ann Phillips
Wellesley
R. W. Hastings Diana Gambrel
Pine Manor
Dick Chinman Carole Kutner
Queens College
Bud Cool Anne Reuther
Smith
E. J. Mierzejewski Lois Molen
Pittsfield High School
Mark Reynolds Betty Gallup
Albany, N. Y.
H. Strong Peggy Nairn
Washington, D. C.
Clayton Pritchett Betty Heuer
Endicott Jr. College
Hank Wickham Pat Seaman
Mount Holyoke
Jack Hendee Joy Anderson
Skidmore
Pat Humphreys Dora Storer
South Orange, N. J.
Bob Ray Mel Bittner
Brookline, Mass.
Wheaton Byers Lee Clark
Pine Manor

Zeta Psi
Russ Platt Bunny O'Sullivan
Bennington
Jack Pietsch Patricia Patterson
New Canaan, Conn.
Pete Geler Franee Thomas
Cincinnati, Ohio
Swede Suneson Nancy Hellwig
Garden City, L.I.
Dix White Jean Trainer
Vassar
Tom Bull Alita Lewis
Smith
P. L. Martin Jane Laird
Smith
S. Bownse Sue Robbins
Smith
Ken Jayne Lydia Parsons
Painted Post, N. Y.
Stew Dalrymple Sue Sessions
Bennington
Jim McClements Dodie Miller
Pittsburgh
Norman Wood Anne Drysdale
Middlebury
Carlos French Harriet Kirk
Hartford, Conn.
G. H. Stege Sue Burnham
Packer
Ted Curtis Anne Powell
Westover School
Ned Stebbins Evie Penny
Smith

Pete Herrick
A. C. Harter
Bill Mikell
Charles Jarrett
Bill Eaton
P. Bourne
G Owen
D. Fall, Jr.
Jack Cremeens
Frank Wineman
Pete Sylvester
A. Parker
John Bowen
Tim Woodward
Colin McLeod
Tom Attix
W. J. Humphrey

Garfield Club
Bill Mulcahy Diana Bishop
Bennington
Art Sprung Beverly Smith
Chevy Chase
Joe Freedman Marilyn Mogol
Hunter
Paul Rich Marilyn Reder
Smith
Bob Rupen Judy Howard
Mt. Holyoke
Carl Howard Jean Gehrnan
Skidmore
Harold Baldwin Muriel Martin
Baldwin, L. I.
Richard Bilder Lyn Schwarz
New York City
Bob Weintraub Dorothy Mills
New Rochelle, N. Y.
Herb Chisholm Florence Hughes
Somerville, Mass.
Gene Harley Agnes Ayre
Washington, D. C.
Herb Braun Marilyn Matheson
Medford, Mass.
Al Bianchi Loraine Northrup
Pittsfield, Mass.
John Deret Joanne Green
Radcliffe
John Hall, Jr. Alicia Littell
New York City
Schuyler Haskill Mary Reed
Finch
Stan Whetatine Martha Brown
Skidmore
Dick Costable Joan Whetstone
Skidmore
Bjorn Englehart Mabel Acom
Wethersfield, Conn.
Cornelius Hauck Camerin Dill
Vassar
Ted Lichtentels Nancy Bell
Smith
Bill Holt Elizabeth Johnson
Bennington
Lon Tufler Biz Greenland
Bennington
E. Cornwell Margaret Maynard
Smith
H. Kaufman Wendy Werman
Cornell
George Best Emily Van Sickle
Mt. Holyoke
Oliver Lothrop Miriam Phipps
Wheaton

(WALDEN) THEATRE

FRIDAY SATURDAY

TARZAN AND
THE HUNTRESSJOHNNY WEISMULLER and BRENDA JOYCE

SUNDAY and MONDAY

THE SPIRIT
OF WEST POINTGLENN DAVIS and DOC BLANCHARD

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY

ROMANCE OF ROSY RIDGEVAN JOHNSON and JANET LEIGH

HP Highlights - - -

with green eyes. Delta Phi, announcing the opening of its "Ver-million Room" this week end, will vociferously be singing "Shine On, Shine On Harvest Moon." Fence Sitters Are Honored Other house themes known as the RECORD goes to press are: Sigma Phi, "These Are The Things I Love;" Phi Sig, "Indian Summer;" Chi Psi, "Many Town;" DKE, "Prisoner of Love;" Phi Delta, "September Song;" Beta Theta Pi, "I Can't Get Started;" AD, "Turkey in the Straw;" Phi Gam, "Anything Goes. The DU theme is "Let's Do It" but the DUers are doing it at Delta Phi, where the two houses are combining forces Saturday night. Sunday morning Gargoyle Tapping will be held on the Lab campus, and with the ringing of Chapel Bells Sunday night, the glorious week end will draw to a close.

Patronize

RECORD

Advertisers

"I'M A
CHESTERFIELD FAN
BECAUSE THEY REALLY SATISFY"

Barbara Stanwyck

SEE BARBARA STANWYCK IN WARNER BROS. PICTURE
"CRY WOLF"

CHESTERFIELD

ALWAYS BUY

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

The sum-total of smoking pleasure

INSURANCE BROKERS

TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beckman 3-4730

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1947

No. 10

Gargoyle Snaps Up Seven From Fence

Honorary Taps Delegation of New Seniors

Austell, Boyer, Darling, Emmert, Gleckner, Orr, Rupen Tapped

Gargoyle tapped seven members of the Class of 1948 Sunday in a ceremony held on the lab campus in the morning. Those tapped were: Robert J. Rupen, Robert J. Boyer, Robert J. Austell, Robert F. Gleckner, Alexander G. Orr, Newton P. Darling Jr., and Barrett F. Emmert.

The society was established in 1940 to "take active steps for the advancement of Williams in every branch of college life and work, and exert itself against everything detrimental to such advancement."

Summer Term Juniors Tapped
The seven men tapped Sunday entered the senior class in September after finishing their junior year during the summer term. They bring the present undergraduate membership of Gargoyle to eighteen.

Since the war, tappings have been held twice each year, but with the return of a one-graduation-per-year system, students will from now on be chosen for the society in June at the end of their junior year, as was done prior to the wartime schedule.

Rupen, Boyer on U.C.
Bob Rupen, tapped by Josiah T. S. Horton '48, is a Garfield Club member news editor of the Record, president of the IRC, and Garfield Club vice-president. Elected secretary of the Spring Conference Committee last spring, he has also been secretary of the SAC, chairman of a committee in NSO, and a member of the UC.

President of the UC during the summer term, Bob Boyer was chosen UC treasurer for 1947-48 in last week's elections. He is an Alpha Delta Phi, on the varsity track team and was on the IFC. He was tapped by John N. Wilson '48.

Austell, Gleckner Chosen
Rhett Austell is Spring Conference Committee Chairman, secretary of the SAC, and managing editor of the Record. He was a member of the track squad his freshman year, and is Football Program manager this fall. Austell is married vet and member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Phi. He was tapped by H. H. Kellogg '48. Bob Gleckner, a member of the UC and SAC, elected to Phi Beta Kappa this fall. He is editor of the Purple Cow and member of Beta Theta Pi. He was tapped by Charles Schmidt '48.

Two Tapped In Absentia
Tapped in absentia were Sandy Orr and Newt Darling. Orr is a defenseman, a member of the football team and also of the UC and Honor System Committee. He was class president his first two years, secretary his junior year and was recently elected secretary of the senior class. Dave Maier '48, editor of the Record, tapped Orr.

Newt Darling, a Club member, is football manager and manager of lacrosse. He is on the WCA, the wrestling team, and last year headed the Williams Travel Bureau. He was tapped by last year's football captain, Pat Higgins '48.

Barry Emmert is in Phi Gam and is sports editor of the Record. He was on the soccer team for three years and played baseball freshman and sophomore. For two years he has been manager of squash and a member of the Purple Key Society.

Going To Middletown?

The shortest route to Middletown for the Wesleyan football game is as follows: Go to Pittsfield and from there through Lenox to Lee. About five miles out of Lee take the right fork and go into Winsted on Route 44. Continue to Avon to the rotary traffic intersection, and take Route 10 through Farmington into Plainville. At Plainville continue on Route 72 which goes straight into Middletown. Driving time for the trip, which is approximately 110 miles, is two hours and a half.

Wyckoff Tells Guidance Plan

Talks And Recruiting Program Features

Dean Paul Shipman Andrews of the Syracuse University Law College will be at Williams Thursday, November 13 at 7:30 p.m. in Griffin Hall to discuss careers in law. A Ford Motor Company recruiter is expected here the following day to scout seniors and alumni Placement Bureau registrants for possible material.

Director William O. Wyckoff of the Placement Bureau, who sponsors vocational guidance talks and recruiting visits at Williams, declared last Friday that these activities are starting much sooner this year than expected.

More Attendance Wanted
Mr. Wyckoff wants a large turnout at this first vocational guidance of the year, which is open to men of all classes. "Last year we had good talks and bad audiences," he said. "I hope the audiences improve this year."

Dean Andrews plans to discuss the advantages and disadvantages of law practice. He would also be glad to see individually any senior interested in graduate work in law.

Training Program Offered
See PLACEMENT, page 4

Eph Glee Club Expands Plans For Program

Radio Broadcasts And Recording Of Group Considered This Year

An expanded program for the largest Glee Club in College history is under way, Robert Fetter '48, business manager has announced. Four concerts are definitely scheduled, and several radio broadcasts and a record album are being considered.

The first concert of the fifty-man Glee Club will be a joint program with Pembroke, the women's college of Brown University, in Providence, November 22. The second will be February 22 in Worcester, sponsored by the Williams Alumni Association.

Concert Here With Vassar
The Vassar Glee Club will travel to Williamstown for a joint concert with the Williams singers April 18, similar to the one held last spring with the Sarah Lawrence Glee Club. A trip to New York is planned for either March 13 or May 8, when the Glee Club will combine in a concert with a chorus under the direction of Dr. Hugo Ross, conductor of the

See GLEE CLUB, page 4

Regional NSA Asks Ephs To Print Journal

New England Colleges Discuss Ratification Of NSA Constitution

The Williams chapter of the National Student Association has been offered the job of publishing a regional publication for New England, according to Henry M. Halsted, '48, and H. James Finke, '48, Williams representatives at a regional NSA meeting at Mount Holyoke weekend before last.

The meeting, attended by over twenty New England colleges, drew up a regional constitution, planned activities for the current year, and chose regional officers. Laurence Jaffa of the Harvard Divinity School was reelected Regional President.

Colleges Discuss NSA
Smith college ratified the NSA constitution by a 1504-209 vote and many other New England colleges including Mount Holyoke, Springfield, Brown, and Clark have provisionally accepted, or are discussing affiliation with the NSA.

Most colleges are now holding meetings of the entire student body to debate the merits of the NSA and permitting delegates to the Wisconsin convention to explain the main points of controversy.

Wisconsin Convention
The NSA was launched at a constitutional convention on the University of Wisconsin campus in September of this year "to give the American college student representation in the educational world."

The NSA has its permanent headquarters on the University of Wisconsin campus in Madison.

Aim For Student Freedom
A few aims of NSA as enumerated in the preamble to the constitution are to "secure and maintain academic freedom and the rights of students; stimulate the development of democratic self-government; foster better educational standards, methods and facilities; work for the improvement of student social, cultural and physical welfare; promote international understanding and fellowship; and aid in securing for all people equal rights and possibilities of primary, secondary and higher education regardless of sex, religion, political beliefs or economic circumstances."

These aims will be pursued through such activities as exchanging information and statistics, working out student tours and cultural exchanges, and bringing students together to discuss and plan projects for the improvement of education.

Seek IUS Membership
The convention authorized the executive committee to begin negotiations with the IUS.
See NSA, page 4

Ephs Take Fifth Straight Loss As Union Wins, 14-0

Three prominent campus figures and two unidentified spectators show varying degrees of enthusiasm during the Friday evening pep session. Merv O'Dell watches the cameraman as President Baxter and cheerleader Chuck Schmidt rally.

"Shanty Town" By Chi Psi Wins Phonograph Records

Grid Rally, Drinking And Even Dancing Mark Gala Weekend

The Chi Psi Lodge has won twenty-five dollars worth of records, presented by the Glee Club, for the best display over the houseparty weekend, it was announced at the football game Saturday. Their winning interpretation was based on "Shanty-Town" with an old out-house and a section of railroad track included in the display.

Theta Delta Chi's "Sing-Sing (Sing)" and Psi Upsilon's "That Old Black Magic" tied for second place. Over 500 girls arrived in town for the weekend which started Friday night with what President James P. Baxter, III, termed "one of the greatest football rallies ever seen in Williamstown." The football band led a torchlight parade up fraternity row and back to Chapin Hall where the football team, cheerleaders, and band assembled on the steps.

Murphy Speaks For Ephmen
Charles Schmidt '48, led the students and dates in the cheering for the team and its spokesmen, Captain Eugene Murphy '48. "Whoop" Snively thanked the students for their support and cited an incident in France in 1918 when a few words of encouragement in a telegram from home sent a half-beaten football team back out on the field to win. He concluded by saying that the support shown Friday night could do the same thing for the Williams team Saturday.

President Baxter hoped that the showing Friday night would mark the turn of the tide in favor of the Williams football squad for the rest of the season. He said that the team was almost the same one that showed up so well against Wesleyan last year and which beat Amherst, and he had hopes that starting Saturday, the team would go on from victory to victory.

Team Goes To Dalton
As the band played "Yard by Yard" the team filed into a waiting bus for Dalton and drove off. The names of the winners of the six passes to the football game and two tickets to the Friday night dance were then picked from a hat by Moony McAlpin, daughter of college physician Kenneth R. McAlpin.
See RALLY, page 4

U C Organizes Campaign For Building Fund

Baxter Participates In Organization Meeting Of Mid-West Alumni

A "student-branch committee" is being planned by the Undergraduate Council to enlist campus support of the $2,500,000 Building and Endowment Campaign now getting underway in twenty states. President Baxter has done preliminary work for the drive in Ohio and has attended alumni organization meeting in Chicago in preparation for launching the drive there.

Funds gathered in the nationwide campaign will be spent for improvement of College buildings and facilities, and faculty salaries.

Campaign Strategy Planned
The regional alumni campaigns have begun in some parts of the country. It is expected that all of them will be fully organized and underway in the next few days.

A central campaign office has been established in Jesup Hall, and a brochure describing and illustrating the aims of the program is being distributed to alumni. Additions to the Biology See CAMPUS FUND DRIVE, p 4

Purple Attack Weak Due To Bad Teamwork

Best Tallies Both TD's Whalen Brilliant In Visitor's Second Win

Eph Offense Folds Before Garnet Line

Chances Excellent For Victory-Less Season

There was little joy in Billville Saturday night because on Saturday afternoon Union, which had won only once in five starts, shamed the Ephmen before their houseparty dates with a decisive 14-0 victory.

While the impotent Purple was trying vainly to penetrate the Union forty yard line, the Dutchmen from Schenectady were having the time of their lives, scoring early in the game, dominating most of the play and completely stifling the feeble Williams attack.

Poor Team Play
The men who played for Union weren't much better than those who played for Williams, but as a team they were far superior to the Ephmen, who stumbled to their fifth consecutive loss. Chances for victory-less season look good, because if they've shown nothing else all year, the Ephs have displayed consistency.

Digging into their backfield reserves, which were in a sorry state due to injuries, the Garnets came up with a second-stringer named George Best, who ran the Ephmen ragged. The hard-running, 18-year old Schenectady lad accounted for the game's two touchdowns and did the major share of the Union ball carrying. He shared the spotlight with Ken Whalen, his fellow back, whose superb punting helped keep the Snivelymen bottled up deep in their own territory through most of the afternoon.

Best Scores Twice
Despite the loss through injury of triple-threat Harry Enstice, one of the finest small college backs in the country, Union was never pressed. Before the crowd was comfortably seated, on the sixth play of the game to be exact, Best shocked the attendance with a daring, naked reverse. He caught the Williams team flat-footed and scooted forty yards for a score practically untouched by human hands. Midway in the second quarter he climaxed a sudden Union touchdown drive by cutting off the right side of his line from the Purple ten and bullying his way across the goal line.

After the quick score, the first period developed into an exhibition on the finer points of applying one's insole to a pigskin bladder by Whalen, who delighted his friends with one boot from the vicinity of his own ten to within inches of the Williams ten, where the ball rolled dead. He spiraled another punt that was good for fifty yards, as all watched in amazement. Dick Whitney and Roger Collins, before the latter was removed with an injured knee, made some nice runs, but they went for naught as the Garnet's forward wall combined with the Eph ineffectiveness to keep the Purple within its own territory.

Williams Makes Bid
In the next quarter, Best made the final score and Wade split the See BEST TALLIES, page 3

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
CHARLES H. KLENSCH, '48 Copy Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 News Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Griggs Baugh, '48 H. Russell Plott, '48
Charles R. Fetter, '48 John H. Schafer, '48
Peter M. Thexton, '48

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

William R. Borney, Jr., '49 Russell B. Frost, '49
Seth M. Bidwell, '49 Edwin Kuh, '49
Jerry J. Cole, '49 J. Edward Powlick, '49
Joseph F. Dorsey, '49 R. S. Taylor, '49

EDITORIAL STAFF

S. F. Blaschke, '50 E. V. Gouinlock, '50 W. P. Stern, '50
K. V. X. Delany, '50 R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50 P. W. Stites, '49
W. V. M. Fawcett, Jr., '50 H. D. Mohring, '50 C. E. Utley, '49
R. Fowle, '50 D. T. Roach, '50 H. Van Harne, '50
J. B. Gibson, '50 S. Rabinowitz, '50 N. S. Wood, '50
J. G. Golding, '50 J. B. Sheppardson, '50

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers Edward L. Stackhouse, '50
Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock, '49

BUSINESS STAFF

R. P. Klopman, '49 T. H. Lichtenfels, '50 J. S. Prescott, '50
P. C. Graney, '49 M. J. Murray, '50 B. M. Sapiro, '48
R. A. LeCount, '49 J. M. Reid, '49 A. R. Shay, '50
R. B. Stallworth, '48

ART BOARD

Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Feich, '48

VOL. LXI

NOVEMBER 5, 1947

No. 10

On The Fence

Eighty-three and one third per cent of the class to be tapped were not present at the recent Gargoyle Fiasco. To keep the ceremony from being a complete farce, the Gargoyles enlisted the services of several men of other classes and even one recent alumnus, in order to fill out the fence.

The time appointed may not have been completely convenient, but it was the only one available. The question of time, however, is irrelevant. Even should the Gargoyle Society decide to tap at midnight, it is the duty of all the members of the class being tapped to make every effort to be present. It is not a matter of making fools of themselves, it is rather common courtesy to those classmates who have been selected.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the RECORD:

It appears as though class elections are as much a farce as ever. Specifically I am referring to the Junior Class elections a week ago Wednesday.

A majority of the 220-odd members of the class did not attend, as is usual. A number of rules and regulations the UC devised as election procedure were flagrantly violated. The entire meeting was marked by bursts of laughter and shouting. Some were more than slightly inebriated. In fact one person even had to ask another to write down the name of his choice for Honor System representative on the ballot paper since he was unable to do it himself. Plural voting existed with individuals either voting twice and more often or raising both hands. Nominations were made and accepted by our president after it had been moved that nominations be closed. There was no real effort made by either the initial chairman or the subsequently elected president to curb the disorder. The entire procedure appeared as one tremendous joke.

It is to be hoped that the UC will in the future either devise a different and better method of election, or enforce any rules it has made more stringently in order that the whole process may not so completely degenerate and nauseate the class membership as to repel them completely.

Sincerely,
Peter M. Gutmann

One-Acter Casting Tryouts Next Week

Cap And Bells Group To Appoint Directors

Casting tryouts for the three student-directed, one-act plays scheduled for experimental production by Cap and Bells December 5 will be held November 10-14.

Appointments of the student directors for the three plays will be made this week by a committee composed of David Bryant, Mike Casey, Howard Erskine, '48, and Gerald O'Brien, '49.

Open To Season Ticket Holders

Noel Coward's "Ways and Means," Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Ariada Capo," and "Portrait of a Madonna" by Tennessee Williams will make up the one-night performance open only to the 400 season ticket holders and their guests.

Debaters Select Officers For '47-8

Pick Halsted, Alberti, Stone; Clashes End

At a meeting a week ago yesterday the Adelphi Union chose officers for the coming year and planned an ambitious schedule of debates. Henry M. Halsted '48, was elected president, Jamea H. Stone '48, vice-president and Charles R. Alberti Jr. '50, secretary. Peter M. Gutman '49, continues as business manager and Leonard Gordon '50 became assistant business manager.

This semester two teams will enter the tournament at the University of Vermont. Home debates are planned with Rensselaer, and the Wesleyan and Bennington freshmen before Christmas.

Teams will also travel to Mt. Holyoke and other colleges during this period. Among the debate

See DEBATE page 4

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

How To Get A Houseparty Date (For Reference come February)

It really isn't the hardest thing in the world to get a houseparty date, if one goes about it the right way. I will show you a copy of the letter which I had printed to send to prospective suckers: Dearest _____, (Here insert the name of the girl)

Well, I'm really hitting the books, and I certainly miss the wonderful times we had this summer at _____. (Here insert the name of a place at which a particularly sexy evening was spent with the above inserted girl.) It's been so long since I've seen you or held your warm pulsating body in my strong arms. (This may be deleted if one is not that familiar with the subject, or on general principles.)

Anyway, we are having a houseparty next weekend featuring Nathan Schrednick and his Hep Orchestra. We are planning at the House to _____. (Use one's own discretion in inserting something here. If inserted, make it plenty good.) It would certainly please me no end if you would deign to grace the party with your electric presence. (This gets them every time.)

Love forever, (most important)

Joe.

I had a gross of these printed—at a nominal fee—and spread them around the country's better girls' colleges. The answers were eye-opening to say the least—and that's exactly what I want to say. The most common reply was none at all. This seemed fairly final, so I listed them with the negative replies. In all, I received fifty-seven letters saying, "No." Two said, "No, thanks just the same, kid." Several were more original—and I shall quote:

Dear friend,

Your kind invitation arrived followed by a telegram saying that Aunt Agatha is expected to die next weekend. Of course it is impossible for me to accept your kind invitation as I shall be in New Haven for the funeral. Thank you for the kind invitation.

Yours, Charmaine

This was from a girl at Skidmore, and as everyone knows, a Skidmore girl smokes and drinks—hardly the type of girl to have for a houseparty.

Dear Joe,

Migawd, I thought you had choked to death or something. I haven't heard from you since that night you mentioned at Euclid Beach when you disappeared into the night with that bleached thing from Smith. I'd really be simply to pulsate my warm body in your strong arms again if I didn't have to attend a lecture in Cambridge on "The Use of Counterpoint in Economic Recovery in the Zambesi Backlands." You know how disappointed I am. Tough situation, Jose.

Passionately, Lohengrin

Never trust a Wellesley woman, I shall always say from now on. I doubt if she even intended to attend that lecture—interesting as it may sound. The next letter I received from the "bleached thing at Smith".

Dear one,

It was really grand to hear from you again, and I'd be simply delighted to attend that simply marvelous houseparty you mentioned. It simply crushes me to have to refuse, but I shall be at home that weekend attending my wedding. I'm sure you'll understand. My roommate would be simply thrilled to attend. She's something of your type. She isn't terribly good looking, but she has a simply wonderful personality. She's warm too.

Love, Poochie

That's the trouble with Smith girls—they're always getting married or something. I learned from a fraternity brother that the roommate with the simply wonderful personality can't speak English so I let the whole matter drop. From Bennington:

Dear sir,

How can you have the unmitigated gall to write me after the rough time you gave me last weekend is more than I can understand—feeble intellect that I am. Anytime you catch me at a Williams houseparty, it will be dead or with boxing gloves on. I value my reputation too highly to allow it to be dragged through the filthy mire of your lousy houseparty. No!!

Sincerely, Penelope

That was pretty definite. I guess she's the type of girl who doesn't enjoy good clean fun. Or maybe she'd rather attend her damned Siamese dancing class. But the payoff came finally when I received this letter from Poughkeepsie-on-the-Hudson:

Dearest darling Josiah,

Come to your houseparty? Why I'd love it! I had accepted invitations from Yale, Princeton, and Amherst, but naturally I broke them all when I received your letter today. Don't worry about getting any liquor. Father sent me a case of Haig and Haig, and I'll just bring it along with me. My new convertible arrived yesterday, so I'll be able to drive up. I'm mad to see you—I intend to spend every minute making this a houseparty you'll remember forever. Get set for a fantastic weekend—if I were a ranch they would have named me the Bar Nothing.

Love, love, love, Ann

That's what I always say—if you want the best houseparty date possible, order her from Matthew Vassar's School for Lovely Females. My problem now is to find some way to keep Ann to myself. Later developments will be duly reported.

ERRATUM

An important paragraph was inadvertently omitted from Steve Sondheim's review of "Alice in Wonderland" in the last issue of the RECORD. We print below the deleted lines:

Another excellent job was turned in by Nick Dunn as the Dormouse who squeaked his way through the play with shrill finesse. He almost succeeded in making the tea party entertaining, but didn't have enough lines, I'm afraid.

Calendar

TUESDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football
DU vs Sigma Phi
Delta Phi vs Garfield
Alpha Delt vs Theta Delt
DKE vs Phi Gam

WEDNESDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football
Phi Delt vs Zeta Psi
Beta vs Chi Psi
Delta Psi vs KA
Varsity and Freshmen Cross Country: Little Three meet at Amherst

THURSDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football
DU vs Delta Phi
Garfield vs Alpha Delt
Theta Delt vs DKE
Phi Gam vs Sigma Phi

SATURDAY

Afternoon: Varsity Football, Wesleyan-Away, 2:00 p.m.
Varsity Soccer, Wesleyan-Away
Freshmen Football, Union-Away
Freshmen Soccer, Springfield-Home

Get off to a flying start...

Step forth with Seaforth!

With the creamy-rich lather of Seaforth Shaving Soap, the heather-fresh exhilaration of Seaforth Lotion, you're headed for better, pleasanter grooming. Enjoy them yourself... soon! These and other Seaforth essentials, packaged in handsome stoneware, only $1.

Seaforth, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, N. Y. 20

Arrow Proudly Presents

Native to a million college top-bureau drawers before the war, Arrow's famous Gordon Oxford cloth shirts in five classic campus styles are back to deck the neck of the post-war college man.

Ask for these models by name:

"DOVER"
Roll front button-down

"DOUBLER"
Doubles for dress and sports
—two pockets

"BROCKLY"
Medium point collar

"SUSSEX" Widespread stay collar

AT $3.95

the new "FENWAY"
Casual, longer
point button-down

P. S. All Arrow Gordon Oxfords are Sanforized (not more than 1% fabric shrinkage) and come with the famous Mitoga fitting body.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.
116 John Street, N. Y. C. Beekman 3-4730

WALDEN THEATRE

TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY
THE ROMANCE OF ROSY RIDGE
with VAN JOHNSON

THURSDAY
THE SEA WOLF

FRIDAY and SATURDAY
EDWARD G. ROBINSON in THE RED HOUSE
with LON McALLISTER

Soccer Squad Snaps Losing Streak, Tops Clark 4 - 1

Frosh Beaten Phi Delts Win; Potter's Yearling Club Beats Jeffs 14-6, Wins Little Three

Brown, Emmert Lead Varsity To Second Victory Of Season

by Wally Stern

The Eph soccer team, after three straight losses, finally snapped back into the win column last Saturday, with a 4-1 victory over a spirited but ragged team from Clark University. The game was held on Cole Field before a small houseparty crowd.

The purples were sparked by the play of Emmy Brown at center-half, and by Barry Emmert at center-forward, who scored three of his team's four goals. Although the team was still not up to par, the Ephmen had little trouble in downing the visitors. For the first time this year, they seemed to play as a unit, although they blew hot and cold, looking exceedingly good in spurts, and then looking exceedingly bad.

Brown Shines

Standing out all afternoon was center-half Emmy Brown's play. Switched to center-half from right-half for the game, as a result of his fine performance in last week's Springfield game, Brown was all over the field, playing a sparkling defensive game, and giving a fine exhibition of play-making on the offensive. His play, together with the scoring punch of Barry Emmert, accounted for the Purple victory.

The home team took the lead in the first period, when Emmert scored two goals, and after this was never headed. Barry, who was kicking well all afternoon, countered first when he beat the goalie on a loose ball, and a moment later, scored again after a center by Frank Donnelly. In the second period, Barry scored his third goal of the day on a beautiful free kick. The Eph's completed their scoring in the third period, on a disputed play, in which the Clark fullback made a dive for the ball in front of the goal, but allowed it to go in. Larry Gourley got credit for the score. Clark's one goal came in the first period on a dropped ball in front of the Eph goal.

Although they won the game quite easily, and showed some improvement in their teamwork, the team still showed a need of work. Their passing and trapping were still sloppy, and against a better team, the score would probably not have been as one-sided. The half-back line clicked much better with Brown and George Kneass trading positions. On the forward line, which saw ex-fullback "Chink" Walker move to inside right, aside from Emmert, Cy Mayshark stood out.

Frosh Lose

The frosh booters, in dropping their game to the Amherst Juniors at Amherst, almost repeated last week's loss to Wesleyan. Again the two teams were very evenly matched, and again the game was a scoreless tie after three periods had been played. Once again the Eph frosh fell apart in the last period as the little Lord Jeffa came up with two quick goals.

At this point, however, the Chaffemen found themselves, and with time running out, started to roll. Cy Merrill scored for the Purples to make the score 2-1. The little Ephmen kept fighting, and had the ball deep in Amherst territory until the final whistle.

The Lineup:
Williams (4)
Lunt (Capt.)
Page
Hadley
Bowen
Brown
Kneass
Mayshark
Oudin
Emmert
Walker
Donnelly

Clark (1)
Stone
Gurewisk
Sonntag
Jarvis
Graden
deCastro
Martin
Baker
Graden
Tagliarini
Westcott

Score by Periods
Williams 2 1 1 0 4
Clark 1 0 0 0 1
Williams Subs—Dewey, Gomory, Lothrop, Gourley.

Clubmen, Betes Also Remain Undefeated

by John Golding

As the intramural touch-football season rolls on, there is a tie for the lead in both leagues: in one division between the Phi Delts and the Betes, and in the other between AD and the Garfield Club. All four teams are still undefeated.

Last Tuesday the Phi Delta piled up the largest score of the season in their tilt with the cellar dwelling Psi U's, as their attack racked up a 60-0 count against the luckless opposition. On Thursday, in the only contest played that day, the Delts outpointed Phi Sig, 36-24. No individual stars shown for the Phi Delts; every man had a hand in the fast-moving basketball tactics that brought home the bacon in both games.

Kaps Lose Again

Any Kap hopes for a comeback after their Phi Delt defeat were rudely shattered last Tuesday, when the Betes smacked them down again 12-6. It was Wally Olesen who pulled the fat out of the fire for the winners. After a quick tally by KA early in the game, Olesen popped up with an interception-touchdown that tied the score at 6-6. And in the twilight overtime, he snared another Kap pass, setting up the t.d. that the Betes needed to take the match.

Sparked by Gray Blandey, the Saints added a win to their 2-1 record, when they ran circles around Phi Sig to the tune of 32-0. Clicking too were the Chi Psi's, who outran the Zetes in a scoring duel, 48-26.

AD Over D Phi

In the Wednesday games everything went according to the dope sheet. AD, with a 4-0 record now, took Delta Phi for a 12-0 ride. Though the score read 0-0 at half-time, the Alpha Delts finally got back into their usual form, as Dave Bryan intercepted an aerial and returned it for a t.d.

Garfield Club experienced little difficulty in downing Theta Delt 18-6. Capitalizing on Howie Kaufman's pass receiving talents, the Clubmen got two of their touchdowns; the other pass went to Jerry Herndon.

DU, DKE Win

by Steve Blaschke

Memories of almost forgotten Williams gridiron glory were brought back last Saturday when Pete Fisher, the immortal Harry Fisher's son, galloped 80 yards for a touchdown to give the Purple a 14-6 victory over Amherst, the Little Three Crown, and its third win in three starts.

The first saw the Ephmen continually knocking at the Jeff goal line but a series of fumbles, some clever Amherst ball stealing, and disgraceful officiating kept them from actually scoring. A perfectly executed passplay from Bill Sperry to Mitch Fish covered 35 yards and was good for a touchdown but was nullified when the bewildered officials called a penalty so obscure that the rulebooks seemed to have nothing to say about it.

Power Pays Off

With nine minutes to go in the last quarter it happened. Pete Fisher took the ball off tackle on his own twenty, bulled his way to the sidelines and took off on his now historical 80 yard run. Ernie "automatic toe" Mierzejewski converted but another penalty put the ball back on the 17. This didn't faze Ernie a bit and he calmly booted it 27 yards through the uprights.

DU is back in form with only one defeat, at the hands of the Alpha Delts, in the book against them. Last week's target was the Phi Gams, who went under, 24-6. Star of the afternoon, DU's Gale Allen, who scored all twenty-four of his team's points. And finally the Dekes have succeeded in hoisting themselves out of the cellar, with a victory over the Sig Phi's, who now share the bottom of the ladder with Phi Gam.

Amherst then came back to score but failed to convert. They kicked off to the 15 but Fritz Zeller weaved his way to the 50 before he was brought down. A few plays later little Pete Delisser took off on an endrun and by the time he was stopped on the four the stands were comparing him to Red Grange at his best. Another penalty moved the ball back but not far enough for Pete Smythe, who scored on the next play. Mierzejewski then went into his act and the game ended with the score 14-6.

Team Victory

Again it wasn't a victory produced by individuals but by eleven men working together. It should be noted that despite the 130 yards of penalties which the "amateur" officials chose to call, Amherst never got deep into Williams territory. The reason for this is the truly sensational defensive play of the whole line, which has allowed the opposition less than 100 yards in three games. The Amherst crowd saw a thrilling game but reserved its biggest praise for Jack French's tackling, which for a guy who'd never played football before was almost unbelievable. We can truly be proud of Harv Potter, Eobby Coombs and the team they have created.

Eph Harriers Trounce Union

Kelton Snares First; Team Wins 23 - 32

The varsity cross-country team extended its winning streak to four straight by taking a clean-cut 23-32 decision from the Union College harriers on Saturday. Coach Plansky's boys covered the difficult 3.7 mile course in the best times of the season to take the first three and the eighth and ninth places.

Bill Kelton showed the way to the pack in the Purple's last match before they defend their Little Three Title on Wednesday at Amherst. Leading most of the way, in ideal running weather, Kelton finished in 21:15.9 minutes, only twenty-five seconds off the course record.

Delany, Cook Finish Well

Forty yards back in second place was Kev Delany in 21:24 minutes. Paul Cook was right behind in 21:35. Culver was the first to complete the grind for the previously undefeated Union team to grab the fourth slot in 22:01.

Phil Collins was beaten to the tape by a foot for seventh place by Wright of Union but still did his best time of 22:15. Captain Herb Chisholm, still hampered by a bad leg, ended the scoring for the Ephs by garnering the ninth place in 22:40.

Little Three Meet Next

The Little Three meet on Wednesday will be run on the Lord Jeff's 3.9 mile course Plansky's hill and dalers will meet stiff opposition from Wesleyan and Amherst teams reported to be considerably improved over last year.

Since cross country running entails a good knowledge of the course as well as the necessary stamina and speed, the Jeffs have a decided advantage in that the contest will be run off on their home course. Nonetheless, the varsity squad embarks for Amherst with their scintillating unbeaten record and high hopes to snare the Little Three Crown. Chisholm's steady improvement should also be a great help in bolstering the Ephs' chances for victory.

The freshmen squad will also be putting its title on the line Wednesday when the Purple yearlings attempt to duplicate last year's Little Three triumph by the Williams frosh.

Best Tallies - - -

Continued from page 1

uprights for his second consecutive conversion. Sheer power and crafty deception carried the Ephmen way, way down to the Union 40, for what was the Purple's most scoring threat. Little "Chee-Chee" VanAlstyne, spelling Collins, climaxed this attack with a thirteen yard sweep around his own left end.

The Purple had trouble moving beyond the mid-field stripe in the third period, and the chapter closed with a Union drive from its own forty-seven to the Williams ten, where the ball was surrendered to the Ephmen on downs. Best was the workhorse here carrying about every other time for the Dutchmen and slashing through the middle for repeated gains.

Higgins Plays

Whitney's forty-yard sprint around his own right end to the Garnets' forty featured the action in the last period. This was a play that worked well throughout the contest. Stu Duffield's fake-kick plays also worked well, but was not used too often. Pat Higgins, out of action since the RPI game, entered the contest in a desperate attempt to spark the Eph attack, but it was to no avail.

Williams		Union
Todd	LE	Westlund
Glancy	LT	Abba
Murphy	LG	Weiss
Conway	C	Schaffer
Heekin	RG	DeBello
Lukas	RT	Napear
E. Detmar	RE	Brisson
Fuzak	QB	Strauss
Whitney	LHB	Best
Duffield	RHB	Wade
Higgins	FB	Whalen

RECORD Seeks Men For Editorial Staff

Any men interested in working for the Record, who did not come out for the competitions at the beginning of the semester, are invited to attend the regular compet meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Jesup Hall Record office.

The Record is particularly interested in lower classmen who can type and have an understanding of the rudiments of grammar and men who have had editorial experience in secondary schools or elsewhere.

REMEMBER . . .

The Williams Club
24 East 39th St. New York City

When in New York for a weekend

Enjoy this favorite meeting place of Williams Men

Special Room Rates for Students

Everyone's Talking 'Bout This Record...

It's GORDON MacRAE'S Latest Capitol Release

... "I STILL GET JEALOUS"

MARK the name: Gordon MacRae. You're going to be hearing more and more of him, for this newest platter of his is really a record for the books. Another record for the books is the fact that all over America more men and women are smoking Camels than ever before!

Why? You'll find the answer in your "T-Zone" (T for Taste and T for Throat). Try Camels. Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience"!

CAMELS
SUIT ME
BEST!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO.
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

More people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!

"Brilliant Recital" Describes Arrau's Piano Performance

by John A. Rogers, '50
The Thompson Concert Series commenced last Thursday, 30 Oct. with a brilliant recital by Claudio Arrau, pianist. He gave us a striking and well-precisioned program, but at times his playing reached the point of annoyance, there being so little nuance—at least in the piano direction. Before Mr. Arrau's program had progressed too far, the audience was well aware of his unmatched technical ability. At certain times, however, he lacked emotional expression.

The program commenced with Bach's Prelude and Fugue in A minor. Both were well played with a grand sense of rhythm and precision, however the chromatic passage of the Prelude was somewhat cloudy because of too much pedal, as were some of the softer passages of other parts of the program. The Fugue was well done, the different voices being brought out. Near the end Mr. Arrau finally rolled down to a quasi-planissimo, which might be called a welcome to sore ears.

"Farewell" Sonata Played Well
A Beethoven Sonata, opus 81a, followed. Beethoven wrote this piece describing the departure of one of his sponsors, and consequently called it "Lebewohl" ("farewell"). The three beginning chords cry this out: Le-be-wohl. Mr. Arrau caught the farewell of the whole first movement, and it would have been very well played, save his insistence to make everything loud. In the second movement he did not achieve a singing tone; it had a negative quality. The last movement was splendidly done, Mr. Arrau being in his element. He played it heroically. His octaves were extraordinarily good.

Mendelssohn Best
The second part of the recital began with Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriccioso". This, Mr. Arrau played the best of anything on the program. In the opening passage of this he achieved a beautiful tone. The legato in the melodic passage was well done, while the presto passages were light as air. Two Chopin pieces followed, Ballade in G minor, and the E major Scherzo. In both he displayed great precision. His octaves, again, were unmatched, and his prestos were "sweepingly light". The legato passage of the scherzo lacked true tone, and in both the soft parts had a restless quality. Mr. Arrau then played the Brahms Variations on a theme by Paganini. It was very striking. The octaves were played with grand legato, yet they and the melody as played by the right hand lacked a singing tone. The presto passages were light, and he played the very difficult cross-hand passages with unmatched skill.

Ravel And Debussy Rendered
The concluding group consisted of selections by Ravel and Debussy. The Ravel "Jeux d'eau" and "Pavane" were played with unexpected restraint. The technique was wonderful, and the quietus of their playing was heightened by calm, flowing technique. The first Debussy selection, "Minstrels" was well played with just the right impressionistic interpretation. The "L'Allegretto" passages were good. The program concluded with Debussy's "L'Isle Joyeuse". This was played with great brilliance, and grand éclat and the rendition was precise and well done. The main and perhaps only fault with Mr. Arrau's recital was his lack of emotional tenderness in the passages which required it. He sometimes was unable to attain a true melodic tone. His precision was exceptionally accurate. His mastery of technique is indisputable, and his octave, legato, and ligero passages were superb.

CampusFundDrive

and physics laboratories, an enclosed hockey rink, and an addition to the Stetson Library are included in the plan for improvements. Nearly $500,000 will be devoted to a dormitory and center for non-fraternity men.

Glee Club - - -

New York Schola Cantorum.
Tentative plans include a radio concert with the Emma Willard School chorus on station WGY and programs over station WBRK in Pittsfield and WKOZ in North Adams.

A second home concert will be presented if the time is available. To satisfy the desire of many students to hear the Glee Club on records, recordings may be waxed sometime this year.

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.
Telephone 3553

Please Patronize

RECORD

Advertisers

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL
AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

D & D OFFICE
SERVICE

Let D & D Do Your
Typing For You

Leave material to be typed at 85 Spring Street
next to the Alumni House
TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

NSA - - -

gotiations for NSA affiliation with the International Union of Students, with reservations which will preserve the purely educational nature of the NSA and prevent NSA from being bound by political actions which might be taken by the international group. NSA's relationship with IUS will be on a provisional basis until it is passed on at the full NSA congress next summer and then ratified by half of the member colleges containing two-thirds of the students.

The convention voted to seek representation on the United States Commission for UNESCO. It was also voted that the NSA be a sponsor of the World Student Service Fund.

NSA Background
The National Student Association was conceived when 700 student delegates representing 800,000 students of 300 colleges and universities met in conference at the University of Chicago last December. Twenty-five American delegates to the World Student Congress held at Prague, Czechoslovakia, in the summer of 1946, were sponsors of this meeting. The Chicago conference established a "national continuations committee" which laid the ground work for the NSA constitutional convention.

The knottiest problem before the convention involved NSA's method of carrying out its stated purpose of "securing the eventual elimination of all forms of discriminatory educational systems anywhere in the United States. After much argument between Negro and White Southern delegates it was provided that NSA "Will take national, regional, and campus action through the corresponding organizations of NSA to implement its stated principals, with regard to the legal limitations involved."

Many Oppose IUS

Another warmly debated issue was the proposed affiliation with IUS. Opposition to any form of affiliation ended when members of the American delegation to the IUS council acquainted the delegates with the aims of the IUS which are similar to the NSA aims.

The convention announced that "although at present there are fundamental differences between NSA and the IUS," the American students are still "desirous of co-operation with students throughout the world."

Student Bill Of Rights

With the resolution—passed by a 429-35 vote—authorizing the executive committee to begin negotiations for IUS affiliation, the convention included a message to U.S. students calling attention to their responsibility to "learn more about the world at large, teach the rest of the world about the U.S., and learn to work together with people who do not necessarily share their ideology and political philosophies."

Rally - - -

The formal dance Friday night at the gym featured the "danceable music" of Sam Donahue and his orchestra fresh from Frank Dalley's "Meadowbrook" in New Jersey.

Weekend Guests And Escorts

On Saturday afternoon, weekend guests and escorts advanced on Weston Field where they saw the Ephmen ingloriously go down to their fifth straight defeat of the year. Spirits were raised, however, when it was announced that the freshmen had captured the Little Three title by clipping Amherst 14-6.

Debaters - - -

topics will be World Federalism, the NSA, and the recent Loyalty Acts. "Is freedom compatible with planning?" and "Should the scientist stay in the laboratory?"

Tryouts for the freshman debate council are to be held this week. The active freshman season is to culminate at the Dartmouth tournament in the spring.

Placement - - -

Anthony M. Menkel, Jr., of the Ford Company will be at college Friday November 14 to interview interested seniors. Mr. Menkel, Williams '39, is offering a 101-week training program with pay at the Ford plant in Dearborn, Mich.

Trainees are paid $250 per month, asserts Mr. Wyckoff, and the program is open to men in the twenty to twenty-six age group. Men from the top quarter of their class are wanted, but he emphasized, they will be accepted only if they have been prominent in extra-curricular activities.

Wyckoff Has Ford Pamphlets

Any senior wanting an interview with Mr. Menkel is urged to pick up and read pamphlets and brochures on Ford which Mr. Wyckoff has at his office in the Old Faculty Club. "The interview should have pertinent questions to ask the interviewer," declared the Placement Director.

Other recruiters expected during the fall are: O. A. Pendergast of Montgomery Ward, New York City, who is looking for men interested in the retail field.

ON THE TELEPHONE, TOO!

This is broadcasting as you see it.

What you do not see are the thousands of miles of telephone wire and cable that link broadcasting stations from coast to coast... that make national networks possible.

The administration of these vast broadcasting links requires the varied skills of college-trained men.

• And this is but one of the many interesting phases of the telephone business. There's opportunity and adventure in telephony.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

ONE SHIRT AT THE
WILLIAMS CO-OP

"Pick Your Winners"
FOOTBALL CONTEST

ONE WILLIAMS BEER MUG or ONE PICTURE FRAMED at BASTIEN'S

- | | | |
|---------------------------------------|----------------|--------------------------|
| 1. <input type="checkbox"/> Amherst | vs. R.P.I. | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 2. <input type="checkbox"/> Army | vs. Notre Dame | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 3. <input type="checkbox"/> Brown | vs. Yale | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 4. <input type="checkbox"/> Cornell | vs. Syracuse | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 5. <input type="checkbox"/> Dartmouth | vs. Columbia | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 6. <input type="checkbox"/> Duke | vs. Missouri | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 7. <input type="checkbox"/> Harvard | vs. Princeton | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 8. <input type="checkbox"/> Penn. | vs. Virginia | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 9. <input type="checkbox"/> U.C.L.A. | vs. Stanford | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 10. <input type="checkbox"/> Williams | vs. Wesleyan | <input type="checkbox"/> |

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Saturday.
2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.

3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.

4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

Saturday, November 8 Games.

- | | | |
|---------------------------------------|----------------|--------------------------|
| 1. <input type="checkbox"/> Amherst | vs. R.P.I. | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 2. <input type="checkbox"/> Army | vs. Notre Dame | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 3. <input type="checkbox"/> Brown | vs. Yale | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 4. <input type="checkbox"/> Cornell | vs. Syracuse | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 5. <input type="checkbox"/> Dartmouth | vs. Columbia | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 6. <input type="checkbox"/> Duke | vs. Missouri | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 7. <input type="checkbox"/> Harvard | vs. Princeton | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 8. <input type="checkbox"/> Penn. | vs. Virginia | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 9. <input type="checkbox"/> U.C.L.A. | vs. Stanford | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 10. <input type="checkbox"/> Williams | vs. Wesleyan | <input type="checkbox"/> |

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1947

No. 11

Undeclared Harriers Swamp Amherst, Wesleyan

Discrimination Denied By Inn; 'No Color Line'

Servant Denied Table; Arrau's Chauffeur Class Victim

According to a North Adams Transcript report, a condensation of which is printed below, the record found that there has been no discrimination against colored Williams students in the dining-room of the Williams Inn.

According to the Transcript, John F. Treadway, manager of the Williams Inn, recently denied that racial prejudice had anything to do with the eviction from the Inn dining-room of the colored chauffeur of Claudio Arrau, noted Chilean pianist who gave a concert at Chapin Hall on Thursday, Oct. 30.

Servant Escorted To Kitchen
Minko Streight, the servant in question, was escorted to the kitchen after having entered the main dining-room. Mr. Treadway explained that this was due to the Inn's policy of having guests' servants eat in the kitchen rather than in the dining-room—a policy that has in the past been preferred by the servants, according to Treadway. He went on to say that had it not been for the temporary absence of the headwaiter, Mr. Streight would not have been permitted to enter the dining-room, as no guests are allowed to enter at random, regardless of race or color.

Mr. Streight subsequently dined at a Spring Street restaurant. Deeming the whole incident "unfortunate", Mr. Treadway pointed out that Mr. Streight's having been given a room at the Inn was proof that the establishment does not discriminate on racial grounds.

Outers Brave Mount'n Trails

Explorers Drive To Camp, Note Lunches In Packs

Eight hardy members of the Chamis Outing Club will leave today for a weekend camping in the Adirondacks.

led by Asst. Prof. Langdon Kwell, they will drive to a equipped cabin at Keene, N.Y., designated as headquarters for the outing. Early Sunday morning they will leave on an exploring expedition in the Marcy area. The men will carry light packs with extra clothes and lunch. They will return Sunday night.

Sheep Hill Improved
A club program for the improvement of skiing facilities on Sheep Hill is also underway. The WOC reports that when their reconditioning job, which includes broadening the slope, cleaning out the brush, installing a new tow rope, and tuning up the motor on the tow, is completed the skiing facilities should be in top shape.

The Outing Club has a cabin on Greylock Mountain which any member may use if he has the permission of WOC President August S. Klein. The cabin, a sixteen-year-old memorial gift is situated about two-thirds the way up the mountain, about 100 yards off the Greylock auto road from North Adams.

It affords accommodations for eight people, and includes a stove and a fireplace.

Humanist Association Offers Essay Prize

The American Humanist Association, publishers of The Humanist, has announced a 1000-1400 word essay contest for college students on the subject, "Building a Positive Way of Life in Accordance with the Scientific Method and the Highest Aspirations of Mankind."

Prizes are offered both for essays written by individuals and for those prepared by groups of five or more students as follows: individual's essays: first prize, $25; second prize, $10. group essays, first prize, $25; second prize, $10.

Rain Ends Fire On October Mt.

1500 Acres Burned; Cause Undetermined

The October Mountain fire which was fought by 200 Williams men two weeks ago was finally extinguished by heavy rains last week, on Wednesday and Thursday, before any serious damage resulted. Williams students were called in to relieve harried National Guardsmen on the afternoon and evening shifts at the time the fire was at its worst, from Thursday to Sunday, October 23-26. Their job consisted mostly of patrolling the outskirts of the blaze to keep it from spreading through the loamy soil and across areas of dead leaves.

Man Made Rain
The first practice attempt at man-made rain in this area was tried the day before natural rain fell. The attempt was unsuccessful, however, because the clouds were too high.

Sunday, October 26, the blaze was brought under control, but it still smoldered and was not completely extinguished until the heavy rainfall on Wednesday and Thursday.

Engineers Relieved Guard
Four hundred students from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Greenfield, Chicopee, and Holyoke National Guard units relieved the battle-weary Berkshire County National Guard and local fire fighters that Tuesday. The fire threatened the Pittsfield water shed, but continuous vigilance kept the menace checked in that direction.

Baedaker Of Female Colleges Lauds Smith, Bennington; Compares Skidmore With Saratoga Racetrack Fillies

The girls down at Smith are endorsed, applauded, and thoroughly patted on the back by the forthcoming book, "For Men Lonely: A Complete Guide to 12 Women's Colleges."

The authors, three Dartmouth undergraduates, state that "During four years of operation at Smith, we have never been bored," and, although they deny any prejudice, "as good Dartmouth men... we do lean a bit toward Smith."

Born In Jail
The idea of "For Men Lonely" was hatched after the three young men had spent a sleepless night in the Northampton jail because they had been unable to find better accommodations. "It occurred to us," they said, "that

UC Committee Heads Chosen

March 7 Set As Date Of Winter Houseparty

Principal business at last Monday's U.C. meeting was election of a number of the council's members to committee posts.

In addition to these elections to the Entertainment, Discipline, Scholarship, and Rushing Committees, the UC established March 7 as the winter houseparty weekend and discussed Williams representation at the coming Interfraternity Conference in New York.

It was decided that the class presidents and the president and secretary of the Junior Advisors would automatically be members of the Student Committee on Discipline. Leroy McWhinney '48, Henry Halsted '48, and Robert Rupen '48 were selected for the Student Committee on Scholarship and Bradley Hammond '48, Henry Lukas '48, and Dudley Taft '48, were appointed to the Rushing Committee.

Possible Additions

UC members elected to the Entertainment Committee were Robert Worley '50, James Young '48, and William Carl '48. Men elected by the classes were to serve on the Honor System Committee. It was stressed that these committees would take on additional members from outside the UC as the need arose.

The houseparty date was set

Yachtsmen Place In Little Three Meet

Becalmed Frosh Sailors Tie Trinity For Last

Placing second in the Little Three Championship, the Williams Yacht Club finished the season in a meet held at Middletown on the Connecticut River October 26.

A week earlier an all-freshman team went down to the Intercollegiate at Providence, but overcame by an unfavorable wind and tide, they were unable to do better than tie with Trinity for last place.

First Championship

The Little Three Championship, for March 7 so that it could be planned in conjunction with the Outing Club Winter Carnival. A number of constitutional changes to be voted on in two weeks, were recommended by the Nominations and Rules Committee.

See YACHT CLUB, page 4

there must be an easier way. When they turned us out at six the next morning, we were damned sure of it."

Skidmore Girls Are No Good

Thus, William Jones, Donald Mose and Richard O'Reilly set about compiling a list of Northampton rooming houses and, one thing leading to another, soon had similar dope on Bennington, Wheaton, Bradford, Skidmore, Wellesley, Vassar, Radcliffe, Bryn Mawr, Pine Manor, Mount Holyoke and Connecticut. Inclusive descriptions of what to expect where, are included, making "For Men Lonely" a vital accessory to the novice on a weekend. For example, of Skidmore they warn, "All hope is lost if you try to take the Skid girls and the ponies

See BAEDAKER, page 4

Cross Country Snares Little Three Title As Ephs Place Seven Men In First Nine

Ever-Ready Hill-And-Dalers

Champs Scouted Jeff Course By Torch Thinclad Describes Evening Romp

by Phil Collins

Part of the phenomenal success of the cross-country team last Wednesday was the fact that the harriers literally knew their way around the Amherst course in the dark. The cross-countrymen made sure they were thoroughly familiar with the course by negotiating it Sunday evening, lighting the way with a flashlight.

After shaking off dates and houseparty hangovers, the thinclads staggered out of Williams-town at two-thirty Sunday afternoon. By the time they had routed the Amherst cross-country manager from his fraternity house and obtained a general outline of the course, it was five-thirty and almost dark.

Kelton Holds Light

Since most of the route was a narrow path through woods and fields, the harriers ran in single file with Bill Kelton in the lead, holding the flashlight which he carries in his car for such emergencies.

Half-way through the course the team got lost. By the time the next marker had been found and the team had reconnoitered in the darkness, it was discovered that Paul Cook was missing. His pleas for help could be heard coming from the distant woods. Half a mile later, however, a white figure appeared in the trail. It was Cook running the wrong way.

The Jeffs, walking quietly to dinner, were somewhat confused by the five ghostly figures rushing out of the night, wearing the Amherst colors—purple and white. Several yelled encouragement to the runners, unaware that they were talking to the wrong team.

After a few more deviations in search of flags, the thin-clads finally crossed the finish line, having made sure that unfamiliarity with the course would be no handicap to their chances of a Little Three title.

Red Banner Flew On Chapel Rampart

Pranksters Raised Flag Early H'Party Sunday

A skirmish in the undeclared war over the Hammer and Sickle was fought on the ramparts of the Thompson Memorial Chapel early last Sunday night, the Record learned this week.

Campus watchman Myrt O'Dell reports he saw a white flag, about the size of a bedsheet decorated with a large, red sickle, hanging from the Chapel tower at 2:15 a.m. Sunday. Unable to find anyone in authority at that hour, he let the matter hang and continued his rounds.

Red Flag Disappears

Chapel custodian Art Lamphier also spotted the banner when he went to work Sunday morning and called Grounds and Buildings superintendent Perry Smedley. However, by the time Mr. Smedley arrived at the scene, about 10 a.m. bedsheet, sickle, and hammer had disappeared.

Art Lamphier denies any knowledge of the flag after his report to Mr. Smedley. What, exactly, did happen to the banner, the Record is unable to learn.

The Inside Story

See RED FLAG, page 4

Dorian Runs Course For Frosh Record

Kelton Takes Second Followed By Delany

by W. R. Barney

Clearly outrunning their Little Three rivals, Coach Tony Plansky's cross country team handed Amherst and Wesleyan a decisive trouncing on the Jeff course last Wednesday by scoring 20 points to the Cardinals' 51 and Amherst's 65.

Little Bill Kelton led the way for the Purple, but was edged out on the sterling performance of Wesleyan's Frank Johnson who ran the varsity course just shy of the record. Kev Delaney pushed Kelton all the way and was followed home by Chisholm, Cook, and Collins in close order.

Twenty-one Start

A field of twenty-one contestants got off to a fast start on the 3.9 mile course that began and ended in front of the Amherst gym. The runners began the race by scrambling up a steep hill a hundred yards from the start.

Then the pack doubled back and circled Pratt Field in close formation. The course then led on to a narrow path through woods and fields for two and a half miles.

Victory Seen Early

After a mile of the course had been covered, the outcome of team positions was fairly evident. Purple "Ws" could be seen in five of the six leading positions, and the finish line fifteen minutes later, the situation remained the same, with Johnson completing the grind in first place for the Wes thinclads.

Kelton, in a heated duel that lasted most of the way, lost out to Johnson during the last few hundred yards of the race by fourteen seconds as the latter won in the superb time of 20m 25.8s.

Purple Domineers

Delaney dogged the leaders all the way and produced a fast finish to grab the third spot fifty yards behind Kelton. The deluge continued as Captain Herb Chisholm tied with captain-elect ('48) for fourth place in 21m.15s. With a final burst of speed, Phil Collins staved off Wesleyan's Yordan to land sixth place.

Adding insult to injury the Purple's sixth and seventh men Harry Ess and Ernie May, exhibited fine form to cop eighth and ninth places respectively. Amherst's first finisher was Valentine who came in in tenth place.

Freshmen Runners-up

In a spirited contest, the Eph freshmen came out second best as Amherst took the "Junior" Little Three crown. The race was nip and tuck all the way, but the home squad lost out as Amherst gleaned 37 points to Williams' 42 and Wesleyan's 45.

Despite the Jeff victory in the freshman department, the spotlight shone on Tony Plansky's George Dorian who snapped up first place, and, in so doing, set a new record for the Amherst freshman course in the scintillating time of 16m.24s. Hutton took third for the Purple, while Haver pulled up in eighth position. Cleary, Pratt, Bachrach, and Angevin tallied 14th, 16th, 18th and 19th respectively, but all outdid their previous performances this season.

Kelton's Father

Wednesday's victory was one of the strongest ever won by Williams in Little Three Cross country games.

See WILLIAMS, page 3

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
CHARLES H. KLENSCH, '48 Copy Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 News Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock, '49

VOL. LXI

NOVEMBER 8, 1947

11

Why?

Although we are not convinced that the Williams Inn is guiltless in the case of Claude Arrau's chauffeur-valet, we would like to question the stand of the college on the matter. Mr. Streight was, with Mr. Arrau, a guest of the college. Professor Nin-Culmell has emphasized the fact that Mr. Streight was "a very high type person who has been accepted all over Europe." We wonder why this guest of the college, along with his companion and employer, was not entertained at the Faculty Club?

Hats Off!

This issue of the RECORD might be called a Cross-Country Extra. But in view of the records of our two "major" fall sports, that of the harriers deserves the space. Tony Plansky has turned out an excellent team — Little Three Champs with an undefeated season and an excellent chance to finish high in the New England on Monday. It is refreshing, to say the least, to view the perfect slate of the thinclads.

Klensch Elected To Board

Beginning with this issue, Charles Klensch '48 takes over as Managing Editor. He succeeds Rhett Austell '48, who resigned from the Board last week.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the RECORD:

Why did you print a second review, in last Saturday's issue, of "Alice in Wonderland"? Is it your policy to publish as many personal reactions as come in, or do you appoint a reviewer to represent you and stand by him? Did you feel that Mr. Klensch's earlier review, although somewhat lower case, was unfair? Mr. Sondheim no where refers to it; is he protesting against it? If so, on what grounds? His own review is, by his own admission, "purely personal" and entirely different from the overwhelming opinion of the audience. Why, then, at so late a date did you feel justified in publishing it?

Almost everyone except Mr. Sondheim seems to have thought very well of the performance of the title role. But even if his remarks on it were justified on a purely critical basis, few persons would be proud to have written them.

I am wondering what moved Mr. Sondheim to feel this second review was desirable. I can only suggest that he, like others of your correspondents, suffers from digital diarrhea.

S. Lane Faison, Jr.

5 November 1947

College Place, Williamstown.

(Editor's Note: Despite Reader Faison's expressed satisfaction with the Wmsy review of the ALICE production, the editorial board of the Record and columnist Klensch felt that the production merited a fuller, more thorough-going review than the one originally printed.

The Record then asked Steve Sondheim to write a full review. We felt that Sondheim was qualified to write such an article, for, though he has not contributed to this newspaper before, he has written a number of articles for the Purple Cow and has worked in several Adams Memorial Theatre productions—including, incidentally, the trial run of Peggy Lamson's "Trade Name" last spring.

What Sondheim had to say about the play, as Faison points out, was "purely personal". The Record policy has been, and will continue to be, to allow reviewers a free hand in their criticisms.

We believe the what-is-the-story-on-the-Record-policy query is legitimate. The Sondheim review should have been explained. In the future, Record reviews will be featured articles, rather than sidelines of personal columns.

As a matter of further illumination on the Sondheim review, we feel it is only fair to apologize to the writer and the reader for the removal of two important sections through an error of the printer. That part of the review praising Nick Dunn's performance was omitted along with the final sentences of the paragraph concerning Miss Lamson's Alice—lines which praised her performance.)

Calendar

SATURDAY, Afternoon:

Varsity Football, Wesleyan—Away, 2:00 p.m.

Varsity Soccer, Wesleyan—Away

Freshman Football, Union—Away

Freshman Soccer, Springfield—Cole Field, 2 p.m.

SUNDAY

Chapel Speaker, The Rev. Howard L. Rubendall

Headmaster, Mount Hermon School, Mount Hermon, Mass.

MONDAY, Evening:

UC Meeting - 7:30 p.m.

TUESDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football

Phi Delt vs Beta

Chi Psi vs Delta Psi

KA vs Psi U

Phi Sig vs Zeta Psi

WEDNESDAY

Afternoon: Intramural Football

Garfield vs DU

Delta Phi vs Sigma Phi

Alpha Delt vs DKE

Theta Delt vs Phi Gam

FACULTY FORUM

by Professor John H. Roberts

Now that we have the Adams Memorial Theatre, what are we going to do with it? It is a magnificent instrument, the function of which has never been clearly defined. Its obvious purpose is to house dramatic activities; but that statement immediately raises another question: what sort of dramatic activities, performed by whom and for what purpose?

To me it seems clear that the theatre should make a lively contribution to the educational program of the college. In so doing it should:

1. Produce standard plays, such as are rarely seen in the commercial theatre, thus illuminating the academic study of drama in the classroom;
2. Produce unusual plays that may never be studied in college or seen elsewhere;
3. Encourage local experiments in writing;
4. Import professional companies when circumstances permit;
5. Train as many students as possible (on and back stage) in the arts of the theatre;
6. Forget Broadway and merely popular appeal; and
7. Stimulate student attendance in spite of the fact that it must never be just an adjunct to houseparties.

(Also 8.—But I haven't the space to develop the point—it should provide good movies in English and foreign languages for the college community.)

To fulfill such a complex function, the AMT must have a plan and must be constantly thinking ahead trying to see its purpose, not in terms of one production at a time, but in terms of a whole season and of that season in relation to the past and future.

A good deal of progress toward that goal has been made this year with a detailed and balanced program for 1947-48. But only constant vigilance over a prolonged period of time can keep the theatre from floundering in mediocrity.

Advisory Committee

What apparatus is set up to guarantee this vigilance? Well, there is the AMT advisory committee. But its powers (so far as its members understand its powers) are largely negative.

It can say NO to any particular proposal, but finds itself with no authority other than persuasion to encourage a continually high standard of achievement. And who is to listen to it? Two sets of ears, presumably: those of the Director (who is also chairman of the committee) and those of Cap and Bells.

The ideas of committee members, of the Director, and of Cap and Bells may vary to the point of absurdity. Who is to resolve these differences and make the final decisions? Who selects the plays and explains the decision to the campus? Who decides on the budget?

Shall the theatre try to make money on one production so that it can afford to lose money on another? If so, how much shall it be allowed to lose without jeopardizing the production fund, supplied jointly by the college and Cap and Bells?

If Cap and Bells does not sponsor a production, shall it nevertheless (because it has a financial stake in the theatre) share in the profits or the losses of that production? Who shall say how often the light board may be used in rehearsals? In some plays where lighting effects are both complicated and essential, light rehearsals are as necessary as line and action rehearsals, all of which must be synchronized; but it costs from $5 to $12 every time the light board is used. Who decides this question, who finds the workers, and pays the costs? Who shall lure students into the arduous and thankless jobs of carpentering, painting, stage managing, make-up, and prompting? Who shall safeguard a student's time when it is obvious that hours and hours are needed to get anything like a good result onto the stage? And who shall persuade the student body to become an audience?

Student Apathy

At the moment, the answer to these questions is mostly to be found in a liaison between Cap and Bells (with its elaborate point system) and the director. It is perhaps the only possible answer right now. But it is not necessarily the right one. Student ability and taste and background and enthusiasm vary from year to year. Fear of campus opinion can and often does affect student judgment. The budgetary problems may become more acute than they should be in what is ideally a non-commercial theater. Many boys—even those who like the work—find it impossible to give to the theater the time it requires. And student apathy toward AMT activities remains imperturbable.

It seems clear that some better connection between the theater and the college should be made. I suggest two ways of achieving this connection. Both are radical; both are controversial. But I should like to hear them discussed. One way would be for the college administration to create a department of drama and authorize a drama major. Certain courses already established in the English, classics, and modern language departments could be added to Drama 1-2 to form the nucleus of such a major. New courses in theatre arts could be devised. Actual participation in productions would then give college credit and the theater would become an active part of the educational program of the college. I think everyone will agree that acting a part, setting a scene, or directing a play is a better educational experience than reading a text. And I believe that students in such courses would form a more enlightened group to stand as sponsors and guides for the AMT than a group organized only as a "campus activity."

Undergraduate Tax

The second way to achieve a closer relation between the theater and the college would be to include admission in the undergraduate "non-athletic activities tax." Students now pay $3 a year to finance lectures, debating, etc. The tax could be raised to include dramatic activities. The fact that a student has already paid his admission fee might just possibly persuade him to experiment with the novel and daring act of attending the AMT. And once he got in, he might just conceivably discover that he is having a good time. This plan works admirably at Amherst, where a student may exchange a punch on his "activities ticket" for a seat in the Kirby Theater for three major productions a year. The result is that Amherst dramatics draw full houses (largely made up of students) to three or four performances of each play produced. It is now a student tradition at Amherst to enjoy their theater.

One or the other or both of these suggestions might help the AMT to achieve the role I think it ought to play at Williams.

ERRATUM

In case you missed Myrt O'Dell in the cut on page 1 of Wednesday's issue, that was the old campaigner whose shoulder appears at President Baxter's right hand. In the photograph Myrt had his usual bland look under his hat and his usual unlit cigar in his right hand. The engraver, who trimmed the picture, evidently preferred the disconsolate houseparty drag to the old, familiar face.

"My demands are a two-hour week on my homework—an a pack and a half of Dentyne Chewing Gum for overtime."

"Fact is, Pop, it'll even be a treat to study overtime—for a bonus of swell, nifty-tasting Dentyne Chewing Gum! And don't forget, Dentyne keeps my teeth white, too."

Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

Radios - Novelty Maple Table Lamp
$19.95 Special $3.25
Maple Bridge Lamp $5.95 - with Table $7.25
Two-cup Coffee Maker

George M. Hopkins Co.
Established 1888

66 SPRING STREET WILLIAMSTOWN
TELEPHONE 29-R

CAP AND BELLS, Inc.

Presents

"The Beaux Stratagem"

By

GEORGE FARQUHAR

ADAMS MEMORIAL THEATRE
NOVEMBER 13 - 14 - 15

Tickets on sale at A.M.T., Bastien's, Peeble's
Or call 538 for reservations

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1830

CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE

DUST PROOF COAL RANGE and FUEL OILS
73 Spring St. Williamstown Mass.

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

Get the latest popular and classical records at

THE MUSIC HOUSE

34 Bank St. N. A. Tel: 1570-W

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER

HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corona

Underwood

Royal

Lamb's
STATIONERY STORE

108 Main Street
North Adams

Stop in at Williamstown's

Newest Shoe Store . . .

LUPO'S

Gives 24-hour Service on Shoe Repairing

AT THE END OF SPRING STREET

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beckman 3-4730

Gridmen Seek Little Three Win Over Wesleyan

Unbeaten Wesmen Three TD Favorites Over Purple Team

Cardinals Seeking Thirteenth Win

Ephs In Best Condition Since First Contest

by Seth Bidwell

Whooop Snively's under-out highly determined Purple, as yet unable to a victory this season, will to their first and strongest Three rival when they meet at Middletown today in and game of the rivalry between the Cardinals and the Ephs. Norm Daniels' Cardinals a spotless record which in to twelve victories over course of two seasons, and this Connecticut rivals go this encounter as a three town favorite.

date Wesleyan has rolled 117 points to 22 for its opponent and included in this decisive of victories is a 20-0ouncing administered to Amherst. Led by Harry Forbes and Ed Dwyer, the Wesmen have averaged over 220 yards per game, and have held their opponents to less than half that. Fronting for this duo of versatile backs, Coach Daniels has a 193 pound line, which until last week's Haverford game, had only allowed one touchdown to seep through the forward wall.

Burton and Studwell Line Stars

Leading this aggregation of forwards is Andy Studwell and Jim Burton, the Wesmen's right guard and left end, respectively. Burton combined with Dick Whiting to form a pass snatching department of no mean ability, while Burton also does a very commendable job in the punting department. Backing up this duo is Dick Dundas and Dan Robertson, last year letter winners, along with Warren Cagney a member of the 1938 squad. Also returning from last year's squad are Jack Geary and Wally Burnett, and although Little All-American Burt Vancercute has left, Coach Daniels has three quarterbacks, the best of whom is Charles Medd, brother of last year's Captain Dick Medd.

Harry Forbes Injured

Wesleyan's parade of stars seems to be endless, and with two three exceptions, the Cardinals field the same team which Ephs scared last year in the battle of the season. Harry Forbes, the triple threat from Middletown, is unofficially reported injured for the remainder of the season, and so it appears that Wesleyan will be lacking their main offensive star. The Quakers from Haverford were the guilty parties involved in this major catastrophe at Wesleyan, and to add insult to injury, the Quakers scored 15 points on the Cardinals in 40 seconds, just to prove the Wesmen are not infallible.

Williams on the other hand is at full strength for the first time since the season's opener against Middlebury. Bolstered by the timely return of halfback Pat Higgins, who almost singlehandedly beat Amherst in 1946, the Ephs will be all-out for an upset today in an effort to take the league diadem from the Cardinals and to stop the Wesmen's string of wins at twelve. Although the money around Williamstown does not favor any such predictions, such a possibility is always in the realm of football. Many great Wesleyan teams have been stopped by even greater Williams teams, and although it almost happened last year, there is no reason to doubt that it could really happen this year.

Williams At Season's Best

Although Williams has suffered five straight defeats this season it is our feeling that they are now in the best condition they have been all season. As stated before, Higgins is back, and with Stu Duffield, Dick Whitney, Vic Fuzak, Ted Quinlan and Cliff Stowers to use as the remainder of the foursome, Williams can present as powerful a backfield as Wesleyan.

Coach Snively's line will be comprised of the same men that started last year's game, and they have as much experience and weight as the Cardinal aggregation. When you review the pictures of past games, there are mistakes—and yet the Williams men are hitting hard and playing hard. On many plays the difference between a man breaking loose for a TD and getting nailed has been merely one missed block. If those blocks are made today, we will have a victory under our belts.

Eph Yearlings Play At Union In Final Game

Unconquered Freshmen Show Scoring Punch Plus Tough Defense

Only a victory over the Union freshmen now stands between the freshmen Little Three Champions and an undefeated season. This all-important contest will be played at Schenectady on Saturday afternoon, and hopes run high for one of the now famous Potter smiles on Saturday night.

The Union Cubs lost to the RPI freshmen by a 7-6 score a week after the Ephs had beaten the same team by a 19-0 count. It is a well-known fact, however, that comparative scores are most misleading and it must be remembered that the Union yearlings will be using the same formation with which their varsity confused the Snively-men so completely last weekend.

73-12

In compiling three victories and the Little Three Crown, Harv Potter's charges have rolled up 73 points to a mere 12 for the opponents—a fact due not only to the team's offensive strength but also due to the sensational defensive play of the Coombs-coached line. Cary Bidgood, the sparkplug center of these "Seven Blocks of Granite" has been nursing a foot injury, but it is expected he will see plenty of action. Bob Genesee has taken Skip Dunlap's place at tackle, but otherwise the same team which beat Amherst, will start on Saturday. This means Mitch Fish and Dave Jackson at the ends, Bronny Fargo at tackle, Al Bianchi and Ernie Mierzejewski at guard, with Whit Fliske and Fritz Zeller at the halfbacks. "Slingshot" Bill Sperry will be the quarterback and Pete Fisher will be in the full back slot.

Captain Herb Chisholm

Chish'lm Leads Team To Title

Harriers' Captain Overcomes Injury

It was Captain Herb Chisholm of Somerville, Massachusetts, who led Tony Plansky's unbeaten "thin-clads" against the combined forces of Amherst and Wesleyan in Wednesday's Little Three meet.

Unheralded for the most part of the season due to a leg ailment that kept his name from topping the list of finishers, 'Chis' nevertheless kept plugging away until he has approached the form that carried him to the Little Three harrier title last fall.

Excels In Rain

Herb is a senior and a member of the Garfield Club. He attended Somerville High School but was never a member of a track or cross-country team there. During the war he was in the V-12 at Williams for three terms and then was transferred to North Carolina Pre-Flight, where he became a "hill-and-daler" for the first time.

Whenever rain, sleet or snow overtakes a cross-country pack, there is none happier than the harriers' captain, "mailman" Chisholm.

Bullock Squad Seeks Upset Over Wesmen

Line-up Shifts Bolster Ephs' Forward Wall Smith Plays Center

by Lola Lane

Coach Ed Bullock is sparing no pains to get his soccer players into peak condition, as the Purple booters prepare their attack on Wesleyan's Little Three Crown this Saturday at Middletown. Although generally pleased with the 4-1 victory over Clark last week, Uncle Ed has been driving his men all week, and has revealed several changes in his line-up.

Last Saturday the club was without the services of center-forward Larry Smith, and although Barry Emmert filled in creditably, "Smitty's" speed and footwork made him a fixture at that position. With Smith's return this week, Emmert has been moved to right wing, where he has taken Frank Donnelly's post. Donnelly moves to right inside, while Cy Mayshark remains at left inside, and either "Frenchie" Oudin or Rick Fowle will hold forth at left wing.

Brown Sparks Halfbacks

Emmy Brown continues to spark the halfback line in the center slot. His performance has stiffened the defense tremendously, and his accurate passes have started many offensive drives. On his right George Kneass will display his talents, while Johnny Bowen on the left will round out the halfbacks.

After a crack at right inside last week, "Chink" Walker again takes over the right full back job, and he is flanked by Jerry Page on the left. Captain Denny Lunt in the goal completes the "last ditch" defensive trio, which has functioned more smoothly than ever this past week.

The Bullockmen will need every bit of skill at their command to topple the Wes outfit. Boasting a tie with Amherst and, more recently, a 3-2 win over a previously unbeaten Dartmouth combine.

Williams Wins Harrier Title

Purple Frosh Second In Close Encounter

Continued from page 1

try competition. Oddly enough the last time that the Purple runners achieved such undisputed laurels was in 1917, the year that Bill Kelton's father was running for Williams, and was captain of the harrier squad that year when both Amherst and Wesleyan were soundly trounced.

Although the cross country squad has piled up an enviable record, being both undefeated and Little Three champions the hardest test is yet to come.

Next Monday afternoon, the harriers depart for the New England Intercollegiate crosscountry championships at Springfield. Despite the fact that the Plansky-men are far above the average in this league, they will be up against three powerful teams. Rhode Island State and Springfield rank as tops in New England along with the University of Maine. The runners are preparing for the meet and by Monday should be in top condition and a match for most of the teams they will be up against.

WALDEN THEATRE

SUNDAY and MONDAY

DESERT FURY

LIZABETH SCOTT

BURT LANCASTER

JOHN HODIAK

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY

ABIE'S IRISH ROSE

ALL STAR CAST

THURSDAY

ALEXANDER'S RAGTIME BAND

ALICE FAYE

TYRONE POWER

DON AMECHE

M. Salvatore

SMITH SYNCHRO FLEX BRITISH WALKERS

HANNAN SHOES BASS SKI BOOTS

Come in and Look over our large selections of Shoes

SALVY'S

SPRING STREET

TELEPHONE 600

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL: 498-RWILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED

ROUTE 2

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

HAVING A PARTY?

The Square Deal Store

... fully stocked to supply
your needs in every line.

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC
LIQUOR and WINES

HOWARD MOON, Proprietor

ONE SUIT CLEANED
at
RUDNICK'S

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

One Case Drewry's Ale
at
KING'S PACKAGE STORE

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Amherst	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Colgate	vs.	Syracuse	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Cornell	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Illinois	vs.	Ohio State	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Navy	vs.	Penn. State	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Army	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Princeton	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Wesleyan	vs.	Trinity	<input type="checkbox"/>

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Saturday.

2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.

3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.

4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

Saturday, November 15 Games

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Amherst	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Colgate	vs.	Syracuse	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Cornell	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Illinois	vs.	Ohio State	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Navy	vs.	Penn. State	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Army	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Princeton	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Wesleyan	vs.	Trinity	<input type="checkbox"/>

w m s y

by chuklensch

i was amazed . . .

sunday night in chapel.
i took along a clipboard and a couple of sharpened copy pencils prepared to take down a few notes on the preachers sentiments on Sin, Eternal Damnation, and Mending Thy Ways once warmed over after a favorable reception from the oldfolks@home. i thot it might be interesting to see in cold print what was going on each sunday evening under those fake gothic arches we so well love.
reverend james t. cleland of the duke divinity school started off briskly with a bit of a scotch hangover in his voice (Ed. note—The gentleman has a faint, but pleasing, Scotch "burr.") which i thot appropriate enuf for the end of houseparty weekend.
he said he had spent some time in the pew this summer getting a new view and was struck with the number of unchurchbroken people around him.
this brought to mind the scripture line -
i am the god of abraham, of isaac, and of jacob.
then doctor cleland swung into the story of the line of abraham. the old man himself, pioneer, friend of god, devoutly religious. isaac, his son, stay-at-home, dominated by his wife, sons and every-one else, who was conservatively religious.
and grandson jacob, entrepreneur horsetrader of the old testament, who tried to get god into a partnership for 10% of the gate receipts, but who was sensitively religious—on occasion.
and the chapel full of shanghaied houseparty fugitives loved it. imagine four or five hundred weary people who had had a miserable time remembering new names for three days enjoying meeting three new characters. but enjoy it they did.
eyes that were halfclosed or closed when the sermon started—even after the stimulus of jumping up and sitting down during the early part of the service—were now intent on the speaker and books in the back of the hall were laid aside.
doctor cleland wrapped up his introductions by emphasizing that abraham isaac and jacob are not just three gents buried in genesis—but that organized religion as well as the thompson memorial is full of them—especially the jacob.
he concluded by pointing out that organized religion needs them all—the pioneer the hard conscientious worker and the businessman-rascal.
and it seemed to your reporter that the choir too, picked up the general enthusiasm in the recessional.
there was a lot of geewhizzing as the numbered blue cards were turned in at the gates and someone stepped over to doctor cleland and shook his hand. later mikes hummed with the startling discovery that chapel can be worthwhile.
someone suggested that speakers like this rev james t cleland of durham nc should be able to draw a crowd even if the attendance werent compulsory.
anyway i-d like to have him make a return visit this spring.
in which case . . . dont miss it—and save me that isle seat on the left side in the first row.

Yacht - - -

in which Williams, Amherst and Wesleyan sailed against each other officially for the first time in history, was held at Middletown. Sophomores Rusty and Stan Bourne co-skipped their Penguin for the purple, with Steve Wyer, skipper and Sandy Tearse, crew, making up the other half of the Williams team in the six boat regatta.

A very strong tide combined with a barely perceptible northerly wind hindered the crews, but the Bourne brothers did succeed in taking a first in the third heat. Amherst took the championship with forty-one points, with Williams and Wesleyan placing second and third with scores of thirty-eight and twenty-nine respectively.

Four Frosh

Four freshmen represented Williams at the Intercollegiate Freshman Dinghy Preliminaries at Providence, R. I., October 18.

Mike Luther and Ward Mauk skippered and crewed one Williams entry. Pete Debevoise and Phelps Edwards handled the other dinghy. A spotty wind and a strong downstream current prevailed during the first four races, but a strong rip-tide later in the afternoon necessitated the cancellation of the final two races. Northeastern won the regatta of twelve boats which included Rhode Island State, Amherst and Yale, with Williams tying Trinity for last place.

The SAC considered a request by the Yacht Club that the organization be included as a part of college extra-curricular life with official recognition by the Student Council being announced at the SAC meeting October 27.

Red Flag - - -

In a confidential statement over the phone, an undergraduate told the Record the inside story of this adventure:

"After a four-hour beer party Saturday night, my buddy and I decided that life at Williams College should be made more interesting. So we fixed up a sheet with paint left over from the house decorations, picked up the beer can opener and our dates and took off for the Chapel.

"We removed a pane of glass from a rear window and proceeded to the tower by match light. We battled our way through an excited covey of pigeons to the top of the tower and crawled out through the opening.

"We unfurled the hammer and sickle and made it fast. Then we made our way down through the Chapel by matchlight and left through the rear window."

Baedaker - - -

on the same weekend. They'll flash their big brown eyes and you're a broken man."

B'town Conclusion

The conclusion about Bennington, after a brief of the college rules which, they lead us to believe, are relatively liberal, goes like this: "...It's a long trip, but they could move Bennington to the Congo and we'd still go... You're dating a women of the world."

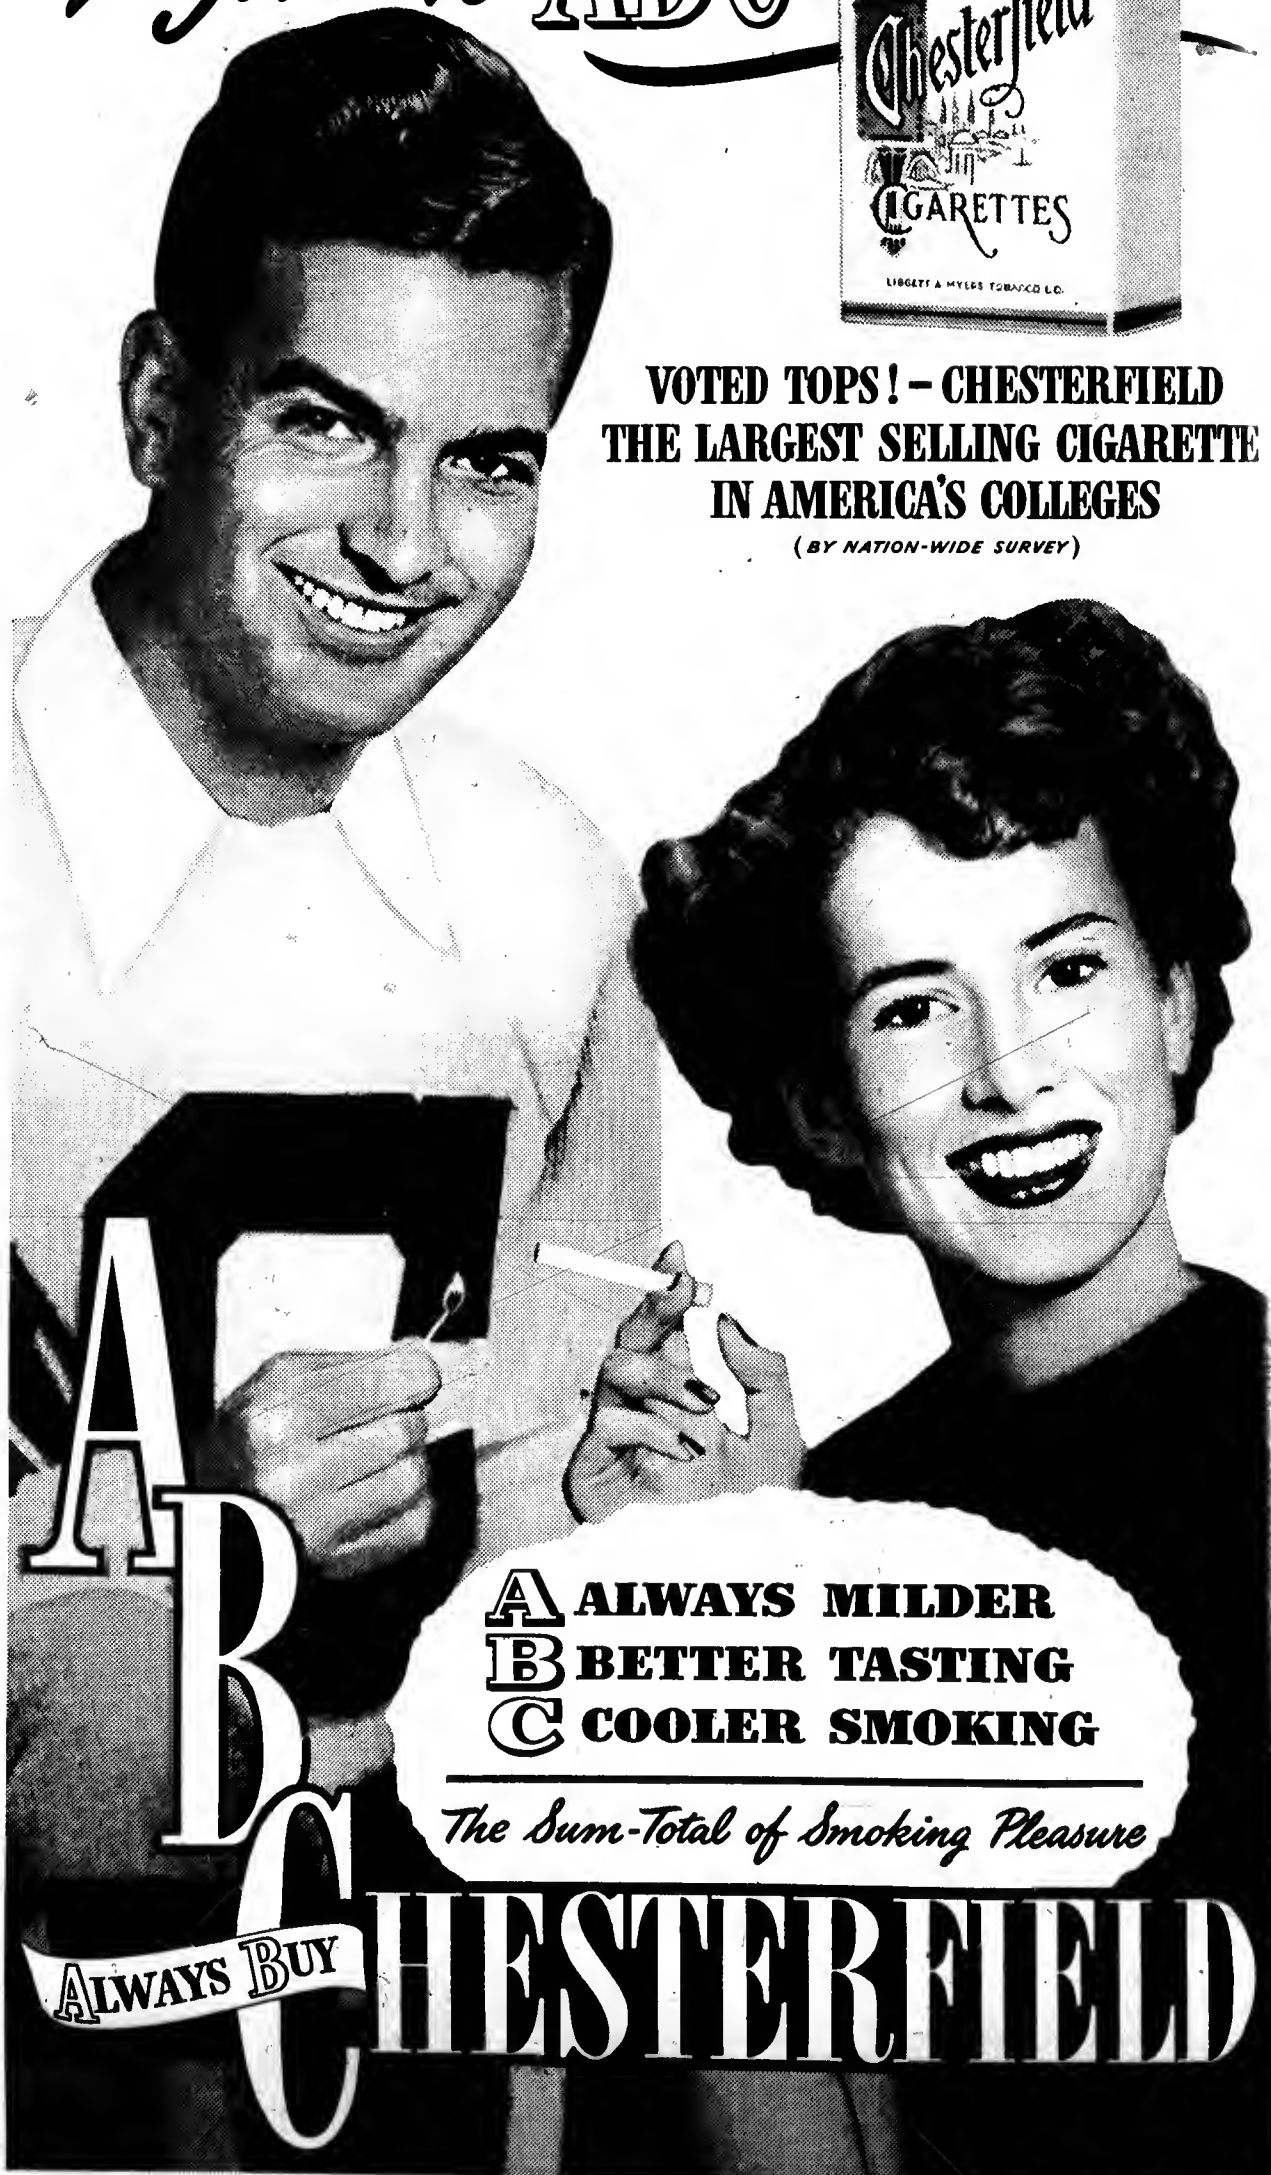

It looks as though the authors of "For Men Lonely" have scored a hit. Their book has been favorably described in "Pic" as well as in various campus publications, and they have mapped out a distribution campaign that will handle its sales in eastern college bookstores. They manage the publication of the pamphlet volume themselves, forming Ripley Publishing Co. of 1 over

Again it's ABC

VOTED TOPS! - CHESTERFIELD
THE LARGEST SELLING CIGARETTE
IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES

(BY NATION-WIDE SURVEY)

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

The Sum-Total of Smoking Pleasure

CHESTERFIELD

ALWAYS BUY

Patronize

RECORD

Advertisers

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

DANCING
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

The 1896 House

Dinner Reservations
For The Finest
FOODS and LIQUORS

PHONE
WILLIAMSTOWN 267

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in . . .

The Transcript
North Adams, Mass.

On Sale at 5 p.m. on all Williamstown Newstands

STATE ARMORY
NORTH ADAMS

Dancing

8:30 to 12:30

Admission $1.25 plus tax

Ford Owners!

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

TUXEDOS and FULL DRESS SUITS

For Rent or Sale

SABIN'S

Corner HOLDEN & CENTER STREETS
NORTH ADAMS TEL. 2398-M

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1947

No. 12

Football Team Drops Tight Wesleyan Game, 12-6

Restoration Comedy At AMT; Farquhar's Play Happy Choice

Erskine, Mann Leading Players In Romantic Weekend Production

by E. V. Goulnock '50
When the curtain rises tomorrow evening on the current revival of "The Beaux, Strategem", it marks the second time that Cap and Bells has produced this Restoration drama, a presentation back in the twenties having already met considerable success.

The play, directed by D. C. Erskine and featuring Howard Erskine '49, and Timothy Mann '51, in the leading roles, will play to full houses when Cap and Bells stages this eighteenth century comedy, the first to be offered since 1921. According to English professor John O'Neill, who has directed the drama's development and rehearsal, "Undergraduates who enter AMT with misgivings will nevertheless be in for a rather pleasant surprise."

Objectives Twofold
Erskine emphasized the fact that the productions objectives are essentially twofold, to present a good comedy and to further the interests of drama on the Williams campus. Erskine stated that the play is a shocking sort of comedy, ideal for a houseparty crowd and a mixed audience.

On February 3, 1921 the play was presented, according to a RECORD review, in Chapin Hall with "Uniformly high standards of interpretation and acting." Preceding this houseparty showing, it had been very favorably received on an eastern tour when it was staged in North Adams, Brooklyn, Flushing, East Orange, and New York.

Costumes Lavish
According to the RECORD review the production, which is lavishly costumed, "rendered a great service to the college." See BEAUX, page 4

Cap And Bells Selects Three

O'Brien, Marble, And Bourne Direct Plays

Gerald F. O'Brien '49, Richard Marble '48, and Russell Bourne '50, were selected by a Cap and Bells committee last Friday as directors of the three one-act plays scheduled for experimental production on November 5.

The direction of Noel Coward's "Loves and Means" has been placed in the hands of O'Brien, whose most extensive experience has been in stage management but who has also done work in the comedy and acting fields. "Loves and Means" is a light farce comedy in which two impetuous English socialites succeed in procuring their stay in the Riviera.

Marble Heads One
Marble has been assigned to Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Aria da Capo," a modern version adaptation of the age-old Harlequinade in which the traditional characters of Pierrot, Columbine, Cothurnus, and the two shepherds, Tayrsis and Carydon, make their appearance. As scenery manager for a number of last year's plays, production manager, and actor, he has gained the experience necessary for directing.

"Bourne will direct 'Portrait of a Madonna' by Tennessee Williams. This play is a serious study in decaying gentility showing a southern lady of good class who is a schizophreniac suffering from religious mania.

Prof. Allen Describes "Beaux' Strategem" As Energetic Revival

by Robert J. Allen
Associate Professor of English
The choice of "The Beaux' Strategem" for production by Cap and Bells (Thursday, Friday, and Saturday—tickets on sale at the box office) is an exceedingly happy one. Whether it is a polite gesture to dramatic history or a respectful salaam to the recent Broadway successes scored by revivals, the thing should go. The play is young, handsome, and energetic.

Captain George Farquhar wrote it (1706-7) for an audience which delighted in the witty, cynical comedy of Etherege, Wycherley, and Congreve and which was beginning to wonder whether its delight was really quite proper. Even before the brilliant and irreproachable essays of Addison and Steele had made it respectable in Society to marry for love, the audiences at comedies were beginning to question whether rusticity and cuckoldom were, necessarily and ipso facto funny.

Offers Wit and Romance
The Beaux' Strategem looked in two directions. To admirers of Restoration comedy, it offered the witty and disenchanted worldlings, Archer and Mrs. Sullen, who accepted the old code of matrimony and looked on love as a See CRITIQUE, page 2

Address Book Out; Copies Sell At 25c

The new 1947-48 Williams College Address Book has just been published and can be bought for twenty-five cents at the social units. The publisher, Robert A. Rupen '48, and his assistant, Harry C. McDaniel '49, worked in conjunction with Albert V. Osterhout, adviser in undergraduate affairs, to produce 1200 copies of the book.

Included in the book's contents are: a list of officers of administration faculty committees, faculty directory; list of students including name, class, social unit, home and college address; a college phone directory; and a college calendar.

Mt. Holyoke Girls Entertained WOC

Outing Scheduled Later This Month

Thirteen members of the Outing Club and twenty girls from Mt. Holyoke took in the joys of nature last weekend in a cabin on the side of a hill somewhere in the vicinity of the Mt. Holyoke campus. It was the first event of the season for the Outing Club, the two previous trips having been postponed due to bad weather.

The Williams men arrived at the cabin just before six where they found a supper of spaghetti and meatballs, a big fire, and twenty girls. After the meal, Harry Scoble and Terry Webster were elected to wash the dishes. Meanwhile the rest of the group sang songs in front of the warming fire. About nine o'clock the whole party went to the college gym for a square dance, featuring a seven piece band. The dance broke up at eleven-thirty.

Group Split Up
Six boys were induced to stay over night at the cabin; the rest See OUTERS, page 2

Technical Reasons Back Of Delay In Opening Of WMS

Broadcasting To Begin Tentatively Nov. 17

Missing parts, incomplete wiring and conflicting hour tests are a few of the reasons behind the failure of WMS to begin broadcasting October 27 as scheduled, station president Dick Morrill '48, has announced. WMS hopes to commence activities on November 17.

Two weeks ago a part for the station's new transmitter could not be located anywhere within a 100 mile radius of Williamstown, and it was up to Norton Cushman and his technical crew to build one themselves. This job has been almost completed, but such items as new wiring for the WMS studio and the tuning of the station piano could not be taken care of by college electricians and the piano tuners until the end of this week.

Slow But Sure
Morrill is not disturbed by the delays in the opening of the station, for he feels "we are more interested in developing slowly and thoroughly than in rushing along with our new plans haphazardly." He also feels that the impending hour tests will hold up the technical crew somewhat in their work, since the station is, after all, extra-curricular.

The production staff is also using the extra time to clear up such remaining doubtful problems as part delivery. Rehearsals will be held all next week so that all programs can be completely polished and readied before WMS goes on the air.

To Dormitories First
A weekly news commentary will be aired Tuesday evenings by Roger Ernst '48, with the WMS news staff preparing supplements to be presented daily in conjunction with the New York Times news report. The "Speech of the Week" program will present the best speeches from the various public speaking classes over an evening program near the end of each week.

The "Radio Workshop" is to present a radio drama once See WMS, page 4

Married Vets Successful As Student Home-Builders; 49 Leading Double Lives

(The viewpoints expressed in this article are those of members of the college administration. In the next issue of the RECORD there will be an article indicating the opinions of the married veterans themselves.)

by Robert Taylor '49
There are 49 Williams students attempting not only to build educations, but homes as well. These are the married veterans. According to themselves, and to their records, they are doing amazingly well in both efforts.

The Dean's Office still blinking at the overwhelming scholastic improvement in returned veterans generally, says this about the married vets:

"It is impossible to tell whether the vast improvement in their grades would have taken place if they hadn't married, since the unmarried veterans' averages are way up too. The overall average of unmarried and married vets is about the same."

Eph Turns Landlord
Living accommodations for the veteran families which have been set aside by the college include barracks apartments for 24 of them, Sage Hall Annex for five,

Kellogg Urges All Students To Contribute

UC In $3100 Drive; Non-Profit Activities Share Activities Tax

SAC President Horton M. Kellogg '48, in urging all students to make their contribution to the current UC drive for over $3100, has stressed the necessity of whole hearted cooperation to maintain the non-profit making extra-curricular activities on the campus.

"If we are to contribute to our complete education as well as to the advancement of the college," said Kellogg, "we must be willing to go all the way in supporting the drive; any half-hearted attempt might as well be dropped."

Kellogg Dismayed
In regard to the dissatisfaction concerning the tax expressed by many undergraduate, Kellogg indicated great dismay. "The college does not appropriate any funds for the use of these organizations. If we are to have these activities on the campus, it is up to the student body to maintain them. The costs of each group are high in keeping with the present high cost of living, but in many instances they allow for only a small number of undertakings by the groups concerned."

"It must be remembered," continued Kellogg, "that these activities are not representative of just those students active in them, but rather of the college as a whole. If we are to be represented at debating tournaments and glee club concerts, if we are to be benefited by the lectures sponsored by the Lecture Committee and the Spring Conference, if we are to have part in the fellowship of other colleges, it is absolutely essential that these organizations be financed by the students themselves. Not to have a part in such undertakings would have untold effects on the complete education of a Williams man and on the standing of the college."

Resources Same
He further stated that the resources are the same as they have See KELLOGG, page 4

Score Deadlocked At Six-All Until Midway In Final Period

Expect 400 Grads At Amherst Game

Over 400 alumni are expected to attend the Amherst game on November 15, Alfred L. Jarvis, '39, Secretary of the Alumni Society has reported. There will be no scheduled alumni activities over the week end other than a reunion of members of the class of 1919 who have sons in college.

The Saints and Betes are both holding closed dances for their returning alumni Saturday night. The former will feature Harry Hart's band while the latter will hold a record dance. Most of the houses are giving cocktail parties after the game, while a few are planning trustee and corporation meetings.

System Lacking In All College Clocks

No One Able To Name Official Timekeeper

by John Sheperdson '50
There is no one person responsible for keeping the Lasell Gym clock, the so-called "official" clock, and the campus bell system in time with each other, according to the RECORD reporter investigating the notable lack of synchronization between the various campus clocks and bells.

Neither the Dean's office nor College Treasurer, Charles D. Makepeace, was able to name the official timekeeper of Williams. Astronomy Professor Theodore G. Mehlin, however, disclosed that the "official" campus time is kept by a master clock in the chem lab. Professor Mehlin also personally sees to it that the giant Lasell Gymnasium clock varies no more than a few seconds per day.

Gym Clock Accurate
Professor Mehlin stated that his clock, corrected each day by time signals sent out by the Bureau of Standards over short wave radio, has not varied more than six seconds a day for the past five years. See CLOCKS, page 4

Paragraphs In News

In ceremonies to be held at noon Sunday, Kappa Alpha will dedicate a plaque to twelve members of the fraternity who were killed in World War II. President James P. Baxter and Rev. Grant Noble, college chaplain, are scheduled to speak.

A letter from Hamilton B. Wood, '10, was received this week by the RECORD in which Mr. Wood criticized several undergraduates whom he saw leaving the Union game with their dates before the traditional singing of "The Mountains" was completed. He claimed that the students were "gaping" at "those of us who believe that in victory or defeat we can sing an Alma Mater song."

Tomorrow magazine has begun its second annual college writers' short story contest, offering a first prize of $500 and a second place award of $250 to the writers of the best entries. All entries will be considered for publication. Competition will be open until December 31, 1947, to all undergraduates college students. See PARAGRAPHS, page 4

Higgins Sweeps End In 55 Yard Tally

Both Attacks Hindered By Wind, Rain, Mud

by Russ Frost
In the greatest sea battle since the Philippines, Williams "crossed the T" on Wesleyan only to have the Red and White slip out with a flank attack in the closing period of the battle and retire with a narrow victory.

Upsetting pre-game predictions Williams gave Wesleyan the scare of the year holding them to a six-all deadlock until the last quarter, finally yielding by a single touchdown, 12-6.

There may have been wetter fields and a harder, more driving rain somewhere in football history, but no one who saw the game at Andrus Field Saturday could remember when. Along the Wesleyan rooters' stand, a player on the bottom of a pile-up was literally in danger of drowning. One Williams player, Gene Detmer, asked for a substitution late in the game because he couldn't see through the mud in his eyes.

Williams opened the game with Ed Quinlan, Dick Whitney, Stu Duffield, and Pat Higgins in the backfield. Through the first quarter they fought Wesleyan to a standstill, looking impressive on the offense as the backs sliced through the Redbird line for substantial gains. The slippery pigskin was the hardest obstacle to overcome and possession shifted frequently.

Wesleyan Scores In Second
With the strong, rain-laden gale at their backs, Wesleyan managed to gain on the punting and went into the second quarter holding the ball on the Williams See FOOTBALL, page 3

Graduate Aid Blanks Arrive

Pepsi-Cola Fellowship Pays Tuition, $750

Associate Dean Albert Keep has received application blanks for seniors who wish to apply for the Pepsi-Cola Graduate Fellowships, paying full tuition and $750 per year for three years.

With the ultimate purpose of aiding needy students of exceptional character and talent to carry on advance research, fellowships will be awarded to the six most promising applicants from colleges in the northeastern section of the country.

Examine Records And Recommendations

Winners will be selected on the basis of their promise of outstanding achievement in later life as evidenced by their undergraduate records and recommendations by two professors as to character, personality, and qualities of leadership.

Applicants will be screened first by Dean Keep and then by a regional committee of college professors, after which the eighteen most promising candidates from the northeastern section will be whittled down to six winners by a national selection committee.

The fellowships may be used in any field of study at any accredited graduate school in the United States or Canada.

January 1 is the deadline for all applications so interested seniors should see Dean Keep now.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
R. RHETT AUSTELL, JR., '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
CHARLES H. KLENSCH, '48 Copy Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 News Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Jrings Baugh, '48 H. Russell Platt, '48
Charles R. Fetter, '48 John H. Schafer, '48
Peter M. Thexton, '48

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers Edward L. Stackhouse, '50
Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock, '49

BUSINESS STAFF

R. P. Klopman, '49 T. H. Lichtenfels, '50 J. S. Prescott, '50
P. C. Graney, '49 M. J. Murray, '50 B. M. Sapiro, '48
R. A. LeCount, '49 J. M. Reid, '49 A. R. Shay, '50
R. B. Stallworth, '48

ART BOARD

Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Felch, '48

VOL. LXI

NOVEMBER 12, 1947

12

Pay Up!

The front page interview with Horton H. Kellogg, head of the SAC, presents many of the arguments which can be given in support of the UC tax. It also "earnestly urges" undergraduates to pay their tax. The RECORD would like to suggest that the Undergraduate Council take more firm steps to assure payment than those implied by the pleading tone of the interview. We feel that any student who has not paid his tax by December 1, 1947 should be barred from participation in any extra-curricular activity. This includes sports as well as the non-athletic organizations.

There seems to be some question on campus, especially among certain members of the faculty, as to whether extra-curricular activities have any value, or at least enough value to compensate for the loss of study time. Kellogg's arguments are all good, but we feel that they are not complete.

EDUCATION OF JESUP

The acquisition of knowledge through the classroom is of prime importance in a college education, but the education of Jesup Hall and Cole Field should not be neglected. There is the knowledge gained from lectures, concerts, and plays; there is the skill and body coordination gained from athletics. There is "education for life" in both types of activities which is not present in the classroom, namely practical experience in dealing with individuals and situations.

The average student does not spend his whole day studying, and even if the daily assignments were increased, we still doubt if the time allotted to homework would materially increase. Most undergraduates have their "goof-off" time, whether or not it is consciously planned and allotted for. These extra-curricular activities provide a type of relaxation from study which, in the long run, should be more valuable than an afternoon of poker, or a weekend at Vassar.

OPEN TO ALL

Although the maximum value of these extra-curricular activities is in actual participation, every student and faculty member stands to gain from them. Lectures, concerts, and plays are open to all.

These activities, especially the non-profit ones, supplement the classroom education. Lectures are often valuable in political science and economics courses; plays fit in with the English courses, and concerts supplement music classes. But it is the "rounding-out" effect of these activities which contribute the most to a liberal arts education. For the science majors, it is a chance to gain knowledge of other subjects which their schedules prohibit them from gaining through the class room.

If the value of these activities may therefore be assumed, then it follows that they should be backed by the undergraduates. There is no official way by which the UC may enforce a sanction on those who refuse to pay, except through those organizations over which it has jurisdiction. Pressure, therefore, should be put on all social unit members, all members of extra-curricular activities, and all others over whom the UC has any conceivable jurisdiction, to assure complete support of the tax. The RECORD feels that its proposal would be a step in the proper direction.

Critique - - -

game. London, in their opinion, contained all life that mattered; the country was where one sent one's wife as a punishment for insubordination. To the less unregenerate part of the audience, the play offered a more romantic pair of lovers, Aimwell and Dorinda, the latter a young lady brought up in the country without any noticeable sacrifice of her manners or gentility. Furthermore, the denouement was pleasant, and kindly, and relatively innocent.

To the audiences expected at Adams Memorial Theatre tomorrow night and the two nights following, The Beaux' Stratagem should be more entertaining than any other play of its period. Farquhar's tone has less malice than Wycherley's, more zest and vital feeling than Congreve's.

Outers - - -

returned to Williams in the early hours of the dawn, arriving here at three a.m., in order to make the Wesleyan game Saturday afternoon.

Play Readily Followed

The intrigue of Aimwell and Archer, though complicated by some mysterious goings-on involving the highwaymen and such, can be followed more readily than the plots of most Restoration comedies, and the opportunities for handsome costuming and staging are sure to be ably exploited. Most important of all, there are ten or a dozen excellent acting rolls. Farquhar seems to have written almost every part as if he intended to play it himself, and the result is an unusual richness of witty lines and amusingly conceived situations.

Letter To The Editor

An open letter to the student body:

There seems to be a strong feeling among the students that a new and different type of college magazine is needed on the Williams campus. This sentiment indicates that the Purple Cow can not supply an outlet for all the types of serious writing which we believe exist at Williams. Although the Cow includes some types of serious writing, such as short stories, it does not have room for things like book reviews, critical essays and articles of opinion on controversial subjects both local and national. This is wherein the need for a new magazine lies.

The magazine, then, would be one of opinion, but one which would also print serious fiction, poetry, plays, and art work (i.e., drawings and illustrations). We realize this arrangement would lead to an overlapping between the two magazines—both would include serious fiction and poetry. We feel, however, that a cut-throat rivalry would not result since both boards would work together to decide whether certain of the manuscripts would be best suited to the Cow or the new magazine. The presence of a few men on the staffs of both magazines would insure a minimum of rivalry and overlapping, and a maximum of cooperation between the two publications.

Enterprise Open To Everyone

We want to stress the fact that this enterprise is open to everyone on campus who is interested in writing, drawing, editorial work, or in the business angle. If you have an article written on any subject, a particular gripe, or a strong opinion on some controversy, write down your ideas and put them in the box marked "New Magazine" just inside Jesup Hall. If you are interested in the editorial, business or art staffs, either leave your name, address, and phone number in this same box, or speak to one of the undersigned.

The magazine is to be published once a semester which affords ample time for editing and re-writing by the authors themselves. At present we are planning to put out one issue at the end of this semester.

Competes Requested

Although a small group of students have, at an informal gathering, taken the initiative in starting things, all decisions about the staff, title, format, etc. will not be made until all those interested have indicated their desire to be a part of the new magazine.

Dave Pynchon

Paul Barstow

Hal Santee

Terry Bender

Burt Sapiro

Russell Bourne

Steve Sondheim

Robert Gieckner

Lou Tupler

Ben Newmark

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

In Professor Roberts' excellent article which appeared in this hapless space last week, an appeal was made for the addition of a drama major to the Williams curriculum. It is my fervent hope that in the event that any action is taken upon this suggestion, some far-sighted member of the Board of Trustees will recommend also a course or two in Invective and Slander.

Great as may be the need for a drama major, the rapid pace of our present-day civilization requires, nay demands, that a man seeking a complete liberal arts education be given the opportunity of earning a degree of MFA (Master of Peculent Abuse).

In conjunction with my coming campaign for such a course, I have prepared a short but unsurpassed text which may be employed with inestimable advantage by the instructor and student. How about a peek at the first chapter?

HOW TO WRITE PERFECTLY NASTY LETTERS

"There are more than two thousand six hundred twenty-five equally abusive methods of saying, 'You stink!'," says Professor Deillah Klaxon in his excellent book "Two Thousand Six Hundred Twenty-Five Equally Abusive Methods of Saying, 'You Stink!'" The nasty letter is one of the most useful implements in engaging in this virile sport.

The nasty letter often has a sincere motive, but a successfully nasty epistle must hide this motive completely in a shroud of well-chosen and near-libelous abusive invective. The nasty letter is not intended to offer information. Its purpose is a dual one—to give the writer a goose in the ego, and to give the reader an excuse for taking a good stiff dose of nausea-preventative.

The MFA degree gives one the right to attack with gay abandon any error in fact or judgement made by a periodical. For this reason publications are the recipients of most letters of the nasty category.

Let us examine two examples taken from the communications section of a nationally-read periodical.

Dear Sir,

I must disagree with the article by Farnsworth Sludge in the latest issue of your magazine. As an expert on the subject of fractional distillation in the process of painless childbirth, I found several errors in fact within the article.

(Signed) Constant Reader

Dear deadheads,

What sort of lousy rag do you fellows pretend to publish in that chromium-plated cesspool you call an office? Answer me one thing: are all the worms in your grasping employ suffering from the final stages of some dread disease, or do you hire a couple of bum hopheads to turn out the swill you feed us?

You hit a new low in this last issue with your article by Farnsworth Sludge. Answer me this: by what right did you publish this second article which had for a subject the same subject which was the subject of another article two issues ago by my friend Abe Schmoe? Did you think Schmoe was unfair? Did you think at all? An article is still an article whether it is written in blank verse or not.

Furthermore, this Sludge article is definitely biased. I happen to know that Farnsworth Sludge hates children! What sort of man is that to have writing about childbirth? He doesn't even make mention of my contribution to fractional distillation—which occupied several paragraphs in Schmoe's epic work.

I think you guys are all nuts. If you can't think of anything better than this to print, you should fold up. Sludge doesn't agree with anyone I have talked with on this subject. I think you all suffer from cranial constipation.

(signed) Disgruntled Writer

No comparison can be made between the letters. One is dull, drab, and ineffective. The other is a masterpiece of civilized and tasteful abusive writing. Truly the writer of the second letter has earned his MFA, and can be proud in his position above gentlemen of lesser learning.

The need for such a course is increasingly urgent at Williams. The present condition of the RECORD requires that many letters be written. We must certainly maintain a certain standard of writing which will distinguish us from so many uncouth papers in which only the dull first type of letter appears.

ROGERS PEET Inter-School-and-College ADVERTISING CONTEST

$1,000 in prizes

—in Cash and in

Merchandise Certificates

Just write a clothing ad for Rogers Peet—and win not only a prize worth getting, but a little fame for yourself, too!

Start now! Contest closes midnight Sunday, November 23rd.

For full details see Bulletin Board!

Rogers Peet
Company
A label that spells character

In New York:
Fifth Avenue
at 41st Street

Thirteenth St. at Broadway

Warren Street
at Broadway

And in Boston:
Tremont St.
at Bromfield St.

INSURANCE BROKERS TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N.Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

For the game - MUMS Corsages

For your party - Table decorations

For Williams Men at all times

The Mount Williams Greenhouse

Telephone North Adams 1954

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL: 498-R

WILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED

ROUTE 2

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.
Telephone 3553

WE WILL LUBRICATE
YOUR CAR
THE FORD WAY

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

(WALDEN) THEATRE

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY

ABIE'S IRISH ROSE

with

MICHAEL CHEKOV

THURSDAY

FRIDAY SATURDAY

ALEXANDER'S RAGTIME BAND

ALICE FAYE

TYRONE POWER

Soccer Upsets Wesleyan; Football Edged In Rain

Soccer Team In 2 - 1 Upset Over Wesmen

Rain, Mud, Wind Hurt Wesleyan's Long Passing Eph Halfbacks Excel

Chances Good For Little Three Title

Smith's Goal Clinches Win In Third Period

by Wally Stern

Larry Smith's long blast in the third period provided the margin of victory as the Williams soccer team downed an overconfident Wesleyan aggregation by a 2-1 score at Middletown last Saturday.

Smith's shot, which went through the goalie's legs, gave the Purples a victory over the heavily favored Wesleyan team. The Cardinals, defending Little Three Champions, boasted such victories as a 3-2 decision over a strong Dartmouth team, and a 12-0 win over Worcester Poly. The Ephmen, once again playing with a revised line-up, turned in what Coach "Uncle Ed" Bullock termed "their best game of the year," in toppling the favorites.

Water Soaked Field

The game was played in a heavy rain on a water-soaked field. While Williams adapted its play to the weather, using short passes and shooting whenever they got the chance, Wesleyan tried to use "dry-weather" tactics, and just couldn't click. The short passes of the forward line and halfbacks, and the long accurate Galley 7 kicks of the fullbacks, enabled the Ephmen to generally outplay the Cardinals.

Williams took the lead quickly, as Frank Donnelly drove in a long shot, with scarcely two minutes of play elapsed. Donnelly was shifted to inside-right in a forward line shake-up that saw Larry Smith return to action at center-forward, with Barry Emmert moving to outside-right, replacing Donnelly. There was no more scoring in the first half, and the second period ended with Williams enjoying a 1-0 lead.

Smith Scores

Shortly after the third period opened, Larry Smith put in the clincher. He blasted a shot at the Cardinal goal from far out. The Wes goalie got in front of the slippery ball, but could not hold it. Thus, Williams went ahead. Wesleyan came back later in the 2-0, and that was the ball game. Third period to score one goal. It never could succeed in tying the score. They were awarded an indirect free kick from within scoring range, and managed to put the ball into the nets, but the score was nullified because of rule infraction. Although Wesleyan threatened in the fourth quarter, they could not score, and the final whistle blew with Williams ahead, 2-1.

The whole half-back line played a fine game, with Emmy Brown at center-half, again standing out. The play and especially the passing of the forward line was also exceptionally good, considering the heavy, wet ball and rain-soaked field. "Bump" Hadley and Jerry Page, at fullbacks, consistently got off long accurate kicks, doing a remarkable job in view of the slippery ball.

Williams will meet Amherst next Saturday on Cole Field, in quest of the Little Three Championship.

Phi Delts Win Clubmen Lose

Garfield Club, Phi Delts Lead Their Leagues

Upsets highlighted last week's intramural tilts, as the AD powerhouse went down twice and the Clubmen were nosed out by Delta Phi, 6-0. Only in the Phi Delt league did everything proceed according to the dope-sheet.

The AD's went in to their game with Theta Delt on November 4 with a 4-0 record behind them, and for a while it appeared that the Theta Delt contest would make it 5-0, as the AD's quickly pushed across a tally. But then George Pritchard, sophomore, unlimbered his pitching arm and loosed a passing attack that buried the Alpha Delts. Twice he found men in the end zone and connected for TD's. Paul Mort added a safety, to finish off the disillusioned AD's 14-6.

Clubmen Lose

Still feeling the effects of this trimming, the AD's came up against the Garfield Club aggregation. The AD's never got started, as the Clubmen, led by George Dittmar, Bob Weintraub, Bob Lesser, and Bob Griffin, intercepted and passed their way to a 21-0 triumph.

The Clubmen didn't have such an easy time earlier in the week, when they tangled with Delta Phi. An intercepted Club aerial was passed to a D'Phi encamped behind the Garfield safety-man, dropping the Club from the ranks of the unbeaten, 6-0.

6 Wins For Phi Delts

In the other league, the Phi Delts ran their string of wins to six, submerging the Zetes 42-0. Using half their house as reserves, the Phi Delts employed their usual tactics of pass interceptions and tricky aeriels to take the ball game. The Phi Delt-Beta Theta Pi contest, which would have decided the league championship, was postponed.

The Kaps opened slowly in their match with the Saints, and at halftime the two teams were stalemated in a scoreless tie. But in the second period Filley intercepted a pass and snaked his way through the entire Saint squad to tally. A pass to Baker in the end zone gave the Kaps another six points, and they came out on top, 12-6.

The Betes remained undefeated as they downed the Chi Psi's either 18-6 or 30-6, depending on whether the Chi Psi or Bete news bureau is used.

Union Crushed By Undeclared Frosh Eleven

Fiske, De Lisser, Fargo Register Touchdowns In 21 - 0 Shellacking

by Steve Blaschke

Neither driving rain, nor mud, nor Union were able to stop Harvard Potter's freshmen last Saturday, as they fought Mother Nature and the opposition. They emerged with a 21-0 victory and an undefeated season. Thus the first Potter-coached team also produces the first perfect season in freshman football since a promising 1940 team won four and ended its season by tying Amherst.

Almost torrential rain and a flooded field greeted the kick-off at Schenectady, but this obviously did not faze the Ephmen, who were touchdown-bound as soon as they got their hands on the ball. A pair of off-tackle slants carried them deep in to Union territory and from there Bill Sperry spun his way to the ten on a quarterback sneak. This was all "Whit" Fiske needed because two plays later he raced off-tackle for his seventh TD of the season. Captain Mierzejewski split the up-rights and Williams led 7-0.

Sperry Scores

The rest of the first half saw Pete Fisher's punting keep Union's back to the wall after Pete DeLisser had slithered and hipped his way 65 yards to a touchdown, which was nullified on an out of bounds penalty. The second half was only minutes old when Pete Fisher's power sparked a 55 yard drive which little Bill Sperry culminated by sneaking over from the one.

At this point Pete DeLisser and his second team picked up where their predecessors had left off by driving Union back to its own thirty. DeLisser immediately scooted the remaining thirty yards around end for a touchdown only to have another penalty wipe it out. He repeated this performance two plays later but unfortunately so did the referee, and not until the next play, a beautiful 20 yard endrun, could Pete finally make the touchdown stick. Mierzejewski made it three for three and it was 21-0.

Again it was the defensive play of the line which can't be praised enough. The ends boxed the play in perfectly and time and again Fargo, Bianchi or Mierzejewski broke through to spill some hapless Unionite for a big loss.

Eph Hoopmen Practice For Court Season

Rutgers And Fordham Appear On Schedule Play RPI Nov. 27

Rutgers and Fordham appear on the Williams basketball schedule this year, among such holdovers as Wesleyan, Amherst, Trinity, RPI, Union, Middlebury, Vermont, St. Michaels and Army, according to the information released by the athletic office last week.

In preparation for this active court season, which starts prematurely with a scrimmage against RPI November 27, more than twenty-five Ephmen answered the call for practice last Tuesday.

Brownell Runs Practice

Among that number were many standbys from the 1946-47 squad, including Captain Bob Brownell, who is in charge of the practice sessions until Dale Burnett has completed his football chores. George Dittmar, Jack Mason, Bob Johnston, Roy McWhinney and Bill Kaufman are other holdovers from last year.

Missing from last year's team are such standouts as Jay Quintana, little sparkplug of the varsity five, who is now attending Wagner College in Long Island, and Andy Knox, high-scoring forward, who has graduated.

Aspiring to fill the vacancies on the varsity are a host of promising men up from JV and freshman squads. From last season's frosh are Jack Wideman, George Bush, Bill Ward, Kim Whitney, Art Singer, Jack Heendy and Chris Acker. Stan Roller, Bert Dean, Bob Weintraub, Bob Stanley and Ralph Mason.

Frosh Soccer Triumphs 2-0

Springfield, Wesleyan Bow, JV's, Win Again

The Williams Freshmen and Jayvee soccer teams chalked up impressive 2-0 victories over Springfield and Wesleyan respectively over the past week. The scoring for both teams was done by one man on each club.

In the freshman game, played at Springfield last Saturday, Captain Tom Manning put the crush on a strong Springfield outfit by scoring two goals in the first period, a lead which the team was able to make stick by holding the home team scoreless throughout the game.

Victory Impressive

The victory was impressive in that the Springfield club was unbeaten up to game time. They had had only one goal scored against them all season.

As was the case with almost all other athletic contests run off in the East on Saturday, the game was played in a high wind and a driving rain.

Burke Gets Two

In the Jayvee game, played on Cole Field last Thursday, Bill Burke registered the only two goals of the game to give the junior edition its second win in three starts.

The game was evenly matched most of the way, with both sides playing aggressive ball. The Eph juniors missed several scoring opportunities before Burke broke the ice midway through the second period. He scored the only other goal of the day in the third period after a pile-up in front of the Cardinal goal.

The Jayvees will play their final game of the season against the Amherst Jayvees next Thursday, at Amherst.

Cardinals Win Close Contest On Wet Field

Continued from page 1

25 yard line.

Then after two unsuccessful thrusts at the stalwart Purple line, speedy Bill Brooks, a 9.8 man in the 100, picked his way nimbly around his own right end for 25 yards and the first touchdown of the game. Quarterback Bill Nelson, ace at the nearly extinct drop-kick, went in to convert; but the Cardinals pulled a sneak run instead, which failed.

Higgins Scores For Purple

John Glancy, Williams tackle, kicked off into the wind to open the second half. Wesleyan couldn't get anywhere with the ball and Williams took over on their own 45 yard line. Suddenly Pat Higgins thrilled the Purple rooters by outrunning the defensive end to the left and turning upfield along the side lines for the longest run of the day, 55 yards, and the tying touchdown.

Trying for the all-important extra point, Glancy tried to kick from a slight angle to compensate for the wind, but it was blocked.

With certain tie and possible defeat staring at them, Wesleyan showed that their 16-game winning streak wasn't luck. On the punt exchanges they began to gain ground irresistibly, even after the start of the last stanza with the gale in their faces. Then from about the Williams 20, Bob McBride of Wesleyan took the ball on an end around play to the right and scored standing up to break the deadlock. Once again they failed to run the extra point and it was still possible for a Williams victory.

Campus to GENERAL ELECTRIC

TAKING THE "B" COURSE

The Story of Ralph Rhudy

At General Electric, Ralph Rhudy will tell you, the ABC's are not so simple. They're the letters designating the intensive Advanced Engineering Program courses by which the company provides young engineers with instruction on a graduate level.

Ralph, a graduate of the University of Tennessee and a veteran with 3½ years' service, has completed G.E.'s "A" Course and has been selected for the electromechanical "B" Course. As a "B" student he will study ever more deeply the problems of such fields of interest as vector analysis, thermodynamics, mechanics, and fluid flow.

While he studies, Ralph is concerned with another, larger problem: to find the phase of engineering in which he wants to specialize. He has been helped in making this decision by his participation in the company's Rotating Engineering Program—especially set up to enable veterans to "rotate" through a variety of assignments.

Ralph feels sure that this practical work, plus his studies, is giving him the best possible background for his engineering career.

For your copy of "Careers in the Electrical Industry," write to Dept. 237-6, General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Working while he studies at General Electric, Ralph Rhudy has been assigned to design an actuator for the 50 MEV Betatron.

In the Navy he was Engineer Officer on the U.S.S. Charles J. Kimmel, saw action in the initial invasion of Luzon.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

PIC WIRENITO, DANGEROUS PUPPET

Have you seen the new PIC?

You should... it's the best buy in magazines for college men.

Sports... Careers... Apparel... Fiction...

PIC'S Williams Representative: Charne Klensch

To the WILLIAMS FOOTBALL TEAM

For whatever it's worth we'd like you to know we are behind you, all 8000 of us. Add to that the undergraduates and you have a lot of reserves. We like your spirit! The combination of reserves plus spirit will beat Amherst.

LET'S DO IT

THE ALUMNI

Men's Field Hockey Planned Saturday

Westchester Club Will Stage Demonstration

A field hockey demonstration will be staged this Saturday by the Westchester Field Hockey Club and a combination from the Saint Anthony and Zeta Psi houses on Cole Field at 10:30 a.m.

Sponsors of the match are H. K. Greer, '22, and Lanny Buck '24, two former American Olympic players. Other members of the team include other Williams alumni; two former members of the Dutch National Team; the great American star, Kurt Orban. The game will be umpired by Bill Hoyt '23, former Williams baseball captain.

First Game In 1928

Men's Field Hockey, as played today, was started by a group in Westchester County, sparked chiefly by graduates of Williams. This took place in 1928. In 1930 the Field Hockey Association of America was organized and the Association put teams in the Olympic games of 1932 at Los Angeles and in 1936 at Berlin. There were five Williams men on the 1932 team and two on the 1936 team. Steps are now being taken to organize a team for the 1948 Olympics to be held in London.

FAIRFIELDS FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

Clocks - - -

"Occasionally the clock will stop," he said, "or someone will jar the mechanism while winding the clock, but other than that no appreciable deviation occurs."

The master timepiece which times class periods receives no such attention, stated Professor James R. Curry, Chairman of the Chemistry Department, in whose office the clock may be found.

Professor Curry Too Busy

Too busy to correct it each day himself, Professor Curry said that he hinders no one else from tending the clock and anyone is welcome to take it out of his office if he wants the job.

The clock mechanism, which includes a perforated tape representing one week's supply of class alarms, is electrically run. The tape passes through one revolution per week so that as a hole approaches a point between two electrical connections, a circuit is closed, ringing bells in every classroom building.

Untended since Summer Term

After the death in 1945 of Professor John F. King, a clock hobbyist, who transferred the master clock from Morgan Hall to the Chem Lab more than twenty years ago, the lab carpenter, Adam Eickert, religiously checked the clock each day against radio time. Eickert, however, because of family illness, was forced to leave his job at the college early in September.

At the present time, when notified of a deviation in "official" time, the Dean's office sends for a repairman from Albany to readjust the clock.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

Beaux' - - -

lege and increased its prestige abroad by producing in a most incredible manner a comedy of other days . . .

O'Neill, in commenting on the rehearsals he sat in on, was greatly impressed with the fact that "amateur American kids have developed the eloquence of posture and speech" necessary for the drama's success. O'Neill felt that the play's style was the chief stumbling block, but that the cast had very successfully overcome that problem.

O'Neill Lauds Show

Commending the drastic script cutting which has made for a brisk and entertaining version of Farquhar's lusty drama, O'Neill especially lauded the performances of Erskine and Nan Ross in rehearsals. Observing the rapid improvement in the rehearsals during the last week, he was impressed with the work director David Bryant had done with the members of the cast who had had little previous acting experience.

Heading the large cast, Erskine and Mann will play the parts of Archer and Aimwell, the names of the characters being very indicative of their nature. Nan Ross, wife of Professor Ross, is taking the part of Mrs. Sullen, while Audrey Barnes and Josephine Miser are playing Dorinda and Cherry respectively. Bernard Felch '48, has the part of Scrub, and Richard Schwab '48, Ralph Horween '50, David Brown '51, James Dissell '49, Miller Barney '49, Barbara Closson and Helen Kelly, and H. B. Roll are cast in minor parts.

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Kellogg - - -

been for the past ten years, and since then many new organizations have requested aid. This year the council is confronted by the applications of the Glee Club and of Cap and Bells, two groups which in the past have been able to hold their own.

"The education of a college man does not come only by the study of a required number of courses," reflected Kellogg. "Active participation in such extracurricular activities as are sponsored by the SAC is just as much a part of college life as are books. I earnestly urge all undergraduates to become active in some such phase of college life. It is only by the interest and work of every one that Williams will continue to be recognized among other fine educational institutions."

Kellogg pointed out that by sending in their money before November 22 undergraduates will make a saving of one dollar. After that date the tax levy is four dollars.

Paragraphs - - -

ents in the United States. Stories should not be over 5,000 words and should be typed with the phrase "College Contest" and the writer's name, college and address on the manuscript and envelope. All entries, accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and should be sent to: Tomorrow 11 East 44th Street, New York 17, N. Y.

Williams rates second to Yale in appeal to Amherst students of colleges other than Amherst, it was discovered in a poll taken by the Amherst Student last month. To the question: "Would you choose Amherst again?" 79% answered "yes". When asked which they would choose, if not Amherst, 15% of those polled said Yale, 10% chose Williams, and the remaining 75% chose "scattered" colleges.

Married Vets - - -

Landlord-tenant relationships are sometimes disagreeable," he says, "but ours are pleasant. As far as we know, the veteran families are very happy. We try to help them stay that way."

BACON'S GARAGE

Sales and Service

REPAIRING AND BODY WORK ON ALL CARS
SPECIALISTS ON FORDS

Where Williams Men have had their FORDS and other makes of cars serviced and repaired for the last 25 years.

TYDOL FLYING A GASOLINE AND VEEDOL OILS

Telephone 420 42 Water Street
WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

WMS - - -

every two weeks in a half-hour program. Another half-hour once a week will be devoted to a program of classical music, during which records that tie-in with pieces being studied in the music courses will be played.

According to Morrill, WMS will first be heard only in the dormitories. In approximately two weeks, however, the various social units and perhaps part of Williamstown will be connected in the new "Carrier Current" system, which employs power lines for transmitting purposes. Only experimentation will produce the actual range of the station.

Williams Co-op

Presents
The ADLER SOCK
wash them

any way you like

We guarantee the size

OR YOUR MONEY BACK

TUB and RUB and SCRUB them

Guaranteed to Fit for the
Life of the Sock

Young people who study scientific facts should be interested in Adler SC socks. Facts are that we guarantee perfect fit for the life of these 100% virgin wool socks! Or your money back, cheerfully!

Super swell for campus wear—for guys—for gals. No more cramped toes—less mending. And 33% longer life because Adler SC's have Nylon reinforced heel and toe. Creamy white—full sizes 9 thru 13. At all better stores. By the makers of Adler SC Chic Rib nylon-wool slak socks.

THE ADLER COMPANY
Cincinnati 14 • Ohio

Used by ALL
WILLIAMS COLLEGE
Athletic Teams

Williams Co-op

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

A "MUST" WHEN IN NEW YORK

OVER THE HOLIDAYS

DINING ROOM - BAR and GRILL

Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Saturday.
2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.
3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.
4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

Saturday, November 15 Games

One Williams Beer Mug or One
Picture Framed at BASTIEN'S

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Amherst	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Colgate	vs.	Syracuse	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Cornell	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Illinois	vs.	Ohio State	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Navy	vs.	Penn. State	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Army	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Princeton	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Wesleyan	vs.	Trinity	<input type="checkbox"/>

One Shirt at THE WILLIAMS CO-OP

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Williams	vs.	Amherst	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Colgate	vs.	Syracuse	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Cornell	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Brown	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Columbia	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Illinois	vs.	Ohio State	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Navy	vs.	Penn. State	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Penn.	vs.	Army	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Princeton	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Wesleyan	vs.	Trinity	<input type="checkbox"/>

Copyright 1947 by
The Parker Pen Company

Again this Christmas, Parker "51" is the world's most-wanted gift pen. In fact, seniors at 20 great universities voted Parker more-wanted than the next three makes of pens combined! All in all, 77 surveys in 29 countries confirm this preference. • Incomparable in its styling and performance—the "51" makes all writing a pleasure. • So perfectly balanced—so responsive—so smooth gliding. And only the "51" is designed for satisfactory use with remarkable new Parker Superchrome—the super-brilliant, super-permanent ink that dries as it writes! • Choice of custom points to suit your individual style of handwriting . . . and smart gift colors. $12.50; $15.00. Pencils, $5.00; $7.50. Sets, $17.50 to $80.00. Parker V-S Pens, $8.75. Pencils, $4.00. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin, U. S. A., and Toronto, Canada.

World's most wanted pen "51" writes dry with wet ink!"

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1947

No. 13

Majority Vote For Joining National Student Association

Halsted And Jaffa Praise Movement

Cooperation Stressed, Objectives Mapped

Ed Gouinlock
Williams became one of the first New England colleges to back the newly-formed NSA when the constitution was ratified by a vote of 458-121 last week. Only the students of Smith, MIT and the Harvard Divinity School have preceded Williams in joining the Association in this way. Larry Jaffa, New England regional chairman told the Record in a telephone interview Tuesday.

Hailed By Jaffa
Charles Jaffa, a Harvard Divinity School student, hailed the outcome of the referendum as "another example of the kind of cooperation that Williams delegates have given at the conferences at Mount Holyoke this fall and at Wisconsin last summer." Henry M. Halsted '48, alternate Williams NSA representative, stated his hope that the organization's presence on campus would "make Williams students realize their responsibility as students in relation to the society in which they live."

News Letter
Jaffa further mentioned that Williams petition to manage the NSA regional publication and news letter had been well received by the Executive Committee. A definite decision will be made by the committee at a meeting in Springfield this weekend.

Halsted, stressing the necessity of full student cooperation in backing the objectives of the NSA, announced that the Williams chapter will be formally organized at a meeting next week. He urges that at least one man from each social unit be present at this meeting, preferably members of the junior class.

Non-Political
The NSA is composed of college students organized on national, regional, and local levels. Non-political and non-sectarian, the organization aims to be all-inclusive, encompassing all student groups in this country. Williams See NSA, page 8

WCA Sponsors Student Meeting

Little Three-Bowdoin Groups Confer Here

William Wiemer, official in the Student Christian Movement Headquarters in Boston, will serve as a speaker to a conference of the Christian Associations of Bowdoin and Little Three Colleges to be held here November 22-23.

"Since we will find out how each organization solves mutual problems, the conference will be a great help," Edson Spencer '48, Student Christian Movement representative on the WCA cabinet told the Record. The corresponding members of each cabinet will confer on mutual difficulties, and hold group discussions on more fundamental general issues.

Marriage, Religion Courses
The question of the possibility of courses in marriage and religion and the scope of these proposed courses will be one of the principal topics discussed in the general session. Also on the agenda of the group-discussions are topics about membership drives, finances, maintaining membership, the position of "the Christian" in the Christian Association, and the "stimulation of campus interest."

"We hope this will be the first See WCA, page 6

Tryouts Held For Debating Tournament

The Adelpic Union will hold tryouts for the New England Debating Tournament to be held at the University of Vermont December 12, 13, on Wednesday evening November 19 at 7:30 in Griffin Hall.

About twenty colleges will participate in the program which includes a dance among the activities. The topic will be: "Resolved, that a federal world government should be established." Any upperclassmen interested in participating should be present at the tryouts, prepared to make a three minute speech on either side of the question.

Gass Lectures To Federalists

Tells Economic Aspect Of World Federation

Assistant Economics Professor David L. Gass attempted to crystallize the disjointed concepts of the economic aspects of world federation in a talk before thirty members of the Williams Student Federalists Monday night.

As one of the local federalists put it after the meeting, "Now we know how to answer the cynics who ask us what material benefits could be gained by federation and about such fundamental questions as the existence of tariff barriers and immigration restrictions in a world state."

Emphasizes Political And Moral Factors

Professor Gass opened his speech by emphasizing the importance of the political and moral factors, because they are the ones that will force the eventual creation of a world federal government. He added, however, that while still keeping "first things first," it would be best to look ahead at some of the problems that will be encountered in the allocation of economic powers to this state.

Material benefits would accrue from any organization capable of assuring confidence in the maintenance of world peace because See GASS, page 3

Pre-war Octet Sings In Chapin Tonight

First In Concert Series For Williams Fund

The pre-war Williams Octet returns tonight to give a concert of college and musical comedy selections, for the benefit of the Williams Building and Endowment Fund, at 8:30 p.m. in Chapin Hall. This concert is the first of a series the 'group will give this winter in cities throughout the East and Middle West for the benefit of the Building and Endowment Fund drive.

Smith Only Undergraduate
Of the pre-war Octet, baritone Lawrence C. Smith is the only member now in college. Theodore R. Stafford '43, who sings second bass, lives in Williamstown, and has a position with Radio Station WKOB in North Adams. The other members of the Octet will return to Williamstown for the concert.

Warren G. Hunke '42, who organized the group, will sing first tenor; C. Douglas Buck '44, first tenor; J. Howe Adams, IV, '44, second tenor; George D. Lawrence '43, second tenor; Malcolm MacCruer '43, first bass. Kenneth MacDonald from Yale will fill in as eighth man, singing second bass.

Helen Clayton Sings
Helen Clayton, a soprano singing with Robert Shaw Chorus, who sang with the Octet last spring, will accompany the Octet on its tour. Miss Clayton is unable to join the group this week end because of a previously scheduled concert.

The Octet was organized at Williams in 1940. It was the first student organization to use the new AMT after it opened that year. The group's first concert was given April 12, 1941. The first selection on tonight's program will be "The Adams Memorial Theatre," which was the opening selection at that first concert.

The Octet made its road debut in 1941 at the Ardsley Country Club at Ardsley-on-Hudson. After their successful opening concerts, the Octet appeared at several girls' schools and colleges, and during the last spring vacation before the War, traveled to Bermuda with the Williams Glee Club.

The program tonight will be similar to the one to be given on the tour. It will include: musical comedy. See OCTET, page 3

College Attitude Praised By Most Vets And Wives

Although most married veterans expressed only minor criticisms of the College administration of student-veteran's housing, in a survey by the Record, there were several major complaints.

Opposed to the majority who looked on the College as a co-operative landlord were those who felt that certain College policies have created much criticism and resentment. Major gripes are: Alleged over-pricing in the sale of second-hand refrigerators, failure to provide reasonable measures to keep water pipes from freezing during vacations, and "exorbitant" furniture rental charges.

College Refrigerator 'Profit'

"Our relationship with the college has been fine," said Giles Kelly '49. "Mr. Brown, who obligingly obtained new window shades for us from the government and Mr. Mills, in charge of maintenance, have been genuinely co-operative in all our dealings. But I think the college acted unfairly in charging veterans $175 for refrigerators bought for less than $150 and in use for nearly two years by the Greylock couples."

Helen Kelly praised the friendly treatment accorded veterans' wives and the pleasant reception given wives attending class by both faculty and students.

Housing Better Than Most

According to Ted Norton, Williams has done a better job than other colleges. "Amherst uses coal stoves in its housing projects, and Harvard students living in Devens Village must make a 76-mile round trip every day. There are some specific gripes, but they would arise almost anywhere."

General criticism was leveled at the Administration's unco-operative attitude last Christmas vacation. One veteran said, "The college was too lazy to shut off the water to keep our pipes from freezing. It did offer, however, to keep our apartments warm by refueling the kerosene stoves for $1 per day. Further, the College refused to take the simple action of draining the pipes. We ended by paying about nine dollars to have this job done, saving at least five dollars per couple."

High Furniture Rent

A furniture rental of $3.50 per month ranked most married students. This fee covers surplus government property consisting of four straight chairs, a bureau, two iron beds, and a hospital cot. See VET HOUSING, page 3

Williams Gridmen Face Favored Amherst Today

Weston Toilets Still 'Disgrace'

College Has Made Minor Changes

by Joseph F. Dorsey

The College has made only minor improvements in their effort to remedy the poor facilities in the Weston Field rest rooms, it was revealed in a Record investigation this week.

"Nothing has been done, except to clean up the rest rooms and to repaint the toilet seats," Tom Quinn, caretaker of Weston Field, said in an interview Wednesday.

No Money

"The rest rooms are obviously not modernistic," a college official stated, "but the college has more important things to be done before they can make the expenditure required to install running water." Before this move could be made, he added, it would be necessary to install a heating system to keep the pipes from freezing. See WESTON FIELD, page 3

Library Shows Faculty Books

Baxter, Schuman Works Features Of Display

President Phinney P. Baxter's Pulitzer Prize-winning "Scientists Against Time" and Professor Frederick L. Schuman's "Soviet Politics at Home and Abroad" head the current Stetson Library display of faculty publications of the past year.

Wide Subject Range

Just to the left of the Library main lobby, are three cases containing twenty-seven of over fifty articles and books published by the faculty. The subject matter extends from psychology Professor Arthur F. Jenness' Saturday Evening Post article, "College Students Don't Need Wartime Speed-up," to "Improved Fixation in Vitally Stained Methylene Preparation" by biology Professor Elbert C. Cole.

Other articles typical of this range are, "The Art of Sir Thomas Wyatt," by English Professor H. D. Smith, "The Political Economy Major" by Vincent M. Barnett, associate professor of political science, and "The Effects of Strategic Bombing on the German War Economy" by associate economics professor Emile Despres.

"When looking at the display," said Librarian W. E. Wright '25 "You must remember that Williams College is a teaching institution and not a research university. The publications on display are an excellent representative sample of the type of material that the faculty produces." He added that it is remarkable that the faculty of a small New England college such as Williams produces such a wide range of current-interest material each year. He urges everyone to see the display.

A complete list of faculty and alumni publications will be printed in the next issue of the Williams Alumni Review.

No Lighting Improvements Yet
At present the library is trying to contact an alumnus who is a lighting engineer and have him install a new lighting system where needed. Until this can be See LIBRARY, page 6

Two Industry Scouts Schedule Interviews

William O. Wyckoff, placement bureau director has announced the following schedule of men to interview seniors: Mr. G. A. Pendergast of Montgomery Ward, New York City, on Monday, November 17; The Ford Motor Company representative on Friday, November 21, one week later than originally announced by the Record.

All senior placement bureau registrants will be interviewed, but members of the class of 48-F will be given priority of job offers. Director Wyckoff will announce the dates on which other representatives will be at the college.

Rudolph Pens History Piece

Ex-History Instructor Publishes Article

by Russ Frost

Prestige in historical circles came to former Williams instructor, C. Frederick Rudolph, with the publication of his article on "Chinamen in Yankeeedom" in the October issue of the American Historical Review.

Admission as a contributor to this distinguished organ of The American Historical Association is recognition of exceptional ability in the field of historical research and analysis, a distinction carried still further by Mr. Rudolph since his paper was printed as the leading article.

XIX Century Anti-Unionism

It is, as his own sub-title indicates, a study of "Anti-Unionism in Massachusetts in 1870". Mr. Rudolph has developed a hitherto inconspicuous episode of labor unrest into an extremely interesting document. His journalistic flair keeps the study from becoming a mass of boring details, yet also prevents him from falling into broad generalizations. There is a rather strong subjective quality about it, but on the whole it is a fast-moving, concise picture of the beginnings of labor strikes in a town well-known to students of Williams College—North Adams.

This culminates seven years of intermittent research work on related topics. A graduate, Class of '42, and later as an instructor here, Mr. Rudolph wrote several class papers during his sophomore and junior years on Washington Gladden, Williams alumnus and author of the college hymn, "The Mountains". Keenly interested in Gladden's advanced views on applied Christianity, Mr. Rudolph chose as his honors thesis in American History and Literature the life of Washington Gladden. In the process, much of Gladden's career in North Adams as pastor of the Congregational Church, 1866-71, was revealed against a background of labor strife. It is from this last that Mr. Rudolph has expanded his talent for detailed research.

Attending Yale

At present attending the Yale Graduate School, Mr. Rudolph was reportedly much embarrassed when announcement of his achievement was made publicly by his professor during a class session. Although a modest, shy appearing young man, only 27, he had displayed much of the intellectual energy he possesses during his undergraduate days at Williams.

He was a member of Gargoyle; See RUDOLPH, page 2

Football Team Meets Lord Jeffs For 61st Time

Purples Out For First Win; Year's Record Gives Amherst Slight Edge

Coach Snively Sees Tough Tilt Ahead

Ephs In Good Condition, Higgins Will Start

Amherst alumnus Stanley Woodward, sports editor of the New York Herald Tribune who coined the phrase "Battle of the Bums" for last year's Williams-Amherst game, indicated that he did not think much of this year's sixty-first renewal of the contest either, in a telephone interview with the Record early this week.

"As far as I can see," he said, "neither team is any good, but I feel sure that our boys will knock the stuffings out of Williams."

The two elevens will be striving to make up for their weak records going into the game. Both teams have lost to Wesleyan; there is no Little Three title at stake. But both teams would rather win this game than any other on the schedule, and they will both pour everything they have into the fray.

Four and Three

Amherst has the stronger record, although not a devastating one, at game time, boasting four wins against three defeats. The Jeffs started off strong, whipping Champlain 21-0, and Coast Guard 13-0. In their third game, Adam Walsh's charges from Bowdoin gave the Jeffmen a tumble, 8-6.

But Amherst bounced back into the win column for a Saturday, taking Colby 13-7. Then powerful Wesleyan chalked up a 20-0 victory over the Jeffs. Tufts took the See REGULARS, page 4

Christ's Back Jazz Concert

Famous Radio Group To Play Here Soon

A "This Is Jazz" concert, sponsored by the Williams Christian Association, will soon be presented, the proceeds of which will go to the Chest Fund Drive, WCA president Chuck Schmidt announced this week.

This will be the first jazz recital given at Williams college since Charlie Ventura's hot jazz combo played for the spring '47 houseparty.

"This Is Jazz" originated as a Mutual network coast-to-coast radio series, directed by Rudy Blesh, nationally-famous jazz critic and jazz columnist for the New York Herald Tribune. The program which boasts the nation's top jazz artists and a high hoop-rating, is launching a nation wide personal appearance tour.

Talented Musicians Included

Charles Schmidt '48, WCA president, said in regard to the coming jazz concert: "It's a great idea and the group of musicians is great!" Included among the performers on the "This Is Jazz" radio series are: Wild Bill Davison, Marty Marsala, Sidney Bechet, Edmund Hall, James Archy, Danny Barker, James P. Johnson, Ralph Sutton, Willy The Lion, Art See JAZZ, page 6

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
CHARLES H. KLENSCH, '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 Copy Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager
Make-up Editor for this issue J. EDWARD PAWLICK, '49

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Charles R. Fetter, '48 H. Russell Platt, '48
Peter M. Thexton, '48 John H. Schafer, '48

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

William R. Barney, Jr., '49 Russell B. Frost, '49
Seth M. Bidwell, '49 Edwin Kuh, '49
Jerry J. Cole, '49 J. Edward Powlick, '49
Joseph F. Dorsey, '49 R. S. Taylor, '49

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Thomas B. Heoly Jr., '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock, '49

EDITORIAL STAFF

S. F. Blaschke, '50 E. V. Gouinlock, '50 W. P. Stern, '50
K. V. X. Delany, '50 R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50 P. W. Stites, '49
W. V. M. Fawcett, Jr., '50 H. D. Mohring, '50 C. E. Utley, '49
R. Fowle, '50 D. T. Roach, '50 H. Van Harne, '50
J. B. Gibson, '50 S. Robinowitz, '50 N. S. Wood, '50
J. G. Golding, '50 J. B. Sheppardson, '50

BUSINESS STAFF

R. P. Klopman, '49 T. H. Lichtenfels, '50 J. S. Prescott, '50
P. C. Graney, '49 M. J. Murray, '50 B. M. Sapiro, '48
R. A. LeCount, '49 J. M. Reid, '49 A. R. Shay, '50
R. B. Stallworth, '48

ART BOARD

Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Felch, '48

VOL. LXI

NOVEMBER 15, 1947

13

Welcome Alumni

In view of the meager support given the football team by the undergraduates thus far, it is heartening to see so many alumni return to support what has been, up to the Amherst game, a losing team. This is not the first game this season that has been witnessed by large numbers of alumni, but it is the most important one at which to have complete support for the Purple squad. Therefore, welcome loyal alumni, we wish all undergraduates would follow your example in supporting Coach Suively, Captain "Gene" Murphy, and the rest of the victory-bound football team.

We Can't Wait Five Years

In the front page follow-up article on the Weston Field Rest Rooms, a college official is quoted as saying that since the installation of a decent and sanitary plumbing system entails "great expense", nothing will be done about it "in the near future."

We should judge that "in the near future" refers to the duration of the Fund Drive and several years thereafter. That means that the rest rooms will remain in essentially the same condition for the next five to ten years. It is not the field of the RECORD to suggest to the college administration how money should be spent to improve the situation. But we can, and do, suggest that whatever money is necessary to modernize the rest room facilities be spent, and soon. Not in a matter of years, but in a matter of weeks and months.

Perhaps the college administration does not feel that the situation is sufficiently bad to merit immediate attention. Therefore, to help them make up their minds, the RECORD welcomes any letters expressing opinion on the subject. We promise to print them, if so desired, and at least make sure that they reach the proper officials.

Attention Alumni:

Issues of this RECORD are now on sale at The Bemis Store, The Williamstown News Room, and The Alumni House — all on Spring Street — and these RECORDS will continue to be on sale all day Saturday.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the Williams RECORD:
Sir:

May I suggest that the rule of cloture be applied to further discussion of "Alice in Wonderland" in your columns in order that your critic and the critics of your critics' may marshal their forces for the next crisis—the forthcoming production of the "Beaux Strategem"?

(signed) John Drew O'Neill

(Editor's note: We're ready.)

Rudolph - - -

Undergraduate Council representative in his senior year; on the editorial board of the former college literary publication, The Sketch, for three years; and editor-in-chief of the Record in his senior year. He graduated cum laude in 1942, receiving his degree with highest honors in the field of American History and Literature. His thesis, "Washington Gladden, Essays on a Modern Man", merited him the William Bradford Turner Memorial Prize for the best work of the year "In the field of American history or institutions."

Mr. Rudolph served in the Navy as an officer during World War II and returned as an instructor in the History Department for the fall term of 1946 and the spring and summer terms of 1947. This fall he began graduate work at Yale.

North Adams Forerunner of Unrest

Dealing primarily with the importation of Chinese labor from the West Coast in order to break up the first serious strike in North Adams, Mr. Rudolph advances the theory that North Adams was a "focal point" from which study of much of the national unrest in the factory system and resulting union activity in both economic

See RUDOLPH, page 6

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

Without doubt, the literary world will be shocked into sensibility within the next few weeks by the appearance of a great new work The Memoirs of a Gay Dog—the autobiography of Josiah T. S. Horton. It has only been banned by the League of Decency of East Liverpool, Ohio, and Hecate County, and I haven't received word from the Un-American Activities Investigation Committee, so perhaps the sales will be rather small at first.

In my usual fashion, I shall face the possibility of your not having a chance to read the entire twelve volume series, by printing here the first chapter:

Chapter The First I Become a Gay Dog

I arrived at Williams College in July of 1945—strictly not a gay dog. I left Williams College in June of 1948—strictly a gay dog. Something must have happened within those three short years. It certainly did!

First of all I met Bennington. The first weekend of the term, those of us interested in "meeting the girls" were loaded into a sort of cattle-carrier and dumped at the Carriage Barn in Bennington. The hostesses were lovely and told us that if we didn't like the girls we first met, we could ditch them and try our luck again. I met something named Bertha Kritch whose father makes barbells in York, Pennsylvania. I didn't like her, but apparently she had been absent when the lovely hostesses gave us our indoctrination, so we spent a lovely evening getting me so tight that I didn't care.

O, This Is Number Two

My second try at Bennington came the following weekend, when, of my own volition, I returned to the Carriage Barn. Bertha was engaged in wrestling with someone, so I asked a meek little thing to dance. She whipped off her shoes and gave a fine rendition of an ancient Hindu fertility rite accompanying herself on a zither. It was all quite charming, but I hardly could see myself making any strides toward becoming a gay dog. Anyway, I speaked away while the meek little thing was putting her neck back in joint, and I haven't been back to Bennington since.

My third experience with women came upon the occasion of my first houseparty at Williams. I asked a girl from Wellesley. I had known her from home as a gentle mild young lady, so it didn't surprise me to see her stagger from the B & M with a load on which steadily increased during her stay here.

Moral Strengthening

As she got tighter, so did her morals, so I spent the greater part of the weekend reading Pierre Louys while she wandered about happily expounding upon sex as treated by Emily Dickinson. I put her into the hands of the conductor of the Boston train on Sunday morning and breathed a sigh of relief and also one of resignation, for I felt that my chances of becoming a gay dog were practically gone.

All about were men bragging of their amorous exploits, while I was forced to sit in sullen silence. In turn I tried a girl from Smith. She was willing that I become a gay dog with her, but it involved taking her to New York for the weekend and plying her with all sorts of cocktails and dinners and shows. It seemed to me that she would be getting far more out of it than I would be, so I plead previous commitments and committed myself to another weekend of gloom. She was bow-legged anyway.

Then one day many weeks later, the Glee Club went on a concert trip to Emma Willard School in Troy. Now E. W. isn't noted for its leniency, but a lot goes on which Emma doesn't suspect. After the concert, we were given a dance. Everything was quite proper—with a noticeable absence of décolletage and a noticeable presence of chaperonage.

Eureka

My partner seemed to be innocent until intermission when she shyly took my hand and led me into a corner where she pressed the nose of a bust of Xeno. Immediately a section of the wall swung open revealing a secret stairway to the faculty wine-cellar.

"Come," said my partner, "you gay dog!"

So I went, and ever since, I have been truly the gayest of gay dogs. For this simple little Emma Willard girl showed me exactly how one must act to become one. I found that the trick is not in holding one's liquor, it is in holding someone else's liquor. And it is not the actual experiences which make one known as a g. d., it is the amount of exaggeration used.

I've often wondered what happened to the lass from E. W. Does she know what effect she had on my life? Could she possibly realize her great contribution? Probably not since, gay dog that I am, I have only the recollection of her passing out after the twelfth martini.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the RECORD:

I reply to the Faculty Forum of last week by Professor Roberts. I would like to clarify and define the position and purposes of Cap and Bells on the Williams campus.

Cap and Bells is an extra-curricular activity, and as such is run by its members with three purposes in mind. First, and above all, it is run for the enjoyment and benefit of its members. Our object is to give as many students as possible the opportunity to do the kind of work in the theater they wish, so that they may learn something from their work and enjoy it at the same time. We are not an academic organization, but extra-curricular, and as long as we remain in this position, the members shall continue to be our primary consideration.

Aim To Please

Our second purpose is to please the audiences which attend the productions. To give only scholarly productions is not our aim, nor is it our aim to give purely professional ones. Whatever we do, whether it be Broadway or scholarly, we try to do it well.

If the council and members of Cap and Bells see fit to give a flashy Broadway comedy or melodrama, that is what we shall give, provided we feel that the college audience will enjoy it. For it is the free time of the members and those desiring to become members of Cap and Bells (our point system isn't very hard to understand) that is spent in putting a production together (not forgetting the veteran and faculty wives.) Therefore their desires are to be considered over and above those of the Monday morning quarterbacks or Walgreen critics. (This does not refer to Professor Roberts, but to those few people on campus who are so brilliantly destructive, yet contribute nothing.

Consider Whole Student Body

Our third consideration is for the Williams Student Body as a whole. We want, if possible, to give productions which will aid them in understanding drama more fully, or which will correlate with courses being given, provided they comply with our first two considerations. We are not, however, trying to forget Broadway or popular appeal. To us, popular appeal is a very necessary factor. It not only helps us to know if we are fulfilling one of our objectives—that of giving a good performance—but it is also our financial mainstay.

I should like to say, however, that we feel that the two very controversial ideas put forth by Mr. Roberts, are both very good ones and have our full support. We who are most interested in the theater would like nothing more than a drama major and free audiences. Neither is impossible; both are worthwhile.

Howard W. Erskine '49, Pres. Cap and Bells

"The Long & the Short & the Tall"

... as the Army song goes

Or just about every man-jack of you, veterans, green freshmen and all, will appreciate the colorful fall assortment of

Arrow's "WOODLAND WOOL" Ties $1

These handsome, neat-knotting and wrinkle-repulsing neckties are 100% pure wool and sell for one small dollar. Pay no more.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

KEEP YOUR FORD'S Showroom Complexion BRIGHT

Expert body and fender repairs done the FORD WAY... with special FORD equipment and finishing materials. Reasonable prices.

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1830
CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE
DUST PROOF COAL RANGE and FUEL OILS
73 Williamstown Mass.
Spring St.

COCA-COLA COOLERS MAKE IT SO EASY TO PAUSE AND REFRESH

5¢

PLEASE return empty bottles promptly

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
BERKSHIRE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

© 1947, The Coca-Cola Company

Athletic Cut Change Asked Other Betterments Suggested In UC

Attention at last Monday's Undergraduate Council meeting was focused on the Student Scholastic Committee's four point program for an improved athletic cut system, greater faculty-student scholastic committee cooperation, institution of a course to investigate business opportunities and social unit plaques for scholastic improvement. The Council also discussed plans for last night's football rally, post season rushing at Dedden for the classes of '47 and '48.

Post-Season Rushing
The Scholastic Committee chairman, Henry Hammond '48 outlined the procedure to be followed for post season rushing. Following an initial bid submitted to the council, a two-week period ensues in which all houses may look over the candidate. Then, at the end of two weeks, the candidate is sealed in an envelope containing bids from all houses interested in him. At this particular meeting, nineteen men received first bids.

The Nomination and Rules Committee decided to call a meeting for members of the original Class of '47 who are still in college to act as a nominating committee for the class officers of president, secretary and class agent. Ballots, listing the nominees, three for each post, will be sent to all the members of the class. The man elected will serve for five years. At that time, a 15th reunion will be held and permanent officers for the class of '47 will be chosen. Officers will be elected for the class of '48 in the same manner.

Social Relations
An Undergraduate Social Representative will be elected for the class of '48 in the same manner.

Lecture Program Introduces Films

Historic Movies Added To Speaker Series

"A series of highly-interesting films will be presented starting November 17, to extend the benefits of the Lecture Committee to the campus as a whole," Chairman Paul Barstow '48, announced this week.

The first film, "Emperor Jones," starring Paul Robeson, based on the play by Eugene O'Neill, will be shown at 8:00, November 17, in the Adams Memorial Theatre. The second will be "Becky Sharp," co-starring Miriam Hopkins and C. Aubrey Smith, from Thackeray's Vanity Fair.

In addition to the supplementary films, the Lecture Committee has scheduled speakers on national and international affairs, the theatre, and is now corresponding with others.

Kirmit Roosevelt, recently back from Palestine, will speak December 4 on "The Arabs Live There Too." January 22, Bernard DeVoto will lecture on "The Novelist and The Reader."

Abbey Theatre Director
Lenox Robinson, director of the Abbey Theatre in Dublin, will speak early in the spring term on "The Abbey Theatre—Pattern For Modern Drama." Mr. Robinson will lecture the following morning to the drama classes.

Educator Bernard Iddings Bell, is scheduled to speak April 1 on "Education and The Common Man."

March 4, John Scott, head of the Time and Life European bureaus, will talk about the Russian impact on Central Europe. During the war Mr. Scott covered world events from Stockholm.

Barstow said that the Lecture Committee is now negotiating with Harrison Smith, editor of The Saturday Review, and poet W. H. Auden for spring engagements.

Paragraphs In News

The second half of tryouts for the freshman Debating Council will be held on Monday, November 17, at 7:30 in Griffin Hall. Those freshmen who wish to try out for the Council should come prepared to give a three minute speech on any subject they elect. The Council will hold debates with Welleley Bennington, and Princeton, and will end the year with a panel debate at Dartmouth. All interested freshmen who have not already tried out are urged to attend.

The Rogers Peet Company of New York City is offering again this year an Inter-School-and-College Advertising contest. Cash prizes and merchandise certificates are offered to the winners. Any man from any campus has a chance to win $210.00.

Entry regulations and examples from contests of previous years have been posted on the Bulletin Boards of Hopkins and Jesup Halls. The winner from Williams will be announced in the RECORD. The contest closes midnight Sunday, November 23rd.

Bill Adkin's wife, Janice, presented him with a six-pound baby boy, born in North Adams Monday night. Bill was seen passing out the cigars at the Sig House Tuesday.

Weston Field . . .

The fact that the drainage facilities are on Latham Street, some distance from the rest rooms, would also entail a large scale excavation and great expense, he stated. Therefore, until a major project can be undertaken which will not be in the near future, the college contemplates no further improvements.

Termed Disgraceful

In a telephone conversation with Mrs. James P. Baxter, she said, "Although I have not actually been in the rest rooms at Weston Field, I thought the pictures showed a perfectly disgraceful situation. Several friends of mine have commented very vehemently on the facilities, and it is a problem that should be remedied."

She added that in the absence of nearby sewage provisions, it might be possible to install a cesspool. A solution to the cost problem, suggested by Mrs. Baxter might be to put the problem under the jurisdiction of the Community Chest Fund Committee. "After all," she remarked, "the college contributes a good deal to the fund drive, and the problem is certainly a community affair."

Running Water

A faculty wife, when questioned on her views of the problem, said, "There is a fountain with running water just outside the ladies' rest room at Weston Field. If it is possible to have running water to the fountain, isn't it possible to have running water to the rest rooms?" She echoed the remarks of the majority of the people ques-

Gass . . .

it would free men and resources, now occupied in building up large military establishments, for production of consumer goods to increase the standard of living.

Natural Resources Affected

A world federal government that was vested with no power except that necessary to insure peace would also provide a change in the pattern of allocation of natural resources, according to Professor Gass. Confidence in lasting peace would take the incentive away from the drive for self-sufficiency. From this would result a greater regional specialization and a consequent increase in productive efficiency.

Mr. Gass then launched into an explanation of the maze of possibilities arising from an assumption that this world government would have the power to control tariff barriers and restrictions on immigration.

tioned, in saying that the situation at Weston Field was "perfectly disgraceful."

The wife of the college official quoted above said that although she had never been in the rest rooms, it was her understanding that the college had done some painting in the ladies' room, but that little more was needed."

Vet Housing . . .

One wife said, "Amherst charges $40 rent, but supplies towels, sheets, and fuel. If you add the cost of utilities to our basic monthly rent of $29.50, it totals about $55.

Old-timers remember when the college promised $45 per month rental in Greylock and the annexes. Rent subsequently was raised to $180 per term, including the short summer session of 1948, thereby almost doubling the former rent for that period.

Octet . . .

edy favorites of Kern, Gershwin, Berlin, Porter, and Rogers and Hart; a barber shop harmony number; and a medley from "Brigadoon."

The Octet's next benefit concert will be held in Rye, N. Y., Nov. 29. Philadelphia, Boston, and East Orange, New Jersey appearances are also scheduled.

Patronize

RECORD

Advertisers

NEED A RIDE TO ALBANY,
TROY, PITTSFIELD OR OTHER POINTS?

CALL

Vets Taxi

Telephone 729-W
24 HOUR SERVICE

Stay At The Worthy Inn
MANCHESTER, VERMONT
NOW OPEN YEAR 'ROUND 4-SEASON RESORT
Plan Autumn • Thanksgiving • Xmas • New Year's Holidays Here
FISHING • HUNTING • GOLF • RIDING • SKIING
190 Mi. From N. Y. C.; 130 Mi. From Boston
RATES $7 to $11 DAILY, AMER. PLAN
Write for Brochure "X" Phone Resv. Manchester (Vt.) 92

WE BUY AND SELL
USED AND NEW CLOTHING
SABIN'S
Corner HOLDEN and CENTER Streets
NORTH ADAMS Telephone 2398-M

D & D OFFICE
SERVICE
Let D & D Do Your
Typing For You
Leave material to be
typed at 85 Spring Street
next to the Alumni House
TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

Why wait until morning?
When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in . . .

The Transcript
North Adams, Mass.
On Sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newstands

(WALDEN)
THEATRE

SUNDAY and MONDAY

TIME OUT OF MIND

ELLA RAINES
PHYLLIS CALVERT

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY

LIFE WITH FATHER

WILLIAM POWELL
IRENE DUNNE

Special price for this engagement . . . $1.25 inc. tax

"Oscar! Get the Dentyne Chewing Gum—it's a date!"

"I'm way ahead of you, Pal—I asked for Dentyne Chewing Gum while you were still talking over the phone. Show me any date who doesn't fall for that clean-tasting, long-lasting Dentyne flavor! Dentyne's got everything! It even helps keep teeth white, too!"
Dentyne Gum—Made Only by Adams

KING'S PACKAGE STORE

BEER

WINES

CHAMPAGNE

Open Until 11 P.M.

In WALDEN Theater Building

Step up your face value..
*Step forth
with Seaforth!*

Add a plus to your
days and your dates...
enjoy the creamy-rich
luxury of a Seaforth
shave, the bracing
follow-up of Seaforth's
heather-fresh Lotion.

Try them—soon! These and other Seaforth essentials, packaged in handsome stoneware, only $1 each. Gift sets, $2 to $7.
Seaforth, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20.

IRENE'S Gift Shop

Williams
Plates

And

Williams
Trays

Other Useful Gifts

Under the Management of
MRS. IRENE KING

HAVING A PARTY?

The Square Deal Store

... fully stocked to supply
your needs in every line.

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC
LIQUOR and WINES

HOWARD MOON, Proprietor

Stop in at Williamstown's
Newest Shoe Store . . .

LUPO'S

Gives 24 hour Service on Shoe Repairing
AT THE END OF SPRING STREET

Williams Gridmen At Season's Best For Amherst

Regulars Return From Injury List To Battle Favored Jeffs next game, 13-7, but the Jeffs eked out a 7-6 victory over a powerful RPI team last Saturday.

None and Six
The Purple, on the other hand, is still looking for its first win. Playing its first two games away, the Ephs dropped contests to Middlebury, 19-7, and RPI, 40-0. Playing their third game before a home crowd, and with several key injuries, the Ephs nevertheless played a good game against Bowdoin, only to be beaten, 14-0, by their own fumbles.

Trinity ran up a 33-0 score against a by-this-time vastly injury-weakened Purple squad. Union then surprised the Ephs with a far better attack than was expected, and took that one, 14-0. Last Saturday, in mud, rain, and a driving wind, Williams threatened an undefeated-in-its-last-twelve-games Wesleyan team, but finally succumbed to a fourth period tally and a score of 12-6.

Further Facts
Comparative scores make Amherst a slight favorite. Both teams lost to Bowdoin, the Jeffs by 8-6, the Ephs by 14-0. Whereas RPI drubbed Williams, 40-0, Amherst took the Engineers by a scant 7-6 margin. Wesleyan took both teams, thwarting Amherst's scoring punch if not the ground attack, by 20-0, while struggling by the Purple with a one-touchdown triumph.

And in the history books Williams has a decided edge. The rivalry, which started in 1884, is one of the oldest in the country. This is the sixtieth meeting, Williams having won 35, Amherst, 20, with four deadlocks recorded.

Comparative Scores Deceiving
However, comparative scores and history, pre-game records and better's odds can all be tossed out the window for this one. For Amherst-Williams games there just is no comparison or test except in the actual playing of the game on a November afternoon. Injuries to both squads throughout the season, plus mental attitudes towards each game can not be expressed in touchdowns.

Head Coach "Whoop" Snively put it this way: "Amherst has been getting better every game. Their whole program is planned with the Williams game at the peak. A Little Three ball game is anybody's ball game. You never know how it will come out, but we know we've got the toughest game all year on our hands."

Nail On The Head
Whoop seemed to size up the situation pretty well. Dean Robert R. Brooks, in his two speeches at the pre-Bowdoin and pre-Union rallies, repeated this much emphasized axiom of football prediction by telling of his college days. Wesleyan lost to Amherst, 72-8, beat Williams, and then watched Williams topple Amherst. Comparative scores are little guide to game predictions.

What is known about Amherst is that the Jeffs have not got a one-man team. There are 11 men no one of them a star, who are spectacular only in their blocking, tackling, and playing together as a team. Coach Snively is right when he says that they have been improving through each game. He would also have been right if he had said the same thing about the Purple gridmen.

Low Hammond Sideline
Low Hammond, keystone of the passing attack, has been sidelined since the Bowdoin game with a shoulder separation, and will probably not play today. Still they have ten or a dozen backs, none of them outstanding, but who will probably all play. Captain Grant Ford, Jim Roush, Jack McKeon, Jim Howard, Ray Smith, Dave Gold, Sandy Keith, Nobby Nlenaber, Ray Murray, Frank Stisser, and Ned Barry will be the ball-toters. The Jeffs bemoan not having a breakaway threat, but with such depth it would not seem that they need one.

Their line has proved to be a group of hard-working consistent ball-players. Ed Kelly and Dave Traver play the ends with as-

See FOOTBALL, page 5

Undefeated Freshmen

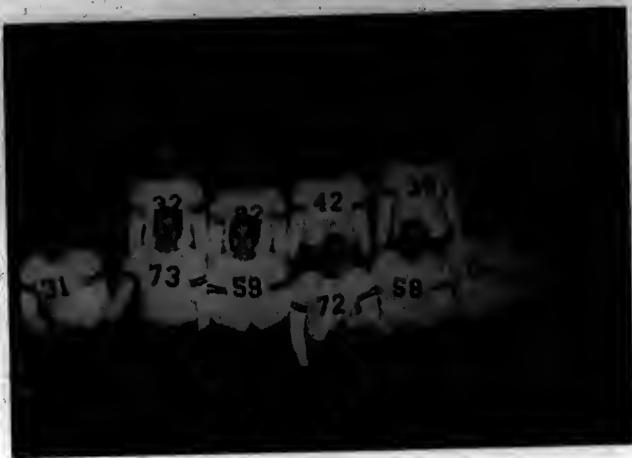

Photo By Henry Stone

Undefeated Freshman Team Claimed Best Since 1932 As Years' Record Viewed

by Steve Blascare

"The best freshman football team since 1932," says Jimmy MacArthur, about this year's frosh outfit. Certainly the teams' Little Three Championship, its undefeated record, and the fact that it rolled up 94 points to a mere 12 for the opponents bears out Jimmy's statement.

Captain Ernie Mierzejewski, for instance, has not only played a smashing game at guard, but also kicked ten extra points. He constantly backed up the opposition with his powerful kickoffs, which were more often than not followed by one of Ernie's equally powerful tackles. However, there was just as much talent at the other guard position where Al Bianchi operated. Al's experience, gained at Pittsfield High, showed up in every game and has led to an inevitable comparison with the great Ralph Renzi.

Bidgood Scores
At right tackle Milton Academy's Bronny Fargo threw the vital offensive blocks on the off tackle plays, which payed off with six touchdowns in the course of the season. 210 pound Skip Dunlap and the speedy Bob Geniesse effectively closed the left tackle slot. Ex-Andover captain Cary Bidgood showed that he belonged in a class with Dick Duden and Jim Carrington, his fellow alumni, not only by his stellar defensive play but also by his ability to score.

Since little yardage was or could be made through the middle, the opposition turned toward the ends. This was a mistake because in Dave Jackson, an ex-Fountain Valley captain and in Mitch Fish, a budding hockey star, Harv Potter unearthed two ends, whose defensive play definitely ended the myth that anything around the end is good for a first down against Williams. Mitch was also half of the Sperry-to-Fish passing combination, which not only rolled up considerable yardage, but also spread the opposing defense, thus setting up the quick opening line plays.

Manlius Contributes Three
Bill Sperry's part in this passing combination established him as an ideal T-quarter back, a fact which was borne out by his impressive field generalship. When Bill wasn't operating under the

Salesmen Of Spring Street Make Optimistic Predictions

Rudnick Betting

In accord with the RECORD's policy of presenting up to the minute news, we herewith submit the consensus of Spring Street merchants on the vital question of the outcome of the Williams-Amherst game. According to Spring Street opinion, Williams will beat Amherst, probably by one touchdown. Fourteen answers saw a coming Williams victory, one didn't know, while one doubtful character expressed concern over the team's ability to win.

Here are the answers received to the question: "Who will win and by what score?"

Cabe Prindle (Pool parlor proprietor and man about Williams for years) "We'll beat Amherst by a score of 14-7. These games used to bring a crowd of twelve thousand people. Yep, they had twelve thousand at that game in '42, but I bet they don't have more than five or six thousand at the game Saturday."

Cal King (Operator of theatre and other Spring Street enterprises) "I think Williams will take Amherst over, definitely. They'll win the game without a doubt. Ought to win by one touchdown."

T, the offense was run by diminutive Pete DeLisser. This Manlius alumnus put on an unforgettable exhibition of speed and trickery against Union when he crossed the goal line four of the five times he carried the ball.

The speed of Nichols, Fritz Zeller, and Pete Smythe's change of pace running from the right halfback slot kept the ball almost constantly in enemy territory, while Whit Fiske led the scoring parade from left halfback with seven touchdowns to his credit. "Hammering" Pete Fisher, still another Manlius product, played fullback for the first time, but his powerful plunging, his hard-hitting defensive play, and his punting lived up to both his father's performances and to the tradition of hard-hitting Williams fullbacks.

Phil Rudnick (Rudnick's Cleaners) "Williams will win definitely. In fact we're betting on Williams." Cy Rudnick (Rudnick's Cleaners) "You can say Rudnick is for Williams."

Ray Washburne (College Book Store) "13-6, Williams of course."

Mike Nicholas (College Restaurant) "Williams is gonna win. I'm a hunnert per cent sure. I'm a bet all my money on Williams."

Len (Gym Lunch) "Williams will win. I wouldn't presume to predict the score."

Bill (Gym Lunch) "I'll give Williams the nod by six points."

Williamstown Resident Overhearing question in Gym Lunch "The only game Williams will win is the high school."

Salvy Hopes For Crowd "Salvy" (M. Salvatore Shoe Store) "We haf 'a had tough luck right along, and I wish we win. I hope we get lots 'a people."

Claude (Bemis Store) "Certainly they're gonna win. They gatta win."

Jack Henderson (Williams Co-Op) "Jesus, you make it (a prediction) for me. I don't know what to say. It'll be an even game, they're pretty closely matched. I don't think Amherst is any better than we are."

Tom Walsh (House of Walsh) "I'll say an upset for Williams; score: 13-2."

"Whip" Perry (Gas station attendant and Spring St. inhabitant) "Williams will win. They'll take 'em 13-6. The boys are due."

Armand St. Pierre (Barber) "Sure, Williams ought to win. The less you say the better off you are."

Louis Bleau (Barber) "Williams is gonna win."

Barry Emmert (Stray Spring Street character, and incidentally Sports Editor of the Williams RECORD) "I still think the soccer team will out-score the football team."

Seth Bidwell (Found in a coffee cup at Mike's) "Naturally we'll win."

St. Pierre's Barbershop

HERE TO PLEASE
WILLIAMS MEN

Spring St. Williamstown

THE MUSIC HOUSE

RECORDS - RADIOS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
PIANOS

34 Bank St. N. A. Tel: 1570-W

PORTABLE
TYPEWRITER
HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corona

Underwood

Royal

Lamb's
STATIONERY STORE

108 Main Street
North Adams

WHERE TO GO

TO DINE and DANCE MUSIC AND FUN

Mill ON THE Moss

STEAKS . . . CHOPS
ROAST BEEF
GUEST ACCOMMODATIONS
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
8 miles south of Williamstown on Route 7

Twin Brooks welcomes the Alumni!
Cocktail Bar serving: Beer, Wine and Liquor
DINNER SERVED FROM 5 to 8
Private parties and dinners arranged by appointment only
TELEPHONE 554
8 Miles south of Williamstown on Route 7, New Ashford

FORT MASSACHUSETTS

THE PERFECT PLACE FOR A DELICIOUS DINNER WITH NEW ENGLAND CHARM AND ATMOSPHERE UNMATCHED ANYWHERE

Dinners served till 10:30; Cocktail Bar open 12 - 12;
And always a warm cheery fire blazing

On State Road, Between Williamstown and North Adams

Special Parties Accommodated --- Phone 770-W

The 1896 House

◆ Dancing and Soft
Music

◆ The Best in Wines
and Liquors

◆ Delicious Food

1 mile from town on the road to Pittsfield

THE SPRINGS

ROUTE 7 between WILLIAMSTOWN and PITTSFIELD
NEW ASHFORD, MASS.

Food you'll talk about

Approved Duncan Hines:
Adventures in Good Eating

Recommended in Gourmet's
Guide to Good Eating

COCKTAIL LOUNGE Tel. Williamstown 661-W2

The Merry-Go-Round

Where Williams Men are always welcome

DANCING 9 till 3
ENTERTAINMENT NIGHTLY

On Route 67 near Bennington --- Hoosick Falls 333-W

The Richmond Grill

ATTENTION ALUMNI: For quick service and fine food plan to come here
RICHMOND HOTEL, North Adams, Mass.

Purple Booters Seek Little Three Championship

Bullockmen Face Lord Jeffs In Evenly Matched Contest

Purple Team At Full Strength For Game, Played Here Today

Coach Ed Bullock expressed complete satisfaction with the performance of his soccer team in their 2-1 upset of the previously once-beaten Wesleyan combine last Saturday. Not resting on their newly-won laurels, however, the Eph booters are making every effort to polish their outfit. They have their eye on the victory over Amherst here today which will give them the Little Three Championship.

Bullock, convinced that he now has the best possible combination of players, is contemplating no changes in his starting line-up for the Amherst affair. He is particularly pleased with his inner trio of forwards. This involves Cy Mayshark at left inside, Larry Smith at center, and Frank Donnelly at right inside. "Frenchy" Oudin on the left and Barry Emmert at right wing comprise the remainder of the forward line.

Halfbacks Strong

The halfback line is as usual built around center-half Emmy Brown, who, since his conversion from right half, is fast earning consideration as the team's most valuable player. Johnny Bowen will flank him on the left, while George Kneass on the right rounds out a fine combination of offensive-defensive backs.

"Bump" Hadley and Jerry Page at right and left fullback will again get the nod for starting assignments. Their performance against Wesleyan was superb considering the unfavorable weather conditions. While Cardinal fullbacks were muffing kicks and even completely missing them, the Eph pair consistently drove the ball back to the Purple halfbacks and forwards with almost monotonous regularity.

Lunt Again Faces Jeffs

Captain Denny Lunt, having rid himself of several pounds of mud from Wesleyan, will again face his Jeff opponents from the goal. Amherst still blames its only defeat of last season (Williams 4, Amherst 3) to Lunt's phenomenal saves.

Perhaps no two teams are as evenly matched as are the Ephs and their opponents from the lowlands. Comparative scores indicate an ever-so-slight edge in favor of the home club, for although both clubs dropped encounters to the University of Massachusetts by one goal, the 1-1 Amherst-Wesleyan tie tips the scales in favor of the Ephs. But the Amherst-Williams rivalry alone usually eliminates discrepancies between teams and so the outcome of the contest remains a toss-up.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I have watched almost all the football games Williams has played over a period of five years, and Saturday's game at Wesleyan was one of the finest games a Williams eleven has ever played to my knowledge. Playing a team more powerful than they in adverse weather conditions, the Ephs outfought their opponents and gave Wesleyan the closest game they have had this year, much to the amazement of everyone. Enough said for the Williams team which played superbly.

Next, I would make a comment on the college in regard to "school spirit" which the RECORD is often quick to point at as highly inadequate. Despite the rainy weather, game time found over three hundred and fifty Williams men who had made the long trip to Middletown to root the team on. In spite of a torrential rain storm which flooded the stands and a driving wind which viciously lashed all hands, there was a full stand of Williams men at the opening play. At half time the storm increased yet the Williams rooters stayed in the stands, and by the last period there were MORE WILLIAMS ROOTERS THAN WESLEYAN BACKERS present to cheer, despite the fact that it was a Wesleyan reunion weekend. Further laurels should go to President and Mrs. Baxter and many members of the faculty who remained the entire game to support the team. Thus I would point to the fact that the college spirit is high as is its interest in the team.

In conclusion, I would say that despite our inauspicious record to date in the win and loss column, if the team plays as they played against Wesleyan, and the college continues their loyal support, I predict that Amherst will get one of the best drubbings in many a year this coming Saturday afternoon.

Respectfully,

James H. Stone '48

Football - - -

distance from Ros Billings and Dave Caldwell. Pete Morse, tipping the scales at 205, handles one tackle slot, while Beans Taylor and Bill Young alternate at the other. Bill Parsons, By Barnea, Walt Flower and Jim Fulton man the guard posts, and Fred Gardner, Gus Smithers, and Jeff Mealand battle it out for the center slot.

Purple Cow

Frank Todd, Dan Mahoney, Gene Detmer, and Bud Cool are the wingmen of this forward line. John Glancey, Hank Lukas, Marty Detmer, Tom Leous, and John Stillwell all switch off in manning the tackle positions. Captain Gene Murphy, Frog Salmon, and Jim Heekin play guard, while Jim Lyons and Tim Conway share duties at the pivot post.

In the backfield the injury problem, so prevalent a few weeks back, is somewhat alleviated now. Pat Higgins, Stu Duffield, Dick Whitney and Ted Quinlan may well be the starters. Other capable ball-carriers who will play are Bill Blanks, Vic Fuzak, Cliff Farmer and Dunc McDonald. Roy

Cook Named Cross-Country Captain Elect

Star Runner Picked To Head '48 Squad; Also Excels On Mat

At a meeting held prior to last week's Little Three meet, the varsity cross-country squad elected Paul Cook of Edgewood, Rhode Island to captain next year's team. "Cookie" has been an outstanding member of the squad for the past two seasons.

He is a junior and a member of the Garfield Club. Before entering Williams, he was graduated from Moses Brown School in Providence, where he captained the wrestling team and ran for the cross-country squad as a senior.

Mat Star

During the war, he was a Pfc in the Marines and was used as a prison guard. As one of the Purple wrestlers last winter, "Cookie" was runner up for the 128 lb. title in both the New England Intercollegiate and Amateurs. One of his biggest thrills came in his first official college bout when he defeated the 136 lb Canadian Intercollegiate champ at McGill.

On the spring track squad, he excelled as a two miler. The captain-elect has finished well in every harrier contest in the last two years, snaring third place in last fall's and fourth place in this season's Little Three meet, which brought the championship title to Williams, and produced an undefeated season for Coach Tony Plansky's Harriers.

Williams Inn

AFTER THE GAME . . .

Cocktails and Dinner

AT THE INN

(your Alumni headquarters)

Please make dinner reservations as early as possible.

TWO SEATINGS AT 6:15 and 7:30

STEELE and WILES GARAGE

Complete Automotive Service
BODY AND FENDER WORK
MOTOR OVERHAULING

TELEPHONE 499-M

41
Spring St.

Williamstown
Mass.

Newspapers Magazines
New Shipment Brier Pipes

The Bemis Store

REMINGTON
TYPEWRITERS

All Types Repaired

Fraternity and College
STATIONERY

For Comfortable Rooms

For Your Guests

Call

The Victorian Tourist Home

Mrs. Edward Dempsey

Telephone 254

256 West Main (next to Kappa Alpha)

The Haller Inn

"A Modern Inn With New England Charm"

American
or European Plan

Owner Manager
Frank Thoms '30

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

Here, in question and answer form, are some facts on the U. S. Air Force Aviation Cadet program. They cover details you may have been wondering about—and will be useful to you if you want to learn to fly and begin a career in one of today's fastest-moving fields.

1. Who is eligible for appointment to the Cadets?

You, if you're physically fit, single, between 20 and 26½ years old, and have completed at least one-half the requirements for a college degree from an accredited institution—or pass an equivalent examination.

2. How long does the training last—and what does it cover?

You receive approximately 52 weeks' training—worth $35,000—in primary, basic and advanced flying, along with other related courses designed to give you the finest background in your specialty.

3. What's the story on duty after graduation?

After successful completion of the course, you will be commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Officers Reserve Corps, and assigned to pilot duty with the U. S. Air Force at a starting monthly salary of $336 (including flight pay). You will serve on active duty for three years unless sooner relieved, and be eligible for $500 a year bonus for each year of active duty as a Reserve Officer. If you're interested in a Regular Air Force commission, you'll be given a chance to qualify.

4. What are the civilian career opportunities?

That's one you can answer for yourself by taking into consideration these facts: Contrary to what some people think, aviation is not overcrowded—for pilots or anyone else. No field is expanding more rapidly or offering more profitable openings to qualified men. After Aviation Cadet training, you can compete on an equal basis with any flier in the world.

These are only a few of the advantages. Why not stop in today at your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station and get all the details?

U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service

Jazz . . .

Hodes, Montana Taylor, Chippelle Hill, Baby Dodds, Lead Belly, Brownie McGhee, Pops Foster, Coot Grant, Kid Sox Wilson, Dan Burley, and Mama Price.

Proceeds To World Fund

Patrick Graney '49, chairman of the Chest Fund Drive, stated that the proceeds from the jazz concert would go to The World Student Service Fund. This fund, promised the largest single allocation of money collected in the forthcoming Chest Fund Drive, uses the money for overseas work as well as American student aid.

A "This Is Jazz" concert grossed more than $2,800 before 1500 persons at Dartmouth on October 17. After the Yale "This Is Jazz" concert, the Yale Daily News raved: "Hottest music concert in New Haven history." The New York appearance was equally as successful. Time Magazine said: "A solid Jazz concert!"

The date, time, and place for the "This Is Jazz" concert at Williams have not as yet been chosen although Chapin Hall will probably be picked as the place.

W C A . . .

of a series of annual conferences. These four associations can be a great help to each other, not only in athletics, but in the fields of scholastic and extracurricular activities," Spencer said. Five cabinet members from each organization and several interested students will attend the meetings.

Library . . .

done, more powerful bulbs will be used and the reflectors kept polished, Mr. Wright said.

U C . . .

lations Committee has been formed under the chairmanship of Robert A. Rupen '48 "to bring about an improvement in undergraduate relations."

Parking privileges in front of Jesup Hall, normally restricted to the faculty, will be extended to students attending meetings between 12:30 and 1 p.m. on week days.

N S A . . .

will have at least one delegate to the National Student Congress, the NSA's legislative body.

Halsted said that local contributions to the Association's aims will be mainly directed through the regional office in Boston. The objectives toward which the NSA will be devoting most of its attention are basically three-fold: an increase in educational opportunities and academic freedom, the sharing of information concerning student government with institutions lacking it, and the promotion of understanding among international youth groups.

MIT Acts As Clinic

At the regional gathering in October officers were elected for the northern New England section, and plans began to develop for carrying out the NSA program.

Rudolph . . .

and political spheres can be made.

He emphasizes that the traditional alternative of dissatisfied workingmen, migration to the open lands of the Far West, no longer excited; that by 1870 the MIT offered to act as a clinic for the promotion of student government, and Wellesley volunteered to manage the problem of foreign students in this region. Smith will handle the question of curricula reforms.

Halsted explained that withdrawal from the NSA is possible at any time the UC determines that Williams undergraduates no longer support the organization's policies. A national assessment of $79, a local assessment, and NSA traveling expenses will be paid by the UC. The money will be drawn from the student tax fund.

problem had become a purely localized affair.

Of major importance also was the formation of new classes of society which Mr. Rudolph describes as the result of the new economic principles and methods which arose in the post-Civil War period.

Use Chinese As Strikebreakers

His topical section depicts the method employed by a shoe manufacturer in North Adams to destroy the increasing union activity in this area. When his old hands went on strike the manufacturer imported 75 Chinese laborers from employment groups around San Francisco and locked them in the grounds of the factory in which were even the living quarters. This effectually broke the strength of the unions which had not the organization to combat such high-handed methods.

It is interesting to modern readers to learn that except for those immediately injured by the strike breaking, the public regarded the shoe-factory owner as a shrewd, determined American well within his rights. Only a handful of the more observant foresaw events to come, but their warnings that this was the beginning of the degradation of the workingman fell on deaf ears.

As Mr. Rudolph points out only the catastrophe of financial panic in 1873 and the desire of the shoe manufacturer in question to retire from business ended the problem of labor unrest temporarily. The seventy-five Chinamen who in 1870, as the author states in his first paragraph, comprised 20% of the Chinese population of the Mississippi River, dwindled to 5 in 1885—only small fraction of the Oriental population the east.

COUNTRY SHOP

WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

LAMPS

RUGS

FABRICS

GIFTS

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

On the Bennington Road just past Phi Gam

THE GYM LUNCH

We do our best to give prompt, friendly service and the kind of food
YOU like!!!

"Pick Your Winners"
FOOTBALL CONTEST

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Saturday.
2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.
3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.
4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

Saturday, November 22 Games

1 Case Narragansett Ale in cans: 1 Case Narragansett Beer in cans
KING'S PACKAGE STORE

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Columbia	vs.	Syracuse	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Duke	vs.	No. Carolina	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Fordham	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Michigan	vs.	Ohio State	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Minn.	vs.	Wisconsin	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Pittsburgh	vs.	Penn. State	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Univ. of So. Cal.	vs.	U. C. L. A.	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Alabama	vs.	L. S. U.	<input type="checkbox"/>

One Suit cleaned at RUDNICK'S

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Columbia	vs.	Syracuse	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Duke	vs.	No. Carolina	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Fordham	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Michigan	vs.	Ohio State	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Minn.	vs.	Wisconsin	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Pittsburgh	vs.	Penn. State	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Univ. of So. Cal.	vs.	U. C. L. A.	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Alabama	vs.	L. S. U.	<input type="checkbox"/>

"THERE'S ONLY ONE
CIGARETTE FOR ME...
MY FAVORITE
CHESTERFIELD"

Joan Bennett

MISS BENNETT IS AT HER BEST IN RKO RADIO'S CURRENT PICTURE
"THE WOMAN ON THE BEACH"

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

The sum-total of smoking pleasure

The Williams Record

VOL. LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1947

No. 14

Amherst Takes Purple Classic, 14-6

Reviewer Calls 'Beaux' Stratagem 'Enjoyable Comedy'

Sans Cap & Bells To George Do It?

by Charles Klensch
Friday night performance of the production of George Farquhar's "The Beaux' Stratagem" by the AMT last weekend was an enjoyable comedy, although Cap and Bells was much too inclined to George Do It".
Professor Allen indicated in his review (Record, November 14) that the play was a happy choice for its historical interest and because of its appeal to the audiences. These considerations should be the basis of the selection for the College group and the choice was especially relevant for the Amherst game-Alumni weekend. As mentioned in the historical interest of the play, this was a play fitted in with the mood of the weekend audience.

Fortune Hunters
Briefly, "The Beaux' Stratagem" is the story of two early eighteenth century gentlemen, who are seeking their fortunes in profitable marriages. Almwell falls in love, which does not come under the code of fortune hunting, as Archer sees it, but all turns out happily when Almwell falls into a title and Archer obtains the hand of a compatible worldling with a suitable dowry.
Howie Erskine, as Archer and Bernie Felch, as Scrub, the major-domo of the household the heroes who sustained their characterizations on a superior level. Archer intended, Mrs. Sullen, as played by Nancy Ross, had several amusing moments, but her performance was not consistent. With the exception of two or three minor parts, the rest of the cast had difficulty supporting the featured players.

Erskine As Archer
Howie Erskine is not a great actor, but in the part of Archer, a man you would like to see on your next weekend at Amherst. See BEAUX, page 4

Glee Club Travels For Series Opener

Friday evening the Glee Club travels to Providence for its first trip of the year, a joint performance with the Pembroke College Glee Club.

The fifty-nine members of the Glee Club, Director Robert G. Barrow, and accompanist Nathan Rindick will combine with the 100-voice Pembroke Glee Club in a program which features works by Bach, Haydn, Brahms, Mozart, Warlock, Gershwin, and others. Six hundred people are expected to attend this opening of the 1947-1948 Brown-Pembroke Concert Series.

Program
(not including Pembroke solo works)
Three choruses from the "Requiem" —Mozart
"Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" —Haydn
(from cantata "Sleepers, Wake") —J. S. Bach
Combined Glee Clubs
"Drinking Song" (from "Peasant Cantata") —J. S. Bach
"She Never Told Her Love" —Haydn
"My Johnny Was A Shoemaker" (Cornish folk-tune) —Arr. Deems Taylor
See GLEE CLUB, page 2

Bernie Felch as Scrub and Howie Erskine as Archer lift their tankards for Farquhar, for Cap and Bells, and for the "The Beaux' Stratagem's" funniest low comedy scene.

—Williams Photo Service Photo

Student Directors Cast One-Act Play

Howard Erskine Stars In Coward Comedy

Seven members of "The Beaux' Stratagem" cast will make a quick change in character when they start rehearsals Monday for the three student-directed one-act plays to be presented December five.

Howard Erskine '49, Joel Carr '48, H. Backland Roll '48, Richard Schwab '48, Audrey Barnes, Barbara Clonson, and Betty Dissell are among the twenty cast in roles Friday by Gerald O'Brien '49, Richard Marble '48, and Russell Bourne '50, student directors of the plays.
When the curtain rises on Noel Coward's "Ways and Means," Howard Erskine will be on the stage, in the leading role as Toby. Opposite him as Stella will be Leslie Smith, wife of Lawrence Smith '48.

Other members of the playbill announced by student director O'Brien include: Richard Heuer '50, Stevens; Theodore Lohrke '49, Murdoch; Charles Jarrett '49, Chapworth; Michael Casey, Assistant Director of the AMT, Gaston; See ONE-ACTERS, page 4

Professor Winch Pleased By Modernization Plans For Newer, Safer Physics Lab

The fifty year-old Physics Lab will be completely renovated with the first additions ever effected on the structure when President Baxter's multi-million dollar Building and Endowment Fund materializes.

Physics Professor Ralph P. Winch last Sunday enthusiastically revealed details of reduced fire hazards and greater convenience which will result from the additions. One part is to extend to the rear of the present building, while the other will project westward to join the Chemistry Lab.

Fire Dangers Reduced
The plans provide for large lecture rooms only on the first floor, so that in case of fire, "huge groups of students will not be trapped on upper stories," declared Dr. Winch.

Under the present setup, the one hundred-seat lecture room is

Concert By Octet Nets Fund $1500

Group To Give Series Of Benefits On Tour

The first in a series of benefit concerts by the pre-war Williams Octet in Chapin Hall Saturday night added approximately $1500 to the Building and Endowment Fund, according to Henry N. Flynt '47, Octet manager.

The 800 students, visiting alumni and guests in the audience heard a program of musical comedy numbers of Kern, Hammerstein, Porter, Rogers and Hart and Gershwin, and song favorites of the early nineteen-hundreds.

Distortion By Chapin
Undergraduate Octet leader Wallace Barnes '49, commented that the concert was "excellently done," but pointed out that Chapin Hall is poor acoustically compared to the Adams Memorial Theatre. Barnes said that this condition distorted some of the fine individual notes in a few of the numbers, especially in the rear of the Hall. He felt that this effect was evident in the Lawrence-Hunke piano duets, and congratulated Lawrence Smith '48, on his fine solo work.

Mr. Charles B. Hall '15, chairman of the Building and Endowment Fund, called the concert as a "wonderful affair," showing great skill on the part of the performers. The reception of the Octet's singing indicated that Williams people like that sort of entertainment, and that the road tour should be a success.

First Concert In Rye
Mrs. James P. Baxter, III, said she felt the concert was "wonderful." She said that she had never heard better Williams singing, and that the "delicacy and spark of the thing was outstanding, with the group working as a definite unit."

The Octet, accompanied by Helen Clayton, will present the first concert of its road tour in behalf of the Building and Endowment Fund in Rye, N. Y., November 29.

Because of a conflict with the Harvard Hasty Pudding show in Cincinnati December 26, and in Chicago the following day, these two appearances have been rescheduled. Philadelphia and East Orange, N. J., will be visited on the December dates instead. The group will appear in Boston January 24, and will be in Cincinnati April 9, and Chicago April 10.

on the second floor, so that in the event of fire, students would have to file through a window and down a fire escape, one by one. "With flames lapping at their heels, this would be painfully slow," the Physics Department head asserted.

More Convenience Planned
Supply rooms will be situated in more accessible positions between labs and lecture rooms where they will be needed. For example the electric and electronics labs will have their supplies, which do not differ greatly, stored in a room adjoining each lab.
At present there is only one lecture room in the entire building, making it difficult for many classes to receive proper demonstrations at times when one would best fit into each course. With another such room as included in the plans, confusions of this sort

See PHYSICS, page 4

Jeffs Trounce Hard-Fighting Eph Eleven With Touchdowns In First, Third Quarters

Left end Dan Mahoney leaps for a pass on the Amherst goal line, but the Jeffs, determined not to let Williams score a second time by air, knocked this one down.

—Williams Photo Service Photo

Morrill Says WMS To Operate 'Soon'

Dramatic Tryouts Begin This Week

In spite of continued delays as a result of difficulties with the college power system and missing parts, WMS president Dewitt Morrill '48 stated that casting for acting parts will be held sometime this week.

In a statement to the Record, Morrill said: "The opening date is getting so close that we can't predict it. Except for the difficulties with the power system and parts, the station is ready to operate. We'll be able to solve these problems in the very near future, but I can't say exactly when."

Power Problem
"Unsound studio circuits must be modernized and renovated. In addition, under the new carrier-wave system whereby the station will broadcast over local power lines, plans call for a line to join the College power system to the studio. Both jobs will be done by the College electrician, but he hasn't decided where or how the work will be done."

"The studio unit itself is complete. Among improvements that have been made are a new control unit, a studio inter-communication system, an FM-AM tuner and a new turntable. The station now has four microphone channels in one studio and two in the other. This will allow rehearsing and broadcasting at the same time. Morrill also said that the new system will bring about a "tremendous increase in fidelity."

New Programs
"Ann Jones, wife of student See WMS, page 4

Placement Bureau Schedule For Week

Mr. William O. Wyckoff, Director of the College Placement Bureau, announced the following job interviews to be held next week for seniors. On Thursday, November 20, Mr. Weaver of the Prudential Insurance Company of Newark will be here to interview those interested in administrative work at the home office. The jobs pay $55 a week "plus."

Friday Mr. Marquardt will interview students for places with the Ford Motor Company at Dearborn, Michigan, as automotive industry trainees. Salaries of $250 a month are offered.

Legal Careers Discouraged By Law Dean

"My purpose is to prevent as many as possible of you from entering the law practice," Paul Shipman Andrews, Dean of the Syracuse University Law College, told twenty-five undergraduates interested in law careers last Thursday evening in the first of a series of Placement Bureau guidance talks.

Dean Andrews made a short introductory talk. Following this William H. Doughty, Jr., Professor of Political Science Emeritus, made a few additions. The meeting was then thrown open to general discussion.

Dean Andrews stated that contrary to general belief the law profession is not a lucrative one. He believes that the determining factor in choosing a career should not be the financial rewards derived from it, but the enjoyment one gets out of it. In his estimation the law profession is a good vocation for those "who find intellectual work interesting, get a kick out of helping others, and who are very unhappy unless they can get the rock-bottom answer to a problem."

Professor Doughty said, "A law course fits the student for more fields than any other graduate course." Consisting primarily of library work and writing briefs, it teaches students to think straight and to use careful expression. See LAW DEAN, page 2

Cash Problem Hits Jazz-Fest Plans

Negotiations for the WCA sponsored appearance of Rudi Blesh and his company of famous jazzmen in the "This Is Jazz" concert have hit a snag, J. David Maier '48, publicity director, said Sunday.

Mr. Blesh, nationally-known jazz critic and columnist for the New York Herald Tribune, asked for a $1250 minimum guarantee plus 50% of the gate receipts above that amount.

"Although the quality of their performance warrants the price, it is doubtful whether the seating capacity of Chapin Hall is large enough to assure a profit without charging prohibitory prices," Maier said.

Efforts are still being made to arrange for the appearance of the Blesh jazz-men, and Maier hopes that further negotiations will result in a more practical agreement.

Duffield - Higgins Pass Clicks For TD

by Russ Frost

After battling Amherst all over Weston Field Saturday, the Williams eleven dropped a heart-breaker to its old rival, 14-6. A capacity crowd watched the 62nd meeting in this historic series and thrilled with excitement as the Purple rose to the occasion with its best game of the season.

Pat Higgins, playing his last college game, shared honors with Stu Duffield for outstanding performance for the Purple. It was Higgins who snared Duffield's long pass in the first period and completed a 73 yard touchdown play. Between them they accounted for the bulk of Williams' gains on the ground and through the air.

Grant Ford and Ray Smith carried the mail for Amherst with Ford scoring both touchdowns.

Purple Pulls Aerial Attack

The defeat Saturday climaxed Williams' most unsuccessful season, no wins and seven losses. But going in as the under-dog, the Purple unleashed an aerial attack that came very close to pulling an upset. Completing nine out of 21 pass attempts Williams kept Amherst off balance for most of the game. Twice they just missed completing forwards for certain scores.

Amherst tried only six passes in the whole game, making good on just one of them. But in Ford, Smith, and Nienaber they had a strong running attack hard to stop. Ford scored from the 11 yard line in the first three minutes of play after Amherst had recovered a Williams fumble on the Eph 35.

Jeffs Outgain Williams on Ground
It looked like a fairly even battle with both teams getting inside the opponent's 20 yard line four times. But Amherst had the edge in first downs and ground gained. Taking the longer route over the ground, Amherst piled up 16 first downs to Williams' 9. Unofficial figures show that Amherst gained 300 yards, all over the ground. Williams gained only 88 on the ground, and 146 through the air for a total of 234.

The punting on both sides was good. Smith of Amherst got one off from his own 10 which rolled over 70 yards to the Williams 18. Quinlan, not to be outdone, backed Amherst down to their 3 yard line with a 55 yard punt in the last quarter.

First Quarter

Amherst kicked off, Duffield running it up to the W 35. Duffield carried the ball on a run to right and fumbled. Al Keith of Amherst recovered on the W32. Grant Ford and Bob Nienaber alternated on running plays over the right side and picked up two first downs. Ford crashed over the right side from the W11 for the first score of the game. Hastings Morse, tackle, made the conversion, score 7-0.

Williams fumbled the kickoff and Amherst recovered on their own 48. Jim Roush fumbled on a reverse and Williams recovered on their own 32. Quinlan, back in kick formation, passed out to Higgins on the W30 who ran it 40 yards to the A35. Duffield took to the air, completed to Detmer and another was incomplete in the end zone. Trapped on his next try, he ran up to the A10 for a first down. Three running plays netted 4 yards, and when Duffield's pass was knocked down Amherst took over.

After two running plays, Ray See FOOTBALL, page 3

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
CHARLES H. KLENSCH, '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 Copy Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager
Make-up Editor for this issue Robert Taylor '49

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Charles R. Fetter, '48 H. Russell Platt, '48
Peter M. Thexton, '48 John H. Schafer, '48

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

William R. Barney, Jr., '49 Russell B. Frost, '49
Seth M. Bidwell, '49 Edwin Kuh, '49
Jerry J. Cole, '49 J. Edward Pawlick, '49
Joseph F. Darsey, '49 R. S. Taylor, '49

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers Edward L. Stackhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Oren T. Pollock, '49

EDITORIAL STAFF

S. F. Blaschke, '50 E. V. Gouinlock, '50 W. P. Stern, '50
K. V. X. Delany, '50 R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50 P. W. Stites, '49
W. V. M. Fawcett, Jr., '50 H. D. Mahring, '50 C. E. Utley, '49
R. Fawle, '50 D. T. Roach, '50 H. Van Horne, '50
J. B. Gibson, '50 S. Rabinowitz, '50 N. S. Wood, '50
J. G. Golding, '50 J. B. Shepardsan, '50

BUSINESS STAFF

R. P. Klapman, '49 T. H. Lichtenfels, '50 J. S. Prescott, '50
P. C. Graney, '49 M. J. Murray, '50 B. M. Sapiro, '48
R. A. LeCount, '49 J. M. Reid, '49 A. R. Shay, '50
R. B. Stallworth, '48

ART BOARD

Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Felch, '48

VOL. LXI

NOVEMBER 19, 1947

14

Letters To The Editor

Hail The Emperor!

November 18th, 1947

To The Editor of THE WILLIAMS RECORD:

On Monday night people were turned away from a capacity house at the Adams Memorial Theatre when the Lecture Committee showed "The Emperor Jones" as the first in a projected series of exceptional films for the college community. Despite the miserable visual and sound projection of antiquated and inadequate equipment, and a twenty five minute break in the showing occasioned by a faulty tube in the projector, every seat was occupied when the performance was resumed. Publicity had been meager.

Almost every department of the college wants and needs facilities to expand its teaching capacities with sound movies and other modern audio-visual aids. Historical, cultural, scientific and foreign language films are readily available, and required to make the facilities of this college adequate to today's educational necessities and opportunities.

The more than capacity audience gathered from this and surrounding campuses and communities, despite the competition of other activities, demands that the college take action to procure at once the necessary equipment for the regular showing of sound films under the direction of the various departments, the theatre, the Lecture Committee, and similar organizations.

Respectfully yours,
(signed) Paul R. Barstow

Weston Field Again

To the Editor:

There is no doubt that the RECORD has a valid point in criticizing the rest rooms at Weston Field. The immediacy of the need for proper sanitation facilities was demonstrated last Saturday. Due to undesirable and inadequate conditions in the men's room, a row of Williams Alumni, Students, and Amherst men "commuted" with nature under the open bleachers adjacent to the baseball stands. This situation is unpleasant, unclean and illegal. It is poor publicity and poor hospitality.

(Signed) L. Tupler

Glee Club - - -

"My Lovely Celia" George Munro

Two songs from "Porgy and Bess"

—Gershwin

1. "Summertime"

2. "Promised Land"

Williams College Glee Club

"Just As The Tide Was Flowing"

(Eng. folk-tune)

—Arr. Ralph Vaughan Williams

"Ballad of a Soldier" (Eng. Christmas carol)

—Peter Warlock

"Chorus of Homage" —Brahms

Combined Glee Clubs

Tickets to the concert may be obtained through Professor Arlan Coolidge, Department of Music, Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island.

The Glee Club will make the trip by private automobiles, stay overnight at Brown, and return to Williamstown Sunday morning. Following the concert, the Pembroke Glee Club has planned a dance for the Williams group.

Calendar

THURSDAY, Evening:

IRC - 3 Griffin - 7:30 p.m.

Adelphi Union-3 Griffin-8 p.m.

FRIDAY, Evening:

Debate with RPI - Griffin -

8:30 p.m. - Subject: "Is National Socialism Compatible with Democracy?"

SATURDAY

Warnings due!

Law Dean - - -

pression in order to prevent misunderstandings. In answer to a question both Dean Andrews and Professor Doughty said that they thought that a course in law was excellent preparation for anyone planning to enter the business field.

There is no such thing as the legal mind, according to Dean Andrews. He added, however, that this does not mean that there are not strict qualifications which the law school candidate must meet. In fact, about five out of six applicants are culled out by the entrance tests at Syracuse. The law schools want men with not only a good record but also a broad cultural background, for as Dean Andrews puts it, "We want to turn out lawyers not licensed legal mechanics."

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

I suppose it had to come sooner or later. I have been investigated by Hon. J. Parnell Thomas and his Un-American Activities Committee. Having gotten John Howard Lawson and all other suspicious Williams men out of the way, the Committee was forced to choose between me and Ella Kazan for the next pot at which to take shots. I came out just an abdomen's length ahead of Ella.

Thus it was that I received a large white envelope which was so expensive looking that anyone would know that it had been bought by the sweat of the brow of many a tax-collector. At first I thought that it was a note from Lillibet. "She's remembered those heavenly hours on the Riviera," I thought, "and is inviting me to her wedding." But instead of a command from the Lord Chamberlain, I found this stiff vellum card:

Hon. John Parnell Thomas (Rep., N. J.) demands the honour of your presence at the Committee for the Investigation of Un-American Activities' hearing of
Josiah T. S. Horton on Thursday the thirteenth of November at half after ten o'clock
R. I. P.

It was such an unexpected quirk of fate that I — simple little Josie Horton — should be invited to be investigated by Hon. John and the boys in the House! I immediately packed my loudest sport shirts and my upswep tortoise-shell spectacles in my Gladstone and caught the next train for the District.

On Thursday I swept up to the Capitol in a Yellow Cab. All Washington had heard that I was to testify, so the streets were thronged with a man selling filthy postcards and prepared speeches about the defense of the capitalist system. I climbed the steps to the Capitol and entered the committee room. A big policeman shackled me to a chair until my time came to testify. And that time finally came!

Dapper Joe

Right on cue I entered the jammed committee room wearing my dapper red white and blue chalk-stripe with an American flag pinned over my left stomach where my heart should have been. I sauntered jauntily to the witness stand bowing right and left — no, only right — to the many people who stood booling.

I maneuvered my profile magnificently amidst the flash and pop of flash bulbs. I stole every single picture from Rep. Thomas until he pushed me bodily into the background and mugged a few himself. Humming a few bars of "God Bless the Republican Party", Chairman Thomas rapped for order, and a guard swore me in. "Good luck, Comrade," he said, slipping me the old Party grip.

Horton Male

With statesmanlike precision, Mr. Thomas fired the first question at me. My rapid well-oiled thinking apparatus went into instant action, and in less than two minutes I came out with the proper answer — "Male". Boos and one scattered cheer ending in a scream of anguish were heard. All I had to worry about was keeping up the terrific pace with which the questioning had begun.

To add to my savoir faire, I lighted a Pall Mall and settled back in my chair twirling where there would have been a mustache if I had had a mustache. I was ready for anything. I got everything.

In answer to the query, "Do you attend Williams College?", I gave a long and brilliant gem of rhetoric which in substance said, "Yes."

The next question, of course, concerned my subversive activities on campus. I readily admitted to listening to Shostakovich in the secrecy of my room at night. And I pleaded guilty to their charge that I had once started to read "War and Peace". The day was saved for me on that score when my place-mark revealed that I hadn't been able to get beyond the list of characters in the front.

Cum Grano Salis

The interrogation finally arrived at the subject dearest to my heart. "Is it true that you write a column called Cum Grano Salis?" I was asked. I admitted it grudgingly.

"Isn't that a foreign language title?" said Thomas.

"Latin," I said in a masterpiece of rebuttal.

"Latin, schmatin," quoth the Chairman, "they're all the same. Why don't you use a good American title?"

That was a toughie. In fact I couldn't think of a satisfactory comeback, so I mumbled something about Latin's being better than Russian. It's all there in the committee reports if you're really interested. Anyway, at the mention of the word "Russia" people all about me jumped up and started waving their fists and shouting horrible things like "New Dealer" and "Liberal". One person in the back began to sing the "Internationale" and pass out literature urging Americans to join the sixth Comintern.

Red Threat Removed

I sustained only an injury to my hand when it was struck by the gavel as I hurried behind Rep. Thomas for protection. In due time, order was restored and the Communist in the back of the room had been put away so he couldn't cause any more trouble. Then the attention returned to me again as I sat — newly composed — on the witness stand.

I crossed my legs and waited for the next question. It was the last one I got to answer. "Are you a Communist?" I was asked. I knew what was expected of me. I glanced distainfully around at the news-reel cameras grinding away, and the reporters with their pencils poised, and the people glaring expectantly I cleared my throat and gulped a shot of vodka. Chairman Thomas asked the question again.

Snappy Answer

Then suddenly something within me snapped. I said, "Yes." An atomic silence fell over the place. This lasted for several minutes while I sat there buffing my nails on my jacket. Then a low muttering swept through the crowd. They had been cheated. The rotten tomatoes they had brought would have to wait to be thrown next day at someone else. I had ruined their fun by capitulating too soon.

Mr. Thomas rapped for order and glared at me.

"It is perfectly clear," he said, "that you are following the usual line. And it is perfectly clear that it is the Communist line!"

I assured him that he was mistaken, but amid hoots from the audience, he began to berate my action.

"What are we to do with all this evidence?" he asked, showing me lists of party members and facsimiles of my Party membership card.

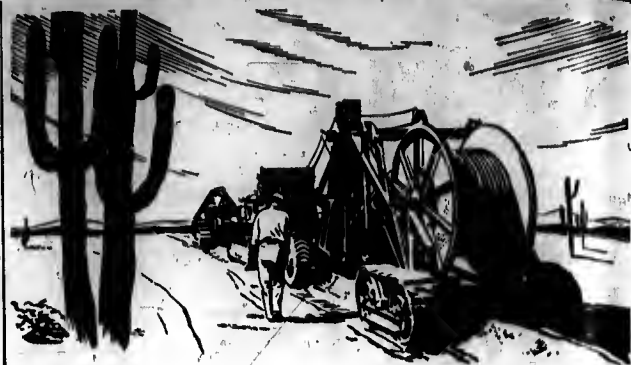

I told him what he could do with all his evidence, and I still insisted that I was a Communist.

"Aren't you going to blast us about freedom of speech?" I was asked.

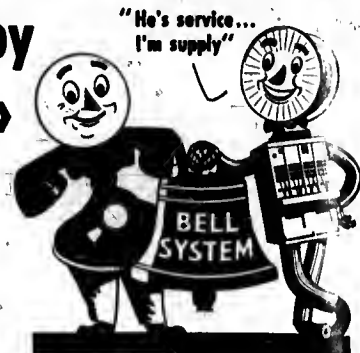

"I don't believe in it, I'm a Communist," was my ready answer, and I twirled my imaginary mustache.

This was indeed too much for poor J. P. who rapped feebly with his gavel and gasped, "Are you willing to name names of your fellow-travelers at Williams?"

So I named everyone from Mrs. Baxter to Mike Robbins and produced fake membership cards to prove it. I named names all right. The Committee was quite astounded. I venture to say that I am the only avowed Communist in the entire list of people investigated. So the affair ended and I was conducted back to my Yellow Cab and wished goodspeed by all present. And I returned — able to continue my reactionary outpourings at Williams — safe in the knowledge that I am a Communist in the sight of Washington.

Building new telephone lines for you takes well planned teamwork by these two »

Behind this giant plow train, burying a new transcontinental telephone cable, there's a story of typical teamwork by Western Electric in helping the Bell Telephone Companies to give you faster, even better service.

As the supply member of the Bell Telephone team, Western Electric is producing the coaxial cable which can carry 1800 telephone messages at once — can transmit television network programs, too. Complex machines — designed by Western Electric engineers — are turning out this cable mile after mile to keep the plow trains pushing forward on schedule.

Ever since 1882, Western Electric has been an integral part of Bell Telephone service — helping to make it the world's best at the lowest possible cost.

Western Electric

A UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM SINCE 1882

IF YOU LIKE SCOTCH PLAID, LAD...

and who doesn't?

Have a look at Arrow's bonny new assortment of
TARTAN SPORTS SHIRTS.

Medium weight, warm and rugged, these smartly styled sports shirts come in 12 different dazzling plaids.

Button-down flap pockets and smooth fitting Arrow collars on every shirt!

See your favorite Arrow dealer for Arrow sports shirts

P. S. Send for your FREE copy of "The What, When & Wear of Men's Clothing" today — a handy guide for men who like to dress wisely and well. Address: College Dept., Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., New York 16, N. Y.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

Ephs Bow 3-1, As Jeff Booters Win Little Three

Booters Lose Contest With Amherst, 3-1

Defeat Costs Ephmen Little Three Crown

Ephs Fail To Click

Sabrinias Tally Twice In Opening Quarter

by Wally Stern
Amherst's two goals in the opening period proved too much for the Ephs to overcome, as the Williams soccer team dropped a 3-1 decision to the Lord Jeffs. This was the last game of the season and was played Saturday morning on Cole Field.

In this game, which decided the Little Three Championship, the Ephs fought together two apparently evenly matched teams. After the Ephs' 2-1 victory over Wesleyan, the Lord Jeffs had tied, and Williams was in a position to win the title if they could get by Amherst. However, after the Sabrinias scored their two goals in the opening period, they were never headed, and earned a clear-cut victory over the Ephmen. They had better control of the ball, their passing was better, and for the most part, they beat the home team to the ball.

Amherst Scores

Amherst started fast, with inside-right Eaton scoring four minutes after the game began, after some nice passing by the Sabrinias. A forward line had worked the ball into the goal-mouth. The Jeffs continued to dominate the play and three-quarters of the way through the period scored again as outside-left Donati crossed the ball in front of the goal and outside-right Park pushed a shot past Captain Denny Lunt. Amherst almost scored again at the end of the quarter on a free kick, but Lunt made a nice stop to prevent the score.

There was no scoring in the second quarter, but Amherst continued to monopolize the play. The Jeff fullbacks, together with the half-backs, presented a defense which the Eph line could not crack. Every time the Purple forwards attempted to work the ball in, it was driven back by the defense, and the home team failed to get many shots at the goal.

Emmert Scores

The third period opened with the Lord Jeffs enjoying a 2-0 lead, but Williams fought back. Barry Emmert cut in from his wing position, and drove the ball into the Amherst net after a pile-up in front of the goal, about two-thirds of the way through the period. This put Williams back into the game, with a quarter still left to play.

As the fourth quarter began, the play speeded up, and Williams began to click for the first time. They carried the play down into Amherst territory, and kept pushing in, but could not score. But after one quick break by Amherst, the Jeff line caught the Eph fullbacks out of position and got off a clear shot at the goal which missed. The Amherst forward line swept in on a second fast break. However, and this time converted. The goal put the visitors ahead 3-1 and put the game on ice. The Ephmen could not cut down the lead, and the game ended with the score standing at 3-1, in favor of Amherst.

No Substitutes

The team that started for Williams went the whole way. The inner trio of forwards, Cy Mayshark, Larry Smith, and Frank Donnelly, who had looked very good the previous week against Wesleyan, never could get going. Frenchy Oudin and Barry Emmert at the wings also had trouble getting the ball into scoring range. Emmy Brown again played a fine game at center-half, with Johnny Bowen and George Kneass working the other half-back spots. Jerry Page and "Bump" Hadley at fullbacks cleared the ball nicely on several occasions, but were

Skaters Begin Practice Trips

Travel To Springfield In weekly Workouts

The hockey team is making about one trip per week to the Springfield Hockey Club, where practice sessions can be held regardless of weather conditions. By these efforts the team hopes to avoid the disastrous results of last season's late start.

The squad, under the direction of Captain Charley Huntington, who will coach, pending the return of Coach Whoop Snively from gridiron commitments, has traveled to Springfield twice thus far. Thirty-four men made the first trip, but hour tests cut that number to twenty-five on the second excursion. All expenses, including the rink rental, are being paid by the players, who have expressed the opinion that since practice is needed, the only sure way to get it before the schedule begins is to go out, secure a rink, and skate.

Team Intact

Last winter the team waited for cold weather to freeze over Cole Pond and finished the season with two wins against seven losses. But Snively is fortunate in that last year's squad returns practically intact—Chuck Coleman being the only man lost through graduation.

During the Christmas vacation the hockey team will practice in Buffalo with expenses being paid by the joint alumni of Williams and Dartmouth. The Williams representative of this group in Buffalo is Bill Baird, '29. Exhibition games are scheduled with Dartmouth, Princeton, and Colgate.

On January 10 the Purple's first officially scheduled contest is Union at their rink. Other scheduled opponents include Hamilton, Middlebury, St. Lawrence, Harvard, Dartmouth, Yale, Army, and the last rival, Princeton on March 1.

caught out of position on the Lord Jeff's fast breaks. Denny Lunt, in the goal, stopped potential Amherst scores with nice saves.

The team ends the season with a 3-4 record. After winning the opener easily, they dropped the next three games, and then came

See BOOTERS, page 4

Pat Higgins Carries The Mail

Pat Higgins (99) gains yardage with the help of Marty Deimer (98).

Jeffs Victorious Over Ephs In 14 - 6 Struggle; Williams Tallies On Pass By Duffield

(Continued from page 1)

Smith dropped back in the end zone and punted down to the W18. Duffield ran once then faded back to his own 15 and passed to Higgins in midfield. Higgins galloped up the left sidelines 45 yards for a touchdown. He failed to convert and Amherst led 7-6.

Second Quarter

Ford made a first down on the opening play, got another one two plays later up to the W25. Higgins nailed McKeon for a five yard loss and Williams took over on downs three plays later.

Williams held Amherst in midfield and Smith kicked out of bounds on the W26. Higgins made a first down on the W42. Duffield gained up to the 50 yd line when on fourth down a snap from center got away and Amherst recovered on the W35. Held for three downs Barry of Amherst tossed a left handed pass into the end zone and Williams just managed to knock it down.

Third Quarter

Ford of Amherst returned Glancy's kickoff to the A34. Two plays later Capt. Murphy of Williams recovered Nienaber's fumble on the A10. Farmer gained a yard to right, Quinlan's pass was incomplete, then Duffield in kick formation passed to Farmer for 8 yards.

Duffield couldn't make first down through center and Amherst took over.

Gold of Amherst ran a naked reverse up to the 15. Ford went over the left side to the W9. Then the Williams line held them solid for no gain.

Quinlan kicked out to the 35. On a pitch out to the right, Smith got down to the 6 where Quinlan made the tackle. Dick Simon and Ed Barry of Amherst pushed down to the 1 yard line and Ford bucked across for the tally. Morse made the kick and Amherst led, 14-6.

Fourth Quarter

Smith had to kick from his own 46 to Farmer who slipped on his own 27. Duffield picked up a first down through a big hole over right tackle. On the next play Williams was penalized 15 yards for roughness back to their 22. Quinlan punted on third down to the A30. Frank Stisser fumbled with Murphy making the recovery.

Keith of Amherst stopped Whitney on a run to right for loss of a yard. A long pass from Higgins to Mahoney was incomplete. Another pass from center got away for a loss of 17 yards. Quinlan made a wonderful punt which rolled and stopped dead on the A2. Smith punted

J V Soccer Defeats Jeffs

J V's Win Little Three Bohner Scores Goal

Art Bohner's long arching shot in the last period, broke a scoreless deadlock, and gave the Williams Jayvees a 1-0 victory over Amherst. The win brought the Little Three title to the Ephmen in the team's final game of the season played at Amherst last Friday.

Although Williams dominated the play most of the game and missed several scoring opportunities when shots went high or wide, they could not register a goal until Bohner's score. His shot was taken from the sideline, about half way out, and traveled over the goalie's head. After taking this one-goal lead, the Ephmen kept pressing, and almost countered again on some nice centers by Pete Andrews and Rick Fowle, but could not score again.

Fresh Line

Coach Hank Flynt alternated two lines, keeping fresh forwards in all the time. Jim Brydon, Pete Andrews and Jack Griggs formed one combination, while Bill Burke, Chuck Blakney and Ford Wright formed the second inner trio, which had scored both the goals against Wesleyan the previous week. Rick Fowle played the entire game at outside-left, while Bud Bardes and Bill Mikell alternated at outside-right. The halfbacks, sparked by Bohner and center-half Sam Gentles played a fine game, forcing the play most of the time and keeping Williams in possession of the ball. Fullbacks Tom Edwards and Benny Read uncorked some long kicks, with Edwards almost scoring on one shot.

The Jayvees thus ended the season with a 3-1 record, including victories over Wesleyan and Amherst, and the Little Three Championship. They have had only one goal scored against them all year; their only defeat was a 1-0 overtime decision to the varsity of New England College. The game at Amherst was followed by a banquet at Hadley, Mass., given by Coach Flynt.

back to his 36. Quinlan was nailed for 5 yard loss by Bill Parsons. Farmer just missed holding a touchdown pass from Duffield right on the goal line.

Jeff Champs Down Phi Deltas, 12 - 10

Chi Phi's Squeeze Win From Eph Football Intramural Titlist

Last Saturday the Phi Deltas, Williams intramural champions, were downed 12-10 by the Chi Phis, top fraternity squad of Amherst. The Deltas had gained their title by trouncing the Betes for their league championship and flattening the Garfield Club, the powerhouse in the other league.

In their game at Amherst with the Sabrinias champs for the inter-college title, the Ephmen seemed to be on their way to one of their usual wins. On the opening play Don LeSage slipped out as a sleeper, escaped the notice of the Lord Jeffs, snared an aerial from Bill Downes, and raced over for a touchdown. But Amherst refused to knuckle under and soon tied the score at six all.

At the beginning of the second period the Phi Deltas' offense backfired. As they went into their usual basketball tactics upon receiving the kickoff, the Deltas had the discouraging experience of seeing a Chi Phi snare one of their aeriels and return it for a TD. The Williams champions did their best to make up the six-point deficit, but the Sabrinias held them to a pair of safetys.

The Phi Deltas went to Amherst with a perfect record. They had won their league title by easily defeating the hitherto unbeaten Betes on Nov. 18. The Bete match was one-sided all the way. Although the rainy weather and the slippery field slowed the action considerably, the Phi Delt scoring punch was still there. They hammered across two TD's, one in the first period, the other midway through the second.

The Phi Deltas hadn't experienced much difficulty in downing the Clubmen either, consistently outplaying them to the tune of 12-0. The Deltas' basketball offense went well in the first half, during which Chuck Goodell tallied twice for the winners. However, in the second stanza, the game bogged down as the New England darkness set in, and neither team was able to score.

Take Notice of this Record! ★ ★ ★

... It's Joe Mooney's latest Decca disk—
"Lazy Countryside"

Joe Mooney

Here's another great record!

More people are smoking
CAMELS
than ever before

I know from experience
CAMELS
suit me best!

MAYBE you've heard other good disks of this tune—but that was before Joe Mooney waxed it. His record is a standout. Another record that stands out is the record of Camel cigarettes. More men and women are smoking Camels than ever before!

You'll find the answer in your "T-Zone" (T for Taste and T for Throat). Try Camels. Discover why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience."

R. J. REYNOLDS TOB. CO.
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

TURKISH & DOMESTIC BLEND CIGARETTES

Beaux - - -

Vassar—glib, witty, and sexually attractive—he does a craftsman-like job.

Bernie Felch created some splendid buffoonery for his role as the never-silent butler. His Scollay Square comedy part, as the saying is, was played to the hilt.

Nancy Ross, as Mrs. Sullen, was somewhat like the girl with the curl in the middle of her forehead. Her gestures made and unmade her role in disconcerting succession. Her entrance at the beginning of the second part of the play was thrilling. She entered from upstage center with superb dignity, bowed to the stage boxes,—then, when she started to speak, the mood was shattered by extravagant arm-waving.

Almwell and Dorinda

Tim Mann, playing Almwell, was at his best, as the romantic foil to the cynical fortune hunter, Archer, early in Part I. The role is limited by the playwright, but Tim lost his enthusiasm for the part after these scenes with Archer.

Audrey Barnes, as Dorinda, was disappointing. Her tenseness, except in brief flashes, completely inhibited her charm and caused her to miss lines and cues. Joel Carr and Dick Schwab did commendable jobs in their minor roles as the French priest with the brogue and the sotted squire, Sullen.

Constance Holt played Lady Bountiful with maturity too rarely seen in characterizations of young people playing old. Bake Roll did a good job as the stuffy messenger of the Gods, Sir Charles Freeman. Josephine Miser, as the barmaid with ambition, Cherry, was good in spots, but not consistent.

Cut In Two parts

For this production, the play was divided into two parts of eight scenes and five, rather than the traditional five-act division. This was intended to help maintain the rapid tempo required in this type of comedy.

This mechanical device was not enough to keep the play from being rather dull in the beginning. When Archer was not on stage the action dragged. Even when he was on stage he had difficulty carrying the rest of the cast behind him. There was too little playing to each other among the characters. Pauses between speeches were overruled. There was not enough waiting for laughs and several choice post-Restoration gags were lost in the uproar.

First Part Drags

The play was divided into two parts of eleven scenes and two for the audience. The first eleven scenes were too often tedious exposition and complication part with occasional sparkies—such as the drinking scene between Scrub and Archer. In the last two scenes the pace finally caught up with the drama and the spectators and Farquhar got a break.

Folgard, the French priest (Joel Carr), Dorinda (Audrey Barnes), and Almwell (Tim Mann) playing "Is You Is, Or Is You Ain't My Baby" in the final scene of "The Beaux' Stratagem". —WPS Photo

The second part begins in the thirteenth scene with the dueling episode in Mrs. Sullen's bedroom. Given a chance to rush about the stage, rather than insinuate and posture the cast carried off the last two scenes on their shoulders.

The stylized version of the post-Restoration stage was well conceived. The spectator boxes, as the program notes indicated, helped recapture the eighteenth century atmosphere.

The set design displayed in the AMT drama library was a good planning job, but the painted set suffered in the paint shop. Much of the lavish quality which the designer wished to project was lost in the strictly two-dimensional quality of the finished scenery.

The first production this fall of the AMT under new direction was enjoyable even though it was not as highly polished. When the new Cap and Bells team has worked out together in another production or two, we may expect some fine evenings of theatre.

Intramural Football Standings

Team	Won	Lost	Tied
PDT	7	0	0
BTP	6	1	0
KA	3	2	0
SAINT	3	3	0
PSK	3	4	0
CP	2	3	0
ZP	1	6	0
PU	0	6	0
GC	5	1	1
DU	3	1	3
AD	4	2	0
D Phi	3	2	1
TDC	3	3	1
DKE	1	3	1
PGD	1	4	1
SP	0	4	2

Physics - - -

will no longer occur.

Astronomy Department Included

Included in these additions of some 8000 square feet of floor area is room for astronomy classrooms, labs, storerooms and offices. "The campus used to be the astronomy lab," said Winch, "Which meant that inquisitive passers-by were forever wanting to look through the telescope."

The roof of the rear addition will be an observatory, which will open out from the third story of the present building. On that floor will also be included an astronomy lab and instrument store rooms. The part of that floor extending to the Chemistry Building will house two new freshman physics labs.

Building Date Unknown

Professor Winch refused to speculate on how soon ground would be broken for the proposed expansion, because "that depends

One-Acters - - -

and Lydia Hewat, Olive. Betty Dissell will play Elena and Barbara Closson, Nanny in the supporting feminine parts. Both had minor parts in last weekend's play.

Several members of the cast will travel to Boston to see "Ways and Means" when it opens there next week.

Audrey Barnes, Dorinda in "The Beaux' Stratagem," plays the lead as Columbine in "Aria da Capo" by Edna St. Vincent Millay. Dominick Dunne '49, John Day '50, and Richard Schwab have been selected by director Richard Marble to play the well-known characters of Pierrot, Corydon, and Thyrsis, respectively. Schwab played the debauched Sullen in the "Beaux." The masque of Tragedy will be H. Baekland Roll, who will make a quick changeover from the role of Sir Charles Freeman.

In Tennessee Williams' "Portrait of A Madonna," Mrs. Clarence Chaffee will play the lead part of Miss Collins. Joel Carr, the French priest in "The Beaux' Stratagem," is the Elevator Boy. The Porter will be played by John Lasell '50. Supporting roles include John Day '50, as the Doctor, Andrew Heineman '50, as Mr. Abrams, and Susan Geler as the Nurse. Russell Bourne will direct the play.

on the generosity of the alumni, the students and the public."

He did surmise that once started, construction and renovation could be completed in less than two years. "The actual additions," he said, "might be built and fitted out while classes are in progress, but the renovation of our present space would have to be done during summer vacations."

W M S - - -

Bob Jones '50, will be the featured vocalist on "the Campus Hit Parade" which will also include the Johnny Davis orchestra. The program will be heard either Thursday or Friday night.

"Willie Hope, the balladier, who made such a hit at the Garfield Club Houseparty celebration will be heard Wednesday night at 9:15. The Inter-fraternity Sing contest in December will be heard Thursdays from 10-10:30 p.m.

"Also planned are an inter-fraternity quiz program and a faculty-student version of "Information Please".

Booters - - -

back to win the next two, with victories over Clark University and a powerful Wesleyan team. The loss to Amherst dropped the season average below the .500 mark.

The 1896 House

- ◆ Dancing and Soft Music
- ◆ The Best in Wines and Liquors
- ◆ Delicious Food

1 mile from town on the road to Pittsfield

College men

who set the pace...

Step forth with Seaforth!

Enjoy the lavish lather of Seaforth Shaving Soap, the heather-fresh exhilaration of Seaforth Lotion. Try them—soon!

These and other Seaforth essentials...

each packaged in handsome stoneware, only $1. Gift sets, $2 to $7. Seaforth, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20, N.Y.

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

D & D OFFICE SERVICE

Let D & D Do Your Typing For You
Leave material to be typed at 85 Spring Street next to the Alumni House
TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

FAIRFIELDS FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

Ford
WINTER LUBRICANTS

will

- Provide thorough lubrication for all parts even during the very coldest weather.

- Make your car ride better and steer easier.

- Help avoid excessive wear that results in expensive repairs.

Bring Your Car
"Back Home" to us for
Winter Lubrication
The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

WALDEN THEATRE

THURSDAY

"DARK DELUSION"

Starring
LIONEL BARRYMORE
JAMES CRAIG
LUCILLE BREMER

FRIDAY SATURDAY

"WILD HARVEST"

Starring
ALAN LADD
ROBERT PRESTON
LLOYD NOLAN

SUNDAY and MONDAY

"DARK PASSAGE"

with
HUMPHREY BOGART

"Pick Your Winners" FOOTBALL CONTEST

1. All slips must be turned into the store that runs the contest by 1 p.m., Saturday.
2. In case of duplicate winners, the first slip with the top percentage will be regarded as the winner. Merchants will please number slips according to time received.
3. Only one entry is allowed per person per store.
4. Slips must be presented in person with name printed on slips. Winners will be announced in the next issue of the Record.

Saturday, November 22 Games

One Williams Beer Mug or One Picture Framed at BASTIEN'S

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Columbia	vs.	Syracuse	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Duke	vs.	No. Carolina	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Fordham	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Michigan	vs.	Ohio State	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Minn.	vs.	Wisconsin	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Pittsburgh	vs.	Penn. State	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Univ. of So. Cal.	vs.	U. C. L. A.	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Alabama	vs.	L. S. U.	<input type="checkbox"/>

One Shirt at THE WILLIAMS CO-OP

1. <input type="checkbox"/>	Columbia	vs.	Syracuse	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. <input type="checkbox"/>	Dartmouth	vs.	Princeton	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. <input type="checkbox"/>	Duke	vs.	No. Carolina	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. <input type="checkbox"/>	Harvard	vs.	Yale	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. <input type="checkbox"/>	Holy Cross	vs.	Fordham	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. <input type="checkbox"/>	Michigan	vs.	Ohio State	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. <input type="checkbox"/>	Minn.	vs.	Wisconsin	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. <input type="checkbox"/>	Pittsburgh	vs.	Penn. State	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. <input type="checkbox"/>	Univ. of So. Cal.	vs.	U. C. L. A.	<input type="checkbox"/>
10. <input type="checkbox"/>	Alabama	vs.	L. S. U.	<input type="checkbox"/>

WE BUY AND SELL
USED AND NEW CLOTHING
Tuxedos for rent
SABIN'S

Corner HOLDEN and CENTER Streets
NORTH ADAMS Telephone 2398-M

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in . . .

The Transcript
North Adams, Mass.

On Sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newstands

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL: 498-R

WILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED

ROUTE 2

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

REMEMBER . . .

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

When in New York for a weekend
Enjoy this favorite meeting
place of Williams Men

Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

Student Groups Ask For A M T Projection Equipment

Old Projector Breaks Down During 'Jones'

Lecture Comm. Backs Cap & Bells, SAC, Moves

The Student Activities Council and Cap and Bells acted this week to obtain suitable projection equipment for the Adams Memorial Theatre, after the obsolete, fifteen-year-old College projector broke down in the middle of the Lecture Committee showing of "Emperor Jones" Monday night before a capacity audience in the AMT.

The malfunctioning sound transmission system of the antiquated machine stopped working altogether in the middle of the film, and it took a thirty-minute intermission to patch the machine together.

SAC Passes Resolution

Tuesday night the SAC unanimously passed a resolution "strongly urging President Baxter to get new projection equipment at once", and recommending Undergraduate Council action on the matter. At their Wednesday afternoon meeting, Cap and Bells made a similar resolution.

Paul Barstow '48, chairman of the Lecture Committee in a statement to the Record said, "The remarkable turnout for this first film of our projected series emphatically demands that better projection facilities be provided by the College. More important than this, however, is the need for new equipment for the benefit of various academic departments which would like to use films for direct educational work."

Barstow's comments were echoed by one faculty member as he left the AMT after the film was shown: "The film was fine, but must we contend with an inadequate projector each time? It's time we had a workable machine."

Beaux Tour To Pittsfield

Entertainment Gentlemen View Women Voters

The Beaux' "Stratagem" went on the road for a one-night stand Tuesday evening, playing before a capacity crowd of three hundred at the Berkshire Museum in Pittsfield.

According to Cap and Bells business manager Ted Lohrke '49, Pittsfield's comedy, sponsored by the Pittsfield League of Women Voters, was received "enthusiastically" and Cap and Bells has been asked to return again with future productions.

Lohrke said that the production was hampered by technical difficulties but these seemed to pass unnoticed by the audience. The stage was about one third as big as the AMT stage and the lighting arrangements were poor. He added that the property department had difficulties also, since much of the scenery had to be propped against the wall. The spectator boxes had to be eliminated, but the "eighteenth century theatre goers" were seated in the audience.

Before the play, members of the cast and stage crew were entertained by the League of Women Voters with a turkey dinner at the home of one of the members.

Fire Rages In Veterans Barracks No. 1

$2500 Damage To Jones Apartment In Thursday Blaze

A fire, which started about 8 a. m. Thursday morning, gutted the Latham Street barracks apartment of veteran couple Ann and Robert Jones '49 and caused an estimated $2500 personal loss. No estimate of damage to the College-owned barracks could be obtained Thursday from Grounds and Buildings Superintendent Perry Medley.

According to Fire Chief Thomas Welch, a faulty electrical connection in the toaster or refrigerator was probably the cause of the blaze.

Stevenson Finds Fire

The fire was discovered by John Stevenson '50, who lives with his wife, Margella, in the apartment under the Jones'. Stevenson told the Record that he heard the buzzing of what sounded like a short circuit from the Jones apartment between 8:00 and 8:05 a. m.

He said he ran upstairs to inform the Jones'. Receiving no answer to his knock — the Jones' were at an 8 o'clock class — he opened the door and was met by a blast of hot air, smoke, and flame. He slammed the door, ran down stairs, and spread the alarm to the neighbors.

Iceman Sounds Alarm

About the same time, iceman Cliff Geroux saw smoke pouring from the barracks and notified the telephone exchange.

Twenty volunteer fire fighters of the Gale Hose Company, with two fire engines, led by Chief Welch, hurried to the barracks and quickly brought the blaze under control. In less than half an hour after it started, the fire was practically extinguished. No firemen were injured, but Chief Welch was confined to bed Thursday afternoon with smoke poisoning.

$2,500 Damage

"Our living room and kitchen furnishings were entirely destroyed," stated Jones, estimating the damage at $2500. "The furnishings, clothes, and books are insured," he added, "but it will be hard to replace two year's worth of pre-med notes."

Smoke and water damage also made uninhabitable the apartments of the Stevensons, Milzi and Edmund Ridell '48, Janet

See FIRE, page 4

Most Fraternities Ignore Truman's Voluntary Rationing

Photo by Williams Photo Service

Russ Platt and Ed Pawlick eat meat Tuesday, despite the President's voluntary food-rationing plan and the Gym Lunch's attempt to deny meat to their customers without losing all of their Tuesday trade.

Fund To Modernize Entire Biology Dept., Says Cole

by John Shepardson

Sorely needed space, a 165-seat lecture room, and a laboratory for the Psychology Department, are but a few of the features of the proposed $375,000 Biology Lab addition, which will make possible an expanded curriculum, according to Professor Elbert C. Cole, head of the Biology Department.

Second on the list of projects to be provided by the $2,500,000 Building and Endowment Fund, the addition will add 50% more usable space to the present building. "Not only will this give us more room," said Dr. Cole, "but it will provide us with a building that is adaptable to changing conditions."

Major Course To Reappear

Not mentioning any new courses specifically, Dr. Cole did, however, emphasize the hoped-for reappearance of the 19-20 course, on the "missing" list during and since the War. The senior major course, Biology 19-20, integrated all which the students had learned in their undergraduate years, giving them a comprehensive view of the field of biology.

Honors work will be resumed on a larger scale than before the War. A large seminar room is to be provided for the meetings of honors students, as well as for evening meetings of Biology 19-20 where student written papers will be read and "bombarded by the other students."

Large Lecture Hall Planned

The west wing of the new structure will house a lecture hall seating 165 people. "The college has long needed a lecture room of this size," declared the biology head. There will be a separate entrance from the outside, so that other college activities may be held in the room when it is not being used for biology classes.

The Psychology Department will be located on the basement floor of the new building. The plans provide for a laboratory for that department, which has long been without one. Four other new labs

See 'BUG LAB', page 4

Chi Psi Takes Hockey Match

by Pete Stiles

A powerful Chi Psi eleven piled up an impressive 5-2 win over an overrated Bennington College field hockey squad Wednesday afternoon on the Bennington field, while piling up an even more impressive stack of empty beer cans behind their goal. The Chi Psi Featherheads were donned in the prescribed uniform of the day: work clothes and colorful miniature sombreros with long feathers.

First Half

The first quarter started fast with Buzzy "Doctor" Neave of the Featherheads shooting in a neat goal. The B'towners retaliated quickly to tie the score 1-1. The spectators went wild when the entire Chi Psi team mobbed the opposing goalie, Ann Chatfield, in an attempt to score. Although the ball did enter the goal, the Bennington referee ruled out the goal because the goalie felt the ground in the struggle.

Fraser Scores

Chi Psi spirit enabled the Featherheads to score twice in the second quarter. Although Bennington sent in heavy replacements, Jack Fraser managed to slip in the two Chi Psi tallies. As the second quarter ended, Chi Psi was ahead, 3-1.

During the second half, several

See FIELD HOCKEY, page 4

Christians Meet Today

Representatives of the Little Three colleges and Bowdoin will attend the first meeting of the weekend Student Christian Movement Conference on mutual problems Saturday afternoon at 4:30 in the lounge of the Garfield Club.

Six delegates from Amherst will be present at the conference. Bowdoin, Wesleyan and Williams will each be represented by five students. General discussions on marriage and religion courses in colleges and similar questions will be under consideration.

Three Sessions To Be Held

The weekend conference will be broken into three sessions. The first meeting of the delegates will be Saturday afternoon at 4:30 in the Garfield Club Lounge. The second will be held Saturday evening at 7:30. The meeting Sunday at 10 a. m. will close the conference.

Edson Spencer '48, Student Christian Movement representative on the WCA Cabinet, said some fraternity houses might be used for the discussions as well as the Garfield Club. William Wiemer, an official in the Student Christian Movement headquarters in Boston, will act as adviser to the conference.

Ten Houses, Restaurants, Do Not Comply

Restaurant Men Say Public Against Plan; Foresee Little Savings

by Edward Pawlick

Approximately 70% of the fraternities and restaurants in Williamstown are ignoring "meatless Tuesday" under President Harry S. Truman's voluntary rationing plan, and only a few are following his eggless Thursday program, a Record survey this week revealed. Ten social units served meat last Tuesday night. The 1896 House and the College Restaurant both served a meat course, while the Williams Inn and the Gym Lunch both eliminated it from their menu. However, the Gym Lunch did serve hamburgers and other meat dishes if a customer insisted upon it.

House Waiting For UC

A spokesman for one fraternity recalled that his house had discussed voluntary rationing following the President's message. It was decided then that the house would take no steps unless the Undergraduate Council took a stand on the voluntary rationing program.

Mike, of the College Restaurant, summed up the opinions of the non-participants when he said, "On Tuesday they eat double orders of eggs, and on Thursdays they take double orders of meat. What's the saving?"

96 Customers Want Meat

The manager of the 1896 House, Hal Reder, said that his customers wanted meat and he had to satisfy them. They telephone to find out if he is going to have meat before they reserve a table for Tuesday night. He pointed out that meat, particularly beef, is just starting to get plentiful and that the 1896 House will have only two more Tuesdays before it closes for the winter, anyway.

Gus Bridgeman, owner of the Gym Lunch agreed that most people were not solidly behind the program. Although he hasn't had meat on his menu for the past month, he has been forced to serve hamburgers or lose some of his trade.

Meatless Day Losses Customers He cited restaurants in Pittsfield which observed meatless Tuesday the first few weeks, but lost so many customers that they were finally forced to put meat back on their menu.

The Gym Lunch does serve eggs on Thursday morning, but they try to persuade the customers to

See MEATLESS, page 4

Potter Entertains Freshmen Squad

Coach Harvey Potter entertained the Freshman Football Squad with a buffet supper at his home last week, in celebration of the team's first undefeated season in eight years.

Following the supper, Captain Ernest J. Mierjewski expressed the players' appreciation for the coaching aid which they had received and announced that gold cigarette cases have been ordered for Coaches Potter and Bobby Coombs, and trainer Ken Rogers, which will be presented as soon as they are received.

After thanking the squad, Coach Potter said, "I hope you boys will continue your football and maintain this wonderful record during the next three years."

U C Amends Constitution

Proposes Panel For Vocational Guidance

Two amendments to the Undergraduate Council Constitution, and a proposed vocational guidance panel to be held during a two-week period after Christmas, were the principal topics discussed at the UC meeting Monday night. Seventeen first bids were turned in under the post-season rushing program, and Robert A. Rupen '48, gave a report on the Amherst fraternity situation.

Bradley B. Hammond '48, announced that he had received a second letter and a phone call from the Berkshire Hills School in Great Barrington. He said that they "desperately needed" sixty Williams men for a dance from 8-12 p. m. Saturday night.

Amendments

Under the first amendment to the constitution, the president of the Senior Class can not be elected head of the UC, since it is felt that he is too busy with his other duties to handle the job.

Members of the UC will now be the only ones eligible to be elected.

See UC, page 4

Review Praises Purple Cow For 'Coherence, Balance'

by Bob Taylor

The editors of the Purple Cow tried in this issue, to achieve some coherency in the material which they chose to print. The magazine is almost entirely humorous this month, and much better balanced than in the past. Also, there is some quite pleasant writing in it, but, alas, still too much that is almost incredibly bad.

The first two articles, "Ruminations" and "Corrective Concupiscence," are easily the worst. The author of "Ruminations" entirely conceals what he's talking about until the latter half of the article. Twice he steps completely out of his vague context, first to mention Gelette Burgess, then to take a dig at Cow reviewers. By the time he reveals the thread of continuity, no one cares much about it.

Clapsaddle Criticized

"Corrective Concupiscence" is written by a man who desires to be known as Prof. Adam Clapsaddle. He never tells us why. The piece may best be criticized by quoting its third sentence—a microcosm of Purple Cow transgression:

"The faculty meets less formally on an average of twice weekly, but the most noteworthy achievement directly resultant from these meetings was the determination to thoroughly confuse things by offering a compulsory session."

Grammar Criticized

There is, in this blurb, a contradiction in tense, a split infinitive, and a misused preposition (should be "resultant of"). Also, something which is "compulsory" cannot very well be "offered," and the author never defines a "compulsory session."

Later in the story, the tone is established, and the style picks up, but the whole effect is that of a dirty joke which isn't very funny.

Sondheim Not Criticized

Much pleasanter are the other frothy bits in the magazine. In "The Pall Runneth Over" Steve Sondheim really takes the bull by the shovel in a parody of a Record review of the Cow and provides a presentable number of chuckles. "End As A Boy," by J. T. S. Horton is neither his best

See COW, page 2

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J. DAVID MAIER, '48 Editor-in-Chief
CHARLES H. KLENSCH, '48 Managing Editor
BARRETT F. EMMERT, '48 Sports Editor
ROBERT A. RUPEN, '48 Copy Editor
JOSIAH T. S. HORTON, '48 Senior Associate Editor
BEN B. FOSTER, II, '48 Office Manager
Make-up Editor for this issue Joseph Dorsey '49

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

Charles R. Fetter, '48 H. Russell Platt, '48
Peter M. Thexton, '48 John H. Schofer, '48

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

William R. Barney, Jr., '49 Russell B. Frost, '49
Seth M. Bidwell, '49 Edwin Kuh, '49
Jerry J. Cole, '49 J. Edward Pawlick, '49
Joseph F. Dorsey, '49 R. S. Taylor, '49

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers Edward L. Stackhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Oren T. Pollock, '49

EDITORIAL STAFF

S. F. Blaschke, '50 E. V. Gouinlock, '50 W. P. Stern, '50
K. V. X. Delany, '50 R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50 P. W. Stites, '49
W. V. M. Fawcett, Jr., '50 H. D. Mohring, '50 C. E. Utley, '49
R. Fowle, '50 D. T. Roach, '50 H. Van Horne, '50
J. B. Gibson, '50 S. Rabinowitz, '50 N. S. Wood, '50
J. G. Golding, '50 J. B. Shepardson, '50

BUSINESS STAFF

R. P. Klopman, '49 T. H. Lichtenfels, '50 J. S. Prescott, '50
P. C. Graney, '49 M. J. Murray, '50 B. M. Sapiro, '48
R. A. LeCount, '49 J. M. Reid, '49 A. R. Shay, '50
R. B. Stollworth, '48

ART BOARD

Art Editor Sheldon N. Ripley, '48
Cartoonist Bernard J. Felch, '48

VOL. LXI

NOVEMBER 22, 1947

15

Purple Cow

The Cow has been praised! Not very highly, it is true. But it may mark a new trend in Record reviewing. Can you imagine this paper's reviewers praising student productions? This has happened rarely before, and even this faint praise must be seized upon as possibly foretelling a new era of constructive journalism.

Meatless?

What did you have for supper Tuesday night?

Save meat, save wheat, and save the peace, is the slogan we are supposedly operating under these days. Mr. Luckman's efforts are an attempt to make effective voluntary restriction of meat and wheat consumption. The effectiveness of this voluntary restriction plays a large part in determining whether or not, and to what extent, legal controls will be necessary.

There is a great aversion on this campus to such control, but it cannot be avoided if voluntary restriction does not work. And when ten social units serve meat on meatless Tuesday, it is obvious that the volunteer method has failed.

EAT LESS

Mr. Truman's address to Congress Monday called for imposition of controls on basic items. Senator Taft challenged the Truman analysis, and has previously been quoted as saying, "eat less." Meatless Tuesday is a test, and he who eats meat on Tuesday, and yells against controls as anti-democratic on Wednesday, is being mightily inconsistent.

Controls or not, the Europeans are hungry and their starvation can be staved off only by what this country sends to feed them. Meatless Tuesday contributes some food to Europe. Will next Tuesday be meatless? We'll see.

Cow - - -

nor his worst, although it is every bit as good as the novel of nearly the same name.

"Ears and the Man," a whimsical little thing by Albert Schenck is not particularly original, but it is quietly funny in the Dahl tradition. Edwin Perrin's "Secrets of Successful Criticism" is cleverly handled, with several very good spots. "Phinney's Phairway" is a fairly amusing commentary on the Chapin Hall driveway.

Undoubtedly the Cow's most successful piece is Russel Bourne's poem, "The Hunt." The form and content are skillfully planned and combined, and Bourne makes his point very effective, both emotionally and rationally.

Pete Criticized

The biggest fault with "The Golden Rule," by Philo Wilson, is that the author doesn't tell enough about Pete, the main character. The first half of the story is all about Jim, whom the reader gets to know quite well. Pete doesn't emerge until the very end, when he commits the deed which provides the climax of the story. Then he becomes a simple, good-sport-hero. Up to this time he has seemed rather sly. This hazy catharsis without motivation detracts from the story impact. Aside from that, "The Golden Rule" makes enjoyable, leisurely reading.

"Statement of Charges," by Richard P. Green, is a rather unsatisfactory story in juvenile aviation fiction style; the reader simply doesn't give a damn. The viewpoint character is a distinct heel who, through his own heedlessness, accidentally kills someone, and then blames it on a number of other people, feeling no real remorse himself. In fact, there isn't any "feeling", any emotional value, in the story at all.

Parker '51 Criticized

The cartoon-jokes are satisfactory, particularly those by Winthrop Tuttle and the one by Schmublius on page 20. A horribly macabre person named Parker '51 also did a couple of things which are all right, if you have an antediluvian sense of humor.

The whole effect of this month's Cow is not as depressing as reviewers would have us believe the past Cows have been. By relaxing its literary pretensions and concentrating on humor, the magazine probably has a better chance of being what the campus wants.

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

10 January, 1947 will live in infamy. It was on that infamous day and in this infamous column that first appeared the T. S. Confusion Method of Winning at Bridge. Immediately after its first appearance in the public print, chaotic conditions prevailed. Several people were interviewed on the subject of its probable effect on the post-war world.

Senator Robert A. Taft (Rep., O.) is said to have said, "This is a Red plot to overthrow representative American government for which we fought in '38!" And Professor Frederick L. Schumann (Rad., Mass.) is said to have said, "This is undoubtedly and without any semblance of reasonable and unobjectionable feeling of doubt, a contrivance of those who bear fascistic battle against representative American government which was so hopefully gained under the heavenly years of the New Deal. He must be crazy or he wouldn't have come here!"

Many people have asked that the original column be reprinted in order that those who fortunately missed it may suffer with the rest of us. I not only shall comply, but I'll even give you a new augmented version which is even more confusing than the original!

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

(Excerpts from the soon-to-appear volume How to Win at Bridge with the T. S. Confusion Method written by a very dear friend of ours.)

Do you win bridge prizes? Is your dwelling crowded with books telling you how to have fun with your bridge? Do folks shun you because you cannot bid a Blackwood small slam in no-trump from a club convention? Don't you know any better than to lead the fourth high in your longest and strongest suit?

If your answer to these queries is, "Well yes and no" or "Take a long broom, T. S." the following few pearls are for you, dear reader. The T. S. Confusion Method of Winning at Bridge is a sure-fire system developed by dint of long sieges at being a snoozing dummy whilst my hapless partner perspired out the seven spades doubled, redoubled, and vulnerable bid I had gotten him into.

Try This On Your Bridge Table

This little illustrative game will probably explain the system pretty well. It is a friendly match played in the autumn of 1937 at what later came to be known as the Blackguard Convention. My partner was the erstwhile Madame Olivia P. Whortle. (If you don't know Madame Whortle, ask an upperclassman. She is a p-lady who used to appear in this space quite frequently—a very likeable old pat.) Our opponents were Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson.

Many people have wondered what drove Ely Culbertson to become a political expert. Until the autumn of '37, he was the greatest bridge expert of this country. Since then, he may at least claim to be an expert still on political matters. But let us not hear a single peep about his bridge-playing.

Being South, I dealt the mess, and the fall was extremely fortunate. Look:

NORTH (Mme. Whortle)

S: A A K 9 4 2
H: J 10 7
D: A K Q J
C: - - -

WEST (Mr. Culbertson)

S: 3
H: A K 9 8 6 5
D: 6 5 3
C: 4 3 2

EAST (Mrs. Culbertson)

S: 5
H: Q 3 2
D: 10 9 8 7
C: A K Q J 10

SOUTH (T. S.)

S: A Q J 10 8 7 6
H: - - -
D: 4 2
C: 9 8 7 6 5

(The use of two extra aces is not absolutely necessary in a successful use of the T. S. Confusion Method. The stakes were so high in this game that I felt it worthwhile. Purely optional.)

As dealer, I opened the bidding—employing, of course, a green eye-shade and the T. S. Confusion Method—with a bid of three hearts. I deduced cleverly from my own void in that suit and the rather constipated expression on Culbertson's face, that my bid had had the desired effect. Not knowing what to bid, since I had taken his suit from him (not literally of course), Old Ely passed with a sigh of desperation which was rather warming to the cockles of my conniving heart. (My heart has two cockles.)

Still making use of the T. S. Method, Mme. Olivia bid four clubs. This bid was an answer in Whortle's void-suit to my heart bid. It completely fouled Mrs. Culbertson, and—oh joy unrefined—in a move of sheer confusion, she made a bid of five spades.

That was playing right into my eager young hand, and it was with trembling voice that I made my next bid—a wily pass simply fraught with significance. Ely, thinking that Mrs. C. was in possession of—how is it you Americans say?—a mittful of spades, bid seven of them which is a grand slam in any man's language. And mine, too.

Whortle Chortles

Mme. Whortle gleefully doubled on the strength of her spades, and Mrs. Culbertson, who had begun to feel a confused confidence, redoubled. The remainder of the game is history. Naturally, we completely skunked them.

Olivia now began a series of beautifully stupefying moves as my partner. She first looked furtively around and said, "I really don't know what to lead." In our secret code (this code book will appear later) this meant, "I am going to lead a heart." She did, and I trumped it. And so it went—we dabbled in hearts for a while, and then played around with clubs. When all the Culbertson's high clubs and hearts were gone, the game was ours! At ten cents a point, it kept us in pin money for several months.

So, kiddies, next time the Bid-Em-Hi Club meets, astound your little friends with the newest thing in bridge technique this side of the infernal regions. You Too Can Win at Bridge with the T. S. Confusion Method!

Basic Bridge

The basic idea is to keep your opponent confused, while you remain cool and calm, and collect. In all fairness, it should be made clear that sometimes the whole system goes slightly amiss, evolving into slaughter of innocent bystanders and kibitzers. In the event that both sides are making use of the T. S. Confusion Method, it is almost a necessity to include in bridge equipment several T. S. Confusion Exterminators (I get you coming and going) which untangle twisted mental processes and put the game on a new and equal footing when everything seems to be going wrong for both sides. Thus the man equipped with both the T. S. Method and the T. S. Exterminator cannot fail to win his game or at least kill off all his opponents.

"He wouldn't let me chew Dentyne Gum in the office so I got an outside job."

"I walked out for the right to enjoy all the sweet-tasting Dentyne Chewing Gum I want, and I've been walking on clouds ever since! Boy, what a flavor! And Dentyne helps keep my teeth white, too!"

Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

THE MUSIC HOUSE

RECORDS - RADIOS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
PIANOS

34 Bank St. North Adams

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER

HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corona

Underwood

Royal

108 Main Street
North Adams

(WALDEN) THEATRE

SUNDAY and MONDAY

"DARK PASSAGE"

with

HUMPHREY BOGART

LAUREN BACALL

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY

"GUNFIGHTERS"

RANDOLPH SCOTT

BARBARA BRITTON

PAUSE FOR COKE HELPS MOTORISTS DRIVE REFRESHED

PLEASE return
empty bottles promptly

5¢

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
BERKSHIRE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

© 1947, The Coca-Cola Company

Muirmen, Hoopsters Prepare For Winter Season

Mermen Led By Lambert, Only Non-Soph

Swimming Team Faces Schedule With Army, Dartmouth, Bowdoin

by Norm Wood

Each Robert Muir was as retiring and yet as optimistic as ever. He wouldn't predict a Little Three championship; he didn't say anything about the New England. They were both "too far away."

It is no secret that the Williams swimming team should be as good, if not as good, an organization as it was last year, as it won both its fourth consecutive Little Three title and New England championship.

Four Gone

It is not the same team that swam last year, but it lost only four men from that crack team, and those places, although hard to fill, will be well taken care of. Co-captains Archy MacLay, who swam the 100 and in the 400 relay, and Chuck Bacon, who swam the 440, were valuable men, as were Bill Morgan and 50 and 100 yard relay man Dick Bacon.

The wealth of material that overflowed from the freshmen to the varsity last year will partially fill these gaps, and if not this year, at any rate, should within another season do so quite capably. This year's team is primarily a sophomore outfit.

Full Season Ahead

Bob Muir had something to say on this subject. "We have only one swimmer who is not a sophomore, Captain Lambert. It's really a sophomore team. It's a good team but it will be well-tryed. Concerning any team we swim against, if we don't beat them, they'll at least know they've had a meet."

What Bob said about the team being well-tryed is not mere speculation. Stepping a little out of its class, the team will encounter Dartmouth and Army, besides its regular adversaries, Amherst, Wesleyan, Bowdoin, Brown, Mass. U., and Springfield. The New Eng-

Swimming Captain

Sandy Lambert, star distance man, was recently elected to captain the swimming team.

lands are on the weekend following the Amherst meet, March 12-13.

Springfield Curtain-Raiser

The season will open on December 13, when the Springfield mermen come here. Springfield should have a good squad. They placed third behind Williams and Bowdoin in the New England last year, and they are rumored to have some good men coming up from last year's frosh club.

Bob has his boys working hard already, and should have them in good shape for the Springfield meet. The great quantity of free-stylers forms a strong backbone for the team. "Chick" Brashears, "Moe" Murray, and Bill Rueckert, with possible assistance from George Coale and Fred Smith, will handle the 50 and 100 yard sprints. Captain Lambert and Bob Reid should be a potent one-two punch in the 220 and 440 distances. Ray Baldwin is a third very capable 220 man.

Excellent Relays

The first and last events of a meet, the relays, will be strong again this year. Murray, Rueckert, Baldwin, and Brashears make a speedy quartet in the 400 free-style relay. John Warren, a returning Williams man, may swim in place of one of these men. In the 300-yard medley, backstroke Hank Wineman, breast-stroker Sam Gentles, and Ray Baldwin should give the Purple a good lead-off event.

In the backstroke, Ted Lamot will aid Hank Wineman, and this two-man team will therefore make this event one of Williams' strongest. "Swede" Svenson will be Sam Gentles' swimming partner in the breaststroke. Al Hydeman moves up to number one in the dive, with either Al Hammond or Jim Burbank filling out the other slot.

Winter Sports Schedule

Varsity Basketball

Dale Burnett, Coach

December 10	Devens	Home
December 13	Trinity	Away
December 17	Union	Away
January 9	Fordham	Away
January 10	Rutgers	Away
January 14	St. Michael's	Home
January 21	Army	Away
January 23	Middlebury	Home
February 18	Mass. State	Home
February 21	Amherst	Home
February 25	Wesleyan	Away
February 28	Springfield	Away
March 1	U. of Vermont	Home
March 4	Wesleyan	Home
March 6	Amherst	Away

Freshman Basketball

Raymond Coombs, Coach

January 10	Rutland Jr. C.	Home
January 17	Wesleyan	Home
January 24	Albany	Home
February 18	Mass. State JV	Home
February 28	Springfield	Away
March 6	Amherst	Away

Varsity Wrestling

J. Edwin Bullock, Coach

January 10	Tufts	Away
January 24	McGill	Home
February 18	Open Date
February 21	M.I.T.	Home
February 28	Wesleyan	Home
March 6	Amherst	Away
March 13	New England	Home

Freshman Wrestling

H. L. Potter, Coach

January 10	Kent School
January 24	Mt. Hermon	Home
February 28	Wesleyan	Home
March 6	Amherst	Away

Varsity Swimming

Robert B. Muir, Coach

December 13	Springfield	Home
January 10	Mass. State	Away
January 17	Brown	Away
January 21	Army	Away
January 28	Dartmouth	Home
February 21	Bowdoin	Home
February 28	Wesleyan	Home
March 6	Amherst	Away
March 13	New England	M.I.T.

Freshman Swimming

January 17
January 31
February 28	Wesleyan	Home
March 6	Amherst	Away

Varsity Hockey

A. Barr Snively, Coach

January 10	Union	Away
January 14	Hamilton	Home
January 21	Middlebury	Away
February 18
February 21	Harvard	Home
February 23	Dartmouth	Home
February 25	Yale	Home
February 28	Army	Away
March 1	Princeton	Away

Squash Team Opens Season

Favored Magill Nine Meets Ephs Today

A well balanced, but inexperienced varsity squash team will swing into action against a slightly favored Magill squad in an exhibition match here Saturday afternoon.

With W. E. Mikell, the only letterman returning from last year's team, (won 5, lost 3), Coach Chaffee will have to build his 1947-48 crew around such comparative newcomers as G. Wright, A. R. Thomas and W. M. Riegel, who saw only limited action last season.

Landry Leads Magill

Magill, winner over last year's Ephmen also in a non-schedule match, rules favorite despite the loss of several capable starters. Leading the visitors' attack is Pete Landry, who won the Inter-collegiate Championship at Dartmouth in March, 1947.

The nine starters for the Purple will be chosen from among the top names on the squash ladder. Mikell led this list Wednesday morning and was followed by Wright, Thomas, J. T. Dresser, H. M. Halstead, J. R. Pietsch, L. I. Lincoln, G. Kneass, A. L. Goodrich, W. M. Riegel, and R. W. Donnelly.

Lambert Lost

Elliot Lambert, captain of last year's team, has transferred to Virginia, and a new leader will be elected before the Dartmouth game, which officially opens, the season November 13 at Hanover. Other away matches are with Trinity, Wesleyan and Princeton. Harvard, Yale, MIT, Army and Amherst will all play here.

Freshman Hockey

January 10	Vermont Acad.	Away
January 17	Mt. Hermon	Away
February 18	Belmont Hills	Home
February 28	Deerfield	Home

Varsity Fencing

February 28	Wesleyan	Away
March 6	Amherst	Home
March 13	Little Three	Amherst

Varsity Squash

C. C. Chaffee, Coach
December 13	Dartmouth	Away
December 19	Harvard	Home
January 10	Yale	Home
January 17	M.I.T.	Home
February 18	Trinity	Away
February 21	Army	Home
February 25	Wesleyan	Away
February 28	Princeton	Away
March 3	Amherst	Home
March 5-6-7	New England	Dartmouth

Freshman Squash

January 10	Yale	Home
January 24	Deerfield	Home
February 28	Wesleyan	Away
March 3	Amherst
Varsity Winter Track
A. Plansky, Coach
January 24	K. of C. Boston	Gar.
January 31	Millrose	New York

Basketball Captain

Bob Brownell, forward, who will lead the Eph quintet this winter.

Burnett Calls Candidates For Basketball

Brownell Will Lead Squad In Fifteen Games Schedule

Captain Bob Brownell led the thirty varsity basketball candidates who reported last week to coach Dale Burnett on the newly polished gym floor. Before the opener of the fifteen game season against Devens on December 10, Dale Burnett will have to find replacements for the three starting spots vacated by the graduation of captain Dick Hole and Andy Knox, the transfer of little Jay Quintana.

Captain Brownell and sharp-shooting George Dittmar, a sophomore who scored 110 points last season, will probably form the nucleus of the first Williams basketball team to face such classy outfits as Fordham and Rutgers. It is already apparent that this year's team will have more of the height which it so obviously lacked last year. Ex-freshman center Jack Wideman, Bill Kaufman, Chris Acker, Deerfield star Jerry Page, and last year's frosh captain, Bud Cool, all top 6'3" and therefore should provide some backboard-controlling height.

Two short men have, however attracted much attention in early scrimmages. George Bush, who played with the Jayvees last year, has contributed some aggressive defensive play and a lot of dead-eye shooting. Don LeSage, a former Drury High star, has come out for the first time and already has exhibited a fine fake and an equally fine setshot. Roy McWhinney's one handed shots and Frank Baldwin's ball handling have been commented on by sideline experts.

No doubt Jay Quintana, now playing first string with Wagner, will be sorely missed on the defense as will Dick Hole's smooth play-making and Andy Knox's unorthodox but effective scoring punch. But when footballer Stu Duffield and Jack Mason report for practice, Dale should have a fairly well-balanced squad.

One Quintana Remains

Spanish prof Ralph Quintana, an ex-jayvee player and a member of a Williams basketball family, will coach the jayvee squad

IRENE'S Gift Shop

Featuring

- FINE LEATHER GOODS
- HAND WROUGHT ALUMINUM WARE
- PLASTIC PLAYING CARDS
- TABLE LAMPS
- HURRICANE LAMPS

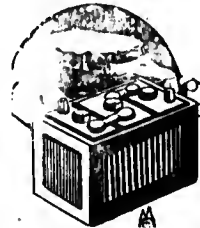

LARGE VARIETY OF GIFTS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

Come in and look around

Under the

Management of MRS. IRENE KING

STEELE and WILES GARAGE

Complete Automotive Service
BODY AND FENDER WORK
MOTOR OVERHAULING

TELEPHONE 499-M

41 Spring St. Williamstown Mass.

KRONICK'S ESSO SERVICE STATION

CARS WASHED $1.50
POLISHING AND WAXING

State Road - Opp. Howard Johnson

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1830
CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE
DUST PROOF COAL RANGE and FUEL OILS
73 Spring St. Williamstown Mass.

Stop in at Williamstown's

Newest Shoe Store...

LUPO'S

Gives 24 hour Service on Shoe Repairing
AT THE END OF SPRING STREET

INSURANCE BROKERS TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

Extra!

Extra!

The College Restaurant

Takes Pleasure In Announcing Its'

New Bake Shop

In which all pastries will be baked — and made even more delicious than before —

Drop In And Try Them

The College Restaurant

Extra!

Extra!

The Smith Baker Co.

INCORPORATED

NORTH ADAMS

Community Chest Nets $14,000; Money Still Being Received

Hospital Gets $5000; Boys Club, Scouts Share In Proceeds

After a successful campaign for $14,000 the Williamstown Community Chest was still receiving pledged contributions this week. Mr. Nelson Domin, president of the Williamstown National Bank and member of the Community Chest Committee, told the Record.

The drive, sponsored by the Williamstown Welfare Association, officially lasted from November 4-11.

Mr. Brainerd Mears, retired Williams faculty member, headed the Chest Committee. He was assisted by Karl E. Weston '96, Mr. John W. Allison '23, and Mr. Domin.

Of the proceeds, the North Adams Hospital, which serves the residents of Williamstown, will get $5,000. The Williamstown Boys' Club will receive $1200. Local Boy and Girl Scout programs will each be given $500. The remainder of the donations will be distributed among several other local charitable organizations.

Meatless - - -

eat something else. Bridgeman said that eggs are very plentiful, anyhow.

No Complaining At Inn

A typical Williams Inn menu on Tuesday includes chicken, liver, trout, turkey, salmon, oysters, frogs' legs, and lobster, according to Mr. Treadway, manager, who said that he has not received any complaints about not serving meat, but that a few people have insisted upon getting eggs Thursday morning.

According to the Record telephone survey, these houses did not serve meat Tuesday under the President's voluntary rationing plan: Phi Sigma Kappa, St. Anthony Hall, Theta Delta Chi, Zeta Psi, Psi Upsilon, and the Garfield Club. The seven social units which observe eggless Thursday are: Psi Upsilon, Saint Anthony Hall, Chi Psi, Phi Sigma Kappa, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, and the Garfield Club.

House of Walsh

PROUDLY ANNOUNCES
ONE OF THE
MOST COMPREHENSIVE
SKI LINES
IN AMERICA
LOOK HERE NOW

House of Walsh

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND
GRILL for the best in food,
drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Radios - Novelty Maple Table Lamp
$19.95 Special $3.25
Maple Bridge Lamp $5.95 - with Table $7.25
Two-cup Coffee Maker

George M. Hopkins Co.
Established 1888

66 SPRING STREET WILLIAMSTOWN
TELEPHONE 29-R

FAIRFIELDS FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

U C - - -

ted chairman of the Scholastic Committee, under the second amendment. Rupen explained that, since the president of Phi Beta Kappa, who was formerly named chairman of the committee, was not always a member of the UC, the change was thought advisable.

Guidance Program

According to the proposed program for the vocational guidance panel, two weeks will be set aside, during which councilors will speak in the various houses to interested undergraduates. The topic will be announced daily in the Adviser.

Bob Rupen made a report to the council on the Amherst fraternity system, based on interviews with Amherst President Cole and various Amherst undergraduate leaders. Communal eating, no freshmen in fraternities, and the elimination of all racial prejudice clauses in fraternity constitutions, were among the features of the system which was reported on.

March Ski Meet

Since about thirty-five men are expected to attend the ski meet to be held over the March 6 Houseparty weekend, it was decided that houses would provide room and board for the competitors.

It was announced that a questionnaire sent out by a University of Los Angeles national fraternity organization had been received by some houses. The organization is attempting to make a rating of national fraternities. UC members decided to refrain from answering the questionnaire individually and to send a letter explaining the impossibility and inadvisability of making such a rating on the Williams campus.

Paragraphs In News

The annual Interecollegiate Newspaper Conference will be held at Wesleyan University the weekend of February 21. The purpose of the conference will be to bring together college newspaper editors in the New England area for the discussion of common problems, for the exchange of information and the promotion of cooperation among the papers.

Three men pledged in post-season rushing, Ford Wright '50, Duncan MacDonald '50, and Paul Peyton '50, were initiated into Delta Upsilon Wednesday, November 19.

The deadline for warnings is Thursday, November 20. The list will be posted Saturday, November 22.

Sixty percent of the freshman class (169 men out of a total of 280) received preliminary warnings last week.

Fire - - -

and William Adkins '49, Dorothy and Timothy Tyler '48, and Norma and Denham Lunt '48. The six couples have put their furnishings in the baseball cage, behind the barracks, and will live with friends until the apartments are renovated.

'Bug Lab' - - - will eliminate doubling up of biology lab classes, which, is necessary under present crowded conditions.

To Include Elevator

Preparation rooms and an elevator, which the present building lacks, will both be included in the proposed renovation of the lab. "Preparation of specimens is now performed in the basement of the lab," Dr. Cole asserted, "and they are carried by students to laboratories on the upper floors."

Not only is this inconvenient, but it also involves too much breakage risk when specimens are carried up flights of hard slate stairs. The proposed preparation rooms will be adjacent to labs, and also will be used to store the specimens for a few days, during which time they may be needed in a lab.

To Enlarge Library, Museum

Larger library and museum facilities will be available. "Our museum," said Dr. Cole, "is a working museum; displays change frequently and always bear relation to class and laboratory subjects." The new museum will be located in a wide hall at the entrance to the building, and will have a great many displays, including an aquarium.

In the basement, rooms are to be provided wherein live animal specimens may be stored at carefully controlled temperatures. A smaller and much more accurate constant temperature room will be provided, where controlled experiments, such as the breeding of fruit flies, may be carried on.

Field Hockey - - -

Featherhead rooters tried tactics designed to keep their slin lead intact. Don "Quixote" Wood secretly set off a fire-cracker close to the Bennington goalie in the hope that the team would be thrown into confusion. Other spectators kept up a continuous beer line to the B'town goalie.

Whitney Tallies

In the third quarter the Bennington Bloomer Girls made a valiant attempt to score but were foiled by the brilliant stickwork of the Featherhead goalie, Dickson "Stay Loos" Whitney. Early in the last quarter, Thursty "Lover" Holt saved the day for the Chi Psi's by single-handedly maneuvering the ball through the ranks of the opposition away from the dreaded goal. At this point Dick Whitney traded his goalie job for a position in the forward wall. This bit of strategy by Captain Joe Durrell proved its worth when Whitney promptly shot in a goal. Before the girls had a chance to recover, Jerry Youngman made the score 5-1 by slipping in another cleverly executed goal.

The girls now attempted to rally their shattered forces for one final try for a score. Their effort succeeded, a desperate shot found its mark, and this last Bennington goal made the final score Chi Psi, 5, Bennington, 2.

According to Dean's Office records there are 220 sons of alumni on campus this fall. This is nearly one-fifth of the present student body of 1107.

"You strike it rich
when you choose
Chesterfield... they're tops!"

Lay Willand

ACADEMY AWARD WINNER
STARRING IN PARAMOUNT'S
"GOLDEN EARRINGS"

A
B
C

Always Buy

CHESTERFIELD

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

The sum-total of smoking pleasure

THEY SATISFY

The Williams Record

Volume LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1947

Number 16

Baxter Favors Projector, But Says College Cannot Afford $8000 Expense

Will Ask Trustees To Include Projector In B&E Fund Drive

by Hank Baker
Although he expressed "great interest" in the procurement of projection equipment for the Memorial Theatre, President James P. Baxter, III, pointed out, in an interview with the Record, that the College could not take immediate action on the matter because of the current operating deficit.

In answer to the letter written by the Student Activities Committee last week urging the purchase of projection and sound equipment in the AMT, President Baxter said, "There is no one here interested in this problem except at the present time, the College is running a deficit and there are no funds that can be drawn for this purpose. The expenditure involved would amount at the least, to $8000, at present prices."

Immediate Action Limited
I am eager to see the AMT equipped with the installation of projection equipment. As a matter of fact it was at my suggestion that the projection booth was put into the plans of the theatre with the hope of being able to install proper equipment at a later date.

The only immediate step that can be taken is for me to talk over with the Board of Trustees when we meet in New York City in the middle of January whether we could include such an item in our present Building and Endowment Fund drive."

Estimates Made
The AMT Committee has been working on the problem for the past year, see PROJECTOR, page 4.

Plans Progress For Campus

NSA Council

Local Chapter Set Up By Social Units

Plans are now under way to organize the Williams Council of the National Student Association representatives from the various units, according to NSA Secretary Seth Bidwell.

The Council will maintain contact with the regional headquarters and with other campuses. NSA programs, and will hold forums and guest speakers to discuss student problems. Bidwell hoped that widespread interest may be aroused, said Bidwell, by speakers, movies about the International Union of Students, and discussions on NSA programs.

The local committee, composed of undergraduates interested in NSA work, urged that all students interested in joining the NSA and furthering its work at Williams attend the next meeting of the organization. If the Williams Council is given the job of publishing the NSA's New England regional news-letter, this campus will be the home of the news organ for the most powerful NSA region, they added.

NSA activities in other colleges have been gaining momentum. Smith has been investigating curricular problems, MIT has begun to study student governments. Wellesley is planning "international weekends" to help resolve the problems of foreign students in our colleges.

400 Lax In Paying Tax

$3100 Levy Required For SAC Groups

Four hundred members of the student body have not paid the three-dollar Undergraduate Council tax, according to information given by the Record Saturday morning by Mr. Albert V. Osterhout, Advisor in Undergraduate Affairs.

The tax, which helps to support all non-profit-making extra-curricular activities on the campus, and is of greatly increased importance this year due to the rise in costs of operation and the post-war expansion of campus activity, has been increased to four dollars for all undergraduates who did not contribute by Saturday night, November 22.

The Student Activities Council expects to collect more than $3100 in this tax drive to meet the need for increased appropriations. Both the Glee Club and the Cap and Bells, both self-sufficient in the past, have found it necessary to seek financial aid from the SAC this year, as have eight other campus organizations.

In a statement made at the start of the drive, SAC President Horton H. Kellogg '48, stressed the necessity for whole-hearted cooperation on the part of all undergraduates, if the extra-curricular organizations of the College are to be maintained at full strength, and also urged that as many students as possible participate in at least one campus activity.

At the SAC meeting last Tuesday night, the proposed $3100 budget for the college year of 1947-48 was accepted without change. The Spring Conference, the Adelpic Union, and the Williams Lecture Committee were among those groups receiving considerable appropriations.

Support Voluntary Rationing, Or Share Consequences, Says Economist Despres

by Emile Despres

(Associate Professor of Economics Emile Despres, the writer of this article, served as Special Assistant to the Federal Reserve Board, Economic Adviser to the Office of Strategic Services, Adviser to the State Department on German Economic Affairs, and Economic Adviser to the American Delegation at the Potsdam Conference, before coming to Williams in 1946.

The American people have been eating well—much better than in the Nineteen Thirties. We have been eating more meat, milk, eggs, fruit and green vegetables, and smaller quantities of some of the cheaper foods. Fortunately, a considerable part of this improvement has been in the food consumption of low-income families whose diets had previously been inadequate to maintain health and vigor.

It is now pretty clear, however, that over the next year at least, the supply of animal feed, upon which depends the production of meat and dairy products, will be well below recent high levels. This year's corn crop was one-fourth below last year's, and prospects

CA Discussion Successful, Say Delegates

Little Three, Bowdoin Organizations Tackle Common Problems

Christian Association representatives from Little Three colleges and Bowdoin were so enthusiastic about the exchange of ideas at the conference here last weekend, which tackled the problems of undergraduate Christian activity, that a similar meeting is planned for the spring. Problems were discussed in the light of the mutual experiences of the participating colleges.

Undergraduate Problems

Two problems, in general, were tackled by the conferees: The position of Christian Associations on the respective campuses and the Christian participation of undergraduates at the colleges concerned. Bill Wimer, regional secretary of the Student Christian Movement, explained the organization and objectives of the SCM, which encompasses the CA, YMCA and YWCA groups on all the campuses in the country.

Charles Schmidt '48, local CA president, pronounced the conference "a great success for all colleges concerned." A news letter, summarizing the conference, will be published at Williams.

Wesleyan CA Problems

Wesleyan has a Freshman and Sophomore cabinet, with two members elected from each social See CHRISTIANS, page 2

Next Record Dec. 6: Classes End Today!

The next RECORD will be issued Saturday, December 6 after the Thanksgiving recess.

Calendar

Wed., Nov. 26—
Classes end at noon.
Mon., Dec. 1—
Regular classes start.
Tues., Dec. 2—
Thompson Concert
(Guilet String Quartet)

for the wheat crop planted this fall to be harvested next summer have been threatened by critical, near drought conditions. After phenomenally good weather and the abundant crops of the past few years, the United States is now facing a reduction in grain supplies.

If European agriculture were fully recovered, this unfavorable turn in our domestic prospects would cause little difficulty. As is well known, however, this year's harvest in Western Europe was disastrously low, owing in part to frost and drought. Rehabilitation of European agriculture is proving to be a slow and difficult process and continuation of large grain exports from the United States is a crucial element in our program of European economic aid.

The combination of reduced domestic supplies and continued high European requirements means that a smaller amount of grain will be fed to livestock in the United States. This will gradually result in smaller supplies of meat and dairy products for American consumers.

What, if anything should we do about it? If we do nothing and if general business and employment remain high, scarce foods will be automatically rationed through higher prices. Prices will go up until these foods are largely See DESPRES, page 4

Repairs Begin On Vets' Barracks All Home But Jones, Stephens'ns

Photo by Williams Photo Service
At left, camera-shy Mitzi Ridall, takes a quick look at her battered kitchen for the photographer. At right, electricians check wiring damage in the kitchen of the Jones' apartment.

Record's Star Reporter Gives Turkey Day Preview

by Clark Kent

Despite Presidential attempts during the past decade to reorient Thanksgiving Day habits, Williamstown and the rest of the nation will observe the event intact on the last Thursday of November—with turkey topping the menu.

Last month's foul attack on poultry—Thursdays was warded off by public indignation and the Poultry Growers of America. Harry S. Truman, in league with Mr. Luckman, president of Lever Brothers' soap company, urged that eggs and poultry not be consumed on Thursdays.

Reporters Myopia Analyzed

Nothing was said about an intended effect upon national Gobblers' Day, but this reporter's Woolworth hornrimmed contact lenses make up for his myopia more than some people would think.

He smelled B.O., he further suspects that Harry was attempting some of his predecessor's card tricks.

But PGA sent hatchets to the President and Mr. Cluckman and wrung a few bureaucratic necks so that no stops will be left unpulled when the organ of digestion gets its annual banging on Thursday.

RECORD Smells

So with the Administration's See THANKSGIVING, page 2

Berkshire J.C. Host To Boisterous Ephs At Get-together

The Berkshire Hills Junior College of Arts and Sciences, which opened this fall with ninety girls in the converted Berkshire Inn, played host Saturday night to a more than usually uninhibited crowd of about 120 Williams undergraduates.

As this was sixty more than had been expected, the gathering was overcrowded in the early part of the evening. The horde thinned out around 11:00 p.m. and the latter half of the dance was a decided success.

The most striking feature of the college is the girls themselves. The international set was strongly represented; more than one man had a harrassed look after trying to operate with a scanty vocabulary of French or Spanish. After dancing with girls of Peruvian, Egyptian, French, and Mexican ancestry, one visitor almost broke down with relief on meeting a young See BERKSHIRE, page 2

Most Apts. Not Seriously Damaged

Barracks College-Insured Says Brown; Couples Individually Covered

by Bob Taylor

Workmen began Monday to repair the fire-charred barracks of Ann and Robert Jones '49, gutted in the blaze last Thursday which was caused by a defective toaster.

Four other couples of the Latham Street veterans' barracks were forced to move out because of smoke and water damage to their apartments, but three have now returned. The fourth couple, Marcela and John Stephenson '50, whose living room floor is water-warped, will stay with Helen and Giles Kelly '49 until the floor has been repaired and the apartment is again habitable.

Vets All Insured

The couples who suffered from the fire are all individually insured. Since the only damage in some cases was from the smoke, a thorough cleaning of the apartment and furnishings is all that will be required.

Mitszi and Edmund Ridall '48, whose kitchen adjoins that of the Jones', where the fire started, have the only other apartment which was damaged by the fire itself. Here the heat burned through the wall and caused the shelved canned goods to burst, splattering their contents all over the kitchen. The electric wiring in the Ridall's apartment was also badly damaged by the heat, and will have to be replaced.

Repairs Approved

Assistant Treasurer Earle O. Brown stated that the barracks, which are owned by the government, are school-insured. "Although the appraisers have not yet come from Hartford," said Mr. Brown, "we have received permission to go ahead with the repairs. We expect, naturally, to be reimbursed by the insurance company for our expense. The appraisers are expected any time this week."

The Treasurer's Office would not estimate the length of time it would take to repair the Stephenson and Ridall apartments. The workmen on the job, however, guessed "about a week." Mr. Perry A. Smedley, Grounds and Buildings Superintendent, said last Thursday that the work on the Jones apartment would be finished in approximately two weeks, but Jones himself placed the estimate at closer to three.

Others Temporarily Homeless

The others, beside the Jones, Stephensons and Ridalls, who were forced out of their apartments by the fire, were Janet and William Adkins '49, and Norma and Dunham Lunt '48. The Lunts spent two nights in the New Faculty House, but are back in their apartment now, the smoke having cleared. The Adkins', also "smoked out" stayed three nights at the Hoxsey Street residence of Dr. K. R. McAlpin before returning home.

The Ridalls also stayed at the New Faculty House for two nights, but are home again now, although extensive repairs are being made in their kitchen. The Stephensons, who spent two nights with Freshman Dean Walter F. Sheehan, will stay with Helen and Giles Kelly '49, until repairs on their apartment have been completed. The Jones' are living at the home of President and Mrs. Baxter.

Fire Chief Thomas Welch, who suffered from a slight dose of smoke poisoning during the fire told the Record that he recovered quickly the same day, and that he has suffered no after-effects.

Travel Bureau Runs Buses To New York

The Williams Travel Bureau has announced that buses will leave Hopkins Hall at 1 p.m. Wednesday for New York City. The buses are expected to arrive at a terminal four blocks from Grand Central Station before 6 p.m. Wednesday afternoon.

President of the Travel Bureau, William H. Grace '48, set a price of $4 for the one way trip. He advised anyone interested in going to New York on the buses to contact him at 21 Fayerweather Hall for reservations.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office of North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

Editor-in-Chief.....J. David Moier, '48
Managing Editor.....Charles H. Klensch, '48
Sports Editor.....Borrett F. Emmert, '48
Copy Editor.....Robert A. Rupen, '48
Senior Associate Editor.....Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
Office Manager.....Ben B. Foster, II, '48
Make-up Editor for this issue.....Joseph Dorsey '49

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

H. Russell Platt '48, John H. Schafer '48, William R. Borney '49,
Seth M. Bidwell '49, Jerry J. Cole '49, Joseph F. Dorsey '49,
Russell B. Frost '49, Edwin Kuh '49, J. Edward Pawlick '49,
Robert S. Taylor '49.

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer.....Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers.....Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager.....Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Assistant Circulation Manager.....Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Oren T. Pollock, '49

Volume LXI

November 26, 1947

Number 16

Financial Obligations

There are two stories in this issue dealing with the failure of a portion of the undergraduate body to meet financial obligations. Mr. Albert V. Osterhout reports that 400 students have not yet paid their SAC tax, and Theodore O. Lohrke tells us that many undergraduates refuse to pay for their season tickets to Cap and Bells.

Since the SAC has not set a definite date for payment other than the November 22 deadline, which merely allows for a one dollar reduction on the tax, we do not feel that the undergraduate body should be reprimanded for failure to pay. There is no doubt that the SAC needs the money. Therefore it is desirable that all students pay their tax as soon as possible. When the UC sets a definite final date for payment, then that deadline should, without question, be met by all.

In the case of the Cap and Bells season subscriptions, there is no excuse for refusal of payment. It goes beyond any question of duty—to Cap and Bells, to the SAC, or even to the College. It is a case of individual responsibility for a debt freely and willfully undertaken.

Christians - - - for the whole college is held by the CA at which there is a guest speaker.

Wesleyan Services

At Wesleyan each denomination has established a separate organization, outside the CA, equipped with a faculty advisor. Non-compulsory, student-led services are held three times a week at ten in the evening, drawing 20-30 students. These services supplement the required Sunday chapel. A pre-ministerial club exists, but not all its members are destined for the ministry.

The presidents of each of the four associations represented were placed on a planning committee for the April conference. At this meeting will be discussed such questions as the Student Christian Movement, racial issues, finance, leadership, and compulsory chapel. A committee was also set up to investigate the possibilities of religion and marriage courses in the four colleges. unit, which has proven influential in stimulating CA interest there. This cabinet, carrying out activities delegated by the executive cabinet, has committees upon which non-cabinet members can act.

Daily Chapel at Amherst

Amherst, fortunate in having the close cooperation of the college president, has two college chaplains for part-time advisers. A compulsory chapel, amounting to a college assembly, is held daily, and the Amherst association sponsors informal student-faculty discussions.

Students at Bowdoin, who are automatic members of their association, attend compulsory chapel on weekdays as well as Sundays. Every other Sunday at Bowdoin an informal religious discussion group meets. A monthly meeting

Bridge Tournament

Prior to playing the 1948 National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament, an inter-college tournament will be held to pick the eight top bridge players at Williams. Louis R. Jeffrey '50, Richard C. Lesser '49, and John K. Kittredge '48, the organizers of the college tournament, stated that it would probably take place before Christmas.

The top eight will then play at Williams a set of eighteen prepared hands sent and returned by mail to the Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament Committee. These are scored by a recognized expert. The sixteen highest ranking pairs are then invited to a face-to-face final round, to be played on Friday evening, April 23, and Saturday afternoon, April 24, at Chicago.

The 1948 national champions will be awarded trophies for their individual possession, and the large Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament trophy will be in the custody of their college for one year.

Last year Louis Jeffrey and Kiffin Rockwell '47, represented Williams in the finals at Chicago. Out of a field of 36 players they came in twelfth.

Berkshire - - -

lady from Larchmont, N. Y.

It was evident from the beginning that the establishment was newly created and inexperienced in the field of intercollegiate social entertainment. Williams men coming from an environment where decorations must be nailed down, are naturally somewhat unrestrained in the presence of such volatile ornaments as balloons and mock-up goal posts. The touch football game during the intermission was perhaps unfortunate, as was the attempt later in the evening to take over the free coke bar and retail drinks at a profit, but barring these and one or two other incidents, the evening was termed definitely worthwhile by those who stayed until the end.

The general comment was that as soon as Berkshire Hills J. C. recovers from Saturday night's baptism by fire it should be ready to take its place on the list of "must" colleges for weekend-happy Williams men.

Bennington Girl Blasts Traditional H'party Rituals In Letter To College Paper

Bennington undergraduates have long smarted under the Williams' hegemony over their social life, but they have been content to air their grievances in the privacy of their collegiate-colonial cottages, until recently, when one outraged B'towner sent in her impressions of the Houseparty week end to the bi-weekly school paper.

The following article is reprinted in its entirety from the Bennington Beacon:

"Weekend at Williams" or "Next Time You'll Know Better"

'Dear Joan:

"I have just enough time to dash off a note to you before my appointment with the psychiatrist. He insists that the Williams weekend brought out some latent Jukes family characteristics in me.

"The weekend started off with a bang! After dinner, there was a torchlight football rally. This word "rally" has several interesting connotations. In Williams it is synonymous with mass excitement, some gay blade poured kerosene over my leg, lit it, and slung me over his shoulder. The misguided enthusiast didn't realize his mistake until he tried to stamp his torch out and found it had a few conditioned reflexes.

"After this nerve-wracking experience, I was told that I was to go to my room and rest up for the formal. Room, ha! We approached a blot on the horizon that looked as if it had been salvaged from a Grade B Boris Karloff picture.

"However, still undaunted, I clambered up the three flights of decaying stairway and looked for the bed. In a corner of the dimly lit room, I noticed a misshapen object. A bed? Mad, impetuous fool! I ventured toward it cautiously and sat down. A bedspring with a lot of personality took an immediate dislike to me. 'My God, I'm stabbed!' I yelled. 'Ya looking for a hit in the head?' inquired an engaging voice from the opposite corner of the room. This voice materialized into my transient roommate who was an alumna of the O.S.W.G. (Ossining School for Wayward Girls). So much for my room.

"The formal came and went all too quickly, and before I knew it I was being rudely awakened. I had just enough time to make it to the football game. The Union team came out on the field looking quite formidable. Williams, too, came out on the field. When the game was over, the stauncher fans ran out on the field with clotters and picked the Williams men up.

"But the highlight of Saturday afternoon was the late cocktail party at the Ah-Smelta Delta fraternity house. There in the very depths of good Massachusetts clay, we were ushered into a cavern dubbed the 'Rumpus' Room.' Between the numerous stalactites, blue lights feebly gave witness to the products of the Industrial Revolution. The walls were lined intermittently with Petty girl pictures and slot machines. We finally managed to extricate ourselves from those who had already succumbed in the battle with NH-4. It was definitely time to go back to my room.

"I must not fail to mention the hayride which proved to be a very edifying experience for me. The wagon itself didn't look too stable, but the driver wore such a reassuring grin that I cast all doubts aside and leaped recklessly into that 'best reason for the invention of the automobile.' The driver was quite a friendly guy. He found my unbenet ear and went into a long discourse on the benefits of farm life after the mortgage is paid. Did you know that if you want your horse to do zig zag plowing, a little Old Grandad in the feed bag is just the thing? He passed on many more nuggets of useful information to me which I shall relate at some future time.

At the end of Saturday night, I was oblivious to everything except that the next day was Sunday, and about that I had my doubts. Not for long, however. It was interesting to note with what religious fervor the church bells began to ring at six o'clock Sunday morning.

"That just about ties it up, except that I have been yelling 'Take the Marines out of Nicaragua!' for the past three nights in my sleep, hence the interview with my psychiatrist. I'll be going up to Dartmouth next weekend and so I hope that I'll be straightened out by that time.

Love,

C. K."

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of The Record:

We wish there were some other way than this to thank all those in the town and College who offered to help us after the fire last Thursday.

For preventing severe losses to us all, deep appreciation goes to all members of the Fire Department. We are sure we are expressing the thanks of all the other couples in our barracks.

Sincerely,

(Signed) Bob and Willy Jones

Thanksgiving - - -

ghostly contrivances cooped up, the RECORD olfactory has given its most putrescent nose-hound the assignment of suggesting things-to-do over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Your reporter, however, doesn't intend to be another victim of Thanksgiving. He is not going to stick his neck out. He will tell only what he is going to do.

We, to edit a pronoun, have an ulcer. Quite involuntarily are we unable to eat anything stronger than halibut, to drink anything fierier than milk or associate with anything stronger than a Smith music major.

Reporter Tells Plans

We are going home for Thanksgiving. Thursday morning we shall amuse the neighborhood kiddies by reenacting the first Thanksgiving, when frustrated Miles Standish, his romance fouled-up, came cureeking out of the woods clutching a quizzical looking turkey in one hand and an even more bemused hatchet in the other.

The rest of the story is too well known to bear repetition. But it seems to have borne the preceding part well enough so we shall continue:

Poor Standish laid the bird on the Plymouth Rock, and thinking the turkey was John Alden, proceeded to sever the neck of the gobble.

Priscilla Witnesses Goings-On

Standish's ex-sweetie, Priscilla Alden, was chance witness to all these Freudian goings-on. Concerned over Miles' apparent dislike of her husband, she snatched the jealous lover's lethal tool from him and told him to go back to the woods and commute with his muse.

Thankful, however, that her husband had not been cut by Standish, who had myopia (and no Woolworth hornrimmed contact lenses), Mrs. Alden prepared a feast of the turkey embellished with turnips, mashed potatoes, soup, ice cream and nuts.

This reporter will return to Williamstown Thursday afternoon without a Thanksgiving hangover and will rest up from the morning's ordeal during the following three days, but he and his assignment editor hope the other inmates of this institution have something stronger than halibut, milk and music majors for their holiday.

For a winning beginning...

Step forth with Seaforth!

Discover the creamy-rich lather of Seaforth Shaving Soap, the heather-fresh exhilaration of Seaforth Lotion. Enjoy them yourself...soon! These and other Seaforth essentials, packaged in handsome stoneware, only $1.00 each. Gift sets $2.00 to $7.00. Seaforth, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20

Do you like Dancing?

Here's a dance nobody likes. Arthur Murray never taught it.

It's called the "All Day Squirm" and is performed by gents who wear undershorts with an unholy center seam that keeps them on the St. Vitus Varsity.

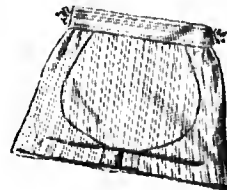

THE STRETCH

THE SQUIRM

THE WRIGGLE

Moral: Switch to Arrow shorts and relax. Arrow shorts have no center seam, but do have plenty of room where it counts.

Super comfortable, these super-shorts come in plain white oxford and broadcloth with Gripper fasteners. $1 up at your favorite Arrow store.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1830

CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE

DUST PROOF COAL

RANGE and FUEL OILS

73 Spring St.

Williamstown Mass.

"There's twenty cents—and look! A whole package of Dentyns Chewing Gum!"

"We'll save the cash for more Dentyns Chewing Gum—how could we ever get more for our money in keen, long-lasting flavor? Even Mom agrees on Dentyns' swell taste—and she likes the way Dentyns helps keep our teeth white, too." Dentyns Gum—Made Only by Adams

Squash Team Tops McGill By 7-2 Score

Untested Ephmen Win Impressively; Season Opens With Indians

Winning all but two matches, the Eph squash team downed a favored McGill University team by a 7-2 score in a pre-season exhibition match held last Saturday at Lasell Gym.

The Chaffemen, with only one returning letterman from last year, in the person of W. E. Mikell, had a virtually untested team, but they showed up well in this, their first match of the year. McGill, who defeated Williams last year, had just come from Dartmouth, where they dropped a 5-4 decision to the Indians. Thus, the 7-2 win by the Ephmen would seem to indicate a strong team for Williams this year.

Mikell Number One

In the number one match, W. E. Mikell faced Pete Landry, National Intercollegiate Champion, and number-one man on the McGill team. Landry won in three straight games, 15-12, 15-11, 15-11. Mikell showed up well in the first game, but faded somewhat in the next two.

George Wright, playing number two for Williams, was extended to four games, before he downed Dale of McGill, 15-8, 15-10, 14-16, 16-14 in the number three spot. A. R. Thomas defeated Ferrier of McGill in three straight games, 16-14, 15-12, 15-13. J. T. Dresser, number four man for Williams, continued the sweep, also winning his match in three games, 15-10, 15-12, 17-15, over McGill's Coates.

Pietsch Wins

After easing through the first game, J. R. Pietsch, number five man for the Ephmen, dropped the second game, but then came back to win the next two, taking his match from McGill's Hampson, 15-4, 16-7, 15-10, 15-10. H. M. Halstead, playing in the sixth spot, also went four games, but came on to win his match 15-10, 15-12, 12-15, 17-16 over Finley of McGill.

In the seventh position, soccer-player G. B. Kneass swept his match with Goodall by the most lopsided scores of the day, winning in three games by 15-5, 15-6, 15-8. In the eighth spot, another soccer-player, F. W. Donnelly, went four games before winning his match, 15-7, 12-15, 15-10, 15-10 over McGill's Bilodeau. Williams lost its second match of the afternoon when A. L. Goodrich, number nine man of the Ephmen, was nosed out by Derragh of McGill, 18-16, 16-17, 15-10.

Chaffee Loses

After the match was over, Pete Landry, McGill's number one man, and National Intercollegiate Champion, played a match with Coach C. C. Chaffee, of the victorious Ephmen, and downed him in three straight games.

Williams opens its season officially on December 13, with a match at Hanover against Dartmouth. By comparative scores against McGill, the Ephmen should win this match. Their first home game of the season will be held on December 19, against the Crimson of Harvard.

Gym's Jimmy Recalls Past

Tells Of Early Stars; Cites Improvements

by Stu Robinowitz

Down the long, dark corridor from the gym to the squash courts and around the corner amid piles of football togs, T-shirts, unmentionables, and sundry sorts of athletic garb sat Jimmy MacArthur in the stock room, where he has held sway some five years now. He was putting some new, yellow laces in a battered pair of shoulder pads when he entered.

"Oh, no! I don't want to be interviewed."

"Well, just a few questions, Jimmy. Just tell us a little about the town when you first worked here."

Spring Street Changes

"Spring Street hasn't changed too much. They've replaced the dirt road that was there twenty years ago when I started working in the gym which had just been built. Of course, there are more cars here now. More students, too. There were only 800 in those days."

"How about the changes in the equipment?"

"Up until five years ago, when the stock room was started, the equipment was scattered all over the campus in boxcars, trunks, crates, etc. No one knew where anything was half the time. The coaches, managers and trainers gave the stuff to the boys. Now the equipment is better, and the..."

"Hey, where are the wrestling jerseys?" interrupted a voice from amid the swelling sea of paraphernalia. Jimmy left us to help the puzzled grappler, but returned shortly.

"Who were some of the great athletes you remember?"

Many Good Athletes

"I don't like to mention some, because I'll forget about others, who were just as good. 1932, though, was about the best all-around year for sports that I can recall. We had a crack basketball team that year, and of course we had fine football teams in '35 and '42. '42 was the year we beat Princeton, and then lost to Amherst in the last game of the year. That was our only loss. Bill Schmidt played on that team. He was a wonderful broken-field runner. Dick Coleman, who is football line coach at Princeton now, played on the '35 team. He was a very good guard. So was Ralph Renzi. He was small for a lineman. I think he played on that '42 team. Harvey Potter was a fine athlete. He made All-American lacrosse, never lost a wrestling match and played end on the football team. We had a good many good athletes."

"How does the caliber of sports now measure up to pre-war standards?"

Freshmen Big

"This freshman class, if it is as good as its football team, should bring sports up to the pre-war level. That freshman team was big. I had to order three special pairs of shoes. Size 13. That's about the biggest feet we've had."

See MACARTHUR, page 4

In Ev'ry Play

by Barry Emmert

Free Cuts For Athletics

This agent originally intended to fill this space with a rather brief and confined attack on the cut system as regards away-athletic contests. But after interviewing several people around campus on this subject we are convinced that free cuts for athletics is but a small item—a rather minute part of a much larger problem.

For approximately ten years the Williams policy has been to penalize an athlete with a "half-cut" for every class missed due to participation in an away game. As recently as this Fall the rule was modified to allow a player who had Friday divisions of his Saturday classes to obtain permission to attend those Friday classes without being charged a half-cut.

We submit that the ruling and its recent modification is unrealistic and unfair. It is unrealistic because it assumes that a player, in order to participate in sports, only has to cut his Saturday classes in order to play. Forgotten are the daily practice sessions which consume invaluable study time. When Hour Tests come along, afternoon practice goes on just the same. Nights and morning hours before the test are the only times left for the player to study. It is in the week that the cuts used on Saturday are needed. It is stated that cuts are to be used only in an emergency. We maintain that an emergency exists during the hour or hours immediately preceding any Hour Test. It is impossible, however, to take these cuts if one is to lose cuts every time the team plays an away game.

The rule is also unfair. It presupposes that everyone takes courses which can be transferred to Saturday. This is of course absurd. Not only are there many subjects held only on Saturday, but even if these could be transferred to Friday one has to assume that one's own schedule does not conflict with the time of the Friday section.

The rule is of course a compromise. It is a compromise between two groups on the Faculty Committee. One group maintains that Williams should be the site of purely scholastic achievement while the other would combine athletics with academics. We of course feel that sports are an integral part of a Williams education. We believe further that more concessions should be made to enable, say, the football player to continue playing and at the same time not be penalized in his studies.

Such a concession would be free cuts for athletic teams. Whenever anything is done at Williams, a quick look is always given other members of the Little Three to see how they handle the same situation. Amherst, of course, has unlimited cuts for all students. At Wesleyan all athletic teams are given free cuts.

Admittedly free cuts for athletic teams is a small problem compared to others. But when the Faculty Committee gets the opportunity, as it soon will, to vote on the question we hope it will see fit to reform the present system so that players can compete in their studies on a more equal level with the non-athletes. We feel that such a move at this time would go a long way toward dispelling the prevalent belief that the Administration will do nothing to support its athletic teams.

We are firmly convinced that the time has come for the Administration to reform its concept of the role of athletics. Now more than ever the college is dependent upon its Alumni for its support. In many cases an alumnus knows nothing about his alma mater except what he sees in the Herald Tribune sports section under "Colleges, East" during the football season. He gauges the success or failure of his college according to its football team. Furthermore, he has been fed a peaches-and-cream story on the number of captains acquired in the recent freshman class. How can he help but call for heads to fall when the college has a poor football season? In other words the Alumni consider football synonymous with Williams. And yet the Faculty maintains that sports are to be as little emphasized and publicized as possible.

We consider this Faculty sentiment excellent, but not when it entails the possibility of ruining a coach's career because it kills the student-athlete's incentive to go out for a sport. Free cuts for athletics are not the solution for losing teams, but they would go a long way toward regaining undergraduate support of the Administration.

Meets Billed For Grapplers

Blakney Leads Team In Quest For Crown

The Tufts wrestling team will see Coach Bullock's sweat and strain boys go into action on December 10 when the Ephmen begin their five-meet season, which will be culminated by the New England's to be held here on March 13 and 14. Captain Chuck Blakney will lead the team in its quest for its second consecutive Little Three Crown.

This year's schedule does not include NYU, Army or Springfield, but McGill University, the Canadian wrestling stronghold, and MIT, the New England champions, are included in their place, to give the squad competition similar to that which will be met in the New England's. The team is just beginning to work out but at this point it looks as if sophomores Billy Kelton and John McRory will be fighting it out for the 121 pound slot in the curtain-raiser, while Cross-country captain Paul Cook, a New England runner-up, looks like a fixture in the 128 pound slot. Hank Hall, who was very impressive late last season, is the leading contender in the 136 pound class, while letterman Grant North seems to stand out in the 145 pound bracket.

Middle Weights Uncertain

155 pounder Steve Woodrich's transfer to Minnesota and the graduation of Jim Boyer, last year's 165 pound grappler, have left those two classes wide open and may possibly leave the Bullock men vulnerable in those spots. Captain Chuck Blakney, another New England runner-up, will again star in the 175 pound class and should compile one of the most impressive records in Williams wrestling annals. Big John Stilwell, whose victory against Amherst clinched the Little Three title last year, is again expected to hold down the unlimited slot.

Assistant coach Harvey Potter, himself an ex-Williams wrestling star, will probably pilot the freshman wrestling team, which will meet Mt. Hermon, Kent, and the Little Three opponents. Though practice has not started yet, reports have it that once again the class of '51 is loaded with material. Hill and Milton have contributed the most talent, the latter by sending Charley Carelton, the New England Interscholastic champ in the 165 pound class.

Capt. Murphy, Higgins Picked On Top Team

Wesleyan Selects men For Little "3" Squad; Lauds Higgins Score

Some of the pleasanter aspects of an otherwise unpleasant football season were brought to light last week by the selection of an All-Opponent, an All-Little-Three Opponent Team and an All-Little-Three Team.

The selections were made by Wesleyan, Little Three Champions for the past two years, which chose Eph Captain, Gene Murphy, and backfield star, Pat Higgins, on its All-Opponent Team. Red-bird Coach, Norman S. Daniels, also picked these two men on the All-Little-Three Team, which the triumphant coach select each year.

Higgins was further honored by the Wesleyan University Argus which states that Pat accounted for the only score against the Wesleyan first team this year. As far as Williams is concerned, Pat has done even better than that. He's scored all the Eph touchdowns for the last two years.

On still another team, the All-Little-Three Opponents Team, the Wesleyan grid aces, undefeated now in more than two seasons, selected six performers from Williams and five from Amherst. The honored Ephmen were Frank Todd, left end; Gene Murphy, left guard; "Froggy" Salmon, right guard; John Glancy, right tackle; Ed Quinlan, quarterback, and Pat Higgins, right halfback.

WINTER LUBRICANTS

will

● Provide thorough lubrication for all parts even during the very coldest weather.

● Make your car ride better and steer easier.

● Help avoid excessive wear that results in expensive repairs.

Bring Your Car
"Back Home" to us for
Winter Lubrication

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

Stop in at Williamstown's
Newest Shoe Store

LUPO'S

Gives 24 Hour Service on Shoe Repairs

AT THE END OF
SPRING STREET

interested in music?

Be sure to read:
OF MIKE AND MEN
an article about RED BARBER MEMORY IS A TRICK
by Leonard Ried
PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITY No. 4
Harold Kinsman

PIC
THE MAGAZINE
FOR YOUNG MEN

... in jazz? — light opera? — symphonic? ... every issue of PIC carries the latest record news and reviews.

Sports • Apparel • Fiction • Careers

In the December issue on all newsstands... 25c.

FAIRFIELDS FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL
AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

McGregor Sportswear
WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS
PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS
C.H. CUTTING & CO.
NORTH ADAMS

House of Walsh
PROUDLY ANNOUNCES
ONE OF THE
MOST COMPREHENSIVE
SKI LINES
IN AMERICA
LOOK HERE NOW

House of Walsh

Why wait until morning?
When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire
Associated Press service in ...
The Transcript
North Adams, Mass.
On Sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newsstands

COUNTRY SHOP

Williamstown, Mass.

LAMPS

FABRICS

RUGS

GIFTS

CHRISTMAS
PRESENTS

On the Bennington Road
Just past Phi Gam

Projector - - -

past year. Last year figures were obtained on estimates of new and second hand machinery. David Bryant, Director of the AMT and chairman of the committee, said that they had now brought these estimates up to date. Tentative plans call for a petition to be sent to the administration explaining the details and signed by chairmen of the interested departments. Inquiries have also been made by the committee to ascertain whether war surplus projector equipment is available. Prof. John H. Roberts, a member of the AMT committee, said, "The more student pressure that is brought to bear on the purchase of this equipment, the better the chances are of getting it."

Chairmen of College departments queried by the Record, said that the acquisition of modern projector equipment would be very much welcomed.

"The Astronomy Department would be all in favor of new projection equipment," said Professor Theodore G. Mehlin. "There are available some marvelous films on sun-spots and other solar activity which we could utilize in our courses."

Departmental Uses

Though the science departments have had a 16 mm projector for over ten years, Prof. Elbert C. Cole of the Biology Department, commented, "There are many fine films of a general nature in the 35 mm size."

When asked if the Art Department could make use of visual education in its courses, Prof. S. Lane Faison replied, "We certainly could. There are many fine films available and suitable for our work."

Professor Winthrop H. Root said that the German Department had already considered the possibilities of language films in its courses, but it had been held back in any positive action because of the lack of adequate equipment. "We would be very happy to have a more modern projector," said Professor Root, "and we will be glad to support any campaign for it."

Speaking for the Political Science Department, Professor Vincent M. Barnett stated that there had been no specific plans formulated for the use of visual education, but that there were a number of very excellent documentary films that could be incorporated in the courses offered by the department. He added that the matter had never been thoroughly exploited because of the inadequate equipment.

Professor Richard A. Newhall of the History Department said that he felt that one College drive at a time would be enough. The need for a new projector is no more pressing now than it has

Football Band Ends Season

Organization May Play At Basketball Games

After playing at the home games and the Wesleyan contest, the Football Band has decided to continue its activities this year by playing for the basketball games and possibly organizing a combination military and semi-concert band, according to director Sidney L. Werkman F-'49.

A great deal of shifting of musicians was necessary at the start of the year to organize a decent band. The repertoire consisted mainly of Williams songs and marches with one notable exception, namely the swing version of "Tiger Rag" that was introduced at the half time intermission of the Amherst game. The crowd enjoyed it, though surprise was registered by some of the Alumni seated near the fifty yard stripe.

Despres - - -

beyond the reach of low income families.

This has two disadvantages. In the first place, it tends to place most of the burden on those people whose present diet contains the smallest "margin of safety." In the second place, if the rise in living costs is accelerated in this fashion, demands for wage increases will be intensified, which it will be both inequitable and inexpedient to ignore. Higher wages in turn will push up the prices of industrial goods, and the inflationary spiral will have another spire.

The alternative to price increases is some other form of rationing. My own view is that a little can be achieved through voluntary rationing although I am convinced that it will not be enough. In making one's own personal decision, however, on whether to comply with the Government's program, it is not necessary to decide whether the program is adequate.

Isn't it better, by complying, to contribute to the accomplishments of the program than, by failing to comply, to be implicated in its shortcomings? In any event, the President's request for power to reimpose compulsory rationing is not likely to be granted, and anything which can be accomplished through voluntary measures to limit the demand for scarce foods will contribute, in some slight measure, to economic stability and welfare.

been for the past ten years. He pointed out that his department would not be able to use films in connection with its courses.

Exchanges

Boston College Heights, Nov. 14-

The Boston College Building Fund, similar to the Williams Building and Endowment Fund, is receiving the support of many campus organizations, which are conducting special drives. The College of Business Administration has sponsored a lottery, with a first prize of $100, along with numerous lesser prizes; while the junior class is now selling chances on ten pairs of tickets to the Holy Cross football game. Interclass and sectional competitions are included in the on-campus drive for funds. Smith College Sean, Nov. 11—Smith planned to conduct a Pin-Up Boy contest, closing November 17. The winner was to be picked Wednesday by a trio of judges from pictures submitted with a ticket to the Charity Ball as first prize.

Connecticut College News, Nov. 5—The World Student fund which is to receive a sum of $3000 from the Williams Chest Fund, in the beneficiary of many drives on American campuses this year. The Brown students also plan to raise $3000 for this fund, and the students of Smith hope to contribute $7000.

In order to comply with President Truman's plan for food conservation, almost all the fraternities at Wesleyan have decided to have no meat on Tuesdays and no poultry on Thursdays.

The students of Bryn Mawr are also supporting this program by launching a campaign to cut down all needless college expenses for the remainder of the year.

Conn. College News, Nov. 5—At Connecticut College the much-debated question of compulsory chapel has again come up for discussion. The general opinion of the Connecticut students, is, strange as it seems, very similar to that of many Williams students; for they also feel that compulsory chapel is an infringement upon the right of freedom of religion.

Four Men Elected To Adelpic Union

The Adelpic Union, the college debating society, last Wednesday night admitted Richard B. Blider F-'50, Lee M. Hydeman '48, Harry C. McDaniel '49, and George C. Thomason '49.

On December 12, four Adelpic members will journey to the University of Vermont at Burlington for a debate with 200 students from New England colleges. Their subject will be "Should Federal World Government be Established?" Richard Goodman '49, and Peter Gutman '49, will represent Williams on the affirmative, while Herbert Vance F-'49, and Francis McConnell '50, will take the negative point of view.

Esther Williams, recently in New Haven on a personal appearance tour with her new picture, was apparently much amused by her election to the office of Honorary Water Boy of the Yale football team. Her reaction to Yale became even more humorous when twenty of Yale's California Club marched up on the stage during her appearance, singing "California, Here I Come," and presented her with a big bunch of roses.

Four Connecticut College outing club members joined with representatives of Mt. Holyoke, Vassar, Wellesley, and other eastern girls' schools in a meeting of the Intercollegiate Outing Club Association held at Dartmouth Friday, November 7. A hike up Mooselock Mountain, a square dance, and a Dartmouth prepared campfire meal were scheduled for the week end.

The Williams Octet will present its second benefit concert for the Williams Building and Endowment Program at the Rye High School auditorium Saturday, November 29. For tickets at $3, or information, write Henry Flynt, Jr., Greenwich, Conn.

MACARTHUR - - -

to fit yet. Most of the fellows . . . At this point, members of the basketball and wrestling squads were circulating freely among the piles of equipment, and one lad, burdened down with a sweat suit, white athletic socks, a T-shirt, and knee pads came staggering over to where we were standing. Jimmy was still putting the new, yellow laces in the shoulder pads. "How about checking this stuff off, Jim?"

Jimmy put the pads down on the table, went over to his desk and pulled out an equipment slip. "Name? How do you spell that?" "Class?" "Now let's see what you've got there."

We closed our notebook, and silently slipped out of the House of MacArthur, Ltd., Clothier for Williams Athletes of Distinction, and started back down the long, dark, passageway.

An Athletic Award Smoker, in line with the new athletic policy to improve the awards and presentations method, will be held in the Lasell Gym, Monday, December 1, at 8:00 p. m.

Coaches Snively, Bullock, and Plansky will make short speeches and present the varsity letter awards for the 1947 fall season.

Paragraphs In News

Approximately 400 persons attended a Thanksgiving social Thursday night at the high school gym given for the benefit of St. Patrick's Church. Whitney's orchestra played for both round and square dancing. Prizes of Thanksgiving turkeys were awarded.

The debate with RPI on the subject: "Is National Socialism Compatible With Democracy?" has been postponed until sometime after Thanksgiving.

Williams Co-op

Presents
The ADLER SOCK

wash them

any way you like

We guarantee the size

OR YOUR MONEY BACK

TUB and RUB and SCRUB them
Guaranteed to Fit for the
Life of the Sock

Young people who study scientific facts should be interested in Adler SC socks. Facts are that we guarantee perfect fit for the life of these 100% virgin wool socks! Or your money back, cheerfully!

Super swell for campus wear—for guys—for gals. No more cramped toes—less mending. And 33% longer life because Adler SC's have Nylon reinforced heel and toe. Creamy white—full sizes 9 thru 13. At all better stores. By the makers of Adler SC Chic Rib nylon-wool slak socks.

THE ADLER COMPANY
Cincinnati 14 • Ohio

Used by ALL
WILLIAMS COLLEGE
Athletic Teams

Williams Co-op

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.
Telephone 3553

The 1896 House

◆ Dancing and Soft
Music

◆ The Best in Wines
and Liquors

◆ Delicious Food

1 mile from town on the road to Pittsfield

STATE ARMORY
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

SATURDAY, November 29

DANCING 7:30 to 12:00

Admission $1.00 plus tax

WE BUY AND SELL
USED AND NEW CLOTHING
Tuxedos for rent
SABIN'S

Corner HOLDEN and CENTER Streets
NORTH ADAMS Telephone 2398-M

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND
GRILL for the best in food,
drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

INSURANCE BROKERS TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

BUS TRAVEL MADE MORE REFRESHING BY STOP FOR COKE

5¢ PLEASE return
empty bottles promptly

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
BERKSHIRE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

© 1947, The Coca-Cola Company

LITTLE THREE NIGHT DECEMBER 30

Frank Dailey's
MEADOWBROOK
CEDAR GROVE, NEW JERSEY

STAN KENTON and his Orchestra
Featuring JUNE CHRISTY

Make your plans now. For information
Bob Blanchard Vic Heerman
at the Deke House Telephone 33

REMEMBER . . .

The Williams Club
24 East 39th St. New York City

When in New York for a weekend
Enjoy this favorite meeting
place of Williams Men

Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL: 498-R

WILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED

ROUTE 2

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

Grain Saving Plan Adoption Urged By UC

All Social Units Asked To Back Meatless And Eggless Days

Brooks, Economists Advise Compliance

Cooperation of Eleven Houses Now Assured

by Ed Kuh
The UC unanimously recommended last Monday that the social units cooperate with President Truman's grain conservation program by observing Meatless Tuesday and Eggless Thursday.

Dean Robert Brooks and four members of the Economics Department expressed their approval of the program following the UC's recommendation, and five houses joined the ranks of the social units which are already supporting the program. The local NSA chapter also stated its strong approval of the anti-waste campaign.

Dewey Approves Move
UC president Henry Dewey '48, asserted that "The UC expects the entire student body to support the program and not to evade it. This will not prove to be a hardship for anyone."

Dean Brooks commended the UC for this move, stressing the underlying economics of the program. He stated that unless voluntary restrictions on the consumption of meat and eggs really work, the country will be faced with two equally difficult alternatives. First, the restoration of cumbersome price and distribution controls, and second, the continued skyrocketing of food prices as a result of government purchases to supply grain for Europe.

Five Houses Cooperate
Five of the ten houses not voluntarily rationing themselves before Thanksgiving, have joined the six cooperating social units. See MEATLESS, page 2

Sanitation Inspection Conducted

Dr. Urmey, Ken Rogers Discover Improvement In Kitchens, Lockers

The general condition of kitchen and food storage areas in the eleven social units on campus has improved over last year, unannounced visits during the past two weeks have shown.

The sanitation inspection was conducted by Dr. Urmey and Ken Rogers of the Health Center and its function was merely in an advisory capacity.

Houses Given Grades
Each social organization has been notified of its showing and its numerical position in the group. A grading was determined on the basis of awarding ten points in ten different categories for a perfect score of one hundred. The general high kitchen standards were shown by the fact that the top score achieved by a social unit was ninety-five while the lowest was in the low eighties.

It was suggested at a number of houses that more adequate refrigeration might be possible, though none had a serious lack of it. Other advice included was the need for more suitable washroom conditions for food handlers and more up to date dining room equipment.

At the conclusion of the inspection, all food handlers were given their annual inspection for See SANITATION, page 2

Frosh Sophs Fined Dollar For Oct. Riot

Fire Equipment, Bike Basis For Charges

A one dollar per capita tax has been levied on every freshman and sophomore resident of Sage, Williams and Lehman Hall to pay for the damages inflicted during the October 13 riot.

Three fire hoses were used during the riot, as well as a number of extinguishers, according to Mr. Charles D. Makepeace, College treasurer. In addition to the expense incurred by the laying out and drying of the hose, it was necessary to clean out and refill the extinguishers, he added.

"Minor repairs were made on one of the doors," Mr. Perry Smedley, superintendent of grounds and buildings, said when questioned as to the extent of carpentry repair work necessary.

An additional expense, Freshman Dean Walter F. Sheehan told the Record, was caused by the destruction of a bicycle. The owner submitted a claim for thirty dollars, which was paid by the Treasurer's Office.

When asked the reason for levying the tax on all men living in the affected dormitories, Mr. Sheehan said, "Since it would have been impossible to pick out all of the guilty men, the fairest thing seemed to us to be to divide the amount of damages proportionately over those men." He added that it would be perfectly satisfactory to the college officials for the freshman class to get together among themselves to decide who was to pay for the damages. "All we care about is that the damages are paid for by someone."

Sperry, Cole, Stern Win Football Polls

Jim Cole, Wally Stern, and Bill Sperry were the winners of the Bastien football polls of November. Sperry picked ten out of ten in the pool on the 22nd for top honors. The other two guessed seven and nine out of ten on the 8th and 15th. Their awards will be either a Williams beer mug or a picture framed free of charge at Bastien's.

Library Gets More Space

New Additions Double Present Shelf-Room

The Stetson Library will draw $220,000 from the Building and Endowment Fund for enlargements which will feature more stock space, faculty offices, and an expanded Political Science department, Librarian Wyllis E. Wright has revealed.

The additions, third on the list of Fund projects, will double the library's present book capacity. "At present, our available shelf space is badly overcrowded," said Librarian Wright. "The addition will give us more room to shelve our books, which we need badly to aid in their preservation."

Studies Enlarged

The new addition will follow the library's Georgian style extending thirty-six feet backwards from the stacks in the form of a "T." The central portion will contain stacks and study space, while the two forty-foot wings will provide faculty studies. The enlargements in the Poly Sci department will make room for tabulating and punch card machines to be used in the Roper Public Opinion series.

"Although the reading room is now adequate," continued the Librarian, "the new addition will See LIBRARY, page 2

Chest Drive Begins Monday; Year's Only Charity Appeal

CHEST FUND BUDGET - 1947

WORLD RELIEF:	$ 3950
World Student Service Fund	$3000
Grenfell Mission	300
Lingnan University	400
Save The Child Federation	250
NATIONAL RELIEF:	750
Tuberculosis Association	250
Infantile Paralysis Foundation	250
Cancer Fund	250
LOCAL RELIEF:	2100
Boy's Club	1700
Williamstown Welfare	400
COLLEGE:	700
Student Aid	300
Williams Christian Association	350
Student Christian Movement	50
EMERGENCY FUND	500
TOTAL	$ 8000

Oxford To Debate Here In January

Tryouts To Be Held Tuesday In Griffin

Two former RAF officers will debate the affirmative side of the question, Resolved that: The social and economic arguments for the nationalization of basic industries are overwhelming, when the Oxford debating team meets Williams on January 16 in Jesup Hall.

Professor George G. Connelly has announced that tryouts for this debate will be held Tuesday, December 9 at 8 p. m. in Griffin Hall. Anyone in college is eligible and must present a three-minute argument on either side of the resolution.

Debating Since October
The three-man Oxford team has been debating with colleges and universities throughout the U. S. since October. Williams, Harvard and Yale are the only New England colleges on their schedule.

The Honorable Anthony N. W. See OXFORD, page 2

Vocational Advice Approved By UC

Vocational guidance talks will be given at various social units on Monday nights from the beginning of March until May as a result of the last Undergraduate Council meeting, in order to help upper classmen select their vocational fields.

Eight Speakers
There will be about eight speakers who have had a great deal of experience in their own fields and can give the upper classmen good descriptions of these fields. Each talk will last about twenty minutes, after which there will be a period open for question from the students present.

The vocations to be covered in the talks will be chosen with regard to questionnaires that have already been filled out by the juniors and seniors showing their vocational preferences. According to the questionnaires, the businesses most popular with the seniors are export-import, advertising, manufacturing, personnel work, graduate work, banking, investment banking, merchandising, journalism, publishing, teaching, and See PLACEMENT BUREAU, p. 2

A Reasonable Demand

Local, national, and world relief are demanding ten dollars from every undergraduate in the form of a contribution to the annual WCA Chest Fund Drive. For those who have read the article on the drive and looked at the budget appearing on this page, it is obvious that the aims are worthwhile and the amount asked not unreasonable.

Of the drive's total budget of eight thousand dollars 58.7% goes to world and national relief. If the emergency fund is used in these fields, they then receive 65% of the total subscribed. Most of the remainder of the fund is used to supplement the work of the Williamstown Community Chest, especially the Boy's Club, which is staffed mostly by undergraduates. Only 4% of the funds go directly to the Christian Association, despite its many charitable activities during the college year.

Later this year, however, students will also be asked to contribute to the Building and Endowment Fund for the college. Financially speaking, for the average undergraduate the combination of the two appeals is at least inconvenient. The tendency will probably be to pick between the two, and contribute to only one. But both are worthwhile; both are indispensable; both must be supported.

As a contribution to the relief of the world food problem, undergraduates are already giving up meat on Tuesday and eggs on Thursday. Considering the truly appalling difference between the standard of living of any undergraduate, no matter what his financial condition, and the standard of living of those on the local, national and international levels of relief touched by this drive, the sacrifice of at most a half pound of meat and two eggs a week is an inconvenience rather than a true hardship.

It is also an inconvenience rather than a true hardship to contribute ten dollars to the Chest Fund Drive. Your social style may be cramped, but not your stomach.

Guilet String Quartet Performs Works Of Brahms, Mozart, Debussy In Second Of Thompson Concerts

by Josiah T. S. Horton

The second concert of this season's Thompson Concert Series was presented by the Guilet String Quartet on Tuesday evening in Chapin Hall. The group's choice of program was especially welcome. The presentation of three such excellent works as Mozart's Quartet in C Major (K. V. 465); Brahms' Quartet in B flat major, Opus 67; and the Debussy Quartet in G minor may indicate that the days when a group played down to a small-town audience are passing.

It seemed to this reviewer that the program increased in worth and enjoyment as each quartet was played. That is to say, each succeeding work was better than that which preceded it. The Mozart was very enjoyable and well-played, the Brahms was more enjoyable, and the Debussy formed the highpoint of the evening.

Mozart "Dissonance"
The program began with the Mozart quartet which has been given the name "Dissonance" because of the extremely modern harmonies and relationships which appear in the introduction to the first movement. The Guilet group displayed great technical ability in their presentation of this work which begins in such an unorthodox manner but becomes a typical later Mozart quartet.

The second part of the concert consisted of the Brahms quartet which received the same artistry. Most noticeable in this work—although the same objection might be made to a lesser degree of other sections of the concert—was some rather poor bowing on the part of Mr. Daniel Guilet, first violinist which resulted in an annoying harsh scraping. Fortunately, this occurred infrequently.

The Brahms work includes a beautiful lyric passage for viola which was played excellently by Frank Brief. The final movement contained a series of variations of that high technical calibre See GUILLET CONCERT, page 2

$8000 Goal Set By W C A For This Year

World Relief To Get Largest Percentage

Graney Heads Drive

Undergraduate Support Needed For Success

by Edward Gouinlock
The Williams Christian Association will launch its annual Chest Fund Drive Monday in an attempt to raise $8,000 for local, national and world charities.

The biggest allocation, $3,950, has been delegated to world relief, $3,000 going to the World Student Service Fund. In the area of national relief, three sums of $250 each will be given to the Cancer Fund, the Tuberculosis Association and the Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

Emergency Fund
The remainder of the fund, including a $500 emergency fund, will be employed in local and campus charities. Since this drive, which will seek an average of $10 from every man on campus, is the only charity drive of the year, the emergency fund has been set aside for appeals which arise during the year.

The drive will run for a week, all pledges received during that period being due by February 1. Chest Fund Chairman Patrick C. Graney '49, has stated that he hopes undergraduates will contribute on a cash basis in order to facilitate the mechanics of the drive.

Chaplain Gordon Hutchins, Captain AUS, will speak at the opening of the drive Monday evening. Having just returned from three years in Europe, he will speak about conditions there. Chaplain Hutchins graduated from Pomfret School, Williams in 1939, and General Theological Seminary, New York City. He was an assistant at St. John's Church, Williamstown, for a year before entering the army in 1944.

Reliefs Carefully Chosen
The Chest Fund Committee has made a careful selection of the charities to which the prospective sum will be allocated in an effort to choose only the worthiest and most appropriate. "Those of us who have recently been in Europe have seen first hand the desperate need for foreign relief," Graney stated, "and we have therefore allocated the greatest proportion of the fund to world relief."

The WSSF, receiving the biggest single grant, is an organization which, together with other groups in eighteen contributing countries, offers aid to foreign students. "In an attempt to rehabilitate students throughout devastated countries, monetary grants, scholarships, monetary grants, scholarships, clothing, medical care, books, and study materials are given needy students."

Other Allocations
The Grenfell Mission, the Lingnan University, and the Save the Children Federation will receive the balance of the amount reserved for world relief. The Grenfell Mission is a mission and hospital in Newfoundland and Labrador with which the Christian Association has long been associated.

Lingnan, a Chinese University which the fund has contributed to since 1916, has been impoverished by the war. The Save the Children Federation extends direct charity See CHEST DRIVE, page 2

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

Editor-in-Chief.....J. David Maier, '48
Managing Editor.....Charles H. Klensch, '48
Sports Editor.....Barrett F. Emmert, '48
Copy Editor.....Robert A. Rupen, '48
Senior Associate Editor.....Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
Office Manager.....Ben B. Foster, II, '48
Make-up Editor for this issue.....J. EDWARD PAWLICK, '49

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer.....Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers.....Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
.....Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Circulation Manager.....Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager.....Oren T. Pollock, '49

Volume LXI

DECEMBER 6, 1947

Number 17

The Big Step

The Athletic Smoker held in Lasell Gymnasium last Monday night was the first concrete evidence of appreciation of the contribution of athletics at Williams. It was a big step in the proper direction, and the Athletic Council and the Purple Key deserve the highest praise for their work in the organization of what must become a college tradition.

Perhaps Monday night's affair was not as elaborate as it might have been. And certainly the attendance (165) was nothing to boast about. But the meeting was put ahead two weeks at the last minute, and therefore there was little time for planning and publicity.

Formerly letter-winners received no real recognition for spending at least two hours per day, six or seven days of the week, in workouts and games which often left the participant in no shape to concentrate on studies. Upon being informed by mail that they could pick up their awards at the Athletic Office, letter-winners then thumbed through a large stack of cheap felt letters paper-clipped to a terse certificate of award. After a few cleanings or washings the awards faded or ran over the sweater.

At the athletic smoker, for the benefit of the 942 undergraduates not present, awards were presented personally by the coaches of the various fall sports. This ceremony was followed by President Baxter's introduction of Vic Butterfield, President of Wesleyan and former star quarterback for Cornell, who presented a most absorbing impromptu speech. The meeting was closed with the traditional singing of "The Mountains", which incidentally sounded like a funeral dirge sung by the friends of a friendless man.

In addition to the actual meeting, two other improvements have been made. The distinction between major and minor sports has been abolished and the award itself has been changed to top quality chenille.

Obviously these improvements in athletic awards and the method of their presentation do not make heroes of athletes. But they at least show those men who contribute a considerable amount of their time and energy that their efforts do not go completely unnoticed.

Guilet - - -

which Brahms delighted in attaining. The group made this section of the work one of the most interesting and enjoyable.

Debussy Best

As a member of the audience said, "The Debussy Quartet was made to live by its performance by the Guilet Quartet." This was truly the greatest achievement of the evening. Both from a technical aspect and from sheer lyric beauty, this work seems almost unsurpassed in quartet literature.

And it received from the Guilet String Quartet the great performance it deserved.

The members of the Guilet String Quartet which made its first appearance in Williamstown—and a very successful one—are Daniel Guilet, first violin; Jac Gorodetsky, second violin; Frank Brief, viola; and Lucien Kirsch, cello. It is interesting to know that all four instruments used were made by the Amati family, a great violin-making family of the 16th and 17th centuries in Cremona.

Placement Bureau Library - - - salesmanship.

Halsted Selected

Henry M. Halsted '48 was selected by the Undergraduate Council to act with Mr. Wyckoff, Director of the Placement Bureau, in making the necessary arrangements with the fraternities and undergraduates for these talks.

Civil Service Exams

On December 10 two representatives, Mr. I. M. Dow and Mr. W. Oncken, from the Naval Gun Factory and the Naval Ordnance Laboratory of Washington, D. C. will come here to interview seniors with regard to taking civil service exams. These exams, if passed satisfactorily, will make the seniors taking them eligible to become chemists, physicists, or mathematicians in Naval Ordnance Laboratories in Washington, D. C., Maryland, Virginia, Florida, and California.

Sanitation - - -

any discernible diseases that might be passed on to the students and here also, Dr. Urmy pointed out, "no scandal has been found."

brarian, "we need more room in the front part of the building to add to the Chapin Library and in which to display many rare volumes which the library owns, but is unable to shelve."

Forty new faculty offices will be included in the addition, releasing the larger studies for seminar work, the librarian explained.

200,000 Volumes Now Available
When the library staff moved from Lawrence Hall in 1923, they installed 178,000 volumes in the new Stetson Library. At present, more than 200,000 volumes, including those in the Laboratory Libraries, are on hand for student use.

Mr. Wright stated that those who work in the library spend a great deal of time shifting and re-shelving to make room for other editions. This task, plus that of weeding out the unused books, creates a lot of work which will be eliminated when the new stacks are available.

Chest Drive - - - to young children of Europe.

Local Relief

A sum of $2,100 has been reserved for local relief, including donations to the Williamstown Boy's Club and to local welfare. The Williamstown Welfare amount affords local relief in the form of food, clothing, and medical care. $700 is being given to college charities. A Student Aid fund has been established for the purpose of meeting the emergency needs of individual students. This amount also provides for the operating expenses of the Williams Christian Association; and it includes a donation to the Student Christian Movement, an organization which coordinates the efforts of the individual Christian Associations throughout the country.

Oxford - - -

Benn and Mr. David K. Harris compose the team which will appear here on January 18. Benn, 22, is the son of Viscount Stansgate.

An RAF pilot during the war, he served in England, South Africa, and in the Fleet Air Arm. He has been a member of the Labour Party since 1942 and was selected parliamentary candidate earlier this year.

Son of Engineer

Harris, 28, is the son of an engineer and received a High School education before entering Oxford in 1938. During the War he served in the Royal Artillery, the RAF, and in 1945 was attached to the Medical Corps on Psychiatric Research.

Since then he has refounded an Oxford literary magazine contributed to several British magazines, and broadcast over the B. B. C.

FAIRFIELDS FARM

GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA

Telephone 121

Williamstown, Mass.

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER

HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corona

Underwood

Royal

Lamb's
STATIONERY STORE

108 Main Street
North Adams

IN PERSON
STAN KENTON
AND HIS ORCHESTRA

LITTLE THREE

NIGHT

DECEMBER 30

Frank Dailey's
MEADOWBROOK

CEDAR GROVE, N. J.

Make up your plans now.

For Information

BOB BLANCHARD
VIC HEERMAN

at the Deke House

Telephone 33

Meatless - - -

bringing the total of participants up to eleven. Delta Upsilon plans to join now that the UC has taken action. Alpha Delta Phi, Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, and Sigma Phi have not yet complied.

Students reacted apathetically to the idea of meatless and eggless days. Gerald F. O'Brien '49, voiced current sentiment, saying "It seems stupid. No one does anything about it and nobody seems to care."

Economists Back Program

Four members of the Economics Department, Professors Walter B. Smith, David L. Cass, Svend Laurson and Kermit Gordon endorsed Professor Emile Despres' article in the November 26 issue of the RECORD, advising support of voluntary rationing.

Said Prof. Smith: "The factual summing up is admirably clear. I am pessimistic about the effectiveness of voluntary rationing, but more so about successful legislation of compulsory rationing, so we should cooperate."

Meat Wasteful

Dean Brooks pointed out to the UC and the RECORD that the basic problem was whether food should be in the form of grain or meat. A bushel of grain milled for bread produces two to five times more calories than the meat derived from one bushel of feed grain. From this it is clear that the United States will be better able to feed Europe by cutting down on the amount of grain used as fodder.

The campus NSA backs the anti-waste campaign fully, NSA chairman Henry M. Halsted '48, announced. Charles Luckman praised the nation-wide efforts of NSA to eliminate waste, as the savings people are asked to make will mean 100 million bushels of grain for the people of Europe.

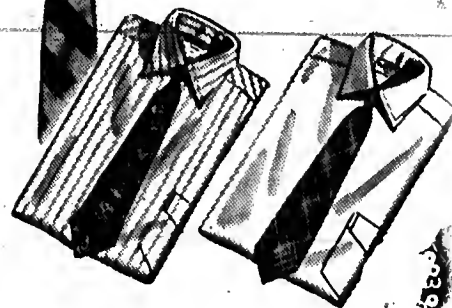

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE "SUSSEX" ...by Arrow

If you're a gent who has a bent for a widespread collar.

Holler for an Arrow "Sussex," the classic of the spread collars.

Comes in fine Oxfords, and broadcloths, whites, solid colors and stripes.

Price $3.25 and up.

DO CLOTHES MAKE THE MAN? Send for your free copy of "The What, When and Wear of Men's Clothing"—a handy guide for men who want to dress wisely and well. Write to: College Dept., Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., 10 East 40th Street, New York 16, N. Y.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Stay At The

Worthy Inn

MANCHESTER, VERMONT

NOW OPEN YEAR 'ROUND 4-SEASON RESORT

Plan Xmas and New Year's Holidays Here

FISHING • HUNTING • GOLF • RIDING • SKIING

190 Mi. From N. Y. C.; 130 Mi. From Boston

RATES $7 to $11 DAILY, AMER. PLAN

Write for Brochure "X" Phone Resv. Manchester (Vt.) 92

Business, too, must have expert navigation

IN the telephone business, much of the knowledge of "where we are" and guidance as to "where we are headed" comes from the analysis of statistics.

Telephone statisticians and engineers are constantly studying trends and figures. They assemble the facts, analyze them, correlate them, discover their significance, draw guidance from them.

The work of these men is vital to our never-ending task of improving telephone service. In such work many college-trained men have found satisfying and rewarding careers.

And this is but one of the many interesting phases of the telephone business.

There's opportunity and adventure in telephony.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Butterfield, Baxter Speak At First Athletic Smoker

Awards In Fall Sports Given By Coaches; Purple Key Sponsor

The Purple Key Society sponsored the first Williams Athletic Smoker held in Lasell Gym last Monday night. Chief speakers for the occasion were Dr. Victor Butterfield, President of Wesleyan, and Williams' President James Phinney Baxter, III. Brief speeches were also made by coaches who concluded by awarding letters to the members of their teams.

Dr. Butterfield, former Cornell quarterback, climaxed the evening with a defense of football as played by the small colleges. He spoke out against the "football man" which is sweeping the country, stressing that players in college should not be "pampered" and that at Wesleyan two hours of practice each afternoon was all the undefeated Cardinals ever got. At the same time he praised the high scholarship of the team.

Praises Ups and Downs
He noted that the present discrepancy between the Williams and Wesleyan football teams is only a recent development, and that in the past the Purple dealt rather harshly with its Connecticut rivals. He stated that "each dog has his time to howl," and praised the ups and downs of football rivalry as being healthy and desirable.

President Baxter preceded Butterfield, mentioning the differences between Little Three and "Big Time" football. He stated that Army and Navy finance practically their entire athletic systems, including intramural sports and most coaches' salaries, out of the profits from football alone. He said that in contrast Williams cannot even support its football team on proceeds from that sport and must have a special athletic tax for that purpose.

Williams "Poorer"
He went on to say that although Williams was "poorer" than the other members of the Little Three, it nevertheless supported more teams than either Amherst or Wesleyan. He stressed the fact that despite this, Williams spends about eight thousand dollars more per year on athletics than does Amherst.

He stated that past records indicate the success of the Williams system, noting that in football he held substantial won-lost edges over all of our present football rivals.

Wheeler MC
Danny Wheeler, Purple Key President, acted as MC. He explained that the innovation of a smoker was the result of action taken by the Athletic Council last year, and stated that one was planned to conclude each season of sports in the future. He told the crowd of about 160 students that the improved athletic awards were also the result of measures taken last year by the Council.

Coach Tony Plansky spoke briefly for the cross country team. Captain Herb Chisholm, only senior on the squad, received his letter first, followed by Paul Cook, next year's captain elect. Plansky then awarded the rest of the varsity letters, after which the yearling harrier were called to get their numerals.

Bullock For Soccer
Coach Bullock then spoke for the varsity and Jayvee soccer teams. He announced that although the team was at one time only one goal away from the Little Three Championship, he had decided at the last minute to save the college the expense of buying Little Three medals. He awarded the letters to the varsity following which the Jayvees received their numerals.

Coach Clarence Chaffee complimented his freshmen booters, and Coach Harv Potter followed Chaffee stressing the cooperation and teamwork necessary for the frosh footballers' undefeated and untied season.

Applause For Snively
Coach Whoop Snively of the football team drew the heaviest applause as he went to the microphone. He praised the team for being able to "stick it through" when the "sledding was roughest." He stated that he had never seen a team at Williams which had so many players stay through till the end and see the job finished. He then asked members of the team to come up by classes to receive their letters, and it was worthy of note that the largest group was the sophomore delegation.

Cross Country Big Three

Herb Chisholm, captain, and Paul Cook, captain-elect, receive letters from Coach Tony Plansky.

Eph Six Gets Bid To Play

Skaters To Appear In Buffalo During Xmas

The Williams Hockey Team has been invited by its alumni association in Buffalo to participate in the first Intercollegiate Hockey Series to be held in that city December 29-January 4. Other colleges invited by their respective alumni associations are Colgate, Princeton, Dartmouth, and Clarkson Tech.

This series of matches to be played at Memorial Auditorium has been established through the interest of a group of college alumni in Buffalo for the following purposes:

1. To aid college teams in financing Christmas vacation training period for the improvement of the intercollegiate game.
2. To provide hockey enthusiasts and college alumni in Buffalo the opportunity to see leading teams and players in action.
3. To build up the national recognition of Buffalo as a hockey city.

See HOCKEY, page 4

Frosh Winter Sports Start

Many Candidates Out; Quintet Has Most

An enthusiastic freshman class has swamped Coaches Coombs, Muir, and Chaffee in their attempt to fill the positions open on the Williams winter teams. Basketball led with forty-one candidates.

Early scrimmages have seen Dewey Fagerburg contribute some fine one-handed shooting, while Dave Jackson has shown up well as a play-maker. Chuck Puscy and Bob Larsen both possess backboard-controlling height along with a lot of valuable experience.

More Talent

Pittsfield High has sent a tricky ball handler in Al Bianchi, while frosh football captain Ernie Mierzejewski seems to be a real play-maker. Jack Fraser, last year's high scoring Deerfield ace, and Bill St. Clair will definitely be in the running for a starting berth, as will Fritz Zeller, a proven speed merchant on both the gridiron and the hardwood floor.

Headed by John Snyder, Jim Porter, and Richard Lippencott, a twenty-two man aggregation reported to Bob Muir for the freshman swimming team. Snyder was the Interscholastic champion in the 100-yard breast-stroke, while Porter was runner-up in the same event, and Lippencott, a steady distance swimmer, will give the yearlings strength in the 200 and 440-yard races.

In squash, Coach Clarence Chaffee was in charge.

See FROSH, page 4

Whitney, Donnelly, Cook Are Chosen Next Fall's Captains

After the college smoker Monday night the football and soccer lettermen met to elect their captains for next fall. Dick Whitney was selected by the gridmen; the booters chose Frank Donnelly. At a previous election Paul Cook was named Cross-country captain elect.

"A Winning Team"

Whitney, a Chi Psi from Glen Dale, Ohio, graduated from Walnut Hills High School in Cincinnati. During his two years there he played back on the football team, winning an All-State Honorable Mention, and guard on the basketball team. As a senior, Dick captained both these sports. After one term at Williams in the spring of '45, he joined the Navy. Fifteen months later he was discharged with the rate of Radio Operator 1/c. Dick re-entered Williams last fall, played back on the football team and center mid-field in his first year at lacrosse. He is in the WCA, and this summer was president of the sophomore class, which position placed him on the Honor System and Discipline Committees.

His ideas on the 1948 football team are optimistic. "In the light of this year's team, we're hoping to overcome all the obstacles and come up with a winning team next year."

"Both Next Fall"

Frank Donnelly, a Kap from Princeton, N. J. played inside right for the soccer team this fall. He is conceded to be one of the steadiest men in the line. Graduating from Deerfield in '44, Frank put in time in the Air Corps as a cadet. After his discharge he entered Williams in the Spring of '46. This winter he is on the Varsity Squash team. Asked how the Bullockmen would do next fall, he said, "Having beaten Amherst last year and Wesleyan this year, we'll be out to take them both next fall."

Harrier captain Paul C. Cook, from Edgewood, R. I. graduated from Moses Brown School. While there he ran cross-country and the two-mile in Spring track. He was on the swimming team but after a back injury Paul turned to wrestling and now rounds out the Eph squad in the 128-lb. category. Last year he was the runner-up in the New England Intercollegiate. Before coming to Williams in the Spring of '46, Paul served an eighteen month stretch in the Marines. He and the rest of the Plansky aggregation have high hopes of pulling down the Little Three Championship again next year.

"Tom, isn't it wonderful—a whole box of Dentyne Chewing Gum!"

"Darling, we'll take the whole box along on our honeymoon. I can't wait to enjoy that refreshing, long-lasting flavor of Dentyne Chewing Gum! And flavor isn't all. Dentyne helps keep teeth white, too."

Dentyne Gum—Made Only by Adams

INSURANCE BROKERS TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

"MY HOW THE TIME GOES BY..."

when you're listening to HAL MCINTYRE'S newest (MGM) record

ONE OF the grooviest ork-pilots on the MGM record roster is Hal McIntyre. Like so many other top-notch performers, Hal is a Camel fan from 'way back. He prefers Camels because: "Camels suit me best all ways."

For the same reason—more people are smoking Camels than ever before! A great new record for a long-time favorite.

Try Camels. Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience."

Nothing suits me like a
CAMEL.
I've smoked them for years!

And here's another great record—

More people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!

House of Walsh

PROUDLY ANNOUNCES

ONE OF THE
MOST COMPREHENSIVE

SKI LINES

IN AMERICA

LOOK HERE NOW

House of Walsh

BOOKS MAKE LASTING CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

This season we offer a new free service in GIVE-A-BOOK CERTIFICATES which makes it possible for you to give books to anyone—anywhere—and be certain every time that your gift book will be exactly right. Merely come in and buy a book certificate which can be redeemed in bookstores the country over.

Current Fiction and Non-Fiction

Christmas Greeting Cards

Christmas Wrappings

College Book Store

Spring St. Raymond Washburne

Critic Praises Glee Club

Well-Balanced Tone, Training Lauded

In a review in the Providence Journal, Ruth Tripp lauded the Williams Glee Club's "unusually well-balanced volume of tone" in its opening concert at Pembroke College November 22.

Miss Tripp stated, "Clear diction and neatly finished phrases were evidence of good training. Mr. Barrow has a decisive beat, and the young singers responded well to his direction." The entire performance was very well received, and was the "kind of singing which one remembers for days."

Good Entrance

"The entrances of the men's voices in the 'Confutatis' was one of the high spots. The dramatic effect of the 'Dies Irac' was heightened by the speed with which it was sung."

"The program closed with 'Chorus of Homage' by Brahms and it provided a spirited ending to the fine concert which was well supported by the artistic accompaniments of the three pianists."

Paintings, Bronzes, Textiles On Display

Lawrence Exhibition Will Start Monday

Two exhibitions of early Italian paintings and Egyptian bronzes and Coptic Textiles began Monday at the Lawrence Art Museum and will remain on view until December 21.

Professor Karl Weston, Director of the Lawrence Art Museum, said that the paintings of the Florentine and Sieneese schools of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries reflect the influence of the great masters of the schools.

In another gallery are shown rare examples of Coptic Textiles of the fourth and sixth centuries and forty bronze statuettes from ancient Egypt. These objects are from the extensive collections of Mr. Horace Meyer of Williams-town.

The collection of paintings is supplemented by three panels from the museum's paintings, and a Saint Catherine in the manner of Simone Martini lent by Professor Asa H. Morton. "A Madonna Adoring the Child" by Jacopo del Sellaio, a pupil of Fra Lippo Lippi, has been lent by Mr. Weston.

Hockey - - -

center and to increase interest in the game among young players.

4. To provide from the surplus, if one is earned, funds for scholarships available to college students from Buffalo.

If these matches are successful, it is planned to continue them annually with the hope of creating a hockey event of national reputation for Buffalo.

The Purple's first contest is scheduled for Monday, December 29 against the strong Dartmouth Six. Then on New Year's Eve Williams will meet the Princeton Tigers in the second half of a doubleheader. Finally on Sunday afternoon, January 4, the Red Raiders of Colgate will oppose the Ephs. All of these matches will be parts of doubleheaders.

Frosh - - -

fee faces the same problem that Muir is tackling in swimming. There are thirty-five freshmen out for the team, but only a few experienced men. Chaffee does have a star in Rich Allen, number two-man at Middlesex, and number three on the varsity ladder here at Williams. He also has Bill Windle and Bud Treman, both of Deerfield, and George Muller, who played at Tabor. However, the rest of his team will be made up of men with very brief backgrounds in the game.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL: 498-R

WILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED
ROUTE 2
OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

Mascots of your Sport

STERLING JEWELRY Handfinished

B Ski Tie Clip	C Ski Pin
F. pr Ski Pole Earrings or
S-1 Skate Pin	$4.80 ea.
A Ski Pole Cuff Links	$7.20 pr.
S-2 Pair of Skates Pin or
H Crossed Poles Pin	$9.00 ea.
E Ski Pole Bracelet	$9.00 ea.
V Skis & Poles Pin	$12.00 ea.

Federal tax included
Send Check or Money Order
Shipped Promptly First Class
Write for leaflet

Design Patents 3 inch ski
CHARLES ARCULARIUS, Dept. R, New Canaan, Conn.

With the creamy-rich lather of Seaforth Shaving Soap, the heather-fresh exhilaration of Seaforth Lotion, you're headed for better, pleasanter grooming. Enjoy them yourself... soon! These and other Seaforth essentials, packaged in handsome stoneware, only $1.

Seaforth, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, N. Y. 20

THE MUSIC HOUSE

RECORDS - RADIOS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
PIANOS

34 Bank St. North Adams

THE IDEAL PLACE
FOR YOUR
CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

IRENE'S Gift Shop

where Mrs. King will be glad to offer shopping hints. Avoid the rush when you are home

By Buying Now At IRENE'S

(WALDEN) THEATRE

SUNDAY - MONDAY

SONG OF THE THIN MAN

With

WILLIAM POWELL
MYRNA LOY

TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY

FOREVER AMBER

Starring

LINDA DARNELL

Special prices for this engagement
$1.20 incl. tax

THURSDAY

DUST BE MY DESTINY

JOHN GARFIELD

The Williams Record

Volume LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1947

Number 18

Roosevelt Says UN Force Needed To Put Down Arabs

Mid-East Expert Notes Flaws In Palestine Plan

The United Nations will need to use strong force next spring to put down serious Arab resistance to the recent Palestine partition, Kermit Roosevelt said last Thursday at a Lecture Committee talk in Jesup Hall. He added it is difficult to see where they will get the force.

Former army and State Department officer in the Near-East, Roosevelt said that the U.S. pressed hard for partition that it is regarded as the power mainly responsible for it. He mentioned that the Arab states blame the U.S. already, and other countries will do so if partition causes the bloodshed and chaos he expects. Increased Anti-Semitism Expected

The creation of a separate Jewish political state will result in increased anti-Semitism throughout the world, but particularly in Arab and Moslem countries, Roosevelt continued. He stated that two reasons make him fear this increase even in the U.S.:

"1) The Zionists claim to speak on behalf of all Jews. They also claim that the Jews are a homeless people and that they all have rights in Palestine. You cannot have rights without corresponding obligations. I am afraid that the appeals of Zionists to American Jews on behalf of the new Jewish state may create doubts in many people's minds as to the first loyalty of American Jews.

"2) The interests of the U.S. and the new state will be in conflict, and the support we have given this new state will soon create obvious damage to our interests in an important part of the world. This will be blamed upon the Jews."

Williams NSA Elects Officers For This Year

Commission Established For Information On European Situation

At a meeting of the Williams NSA committee, Tuesday the 2nd, the officers for the year were elected, and the immediate activities of the committee were outlined by the twenty men present who represented the fifteen houses and the Garfield Club. Henry M. Halsted '48, was elected president, Peter Gutman '48, secretary, William Falconer '49, treasurer, and Seth Bidwell '49, publicity manager.

A Commission of Domestic and International affairs, which will be headed by Williams Everett '51, was established, and this commission will start work immediately compiling information concerning opportunities for study and travel in Europe. Word has been received by the committee, from the Institute of International Education, of 650 openings in the English universities for the summer of 1948, and Everett said that he would contact this organization immediately concerning these openings.

Ship-Space Reserved
The universities offering admission include the Universities of Oxford, London, Leeds, Birmingham, and several others, tuition, board and room for the six weeks will amount to $240 - $280.

The Cunard White Star Line is reserving 500 places for American students who will attend British summer schools. If any student is interested in this opportunity, he should contact his house NSA representative, or Everett, See NSA, page 4

Kermit Roosevelt

W O C Plans 11th Carnival

Features Will Follow Pre-War Program

When the 11th annual Winter Carnival begins on Friday, March 5, it will be the first Outing Club Carnival to be held since "a inexpensive, patriotic" weekend was sponsored in January, 1942. A big dance had been planned in '42, but Pearl Harbor necessitated its cancellation.

Plans have not yet been completed for the 1948 Carnival, but it is expected to be similar to those held before the war. It will not take the place of the regular spring houseparty.

1940 Carnival Reported
The entertainment at the 1940 Carnival, a typical affair, featured a perpetual ski meet, two dances, and a torch-light ski exhibition on Sheep Hill.

Only four of every ten girls brought skis with them to Williamstown, a RECORD survey showed. In fact, some students even went so far as to warn their dates not to bring them.

Hope Expressed for Indoor Sports
"Not that she can't ski, but I hope she'll like indoor sports better," commented one senior, evidently an old hand at Williams Winter Carnivals. The less expensive WINTER CARNIVAL, page 4

Fine Acting, Superb Sets Of One-Act Plays Delight An Enthusiastic Audience

by Paul R. Barstow

One great performance and two very fine ones, combined with superb sets to make Friday night's offerings the most exciting and interesting sheer theater the Adams Memorial Theater has provided in long months. A moderately full house was moved and delighted by turns, and continuously enthusiastic. Those who reneged on buying season tickets may now know that they sold themselves short.

Portrait of a Madonna
Tennessee Williams' "Portrait of a Madonna" was dominated by a great performance. Our appreciation of Mrs. Chaffee tends to be dulled by our acceptance of her superb talent and artistry, as somehow in the course of nature. This is deceptive, for every bit of her stage business is so carefully artful as to appear naturally perfect. By sheer dramatic power, she dominated the originally uncomprehending house, which laughed at the most poignant of her opening lines, until she brought home the full impetus of a great characterization. Miss Collins, the genteely insane old maid, who imagines herself to be repeatedly raped by the man who spurned her, is a static character. The

Warnings Rise Vassar Prexy Says Teach Marriage Here

Half Of Student Body Listed At Mid-Term

50.5% of the college received warnings last week—a 10% increase over the figure last fall. The only explanation advanced to date is that the psychological stimulus that gave rise to abnormally high scholastic standards at Williams in the post-war period has worn off.

The increase was a general one and not confined to any particular class or classes. Although the present freshman class showed a 12% increase over last fall's newcomers, their 59% is still slightly less than the pre-war norm. This was expected, as they are the cream of the crop of college freshmen, and because of the continuity of their education.

War-time Standards Low

In round numbers, the members of the sophomore and junior classes who received warnings increased by 12% and 9%, to 56% and 50%, respectively. Both these figures are higher than the pre-war standards. According to Dean Robert R. Brooks, this may be explained by the number of students in those classes who were admitted during the war period, when admission standards were very low, and who have since returned to school.

Senior Ratio Increases

The ratio of 31% for the class of 1948 still compares favorably with pre-war figures. However, although this group got 10% less warnings than when it was the junior class last fall, it is 10% above last year's seniors. This, is because seniors invariably get far fewer warnings than do juniors. Juniors also invariably do better than the younger classes.

Vet Warnings Insignificant

Except for the freshman class, no breakdowns have been made as yet to distinguish vets from non-vets. In this class, veteran warnings were 5% above the class percentage. However, there are so few vets in the group that the figure is significant only in that it substantiates a general trend noticed in last year's breakdown.

Percentages for married and single students have not yet been calculated.

Sarah Gibson Blanding, Vassar College president, says that a course in marriage and home management should be taught in men's colleges—for example, Williams, Harvard, Yale, and Princeton—in a December Women's Home Companion article entitled "If I Were President of a Men's College."

Miss Blanding states that it is just as important to teach the fundamentals of home economics, budgeting, marriage, and child psychology to students at men's colleges as to those at Vassar, Smith, and Bryn Mawr. She does not mention, however, that Vassar offers no such course.

To Meet Modern Problems

The article points out that the home is "the foundation unit upon which all civilization and human progress must be built," and

—V.C. Miscellaneous News
Sarah Gibson Blanding

that the ultimate object of American educators "must be to produce men and women capable of meeting all the complex problems of modern life with confidence and wisdom."

Miss Blanding says she would offer a "capsule course" which would encompass "not only sex, but economics, household budgeting of both time and money, personality problems, child psychology, and the duties of citizenship." This program would be designed to turn out "well-adjusted human beings, equipped with sufficient perspective to meet adult problems with vision, humor, and forbearance, salted with the knowledge of human values and relationships which we hope they have learned in college."

Five Houses Pledge Men

Ten men have been pledged to fraternities in the past two weeks under post-season rushing rules. Kappa Alpha and Phi Delta Theta took three apiece, Zeta Psi two, and Phi Sigma Kappa and Delta Kappa Epsilon one each.

Pledgings announced last week were: freshmen David W. Fay, George M. Hopfenbeck, Jr., and Paul F. Avery, Jr., were taken by Kappa Alpha. Phi Delta Theta pledged Timothy M. Bray, '51, Robert G. VanGorder '50, and Richard G. Jones '49.

Gerald F. O'Brien '49, and Robert M. Griffin '51, were pledged by Zeta Psi. Phi Sigma Kappa took Harry S. Sheehy Jr. '51, and Delta Kappa Epsilon pledged married student George C. Thomson '49.

Special Building and Endowment Fund and Christmas Issues of the Record will be published Monday and Thursday instead of the regular Saturday and Wednesday issues.

Amherst Accepts "Challenge"; Introduces New Curriculum

Cash, Tours, Jobs Offered Writers

Three Contests Open For Stories, Essays

Prolific authors may have a field day if they send their works of creative genius to the sponsors of three contests that have been announced recently.

The most lucrative of the contests is that sponsored by Writers Talent Scout, Inc. Cosmopolitan Magazine will pay $1500 for the serial rights to the winning entry in the short story division and an additional $1500 will be divided between the other winners. The creator of the best movie plot will receive $1000 cash plus a ten-week contract at $187.50 from Allied Artists Productions. Cash awards will also be made for suggestions for weekly radio shows and of motion picture titles.

Entrants in the contest are requested to write Writers Talent Scout, Inc., 1067 N. Fairfax Avenue, Hollywood, California for further information before sending any manuscripts.

Two free summer trips to the Scandinavian countries are offered as prizes in the Swedish-American Line's contest for the best essays on "The Influence of Swedish Settlers on a Community or Region." Entries should be addressed to Swedish-American Line, 636 Fifth Avenue, New York 20, N. Y.

Tomorrow magazine offers a $500 first and $250 second prize for the best short story. All manuscripts received will be considered for publication and the authors of those accepted will receive $125.

Manuscripts labeled "College Contest" and not exceeding 5000 words should be sent with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Tomorrow magazine, 11 East 44th Street, New York 17, N. Y.

Fuller details on these contests are posted on the bulletin board in Jesup Hall.

Outers Extend Skiing Run

Klein Takes Charge Of Sheep Hill Work

The Sheep Hill ski run will be increased to almost double its present length when plans of the Williams Outing Club to extend the existing ski tow across Bee Hill Road are completed.

Work has already begun, under the supervision of Gus Klein '48, president of the WOC, on the proposed addition, which will make the Sheep Hill trail one of the most attractive to ski enthusiasts in this area. The present run is approximately 900 feet in length, and will have been increased by about 800 feet when the work is completed.

Residents of the area whom would be affected have agreed that a tow to be put across the road, impassable in the winter months, provided that it is removed as soon as the road is again suitable for traffic.

The Outing Club last week expressed the hope that the present tow, together with the new extension, will be put in operation as soon as possible, in order to take full advantage of the first snowfalls, and called all interested undergraduates to take part in the work now being done on the Sheep Hill run.

The improved Sheep Hill slope still will be open to the public at a nominal fee, since the WOC is a non-profit-making organization and most of the work is being done by members of the club.

Few Electives Available To Freshmen Under New System

8% Frosh Warnings Under New System

by Herb Mohring

As an answer to what president Charles W. Cole felt to be a challenge to the liberal arts college "to make its distinctive contribution," Amherst College has adopted a new curricular program which became effective in September for this year's freshman class.

The new program, which involves a four course schedule, twenty-three and one-half hours of weekly class work for the freshmen and a liberal use of the "laboratory method" in courses other than the natural sciences, was adopted after several years of study by a faculty committee.

Four Course Schedule

From now on, all Amherst students will take almost the same courses during their first two years of college. A combination course in physics and math and one in written English and literature are among the four taken by each freshman. Another is a social science course which includes a study of history and other allied fields. Unless a reading knowledge of a language has been shown, a freshman must study an ancient or modern language as a fourth course. Otherwise he may choose an elective similar to those offered Williams freshmen.

During the sophomore year, Amherst men may choose between a language course at the literature level or "fine arts-drama-music." In the natural sciences, the sophomore may elect either a combined biology-chemistry course or "Evolution of the Earth and Man." The latter is a study covering biology, anthropology, and geology from an evolutionary standpoint.

"American Problems"

The third required course for sophomores is a study of "American Problems" consisting of twelve questions in the field of United States history. The "Problems" range from "What Caused the American Revolution?" to "Was the New Deal a Revolution?"

"The point is that every student, by the end of his sophomore year, will have had a chance to sample and actually to do something with every major field," Dr. Cole said in summary. Since concentration on the major field only begins in the junior year, work in this field is more intensified.

Class Hours

The typical Amherst freshman spends four hours in class and two in his math-physics lab. English classes take four and one-half hours and one hour of public speaking each week. Social Science and language take five and three hours in classes respectively. He must also go to a weekly four-hour language conference.

According to the New York Herald Tribune, freshmen seem to be having a great deal of difficulty with the math-physics course. Amherst graduate David B. Truman, Associate Professor of Political Science at Williams, commented "The problem is one usually met in survey courses. A really new course must emerge and not just a condensation of two old ones. Resistance to integration is likely to be greater in the area of natural sciences."

Gin Rummy and Study

According to Dean C. Scott Porter, only eight percent of the freshman class, twenty men, received falling mid-term warnings under the new system this year. Only six men received probationary warnings, less than half the normal expectation at this time of year.

When asked if the low warning rate was due to the new system, See AMHERST, page 4

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

Editor-in-Chief.....J. David Moier, '48
Managing Editor.....Charles H. Klensch, '48
Sports Editor.....Barrett F. Emmert, '48
Copy Editor.....Robert A. Ripen, '48
Senior Associate Editor.....Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
Office Manager.....Ben B. Foster, II, '49
Make-up Editor for this issue.....Robert Taylor '49

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

H. Russell Platt '48, Seth M. Bidwell '49, Russell B. Frost '49, Robert S. Taylor '49,
John H. Schofer '48, Jerry J. Cole '49, Edwin Kuh '49,
William R. Borney '49, Joseph F. Dorsey '49, J. Edward Pawlick '49,

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer.....Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers.....Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager.....Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Assistant Circulation Manager.....Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Oren T. Pollock, '49

Volume LXI

DECEMBER 10, 1947

Number 18

Important College Meeting To Be Held In Lasell Gym

There will be an important college meeting in the Lasell Gymnasium, Monday, December 15, at 7:30 to discuss the college financial condition in relation to the Building and Endowment Fund Drive. President James P. Baxter, III, College Treasurer Charles D. Makepeace, Director of Athletics Walter F. Sheehan, and Director of Health Thomas V. Urny will all be present to answer questions. No contributions will be solicited.

Now Is Your Chance

The college meeting which will be held Monday night in the Gym provides an opportunity for every undergraduate to clear up his questions as to the financial policy of the college and the budget of the Fund Drive. President Baxter will explain the situation, last year's Treasurer's Report will be shown, as will the current college budget. A question period will follow in which any questions from the floor will be answered to the best of the ability of the officials present.

There have been innumerable gripes by undergraduates about specific college expenditures, taxes, and financial policies. Any one who does not accept this opportunity to have his gripes explained and answered does not have the moral right to continue them. If you think you can stump the experts, go to the college meeting and try.

"Oh Proudly Raise The Monarchs. . ."

At the end of one of the home football games this last season, Doc Workman, College Band Leader, was overheard asking his boys, "Do you guys have the music to 'The Mountains'?" This question could validly be changed to "Do you know either the words or the music to 'The Mountains'?" and then asked of every undergraduate.

The singing of the Williams take-off-your-hat song has more or less gone by the board. At football games the goal posts come first. At college meetings if sung at all "The Mountains" is a meager afterthought. Mr. Barrow doesn't consider any of the accepted Williams songs as music, so the Glee Club has no arrangement of the piece.

The question then comes down to whether or not the tradition of "The Mountains" is worth keeping. We feel it is. It is the first Alma Mater with original music, and as such it at least has a unique quality, if not a real traditional value. If, as many claim, college spirit is lacking, the singing of this song as it used to be sung — both verses, and loud — will surely improve the situation.

One-Acters . . .

last three characters entered. From that point on, the production failed almost completely, except for Mrs. Chaffee's continued excellence, and this failure retroactively spoiled the total effect of the tragedy.

The set was well conceived and the audience would have been hardly sure that they did not really smell dust and musty air, had the curtains been properly shabby, and a few other details perfect instead of very good.

ARIA DA CAPO

In Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Aria da Capo", Nick Dunne '49, gave a singularly polished and wonderfully effective interpretation of the difficult part of the clown Pierrot. He was not faced with Mrs. Chaffee's problem, since much of the greatness of the play lies in the way it traps the audience into laughing in the midst of stark tragedy, thus proving Cothurnus' assertion that, "They will forget." Mr. Dunne carried this off with sure artistry.

He gave weight to the lines which really cut, and was magnificently funny, particularly in the difficult asides to the audience, which he handled brilliantly. He skillfully let the audience get in their gales of laughter without losing the next line. Audrey Barnes was a cute foil to his wit, carrying herself well, though with some lack of ease, throughout their brilliant farce.

Tragedy Inferior

Unfortunately, the farce was so far superior to the tragedy which it was designed to heighten, that a very peculiar total effect was produced. Thyrlis was given a warm and human characterization by Richard A. Schwab '48, but his fine playing had almost no dramatic support from his fellow shepherd, John F. Day '50.

The shepherds, who fall unwittingly and uncomprehendingly into tragedy when their greed turns their innocent love into hatred, and ironically murder each other in a synthetic quarrel, form essentially a team role. Mr. Day let down his side so badly that the

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

Well, I guess Professor Alfred C. Kinsey and his boys at the University of Indiana have certainly stolen my thunder! It's impossible to read the serials in any magazine without running headlong into a report on Kinsey's forthcoming work "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male." Harper's indulged its senses this month, and so did '47. I hear from highly qualified sources that the Lamson girls are doing articles on it for Child Life and Theater Arts, respectively.

I got a curt note from this week's one and only, who attends that lovable institution of Miss Porter Somewhere-in-Connecticut. In it she said no she wouldn't be able to come up for the week end and I had a lot of nerve asking her because I was a Human Male. That's what I mean—Kinsey has obviously ruined all chances for further amicable relations between men and women (or boys and girls; as the case may be).

Horton Behind In Sex

Now, if Kinsey has something personal against me, I'll gladly give him number one position with this young thing at Miss Porter's School. But I do wish he'd stop spreading these awful facts about 98% of the male population. I pride myself on being an American Male Human, and as far as I know, I haven't done half the things I'm supposed to have done at the ripe old age of nineteen.

It's really quite disconcerting to find that while I at age twelve was still looking under cabbage leaves for baby brothers and things, five percent of other little boys my age in Eton jackets were a considerable distance ahead of me. And it's even more disconcerting to cogitate the possibilities of my actions while still a babe in arms and swaddling clothes. Why, maybe I'm an old roue without my knowledge! I do remember Mother's mentioning something about the rapidity with which my nurses were replaced. Perhaps . . . Oh, no!

Williams' Sterility

I'm sure that had Prof. Kinsey investigated the sex life on our campus, he would have arrived at somewhat different figures. I hear that a member of the English Department, upon reading the latest issue of the Purple Cow (pun intended) was heard to chide, "Sex in Itself is not Funny!" This space is far too limited to dwell upon the significance of the source. But such a statement from the campus vendors of SEX can signify nothing more than the sterility of us. More on this later.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the Williams Record:

Having read in your paper Josie Horton's literary epic, which referred to the hospitality of the Emma Willard girl, and having heard via the grapevine that our H. M. is going, or has, demanded an apology for same, we wanted to commend you on your fine piece of journalistic journalism.

This is to inform you of our undying gratitude for your crusade to secure our liberties. Further articles will be appreciated.

Anonymously yours,

THE DAUGHTERS OF XENO

P.S. As Proof of our support, we offer a personally conducted tour through the EMMA WILLARD wine cellar.

Calendar

WEDNESDAY

8:00 p.m. Basketball with Devens

SATURDAY

8:00 p.m. Swimming Meet with Springfield

MONDAY and TUESDAY

7:30 p.m. — 10:00 p.m. Berkshire Chorus in Chapin Hall pastoral fell far short of achieving the tremendous force that the author wrote into the play.

Other Faults Noted

Baerland Roll '48, missed a fine chance to intensify the tragedy, by his failure to capture the mechanical, but absolute, dominance of Cothurnus, which impels the senseless quarrel between the shepherds, and his voice was inadequate to the force demanded of it by Miss Millay's lines. The direction of Richard A. Marble '48, failed to capitalize on what was in the play, and in details. The crepe paper jewels, for which the shepherds murder each other were kept hidden so that the tragic irony of their utter worthlessness was almost completely lost. The purely mechanical nature of the tragedy for the actors was missed through failure to emphasize the prompting, which was badly underplayed. The dramatic shutting of the prompt book when the routine had been completed lost its force because too small a book was hidden by too big a chair.

The set was marvelously effective and imaginative, and the farce costumes were excellent. All together, the production seemed to miss, while conveying very clearly the greatness of the loss.

WAYS AND MEANS

'Ways and Means', a vehicle created for the exhibition of Noel Coward and Gertrude Lawrence and their "incomparable" wit, was a poor selection. It is undoubtedly a very funny play, but Gerald O'Brien's direction and a generally poor supporting cast let the production miss the speed and confident zest required to make it really effective comedy.

Erskine Brilliant

Howard Erskine '49 carried off the bedroom scenes with the ease and sureness we have come to expect from him. He gave Toby a brilliant and beautifully light characterization, marred only by unfinished mechanics. He said his lines with the speed which they demand, but they were too often left hanging.

Leslie Smith did full honors to her part of the witty partnership, making him a splendid fellow, but spoke her lines rather too slowly for the full effect of the flashy wit. Most importantly, they did the thing as a team, making their scenes together highly successful in capturing the richness of Coward's high comedy.

Prompting Poorly Handled

In experimental productions, with their inadequate rehearsal time, effective prompting is of paramount importance, and in this play and the previous one it was poorly handled, with trying results.

Helen Kelly gave a completely finished performance in her bit part as Elena. Her oh-so-Russian exit brought down the house. Mrs. Kelly's tremendous virtuosity and hard work make her smallest parts outstanding in their dramatic force. She devastatingly showed up the otherwise completely undistinguished supporting cast. Only Lydia Hewat's Olive was fairly effective.

While the comedy was by no means a failure, the total effect was one of intermittent punch lines and embarrassed pauses.

Brilliantly Designed Sets

Again the set was superb, with the plush, but slightly vulgar, bedroom beautifully designed. All three sets showed both creative imagination and meticulous attention to detail, with a special round of bravos due Dave Bryant for his brilliant designs, and Charles Miller and his crew for their execution. Mechanically, all the productions seemed to go well, with lights, sound, costuming and make-up skillful and unobtrusive.

If this group was a sample of the experimental production fare, the season ticket holders may look forward to more good and enjoyable theatre for their money than the piece-work customers.

SMOKED SHAGROY TURKEY

IDEAL GIFT

FOR FAMILY

Distinctive flavor and rich, tangy, smoky taste.

Prepared by famous SHAGROY FARMS

Wrapped for holiday gifts in wooden bowl.

also assortment of:

canned smoked turkey slices smoked turkey split pea soup

smoked turkey spread

Order now—

at the Williams Inn exclusive distributors for this area.

How to be SURE of a FULL TIME CHRISTMAS VACATION

GO BY TRAIN! Avoid traffic jams—by-pass tricky winter weather. You'll leave on scheduled time and you'll enjoy cozy comfort, dependability and safety all the way. Ask your Railroad ticket agent about economical fares in modern sleeping cars and comfortable coaches.

-and how to

SAVE MONEY when you return

New "College Special" Round-Trip Tickets go into effect on all railroads on Christmas day. Buy one at your "home station." It will give you a longer limit for your return trip back home during Spring Vacation or at the close of the school year. The new tickets will be on sale for Students and Teachers any day between December 25 and January 16. Take advantage of money-saving round-trip tickets especially tailored for the needs of college men and women. Consult your home town ticket agent or any Railroad representative for cost of tickets, return limits and stop-over privileges.

For a Time and Money-Saving Trip

Go by train

IT'S CONVENIENT—COMFORTABLE—SAFE

AMERICAN RAILROADS

WALDEN THEATRE

TUESDAY — WEDNESDAY

FOREVER AMBER

Starring

LINDA DARNELL

Special prices for this engagement $1.20 incl. tax

THURSDAY

DUST BE MY DESTINY

With

JOHN GARFIELD

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.
Telephone 3553

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Quintet Faces Fort Devens Tonight In Season's Opener

Very Little Known About Opposition

Competition Keen For First Team Berths

by Jack Schafer

The 1947-48 edition of the Williams basketball aggregation will be unveiled tonight when the club takes to the Lasell Gym court for its first regularly scheduled match. The opposition will be afforded by Fort Devens of whom little is known except that they are a bunch of ex-G.I.'s who posted a good record last season.

Speaking of the game, Dale Burnett, leading genius of Eph basketball, real and woe, gave lip to the following sentiment, "We'll be taking a blind jump in the dark against Fort Devens. I don't know anything about them, their record or their players."

RPI in Practice Game

The Eph mentor has, however, gotten a pretty good line on his own men. A practice game was run last Wednesday night against RPI in which the Engineers outscored the Purple, which may or may not prove anything. The game was useful to Burnett in that it was able to work his whole squad into the game and to see how each operative fared against foreign play.

In spite of the fact that the boys had had only about one week of practice, the play of the Williams team was encouraging to the uncultured eye of this onlooker. Speaking with the pessimism characteristic of his trade, Coach Burnett gave a more valued opinion. "You must remember they had six weeks of practice, and we had only one. We were tense, all thumbs. We didn't handle the ball well, but that takes time and practice. Our defense was weak. It needs work."

Indication of Line-up

When this went to press, Burnett would not name the starting line-up for tonight's game but a good indication of its composition can be obtained from the daily practice sessions and from the starting line-up for the RPI game. For this game Burnett had George Ditmar and George Bush at the forwards, Jack Wideman at center, and Captain Bob Brownell and Jerry Page at guards.

Although it is obvious that such key men as Dick Hole and Jay Quintana will be "hard men to replace", Burnett is encouraged over the improved play of Bush, a member of last year's JV team, and the work of Ditmar who is showing his last year's form already. Bush is a hustling, aggressive type of player who is developing into a fine shot. Ditmar, the leading point scorer of last season, seems to have his eye already and is being counted on to

AA Plans Football Game With Princeton

Tentative arrangements have been made with Princeton University to schedule a Princeton-Williams football game. It was learned following the Athletic Association meeting last Saturday. The earliest possible date it could be played is 1950 if present plans mature.

The game, if played, will have to be the first game for both teams. Pre-war schedules usually included a game with Princeton, or some other large college in the vicinity of New York, for the benefit of New York alumni.

again supply a plurality of the team's points.

Cool Possible Starter

Wideman has been working in the center slot a good part of the time, but Bud Cool, tallest man on the team, is threatening to break into the starting five. If this should happen, it would probably mean that Page or maybe Brownell would go to center and Cool would become a guard. Jack Mason, who developed fast at the end of last season, is also contending for a berth on the first five. Jack is a forward by trade and it is conceivable that by a bit of juggling of men, Burnett could find a place for him.

Other players who will probably see action during the season are, Vic Fuzak, Bob Johnson, Ralph Mason, Bill Kaufman, Roy McWhinney, and Stu Duffield.

Tonight's contest is the one and only home game until after the Christmas vacation. The next one will bring St. Michael's here January 14th. Basketball is another sport which the schedule sends away for more games than are played at home. Football suffered the same inconvenience. The division III basketball '75 seven games at home and eight away. Bill Kaufman came up with a bloody nose in the RPI encounter when he crashed into George Bush who is about his size. Stu Duffield has been hampered in workouts by an ankle injury which has hung on from the football season. The freshmen open what should be another successful campaign under Bobby Coombs with a home game against Rutland Jr. College on January 10th.

Matmen Face Tough Slate

Opponents To Include Tufts, McGill, MIT

Formally starting its winter training last Monday, the Eph wrestlers are shaping up their team for another undefeated season. With an unprecedented turnout of sixty men, the prospects are good, but along the line skiing and hockey will undoubtedly take their toll.

Little is known about Tufts, the team's first opponent on January 10. However, the Jumbos have three returning lettermen; Levy at 128 lbs. Silvers at 121, and Captain Gil Boyd holding down the 155 lb. slot.

MIT Again Strong

On January 24th a home meet takes place with McGill, the only team on schedule not to be encountered in the New England. The Canadian team has probably been weakened by the graduation of much of last year's talent, but they consistently turn out strong aggregations.

MIT, last year's New England champions, will again be serious competition for the Ephs on February 21. Featured in their 165 lb and 175 lb categories respectively are Ackerman and Maussy, both veteran New England champs.

Wesleyan Strong

The match with Wesleyan on February 28 starts the Little Three competition. Bowles, their captain, is the New England 155 lb champion. Although the Cardinals lost several of their last year's team, they have definite strength and prospects in Coulter, Stenler, and Carey, Burton, their football captain, fills in the unlimited class.

The Amherst match on March 6 will be the last meet before the New England which are being held in Williamstown the following week. Jeff Captain Rouch heads their team in the 165 or 175 lb class. Rouch and Jenks comprise the back-bone of the Amherst squad and, aside from them, the strength of the team is uncertain.

Chances Good

Although the Williams' 145 lb and 165 lb contenders have not yet been determined, a strong team is being formed around the five returning lettermen Kelton, North, Stillwell, Cook and Blakney. With a month to work out and learn the bone-crushing refinements coached by "Uncle Ed" Bullock and Harvey Potter, the team has a promising outlook.

Polo Players Ply A A For Official Status

Acting on an application by the Williams Polo Club, the Athletic Council last Saturday turned down a request by the polo players that they be given official status at Williams. The Council felt that the present number of sports—two more than at either Amherst or Wesleyan—were all that could be supported adequately financially at the present time. Polo has an unofficial status similar to that of the Yacht Club.

Fall Athletic Awards

The following men were awarded varsity letters by their respective coaches at the smoker a week ago last Monday night:

Varsity Football:

Class of 1948: T. J. Conway, J. DeOnis, E. T. Detmer, V. T. Fuzak, J.R. Heekin, G. B. Higgins, Mgr., P. A. Higgins, H. F. Lukas, E. J. Murphy, Captain, A. G. Orr, F. D. Salmon, J. N. Wilson, F. J. Todd.

Class of 1949: P. Blanks, J. J. Glancy, J. A. Stillwell, D. L. Whitney.

Class of 1950: H. R. Collins, M. J. Detmer, S. Duffield, S. H. Cool, C. M. Farmer, J. M. Leous, J. T. Lyons, C. C. Jensch, D. D. Garfield, D. O. Mahoney, D. K. McDonald, E. G. Quinlan, M. T. Reynolds, D. T. Roach, C. H. Stowers, J. A. Stephenson, Ass't Mgr., J. Gibson, Frosh Mgr.

Varsity Cross Country: (Little Three Champions)

Class of 1948: H. B. Chisholm
Class of 1949: C. A. Wimpfheimer, Mgr.

Class of 1950: P. S. Collins, P. C. Cook, K. F. Delaney, H. E. Ess, W. H. Kelton, I. duP. May, J. G. Golding, Ass't Mgr.

Varsity Soccer:

Class of 1948: A. E. Brown, B. F. Emmert, D. C. Lunt, Capt., L. C. Smith

Class of 1949: F. W. Donnelly, J. Hadley, R. W. Johnston, C. Mayshark, J. F. Page.

Class of 1950: J. Bowen, G. B. Kneass, C. F. Oudin, D. J. Park, Mgr.

Also these seniors: C. D. Miller, D. R. Debevoise, H. B. Dewey, O. A. Lothrop, M. P. Walker, and W. Mulcahy, Frosh Mgr.

Jack Stephenson Succeeds Higgins As Varsity Manager Former Marine Mail Romeo

by Norm Wood

At the smoker Monday night it was announced that Jack Stephenson, '50, is the varsity football manager for next year's team. Jack, a member of Psi Upsilon and hailing from Rye, N.Y., takes over the job vacated by George Higgins, '48, of this year's eleven.

Surprised to find that Jack, his wife Marcy, and their dog Firth, had moved back into their apartment in the barracks on Latham St., we asked him how long he had been home again. Jack informed us that he and his family had moved in Saturday, but had been moving their possessions back throughout last week.

Apartment Repaired

Jack further told us that the college had done an excellent job in repairing the damages suffered in the fire which took place at the barracks two weeks ago Thursday. The smoke-choked rooms and water-warped living room floor had caused them to vacate and live with Helen and Giles Kelly, '49, for the several days necessary for repairs. The apartment is now "better than ever," said Jack.

We asked him what other activities he was engaged in, and he mentioned the fact that he was married. This led from one thing to another, and we eventually learned of his service history and how he met his wife Marcy.

Of Quarantines and Thank-You's

Jack went to Taft School, where he was in the class of '44. In the spring of his junior year, a blind date was arranged with Marcy, through friends and roommates.

Unfortunately he did not keep that blind date, for a quarantine was declared at Taft, and it had to be postponed until a later date. Several other attempts were made, but all failed.

Some time later, he received a letter from Marcy thanking him for asking her out. Jack wrote back to thank her for her letter. This correspondence developed through the summer but it was not until the middle of September that the original date was kept.

In the Marines

Jack graduated in the June of '44 and then enlisted in the Marines in July. After boot camp in the states, he was shipped to Pearl Harbor. In June of '45 he was sent to Okinawa as a replacement, following the April invasion. By July he was in Guam, and at the end of August left for China, arriving there in October. Following his duty in China, he returned to the states, and was discharged in September of '46. He spent twenty-five months, all told, as a leatherneck, and was discharged as a corporal.

Jack entered Williams in September of '46, and competed for assistant manager last fall. In that capacity, he could be invariably located on the practice fields by looking for Marcy, Firth, or his car. As manager next year he will be assisted by Jack Gibson as field manager and Larry Fitch as assistant manager.

The conclusion to the quarantine-and-thank-you-letter beginnings of four years ago ended in Jack's and Marcy's marriage last June.

BASS SKI BOOTS

- with combination lace
- leather lined
- wedged sole
- sponge rubber tongue

$12.95 — $24.50

SALVY'S

SPRING STREET

TELEPHONE 600

This Record Rings the Bell!

...IT'S JOHNNY LONG'S LATEST SIGNATURE RELEASE—

"Jingle Bells"

"JINGLE BELLS" is in for another season of popularity owing to that southpaw of the violin, Johnny Long. Yeah, man, Johnny, you've got a great record!

There's another great record in the spotlight. It belongs to Camel cigarettes. More people are smoking Camels than ever before!

Try Camels! Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience!"

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.
Winston-Salem, N. C.

YOU BET—
CAMEL
IS MY CIGARETTE!

—And here's another great record—

More people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!

LITTLE THREE NIGHT

DECEMBER 30

Frank Dailey's

MEADOWBROOK

CEDAR GROVE, N. J.

Make up your plans now.

For Information

BOB BLANCHARD
VIC HEERMAN

at the Deke House

Telephone 33

Democracy Under Fire, Says Lazon

Rabbi Decries Social Barriers In Sermon

In a fiery sermon at the Thompson Memorial Chapel Sunday night, Rabbi Morris S. Lazon of Baltimore warned students to guard the safety of democracy. He asserted that, "There are men who do not love it, men who would destroy it. Democracy cannot endure by itself."

"The danger to democracy is from pressure groups seeking their own ambitions. We cannot neglect to defend ourselves from enemies within." He continued that "These people have made Americans slaves of prejudices, lacking the moral courage of our forebearers."

"An informed public opinion is the only cure," he said, urging students not to "let democracy be only a phrase * * * used by demagogues, but a chance bestowed by God to save and lift His people. The church and the synagogue must be the conscience of the state."

He stated that Communism refers merely to the economic unity of a nation, while a democracy includes "moral and spiritual unity, created for the welfare of its people."

POOR SPIRIT

The Undergraduate Council has been asked to take action against the poor school spirit such as that shown by undergraduates when they sang "The Mountains" at the Athletic Smoker. It was suggested that Freshman duties be made to include a thorough knowledge of the words to the song, but nothing definite was decided.

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL: 498-R

WILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED

ROUTE 2 OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

N S A . . .

erett, who is heading the commission.

Williams May Publish News Letter
Seth Bidwell read a letter to the committee received from Larry Jaffa, the New England regional chairman, concerning the publication of the Regional newsletter. Jaffa said that the Regional Executive Committee had not reached a final decision on the matter, but that he was favorable to having it published at Williams.

The committee also decided that the meetings would be held every Tuesday night, and Halsted urges all interested students who have not attended in the past to attend the next meeting.

Williams Varsity Swimming Schedule

December 13, 1947	Springfield College	Home
January 10, 1948	Univ. of Massachusetts	Away
January 17, 1948	Brown University	Away
March 21, 1948	Army	Away
January 28, 1948	Dartmouth College	Home
February 21, 1948	Bowdoin College	Home
March 28, 1948	Wesleyan University	Home
March 6, 1948	Amherst College	Away
March 12, 13, 1948	NEISA Championships at MIT

Winter Carnival . . .

perienced freshmen allowed their dates to bring skis but one freshman wistfully commented, "Sure, I guess she's gonna ski, all right, but there are a lot of things she can do better."

Yale, Harvard, Amherst, Middlebury, Williams, and Dartmouth 'B' team started the Carnival on Friday morning with a cross-country race. In the afternoon the down-hill racing took place on Greylock's Thunderbolt Trail.

Teddy Wilson Played Dance
Teddy Wilson played at an informal dance in the Lasell Gym Friday night from 10 p.m. to 3 a.m.

A giant slalom was held Saturday morning, and a ski jump in the afternoon, after which a hockey game was played. Saturday night newly-installed floodlights on Sheep Hill spotlighted a ski exhibition which included skiers weaving down the hill with flaming torches.

The Purple Knights played at a final dance in the 1896 House after the exhibition until midnight. According to the RECORD article, "anyone not wearing ski boots, instructor pants, and a flannel shirt" was turned away from the dance.

House of Walsh

PROUDLY ANNOUNCES
ONE OF THE
MOST COMPREHENSIVE
SKI LINES
IN AMERICA

LOOK HERE NOW

House of Walsh

Amherst . . .

rate meant that the freshmen were studying too hard, President Cole replied, "We asked each of them recently to fill in a statement, unsigned, telling how many hours a week he studied outside of class. I doubt," he said, "if any of them would over-estimate. The replies averaged twenty-six hours. One man, who said he worked more than that, had used the back of his reply to keep a gin rummy score."

The Director of Admissions at Amherst, Eugene S. Wilson, Jr., told the Record, "a good many colleges are studying and have expressed interest in the Amherst plan." Asked about the reaction of Williams faculty, he commented, "your school seems to be well satisfied with its own system."

An all-time high of 52,032 World War II veterans were receiving hospital care from the VA on August 1, 1947.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

INSURANCE BROKERS TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beckman 3-4730

HAVING A PARTY?

The Square Deal Store

... fully stocked to supply
your needs in every line.

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC
LIQUOR and WINES

HOWARD MOON, Proprietor

KRONICK'S ESSO SERVICE STATION

CARS WASHED $1.50
POLISHING AND WAXING

State Road - Opp. Howard Johnson

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in

The Transcript

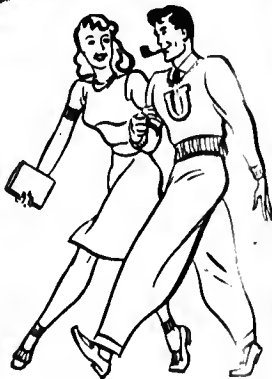

North Adams, Mass.
On Sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newstands

Williams Co-op

Presents
The ADLER SOCK
wash them

any way you like

We guarantee the size
OR YOUR MONEY BACK

TUB and RUB and SCRUB them
Guaranteed to Fit for the
Life of the Sock

Young people who study scientific facts should be interested in Adler SC socks. Facts are that we guarantee perfect fit for the life of these 100% virgin wool socks! Or your money back, cheerfully!

Super swell for campus wear—for guys—for gals. No more cramped toes—less mending. And 33% longer life because Adler SC's have Nylon reinforced heel and toe. Creamy white—full sizes 9 thru 13. At all better stores. By the makers of Adler SC Chic Rib nylon-wool slak socks.

THE ADLER COMPANY
Cincinnati 14 • Ohio

Used by ALL
WILLIAMS COLLEGE
Athletic Teams

Williams Co-op

RUGS...

Duplex rugs have just arrived. They are reasonably priced and we have them in sizes up to 12 x 12.

WILLIAMS MIRRORS...

Beautiful mirrors framed in either maple or mahogany with Williams lithograph. A fine gift for the family.

George M. Hopkins
COMPANY

66-68 Spring St. Tel. 29-R

The U. S. Air Force offers you

$336 a month one year after graduation

THAT's what you can earn after completing one year of pilot training and winning your wings in the Air Force.

It is a good deal from the start. While you're an Aviation Cadet you draw $75 per month, plus food, quarters, uniforms, medical and dental care. After successfully finishing the course, you are commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Air Force Reserve, and assigned to active duty with the Air Force at $336 a month (including flight pay), with excellent chances for further increases as promotions come through.

In addition, you get an extra $500 for each year of active duty, and will be given a chance to compete for a commission in the Regular Air Force if you are interested in a service career.

This opportunity, which cannot be duplicated anywhere else at any price, equips men for well-paid, responsible positions throughout the aviation industry, at high pay from the beginning. It is open to you if you're single, between 20 and 26½ years old, and have completed at least one-half the requirements for a degree from an accredited college or university (or pass an examination measuring the equivalent). Ask for details at your U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or write to Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Section, Washington 25, D. C.

U. S. ARMY AND U. S. AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE

NOTE: If you were awaiting assignment or taking training when the Aviation Cadet program was cut back in 1944-45, you can re-qualify simply by passing the physical examination, provided you meet the other requirements listed above. Write for information to Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Section, Washington 25, D. C.

CAREERS WITH A FUTURE
U. S. Army and
U. S. Air Force

WINTER LUBRICANTS

will

- Provide thorough lubrication for all parts even during the very coldest weather.
- Make your car ride better and steer easier.
- Help avoid excessive wear that results in expensive repairs.

Bring Your Car
"Back Home" to us for
Winter Lubrication

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

The Williams Record

Baxter Explains Crucial Need For $2,500,000 To Preserve Valuable Instructor-Student Ratio

Student Govt. Says UC Tax Must Be Paid

College Sanction Plus Activities Ban Urged Against Non-Payers

A resolution making the four dollar UC tax compulsory for all undergraduates was adopted at the Undergraduate Council meeting in order to "end student confusion about the nature of the tax."

Dean Brooks' suggestion that the UC continue with its present policy of excluding from extra-curricular activities all students who have not paid their tax was accepted. A list of delinquents has been sent to each organization under the SAC.

On College Bill
If this does not succeed in getting the money, the UC expects to request the college to charge all non-payers on their regular term bill. Refusal to pay would then cause exclusion from all classes.

SAC Chairman Horton H. Kellogg '48 pointed out that the present tax of $4 is small when compared with the usual $6 of prewar days. He also submitted the proposed SAC budget for the year as follows:

Spring Conference	$700
Lecture Committee	500
Adelphic Union	523
UC	330
IRC	300
Phil Union	290
Cap and Bells	250
Band	200
SAC	200
Total	$3393

The sums for the Lecture Committee and the Spring Conference are the same as they have been in past years. The college administration makes a large contribution to both activities. The Adelphic Union, IRC, and Philosophical Union have problems necessitating large appropriations than in the past. Travel expenses are larger and the organizations have no way to make money. The SAC feels that they are important in See UC, page 6

Lasell Granted Dramatic Lead

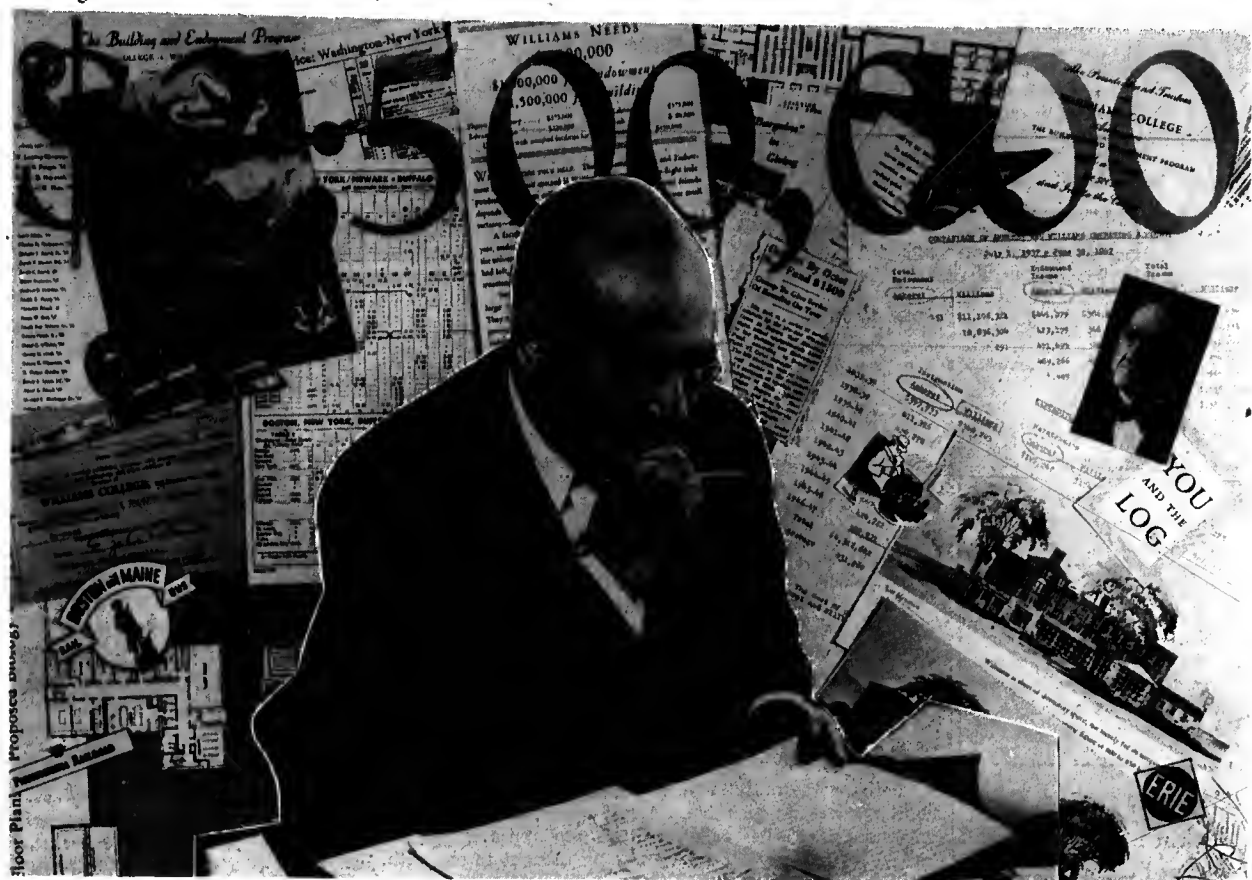

Cap & Bells Schedules Sophocles Tragedy

John Lasell '50 has been selected to play the lead role in Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex." Cap and Bells' second experimental production to be presented January 23. Lasell's role is that of King Oedipus of Thebes, who has unknowingly slain his father and married his mother.

The play is concerned with the discovery of Oedipus' mistake and its aftermath. Lasell will be remembered for his recent role of the Porter in "Portrait of a Madonna."

Mrs. Kelly Plays Jocasta

Jocasta, both wife and mother to Oedipus, will be portrayed by Helen Byrne Kelly, who has formerly appeared as Lady Macbeth last summer, a Countryman in "The Beaux Stratagem," and the Countess Elena in the recent one-act play "Ways and Means." Dominick Dunne '49 has been cast as Creon, brother of Jocasta, who is anxious to see that right is done and consequently is accused by Oedipus of plotting against him. The effort to disprove See CAP and BELLS, page 5

President James P. Baxter, III, has a lot on his mind these days. Spearheading the $2,500,000 Building and Endowment Fund Drive (in addition to his other duties) is a full-time, cross-country job. It means that Williams' Pulitzer Prize-winning prexy is in a continuous whirl of touring, speech-making, and planning, calculating, figuring. Photo by Sylvia Salmi

Tow To Work After Holiday

College Funds Loaned To Finance Project

The Williams Outing Club hopes to have the new Sheep Hill ski tow, which will double the length of the existing ski run, in operation shortly after Christmas vacation.

Members of the WOC and the varsity ski team, under the direction of Roger Potter '48 and Richard Brown '48, have been clearing the upper slope for about five weeks, and have been working on the two ski tows for almost a month.

Extends 1700 Feet

Necessary apparatus has been obtained, and the post-holes have been dug, so that it remains only to assemble the new tow and put the old one in working order. When work is finished, the ski run will be about 1700 feet long, and the two tows will be set up end to end.

The WOC has obtained a loan from the college, most of which has been used to purchase parts of an old tow taken from the Inner Notch on Greylock, and a second-hand Buick motor to power the new unit. It is estimated that the total cost will be only slightly over $600, as most of the actual labor is being done by undergraduates interested in the improvement of the Sheep Hill skiing area.

Charles Hall Heads College Fund Drive

National Chairman of the Fund Drive is Charles B. Hall, '15, President of the Alumni Society and Vice President of the Bank of Manhattan in New York City. He is a resident of Glen Ridge, New Jersey.

Assisting him are four associate chairmen: James B. Forgan '11, Chicago, Illinois; W. Lansing Chapman '10, Rutherford, New Jersey; Chester D. Heywood '11, Worcester, Massachusetts; and Ferdinand K. Thun '30, of Wyomissing, Pennsylvania.

State chairmen have been appointed for most of the states, and organization of the others is being undertaken as rapidly as possible.

Part Of Building Fund For Physics Lab Renovation; New Psychology Lab, Lecture Hall For Biology Lab; Library Addition To Include Stacks, Faculty Offices

The Stetson Library will draw $220,000 from the Building and Endowment Fund for enlargements which will feature more stock space, faculty offices, and an expanded Political Science department. Librarian Wyllis E. Wright has revealed.

The additions, third on the list of Fund projects, will double the library's present book capacity. "At present, our available shelf space is badly overcrowded," said Librarian Wright. "The addition will give us more room to shelve our books, which we need badly to aid in their preservation."

Studies Enlarged

The new addition will follow the library's Georgian style extending thirty-six feet backwards from the stacks in the form of a "T." The central portion will contain stacks and study space, while the two forty-foot wings will provide faculty studies. The enlargements in the Poly Sci department will make room for tabulating and punch card machines to be used in the Roper Public Opinion series.

"Although the reading room is now adequate, continued the librarian, "we need more room in the front part of the building to add to the Chapin Library and in which to display many rare volumes which the library owns, but is unable to shelve."

Forty new faculty offices will be included in the addition, releasing the larger studies for seminar work, the librarian explained.

200,000 Volumes Now Available
When the library staff moved from Lawrence Hall in 1923, they installed 176,000 volumes in the new Stetson Library. At present, more than 200,000 volumes, including those in the Laboratory Libraries, are on hand for student use.

Mr. Wright stated that those who work in the library spend a great deal of time shifting and reshelving to make room for other editions. This task, plus that of weeding out the unused books, creates a lot of work which will be eliminated when the new stacks are available.

Sorely needed space, a 165-seat lecture room, and a laboratory for the Psychology Department, are but a few of the features of the proposed $15,000 Biology Lab addition, which will make possible an expanded curriculum, according to Professor Elbert C. Cole, head of the Biology Department.

Second on the list of projects to be provided by the $2,500,000 Building and Endowment Fund, the addition will add 50% more usable space to the present building. "Not only will this give us more room," said Dr. Cole, "but it will provide us with a building that is adaptable to changing conditions."

Major Course To Reappear

Not mentioning any new courses specifically, Dr. Cole did, however, emphasize the hoped-for reappearance of the 19-20 course, on the "missing" list during and since the War. The senior major course, Biology 19-20, integrated all which the students had learned in their undergraduate years, giving them a comprehensive view of the field of biology.

Honors work will be resumed on a larger scale than before the War. A large seminar room is to be provided for the meetings of honors students, as well as for evening meetings of Biology 19-20 where student written papers will be read and "bombarded by the other students."

Large Lecture Hall Planned

The west wing of the new structure will house a lecture hall seating 165 people. "The college has long needed a lecture room of this size," declared the biology head. There will be a separate entrance from the outside, so that other college activities may be held in the room when it is not being used for biology classes.

The Psychology Department will be located on the basement floor of the new building. The plans provide for a laboratory for that department, which has long been without one. Four other new labs will eliminate doubling up of biology lab classes, which, is necessary under present crowded See BIOLOGY, page 5

The fifty year-old Physics Lab will be completely renovated with the first additions ever effected on the structure when President Baxter's multi-million dollar Building and Endowment Fund materializes.

Physics Professor Ralph P. Winch last Sunday enthusiastically revealed details of reduced fire hazards and greater convenience which will result from the additions. One part is to extend to the rear of the present building, while the other will project westward to join the Chemistry Lab.

Fire Dangers Reduced

The plans provide for large lecture rooms only on the first floor, so that in case of fire, "huge groups of students will not be trapped on upper stories," declared Dr. Winch.

Under the present setup, the one hundred-seat lecture room is on the second floor, so that in the event of fire, students would have to file through a window and down a fire escape, one by one. "With flames lapping at their heels, this would be painfully slow," the Physics Department head asserted.

More Convenience Planned

Supply rooms will be situated See PHYSICS, page 6

Baxter Covers Nation For Fund Drive

President James P. Baxter, III, has traveled to thirty-one cities during the past four months, speaking to alumni on the current Building and Endowment Fund drive. Covering large cities from coast to coast, he has maintained one of the most hectic schedules of his entire career, his secretary, Kay O'Connell has said. The climax of his efforts will come with the Alumni Dinner to be held on January 14 in New York City.

According to a report from the fund drive headquarters, President Baxter has been very pleased with the interest shown by the alumni and with the cordial receptions given him in the various cities.

College Costs, Receipts Told By President

College Meeting In Gym Hears Of Attempted Raids On Professors

Queries Answered

Brooks, Sheehan, Urmey, Makepeace Give Aid In Financial Report

by Joseph F. Dorsey

In a meeting of the undergraduates body this evening in the Lasell Gym, President James P. Baxter, III, outlined the reasons for the $2,500,000 fund drive, and answered questions regarding the financial situation of the college. "We are determined to see that Williams' high standards are maintained," said President Baxter in opening the discussion. "To do this at a time when costs have risen so sharply, we must raise additional endowment to provide better salaries and to enable us to provide enough first-rate teachers for small sized classes with plenty of give and take between student and instructor."

Faculty Raids

Mentioning the faculty members to whom offers have been made by other colleges, President Baxter said, "The chief reason we should pay higher salaries to our faculty is because they deserve it. Their real income, in terms of 1940 prices, is way below what it was seven years ago. Our present salary scale makes it difficult, moreover to hold our men against competing offers."

"In the past two years," he went on to say, "nineteen universities have sought to take men away from us, and not only universities, but steel companies, banks, investment banking firms, great foundations, art museums, our own government, and foreign governments as well. We have held two-thirds or more of the men who have received such offers including Vincent M. Barnett, Robert R. Brooks, James R. Curry, Emile Despres, Samson L. Faison, Bertrand Fox, David L. Gass, Kermit Gordon, Joseph E. Johnson, Samuel A. Matthews, A. Grant Noble, Whitney S. Stoddard, and Ralph P. Winch. I never know at whom the next raid will be directed, but I know from experience that it will involve one of our best men."

No Microphones

Continuing, Dr. Baxter pointed out that "Effective teaching, as every student knows, depends not only on the quality of the teacher, but on the size of the class and the opportunity for discussion. The president of one large university thinks that the days of small classes are over and that class room discussion is a bye gone luxury. Certainly this theory is borne out in 1947 practice on some campuses, where microphones carry the lectures to students unable to crowd their way into the ordinary class rooms. If a student has to write out a question and wait for his answer by mail, we're a long way from Mark Hopkins and the log."

In 1946-47, the operating expenses of Williams College totaled $1,304,562, according to figures given by Mr. E. O. Brown, assistant treasurer of the College. On the income side, the college received $803,353 from the students in tuition, fees, and room rents, plus the athletic tax of $27,140 which is not included in the normal See MEETING, page 6

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

Editor-in-Chief.....J. David Maier, '48
Managing Editor.....Charles H. Klensch, '48
Sports Editor.....Barrett F. Emmert, '48
Copy Editor.....Robert A. Rupen, '48
Senior Associate Editor.....Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
Office Manager.....Ben B. Foster, H., '48
Make-up Editor for this issue.....J. EDWARD PAWLICK, '49

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

H. Russell Platt '48, Seth M. Bidwell '49, Russell B. Frost '49, Robert S. Taylor '49, John H. Schafer '48, Jerry J. Cole '49, Edwin Kuh '49, William R. Barney '49, Joseph F. Dorsey '49, J. Edward Pawlick '49.

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer.....Arthur F. Dodd, '48
Co-Advertising Managers.....Edward L. Stockhouse, '50
.....Thomas B. Healy Jr., '50
Circulation Manager.....Dudley M. Irwin, '50
Assistant Circulation Manager.....Oren T. Pollock, '49

Volume LXI

DECEMBER 15, 1947

Number 19

This special issue of the RECORD, being distributed to the undergraduates tonight following the college meeting, is also being mailed to more than 8,000 alumni free of charge. The purpose of this issue is to acquaint all Williams men with the financial condition of the college as it was revealed in tonight's meeting.

The RECORD thanks Mr. Alfred L. Jarvis '39, the Alumni Secretary, for his assistance in the circulation of the issue.

The Absolute Minimum

At the college meeting tonight, President Baxter and several other members of the administration explained the present financial situation in relation to the Building and Endowment Fund Drive. The contribution of $2,500,000 for any cause may be painful, no matter how many give. But it would be more painful to Williams men if the well-rounded liberal arts education for which this school is famous were to disintegrate. This type of education at Williams will disintegrate if the absolute minimum of $2,500,000 is not met.

No one will live luxuriously here when the drive is over; there will be no extraneous improvements. The objectives of the Building and Endowment Fund Drive are only a few of the things which the college must have. If Amherst fails to raise one nickel in their $2,000,000 campaign, they will still have everything we need and then some.

1107 MORE

The Alumni, under the leadership of Charles B. Hall, '15, will surely do their part. And naturally their part is by far the largest. But loyal alumni are not the only Williams men. Here in Williamstown, deriving the benefits of the education which the Fund Drive will preserve, are 1107 undergraduates, all of whom should have the highest respect for their school and its ideals.

The college administration will exert no pressure on undergraduates to contribute to the drive, nor will Mr. Hall and his committee. But there will be an opportunity for all 1107 of us to contribute through the solicitation of our student government. No undergraduate contribution will be expected to fall into the "special gifts" category. No monetary goal will be set up. But it is not unreasonable to expect every Williams student to give, any more than it is unreasonable to expect a contribution from every alumnus. The size of the gift will probably be small. But when you have $2,500,000 to raise, contribution becomes much less painful per individual when practiced by all.

U C Representation

If the undergraduate body feels that the representation in the Undergraduate Council is deficient, there is an easy way out. An amendment to the Constitution before the Rules Committee calls for the publication of an agenda before each meeting so that students may instruct their representatives how to vote on important issues.

This agenda would be prepared from proposals placed in a ballot box before Tuesday at 6:00 p.m. A committee of the UC would be responsible for seeing that each social unit receive a copy of this agenda before the Wednesday night meetings. In the event that a proposal was not on the agenda and still was brought up at the next meeting, it would require a two-thirds vote of the members before the unpublished proposal could be considered.

In this way every undergraduate would have an opportunity to inform his representative of his feelings on all important matters under UC consideration. If no one felt strongly enough about a proposal on the agenda, the representative would be allowed his own discretion.

Anyone desiring passage of this amendment has only to instruct his representative of his opinion on the matter. If there is sufficient constituent pressure, the amendment will have to be passed.

Musical Notes

by William Holt '51

Last Monday evening, Mr. J. Nin-Culmell, the Berkshire Community Orchestra, and Mr. R. G. Barrow produced a surprising amount of enjoyable music for an audience that filled, perhaps, half of Chapin Hall. Since the Berkshire Community Orchestra is purposely an amateur organization, and its performance far from professional, it would be worthless to judge it on technical accuracy. Certainly, the first violins, to mention the most obvious section, deviated from pitch quite frequently, but, since I look for interpretation rather than pitch, I was bothered only slightly.

I was impressed with mood, created by the orchestra in Beethoven's "Pastoral Symphony." The members projected the atmosphere of the first movement much more adroitly than the program which called it "Awakening of happy feelings on getting out into the country." The second movement was not so good, but the third and fourth movements were played with a nice understanding of meaning. There was a particularly good duet in the third movement, very neatly played by oboe and bassoon. The fourth movement "Thunderstorm" was perhaps the easiest movement for an amateur group to play, since it did not rely on solo instruments, but on the entire group. The orchestra played this briskly. The fifth movement "Happy and Thankful Feeling after the storm" (I often wonder who translates those sub-titles) was rather anti-climatic, I'm afraid, but it did not spoil the effect of the preceding two movements.

The orchestra and Mr. Barrow played two sonatas for organ and orchestra to end the first section of the program. The sonatas were short pieces originally intended, according to the notes again, as "Interpolations between the Gospel and Epistle" in a Mass. There isn't much that can be said about Mr. Barrow's playing, since the organ part ran parallel to the orchestra's, and I, at least, had trouble in distinguishing the two parts.

Mr. Barrow's solos, after the intermission, were played very intelligently and competently. Personally, I think the organ is an ugly sounding instrument, and for that reason, I'm not able to get very enthused over organ pieces, but I was glad that Mr. Barrow chose three modern pieces for his selections, to show, I suppose, that Bach wasn't the only composer who wrote for the organ. Mr. Barrow brought out the harmonies of these pieces, particularly emphasizing the more complex modern chords. I liked the second selection the best, although I really can't, as I said before, get very enthusiastic.

The orchestra returned to play the Peer Gynt Suite No. 1 by Grieg. The second movement of this Suite (Ase's death) seemed to me the best part of the program. It is a rather slow, sad thing, and the orchestra felt this. Technically as well, they played their best.

The Berkshire Community Orchestra looks like a good thing. It brings live music to people who have either not heard symphony music at all, or who are not within convenient distance of the large symphonies.

Perhaps the most impressive point is that the Berkshire Community Orchestra looks like a group of people who enjoy getting together and have a hell of a good time playing things like Beethoven's Pastoral Symphony. It's a very settling thought to end with.

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

On one of my many visits to the Gym Lunch during the week past, I engaged myself in rather dubious conversation with a friend of mine who shall remain anonymous for reasons of my own safety. What he told me almost made me gag on my cruller.

"Josiah," he said, "the stuff (that word is an approximate translation) you write is in extremely poor taste."

Actually this anonymous friend had paid me a compliment. Very few of my very few readers would venture to say I have any taste at all. At any rate, the remark made me consider just what makes these columns so repulsive to many persons of high estate.

First of all, a criticism of Cum Grano Salis on the grounds of its poor taste is not a valid criticism. These columns are written without a thought of taste in mind. (I know. You're saying, "Without a thought of anything in mind.") Taste is so much a matter of taste that the tastiest columns often have no taste at all.

Dean Swift (not Tom), a successful author in his own right, took the whole human race to task and insulted us all by calling us Yahoos. He is read in English something-or-other with great delight. No bad taste about him. But an insignificant author (I must at least feign humility for a time) need only hint at a local personality of sorts and immediately he suffers the slings and arrows of anybody who feels like slinging an arrow at him. We are boors.

No Good Taste

It is impossible to obtain "good taste," in the second place. It has been defined as "that which insults no one and hurts no feelings." So, I write a column about the effect of climate upon volcanic ruptures in British Honduras. I steer clear of any mention of that old chestnut—SEX in the English Department. Therefore all the English professors and things say the column is in good taste. I avoid mention of all professors and their wives and kiddies. The faculty to a man say the column is in excellent taste.

No inking of my thoughts on the administration creeps past the keys of my typewriter. President Baxter sleeps secure in the knowledge that Cum Grano Salis is in perfect taste. No girls' seminars are slurred. The respective House Mothers nod approval of the superb taste of the column.

The column is fine. Except that none of the student subscribers to the RECORD give a dam (inker's) about the effect of climate upon the volcanic ruptures in British Honduras. And besides, two weeks following the column's publication, an official letter is received from the British Honduras Department of Minor Volcanic Ruptures saying that there are no such things and their feelings are hurt. Bang! Bad taste.

Of course, one may look on the happy side of things and realize that the student subscribers to the RECORD also don't give a dam about the chestnuts in the English Department, or my ideas concerning the administration, or how I feel about professors' families, or anything for that matter. But at least we don't receive letters from the government of British Honduras about columns on those subjects. You can't realize what a relief it is not to get those letters from British Honduras!

No Taste

In long months of experience, I have found that the best way to write in the worst taste is to record without malice one's true opinions. So far every opinion I've recorded has tramped heavily upon someone's corny toes. It doesn't do a bit of good to hide behind a title like Cum Grano Salis, because apparently the strange climate around Williamstown causes a literary phenomenon. The more grains of salt with which one takes these columns, the more tasteless they become.

Actually, the columns which tramp on toes most heavily are never meant to offend. And although I can't resist a crack now and then, I stand ready to apologize to any and all slandered individuals. But my freedom (all right, license) to say what I think in my column within the limits of what I consider taste of one sort or another, I will defend to the last grain of salt.

EVERY LOYAL WILLIAMS MAN

WILL WANT TO SUPPORT THE

$2,500,000 BUILDING AND ENDOW-

MENT PROGRAM WHICH IS NOW

UNDER WAY.

This issue is being sent to every alumnus compliments of the Williams Record.

You can save time and last minute rushes by doing your Christmas shopping before vacation.

WE HAVE FOR YOUR SELECTION . . .

Kom Cards, $7.00 — $7.50, Whitman's Cynthia, Cole, Lovell, Jewelite Brushes and Sets, and Cavell Candies, Cameras and accessories,, Smokers Supplies . . . Rager and Gallet Gift Boxes, $2.50 — $8.00, Asr Lighters, $7.50, Elizabeth Arden Sets, New Humidars and Pipe Racks, Chanel Perfumes, $4.00 - $17.50, Weber Pipes, $3.50 — $7.50.

HART'S DRUG STORE

"Come all ye sons of Williams and hear me sing with Stan Kenton at the Meadowbrook on Williams Night, December 30."

Purple Five Triumphs 51-47; Mermen Win 49-26

Frosh Teams Organize For Winter Sports

Squash, Wrestling Show Promise; Snyder, Porter Excel In Swimming

With barely more than a week of practice behind them, the freshmen versions of the swimming, squash, and wrestling teams are beginning to round into shape.

The swimming team reported before Thanksgiving and is by now somewhat knit together. The mermen have elected Dick Lippencott from North Guilford, Conn. who swims the 50, 100, and the medley relay as their captain. John Snyder, breaststroker and also in the medley relay, swam an unofficial time trial .2 second off the frosh record for the 200 breast-stroke.

Team Just Average

The rest of the team is not an outstanding group of individuals. Jim Porter, however, number two man in the breaststroke, who finished second to Snyder in the Illinois State Championship for breaststroke, adds the punch to this event to make it the strongest on the team.

Ed Fox leads the distance men in the 220 and 440, and also swims in the 400 relay. John Rogers is number two man here, followed by Don Wyman. Behind Lippencott in the sprints are Scott Warner and Mercer Russell. Pat Graham swims in the 400 relay. Bill Sperry, quarterback on the undefeated frosh football team, and Joe McElroy are the divers, Eric Showers and Charles Kolb. See FROSH, page 4

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

Hard Time

Bill Kauffman (12) has trouble getting off his shot, as Bob Johnson (13) stands by for a rebound. Photo by Williams Photo Service

Skiers Open Season At Placid On 30th

Team, 5th Last Year. Led By Dick Brown

The curtain will ring up on the 1947-48 Williams ski season during the Christmas vacation, when the Ephmen take to the slopes of the Lake Placid Club December 30, 31 and January 1 in the club's annual intercollegiate meet, which attracts entries from the leading schools in the Northeast.

Led by Coach Landon G. Rockwell, a member of the Political Science Department, and by Dick Brown, who captains the team, a group of five, which will probably also include Case Prime, Pete Finley, Gus Klein and Gordon Volkman, will compete in the Placid event. Last year the Ephmen finished fifth in a field of ten, trailing St. Lawrence, Middlebury, University of New Hampshire, and Dartmouth, and topping Bowdoin, Harvard, Syracuse, Colgate, and Penn. State.

Eph Hoopmen Take Opener; Down Devens

Ditmar, Page Account For 13 Field Goals; Paine Is High-Scorer

Captain Bob Brownell dropped the first bucket in less than one minute of playing time to give Williams an early lead which they never relinquished, as the Ephs downed Devens on the hardwoods of Lasell Gymnasium 51-47 last Wednesday night. Led by Jerry Page and George Ditmar, who combined to score thirteen of Williams' nineteen first half points the Ephmen left the court at half time with a slim two point count over the tall, sharp-shooting hoopsters from Devens.

The first half saw Ditmar and Page, who scored six and seven goals respectively, hitting the bucket consistently, while Bud Cool, played an aggressive heads-up game under the defensive backboard. Little George Bush had tough going in the first half, as his shots rimmed the hoop but the ball refused to fall through as the Ephs struggled to stay ahead.

Take Commanding Lead

Opening the second half, however, the Williams offense rallied and Ditmar, Page and Bush scored three quick baskets to give the home club a commanding lead which never was threatened until the closing minutes when Coach Dale Burnett cleared the bench of Williams substitutes. Page and Ditmar continued their first period pace, while Bush contributed to the cause by suddenly zeroing in the hoop and dropping in three last half goals.

Williams had a commanding ten-point lead with less than two minutes to go, when Burnett sent in the second and third teams. Devens immediately took advantage of their own advantage in height and scored three fast goals to bring the score perilously close.

However, in the last rough and tumble minute, the Ephs managed to maintain control of the ball till the gun, with Burdett knocking in a basket for Williams after the gun had sounded.

Paine, Devens' outstanding forward, was a constant threat to

Near Miss

Jack Mason (14) just misses the hoop as the Ephs whip Devens. Jack Wideman (10) and Bud Cool (5) in white shirts are ready to lend a hand. Photo by Williams Photo Service

Williams
	G	F	Pts
Ditmar, rf	7	0	14
Johnston	0	0	0
Bush, lf	3	0	6
Mason, J.	0	3	3
Wideman, c	1	1	3
Cool	2	1	5
McWhinney	0	0	0
Page, rg	6	1	13
Baldwin	0	0	0
Fuzak	0	0	0
Brownell, lg capt.	3	1	7
Kaufman	0	0	0
DeOnis	0	0	0
TOTALS	22	7	51

Devens
	G	F	Pts
Ryback, rf	5	0	10
Shapiro	0	0	0
Paine, lf	8	0	16
Sfikas	0	0	0
Mooenci	1	0	2
Horton, c	2	2	6
Burdett	2	1	5
Zelazo, rg	1	0	2
Curtis	0	0	0
Gordon, lg	3	0	6
Martineaux	0	0	0
Scanlon	0	0	0
McCan	0	0	0
TOTALS	22	3	47

Half-time Score 19-17

the Purple cause, and left the court as high scorer for the evening with sixteen points. The visitors deft forward, made eight field goals, five of them in the last half, accomplishing this feat by taking hardly more than a dozen. See HOOPMEN, page 4

Williams Swimmers Conquer Springfield In Season Opener

Squash Team Elects George Wright Capt.

Last Wednesday the squash team elected George Wright, F-50, number one man on the squash team, as its captain for this year. George, a member of Delta Psi, hails from Chestnut Hill, Mass.

As a member of the squash team last year, he was number seven man. In the spring he is on the tennis team, playing in the fifth slot.

Muirmen Sweep All Freestyle Events

Springfield Divers Give Crowd Rare Treat

by Norm Wood

With an extremely potent display of power, especially in the freestyle events, the Williams swimming team vanquished the mermen from Springfield Saturday afternoon, by the topheavy score of 49-26.

The meet was never in doubt as the Muirmen pounced on their opponents and ran up a 21-2 score at the end of the third event. The most successful part of the meet for Springfield was the diving, in which Bill Campbell and Manuel Sevilla, winner and runner-up in last year's New England diving, treated the gallery-filling crowd to a spectacle of some of the most difficult dives in the book.

Backstroke Most Thrilling

The most exciting event was the 150 backstroke. After two false starts because of blank cartridges, Williams' Ted Lamot and Springfield's Hank Whitten fought it out right down to the finish. Whitten outtouching Lamot by about two feet. At 50 and at 100, Lamot had led by two yards, but Whitten rallied to pull even at 125, and to then squirm by with a split-second victory.

In the curtain-raiser of the 1947 season, the medley team of Hank Wineman, Swede Svenson, and Chick Brashears had won by four yards. Wineman charged into a four-yard lead, which Jim Weaver of Springfield had chopped down to one at 200. But Brashears picked up three yards, giving the Purple a four-yard triumph.

Cut-and-Dried 220

In the 220, Ray Baldwin jumped off to an early lead, followed by Bob Reid. The order did not change throughout the race; the field just widened. Captain Al Conyne took third for the visitors.

The gallery was on its feet for the 50, which, as is often the case, saw all four men touching within a yard or so of each other. Bill Rueckert and George Coale garnered eight points for Williams, Springfield's Tom Edwards taking third.

See SWIMMING, page 4

Frosh Basketball Shows Promise

Forty-nine Hoopsters Compete For Squad

A fine showing in a scrimmage against the varsity and a disappointing performance against Drury High has constituted the competitive experience of Bobby Coombs' freshman hoopsters so far. The squad is still in the process of being cut, but already the flashes of brilliance shown by various individuals promise a talented club for the opener against Rutland Junior College on January 10.

Bobby Coombs has been cutting his forty-nine man squad to a workable size, and at the same time has been looking for a winning combination by using his men in various positions. There is no first team as yet, but at this writing it looks as if 6'3" Bob Larsen and rangy Chuck Pusey will be fixtures in the starting line-up. Dave Jackson's defensive work in the varsity scrimmage was outstanding, but still he is hard-pressed by Shay Lynch who has become more impressive every day.

Two Standout Centers

It is perhaps an indication of the potential strength of the team that Bob Larson, who was voted All-Troy center last year, has shifted to forward because of the fine ball-handling of Pennsylvania's Chuck Pusey in the pivot spot. It is further noteworthy that hustling little Chuck Hofer, who captained the Vermont Academy

See YEARLINGS, page 4

SHOP REFRESHED HAVE A COCA-COLA

5¢

PLEASE return empty bottles promptly

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
BERKSHIRE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

© 1947, The Coca-Cola Company

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1830

CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE

DUST PROOF COAL

RANGE and FUEL OILS

73 Spring St.

Williamstown Mass.

THE MUSIC HOUSE
RECORDS - RADIOS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
PIANOS

34 Bank St. North Adams

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corona
Underwood
Royal

Pam's
STATIONERY STORE

108 Main Street
North Adams

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

When in New York for the holiday
Enjoy this favorite meeting
place of Williams Men

Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

COCKTAIL LOUNGE - DINING ROOM

WHAT IS A "THRIFTY"?

WELL...

We made an adjective

Into a noun, that's all.

A "thrifty" is a person who looks for

Three ingredients in every clothing purchase:

1. Style—good looks, comfort, fit.
2. Quality—fine fabrics, fine workmanship.
3. Value—your money's worth and more.

It means a person who buys Arrow products.

PS—You'll always get a good deal at your Arrow dealer's.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

"suited to the Fancy and Circumstances of Persons in all Degrees of Life"

India nautch bells 12¢
Coromandel screen $4000.00

Bennington Road, just post Phi Gam House

STRETCH THOSE

FEW VACATION HOURS

Much of your Christmas shopping can be done at this end without struggling merely to get to a counter.

The College Book Store offers a full line of current fiction and non-fiction, gift books and distinguished Christmas cards. Also for the first time we, along with book stores all over the country, are selling GIVE-A-BOOK certificates.

Berkshire Calendar $1.00
New England Calendar $1.00

College Book Store

Spring St. Raymond Washburne

Hoopmen . . .

en shots. Ryback, Devens' right forward was the other scorer for the losers with ten points contributed to the visitors' cause.

Random Notes

Devena two centers, Horton and Burdett, towered over Bud Cool, who stands a mere six feet four inches from the floor. Paine the Devens star, attended Williams in the V-12 during 1943; unfortunately he didn't care to come back. Dale Burnett was the happiest man in the gym after the final gun; Devens had dropped a close one to Tufts by five points, and Tufts is highly rated this year. Jerry Page played his finest game at Williams. Not only was Jerry good offensively, but he covered the defensive board well. Both teams scored twenty-two field goals, but Williams was four points better at the foul line.

Yearlings . . .

team which beat last year's Little Three Champion freshman, is now fighting hard to establish his position on the first ten.

The six-game schedule includes not only the usually tough Little Three opponents, but also a game with the Springfield freshmen who play a larger schedule than the Ephmen, and are reported to fare shadow Springfield's entrance into big-time basketball.

Play pool at CAFE'S

The only pool hall in town

OPPOSITE THE WALDEN

Frosh . . .

complete the team as backstrokers.

Frosh Squash

The freshman squashmen's ladder is now working itself into an order which will determine who will compose the team. At number one is Rich Allen, former number two man on Middlesex's undefeated team. Bud Treman and Bill Windle, with experience at Deerfield to their credit, are numbers two and three. Jack French and Cary Bldgood, center on the frosh eleven, are two experienced men in the next two slots.

Tom Kent, Stan Jacob, Paul Van Anda, and Johnny Greer round out the first nine positions. The first match is with the Harvard Frosh here Friday, followed by matches with Yale Frosh, Deerfield, and Wesleyan Frosh after vacation.

Freshman Matmen

After about ten days of practice, some of the weight divisions have begun to narrow down to a choice of two or three men. Bill Moffat, the lightest boy on the squad, will probably wrestle in the 121-pound division. John Kadyk may be the entry in the next class, 128 pounds. Crosby Perry has looked good in the 135-pound sector.

The middle weights, in which most of the frosh tip the scales, offers more interest in the way of competition. Pete DeLisser, with one year of wrestling experience at Manlius, looks like a candidate at 145. Greenleaf Carleton, former captain at Milton Academy, will wrestle 155, if his injured back does not keep him out of competition entirely. Ed Moody, captain at Lawrenceville, could fit into one of these two categories. Paul Shorb, guard on the freshman eleven, and captain at Hill, will wrestle in the 185-pound division.

Heavyweights Uncertain

The heavyweight classes are very undecided. Don Whitehead, another guard on the team, looks good, although without previous experience. The 175-pound division is still indefinite.

On Friday afternoon everyone on the freshman and varsity squads wrestled in an intersquad meet. Men were paired up according to weights and experience. This week there will be trials to get the team more thoroughly organized for the first meet, five days after vacation, with Kent School.

WE BUY AND SELL
USED AND NEW CLOTHING
Tuxedos for rent
SABIN'S
NORTH ADAMS Telephone 2398-M
Corner Holden and Center Streets

D & D OFFICE SERVICE

Let D & D Do Your Typing For You

Leave material to be typed at 85 Spring Street next to the Alumni House
TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

Stradivari

the perfume with a love song
in its heart—

Prince Matchabelli

In the famous gold-encrusted crown bottle
$0.50 to $25 (plus tax)

College Pharmacy
Spring Street

Swimming . . .

The diving was definitely one of the high spots of the meet. Campbell, though Springfield's number one diver, fell off slightly in his form, and was forced to take second in favor of the more consistent Sevilla. They are two of the best divers in New England, and they certainly showed their merits, to an oohing-and-ahing crowd. It was no disgrace for Al Hydeman to place third behind these men. The Muirmen quickly won back those eight points, as "Moe" Murray and John Warren churned home one-two in the 100 freestyle. Murray led all the way, with Warren right behind him. In third place it was Al Malthaner of Springfield.

Home Stretch

Herb Hoefler in the breaststroke overcame an early deficit to pass Swede Svenson, and win with some to spare. Then, in the last twenty-five yards, Jim Weaver sprinted to nose out Swede for second place.

The 440 saw a marked split in the teams, as Bob Reid and Captain Sandy Lambert coasted home first and second. Dick Lau was third across the wire. The 400 relay team of Murray, Rueckert, Baldwin, and Brashears swam a steady race, each man adding a couple of yards to the lead, the team winning by about ten.

Summary: Williams-49, Springfield-28. 300 medley relay, won by Williams (Wineman, Svenson, Brashears), time, 3:07.4; 220 free, won by Baldwin (W), Reid (W), Conyne (S), time, 2:19.3; 50 free, won by Rueckert (W), Coale (W), Edwards (S), time, 25.0; dive, won by Sevilla (S), Campbell (S), Hydeman (W), 100.8 points; 100 free, won by Murray (W), Warren (W), Malthaner (S), time, 58.8; 150 back, won by Whitten (S), Lamot (W), Krayner (S), time, 1:44.3; 200 breast, won by Hoefler (S), Weaver (S), Svenson (W), time, 2:39.8; 440 free, won by Reid (W), Lambert (W), Lau (S), time, 5:10.3; 400 free relay, won by Williams (Murray, Rueckert, Baldwin, Brashears), time, 3:41.8.

First Round Completed In Inter-Fraternity Basketball

The first round of the inter-fraternity basketball tournament has been completed, with four games being played on Tuesday and four games taking place on Thursday.

The Phi Deltas established themselves as the powerhouse of the Tuesday league, by drubbing the Saints by a 51-19 score. Joe Mason and Howie Taylor led the scoring for them with 10 and 14 points respectively. DU had little trouble downing the Phi Gams, 30-17. Don Chapman was high man for the winner with eight points.

AD's Win

In a low-scoring game, the AD's took the measure of the Sigs by a 17-12 score. Howie Smith and Bob Boyer tied for scoring honors for Alpha Delta, with six points apiece. In the only close game of the afternoon, the Zetes, led by Corky McCloud, eked out a 17-16 win over the Betes.

In the Thursday league, the Deke's well-outfitted team, showed a smooth offense in downing Delta Phi by a 24-12 score. They alternated two teams effectively, to win easily. The Kaps, led by Ed and Hank Riddall, who scored 20 points between them, won handily over the Phi Sigs, 34-20.

Chi Psi Victors

Chi Psi had little trouble downing Psi U, 21-9. Dick Whitney led the scoring for the winners, who, like the Dekes, also alternated complete teams. The Theta Delta, led by Billy Ward, took a low scoring game from the Garfield Club, by a 18-10 score.

At the completion of one week's play, the Phi Delta appear to be the strongest team in either league. They will be tested on Tuesday, when they meet the DU's, in what should be a close game. Thursday afternoon will see two other unbeaten teams clash, when the Dekes meet up with the Theta Deltas. After next week's play, there will be a three-week lay-off until the end of the Christmas vacation.

Have Your Head Examined

No, we are not exterminators, but we will examine your head for shape, size, bumps, etc. If we feel your head will enhance the appearance of our ski caps, we'll fit your head and sand the bumps down. The cap will cost you $1.19, the examination is gratis. We reserve the right to refuse to cover any head that is not becoming to our caps. By the way, if the cap fits, wear it, cause at this price, we don't even wrap 'em. If you know anyone who you think should have his head examined, please tell 'em where to go.

We've got white Gov't ski jackets, .98. Reversible furred Parkas $5.95. All rubber, wool lined zippered flight boots, $5.98. Heavy weight Army ski socks, .89. Alfred Johnson Racing Skates $10.95 and up. Army laminated ski poles $3.98, also a slew of other junk. Our slogan is... if you can't find it elsewhere, try us. If we have it, we'll be just as surprised as you are. Stop in any time; you'll be among friends even if they're not yours.

Center Sports Store

15 CENTER STREET NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

EXPERIENCED SKIERS

DON'T GUESS

They Take Advantage of a Skier's Advice and Choose Their Skis

and Accessories at the

House of Walsh

SKI SHOP

Finest Representation of Skis and Accessories in America

We are in a position to Fill all Mail Orders Immediately

All Items Returnable if Not Satisfactory

SKIS

Groszold
Northland
Ski Sport

Dartmouth
Anderson-Thompson
Laminated Aluminum

BOOTS

HAND MADE CANADIAN TYROL'S

CLOTHING

BY WHITE STAG AND MANY OTHERS

House of Walsh

Outfitters to Williams Ski Team

WIN A FREE TRIP TO SCANDINAVIA

To commemorate the Swedish Pioneer Centennial in 1948, the Swedish American Line offers six trips to Scandinavia, for the best

ESSAYS on

"The Influence of Swedish Settlers on a Community or Region"

6 Free Trips to Scandinavia and 12 Other Grand Awards

Three groups of contestants judged separately:

1. College undergraduates
2. High School and Preparatory School students
3. Adults regardless of occupation

Contest closes April 1, 1948. Write today for complete contest information to

Contest Editor (Dept. X. B. C.)

SWEDISH AMERICAN LINE

636 Fifth Avenue, New York 20, N. Y.

Include Scandinavia in your next trip abroad. Travel on the famous White Viking Fleet of the Swedish American Line. Regular sailings direct to Gothenburg, Sweden.

The White Viking Fleet

Offices or agencies in all leading cities.

Scholarship Committee Hopes One-Worlders Grades Won't Stop Initiations Plan Drive

Would Have Houses Enlarge Campaign Against Low Marks

The UC Scholarship Committee recommended at an Undergraduate Council meeting last Monday that no official action be taken to forbid initiation of freshmen for scholastic reasons. It was suggested to social units that they improve the scholarship-encouragement system already in practice in most units.

The Committee opposed the proposed ruling for two reasons:

(1) It is a purely negative approach and doesn't really attack the problem of non-intellectualism. (2) Granted that a number of low grades are caused by lack of study, it is also true that there are students who will receive low marks regardless of the time they spend studying and regardless of every sincere effort on their part. It was felt that there is no logical connection between students' inability to study and their initiation into a social group.

Various Programs Outlined

The committee pointed out that although their's was a "limited investigation," it revealed a great variation in the quality of scholastic programs to aid freshmen. The Committee recommended that social groups increase assistance, and particularly that those with no program at all adopt some plan while there is still enough time.

Some of the methods used by social units to aid scholastically weak students were outlined: 1) a Scholarship Committee or a chairman responsible for the program; 2) a compulsory study hall required of all freshmen receiving two or more warnings, the severest ruling requiring attendance five nights a week for three hours each; 3) supplying freshmen with names of upper classmen able to help them; 4) courses given in a subject where more than two freshmen of a unit received warnings, compulsory to those who received warnings in them but available to all; 5) having a file of old examinations.

Biology - - - conditions.

To Include Elevator

Preparation rooms and an elevator, which the present building lacks, will both be included in the proposed renovation of the lab. "Preparation of specimens is now performed in the basement of the lab," Dr. Cole asserted, "and they are carried by students to laboratories on the upper floors."

Not only is this inconvenient, but it also involves too much breakage risk when specimens are carried up flights of hard slate stairs. The proposed preparation rooms will be adjacent to labs, and also will be used to store the specimens for a few days, during which time they may be needed in a lab.

To Enlarge Library, Museum

Larger library and museum facilities will be available. "Our museum," said Dr. Cole, "is a working museum; displays change frequently and always bear relation to class and laboratory subjects." The new museum will be located in a wide hall at the entrance to the building, and will have a great many displays, including an aquarium.

In the basement, rooms are to be provided wherein live animal specimens may be stored at carefully controlled temperatures. A smaller and much more accurate constant temperature room will be provided, where controlled experiments, such as the breeding of fruit flies, may be carried on.

To Press Congress For Stronger U N

In an effort to aid passage of resolutions in the House of Representatives calling for strengthening the United Nations, Williams Student Federalists are making plans to apply political pressure on Congressmen in January when these resolutions come before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, announced Student Federalist Chairman Richard A. Goodman '49. The local group will campaign in favor of the resolutions through this area and ask residents to send letters to congressmen.

Letters have been sent out to 150 residents of the First Congressional District who have expressed interest in joining United World Federalists, of which the Student Federalists are a branch. It is anticipated that some of these people will desire assistance from the local group in organizing new chapters.

World Federalism Debated

Three members of the debate team that traveled to the University of Vermont last Friday to debate "Resolved, There should be World Federal Government" were Student Federalists. They were Richard Goodman '49, Peter Gutman '49, and Herbert Vance F-'49. Vance also spoke on the subject at the Lenox High School this morning. Prof. Vincent Barnett is assisting members of the organization in getting additional speaking engagements.

Interested groups at Russell Sage, North Adams State Teachers and Amherst are being contacted by Barry Benepe '50, secretary, in hopes of arranging joint meetings.

Drama I To Present Sierra's 'Holy Night'

Austin, Lasell, Candler Take Leading Parts

Members of the Drama class will present an admission-free production of "Holy Night," by Gregorio Martinez Sierra, at the AMT, Wednesday, December 18, at 8 p. m.

The members of the class have been working on "Holy Night" for several weeks as a practical application of their course work. David C. Bryant, director of the theater, is in charge of the production of the play, but all other acting and managerial roles are filled by students.

Leading roles will be filled by Jack Austin '48, John Lasell '50, and Helen Kelly, wife of Giles Kelly '49, Peter Candler '49, will be in charge of lighting, and Scott Wells '49, is taking care of scenery. Makeup is being handled by Charles Wimpheimer F-'49, and Howard Erskine '49.

Martinez Sierra died only recently after a successful career as playwright, novelist, essayist, publisher, and theatrical producer. His "Holy Night" reflects the sympathy its author felt for the oppressed, the desolate, and the outcast. The play's setting is Spain in recent years. Sierra seems to say that since the miracle of the Madonna's return to earth happened in the bedlam of life today, it might occur anytime, if it were so willed.

Cap & Bells - - -

the prophecies of an old seer provides the motivation for much of the plays' action. Stephen Sondheim '50 is cast as this soothsayer, Tiresias, whose oracles have such a tragic effect.

Others in Cast Listed

Josiah Horton '48, will play the role of a Priest. The Chorus, led by Gerald O'Brien '49, consists of Harry Ess '49, Ted Lohrke '49, Dick Heuer '50, Stephen Birning-

WMS Off Air For Semester

Engineering Problems Mount, Says Morrill

WMS Board-Head Dick Morrill '48, stated last Thursday that the opening broadcast date has been postponed indefinitely, and that the station "almost certainly will not go on the air until next semester."

"We have learned," Morrill said, that we are dealing, not with a problem of theoretical physics, but with a very real matter of engineering development." The station, which expected to open much earlier this semester, is still bogged down by what seems to be a never-ending series of surprise difficulties. The Engineering staff, occupied with "de-bugging" new equipment, is proceeding slowly, not thinking it wise to rush.

Morale High

When WMS finally does go on the air, however, it should be good says Morrill, "Station morale and enthusiasm have never been higher." "We have kept right on building programs, writing scripts and auditioning. After Christmas we expect to start dress rehearsals," and next semester, when we do begin broadcasting, the station should be far superior to what it was last year."

ham '50, Russell Bourne '50, Malcolm Frazier '51, Llewellyn White '50, Andrew Heineman '50, and Robert Gilday '48.

Jim Dissell '49, and Dick Chinnman '51 are First and Second Messengers, while Dick Schwab '48 plays the Herdsman. Antigone and Ismena, daughters of Oedipus, must be played by small children and have not yet been selected.

(WALDEN)

THEATRE

SUNDAY — MONDAY

TUESDAY — WEDNESDAY

"Welcome Stranger"

With

BING CROSBY

BARRY FITZGERALD

JOAN CAULFIELD

FAIRFIELDS FARM

GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA

Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

BASTIEN'S

Jewelry and Gifts

WATCH and CLOCK
REPAIRING

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND
GRILL for the best in food,
drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

RUGS...

Duplex rugs have just arrived. They are reasonably priced and we have them in sizes up to 9 x 12.

WILLIAMS MIRRORS...

Beautiful mirrors framed in either maple or mahogany with Williams lithograph. A fine gift for the family.

George M. Hopkins Co.

66 SPRING STREET

WILLIAMSTOWN

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

INSURANCE BROKERS TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

Vets Taxi

SERVICE ANYWHERE

Phone 729-W

82 Spring Street

Stop in at Williamstown's
Newest Shoe Store...

LUPO'S

Gives 24 hour Service on Shoe Repairing
AT THE END OF SPRING STREET

This issue of the RECORD will be read by over 8,000 alumni.

One of the problems which is foremost in the minds of an alumnus who considers a visit to Williams is just what he will be doing for the several days (or week, we hope) that he may be here. With this problem in mind, the Business Board of the RECORD is joining with the WILLIAMS INN in an effort to encourage more alumni visits, and let Williams graduates know of the changes which have taken place in Williamstown for their benefit in arranging for a truly wonderful winter visit to the Berkshires.

Recently a great many improvements have been made on Dutch Hill. An Alpine T-Bar lift and a rope tow plus five different trails, novice slopes, the Ski Shop and Dutch Boot Restaurant offer a top-notch skiing opportunity.

In addition to this, a new development, Jiminy Peak, has been made into what will surely prove itself a major ski spot. Modern, spacious, and convenient, it will offer a new challenge to Williams men.

To keep up with this rapid advancement, the WILLIAMS INN is extending facilities of its own for the winter sports season. A game room is being added, the big familiar fires will be burning, and plans are being made to provide everything a skier may desire in the way of rest, good food, and cocktails. A pamphlet is being enclosed with each issue and we're all looking forward to seeing many familiar faces back in Williamstown this winter.

Meeting

mal operating budget of the College, but is handled strictly for athletic affairs.

Taking the college enrollment as 1100, the average student this year costs the college $1,285, of which his contribution to the College is $729 or 57%. In addition, through the athletic tax, of $25, he pays one-quarter of the cost of athletics and physical training. "It should be noted," said Mr. Bertrand Fox, professor of economics, in an interview this Sunday, "that the average cost to the student is higher than his average contribution to the college, for many students pay their room rents either to fraternities or other landlords." On the average, the college pays $556 per student from the income from the endowment fund and current gifts.

Inflation Problems

"Why is it that the colleges and universities of America, crowded as never before, are so hard pressed for funds that they are trying to raise more than one billion dollars for new buildings and endowment?" Answering his own rhetorical question, Dr. Baxter said in a statement to the Record yesterday, "Some of it is for expansion against which Williams, Amherst, and Wesleyan have set their face, and some of it is to offset the effects of inflation which has raised costs out of proportion to increased income."

Dr. Baxter ridiculed the myth that Williams was the richest of the small colleges. Oberlin, he pointed out, has almost as much endowment as Amherst and Williams combined. In the past ten years, Amherst has received $1,750,000 more income than Williams.

Amherst Has More

"Although Amherst has received on the average of $175,000 more than Williams per year, we have spent $8,000 more on athletics than have they." The expenditures for athletics and physical training, including the care of athletic fields and the federal tax on admissions, amounted to $109,617. Of this sum, 25% was covered by the student tax, 24% or $26,432 by gate receipts and guarantees, and 51% came from the general income of the college.

Operating Deficit

Facing the problem of the operating deficit, President Baxter disclosed that "It will be necessary to raise tuition again, but we must not raise it to far, or we'll price ourselves out of the market for boys of small means and boys from a distance." He remarked that "in the past ten years, only two students had paid the full cost of their education. Each year their step father had requested the treasurer to let him know the actual cost of their education over and above their term bills, and had sent in his check for the difference."

Of the $2,500,000 sought by Williams College in the current drive, none will be used for expansion of college facilities not needed to handle the 850 students who will be here in 1951. To handle this number of men adequately, explained Dr. Baxter, it will be necessary to enlarge and modernize the biology and physics laboratories, and enlarge the library stacks. "We need a new dormitory on the old Greylock Hotel corner, with facilities for non-fraternity men more ample than those in Currier Hall," he continued. "We also need a hockey shed to provide better facilities for one of our most popular sports."

Present at the meeting this evening were Dean Robert R. Brooks, Mr. Chas. D. Makepeace, treasurer of the College, Walter F. Sheehan, director of athletics, and Dr. Thomas V. Army, director of health, all of whom answered questions and gave informal reports as to the disposition of the college income.

Physics

in more accessible positions between labs and lecture rooms where they will be needed. For example the electric and electronics labs will have their supplies, which do not differ greatly, stored in a room adjoining each lab.

At present there is only one lecture room in the entire building, making it difficult for many classes to receive proper demonstrations at times when one would best fit into each course. With another such room as included in the plans, confusions of this sort will no longer occur.

Astronomy Department Included

Included in these additions of some 8000 square feet of floor area is room for astronomy classrooms, labs, storerooms and offices. "The campus used to be the astronomy lab," said Winch, "which meant that inquisitive passers-by were forever wanting to look through the telescope."

The roof of the rear addition will be an observatory, which will open out from the third story of the present building. On that floor will also be included an astronomy lab and instrument store rooms. The part of that floor extending to the Chemistry Building will house two new freshman physics labs.

Building Date Unknown

Professor Winch refused to speculate on how soon ground would be broken for the proposed expansion, because "that depends on the generosity of the alumni, the students and the public."

He did surmise that once started, construction and renovation could be completed in less than two years. "The actual additions," he said, "might be built and fitted out while classes are in progress, but the renovation of our present space would have to be done during summer vacations."

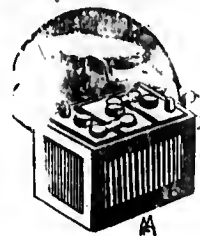

IRENE'S Gift Shop

Shop Now For Xmas

- Christmas Wrappings
- Musical Powder Boxes
- Costume Jewelry
- Stuffed Toys for Youngsters

Spring Street

STEELE and WILES GARAGE

Complete Automotive Service
BODY AND FENDER WORK
MOTOR OVERHAULING

TELEPHONE 499-M

41 Williamstown
Spring St. Mass.

U C

representing the college and their support should be continued.

Cap and Bells' allotment, which is a new item granted for one year only, has been made necessary by the shrinking of their production fund and increased expenses. This fund was whittled down recently and last summer's plays resulted in a large loss which the college administration did not pay. They plan to spend somewhat more this year to improve their productions, as they feel that this will bring dividends in the form of more season tickets sold next year.

"I've smoked Chesterfield for years and find they completely Satisfy."

James Stewart

STARRING IN
ROBERT RISKIN'S NEW PICTURE
"MAGIC TOWN"
RELEASED BY RKO RADIO PICTURES

HAVING A PARTY?

The Square Deal Store

... fully stocked to supply
your needs in every line.

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC
LIQUOR and WINES

HOWARD MOON, Proprietor

ALUMNUS...

For complete information regarding all College activities—sports, lectures, plays, College notices and calendars, progress of the Endowment Drive, and all business connected with your college, subscribe now to this paper and receive your two copies per week, terminating in June. The price is $3.00.

Don't delay—Fill out this blank today and mail to the THE WILLIAMS RECORD, Williamstown, Massachusetts.

Name
Street
City
State

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

The sum-total of smoking pleasure

THEY SATISFY

Copyright 1947, LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

The Williams Record

Volume LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1947

NUMBER 20

Sunday Count Shows 'Chest Fund Drive Far From Goal

Drive to Continue Until All Students Get Chance to Help

$3828 More Will Fill Half-Empty Chest

Evidencing the light Chest Fund collection, the chorus-girl figure on the Spring Street thermometer is painted only up to her skirt as less than half of the $8000 Chest Fund goal had been collected Sunday night after a week's solicitation.

WCA Treasurer Peter Stites '49, announced that the drive would not close Monday night as scheduled, but will continue until every student has had a chance to contribute. Only 521 students had contributed to the $4172 received as compared to a 99% contribution to the $7,579.80 received in last year's record high.

Latest indications of the drive's progress are being illustrated graphically by the painting of a chorus-girl next to the thermometer on the triangle at the head of Spring Street. As the money pours into the fund, Sheldon Ripley '48, pours on the paint and the slim feminine form slowly appears. At present, her boots and legs have been painted up to her skirt, corresponding with the height of the thermometer. How much of this trim figure will be revealed depends on those who have not yet contributed.

Of the total contributions, 45% are pledges due before February 1. The average contribution was $8.08.

Eph Debaters Break Even At Vermont

Pro Team Wins Three Of Four Supporting Federal World Govt.

Debating the subject, "Resolved: A federal world government should be established," a Williams affirmative team won three debates and lost one as the negative team lost by the same margin in the annual intercollegiate debating tournament held by the University of Vermont last weekend at Burlington.

The tournament, regarded as the most important interscholastic debate in New England, drew teams from more than thirty colleges and universities. Each team participated in four debates. The Williams affirmative team, consisting of Peter Gutman '49 and A. Richard Goodman '49, debated against McGill, Colby, RPI and Ursinus, while the negative team, Steve Vance '49 and Jack McConnell '50, opposed Bates, Army, Hamilton and Rhode Island.

Congressional Session
After the debates, a congressional session passed these resolutions: (1) the United Nations should work for a federal world government, (2) the United Nations should take charge of relief, and (3) There should be an international exchange of students and professors, and compulsory courses in international relations. George C. Connelly, Associate Professor of Public Speaking, and coach of the debating team at Williams acted as a judge at the debates.

WMS Plays on WMNB

Casey, Kelly Star In Melodrama Written By Steve Birmingham

The staff of WMS will present a half-hour experimental melodrama over the facilities of Station WMNB in North Adams, 1230 kilocycles, at 8 p. m. Friday night. The program consists of a "suspense fantasy" entitled "The Shallow Grave," written by Stephen Birmingham '50, and adapted for radio by John Hopkins '50.

This presentation is an initial trial production of a series of student-produced and directed programs called "The WMS Dramatic Workshop of the Air," which will be presented by WMS as a regular Tuesday night feature when it resumes operation next term. Several plays for this series already have been written by undergraduates, and plans are being made for their production in the near future.

WMS To Have Controls

The WMS staff will have complete charge of Friday night's production, and Station WMNB will simply transmit the program over its broadcasting facilities. Mr. Francis Casey, assistant in the Adams Memorial Theater, has been invited to serve as director of the production, in addition to taking part of one of the three characters appearing in the story.

Helen Byrne Kelly will take the part of a neurotic woman who has lived alone with her butler in an isolated house for twenty years; and Paul Barstow '48, will be heard as the villainous butler—McDonald—who is attempting to obtain his employer's wealth by driving her mad. Mr. Casey will portray Charles, the third character, who provides the play's fantastic side.

Members of the WMS staff said they expect Friday night's production to be a highly successful broadcast, both for the presentation itself and for the experience and publicity gained.

Claus Catches Criticism From WCTU, SPCA, US, Others For Xmas Actions

Labor Groups, Chicago Papers Blast Santa

by Robert S. Taylor

The Christmas Season is certainly no time for cynicism, but the RECORD feels bound to publish a synopsis of inquiries made recently by various political groups into the behavior of this man Santa Claus. These groups have been stirred to action primarily by Claus' perpetual flight from publicity, coupled with his amazing generosity. They all knew, of course, that he was getting something out of it, or that someone was being abused. Like good Americans, they made it their business to investigate the why and wherefore of his business.

One of the first invasions of Claus' polar realm was made by a committee of labor organizers. They were convinced that the bearded gentleman, in true managerial style, was abusing, perhaps even torturing the workers. In a statement made before their expedition, the organizers said:

Right Wrong

"The quantity of manufactured goods which flows from the North Pole is immense, and their distribution amazingly widespread. It is obvious to us that the workers in that area are uninformed. We

Octet Sings 3 Concerts in Busy Sat. Eve

Hops from Deerfield To Smith Engagements

The Williams Undergraduate Octet's current season reached a climax Saturday night, when the group gave three separate concerts in the course of the evening, the first at Deerfield Academy and the other two at Smith College, at a house dance and at the annual Charity Ball.

An independent, non-profit-making group, the Octet specializes in "college week ends." This season it has made appearances at the Williams Fall Houseparty Dance and at the Vassar College "Holly Ball," in addition to several other engagements in this area.

Barnes Heads Group

The Octet, which is similar in character and purpose to the pre-war Williams Octet, now on tour giving concerts for the benefit of the Building and Endowment Fund, is headed by Wallace Barnes '49, the only holdover from last year's relatively inactive organization.

Tentative plans have been made for a joint concert with the Skidmore Octet, at Greenwich, N. Y., April 24, and it is hoped that a joint concert here with the pre-war octet will be arranged some time this spring. Friday night the Octet will give a program of Christmas carols at the North Adams hospital.

Independence Claimed

"The group is of necessity extremely flexible and mobile, and can go out and sing at a moment's notice," Barnes told the RECORD. It is a completely independent organization, he emphasized, but tentative plans are now being made for a merger with the pre-war octet, to form a group called the Williams Octet Society.

The present Undergraduate Octet consists of Barnes and William Paton '51, first tenors; Alexander Clement '49, and Robert Feely '50, second tenors; William Holt '51, and John Horner '51, baritone; and Richard Bacon '48, and Martin Luthy '51, second basses. These men were selected at try-outs conducted early in the term.

shall right this wrong."

When they arrived at the Pole, the group found the main manufacturing plant to be a "terribly inefficient concern," with hundreds of non-specialized brownie laborers chattering animatedly, each working on a huge assortment of different jobs!

Brownies and Shotguns

The organizers recovered long enough to draw up a union charter which they tried to submit to the workers. They learned then that the brownies spoke a strange language, and the only interpreter they could find was a dour old man named Fader, who had been every place in the world, and who spoke all languages. But Fader refused to interpret for them and, demon that he was, actually threatened the committee with a shotgun when they showed reluctance to leave.

The group returned home to assemble the International Association of Labor Organizers designed to forcefully establish unions in the polar regions. The plan fell through, however, because no one spoke brownie language, and they all knew that Fader would never interpret for them.

Tribunal Attempts

The next attempt at forcing Santa Claus to mend his ways was

Student Discipline Committee To Crack Down

Veterans' Brides Question Value of Marriage Course

Sarah Gibson Blanding's article in the December Woman's Home Companion, dealing with the necessity for courses in marriage in men's colleges (RECORD, December 10) has met with a mixed reaction among student wives here.

Several veterans' wives question the value of such a program as that suggested by Vassar's president, principally because they feel that information which might be presented in the course can be found in other departments (i.e., psychology, biology, and economics.)

The consensus seems to be that a more integrated presentation of the subject might easily degenerate into a "gut" course of no particular worth aside from securing the Williams bachelor one more credit towards his diploma.

A marriage course would be inadequate, many of the wives believe, in teaching those factors in marriage which are the results of individual personality traits.

One wife who attended Stephens College in Columbia, Missouri, where such a course is given, believes that instruction of this type is a "must" for both men and women students. The Stephens course deals with pre-marriage and marriage problems selected on the basis of research studies conducted by the staff during the period of more than ten years since the course was introduced.

The course covers comprehensively those phases of the subject which Miss Blanding suggests to her Woman's Home Companion readers.

She refuted the arguments of those who maintain that such a course of necessity devolves into a "gut," asserting that the course at Stephens was among the most difficult, but one of the most sought-after, in the curriculum. And she believes that students in men's colleges would benefit to the same degree from similar courses.

All of the wives interviewed were inclined to look kindly on that part of President Blanding's article which suggested that marriage courses for men might persuade a potentially lazy spouse to take more athletic interest in domestic affairs.

Alumni Gather Here Feb. 21-23 For Conclave

Plans for the eighteenth annual Mid-Winter Homecoming February 21-23 are "maturing rapidly" according to Albert V. Osterhaut '06, chairman of the committee planning the weekend. "An impressive sports program, the alumni luncheon, and fraternity initiations will be feature attractions of the reunion," he said.

The sports program will include an Amherst basketball game, hockey with Harvard, a Bowdoin-Williams swimming meet, squash with army and an MIT wrestling match.

Alumni Luncheon

President Baxter will preside over the alumni luncheon Sunday, February 22. Mr. Osterhaut particularly urged all alumni with sons in school to bring them to the affair.

At the luncheon, the James C. Rogerson Cup and Medal will be presented. The gift of Mrs. Rogerson and the Class of 1892, the trophy is awarded for one year to an outstanding alumnus or member of the Senior Class for service to the college and "distinction in any field of endeavor." The Rockwood Tennis Trophy, the Belvidere Brooks Memorial Medal to the outstanding football player of the year, and the Meredith Wood Alumni Fund Trophy, given for one year to the class agent whose class had the highest percentage of contributions to the alumni fund during the previous year will also be presented.

Initiations

According to the reunion schedule, fraternity initiations will be held Friday and Saturday, February 21 and 22. Mr. Osterhaut said that the fraternities and the Carfield Club plan to hold banquets Saturday.

The Alumni House will be open throughout the weekend, and an informal get-together will be held there Sunday evening. Entertainers and musical features will be a part of the festivities.

Saturday and Monday mornings will be given over to "vagabonding," Mr. Osterhaut said. "The alumni will visit classes of favorite professors, the library, the art museum and other points of interest."

Will Cease Ignoring Rule Breakers

Violation of College, Federal Laws Cited

by W. R. Barney, Jr.

Following a meeting of the Student Discipline Committee last week, Chairman John Wilson '48, stated that continued infraction of College rules will be met with severe disciplinary action.

Although the rules which were ratified by the Undergraduate Council last summer have been frequently ignored during the past several months, no concrete action has yet been enforced. Wilson pointed out a twofold reason for this.

In some cases, a rule has been broken so often by so many, that any penalty invoked would have to be applied to a very large percentage of the college. Secondly, many students have regarded the rules as mere "dead-letter" regulations which were not actually enforced.

Ignorance No Excuse

Wilson further explained that as a result of last week's meeting, the student body should consider itself duly warned. The Student Committee, though it has no actual authority in itself, may make recommendation ranging anywhere from "no-cuts" to dismissal.

If a committee recommendation is received favorably by the Faculty Committee on Discipline, the offender will be punished. Dean Brooks added to this by saying that "only in the most exceptional case would the faculty not adhere to a student proposal."

What the Committee Is

The Student Discipline Committee is composed of student and faculty members alike. Student representatives of the group are the senior, junior, and sophomore class presidents, and the chairman and secretary of the junior advisors.

Included in the faculty membership are Professor Samuel Matthews of the biology department and Professor Robert Allen of the English department.

Dormitory Curfew

One of the most abused regulations is that of entertaining girls in dormitory rooms after 6:30 p. m. A night watchman declared after last houseparties, "If I had turned in everyone who violated the rule, 75% of the college would be on probation." In one case where two violators were reported, one claimed that he thought that "it was just one of those rules that were never actually enforced."

Chairman Wilson stated that this has been one of the most serious offenses, and for obvious reasons, mainly the reputation of the college, such practice would have to be discontinued. Even though the vast majority of the cases are harmless, any infraction from now on will be dealt with very seriously.

Fire Equipment

Of the more important offenses, that of tampering with fire fighting equipment heads the list. Not only is it a dangerous practice but it is also a violation of local and state safety statutes.

Another common misdemeanor has been that of removing "reserve" books from the library. Wilson pointed out that this habit did not hurt the library in the slightest, but was rather an inconvenience to fellow students. Out of common decency, he continued, a man should refrain taking such books. Where such books are set aside for research purposes, the task of writing a paper becomes

See CRACK DOWN, page 4

See SANTA, page 4

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editor-in-Chief.....J. David Maier, '48
Managing Editor.....Charles H. Klensch, '48
Co-Adv. Managers.....Edward L. Stockhouse, '50, Thomas B. Healy, Jr., '50
Circulation Manager.....Dudley M. Irwin, '50

Volume LXI

DECEMBER 17, 1947

Number 20

Christmas Shopping

Tis last week before Christmas and all through the school everybody is studying for hour tests, except for the brave one hundred fifty who managed to get to the college meeting Monday night. It is a shame that President Baxter put so much of his time into the preparation of his material on the college financial situation for this meeting. He might better have spent it doing his Christmas shopping.

The one encouraging factor of the college meeting, however, was the traditional singing of "The Mountains." Perhaps it was the vocal oiling of the Christmas chapel Sunday, or the few interested townspeople who swelled the meeting, but something made that chorus of 150 perk up and sing.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the Record:

We would like to express our disapproval of the presentation of varsity letter awards Monday, December 1, particularly in regard to the extended distribution of the Williams "W," and the appearance of the letter itself.

It has always been the policy of this College, as with most every other institution, to award letters to the members of the individual athletic teams and to their managers, who have worked for one or more years to attain their position. This year it appears, the policy was somewhat extended, to include also the assistant managers. Other than for football, therefore, the whole competition idea has become a farce, and the position of manager has lost its meaning altogether. The significance behind the Williams "W" has been greatly reduced.

The new major "W," with the "bathtowel" effect, we feel, cheapens the letter's appearance decidedly. Of those awarded Monday night, several were quite sloppily made, and, in general, were not considered an improvement over last year's style at all. This opinion has been expressed openly by several of the men who received them. Could we not, then, possibly return to the former major "W" for all sports, or devise a new and better creation? It would not be difficult to find a better one.

(Fall lettermen's names withheld by request.)

A Broadway Guide (For The Reasonably Intelligent Playgoer)

by John Hawley Roberts, Professor of English

(The plays are arranged alphabetically. I have not seen those marked with an asterisk.)

A STREET CAR NAMED DESIRE*: Said to be excellent. But it might be wise not to take your great aunt. It is tough and poetic, hard-boiled and compassionate, written by a man who some day will be in the textbooks. The director, Kazan (Williams '30), gives it everything.

ALLEGRO*: Apparently you love it or you loathe it. I suspect I'd do the latter.

ANNIE GET YOUR GUN*: Loud, funny, brassy, and spectacular. For all Merman fans, which should mean most of the human race.

ANTONY AND CLEOPATRA: A beautiful production of a play almost impossible to produce. Miss Cornell makes you believe in Cleopatra the queen; but I can think of better sluts. Tearle and Kent Smith are both excellent.

BORN YESTERDAY: A long-run hit, very funny in the first half when the social significance has not yet cut into the comedy of the characters. Judy Holliday is as amusing as mere mortal men deserve.

BRIGADOON: If you must go to a musical, this is probably it. A bit fey, with nice music and charming dancing.

CALL ME MISTER: For all ex-G. I.'s, particularly those not alumni of the Air Forces. A very lively topical revue, with fine singing and spontaneous fun.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT*: Opens December 22. Watch the papers. It should be one of the events of the season.

FINIAN'S RAINBOW: I found this an abysmal bore. London confirmed my judgment.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: Nothing to this as a play; but Helen Hayes is having herself a field day and she keeps the audience howling.

HARVEY: It's been so long since I saw it that I can merely say that I thought the rabbit was really there, which means that Frank Fay is so good that he is only slightly inferior to Josephine Hull.

MAN AND SUPERMAN: An impeccable and delightful production of the G. B. S. version of the sex game. Watch the direction and the timing. At least half the fun comes from recognizing the skill that goes into the placing of the players on the stage and into the reading of the lines.

MEDEA: I have been going to the theatre for 35 years and have seen most of the best plays and players in that period. This surpasses them all. It is an absolute "must" for anyone who takes the drama at all seriously. A great actress and a great play become magnificent theatre.

OKLAHOMA!: Still fresh and lively. The first and best of the new vogue in musicals.

THE HEIRESS: A thoroughly literate and adult evening in the theatre. Readers of Henry James's Washington Square will be interested in seeing how good a play has emerged out of rather undramatic material. The acting is extremely deft.

As to movies that probably will not come to Williamstown: I cannot honestly recommend O'Neill's MOURNING BECOMES ELEGANT except to the student who wishes to see what the cinema ought never to do—I. e., turn the camera onto a stage set and let her grind. Still, as an aid to remembering the plot, it is very helpful. . . You'll find Wendy Hiller and Roger Livesey in a British film I KNOW WHERE I'M GOING. It's a delightful romance, set in the wild and stormy beauty of the Hebrides. . . I hear that the new Italian picture, TO LIVE IN PEACE, is better and less grim than SHOE SHINE, which is very high praise.

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

What else can you do for a Christmas column?

A CHRISTMAS CAROL IN PROSE

by Josie Horton with little help from Charlie Dickens

STAVE ONE

Oh! But he was a Jolly Boy, Scrooge! a loose-fisted, generous, bountiful, munificent, handsome, old philanthropist! He was accustomed to start toward his offices earlier than usual at Christmastide, for it gave him consummate pleasure to pat the blind men's dogs, and help old fishwives navigate the cobbles, and exchange bon mots with the beggars along the way. Ebenezer the Effulgent, he was called by his friends who outnumbered by far the flakes of soot in the London fog which pressed against the window of Scrooge's happy clerk, Bob Cratchit.

Bob had been sent home early today, for was it not the day before Christmas? It certainly wasn't, but who was Bob Cratchit to argue with kindly old Scrooge who had said, "Take a vacation with double pay until after the New Year, Cratchit old fellow!"

Now, Ebenezer was approaching his domicile having spent a busy and philanthropic day giving ten pound notes to his nephew and other sundry charities. "God bless you, everyone!" he had said. As Scrooge stood before his door, he noticed something more strange than odd. There on the foot-scraper was the face of his old partner Marley!

Scrooge brushed some mud from Marley's brow. Marley was dead; no doubt about that. Scrooge himself had signed the death certificate with a philanthropic flourish. But there he was on the foot-scraper—large as life and twice as dirty. "Scrooge," he said, rattling a chain, "three spirits will visit you tonight to give you the real poop on this Christmas stuff."

"Thank you, and good night," said Scrooge, scraping his boot on Marley's forehead. Scrooge's housekeeper came into his room, bearing his dinner. She didn't look like a kept woman as she gave him his bowl of gruel. "This has been a gruelling day," said Scrooge. And as the housekeeper prepared to leave, he said, "Bar the windows, Bessie, I'm expecting some friends. God bless you, every one!"

STAVE TWO

Precisely upon the stroke of one, the Ghost of Christmas Past ectoplasmic through the window. It took Scrooge by the arm and led him out the way it had entered. "I want to go back," said Scrooge. "Be not afeared," said the Ghost of Christmas Past. "I'm not," replied Ebenezer, "but I've forgotten my rubbers."

Soon the two were at a place. "Do you recognize this place?" the Ghost asked. "Do I recognize this place?" asked Scrooge. "Yes," said the Ghost. "No," said Scrooge. So they went to another place which Scrooge recognized as his boyhood home. And there before his very eyes was himself as a tot. "That's me as a tot," he told the Ghost.

He saw the Christmases of his early life. He saw himself being beaten by the schoolmaster for yelling "God bless us, every one" right in the middle of Latin recitation. He saw his sister stealing his Christmas orange. He saw his mother and father—sots that they were—beating him for giving his shoes to a ragamuffin as a Christmas gift. What didn't he see! Oh, lots of stuff, but it isn't terribly important. He finally twisted the Ghost's sheet until it took him home.

On the way, the Ghost stopped at a party given by the Fezziwigs. Here Scrooge saw himself being accused of awful things. A shotgun at last appeared in old Fezziwig's old hand and the Ghost and Scrooge escaped barely in time. "Old lady Fezziwig never even appealed to me," said Scrooge, as the buckshot whizzed by. "God bless them, every one!"

STAVE THREE

The following evening, at a little past twelve, the second Ghost appeared. This was the Ghost of Christmas Yet To Come. "You're tomorrow night," corrected Scrooge. "Oh, so I am," said the Ghost. And it disappeared up the flue. In a trice, the Ghost of Christmas Present, blew in, puffing a little in haste. The Ghost took Scrooge by the hand and led him in to a mansion on the outskirts of town.

"This is Bob Cratchit's little place," said Scrooge. And sure enough it was, for there breaking a Dresden vase was Tiny Tim—so-called because he tipped the scales at 389 stone. "God bless us, every one!" cried Tiny Tim, hitting his mother with his crutch. "Stop it," said Mrs. Cratchit. "You've hit that head enough, try my other one." "What an abominable child," said Scrooge to the Ghost, "He stole my line right out of my mouth."

"I had a tough time getting it past your foot," said Tiny Tim. And the entire household rocked with merry laughter, for it was Christmas, and they were all afraid not to laugh at Tiny Tim's jokes, for he wielded a mean crutch.

All sorts of things happened. Cratchit's daughter revealed that she had been done wrong by her young man. And the Christmas goose shriveled up so there was hardly enough for Tiny Tim who gulped it whole while saying, "Gommp mblesms umms, mmevemry one!" And Scrooge heard himself cursed as a villainous exploiter of labour. "We'll come into our own someday," said Cratchit, thereby prophesying the collapse of the Conservative Gov't. And finally the plum pudding exploded burning the house to ashes and leaving the Cratchits destitute except for their town house.

Scrooge went back home to bed.

STAVE FOUR

The third night, the Ghost of Christmas Yet to Come came. "Now!" it said. "Now!" said Scrooge. So the two went on a little tour into the future. First, Ebenezer saw himself as he would be in many years. It was a heart-chilling sight. He was a fat jolly old man who went around saying you-know-what to you-know-whom. He was poor as the proverbial church-roddent because the new Labour Gov't under Robert Cratchit had nationalized his business. And he was afraid to die because he knew that his nephew couldn't pay the inheritance taxes. What a nasty life.

Then the Ghost took him to see the Cratchit family. Here all was sadness and gloom. Tiny Tim refused to die, and he had possession of all the family funds which he was squandering on the purchase of all available copies of Irving Cratchit's new Christmas song "God Bless Us, Every One." The scenes were too much for poor Scrooge. "Take me home," he sobbed.

When they arrived back at Scrooge's lodging, he said, "Ghost, tell me how I can change this awful future!" Just before leaving, the Ghost told him that by doing one good deed, he might change the scenes of the future which he had seen that night. "O. K., Ghost," said Scrooge, "on your way! I have to think up a good deed."

STAVE FIVE

The next morning, Ebenezer Scrooge was a changed man. He threw a bowl of gruel at Bessie when she brought him his breakfast. He got out on the wrong side of the bed—on purpose! He had hit upon the perfect good deed. He bought a Christmas goose and stuffed it liberally with arsenic and strychnine, then he sent it to the Cratchits with his greetings. He knew that gluttonous Tiny Tim would gulp the whole thing and die immediately in awful agony, thus making the Cratchit family happy and ridding the world of that abominable thing.

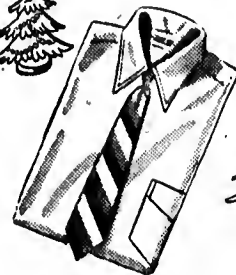

That done, Scrooge made a vow. "I shall make my name synonymous with hatred of Christmas," he vowed. To begin with, he lowered Bob Cratchit's salary and removed both the heater and water cooler from his office. "That'll fix the bastard," he said. And it did. Bob Cratchit died soon after of thirst and influenza.

And until the day he was strangled to death by Bessie, who knew what she wanted and how to get it, he said, if anyone wished him a Merry Christmas, "God bless us . . . er, Christmas! Bah! Humbug!"

When you go home for the holidays say "Merry Christmas"

the Arrow way!

1. An Arrow shirt.
White or striped.
A perfect gift!

2. An Arrow Sports Shirt.
Handsome, warm, rugged.

for
DAD

3. A few selected Arrow ties.
Stripes, foulards or knits. Don't forget yourself!

for
BROTHER

FREE BOOKLET—Write for your free guide to better dress, "The What, When and Wear of Men's Clothing." Address: College Dept., Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., N. Y. 16, N. Y.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

from

THE GYM LUNCH

"I've always been a part of your telephone service"

"You'll find my name on your Bell telephone—you see it on reels of cable being fed into manholes or strung on poles—you'd find it, too, on the complex equipment in your telephone exchange.

"As the supply member of the Bell Telephone team, I manufacture equipment, purchase supplies, distribute both to the telephone companies, and install central office equipment.

"Year in, year out, I help my Bell Telephone teammates to give you the world's best telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

"Remember my name—it's Western Electric."

Western Electric

A UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM SINCE 1882

Hoopsters Lose To Trinity By 58-36 Score; Last Half Slump Fatal To Purple

The varsity basketball team was handed its first loss of the season by a powerful Trinity combine, 58-36, on the victors' court last Saturday night. The Ephs did not have offensive or defensive sharpness which they showed in their previous win over Devens, and seemed unable to cope with the home team's speed and height. First half play was fairly close all the way, although Williams was never in the lead. High-scoring Watson opened the game by sinking a foul shot, and before the visitors got into the game, Ed Faber had counted with a foul and Watson had scored on a tap-in. Bob Brownell came back for Williams with a center set, and Jerry Page one-handed one after Pitkin had done the same. Trinity jumped to a nine point lead with a screened set from far out by Jack Mahon, a lay-up by Faber, and three penalty tosses.

Ditmar Scores

George Ditmar tallied with a long set, Watson came back with a pivot, and Jack Mason scored on a foul. Watson pushed the lead to 17-7 with another field goal, but Ditmar sank another long set from the side. After Pitkin had dropped two from the foul line, Mason scored on a follow-up and Ditmar converted a tap from Brownell which cut the lead to 19-13.

After three Trinity points, Brownell counted from the foul circle and Mason scored off Ditmar's back-hand pass. Then the victors poured seven straight points through before Jack Wideman could bring Williams back with two free throws. George Bush then converted Brownell's pass and Bob came back again, this time with a push-shot to make the score 29-23 as the half ended.

Poor Second Half

The Ephs tried to make a go of it at the start of the second half but never quite got into the ball game. Ditmar balanced off a Trinity field goal with a pivot shot and Mason equalized another with a lay-up as Williams continued to stay even. Page and Mason countered along with three more Trinity markers with a foul shot and a follow respectively. Then the gap widened to fourteen points before Wideman could register with a push shot. After Wideman had tossed in a penalty throw, the home team thoroughly iced the game with eight more points to put the count at 54 to 33. By dint of three more foul scores, See BASKETBALL, page 4

Relay Team Works Out

Rough Schedule Due For Winter Term

Nine men, five of whom saw action on last winter's successful mile relay, are competing for positions on this season's quartet. A schedule of five indoor meets has been arranged by Coach Tony Plansky beginning January 24 with the Knights of Columbus Meet at the Boston Garden.

Currently getting into shape on the gym indoor track are the same four men who did a 3:28 minute mile in their last 1947 appearance, Lionel Bolin, Johnny Hay, Bill Barney and Key Delany.

Wide Open Competition

As yet no one is assured of a position. Dan Spaeth, a member of the 1946 relay, has come back to school after a service stretch. Gordon Smith, Al Clarke and Scottie Brooks all ran on the track team last spring are possible starters.

With only three weeks practice left before the opening of the '48 season, Plansky is hopeful of bettering last winter's record of two first places in four outings.

Mile Relay Schedule

Jan. 24—K. of C., Boston Garden.

Jan. 31—Millrose, Madison Sq. Garden.

Feb. 7—Boston A. A., Boston Garden.

Feb. 28—IC4A, Madison Sq. Garden.

March 7—K. of C., Madison Sq. Garden.

Squash Loses To Big Green

Varsity Loses 6-3 As JV's Triumph

Making their first start in regular intercollegiate competition this season, the Eph squashmen suffered a 6-3 thumping at the hands of the Dartmouth Indians at Hanover, Saturday afternoon. The JV meanwhile were gaining revenge at the expense of the Green junior varsity, 7-2. Ringe, playing number one for Dartmouth, stopped George Wright, newly-elected captain of the Purple; 15-3, 15-5, 15-6. Straw and Stahl disposed of the Williams' second and third men, Bill Mikell and George Kneass; Straw winning 15-9, 15-13, 12-15, 15-10 as Stahl won 15-4, 15-11, 15-8. Mann of the Green had to all out to win over Randy Thomas 15-9, 9-15, 12-15, 16-15, 15-10, in the most exciting match of the day.

Pietsch Wins

Jack Pietsch, Jerry Dresser, and Lou Lincoln scored the only wins for the Purple, crossing up McGear, Kurr, and Van Roelt. Feldberg scored the final Dartmouth victory, topping Frank Donnelly in four games.

In the JV match, Bill Riegel, Russ Platt, Dan Hurlbutt, John Worcester, Scott Wells, Bob Eckart and Bob LeCount were victorious for the Chaffemen, while Roland Palmedo and Sid Stewart lost to Keese and Rodgers of Dartmouth.

The local lads will entertain the Harvard varsity and JV teams here Friday afternoon for the last action before the vacation.

Hockey Team Prepares To Meet Princeton, Colgate, Dartmouth, On Xmas Trip

Since the first skatable ice of the season last Friday, the Williams hockey squad has been practicing two hours a day in preparation for their first game, against Dartmouth during the Christmas Vacation. With eleven men returning from the '46 sextet Coach "Whoop" Snively has a good nucleus from which to build his team.

Although after three days of practice "Whoop" will make no commitments as to his starting lineup for the Dartmouth game, we can get some idea of the pucksters who will see action this season from the lineups in practice. The team will be led by Captain Charlie Huntington and Tom Bensen, runner-up in the scoring department last year, both of whom played on the first line a year ago. Chuck Coleman, high scorer, and the third member of last year's first line, was lost to the team through graduation and will be sorely missed.

Soph Team

Out of the eleven returning lettermen from last year, seven are sophomores. The three defensemen returning, Dud Irwin, George Owen and Don Radcliffe, all sophomores, should see a good bit of action when the pucks start flying. Pete Andrews, also a sophomore, is the only goalie returning from the '46 team and will probably be found in the nets. Dave Pynchon, a converted defenseman from last year's frosh team, shows promise in the goal and may give Andrews a battle for his position.

Either Tom Healy or Chuck Schmidt from their performances in practice may well make up the first line, along with Bensen and Huntington. Others who will see action in the forward line are Doug Coleman, Mark Reynolds and Ed Spenser, all veterans of last season. Bucky Marchese, who played on last year's freshman team and Tom Mitchell, formerly of the class of '49, who has just returned to school, should also figure in the scoring department.

Buffalo Trip

"Whoop" is taking eighteen men to Buffalo in hopes of giving the team competitive experience before the first game of the regular season with Union. The trip to Buffalo is sponsored by Williams alumni living in that city, and is the first Intercollegiate Hockey Series held there. Other colleges who have been invited by their respective alumni associations are Colgate, Princeton, Dartmouth and Clarkson Tech. Williams meets Dartmouth in their first game of the series on December 29. On New Year's Eve the Ephs meet a strong Princeton sextet. The final game of the series will be played against Colgate on January 4.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

"suited to the Fancy and Circumstances of Persons in all Degrees of Life"

Indio nouth bells 12¢
Coromondel screen $4000.00
Bennington Road just post Phi Gam House

Stay At The Worthy Inn
MANCHESTER, VERMONT
NOW OPEN YEAR 'ROUND • 4-SEASON RESORT
Plan Xmas and New Year's Holidays Here
FISHING • HUNTING • GOLF • RIDING • SKIING
190 Mi. From N. Y. C.; 130 Mi. From Boston
RATES $7 to $11 DAILY, AMER. PLAN
Write for Brochure "X" Phone Resv. Manchester (Vt.) 92

WE BUY AND SELL
USED AND NEW CLOTHING
Tuxedos for rent
SABIN'S
Corner Holden and Center Streets
NORTH ADAMS Telephone 2398-M

Merry
Christmas

FROM

BACON'S GARAGE

Ford
WINTER LUBRICANTS
will

● Provide thorough lubrication for all parts even during the very coldest weather.

● Make your car ride better and steer easier.

● Help avoid excessive wear that results in expensive repairs.

Bring Your Car
"Back Home" to us for
Winter Lubrication

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

SEAT COVERS
WHILE THEY LAST

$10.50

Regularly $18.25

KRONICK'S
ESSO STATION

Merry Christmas

and a

Happy New Year

to all

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL
AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

HAVING A PARTY?

The Square Deal Store

... fully stocked to supply
your needs in every line.

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC
LIQUOR and WINES

HOWARD MOON, Proprietor

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

When in New York for the holiday
Enjoy this favorite meeting
place of Williams Men

Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

COCKTAIL LOUNGE - DINING ROOM

(WALDEN)
THEATRE

TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY

"Welcome
Stranger"

With

BING CROSBY

THURSDAY FRIDAY

Fun On A Weekend

With

EDDIE BRACKEN

Campus to GENERAL ELECTRIC

CHEMICAL ENGINEER

The Story of
John Stiefel

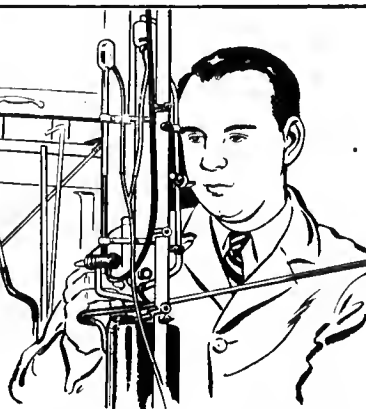

After receiving his B.S. in chemical engineering at the University of Illinois in 1942, John Stiefel went into the Army Chemical Corps, landed in the sixth wave on D-Day, mortared the Nazis, got mortared himself, and came out with a Purple Heart, a Bronze Star and a great eagerness to get back to the practice of non-destructive chemistry.

He spent three weeks travelling from one employment interview to another. In the end he decided on General Electric—particularly the Air Conditioning Department in Bloomfield, N. J.

"I figured," he says, "that a company like G.E., growing outside of purely electrical projects into such chemically based fields as atomics, paints, and plastics, would offer all the chemical opportunities I would want. I wasn't wrong."

At Bloomfield, John has helped staff the Works Laboratory and plan its expansion. He is now the laboratory's Chemical Section Head and a consultant on chemical engineering problems for the Department. With further expansion underway in personnel, equipment and floor space, John's job grows steadily.

For your copy of "Careers in the Electrical Industry," write to Dept. 237-6, General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

A chem engineering major at Illinois, John is now shaping up a chemical career in the G-E Air Conditioning Department

As commander of Company A of the 87th Chemical Mortar Battalion, John hit the beaches early on D-Day, won five battle stars

GENERAL ELECTRIC

Crack Down . . .

veritably impossible.

Colonel Greco's Sign

A seemingly humorous practice of late has been that of stealing and dismantling the ROTC sign in front of Col. Greco's office. Although those involved probably did it as prank, the act nonetheless involves tampering with government property, and thus constitutes a federal offense.

Wilson cited these four categories as typical of "crimes" committed by students during the fall term and again emphasizes the fact that sufficient warning has been given.

In explaining the function of the Student Discipline Committee, Dean Brooks stated that many colleges of the post-war era have devised many methods of enforcing law and order. Some have enlarged their campus police force, while others have given their faculties sole jurisdiction. Here at Williams, Brooks said that he felt that such authority could be given to the student body itself. He further explained that students can have no real complaint against college regulations as they exist at present.

Santa . . .

their unkind bondage, wanting a place for them in some nice zoo.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue made a thorough check on him, positive that he was evading the Income Tax. They were about to close in, when, at the last minute, they discovered that he was not a citizen.

Others, too numerous to mention, have taken issue with the red-coated, bewhiskered gentleman. It is indeed fortunate that, at one time or another, they have all been stymied; it means that we can still be hopeful about Mr. Claus coming again this year—that despite everything, the determined old man stands a pretty good chance of making his rounds.

Basketball . . .

Williams managed to push their score to 36 as Trinity kept pouring in the buckets.

Purple Not Sharp

For Williams it was a bad night. The team definitely did not show the sharpness it had displayed against Devens. The ball handling was not as good and the shooting, especially in the last half, was inaccurate. For Williams scored only four field goals and thirteen points in the entire second stanza.

TYPEWRITER HEADQUARTERS

108 Main Street
North Adams

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.

On Sale at 5 p.m. on all Williamstown Newstands

D & D OFFICE SERVICE

Let D & D Do Your Typing For You

Leave material to be typed at 85 Spring Street next to the Alumni House

TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1836

CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE

DUST PROOF COAL

73
Spring St.

RANGE and FUEL OILS

Williamstown
Mass.

Have Your Head Examined

No, we are not exterminators, but we will examine your head for shape, size, bumps, etc. If we feel your head will enhance the appearance of our ski caps, we'll fit your head and sand the bumps down. The cap will cost you $1.19, the examination is gratis. We reserve the right to refuse to cover any head that is not becoming to our caps. By the way, if the cap fits, wear it, cause at this price, we don't even wrap 'em. If you know anyone who you think should have his head examined, please tell 'em where to go.

We've got white Gov't ski jackets, .98. Reversible furred Parkas $5.95. All rubber, wool lined zippered flight boots, $5.98. Heavy weight Army ski socks, .89. Alfred Johnson Racing Skates $10.95 and up. Army laminated ski poles $3.98, also a slew of other junk. Our slogan is... if you can't find it elsewhere, try us. If we have it, we'll be just as surprised as you are. Stop in any time; you'll be among friends even if they're not yours.

Center Sports Store

15 CENTER STREET

NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Merry Christmas

FROM

LUPO'S

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

THE MUSIC HOUSE

RECORDS - RADIOS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
PIANOS

34 Bank St. North Adams

STEELE and WILES GARAGE

Complete Automotive Service
BODY AND FENDER WORK
MOTOR OVERHAULING

TELEPHONE 499-M

41 Spring St. Williamstown Mass.

Merry Christmas

to all

Williams Students from the

BEMIS STORE

House of Walsh

PROUDLY ANNOUNCES

ONE OF THE

MOST COMPREHENSIVE

SKI LINES

IN AMERICA

LOOK HERE NOW

House of Walsh

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Telephone 3553

INSURANCE BROKERS

TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beckman 3-4730

"I FIND CHESTERFIELDS
GIVE ME THE MOST SMOKING PLEASURE"

Elizabeth Scott

STAR OF THE HAL WALLIS PRODUCTION FOR PARAMOUNT RELEASE

"I WALK ALONE"

A B C

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

*Right Combination
World's Best Tobaccos
They Satisfy*

Copyright 1947, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Williams Record

Volume LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

SATURDAY, JANUARY 10, 1948

Number 21

Jay '38 To Present "Singing Skis" At AMT Monday Night

Proceeds From Sound Film Go To Building And Endowment Fund

John C. Jay '38 will present a two-color color skiing film at 7:30 this Monday evening at the Adams Memorial Theater. The entire proceeds from this sound film, entitled "Singing Skis", will go to the Williams College Building and Endowment Fund. Tickets for the performance are $1.20 apiece.

The movie shows the techniques of the Olympic Ski Team members in slow motion and telephoto close-up. International stars, such as Gertrude Tholliere, world's famous girl skier, are featured.

Woolsey, 1936 Olympic Captain, takes the audience on a tour through the gorgeous Teton and there are also shots of Snake Valley, Flagstaff, the Sugar Bowl, Aspen, Yosemite, Estes Park, Steamboat, Jackson Hole, and Ogden. John Jay provides an interesting running commentary with the movie.

10 Years of Lecturing

John Jay has been lecturing and showing his movies on skiing ever since his graduation from Williams in 1938 except for time in the service. This fall he made a West Coast trip in which he talked to audiences of 1800 in Denver, 2200 in Los Angeles, and 2300 at the University of Seattle. Even comparatively small Sacramento College turned out 1800 strong to hear him and to see the films.

Jay's Service Record

Jay served successively in the Army Signal Corps, Infantry, and the Air Force, A 2nd Lt. in 1942, he was separated in 1946 with the rank of Major. He kept in close contact with his favorite hobby of skiing while in service, supervising Arctic rescue and warfare in the Arctic.

See MOVIES page 2

New Machines To Aid Study Of Roper Data

Truman To Direct Use Of Public Opinion Research Material

The new machines which will enable the College to use the data from forty-eight Roper public opinion surveys are expected to arrive here next month.

Professor David B. Truman, who will direct the use of the donated data, explained that the answers of each individual question have been punched up on cards by a reproducing machine. Each question is designed by one column on the card and each possible answer is assigned a number in that column. The reproducer acquired by the school will be used mainly to duplicate mutilated or worn cards.

New Machines

By a system of electrical contacts, a tabulating machine sorts and counts the cards, totaling the different answers made to any question being studied. The applications of this sorting process are extremely varied. It is possible, for instance, to separate cards according to the economic status, sex, age, or other characteristics of the persons interviewed and thereby contrast and relate the answers given by each group to any question.

Professor Truman said that the machines were used by the War Department in a way similar to this. Every man in the Army had a separate card listing his education, abilities, occupation and other characteristics. If, Truman said, a general in Afghanistan needed a left handed book-keeper

See TRUMAN, page 2

UC Presses Tax Collection

Delinquent Lists Sent To S A C Organizations

Extracurricular leaders primed their heavy artillery this week to blast the remaining delinquents who have not yet paid their four-dollar Undergraduate Council Tax. The tax is used to finance the activities of the Lecture Committee and other non-profit making student activities.

Albert V. Osterhout, Advisor in Undergraduate Affairs, said Tuesday that all campus activities and organizations had been given lists of the members who had failed to pay the tax. "It is up to the organizations concerned," Mr. Osterhout said, "either to have their members pay the tax or ask the men who fail to pay to leave the organizations."

Copying Last Year

SAC Chairman Horton H. Kellogg '48, said that he felt some of the undergraduates were copying the evasive actions of last year in trying to get by without paying the UC tax.

Dickinson R. Debevoise '48, said that steps will have to be taken to insure 100 per cent payment of the four dollar tax. He said he feels that it will be collected before the problem has to be handed over to the College authorities, a decision which he would rather not see made.

Possible College Authority

At the UC meeting Monday Dean Robert R. R. Brooks pointed out that if the College were made responsible for collecting the tax, the trustees would be inclined to hold the College responsible for the disposition of the funds.

Dean Brooks suggested that, at the next meeting, the UC consider a resolution requesting the College to withhold diplomas until the tax is paid. He said that Wesleyan requires payment of bills even to local merchants before diplomas are granted.

Williams To Debate Oxford January 16

James H. Stone '48, and Wallace Barnes '49, will speak for Williams in a debate against representatives from Oxford University of England, Friday, January 16, at 7:30 p.m., in Jesup Hall.

The issue to be debated is, Resolved: "That the social and economic arguments for the nationalization of basic industries are overwhelming." Williams is to take the negative side.

The British debaters are the Honorable Anthony N. W. Benn, and David K. Harris.

Difficult Problems Faced By W M S

Staff, Program Planning Nears Completion

"Three technical problems remain to be solved on WMS, while the staff training and station programming are almost completed," according to WMS president DeWitt C. Morrill.

The first of these problems is the testing of a pilot model converter designed to change the station's power to 640 Kilocycles, at which it will run on the College's electric system. If this converter proves satisfactory, three or four similar ones will be built to complete the job.

Station to be rewired

The rewiring of the station, which is to be done by the College, will be completed by the end of the year.

See WMS, page 2

Edson W. Spencer '48

Spencer Wins Rhodes Honor

Fifteenth Williams Man Since Grants Began

Edson W. Spencer '48, was one of the 48 Americans awarded a Rhodes Scholarship last month, and became the fifteenth Williams man to study in England under the grant of Cecil Rhodes.

After he graduated from Hotchkiss in 1943, Spencer entered the Navy V-12 program at Princeton. He attended Midshipman School at Yale and was graduated highest in his class. He came to Williams in September 1946.

Lives in Chicago

Spencer, whose home is in Chicago, has been active in extracurricular organizations at Williams. In addition to working with the IRC, WCA, the hockey and tennis teams, he is president of Phi Delta Theta and is Secretary of the UC.

The last Williams man to receive the scholarship was Henry McClellan '48-M, who won it last year. A tabulation of Rhodes Scholarship winners since the awards began in 1904, shows Williams tied for thirteenth place with fifteen men. Leading Williams on the list are only the large Eastern colleges and some of the Western universities.

The scholarships are provided by the will of Cecil Rhodes, great English empire-builder, who believed that an exchange of the students of England and America would be of great educational benefit to both countries.

Dean Keep Hears Tragic Tales From Eph Students As Xmas Vacations Ends

by Bob Taylor

Associate Dean Albert Keep is not entirely dry-eyed these days. He couldn't be, after the soap-opera tragedies that he has heard this week from Ephmen explaining why they missed their Monday and Tuesday classes.

"It's a terrible emotional strain," says Mr. Keep, poring over the list of twenty-five or thirty men who cut their first post-vacation classes. "I'm not sure that I can stand it."

Late Trains Blamed

It was late trains, again, that kept the students from school. "Whether the trains do this on purpose or not, I don't know," remarked Mr. Keep, "but one thing is certain — they always do it." The Dean's desk drawer is crammed with signed testimonials from Pullman porters who swear up and down that their train was, indeed, late.

But it's the garnish with which some Williams men can surround a simple thing like a late train story that is truly remarkable. One young man, for example, arrived on a Tuesday morning creper, missing all his classes. He had

Fordham, Rutgers Face Eph Five This Weekend

Library Gets First Editions

Harte, Whittier Books Donated By Rockey

Forty-eight first editions of Bret Harte and James Greenleaf Whittier were included in the recent donation of over seventy volumes to the Stetson Library by Mr. Kenneth H. Rockey of New York City.

College Librarian Wyllis E. Wright said last Wednesday that the seventeen first editions of Bret Harte are a valuable supplement to the collection of Harte donated to the college several years ago by Mrs. Colburn Haskell of Cleveland.

New Whittier Collection

The thirty-one first editions of James Greenleaf Whittier, he continued, constitute a sizeable first edition collection by themselves. The remainder of the volumes contain general material in literature and history, Mr. Wright explained, and are not all collectors' items. See LIBRARY, page 2

Modern Drawings In Lawrence Exhibit

An exhibition of forty drawings by modern American and European artists, loaned by the Museum of Modern Art, opened Tuesday at the Lawrence Art Museum. The collection which consists of works ranging from the realistic to the surrealistic, includes drawings by Picasso, Boccioni, Lachaise, Moore and Rodin.

Drawings of the French painters Pascin and Matisse also are included, and works by such Latin-American artists as Rivera, Orozco, and Portinari. Bacon, Hart, O'Keefe and Sheeler are a few of the American artists represented. The entire exhibit will be on display in Lawrence for two weeks.

Dean Brooks Given Certificate Of Merit

Dean Robert R. R. Brooks has been awarded the President's Certificate of Merit in recognition of his outstanding services during the war in various capacities in the War Production Board, and the Office of Price Administration.

The Certificate is signed by President Truman and by Owen J. Roberts, chairman of the Medal for Merit Board. It was forwarded to Dean Brooks by John W. Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury this week.

During the war Dean Brooks served with the War Production Board and as Deputy Administrator for Information with the Office of Price Administration.

Chest Drive Short $2000

Graney Urges All Pay Pledges Now

Only three-quarters of the $8,000 Williams Christian Association Chest Fund goal has been collected in cash and pledges, Patrick C. Graney Jr. '49, chairman of the Fund committee, announced Monday.

The WCA has decided to continue the drive until next Wednesday. It is still nearly $2000 short of the goal, but many undergraduates who were absent when the WCA representatives called have not yet been contacted.

Pledges Receivable Now

Graney, asserting that pledges will be accepted now, urged that they be paid on time. "Last year," he declared, "We were more than $1000 short of our goal because people reneged on their pledges."

The $7580 raised in cash and pledges last year would have been an all-time record for chest fund drives at Williams, had not the pledges failed to materialize.

Graney Optimistic

"We are a long way from that record this year," Chairman Graney added, "But we can and certainly ought to raise $2000 more by March 1 for such an indisputably worthwhile program."

Dean Denies Any Discrimination

Admissions Based On Records, Not Quotas

Dean Robert R. R. Brooks denied that there is any discrimination by the College in the policies on admissions, at the Undergraduate Council meeting Monday night.

Dean Brooks said, "I can see no evidence here of a quota system or of any discrimination." He pointed out that Dartmouth definitely strives for diversification of all types in the student body, which lays them open to charges of operating under a quota system.

Admissions Based on School Work
Dean Brooks emphasized the fact that the Williams admissions policy "is based on previous school work and on the qualities of leadership and character." He said "Williams has therefore no positive policy of diversification, except in an effort to get geographical spread in enrollment. This might lead to different results than at Dartmouth."

See UC, page 2

Williams Five Meets Seasons Strongest Foe

Fordham Boasts Five Game Victory Streak Including Yale Win

Rutgers Presents High-Scoring Team

Usual Line-Up Intact Except For Bush

by Seth Bidwell

Coach Dale Burnett's hoopsters tackle their toughest opponents of the year after a three-week lay-off when they bump heads with the Rams of Fordham and then Rutgers University this Friday and Saturday. After an abbreviated pre-vacation schedule which netted the Purple quintet a victory over Devens and losses to Union and Trinity, Burnett has been putting the squad through concentrated daily practices in an attempt to regain the team-play and smooth ball-handling which the team was just acquiring before the vacation.

Unlike Williams, Rutgers and Fordham have been playing straight through the holidays, and both teams are in top strength in man power and the number of games played. Rutgers defeated Johns Hopkins last Wednesday evening by the resounding score of 83-40, while Fordham was disposing of Yale that same evening in a close 77-75 encounter.

Fordham Powerful

Of the two teams Williams meets in this week-end's double header, Fordham presents the most powerful aggregation. Undeclared in five starts, Fordham dumped Tony Lavelli and Company from New Haven this week, and presented themselves as a high scoring team by dropping in 77 points against the strong Yale defense. Rutgers, while not sporting as impressive a record as Fordham, is also a power on the hardwoods. Losing to Columbia by five points, and Seton Hall by three points, both powers in the Eastern league, Rutgers has swamped the remainder of its opponents, Johns Hopkins being the latest to receive the treatment.

With this combination of power to combat, Burnett will probably stick with the five which he had started in the last three games. Although this aggregation lacks all-around height, they have speed, and the ability to hit the hoop from out-court. However to handicap the squad even further, George Bush, the little sharp-shooting forward has been battling the flu this week, and it is doubtful if he will start this week-end.

Probable Williams Line-Up

If Bush can start, the probable line-up will have Bush and George Dittmar at the forwards, while Captain Bob Brownell and Jerry Page will hold down the guard slots. Tall Hank Wideman will again resume his pivot position at center, although it is expected that Bud Cool's height will be required against the giants from the Metropolitan region. Jack Mason, the fastest improving ball-player on the squad, will also see a good deal of play, and will substitute for Wideman, with Brownell moving into the center slot.

For those readers who like comparative scores, Yale defeated Wesleyan 70-54. Compare after the week-end.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Volume LXI

JANUARY 10, 1948

Number 21

Election Methods (UC Take Note)

In the past few years, under the past few student government constitutions, Williams has shuttled back and forth between systems of class elections. Under the "Kiernan Regime", which is as far back as we care to remember, class officers were come by under a system of nomination and election by class meetings. These affairs were always sparsely attended, and those present, after a little pre-meeting organization, usually succeeded in horse-trading and high-pressuring their favored candidates into office. We are not disapproving of those "chosen", but rather of the way in which they were put into office.

Because of the obvious evils of this system, nomination and election by secret ballot was next tried. The main trouble under the new system was that the ballots were not secret. Each social unit, or at least the vast majority, held class meetings of their own to determine which of their members in each class stood the best chance of winning the election. Nominations were thus secured for those candidates who had the largest single social unit delegation behind them. Again we are not disapproving of individuals.

FORGETFUL FRAMERS

The framers of our new constitution had evidently forgotten the old farcical story of "class meeting elections," for it is this method now in operation. The same old evils still exist. At the senior class elections, neither of the officers elected were present. We have also heard rumors of "strange goings-on" in the sophomore meeting. Now we are definitely not disapproving of those elected, but we are still rather unhappy about methods.

We have a proposal, admittedly a direct steal from Wesleyan, which we feel will eliminate the evils of the above two systems. Each social unit would elect four representatives, one from each class, to serve on a nominating committee. These four groups would then thin down the class lists, by thorough investigation and discussion followed by a secret ballot, to a workable number of nominees. A petition of perhaps 100 names, not more than ten of which could be from any social unit, would be sufficient to add any person to the lists of nominees. A secret ballot would then be taken on these lists.

Freshman elections must be held within the first two weeks of next term. We feel that now would be an excellent time for the UC to do some reflecting on this obvious problem of election methods. And we would also welcome comments and criticisms of this Record proposal in the form of letters to the Editor.

J.D.M.

Excuses - - -

self to his Saturday classes.

Sickness Responsible

But something terrible happened on Friday night. He got sick. This naturally caused him to oversleep on Saturday morning, and he naturally missed all his classes. Not only that, but he missed his train, and was six hours late getting away. In addition, he was terribly ill, but couldn't report to the infirmary, because they would keep him there, and he wouldn't get away at all.

Dean Keep brushed away a tear as he recalled the classic tragedy of that valiant student battling his environment, and his own sickness. "I really had trouble on that one," he said. "I really had to fight to control myself."

Dean Keep Glum

Dean Keep gets a bit glum when he realizes that nothing can be done about the situation. "Once we set down a rule," he said, "where the time was all that counted — no excuses were permitted. But then half the school was put on probation, and we had to stop."

"Now, two or three times a year, I'm reminded that life, after all, is pretty vicious."

Truman - - -

that spoke Chinese, the cards were run through the machine and, in a matter of hours, a man was on his way to Afghanistan.

"Metamorphoses"

Later "Metamorphoses" in the machines allowed them to give typewritten answers to any question being studied. By substituting letters for numbers on the master cards and making a few minor changes in the machines, payrolls, checks, magazine addresses and countless other details could be handled by the tabulator.

"The cards and machines," Dr. Truman commented, "will be useful not only for the class in public opinion, but also for professors and students doing work in any field of the social sciences. The questions asked cover such broad

Paragraphs In The News

Peter M. Gutman '49 was elected president of the International Relations Club at the semiannual elections held Thursday, December 18. Hubert R. Hudson '49 continues as vice-president, Herbert C. Vance '49 takes over as secretary, and Bob Rupen '48 and Arthur Sprung '50 will be members-at-large.

The Rev. C. Leslie Glenn, D.D., Rector of St. John's Church, Washington, D.C., will preach in the Thompson Memorial Chapel Sunday, January 11, 1948.

About six hundred places will be reserved for American students at summer schools to be held by seven British universities and university colleges during July and August 1948. Each course will last six weeks. The subjects will range from European Civilization and Shakespearean and Elizabethan Drama to Britain's Economic Future.

Students who complete their courses to the satisfaction of their tutors will be given a certificate of attendance. Credits obtained can, by previous arrangements with the Registrars of their own universities, be transferred to students' home colleges. Further information is posted on the bulletin board in Jesup Hall.

A contest offering $3000 in cash prizes for the best essay on "An American Program for World Peace in the Present Crises" has been announced by the Tamiment Social and Economic Institute.

WMS - - -

lege Engineering Department at WMS expense also has yet not been done. Since this has not been completed, it is impossible to try the entire station with an operating test under actual broadcast conditions. No definite opening date for the station has been set.

fields that, with future additions, the collection will gradually become a specialized reference library."

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

Any steady readers of this here column — and anyone who reads it had better be steady — will remember that I promised more information concerning the recent report of Professor Alfred Kinsey on "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male." During the more or less recent more or less holidays, my time was not spent in such idle pursuits of frivolity and sensuous pleasures as winning and femming. Instead, I prepared an extensive study which I have decided to call "Sexual Behaviour in the Male Human."

Research has been under way for many months, and it was only because of certain political influences that Kinsey beat me to the punch so to speak. The Horton Report is somewhat limited in that it is concerned with only the Williams campus. It is unlimited in that it also concerns sex. Here it is:

SEXUAL BEHAVIOUR IN THE MALE HUMAN AT WILLIAMS COLLEGE

Two important facts had necessarily to be determined before the investigation could be begun with any degree of certainty as to its outcome. They were that those investigated were (1) male and (2) human. Exhaustive research showed that the ratio of humans to others was 2.36:1 in favor of the others. Males seemed to be in the majority in the majority of cases. Both faculty and students were investigated.

A preliminary inspection of the library stacks showed that while Calder Farthingham's "Sexy Tales" had been taken out by 492 persons, Virginius Willing's "Celibacy in our Changing World" had — in the same period, mind you! — only two readers. This was ample indication that sex is indeed at least present on the Williams campus. Thus encouraged, the quest was narrowed to finding the forms in which this presence made itself felt.

Sexy Normalcy

Several of those investigated proved to be disgustingly normal according to the new standards of normalcy (Harding, move over!). All had begun their active sex lives at the age of 6.31 years. Their activity had taken the form of biting various grandmothers and other female relatives with intent to maim and—in one instance—kill. Other signs of normal sexual behaviour were present. Two of the several had habitually (that is, at least eight times per week) indulged in pyromaniacal ventures until the age of twelve — a definite indication of lust.

The less normal persons investigated proved more interesting. Of the group which approached most nearly the perverse, a majority had believed that (1) the stork brought babies or (2) that babies were found under cabbage leaves. This definite sign of sexual immaturity was found mostly in that class level which may be identified by the constant wearing of grey flannel slacks, conservative sport coats, and shoes of cordovan leather.

Sexy Abnormalcy

Type I (the Stork Type) had at least some faint realization that the whole business had something to do with birds and bees and things, but Type II (the Cabbage Type) seemed quite oblivious of anything but cabbage. One extremely perverse one indicated a belief that Brussels sprouts produced midgets.

Both types seemed to agree that members of the opposite sex (known locally as "girls") were a diabolical governmental plot to encourage the spending of money. It was noticed that contact between the sexes was avoided as much as possible; and that when it did occur the contact was made during the darker hours when chances of embarrassment were smaller.

The question of sex on the Williams campus has not been settled once and for all. It may definitely be said at this time that (1) there is sex and (2) it is predominately male. This is encouraging.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the RECORD

I was very pleased to see today a copy of The Record of December 15 which so ably presents the story of our current drive for $2,500,000. I think you and your entire staff are to be commended for this presentation.

Further, I think you are to be especially commended because I understand that The Record also has made a contribution to the Drive in the sum of $150. I hope that as the Drive continues during the next few months, The Record will continue to help in such an efficient and worthwhile manner.

Cordially yours

Charles B. Hall, General Chairman
Building and Endowment Fund Drive

U C - - -

'Dean Brooks told the RECORD Wednesday that his statement in the Undergraduate Council Bulletin concerning the question of the college and discrimination had been mis-quoted, and that he wished to clear up any erroneous interpretations.)

Resolution To Indicate Undergraduate Sentiment

The UC directed the Committee to Investigate Undergraduate Social Relations to draft a resolution for future UC discussion. The resolution will indicate how the undergraduate body stands on discrimination on the basis of race, creed, or color.

It was brought out at the meeting that Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Delta Theta, and Theta Delta Chi are the only houses on campus with discriminatory clauses in their national constitutions.

UC Funds Pay For Movie Expenses

The Council authorized the use of UC funds to pay for tickets and posters for the Council-sponsored John Jay ski movie. John A. Stillwell '49, was elected to fill a vacancy on the Rushing Committee, and Dudley M. Irwin '50, was appointed to the Nominations and Rules Committee.

Dean Brooks announced that there would be no reimbursement from the State for those undergraduates who fought the fires on October Mountain near Lenox, Mass., last fall.

Library - - -

items.

The Library's rare books are kept in Mr. Wright's office, although some are occasionally dis-

Movies - - -

Saskatchewan and Baffin Island. He was also Public Relations Officer for Mountain Troops, later Intelligence Officer, and in charge of skiing and mountaineering instructors. He was the official advisor to the Canadian Mountain Troops in British Columbia.

His wartime record includes several commendations. They are for his part in an eight-man test expedition to make the first winter ascent of Mt. Ranier, 1942; arctic research for the RCAF, 1945; compiling the history of the Mountain Training Center for the Commanding General, AGF, 1945.

Critics Praise Movies

Critics unanimously praise John Jay's color movies. The National Geographic Society, Washington, writes: "The photography was superb, the commentary witty, and the musical accompaniment excellent." The New York Post observes: "His films are tremendous, exciting, colossal full of mountains, slopes and snow. The facilities of ski-beginners are belly-laughs of classic proportions, further expanded for every individual by his own memories."

played in a second floor case. The Chapin Library of rare books, he explained, is entirely separate from the Stetson Library.

Library Has Own Rare Books

The Stetson Library has an extensive collection of first editions itself, he declared. "We have, for instance, the third best collection of Edward Arlington Robinson in the country."

The Chapin Library is separately established and endowed, and donations to the college go to the Stetson Library unless specifically given to Chapin.

This is one of the winning advertisements in Rogers Peet's Inter-School-and-College Advertising Contest.

Submitted by

T. B. WASHBURNE
Williams College

The Beta Kappa!

You don't have to be an honor student to recognize clothes that have run off with college honors for years—

Clothes by the modern Rogers Peet.

Rogers Peet Clothes are as traditionally correct as their quality is fine and their value obvious.

No wonder Rogers Peet rates tops at so many of the country's leading schools and colleges.

Rogers Peet Company
A label that spells character

NEW YORK
Fifth Avenue at 41st Street
Thirteenth St. at Broadway
Warren Street at Broadway
BOSTON
Tremont St. at Bromfield St.

"Dentyne Chewing Gum!"

"Well, rub my eyes—if I'm dreaming of delicious Dentyne Chewing Gum, don't wake me up! I'm all set for that keen, clean taste—and do I like the way Dentyne helps keep my teeth white, too!"

Dentyne Gum — Made Only By Adams

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beckman 3-4730

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C. H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

Three Hockey Team Defeats Suffered During Vacations

Dartmouth, Colgate, Princeton Victors

Pynchon Earns Praise In Buffalo Circuit

by Jerry Cole

Williams' hockey team got off to a rather shaky start over the Christmas vacation by dropping three games in the first Buffalo Hockey Series. Coach Snively's squad lost to Dartmouth 7-1, Princeton 5-2, and Colgate 5-0.

In the Dartmouth game on December 29 at the Buffalo Memorial Auditorium, the Green jumped off to a quick lead with four goals in the first period. But the feature of the evening was Don Radcliffe's bruising body check of star Joe Reilly, one of Dartmouth's four Olympic invitees. Joe was helped from the ice after having scored two goals and one assist. After a scoreless second period Dartmouth grabbed three more goals and Williams gained its only goal four minutes from the end, on a Mark Reynolds tally and an assist by Bud Wilson. Sophomore Dave Pynchon was outstanding in the goal with thirty-four saves.

Princeton Closest

In the second and closest game, Princeton downed Williams 5-2 on New Year's Eve. Until the last five minutes the score was tied at two all Williams' goals having been driven home by Tom Healy and Captain Charlie Huntington, both assisted by Don Radcliffe. The Williams bulwark most of this time was Tom Benson who did a magnificent job of ragging the puck (keeping possession) while the Purple had two men in the penalty box. But the dam finally broke, and Princeton, led by VanDyke, scored three quickies in a final victorious scoring burst. Pynchon was credited with nineteen

Eph Squash Team Meets Unbeaten Yale

In their second home meet of the season, the Squash team goes into action Saturday against a strong Yale squad. In the scheduled competition the team so far has a record of 0-2. In an overall count, however, it stands 2-3 as a result of wins over McGill and the Williams Club in exhibition matches. A match with MIT, scheduled for a week from Saturday, will be the team's last appearance until after examinations.

saves.

Ragged with Colgate

In the last and most poorly played game of the series the Raiders of Colgate came out on top by a 5-0 count. They scored twice in the first period, once in the second, and twice more in the last period. And still goalie Pynchon made thirty-four saves, giving him the amazing total of eighty-seven for the series. Rycroft was high man for Colgate with two goals.

Williams starting lineup in the first games had Pynchon as goalie, George Owen at left defense, Radcliffe at right defense, Healy at center, Huntington left wing, and Benson right wing. Especially deserving of praise for their play throughout were Pynchon, Benson and Mark Reynolds on the line, and Radcliffe on defense.

About 2,000 spectators were in attendance at each of these contests.

Series won and lost records were Dartmouth 4-0, Princeton 2-1, Colgate 1-2, Clarkson 0-1, and Williams 0-3.

Skiers Place 9th At Placid

St. Lawrence Repeats Last Year's Victory

Short on practice and with one man injured, the Williams ski team placed ninth in a field of ten during the three-day competition of the twenty-seventh annual Lake Placid Sno-Birds' Tournament December 30, 31 and January 1 at Placid.

Led by Bob Wright, winner of all-around honors for the second year in a row, St. Lawrence repeated their championship performance of last winter, placing ahead of Queens University, Maine, Cornell, Syracuse, Harvard, R.P.I., Penn. State, Williams and Brown. The Larries from Canton, N.Y., had clear sailing as Wright placed first in the slalom, cross-country, second in the ski-jump and twenty-sixth in the downhill as a result of a spill.

After the first day's activities Williams was in sixth position, as Casey Prime, Gordon Volkman, Dick Brown and Pete Finlay placed twelfth, fourteenth, eighteenth and thirty-third in the downhill. Out of a field of thirty-eight in the slalom Finlay finished twentieth, Prime twenty-first and Volkman twenty-third.

The Ephmen showed fairly well in the cross-country event with Volkman taking a fourteenth. Brown finished twentieth, five places ahead of Finlay. In the ski-jump on the 40-meter hill Brown scored a seventh in a field of thirty-one. His fine work went for naught, however, since Williams entered only one jumper in the event and three had to compete in every event to gain a score for the team.

Gus Klien, who might have jumped, dislocated his elbow during the first day of practice, and was unable to compete.

Frosh Clubs Open Today

Cub Basketball, Hockey, Squash Teams Start

Saturday afternoon will see a well-balanced freshman basketball team open its campaign against Rutland Jr. College in Lasell gymnasium, while Whoop Snively's frosh hockey team will play their opener at Vermont Academy. The undefeated yearling squash team will face a highly rated Yale team on the same afternoon.

The Coombs-coached basketballers have looked impressive in early scrimmages, but will be facing a more experienced Rutland club. The probable starting line-up will see big Chuck Pusey in the pivot spot, with sharpshooting Dewey Fagerburg and Bob Larson, the converted All-Troy center at the forwards, while Dave Jackson and setshot artist Jack Frazier will be in the guard slots.

Andover Sends Its Best

Ex-Andover star Mitch Fish, thought by many to be the best hockey player in college will pace the as yet untested Snively-skaters. Herb Poole and Ted Childs have looked good in their respective bids for the goalie slot while Dave Humphrey has been successfully teaming up with Fish. "Cubby" Snively seems to be following in the family tradition by turning out to be a rugged defenseman.

The same yearling squash team which upset the highly-touted Harvard racquetmen 5-4 will be looking to repeat this performance against a strong Yale team. Rich Allen, whose victory over his former Middlesex teammate turned the tide in the Harvard match, will again be the number one man. Deerfield's Bud Treman and standout footballer Cary Bidgood will be in the two and three positions while Bill Windle, another Deerfield alumnus, rounds out the foursome.

Swimming Team Is Matched Against Mass. Univ. Today

Four Ski Teams Enter March Meet

James Dorland '50, head of the Winter Carnival Committee, has announced that Harvard, Yale, Amherst, and West Point have definitely accepted invitations to participate in the ski meet which will be held on the week-end of March 6-7. Twelve other colleges have been considered for invitations, and those invited will be picked by a vote of the Williams Ski Team.

Cook Voted Captain Of Wrestling Team

Squad Opens Season With Tufts Today

In an election held Wednesday afternoon Paul C. Cook Jr. was named Captain of the Wrestling team for the impending season. Paul, a Junior from Edgewood, R. I., was also chosen Captain-Elect of the Cross-country team last month. Wrestling in the 128 lb. slot he stands on an impressive record from last year and replaces Chuck Blakney, who piloted that team to the little three championship.

Opener Today

The Williams wrestling squad, under Cook, faces its season's first opponent at Tufts this afternoon. As a result of trials held a week before Christmas vacation the following line-up has been fairly definitely determined: 121 lbs. Bill Kelton; 128 lbs. Paul Cook; 136 lbs. Hank Hall; 145 lbs. Bill Leitzinger; 155 lbs. Grant North; 165 lbs. Ed Reynolds; 175 lbs. Chuck Blakney; and unlimited, John Stillwell.

See WRESTLING, page 4

Lambert Injured May Not Swim

Squad's Second Meet Victory Is Expected

by Norm Wood

This afternoon at Amherst the Williams swimming team will resume its schedule against the University of Massachusetts outfit. The Purple, on a basis of the opponents' last year's record, rules the favorite.

The swimmers for Williams will be the same group which annexed the first triumph over Springfield, 49-26, four weeks ago today. A possible exception to this line-up may be Captain Sandy Lambert, who is hampered by a not-too-serious but nevertheless annoying arm injury.

In Each Event

Backstroke Hank Wineman, breaststroke Swede Svenson, and freestyler Chick Brashears make up a good 300 medley relay. Ray Baldwin, winner of the 220 in last year's New Englands, and Bob Reid, runner-up in the 220 and winner in the 440, give the second event plenty of strength.

Moe Murray, Bill Rueckert, John Warren, and Brashears will take care of the 50 and 100, Murray possibly swimming in both. Wineman and Ted Lammot will handle the 150 backstroke; Svenson and Sam Gentiles, the 200 breaststroke. Al Hydeman and Al Hammond will perform the diving.

Last Two Loaded

If Captain Lambert, who garnered fourths in the 220 and 440 of the '47 New Englands, does not swim today, Ray Baldwin will step in to swim the 440 along with Bob Reid. The relay team of Murray, Rueckert, Baldwin, and Brashears

See SWIMMING, page 4

Cause for American Pride...

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth, upon this continent, a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation, so conceived, and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met here on a great battle-field of the war. We have come to dedicate a portion of it as the final resting place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But in a larger sense we can not dedicate—we can not consecrate—we can not hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who waged this war have consecrated it far above our power.

THE GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

★ Just ten stirring sentences in all. But they are an immortal expression of democracy and freedom. Shown here, in Abraham Lincoln's own handwriting, is part of the manuscript from which he spoke on the afternoon of Nov. 19, 1863. The original, along with more than a hundred documents famous in American history, is on exhibit aboard the "Freedom Train". This train is now on a nationwide tour. Watch for its arrival in your area!

Be proud of what you write... and the way you write it!

Pride comes with the possession of a Parker "51" For this is the world's most-wanted pen... flawless in its beauty and performance. It writes in a way that does you proud. No urging. No coaxing. The "51" starts instantly. Coasts across the page with clean, easy strokes. Two sizes: regular "51" and new demi-size. Both with choice of custom points. The Parker Pen Co., Janesville, Wis., U.S.A., and Toronto, Can.

Parker "51"
"51" writes dry with wet ink!

More than meets the eye...

One look and you'd say that a great deal of work lies ahead before this new telephone central office is completed. That's true. But already, much of the job is done!

For months telephone men have been hard at work—in offices and in the field. One group has carefully studied business and population trends and has forecast the telephone needs of the community for years to come. Another has determined the amount and types of equipment that will best meet these needs. Still others have found ways to make this new equipment a part of our world-wide communications network.

At our Western Electric plants the telephone equipment—the switchboards, frames and switching mechanisms, the cable, wire and relays—has been scheduled and is already being manufactured.

All this and more before the ground was broken!

The telephone business is a constantly expanding business in which thousands of college men are finding interesting and rewarding careers. There's a future in telephony.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

WIN A FREE TRIP TO SCANDINAVIA

To commemorate the Swedish Pioneer Centennial in 1948, the Swedish American Line offers six trips to Scandinavia, for the best

ESSAYS on

"The Influence of Swedish Settlers on a Community or Region"

6 Free Trips to Scandinavia and 12 Other Grand Awards

Three groups of contestants judged separately:

1. College undergraduates
2. High School and Preparatory School students
3. Adults regardless of occupation

Contest closes April 1, 1948. Write today for complete contest information to

Contest Editor (Dept. X. B. C.)

SWEDISH AMERICAN LINE

636 Fifth Avenue, New York 20, N. Y.

Include Scandinavia in your next trip abroad. Travel on the famous White Viking Fleet of the Swedish American Line. Regular sailings direct to Gothenburg, Sweden.

The White Viking Fleet

Offices or agencies in all leading cities.

Swimming - - -

touches off a loud explosion after a well-loaded fuse.

Little is known of Massachusetts U. They have not yet had a meet, and the only judgement that can be passed upon them is based upon their last year's performance. In the dual meet the Purple soundly trounced them, 56-19. In the New England they finished seventh with seven points, all seven won by Ryan. He swam second in the 440 and third in the 220. He is back again this year and should offer some real competition in his events.

O'Brien, Hall Also Good

There are two other Massachusetts University boys who will bear watching. They are O'Brien, who won the breaststroke in last year's dual meet, and Hall, whose brother holds the 100-yard, and is tied for the 50-yard, record in the New England Intercollegiate Swimming Association, and who also swims the 50 and 100. On the whole, however, the Massachusetts University team does not seem to have the overall power needed to defeat Williams.

The Red Cross is one of the organizations which benefits from your WCA Chest Fund.

GIVE NOW!

Wrestling - - -

A home match with Hofstra on January 31 was recently added to the schedule. This will be the first contest between these teams and little is known at this time about the strength of their squad.

FAIRFIELDS FARM

GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA

Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

THE MUSIC HOUSE

RECORDS - RADIOS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
PIANOS

34 Bank St. North Adams

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL: 498-R

WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED

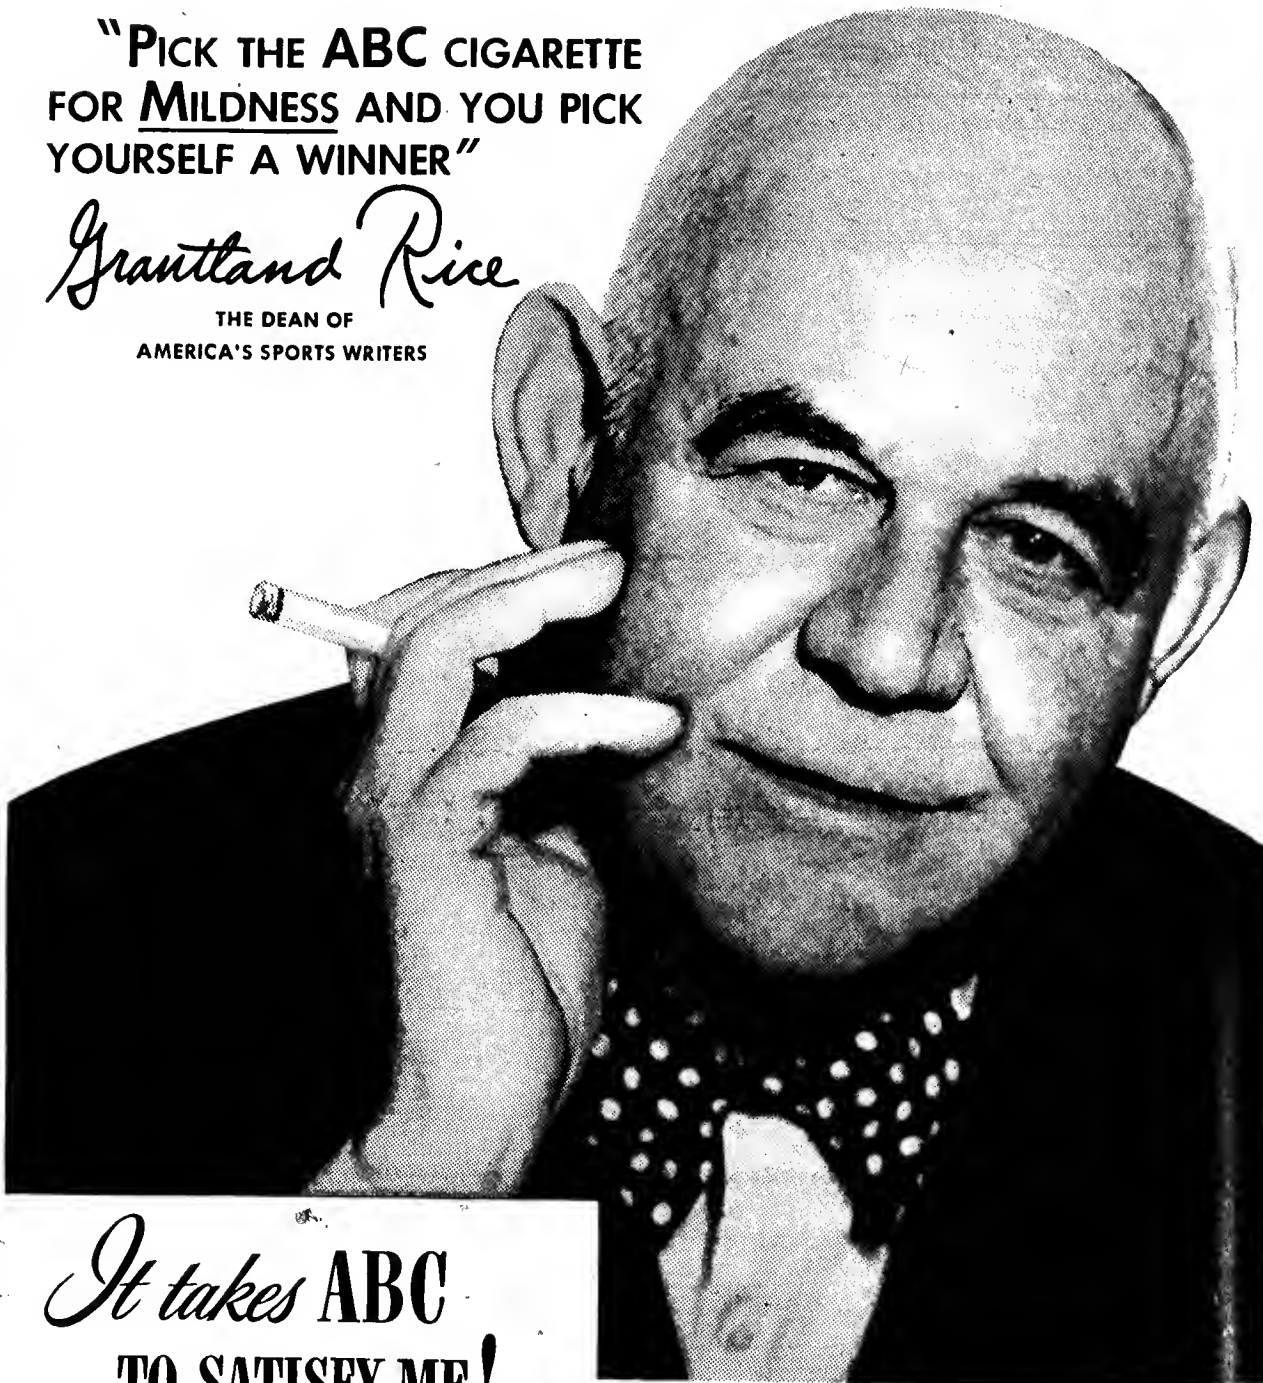

ROUTE 2

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHN'S

"PICK THE ABC CIGARETTE FOR MILDNESS AND YOU PICK YOURSELF A WINNER"

Grantland Rice

THE DEAN OF
AMERICA'S SPORTS WRITERS

It takes ABC TO SATISFY ME! says Sportscaster Grantland Rice

ALWAYS BUY

When you change to Chesterfield THE FIRST THING YOU WILL NOTICE IS THEIR MILDNESS

...that's because of their Right Combination
World's Best Tobacco

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

CHESTERFIELD

They Satisfy

Copyright 1948, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.

On Sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newsstands

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"

Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.

NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

WALDEN THEATRE

FRIDAY and SATURDAY

BOOMERANG

with

DANA ANDREWS

SUNDAY and MONDAY

STRANGE WOMAN

HEDY LAMARR GEORGE SANDERS

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

This favorite meeting place of Williams Men features ..

LADIES LOUNGE

AND

LADIES DINING ROOM

An ideal spot to entertain the family or date.

Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

The Williams Record

Volume LXI WILLIAMS COLLEGE WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1948 Number 22

Williams Swimmers Sink Massachusetts 62-13

Record First To Cooperate With SAC As All Staffers Comply By Paying UC Tax

SAC Asks Groups To Have Members Pay Or Get Out

RECORD took the lead this week in following the Student Activities Council directive, putting collection of the Undergraduate Council Tax into the hands of the various organizations, and became the first SAC activity to have compliance payment by its members.

At campus activities and organizations were given lists of their respective members who have failed to pay the UC tax. The SAC is a part of the Undergraduate Council and is helping in the collection of the tax by asking the various activities either to have their erring members pay the tax or have them dismissed from the organization.

RECORD Shows Co-operation
Horton H. Kellogg '48, Chairman of the SAC, stated that he was pleased with the prompt manner in which the RECORD responded to the wishes of the SAC. "It's good to see the spirit of co-operation at work," he said, "rather than dragging out the issue, eventually resulting in the application of some sort of force."

SAC Treasurer Dickenson R. Debevoise '48, declared, "The RECORD is the first organization to carry out the mandate of the SAC. If the efforts of the SAC to get the lacking money are to be successful, every organization has to do the same."

WOC Loosely Organized

Debevoise said that some of the extracurricular leaders will face a problem in trying to collect from loosely-organized activities. He cited the Outing Club as an example of such a situation, and pointed out that a more closely knit group such as The Purple Cow would have an easier job in achieving one hundred percent payment.

Various methods of carrying out the SAC directive are being tried in undergraduate organizations. Robert F. Gleckner '48, Purple Cow editor said, "We'll make non-payment of the tax jeopardize the magazine's standing on the magazine. See UC Tax, page 4

Students Poll Pittsfield G E

Project Supplements Psych, Opinion Courses

Five Williams undergraduates are participating this week in a public opinion study being conducted in the Pittsfield General Electric plant by the Psychological Corporation of New York.

These men, seeking practical experience, are members of Prof. David Truman's course in Public Opinion and Prof. Arthur Jennes' courses in psychology.

They were recruited by Professor Jennes, who is a Research Associate in the Psychological Corporation.

The purpose of the study is to investigate the readership of the "General Electric News," a house organ distributed in G-E plants. They are attempting to discover how many plant employees read the paper and their reaction to it. The Williams students, who will participate in polling on Monday through Wednesday, are taking part in one of many studies made by the Psychological Corporation in G-E plants in many communities.

Informality Is Emphasis In 1948 Yearbook

Staff Now Experienced Hopes For Accurate Panorama Of Williams

Monday through Thursday of this week the 1948 Gulliemensian staff will be occupied lining up campus organizations for group photographs.

Using "Williams Through the Looking Glass" as a theme, Gerald O'Brien '49, pointed out that the emphasis on the yearbook will be placed on informal shots by staff and free-lance student photographers. Photos by all students are being solicited for possible publication.

Experience Gained

The editors hope to present this spring a Gul that will succeed in giving "a true representation of Williams College and live up to the expectations of all." In the past year the staff has had much constructive criticism, which they feel will enable them to overcome many of the technical and editorial difficulties that hampered them in 1947. The printers have pledged their cooperation in the plan to have the Gul available to the undergraduate body by May 30 at the latest.

No Price Change

Despite increased printing and engraving costs, co-business manager Robert Stallworth '48, announced that the price will remain unchanged. To make up for these increased expenses, a concentrated advertising campaign is now under way, with a subscription drive slated to begin next term.

Baseball Cage Improvements Under Way

$10,000 Additions To Include New Roof, Lighting, Rifle Range

At a construction cost of approximately $10,000, the Baseball Cage is being fitted out with a new roof, a firing range, and fluorescent lighting by the beginning of next term according to Perry A. Smedley, Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings.

To accommodate training requirements of the Air Force ROTC unit, a six-target small bore firing range is being added to the south end of the cage in accordance with specifications of the National Rifle Association of America. Special features of the range designed for the .22 calibre rifle are built-up platforms with firing mats at each firing point and concentrated fluorescent lighting on the target areas.

Range Near Completion

Major John A. Cosgrove, Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics said, "If work continues at the same rate it has been going, we expect to fire the first shot by next week." He added that the unit appreciated the close cooperation of the College with the ROTC unit which had been a major factor in the rapid progress of the project. See CAGE, page 4

Barnes and Stone To Debate With Touring Oxford Team

The Hon. Anthony N. W. Benn, David K. Harris, and Sir Edward Boyle of Oxford University who will debate with the Williams team Friday, January 16 in Jesup Hall.

The Hon. Anthony N. W. Benn and David K. Harris of Oxford University will debate the nationalization of basic industry with a Williams team in Jesup auditorium Friday, January 16, at 7:30 p.m.

Together with Sir Edward Boyle, who will speak in the Faculty Club January 17 at 4:00 p.m. on the British social system, the two Oxford students started their American debating tour in October. With Yale and Harvard as their only other New England stops, they have talked as far west as the University of California and as far south as the University of Texas as on their trip. The three have also argued on an Anglo-American alliance and the Palestine question in other colleges.

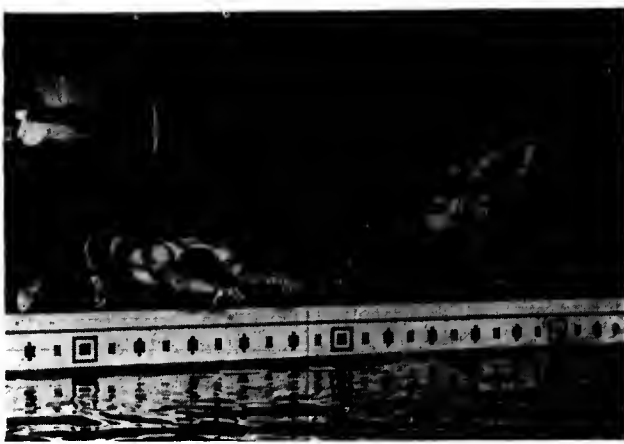

Former RAF Veterans
Benn, the son of Viscount Stansgate, served in England, South Africa and the fleet air arm during the war as an RAF pilot. He has been a member of the Labor Party since 1942, and was selected parliamentary candidate earlier this year.

Harris served in the RAF, the Royal Artillery and in 1945 was attached to the Medical Corps on Psychiatric Research. Since then, he has founded an Oxford literary magazine, contributed to several British magazines, and has broadcast over the BBC.

James H. Stone '48 and Wallace Barnes '49 will speak for Williams on the negative side of the question. Stone and Barnes have received coaching from Professor George G. Connelly since their selection in College tryouts held December 9.

Fast Start in the 220

Captain Sandy Lambert and Ray Baldwin are on their way in the 220 in which Baldwin set a Massachusetts U. pool record of 2:18.7. Photo by Birchall

Baldwin, Reid, Wineman Clip Pool Records

Small Crowd Sees Ephs Take 'First' In All Events Except Diving

by Norm Wood
Touncing their undermanned opponents Saturday afternoon, 62-13, the Purple swimmers smashed three University of Massachusetts pool records at Amherst.

The meet itself was so lop-sided, and so few of the races offered any real excitement, that had it not been for Ray Baldwin's, Hank Wineman's, and Bob Reid's record-clipping times, the rather small gathering of spectators would have left the pool with nothing to talk about.

Purple Unpressed

It was, in fact, surprising that these three Williams swimmers, although never pressed, should pour on enough heat to shatter records in the 220, 150 backstroke, and 440. On the whole the times were poor, but it is commendable that several of the team should force themselves in such a meet in the hope that it will stand them in good stead for three important meets with Brown, Army, and Dartmouth, coming up January 17, 21, and 28. The Purple will need plenty of everything for these three engagements.

The initial event saw Williams out in front by a wide margin, although turning in an only fair time of 3:09.7. Wineman, Swede Svenson, and Chick Brashears each defeated his man in their 100 yard splits of the 300 medley relay, winning altogether by a good twenty-five yards.

Baldwin Smashes, Lambert Swims

Ray Baldwin raced to an early lead in the 220, and crossed the wire at 2:18.7, slashing the old mark of 2:21.0 set by Bill Ryan last year. Captain Sandy Lambert, a doubtful performer because of his arm injury, swam a consistent race to take second. Dick Hall followed him in third place. Incidentally, Bill Ryan, both of whose pool records in the 220 and 440 were broken, and whom it was thought would swim, has been declared ineligible for dual competition because he swam part of a season during the war.

Moé Murray swam his usual race, winning the 50, and was followed by George Coale who out-touched Chuck Skiff of Massachusetts for second. In the dive the State's only entry, Joe Chmura took first place, but not without a momentary shock. A technicality in the listing of his dives could have forced him to take a zero in one of them, which zero would have lost the first for Massachusetts. He was, however, allowed to perform another dive, giving him enough points to top Al Hydeman for second and Al Hammond for third.

Purple Scoreboard

The score mounted as the Purple swept the next three events. In the 100 Treat Arnold pressed Bill Rueckert for first, only to lose about a foot. Dick Hall was not far behind. Wineman, in the 150 backstroke, swam well in the time of 1:41.8, swiping 1.2 seconds from the old record set in 1943. Ted Lamot gathered a second over Massachusetts' Jocko Roth.

The breaststroke saw Svenson slipping into the lead at the 75 yard mark and going on to win handily. Sam Gentles swam a fighting race to come from behind by three yards at 150, one yard at 175 to nip Tom O'Brien by a yard.

Reid Makes It Three

Bob Reid made it three Purple records for the day as he sped over See SWIMMERS, page 4

Company Announces Writing Competition

A contest, open to amateur and professional writers, has been announced by the Chesebrough Manufacturing Company for scripts to be used on their "Dr. Christian" radio show. The competition, which features over 50 prizes ranging from $150 to $2000, will close February 29. Details may be obtained by writing to "Dr. Christian" Award, 50 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, 20, N.Y.

Spring Confab Set For May

Meeting's Subject "American Politics"

Plans for this year's Spring Conference, to be held during the weekend of May 14-16 on the subject "The Challenge to American Politics: 1948 and Beyond," are still in the formative stages according to R. Rhett Austell, Jr., 48, conference chairman.

Two formal addresses will highlight the plenary session Friday night. The first, by a faculty or student member of the conference board, will be a general survey of the points to be discussed during the three panel sessions. Austell hoped that "someone of the calibre of Dean Acheson or Will Clayton," both formerly high official in the State Department, would be available for the second talk, a discussion of the inter-relationship of domestic and foreign policy.

Panel Discussions

Saturday afternoon, the first of three panel discussions will feature an analysis of the major economic challenges facing the country both at home and abroad. That night, the second panel will examine the question of whether or not the present American political setup is adequate to formulate decisions on the real issues of the day. If a negative conclusion is reached, the panel will go on to discuss the possibilities of change.

A dual purpose will be served by the final panel Sunday morning. First, it will discuss the extent of fundamental agreement in the country on the basic challenges which would be needed as a prerequisite to setting up of new political machinery. Secondly, on the basis of the foregoing discussion, the panel would attempt to summarize the problems, primarily in terms of the likelihood of their solution.

Public Reception

Thus far, Dr. Louis Hacker, Professor of History at Columbia University, who will preside at a series of labor relations seminars at Cornell University in the Spring, is the only definite speaker committed. See CONFAB, page 4

'Oedipus' In Second Week Of Rehearsal

Bryant Enthusiastic About Cast's Progress In Sophocles' Tragedy

After the first week of rehearsals of Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex", David C. Bryant, Director of the Adams Memorial Theatre, told the Record that the cast has done "exceptionally well" in learning to adapt the classic to the modern stage. The play will be presented as an experimental production for season ticket holders January 23.

According to Bryant, the purpose of these productions is twofold. Though Greek tragedy is recognized as one of the greatest forms of dramatic art ever produced, the average theater-goer rarely has an opportunity to see it on the stage. The success of last year's revival of the Greek classics with the production of "Antigone" gave rise to the present plan, under which the Williams undergraduate, in the four years of his college career, will have occasion to see at least four different productions. See OEDIPUS, page 4

Speaker Sees Another War

Says US Must Lead World In Peace

Declaring that a third great war is practically inevitable, Reverend C. Leslie Glenn of St. John's Church, Washington, D.C., related some of the observations of a recent trip to Europe, and asserted that the United States is a chosen nation — chosen for future responsibility rather than for mere world domination — in a guest sermon delivered at the Thompson Memorial Chapel Sunday evening, January 11.

The Reverend Glenn was among a group of clergymen to tour Europe during the past summer under the auspices of the War Department.

Doctor Glenn emphasized particularly the contrast between present conditions in Europe and our American doctrines of free enterprise, freedom of the press, and universal education. He further noted that even in England, the most democratic of the European countries, class differences are too apparent and tradition stands in the way of industrial and economic progress.

The speaker then called attention to some of the major difficulties confronting us in our efforts to prevent another war. In a democracy the politician has to See SPEAKER, page 4

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief J. David Moier, '48
Managing Editor Charles H. Klensch, '48
Sports Editor Barrett F. Emmert, '48
Copy Editor Robert A. Rupen, '48
Senior Associate Editor Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
Office Manager Ben B. Foster, II, '48
Make-up Editors for this issue W. R. Barney '49, S. M. Bidwell, '49

Associate Editors

H. R. Platt '48, J. H. Schafer '49-F, W. R. Barney '49, S. M. Bidwell '49,
J. J. Cole '49, J. F. Dorsey '49, J. E. Powlick '49, R. S. Taylor '49.

Business Board

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd '48
Co-Adv. Managers Thomas Healy Jr., '50, Edward Stockhouse '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock '49

Volume LXI

JANUARY 14, 1948

Number 22

Comments on a Letter

Usually it is a RECORD policy not to comment on letters to the Editor. But in the case of the letter appearing in this issue, we feel it is necessary to thoroughly discuss its implications.

Everyone admits that Williams needs a new hockey rink. Otherwise it would not be on the list of bare necessities being sought through the Building and Endowment Fund Drive. It is therefore commendable that the signers of this letter are interested in seeing the rink supplied. But, after much serious consideration, an order of preference for the goals of the Fund Drive was arranged, and the new hockey rink was placed last on that list.

Additional endowment for the increase in faculty salaries, improvements in the educational plant, and a new Garfield Club all precede the rink on this list. We may not be sufficiently athletics-conscious, but the RECORD agrees with this order of preference.

We feel that contributions to the drive do the most good if they are not "earmarked" for any specific phase of the project, especially that phase which is low on the list. The best way for those interested in the hockey rink to assure its construction and still do the greatest good for the college would be to make sure that the whole drive is completely subscribed, thus assuring all the projects.

J.D.M.

Something New Added

The new feature on this page with the macabre title "Uncle Eph's Worm Farm" is the beginning of a project which the editors have had in mind for several months — a column that would include items about undergraduates who do not collect the presidencies of committees and councils that make page one copy.

The columnists, who prefer to be known only by their nom de plume, do not claim to be omniscient and probably have missed some of the campus chatter that our readers feel might have been included, but they offer the excuse that they "can't be everywhere at once" and invite anyone who has an item to put it in the Record box to the right of the front door in Jesup.

CHK.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor of The Williams Record:

I would appreciate it very much if you would publish the enclosed letter in one of your early issues.

Dear Alumnus and former Hockey Player:

President Baxter and the Board of Trustees of the College have included in the Building and Endowment Program provision for an indoor natural ice hockey rink. The cost of construction of such a building has been estimated at $125,000 (based on present day costs) by Fay, Spofford & Thorndike, Engineers, of Boston, Mass., which firm was retained to make the preliminary plans for the building.

Dr. Baxter and the Board of Trustees believe that funds for the hockey rink should be solicited and, if possible, obtained from the former hockey players at Williams, thus leaving the rest of the Alumni body available to provide the funds for the other projects. Of course anyone, we presume, is free to give for whatever purpose he chooses and undoubtedly there will be a number of alumni who, although they were not hockey players, will be more interested in the hockey building than in some of the other items.

Hockey is a great game and Williams gets the material to turn out great teams — and would if it only had the ice on which to practice and play its games. The team plays Army, Dartmouth, Harvard, Princeton, Yale and others, all of which institutions have their own rinks. The new hockey rink will give our teams the chance to compete on a more even basis.

We at least have been given permission to try to raise the money for this much needed improvement. All contributions by you to the Hockey Rink project are, of course, credited to you in the drive for funds for the Building and Endowment Program.

It is difficult to organize a drive for the purpose, but the undersigned have agreed to act as an informal committee to solicit Williams hockey players. Let's get the rink built and dedicate it to the nightmares that future hockey players won't have of the winter blizzards and rainstorms provided by our Berkshire winter climate.

Will you do two things?

1. Fill out and mail the enclosed postcard.
2. Pass this around among your hockey-playing friends (we have undoubtedly missed a lot of names).

Remember, all contributions are proper deductions for income tax purposes, and a look at your tax bracket will surprise you in indicating how generous you can make your gift without really hurting you.

Sincerely yours,

Leighton H. Coleman, '18, Secretary
15 Broad Street, New York City

Uncle Eph's Worm Farm

with apologies to e. e. (buffalo bill's defunct) cummings, whose Uncle Sol started the original worm farm.

by D. Lighto de Moon

There's a lot happening in and around Guillemopolis these days that never makes the headlines; events, amusing and otherwise, which are known only to those immediately involved. For along time we've felt that there ought to be a department in the Record which would bring these incidents and the personalities that make them to the attention of its readers.

This column, which we hope to make a regular feature of the Wednesday Record, is an attempt to do just that. Our comrade on page 2, Josiah T. S. Horton, will thus be able to give his overworked typewriter a well-earned weekly rest.

And speaking of that old reliable columnist, we picked up the new year's edition of our favorite sheet the other day and found to our joy that Horton's back and sex's got him . . . again.

WILLIAMS MEN! . . . Ever wonder where to take that B'town belle of a Saturday night? Well here's the answer. L. G. Treadway has broken into the penny arcade racket with the recent opening of his new and exclusive Pin-Ball Room in the rear of the Inn, run by Williams men, for Williams men. Complete with sound-proofed ceiling, driving tester, pingpong table, photo-electric popgun, and adjacent bar (the finest wines and liquors served at all times) the new nite-spot promises to catch a large part of the black-string-tie-and-saddle-shoe set. The walls of the intimate nook are tastefully plastered with ski-in-the-Berkshires posters, creating an original winter sportsatmosphere.

Bill Gehron starred at the tennis table on opening night Saturday, dazzling an appreciative audience with skill and dexterity as he reached for the hard ones. Dan Detwiler and Hilbert Schenck spent the evening in an unprofitable wrestling bout with pin-ball machines, while a trio of Ford Wright, Dave Barker, and Steve Birmingham were on hand to help Pete Chapman weave his way from new York to L. A. on the drive-mobile.

Dave West and Jim Smith assisted Dick Connely in making certain that Jess would have his hands full behind the bar. Addition of a juke box next will complete this charming rendezvous and its beneficial effects on the scholastic averages of its patrons.

THEY CALL IT SPRING STREET . . . Each day of the last week before vacation we kept looking to see what new additions had been made to the female S. Claus at the head of the Street. We earnestly were hot to find out whether it was going to be a really chesty fund drive this year or just a flat bust. But now we're back and where's the babe? Note to Patrick C. Graney: Put her back there again, Pat, and we'll give you odds you get your two grand . . . It won't be long before Spring Street begins to look like Broadway at Times Square if the present bigger-and-better sign competition between two local beaneries continues. It is rumored that Mike, in an effort to break the present stalemate in his battle with the Gym, will soon erect a forty-foot, eight-color bauble, featuring the correct time, temperature, humidity, and the latest news in moving lights . . . And speaking of signs, we noticed some people on a ladder the other day doing something or other to the long one over the Walden. Can it be we're getting a marquee? . . . They tell us people are getting haircuts at Armand St. Pierre's twice a week now just to be able to sit in those hoty-totsy chairs.

WENDING OUR SPORTUOUS WAY . . . How good to see the Frosh Squashmen make a clean sweep of their Yale opponents in the recent encounter here . . . Schussing and what-not on Sheep Hill and other slopes seems to be at its peak now and for a good while to come . . . Congrats to Paul Cook, just elected captain of a varsity sport for the second time. He's the grappler pilot now, and in the Fall it was cross country . . . And OmiGaud those hats the hockey team wears around — it's almost bad enough to make Tom Walsh lose ten pounds, which maybe isn't such a bad idea after all.

IT'S INTERESTING TO NOTE . . . The large amount of time Gene Murphy is spending in the library . . . How small Spring Street seems to winter drivers with cars parked on either side . . . The number of empty beer cans on the Walden's floor . . . How sloppy the P. O. floor can get these days . . . The view of the valley that you can get from the Psi U House . . . That to get to Jesup Hall's basement office you have to go through the men's can — unless you want to go through the coal bin . . . The fine job N. A. radio stations are doing in supplying music of all types.

WANDERING MALES . . . Just in case you happen to be casting about we hear that Berkshire J. C. down in Great Barrington is a good place to go. For information concerning dateless lovelies and big times down there last weekend, quiz men-about-Berkshire Jack Gibson, Don Miller, Geo. Razook, and Charles French. Just possibly there's something in it for ex-men-about-Bennington until Spring at least . . . Doug Garfield between bites on his between meal six decker ice cream cone will tell you that the also icytrail is worth fighting to get to Smith.

PIK OF THE FLIKS . . . Ronald Coleman and Old Boston take a beating in "The Late George Apley" on the Walden screen tonight. The audience doesn't do much better. Peggy Cummins, British importation and ex-Amber, makes her belated film debut here as the daughter who gleefully reads Freud and then schemes with her Yale (that awful place) professor to shock hell out of Beacon Street residents by such indiscretions as kissing goodnight on the front steps. Mr. Apley's schemes to foil his children's love lives and shut out the present at all costs form the plot of this mediocre comedy.

Calendar

WEDNESDAY

8:00 p.m. Basketball with St. Michael's at home.

THURSDAY

4:00 p.m. Intramural basketball
Deke vs Phi Sig
Delta Phi vs KA
Theta Delt vs Psi U
Garfield vs Chi Psi

FRIDAY

8:00 p.m. Debate with Oxford University in Jesup Hall.

MANCHESTER, VERMONT

4-SEASON RESORT — ON U. S. ROUTE 7
190 MILES FROM NEW YORK • 120 MILES FROM BOSTON

Stay

Worthy

Inn

Two complete restaurants
NEWLY OPENED YEAR AROUND
Dinner • Lunch • Breakfast • Room Service
Tennis • Billiard • Pool • Shuffleboard
American Plan
Special rates on longer stays

Ski

Snow

Valley

One of the best skiing areas in the East
Skiing • Snowshoeing • Ice Skating
Sledging • Curling • Hockey
Ski School • Ski Trainers
Ski Equipment • Ski Rentals

FOR INFORMATION, RESERVATIONS, 24-HOUR SNOW REPORTS PHONE
MANCH. 92 OR 94W; ALSO, SNOW REPORTS N.Y.C. (24-HR.) VA. 6-2350,
BOSTON, LI. 7070.

WRITE FOR COLOR BROCHURE "X"

60TH ANNIVERSARY SALE

George M. Hopkins Co.

Unfinished Bookcase	$5.60	Bed Pillows with Zipper Covers	$3.60
Bedspreads	$4.60	Waste baskets	$.60

House of Walsh

PROUDLY ANNOUNCES

ONE OF THE

MOST COMPREHENSIVE

SKI LINES

IN AMERICA

LOOK HERE NOW

House of Walsh

SEAT COVERS WHILE THEY LAST

$10.50
Regularly $18.25

KRONICK'S
ESSO STATION

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"

Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.

NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

(WALDEN) THEATRE

TUESDAY — WEDNESDAY

THE LATE
GEORGE APLEY

With RONALD COLMAN

and introducing
PEGGY CUMMINS

THURSDAY FRIDAY

DESIRE ME

Starring

GREER GARSON
ROBERT MITCHUM

The Williams Student Wants To Know . . .

How can I get reliable service?

How can I save more?

How can I get the best?

HERE'S THE ANSWER - - -

Let George do it!

Why not know you're getting the very best that money can buy at a minimum expense.

RUDNICK • LAUNDRY DRY CLEANING

Basketball Team Defeated By Fordham, Rutgers

Rutgers Downs Ephs 61-53, As Fordham Triumphs, 71-54

Ditmar Scores 40 Points On Trip

Last Half Slump Spells Defeat At Rutgers

by Jack Schafer

The Williams varsity basketball team went "big time" for two successive nights over the last week-end and dropped two ball games, one to Fordham and one to Rutgers, but lost no honor in the process. The team handled itself well on both occasions but the opposition was just frankly out of this season's league. The two losses are almost all the way and if it had not been for one of those recurrent second-half slumps the two game-trip would most certainly have resulted in an even split.

Slump In Second Half

After scoring thirty points in the first half of the game with the jersey outfit and leaving the court only one point behind, the club hit the skids for the first eight minutes of the second period and scored only one point. The margin Rutgers picked up here was enough to send them on to a 61 to 53 victory.

Williams had opened the game with a rush and at the seven-minute mark was in the van, 13 to 5. This was the high-water mark. Jerry Page, who had a good trip as basketball goes, started with a side set, and after Mackononis had scored once from the foul line for the home team, Page hit with another set, Johnston tipped a Rutgers pass and converted it, and George Ditmar, who scored forty points in the two games, counted on a free throw.

Rutgers Scores From Floor

The home team finally scored from the floor, but Page came back with a tap-in, and after another Rutgers field goal, Ditmar and Bob Brownell connected with shots to put the count at 13 to 5. At this point, the Ephs stood still while Rutgers tied it up at 13-13, but from here down to half-time the teams battled on even terms though Williams was the lead only once again.

The pattern was Rutgers going ahead by four points and then either Kaufman, Brownell or Ditmar coming back to narrow the margin to two.

The most space between the two teams occurred towards the close of the half when Parsons scored a penalty toss to make the score 24 to 29. Brownell countered with his own free toss, however, Kaufman hit with an angle set, and after Sivess scored for the home team, Ditmar threw in a shot and Kaufman registered from the foul line as the half ended with the count 30-31.

Second Half Slump

With the difference but one point, and with the crowd buzzing over the remarkable outside shooting of the visitors, Williams came back for the second half and was able to click. Rutgers was quick to seize the opportunity and before the carnage had ceased was out in front 46 to 31. In spite of a Williams on-rush which brought the Scarlet first team back to the bench, and which seriously threatened to retie the game, the trip was just too great.

Fordham Too Strong

It is swiping no potatoes from the Williams table to say that the teams of Fordham were just too good for the Purple. Fordham is a big Metropolitan school very much devoted to having winning basketball teams. The team eats a training table, plays the game through vacations, and all that sort of thing, which makes it a tough nut for a school of this size to crack. The Williams team han-

Wineman Setting Record

Hank Wineman swims to a new pool backstroke record at Massachusetts U. in 1:41.8.

Photo by Birchall

EPH Wrestlers Down Tufts, 29-3 All But One Match Won In Opener

At Medford last Saturday the wrestling team decisively downed an inferior Tufts aggregation 29-3. Pins made by Bill Kelton, Paul Cook, and Chuck Blakney, a default for Grant North and three other decisions for Williams indicate that the opponents were definitely out-fought throughout. The only Eph loss, Hank Hall's decision to Lamberto, was, in fact, an even match until the last thirty seconds.

Early Lead

In the 121 lb. class, Kelton had little trouble with Reese, pinning him in the second and third periods without dropping a point. Captain Cook's match was similarly onesided. After two near-falls for him in the second period, he caught up with Patriquin in the third and pinned him for an eight minute, six second count. These matches gave Williams an early lead of ten points.

At 136 lbs. Hall fought a slow, even match with Lamberto. They were tied in count until the last thirty seconds when the latter gained two points that Hall was unable to work off. Bill Leitzinger, wrestling 145 lbs., showed up well in his first match for Williams by making a 5-0 decision over his tired Jumbo opponent Speck.

Tufts Captain Injured

Grant North's default from the Tufts' Captain Gil Boyd was made in the first period. Grant, making a take-down, clamped Boyd's arm so that his head hit the mat with all the impact of the fall. The match was called in North's favor and Boyd was hospitalized with a slight concussion. In the 165 lb. category, Ted Reynolds wrestled Tobey in a slow match that was scoreless until the last period when Williams gained the decision.

Chuck Blakney completely outwrestled Steves in the 175 lb. class. His pin was made in the second period after a short, fast fight. The final victory was tallied by John Stillwell in the unlimited class. Wrestling the 236 lb. Bernt, he edged out a 6-3 decision in the last period bringing the total score for the Ephs to 29. There is no varsity meet next week-end but the Freshman team is traveling down to Kent for its opener.

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.

On Sale at 5 p.m. on all Williamstown Newsstand

Purple Squash Loses To Yale

Varsity, J V's Lose, 9-0
Frosh Beat Yale, 9-0

Yale University's squash team, unbeaten in two and a half years, continued undefeated as it trounced the Eph outfit, 8-1, in Williamstown last Saturday. At the same time the Yale JV's defeated a similar Williams team, 9-0, but the Purple freshmen shellacked the Yale frosh by the same count.

Wright Wins

In the varsity match Captain George Wright playing number two was the lone Eph victor. Wright exhibited his best squash of the season as he triumphed over Yale's captain Badger in a five game struggle.

After dropping the initial game, 15-12, Wright fought up-hill all the way in the second game, finally winning in extra points, 17-14. Badger proceeded to annex the third game 15-13 after Wright's late game rally had fallen short of its mark.

The final two games saw Wright in complete command of the situation. His corner shots were finding their mark consistently, while his ability to make fine recoveries saved him many points. He won the final two games, 15-8, 15-12.

The number one match saw the Eph's Bill Mikell pitted against Bruce Bayne, one of the finest collegiate squash players in the nation. Bayne won the first two games rather easily, 15-4, 15-10. However, in the third game, Mikell, hitting harder, forced Bayne into the rear-court. With Bayne on the defensive, Mikell took the third game, 15-8. The fourth game saw Bayne take the initiative as his cross-court corner shots off his backhand scored point after point, taking the match, 15-4, 15-10, 8-15, 15-8.

Other varsity matches saw Ephmen George Kneass, Frank Donnelly, Jack Pietsch, Lou Lincoln, Bill Riegel, and Andy Goodrich lose in three straight games. Randy Thomas, at the third position, lost to Yale's Durand by the most unusual score of the day, 17-15, 15-0, 6-15, 15-10.

Led by number one man, Dick Allen, the Williams freshman team, in winning 9-0, allowed the Yale frosh only five games in nine matches. In matches with Harvard and Yale the freshmen have been undefeated.

Frosh Romp Winning Over Rutland, 59-28

Teamwork Outstanding As Pusey Gains High Honors For Yearlings

Despite a lot of early season raggedness the freshman basketball team made an impressive debut last Saturday as it trounced an undermanned Rutland Junior College club here by a 59-28 count. A slight case of opening-game jitters pursued the Coombsmen early in the first period, but their backboard controlling height and big Chuck Pusey's hookshots soon gave them a commanding lead which was never challenged by the hapless Rutlanders. The latter showed little but a set of short-skirted cheerleaders and a gent named Dunn who managed to throw in eleven points.

Pusey Top Scorer

Sloppy passing and an occasional lack of teamwork hurt the yearlings, but the fact that the first team had complete rebound control and rolled up forty-one points while playing only half of the game cannot be underestimated. Chuck Pusey's driving lay-ups were good for eighteen points while Bob Larsen's and Dave Jackson's rebounding were perhaps the outstanding feature of the game. Dewey Fagerburg's speed and Jack Fraser's play-making were so impressive that a little more teamwork would make this five into a top-notch unit.

Bobby Coombs used his second and third teams for about half of the game, and the grotesque shorts worn by the third string center seem to indicate that Bobby ran out of uniforms long before he ran out of material.

Reserve Strength

The second team sported footballer Fritz Zeller, who turned out to be the fastest man on the floor, and scored three times in less than three minutes. It also introduced an offensive threat named Bill St. Clair, and a fine playmaker in Durfee High's Shay Lynch. Thus reserve power seems assured for the rest of the schedule which will be climaxed by a game with a tough Amherst five on March 8.

Rave Record

"MAHALANI
PAPA DO"

... new RCA Victor hit by Vaughn Monroe

Vaughn once again displays his vocal versatility—backed up by the Moon Maids. You'll like this record—so lend an ear! Another great record is the one belonging to Camel cigarettes.

More people are smoking Camels than ever before!

Try Camels! Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience"!

More people are smoking
CAMELS
than ever before!

CAMELS
SUIT MY
'T-ZONE'
TO A 'T'

E. J. Reynolds Tob. Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Swimmers - - -

the 440 yard course in 5:07.1, which time was 1.1 seconds better than his winning New England's time last year, and a second and a half better than Ryan's last year's pool record. Bob Bernhard raced almost 200 yards neck and neck with Phil Hasbrooks, to finally squeeze out a third behind Massachusetts' Ken Parsons. The 400 relay team of Murray, Baldwin, Johnny Warren, and Brashears swam for the concluding victory of the meet.

Summary

Score: Williams-62, University of Massachusetts-13.

300 medley relay, won by Williams (Wineman, Svenson, Brashears), time, 3:09.7.

220 freestyle, won by Baldwin (W), Lambert (W), Hall (UM), time, 2:18.7 (pool record).

50 freestyle, won by Murray (W), Coale (W), Skiff (UM), time, 25.2.

100 freestyle, won by Rueckert (W), Arnold (W), Hall (UM), time, 57.1.

150 backstroke, won by Wineman (W), Lamot (W), Roth (UM), time 1:41.8. (pool record)

200 breaststroke, won by Svenson (W), Gentles (W), O'Brien (UM), time, 2:40.6.

400 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

440 freestyle relay, won by Williams (Murray, Baldwin, Warren, Brashears), time, 3:42.5

UC Tax - - -

However we do not anticipate any trouble."

Organization To Pay

Robert A. Rupen '48, past-president and member-at-large of the International Relations Club, added, "Men will not be allowed to attend any more meetings if the UC Tax is not paid."

The problem facing the Glee Club is a large one, the presence of every man being vital to the activities of the organization. Glee Club manager Bob Fetter '48, said, "I think we will work out a plan whereby delinquent members taxes will be paid out of Glee Club funds. The Club will obtain the money from the individuals at a later date."

Incomplete Jurisdiction

According to Kellogg, complete statistics on the new drive for tax payment would be ready by the middle of the week. Some of the organizations, such as the Adelpic Union, had not received their lists from the SAC by last weekend.

The SAC can only do a part of the job of collecting the UC tax-money still owed. Many of the tax-dodgers are not members of any extracurricular activity, and hence do not fall under SAC jurisdiction.

THE MUSICHOUSE
RECORDS - RADIOS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
PIANOS

34 Bank St. North Adams

Devoto Speaks
Thursday On Novel

On Thursday January 22 the Williams Lecture Committee will present Bernard de Voto speaking on "The Novelist and the Reader" as the second in its series of lectures this season. Mr. de Voto is a widely renowned author and critic whose latest book is "Across The Wide Missouri". In addition to writing many historical works, he is a frequent writer of magazine articles.

The cinematic version of Vanity Fair will be shown at the AMT on Monday the 28th of January. The movie is entitled "Becky Sharp" and stars Miriam Hopkins. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend both of these presentations.

Speaker - - -

persuade his own people as well as foreign diplomats, he observed, adding that we are not as "politically-minded" as Russia and most European countries.

LAMPS
FABRICS
RUGS
GIFTS

on the Bennington Road
just past Phi Gam

Oedipus - - -

ductions of Greek tragedies.

Offers Good Training

A second purpose of the series lies in the fact that Greek drama offers particularly good training for students of acting. Consequently, students playing roles in the series will receive considerable experience in the interpretation and development of a role.

The "Oedipus Rex" production will be set against a monochromatic background which will be illusionistic to the degree of merely suggesting the palace of Oedipus in Thebes. Lighting effects will be non-representational and will be used mainly to suggest the mood of each scene.

No Scene-breaks

The production will be played continuously. Scene-breaks will be indicated by light changes and by choral interludes. The Chorus of Theban citizens will be made up of seven male voices.

The production will be under the direction of David Bryant. The production staff, headed by Michael Casey '47, Assistant AMT Director, will include: Edgar Noyes, scene technician; Richard Marble '50, scenery construction; David Clarendon '48, lighting design and operation; John Day '50, properties; Edward Fox '51, make-up; Burton Sapro '48, program; and Theodore Lohrke '49, business management.

This production is another of the scheduled Cap and Bells season subscription series. A number of guest tickets, for persons who do not hold subscriptions, may be obtained through Theodore Lohrke.

Cage - - -

the construction begun in the first week of December.

Florescent lighting is also being installed throughout the remainder of the Baseball Cage. This will be a great improvement over the previous skylight arrangement which had been the only source of lighting for the winter track and baseball practice.

Because replacement of the badly-rusted skylight would have been too expensive an undertaking, a slate shingle roof is being added to the building. Extreme winter weather has slowed the progress of this part of the work, Smedley said.

WINTER LUBRICANTS

will

- Provide thorough lubrication for all parts even during the very coldest weather.
- Make your car ride better and steer easier.
- Help avoid excessive wear that results in expensive repairs.

*Bring Your Car
"Back Home" to us for
Winter Lubrication*

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.
Telephone 3553

Skilodge

Jacksonville, Vermont

The place to stay for ski runs on Hogback, Dutch Hill, Haystack, and North River Ski Trails and find cross-country skiing at door. Reasonable rates, excellent food. For inquiries and reservations communicate with-

Mrs. Laura Hunt Page

Located at junctures of Routes 112 & 8
Telephone Jacksonville 68

WIN A FREE TRIP TO SCANDINAVIA

To commemorate the Swedish Pioneer Centennial in 1948, the Swedish American Line offers six trips to Scandinavia, for the best

ESSAYS on

"The Influence of Swedish Settlers on a Community or Region"

6 Free Trips to Scandinavia and 12 Other Grand Awards.

Three groups of contestants judged separately:

1. College undergraduates
2. High School and Preparatory School students
3. Adults regardless of occupation

Contest closes April 1, 1948. Write today for complete contest information to

Contest Editor (Dept. X.W.W.)

SWEDISH AMERICAN LINE

636 Fifth Avenue, New York 20, N. Y.

Include Scandinavia in your next trip abroad. Travel on the famous White Viking Fleet of the Swedish American Line. Regular sailings direct to Gothenburg, Sweden.

The White Viking Fleet

Offices or agencies in all leading cities.

"I guess it began when I was just a kid, making non-stop flights around the dining-room table. Later on, the town got an airport. I got to know every plane, right down to the smallest bolts and screws.

"During the war I took off with the Aviation Cadets. The folks were all for it. They figured—correctly—that it was the best way to get me into the air where I belonged.

"I made it all right. Trained in the best planes the Air Force has, and now I'm heading for transition work in jets. The pay? Now that I'm a pilot, $336 a month, plus $500 for each year of active duty. And there's plenty of room for promotions.

"But that's not the real point. Some men belong in the air. They were born wanting wings—with the action, the pride, the freedom that go with them. There's no better way to have all that, along with the world's finest flying training, than to join the Aviation Cadets. And the future—in civilian aviation or in the Air Force—is as wide open as the horizon. If you want the fast-moving life, why not drop around to the Recruiting Station in your community or the nearest Air Force installation."

U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service

WIN YOUR WINGS

with the Aviation Cadets

Undergraduate Council Polls Student Body On Question Of Campus Discrimination

Asks College Withhold Non Taxpayers Degrees; View Athletic Insurance

The question of campus discrimination was put to the students by the Undergraduate Council this week, after it was unable to reach a decision in three regular meetings. A Council-approved resolution expressing opposition to fraternity and campus was distributed Thursday to obtain a student body vote.

The resolution was drawn up by the Committee on Undergraduate Social Relations, headed by Robert A. Rupen '48, as a slight modification of a resolution originally drafted by Roger Ernst '48. Rupen answered the question of what the acceptance of such a resolution by the UC can accomplish by saying, "If you do not get this issue out on the campus, you do not get personal responsibility for this discrimination problem, and men fall back on such things as a clause in a national fraternity constitution for an excuse."

No Discrimination

The resolution on which the college voted Thursday addressed to President Baxter, and states: "The UC has considered the question of discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, and national origin on the Williams campus. The undergraduate body is actively desirous of elimination discrimination on the campus."

"The UC requests the President and Trustees to reconsider this issue. To this end the UC respectfully urges that the Board of Trustees endorse (and make such endorsement known) the following propositions:

"1.) There shall be no discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, and national origin on the Williams College campus in the treatment of students. In campus and social affairs each undergraduate shall be accorded whatever recognition he merits as an individual, according to his abilities, achievements, personality, and character.

"2.) The Board will look with favor upon and sustain any action Sec UNDERGRADUATE, p 4

Students Poll GE Employees

Interviews Determine Effects of Comics

To determine the impact on the employees of a comic insert in the General Electric Company newspaper about the Taft Hartley law, twelve Williams students were hired by the Psychological Research Corporation to interview people in the lower income groups in Pittsfield and surrounding areas Monday and Tuesday.

The first six questions on the interview were made up in such a manner as to first find out whether or not the interviewees had read the comic insert, which explained the Taft Hartley Bill from the management point of view. The remainder of the questions had the purpose of determining the general knowledge of the law and the respondent's opinion of it.

Paid at the rate of a dollar an hour, the interviewers were given a bonus of twenty-five cents for every additional interview over the quota of two per hour. They were also paid at the rate of six cents a mile for all travel necessary, and received an allowance of a dollar and a half for each meal.

The interviews were made both inside the plant and in neighboring communities.

College Doesn't Face Campus Fuel Shortage

College Treasurer Charles D. Makepeace told the RECORD this week that although there will be no fuel shortage on campus this winter, he wished to renew his plea that students and staff cooperate in fuel conservation.

Mr. Makepeace said that even though the Pennsylvania bituminous coal used by the College is more than double pre-war prices, the supply is still reliable.

Reform Urged By Burkhardt

Bennington Prexy Sees New Educational Era

Scientific method can and should be applied to college education today, President Frederick Burkhardt of Bennington College told the thirty-five people at the first meeting of the Philosophical Union Tuesday evening.

An informal discussion held following the talk allowed President Burkhardt to air his views on Bennington's progressiveness. "An experiment from which other colleges may learn new methods of education."

Colleges Have Bad Conscience

The former associate professor of philosophy at the University of Wisconsin, installed just last year as president of Bennington, opened his talk with the assertion that "the educational world has something of a bad conscience."

Burkhardt suggested that the educational world feels that it has been somewhat responsible for the present world troubles and is trying to revamp its methods in order to produce men and women better adapted to a world in which nature is "pretty well under control."

"Despite the contrary evidence of the recent New York City snowstorm," said President Burkhardt, "scientists have a firm grip on nature, at least when compared to the lack of control we have over the problems of Man." Ability to cope with social problems is far behind the progress the world has made in science.

Science In The Social Sciences

One of the biggest questions facing REFORM, page 4

Bellringers Prove Human; Blakney, Gurley Play Daily

by Robert S. Taylor

It is slightly disappointing to report that the Williams College bell-ringer is neither a half-crazed Quasimodo, nor a gnarled old troll who dwells reclusively in the belfry of the Thompson Memorial Chapel tower. He is, in fact, two people, Chuck Blakney '48, (in the morning), and Dick Gurley '49, (at noon and on Sunday evenings).

According to Blakney, a music major, anyone who plays the piano can master the simple mechanism of the bells "without much trouble." Students are chosen for bell-ringing, a scholarship job, by the graduating ringers on the basis of whether they are or are not eager to climb the chapel tower at strange hours to play the bells.

Blakney No Contortionist

The bell-ringing apparatus consists of nine horizontal levers, and three foot pedals. The nine levers (one more note than in the octave) make it possible to play in three keys — E flat A flat and F minor.

John Jay '38 Presents Film "Singing Skis"

B & E Fund Nets $300 From Unique Picture Produced In A M T

Monday evening an audience of 314 people gave an enthusiastic reception to the benefit presentation of "Singing Skis," a film lecture given by John C. Jay '38 which netted the Building and Endowment Fund about $300.

Prepared from shots taken by him at winter sports resorts throughout the United States, Mr. Jay accompanied the two-hour, color, silent film with a running commentary; musical background was supplied by selections of classical music synchronized to fit the ups and downs of the skiing subjects. The movie was filmed predominantly in western and southwestern resorts, Mr. Jay said, because "there is more picturesque snow scenery and fewer trees to dodge in those areas."

Ski With Jay

A unique feature of "Singing Skis" was that the audience often found themselves on the skis of Mr. Jay as he followed other accomplished skiers down intricate mountain trails. Numerous laughs were received from unposed shots of struggling beginners and costumed pranksters between the skiing experts. Slow motion and close-up shots of Olympic Ski members and international stars revealed the "grace of experts in motion."

Mr. Jay said, "This was one of the most enthusiastic audiences I have ever encountered. Their quickness of response made it a pleasure to add spontaneous comments that I don't usually include." The audience generally agreed that the film was an unusual presentation. One person tagged it as "the best two-hours of entertainment I have had in a long time." Another was heard to ask, "Why aren't more lectures of this type featured on the campus?"

Lectured At Smith

"The idea for me to give this lecture on behalf of the Fund Drive was not an original one," admitted Mr. Jay. "I got it from the concert that the Williams Octet gave for the same purpose during the Amherst football weekend." Last year he presented this lecture for a similar drive conducted at Smith.

From Williamstown Mr. Jay will travel to New York City where he will present this lecture along with two other films at Carnegie Hall. Shortly afterwards, he will leave on the Queen Mary with his wife

See JOHN JAY, page 4

$800,000 Now Pledged For Endowment Fund

Damage Bills Sent Out To All Offenders

Room Occupants Are Charged For Broken Window Panes, Tape

Student dormitory-occupants last week received a flood of twenty-five, fifty, and thirty-three cent bills. When the Treasurer's Office sent out assessments for damage to walls and windows, as estimated after a Christmas Recess check on the ten College-owned dormitories.

A RECORD investigation of the situation, starting at the Treasurer's Office, was told that this department simply sends out bills for charges which are predetermined by examiners Joseph Richards and Henry Nichols; and that, contrary to popular belief, the College makes no profit on the deal, but takes a substantial loss in the long run. The total cost of damages was estimated at "several hundred dollars", but no exact figures were available.

Mr. Richards, Head Janitor of the College, confines his damage-reporting to the walls, his accomplice Mr. Richards being the "window man." Contacted at his office in the basement of Hopkins Hall, he optimistically declared that "This is the best year I've ever seen, especially in the freshman buildings." No really serious damage was done this fall, the largest bills being about ten dollars; by far the greatest amount of havoc is wrought upon windowpanes, which sell for $1.50 each.

Mr. Richards further warned that a check of rooms may be made at any time, and explained removal of scotch tape and thumb tacks often necessitates a complete repainting or plastering job.

Mr. Nichols, questioned over the telephone, readily informed us that replacement of an ordinary-sized window pane involves a labor cost $1.12, eighteen cents for glass, and the remaining twenty cents for putty and "incidentals".

One word of hope was offered by the authorities, however, there will be no second charge for the same damage, except by accident.

Yacht Club Group Have Paid U.C. Tax

Dean Keep Installed As Faculty Adviser

All members present at a meeting of the Williams Yacht Club Tuesday night had paid their UC tax, Commodore William R. Weston '48, disclosed as he praised the spirit of the members.

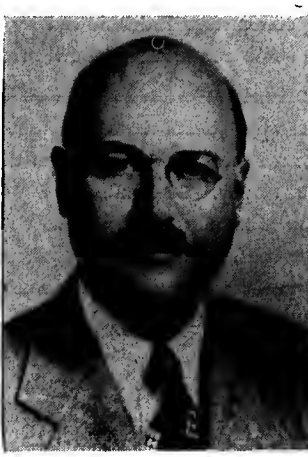

It was voted at the meeting to make Associate Dean Albert Keep Faculty Adviser of the Organization.

Plans were made to send delegates to the annual winter meeting of the Inter-Collegiate Yacht Racing Association to be held at the New York Yacht Club, Feb. 7, 1948. There will be a banquet at which the spring schedule of the forty-two member clubs will be arranged.

At the meeting, there was a discussion of the races which decided the Little Three championship last fall, Williams placing second behind Amherst.

Baxter, Driscoll, Hall Speak At Drive-Launching Banquet

President James P. Baxter III officially launched the Building and Endowment Fund Drive at a "kick-off" dinner at the Commodore Hotel in New York City Wednesday night. He addressed a gathering of approximately five hundred alumni to reveal that the advance solicitation for the drive to date has amounted to $800,000.

President Baxter went on to explain the plight of the college, pointing out the effects of inflation in raising costs of operation. It is absolutely necessary that the goal of the drive be attained if Williams is to maintain the high level of instruction which has been held in the past, he said.

Driscoll Speaks

Sharing the spotlight with President Baxter was Alfred E. Driscoll, class of '25 and Governor of New Jersey, who emphasized the importance of the liberal arts college in our educational system.

Charles B. Hall, '15, general chairman of the fund campaign, urged every member of the campaign organization to discharge his responsibilities and to complete a thorough solicitation in every area. He went on to emphasize the unity in the Williams constituency and the almost 100 per cent participation in the drive by the members of the faculty. He also praised the enthusiasm of the townspeople of Williamstown who have had a particular interest in the college since its foundation.

Octet Performs

The pre-war octet under the direction of Warren G. Hunke '42, gave a performance. The octet has made several other appearances for the benefit of the fund.

Karl E. Weston, Professor Emeritus, was toastmaster.

Federalists Give Talks

Address Local Groups On World Assembly

Members of the Williams Student Federalist chapter, in addresses before the local high school and the Lions Club, have "struck the first two blows in their fight to show the people of Williamstown the urgent need for a federal world government based on principles of law," according to Richard Heuer '50, publicity manager of the group. This action is a "dire necessity if civilization as we know it is to survive," he continued.

Speaking before the high school assembly, Gilbert Mason '51, outlined the inadequacies in the present and past systems of maintaining peace between sovereign states, how they may be corrected, and the means by which the Student Federalists plan to put their program into effect.

At Lions Club

Richard Goodman '49, president of the one-worlders, and Heuer were guests at the Lions Club meeting January 8. After a short film, "One World or None", Goodman spoke on the purposes of the organization and gave a short sketch of its historical development.

In a meeting Monday night arrangements were made for the election of officers at this Monday's meeting and H. C. "Steve" Vance '49, gave a practice speech.

WOC Ski Tow Makes $1100 This Season

More Cash Than Gained All Last Year; Profit Put Back Into Tow

The lower WOC ski-tow has already grossed $1100 this season, which equals the entire income of last year, WOC treasurer Dickinson Debevoise '48 has revealed.

Seventy season tickets which have been sold have netted approximately $500, and the remainder of the income has come from a daily-intake of $600. Since the tow is non-profit making, this money is either used for improvements or to pay the regular expenses.

Tickets Available

Season tickets are now available at the Sheep Hill house for $6 for Outing Club members and $8 for non-members. A daily fee of $.75 is charged for weekdays and $1 for weekends.

The new, supplementary ski-tow which will add an additional eight hundred feet to the Sheep Hill line will be available for service early next term. In order to make this tow, at an estimated cost of $600, a loan from the College and one from the SAC were necessary. Because the ski tow has done so well this year, the SAC will be paid at the end of the week, and the College will probably be paid by the end of the season.

Little Snow Needed

The Sheep Hill ski tow has become one of the most popular tows in this vicinity, Debevoise added. It is often frequented by skiers from as far away as New York, for it needs only six inches of snow, while many of the others need two feet. On an average week day it takes in about thirty dollars, and often on week-ends as much as $200 is made. "When completed, the Sheep Hill run will be one of the best college ski-hills in the east," Roger D. Potter '49, head of the ski-tow construction, said.

When the new tow is put into operation, those already holding season tickets may convert them through the payment of an additional two dollars. Daily charges will then be advanced to one dollar for week days and a dollar and a half for Saturdays and Sundays.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Copy Editor
Senior Associate Editor
Office Manager
Make-up Editors this Issue

J. David Maier, '48
Charles H. Klensch, '48
Barrett F. Emmert, '48
Robert A. Rupen, '48
Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
Ben B. Foster, II, '48
Joseph F. Dorsey '49, J. Edward Pawlick '49

Associate Editors

H. R. Platt '48, J. H. Schofer '49-F, W. R. Borney '49, S. M. Bidwell '49,
J. J. Cole '49, J. F. Dorsey '49, J. E. Pawlick '49 R. S. Taylor '49.

Business Board

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer
Co-Adv. Managers
Circulation Manager
Assistant Circulation Manager

Arthur F. Dodd '48
Thomas Healy Jr., '50, Edward Stockhouse '50
Dudley M. Irwin '50
Oren T. Pollock '49

Volume LXI

JANUARY 17, 1948

Number 23

More On Method

Recently the RECORD advocated a new system of class elections embodying four nominating committees and followed by a secret ballot. There seems to be some confusion on how these nominating groups would operate.

For simplicity let us take a sample committee of the junior class. Each social unit would elect a member of their unit in the junior class to represent them on this body. The committee would then assemble and elect a chairman to handle the meeting. Every member in the class would then be considered by the committee, and any man receiving a vote of any committee member would be retained for further consideration. In this way the class list might be cut down to perhaps thirty men. Then each of these thirty men would be discussed, as to their abilities and contributions to the college. A secret ballot of the committee members could then be taken, with each member listing ten men in order of preference. Subsequent secret ballots of the committee members would follow until perhaps five men had finally been chosen.

The decision of the committee would not necessarily be final. A petition of a certain number of members of the junior class, not more than ten per cent of which could be from any one social unit, would be all that was needed to add any name to the list or nominees. After a period of one week, to allow time for petitions, a secret ballot of the class, distributed through the social units, would then be taken. The person receiving the highest number of votes would be elected president, the next highest would become secretary.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the Williams Record:

Oftentimes in the Record you have made reference to the lack of spirit and interest in the student body in regard to certain College activities and functions. In most cases your conclusion has been absolutely valid: that many of the men at Williams just don't seem to care a hang what goes on outside their own little group or their social unit.

Now I maintain that the surest way to encourage interest and enthusiasm to back the athletic teams and other activities is to have effective and efficient media through which information can be disseminated. If these media are used to their best advantage, the average undergraduate cannot help but begin to notice the doings of the different activities in college and probably will become a follower or a participant in one or more of these activities. Here at Williams, I believe that the two most important media of information are the Record and the Daily Adviser. By these, men in the various social units cannot avoid knowing what activities and functions are coming up on campus and also keeping up on the results and records of our various teams and competitive groups.

Over the past weekend our basketball team went to New York and New Jersey and played two teams in the so-called "big-time." Yet, how many students, outside of those actually on the team, or close friends of the players, knew that the team was taking on Fordham and Rutgers? The Record is an effective source of communication only if it is up to date. Saturday's Record, dated Jan. 10, was for sale at the Bemis Newsroom in town on Sunday morning, and, for all I know, might have been there on the 10th. Yet today, Monday the 12th of January, I have yet to see a single copy of the Record in the hands of a student. The Record was published on time and yet not distributed to the subscribers. Why? I do not have the slightest idea, but if there is a slim crowd at the ski movie this evening, I will know why: most of the students do not even know there is a movie, unless they saw one of the posters or heard from their social unit president. Then, they will only know there is a movie and will not know the interesting background of Johnny Jay, its author, as described in the Record.

Maybe the Record will be in the boxes and the social units this afternoon, but by that time, the fact that Williams was to play Fordham and Rutgers will be old news. Better not to even publish the Record, than to do so on time and distribute them two or three days later.

This might be just a little matter, but to me it is especially serious at this time, when every student should be interested and well-informed as to the doings on campus. Let's get the Record out to the students. That will be a start in the right direction. The fact that this happened in the first week after a two-week recess only adds to the seriousness.

Sincerely,

Robert J. Grogan, F-'48

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

I see by the papers that something new has been added to the tripe which always appears in this space. "Well," I said to myself when I first read UNCLE EPH'S WORM FARM in last Wednesday's RECORD, "Sic transit gloria CUM GRANO SALIS." This was not said in anger or pain, but rather as a tired old man with a tired old type-writer who is being shoved-underground to make way for a worm farm.

This brings up an interesting point or two. What does a worm farm — be it Uncle Eph's or Aunt George's — have to do with (and I quote from an editorial in the same issue) "undergraduates who do not collect the presidencies of committees and councils that make page one copy"? Two disgusting possibilities immediately stare us in our disgusting faces. Either the "undergraduates who etc." are worms, or asperstons have been cast upon the physical condition of our founder as he now exists in the vault into which the RECORD would have placed one George. How revolting!

Horton Jealous

Now don't misunderstand me. It isn't that I don't like Uncle Eph and his rather odd occupation. I think it shows great improvement over other blank verse by the same author. I'm just jealous and spitting mad that I didn't think of the idea of a personal column myself. I used to write one for the Lincoln Grammar School BEACON, but I thought maybe they were old hat or something now.

However it is a welcome change, and allow me to be the first to say, "Welcome, change." To show that I accept progress, I shall hereafter include in CUM GRANO SALIS such personal items as are of interest to the campus worms. Here are some:

Uncle Josie's Geek farm with apologies to Twentieth Century Fox, WCTU, Alcoholics Anonymous, and my Great-grandfather who started the original geek farm.

by D. Weigh (nom de typewriter of Josiah T. S. Horton)

WILLIAMS MEN! . . . Ever wonder where to take that B'ton Bagge of a Saturday night? If you are a gentleman, here's a solution to your problem. If you aren't a gentleman, you already have the solution and you needn't read this.

The Rudnick Bros. have broken into the gambling business with the opening of the new and exclusive Sanitone Room in the rear of their establishment run by the Rudnick Bros. for the Rudnick Bros. Complete with bullet-proof windows, jacks, old maid cards, skipping ropes, and adjacent milk-bar (the finest milk punch and cottage cheese served at odd times) the new nitery promises to catch a large part of the spotted-shirt-and-crumpled-tie set. The walls of the intimate nook are plastered.

THEY CALL IT SPRING STREET . . . It won't be long before Spring Street begins to look like Madison Square Garden if the present competition between two local beaneries continues. Rumor hath it that the Oym Lunch, in an effort to break a stalemate in its battle with Mike will soon begin to serve food with its meals . . . We noticed some people on ladders the other day doing something to the sign over the Walden. Can it be we're getting electricitee? . . . They tell us people are wearing their hair longer now to avoid those hot seats at Armand St. Pierre's.

WENDING OUR SPORTUOUS WAY . . . How good to see the Frosh Sploshmen make a clean breast of their recent encounter here . . . Schussing and what-not seem to be about all one can do on Sheep Hill these days and for a good while to come . . . Congrats to Andee Heinman, just elected captain of a varsity sport for the second time. The first time, they were able to prove that he stuffed the election.

IT'S INTERESTING TO NOTE . . . The large amount of time spent by me in the sack . . . How crowded the Gym Lunch seems when it's full . . . The fine job WMS is doing by staying off the air and sup'ying blessed silence . . . The view of the John one gets when walking past Morgan Hall . . . How sloppy the empty champagne bottles are on the classroom floors.

Bells - - -

and when the levers are pulled they respond only with what Blakney describes as a "Thunk". No one seems to know exactly why this is, but Blakney says that either cold weather or pigeons are responsible.

When Blakney rings the bells, he does not go by any program; everything is extempore. This practice leaves room for poetic whimsey to take over, as it did the other day during the rather severe wind when "Blow Ye Winds, Hail Ho" was the featured number. On the other hand, even he who tolls the bells can get perverse at 8:00 a.m., which is the likeliest explanation for "Honey-suckle Rose" on a particularly drizzly morning last week.

Mostly out of curiosity, this reporter mounted to the bell tower (111 steps) to see what was going on. The bells are up there, all right big ones, little ones — all kinds, manufactured by the Meneely Bell Company of Troy. The largest bell is about five feet high by four feet in diameter. Embossed on it is the inscription: "To the Glory of God and in Loving Memory of Frederick Ferris Thompson."

"Would you wrap the Dentyne Chewing Gum as a gift, please?"

"That dame drives me nuts! 'Wrap it as a gift,' she says! As if anybody wanted to bother with fancy gift wrappings to get at that delicious, clean tasting Dentyne Chewing Gum with the rich, long lasting flavor. Dentyne is a gift at any price because it helps keep teeth white."

Dentyne Gum — Made Only By Adams

CAN YOUR SCALP PASS THE FINGER-NAIL TEST?

1. TRY IT! Scratch your head. If you find signs of dryness or loose ugly dandruff, you need Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. Grooms hair . . . relieves dryness . . . removes loose dandruff. Contains soothing Lanolin, an oil resembling the natural oil of your skin.

YOUR HAIR CAN LOOK LIKE THIS WITH

WILDROOT CREAM-OIL

2. A LITTLE WILDROOT CREAM-OIL does a lot for your hair. Keeps it well groomed all day long. Leaves no trace of that greasy, plastered down look. Makes your hair look and feel good.

NON-ALCOHOLIC

CONTAINS LANOLIN!

3. AGAIN AND AGAIN the choice of men who put good grooming first — that's Wildroot Cream-Oil. No wonder when new users from coast to coast were questioned, 4 out of 5 who replied said they preferred it to any other hair tonic they had used before. For generous trial supply free, send this ad with your name and address to Wildroot Co., Inc. Dept. C-1, Buffalo 8, New York.

NOW...

At the Williams Co-op Our Second Annual Cash Clearance Sale

MEN'S QUALITY SUITS
REDUCED TO COST OR BELOW

Hand Tailored

SUITS

$55 - $60 Models

NOW

$37.50

Flannels, Shetlands

Two-Pieces

SUITS

$40 - $45 Models

NOW

$27.50

All Sales Final

No Lay-Aways

Slight Charge for Alterations

Williams Co-op

GENTLEMEN'S APPAREL
WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

Pat Higgins Signs Contract With Football Rams

Basketeers Gain Second Win Squeezing St. Mikes, 52-49

Tense Finish Marks Home Encounter

Brownell Leads Eph Win With 21 Points

by Seth Bidwell

Williams and St. Michaels staged a nip-and-tuck battle on the Lasell hardwoods Wednesday with the Purple aggregation finally emerging victorious 52-49. Captain Bob Brownell and George Ditmar, with 21 and 19 points respectively, led the Eph scoring parade which took the first ten minutes to really get under way.

Ditmar dropped a beautiful set to open the scoring, and Williams took an early lead which they relinquished to the Mikemen just as the ten minute mark was reached. With the St. Michaels five holding a 12-8 lead at this point, Brownell staged a one man scoring drive which netted Williams nine more points. Aided by Ditmar during this period, and a lapse in the Vermont five's scoring ability, Williams left the floor with the half time score 24-19 in their favor.

Mikemen Get Hot

Yankowski, the tall, rugged St. Michael's center tipped the opening jump to Dean, a fancy left-handed forward, who made a driving hook shot to start the last period scoring. Jerry Page immediately dropped a looping half-court shot for Williams, and the game again resumed its give and take character. The Mikemen came right down the court, and Dean hooped another beautiful shot to keep St. Michaels in the running.

At this stage of the game, Yankowski put on a hook shot exhibition, netting three in succession for the Vermont five. Ditmar at the same time was countering for the Purple with a long set, and a drive from a screen play making the score 38-34 in favor of the Ephmen after ten minutes of second-half play. The game settled down for the following few minutes with both teams swapping basket for basket. St. Michaels dropped one more bucket and a foul shot than Williams to run the score to 46-44 with four minutes remaining.

Brownell Puts It On Ice

Brownell then popped in a half-court set shot, and on the next play was fouled by Coffey which he dropped in the hoop to put the Ephs five points ahead. Dean put in two foul shots after he was hacked by Brownell, and

BOX SCORE

Williams vs. St. Michaels

Williams
	FG	F	Pts.
Ditmar	RF	9	1	19
McWhinny		0	0	0
Page	LF	1	0	2
Cool		0	0	0
Wideman	C	0	0	0
Kaufman		1	0	2
Brownell	RG	9	3	21
Bush		1	0	2
Mason	LG	2	2	6
Johnston		0	0	0
Totals		23	6	52
St. Michaels
	FG	F	Pts.
Dean	LF	5	6	16
Coffey	RF	2	0	4
Yankowski	C	6	1	13
Guter	RG	2	0	4
Brennan	LG	6	0	12
Russell	RF	0	0	0
Totals		21	7	49

Jack Mason retaliated for Williams with a foul shot to run the score to 50-47, Williams.

Dean dropped in another left-handed hook shot for St. Michaels after Kasparovich had missed a foul, and Williams was hanging on to a precarious one-point advantage. However, on the next play down the floor, Ditmar cut loose on a beautiful screen play and after receiving a hand-off pass from Bill Kaufman dropped in the clincher.

St. Michaels Last Chance

The Mikemen returned the ball down the floor with one minute left, and in the ensuing back-board play, Yankowski jumped all over Jerry Page's back. Page missed the foul shot, but Williams retained possession of the ball, which they froze until time ran out.

If Williams had been to any degree accurate from the foul-line Wednesday night, the game would have been over long before the official time ran out. However, the Burnett five made only six out of over twenty tries, which made a big difference in the final outcome. On top of this difficulty, Williams had trouble making the floor plays work, and although they came up with a beautiful play at times, the general trend was to hit the hoop from the outside. If the Purple team is going to bring the Little Three crown back to Williamstown this year, they will have to improve this angle of play.

In Repose

Pat Higgins, new backfield acquisition of the Los Angeles Rams, pauses for the camera during practice.

Also Gets Bid From Yanks In Pro Draft

'46 Williams Captain To Join Los Angeles In National League

Pat Higgins, the 1946 Williams football captain, who made the number 99 a byword in Little Three competition, was signed to a promising contract by the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League. Even though Williams football was not in the sports limelight this season, the exploits of the big fullback obviously did not go unnoticed.

Drafted by the Rams, Pat signed the contract last Tuesday after carefully considering another contract offered him by the New York Yankees, winners of the Eastern title in the All-America Football Conference. When the big fullback joins the Rams on August 1 he will become the running mate of such great backs as Bob "Mr. Jane Russell" Waterfield and the immortal Tommy Harmon.

Scores Against Princeton

Pat's football career at Williams was sensational from its very start. He made the standout '42 team as a freshman and broke into the headlines by scoring the second touchdown in the stunning Princeton upset. Throughout that season his breakaway running was ranked with that of Billy Schmidt and Gunnar Hayes as the outstanding features of the Williams attack.

Returning after the war, he was elected captain of the '46 team. He set an amazing record by scoring every point amassed by the Ephmen in the two post-war seasons. He was twice selected on the All-Little Three team, and last year was awarded the Brooks Memorial Medal as Williams' outstanding football player.

21 Points Against Amherst

Pat, whose outstanding running, kicking and pass-receiving have made him the very definition of a triple threat, electrified the crowd in the '46 Amherst game by catching a pass for the first Purple score. He then bulled his way to two more touchdowns, kicked three extra points, quick-kicked to the Amherst five, and had a ninety-yard touchdown jaunt called back on a clipping penalty. Added to this were three touchdown sprints exceeding sixty yards this season.

Backfield coach Dale Burnett, who played eleven years of football for the New York Giants, gave Pat a strong vote of confidence by stating that "the only two boys whom I recommend to the pro leagues from this area were Pat and Jim Burton, the Wesleyan end and captain."

Swim Team Faces Brown

Seeks Third Win At Providence

Traveling to Providence, the Williams swimming team will seek its third victory of the season this afternoon, when it tangles with the Brown Bears in its final stepping stone before the Army and Dartmouth meets.

Three obstacles will place themselves before the Purple. The first is the 20-yard length of the pool, which, while not a great difficulty, will present an air of unfamiliarity to the Mulmen. The times, however, may be lower because of the increased number of turns.

Gossler, Brier Pace Bruins

The two other obstacles are Ralph Gossler and Milt Brier. Gossler, in the 50-yard freestyle, has been turning in consistent times around twenty-four seconds flat. Brier, on the other hand, has been churning over the 200-yard breaststroke course in times hovering in the neighborhood of 2:31. Such a time, incidentally, is three seconds better than the winning time in the breaststroke, by Brier's teammate Paulson, in last year's New England.

Should the Purples' times not improve over last week in some of the events, such as the 300 medley relay, they may run into some trouble. The Bruins' time for the event is lower than Williams' time last Saturday against the University of Massachusetts.

Purple Should Win

But Williams should annex its third victory. There is a long bus ride for the team, which could take something away from its performances. Still, Brown should not be the team to stop this outfit.

The same men will be swimming for Williams. Ray Baldwin, Bob Reid, and Captain Sandy Lambert will swim the distances. Moe Murray, Chick Brashears, and Bill Ruekert will handle the sprints, with aid, perhaps, from George Coale, Johnny Warren, or Treat Arnold. Hank Wineman and Ted Lamot will carry the backstroke; Swede Svenson and Sam Gentiles, the breaststroke. The two Al's Hydeman and Hammond, are the divers. The 300 medley relay of Wineman, Svenson, and Brashears and the 400 freestyle relay of Murray, Baldwin, Ruekert, or Warren, and Brashears round out the team.

In Action

Williams' Captain Higgins takes a Buddy Wilson aerial for a touchdown against Amherst in 1946.

Polo Team Drops Opener

Miami U. Downs Ephs 11-8 In First Start

Polo invaded the Williams winter sports' scene for the first time in the history of the college, as the Eph poloists ventured to the sunny South to drop an 11-8 decision to the University of Miami Sunday afternoon.

Spearheaded by four-goaler Tom Wheeler, Williams alumnus who now resides in Pittsfield, the Eph aggregation played outdoors, but used indoor rules, which call for three and not four men on a team. Bill Hudson and Josh Coste were the other Williams riders.

Tomorrow afternoon with Hudson, Coste and Chuck Gunther making up the team, the outfit will travel to Scarsdale, N. Y. to take on the local Boulder Brook outfit. An indoors contest is also scheduled with Yale at the end of this month.

Plans for this Spring's schedule include games with Miami, Boulder Brook, Yale, Bethpage and Norwich.

INTRAMURALS

Tuesday League

	W	L	Pct.
Hause	4	0	1.000
Phi Delt	3	1	.750
Alpha Delt	3	1	.750
D U	2	1	.667
Zeta Psi	1	3	.250
Sigma Phi	1	3	.250
Phi Gam	1	3	.250
Bete	0	3	.000
Saints	0	3	.000

Thursday League

	W	L	Pct.
K A	3	0	1.000
Chi Psi	3	0	1.000
D K E	2	1	.750
Theta Delt	2	1	.750
Psi U	2	1	.750
Garfield	0	3	.000
Phi Sig	0	3	.000
Delta Phi	0	3	.000

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1930
CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE
DUST PROOF COAL RANGE and FUEL OILS
73 Spring St. Williamstown Mass.

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND GRILL for the best in food, drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS
PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

The Smith Baker Co.

INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

Hockey Team Tops Favored Hamilton 7-0

Ratcliffe Excels As Williams Wins First Scheduled Contest

Coach Sniveley's sextet finally presented him with a victory by firmly trouncing a favored Hamilton team 7-0 Wednesday at Cole Field before a shivering crowd estimated to number 100.

Don Ratcliffe started the puck sliding by soloing in for the Purple's first score one minute and four seconds after the starting whistle. The remainder of the period was scoreless. In 11:31 of the second stanza Ratcliffe, on an assist by Mark Reynolds, scored his second successive goal. Four minutes later Mark converted a pass by Doug Coleman into the third Williams tally, and just sixteen seconds after that two Williams' Toms, Healy to Benson, collaborated on scoring the Purple's third goal of the period.

Ephs Sew It Up

In the last period Williams rammed home three more goals to clinch the game. The first came at 4:28 when chubby Pat Humphrey scored on an assist by Coleman. After twelve minutes of scoreless jockeying Dunc Roberts converted a Tom Benson assist, and sixteen seconds later as in the second stanza, Coleman, doubly assisted by Reynolds and Ed Spenser, pushed Williams seventh goal past Steiner of Hamilton.

Snively's men have come a long way since Buffalo through intensive practice. Hamilton swamped Lehigh 17-0 and Union 10-0 to give some idea of how effective the Williams defense was. Pynchon played his usual fine game in the cage, making thirty-four saves for his shut-out. And once again Don Ratcliffe was outstanding for his all-around play. Hamilton's Knapp drew the spectators' highest plaudits for his speed and skating virtuosity.

Williams will be gunning for its second triumph of the year when it tangles with Mass. State away next Saturday.

WALDEN THEATRE

THURSDAY FRIDAY
SATURDAY

DESIRE ME

Starring

GREER GARSON
ROBERT MITCHUM

SUNDAY — MONDAY
TUESDAY

"This Time
For Keeps"

With

ESTHER WILLIAMS
JIMMY DURANTE

In Technicolor

REMEMBER --- KING'S PACKAGE STORE

WHEN YOU WANT TO STOCK UP
ON THE FINEST ---

WINES.

BEER

CHAMPAGNE

OPEN TIL 11:00 P.M.

WALDEN THEATRE BUILDING

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL: 498-R

WILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES, SKI PARTIES, OVERNIGHT GUESTS
BREAKFASTS SERVED

ROUTE 2

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

Undergraduate - -

tions of any local fraternity chapter taken to eliminate discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, and national origin from the charter and/or practices of the national chapter."

Kellogg Recommends Preamble

Dickinson R. Debevoise '48, said that a resolution such as the one proposed would clarify the issue of discrimination, and would prevent other groups from forming on their own. Eugene Detmer '48, said that a vote would show how the rest of the campus stands on the discrimination question, knowledge that would be valuable when question comes up again in the future.

Horton H. Kellogg '48, recommended that an explanatory preamble be added to the resolution, explaining that the UC desires to know student opinions so that no misrepresentation of student-body feelings by small groups may occur.

No Diplomas For Non-Taxpayers

The UC decided to request the college authorities to withhold the diploma of any senior until his UC Tax is paid, the same as is done at Wesleyan.

Alexander G. Orr '48, asked the UC to back a recommendation concerning complete athletic insurance coverage which is soon to be made to the Trustees by Dr. Thomas V. Urmy, Director of Health. Dr. Urmy's proposed plan, already backed by Gargoyle, would provide an all-inclusive insurance policy for all sports and Physical Training.

Orr said that at the present time all sports injuries incurred are covered that require immediate attention. "Elective" injuries, which may be taken care of at the leisure of the individual, are not covered under the present policy, and the treatment of them is paid for by the patient.

Influential Editorial

In the light of the RECORD editorial of last Saturday, UC President Henry B. Dewey '48, asked the Nominations and Rules Committee to consider plans for a fairer and more efficient manner of conducting class elections, eliminating rail-roading and bloc action.

John Jay - - -

and five-year-old son in time to give another presentation next week at Caxton Hall in London for the benefit of the Ski Club of Great Britain.

Film Olympics

The main purpose of his European trip, however, will be to film the Olympic ski meet in Switzerland. Films will be flown to the United States to be presented by television in the New York and Boston areas three days after they are taken. Mr. Jay will also be on hand to film the Holmenkollen Ski Meet in Norway, an attraction which draws crowds of over 100,000. He plans to organize color films of both meets into a lecture he will have ready next year.

John Jay hopes that in the near future he will be able to make sound films of some of his older pictures for the use of groups that would ordinarily be unable to bear the expense of a personal appearance.

On Hockey Team

As an undergraduate, Mr. Jay was a key man on the freshman hockey team of '35 and the varsity of '36, '37, and '38. "But every Sunday I could get away," he reflected, "I would go skiing. I can remember how worried Coach Jim Parker would get for fear I would break an ankle in the process." It wasn't until he had graduated that he was able to gain the skiing experience that he has today.

Enterprising Spring-Streeter Ray Washburne sold autographed copies of John Jay's recently published book, "Skiing in the Americas" during the intermission.

Reform - - -

ing educators today is: can the scientific method be applied to the teaching of the social sciences? It can, he declared, but not when we think of the scientific method as being quantitative. "Scientific method is not only 'quantitative', it is a method of thought."

The trend in higher education today is away from specialized courses. Colleges today are jumping on the bandwagon of "general education." In 1940, he said, Bennington, which was dedicated to bringing out the individuality of each student, realized that there are "basic courses because of shared interests" which should be included in the curriculum.

But the tremendous problem facing educators is to decide what these "basic courses" are, declared President Burkhardt. Asserting that the two most basic are science and Man, he said that college should also give its students a "sense of community, a way of life, and a sense of reason for being."

Bennington Is A Laboratory

"The only reason for Bennington's existence is to be a laboratory," stated President Burkhardt. "Its goal is to produce the richest possible variety of individuals." When admitting students, he said, Bennington takes into consideration "motivation" as well as knowledge the student learned in prep school.

D & D OFFICE SERVICE

Let D & D Do Your Typing For You

Leave material to be typed at 85 Spring Street next to the Alumni House

TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

House of Walsh

PROUDLY-ANNOUNCES

ONE OF THE MOST COMPREHENSIVE

SKI LINES

IN AMERICA

LOOK HERE NOW

House of Walsh

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

"You can count
on Chesterfield's
ABC's to give you a grand smoke"

Loretta Young

LORETTA YOUNG
COSTARS IN SAMUEL GOLOWYN'S
NEW PICTURE
"THE BISHOP'S WIFE"

It takes ABC TO SATISFY

*When you change to Chesterfield
THE FIRST THING YOU WILL
NOTICE IS THEIR MILDNESS
...that's because of their Right Combination
World's Best Tobaccos*

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

ALWAYS BUY

CHESTERFIELD

They Satisfy

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

This favorite meeting place of Williams Men features ..

LADIES LOUNGE

AND

LADIES DINING ROOM

An ideal spot to entertain the family or date.

Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

SALVY'SCASH CLEARANCE SALE*BASS SKI BOOTS

Were	Now
$29.50	$25.95
$22.50	$18.95
$11.50	$ 9.95

BASS LOAFERS

Were	Now
$11.50	$10.98

PLAIN TOE CORDOVAN

Were	Now
$13.75	$12.50

WING TIP CORDOVAN

Were	Now
$16.50	$14.50

FOOT-PAL SHOES

Were	Now
$10.50
$10.75	$ 8.98
$11.00

Spring St.

Tel. 600

Administration Announces New Football Coach Sought, Snively Held As Varsity Hockey And Lacrosse Mentor

The Williams Record

Oxford Team Conquers Eph Debaters Here

British Speakers Take Affirmative Side In Nationalization Topic

The Williams debating team was defeated in an audience vote last Friday night after a debate with an Oxford delegation on the question of the nationalization of basic industries. Williams, opposing nationalization, was represented by James H. Stone '48, and Wallace Barnes '49; the visitors were the Honorable Anthony N. W. Benn, and David Kenneth Harris.

The first speaker, Mr. Benn, was introduced by Adelphi Union president Henry M. Halsted '48. Benn made three criticisms of the free enterprise system as it exists today

Benn Criticizes

Using the 1929 depression as an example, Benn said: "Uncontrolled capitalism has definitely failed to provide full employment. American industry was operating at 50% efficiency in 1933, and no more than 75% in 1939. The only periods of full employment have been in times of war."

Other major difficulties which Benn saw in a laissez faire economy were monopoly disadvantages and occasional waste and inefficiency. All of these ills, he contended, could be cured by nationalization.

Stone's Case

Stone presented the first case for the negative, and quoted various literary and statistical sources in an attempt to show how our present economic system is a "Progressive, living, vital institution which is constantly moving forward." Harris was the next speaker and, denying some of Stone's claims, he called attention to the effective, practical example of nationalization in the British coal industry. He ended his talk by demanding of his opponent what the United States would do if, in ten or fifteen years, it becomes obvious that another 1929 disaster is impending.

Is It Adequate?

Barnes, the second speaker for Williams, drew an analogy between the U. S. adoption of nationalization, and a family's purchase of a new house. "The question to be

SAC Checks Fiscal Status

Recommends UC Again Bill 274 Delinquents

Checking on the financial shape of all member organizations, the Student Activities Council received final mid-year financial reports from all activities at their meeting last Tuesday.

Not intended to be a final balance sheet, the reports investigate current expenditures and balances, and indicate each activity's financial condition. The reports will be examined by the SAC at an Executive meeting this week.

Another Bill Coming

The SAC further recommended to the Undergraduate Council that a second bill be sent out reminding delinquent students of the unpaid UC tax. Though undergraduates are cooperating with the tax in greater numbers, 274 had not yet paid as of January 11.

Stone Expounds

Jim Stone Rips British nationalization while Debaters (left to right) Benn, Harris and Barnes prepare arguments.

Tragic Irony Torments Hero Of Cap and Bells Production

by George M. Harper, Jr.

Professor Harper, Garfield Professor of Ancient Languages, discusses the dramatic qualities and historical importance of Oedipus Rex, which will be presented by Cap and Bells in an experimental production January 23.

The "Oedipus Rex" of Sophocles is probably the most influential tragedy ever written. In addition to its own intrinsic merit, and largely by reason of that merit, it enjoys more than any other Greek tragedy the stamp of Aristotle's approval in his "Poetics". No other tragedy of the Greeks afforded Aristotle so many illustrations of desirable traits of construction, or more perfectly exemplified what he considered to be the true relation of human character to tragic overthrow.

Following, sometimes too blindly, the comments of Aristotle, which are more properly to be regarded

3 Point Plan Given To UC

Would Affect Profit-Making Organizations

"Profit-making activities on the Williams campus will in the future, have their personnel approved by the Executive Secretary of the Student Aid Committee." This statement was the nucleus of a resolution presented by Dean Robert R. R. Brooks to the Undergraduate Council Monday night.

In the hope of eliminating laundry and dry cleaning differences between student and professionally operated firms, and to prevent the recurrence of similar situations, Dean Brooks and Albert Osterhout, Advisor in Undergraduate affairs and Executive of the Student Aid Committee, drew up and presented to the UC a three point resolution:

Point number one concerns Williams activities that operate on a profit basis, such as the Berkshire and Student Laundries, the Purple Cow Cleaners, campus publications, etc. Since profit is involved we feel that capable individuals in need of financial aid should be considered," declared Dean Brooks in an interview last Saturday. "However," he continued, "The Record, the Purple Cow and similar activities will receive special consideration."

The second point considers the as remarks upon the characteristics of Greek tragedy than as statements of principles and laws to be religiously observed in all tragic composition, dramatists of other nations and other times, such as the Roman Seneca and the French Racins, have patterned their tragedies after the Greeks in theme and style. Many modern dramatists, following the lead of Ibsen, have consciously or unconsciously found support for their rigorous concentration, for the narrow limits of time and space within which they confine action, or the fewness of their personages, for the tracing of moral responsibility from one generation to another, for the strength with which they forge the links of the causal chain, have found support, I repeat, for all this, in the tradition established by the Greeks and are

See OEDIPUS, page 2

$15,000 Pledged By Alumni, Friends

Dr. Karl E. Weston, chairman of the Northern Berkshire campaign for the Building and Endowment Fund, revealed that approximately ten college alumni and friends of the institution, all of whom are Williamstown residents, have already pledged $15,000 to the Fund. Dr. Weston made this announcement on January 8, at the launching of the Northern Berkshire campaign.

"Subversive Groups Peril Civil Rights" Says Morris Ernst

Morris Ernst, prominent New York attorney and member of the President's Committee on Civil Rights, in an informal lecture in Griffin Hall on Thursday, January 15, pointed out that "Subversive movements are the greatest peril to our civil rights." and "To prevent this . . . There must be disclosure."

Mr. Ernst said to the fifty people attending the lecture that while there are many laws requiring the disclosure, or the declaration of content and purpose, of food and drugs, there are no laws

Undecided On New Coach

BULLETIN

James P. Baxter, 3rd, President of Williams College, announced Tuesday afternoon that there would be a change in the varsity football coaching position at Williams. A. Barr "Whoops" Snively, who has coached the Purple the past two seasons will be asked to return next year as coach of varsity hockey and lacrosse. Although a number of coaches are understood to be interested, the Williams authorities have no coach definitely in mind. They hope to announce the new coach within three weeks.

Better Flicks For Billville

Old Walden Renamed As Taconic Theater

The Walden Theatre has a new name, new owners, and according to Lawrence J. Hacking, Jr., its new managing director, has modern equipment to exhibit newer flicks.

Now known as the Taconic Theatre, the former Walden was bought from Cal King by the Franklin Amusement Corporation, an organization whose headquarters are located on Spring Street in Williamstown.

Hacking Chief Stockholder

Mr. Hacking is the company's principle stockholder, while Messrs. Roy Harris of Greenfield and Paul Bernier of Springfield are president and treasurer, respectively, of the firm. John Hawkins, Williamstown attorney, is the company's clerk.

"I like Williamstown," Mr. Hacking told the RECORD, "and hope Williamstown likes the first run movies we plan to show." Born and raised in Boston, the theatre's new manager studied at U.C.L.A. where he graduated in 1941. "I worked in the cutting department at Paramount during my summer vacations . . . that's where I became interested in motion pictures."

Bernard De Voto Presents Lecture

'Novelist And Reader' Topic For Thursday

Bernard De Voto will give the second lecture of the current series, on Thursday the 22nd in Jesup Hall at 8:00 p.m. He has chosen as his topic, "The Novelist and the Reader."

In the lecture Mr. De Voto will attempt to define and analyze the complex relationship established between the writers and the readers of novels, according to Paul F. Barstow '48, President of the Williams Lecture Committee. He will seek to remind the 'reader' of his obligation to the novelist, and what it is that the novelist must do in order to accomplish his purpose.

Mr. De Voto, Mark Twain specialist, is a novelist and historian of considerable stature. His latest book, "Across the Wide Missouri" was published this fall. A regular contributor to Harper's magazine, he occupies the position known as "The Easy Chair" the literary observation post.

Swimmers Scuttle Brown U., 50-25

"Whoops"

Two Changes Proposed For Honor System

In order to vote on two proposed amendments to the Honor System Constitution, the Honor System Committee plans to hold a mass meeting of the College in Chapin Hall on Thursday, January 29.

The necessity for the first change became apparent in a case which came up before the Committee last June. This particular incident involved technical but not willful violation of the Honor System and yet it had been impossible to take this fact into consideration in making a recommendation to the Faculty. Article IV, Section 1 of the Honor System Constitution allows the Student Committee no discretion whatsoever, requiring that if on individual

40 Aim For Commissions

Non-Vets Need Four Years Instructions

Aiming at commissions as second lieutenants in the United States Air Force Reserve, forty undergraduates are now enrolled in the Reserve Officer Training Corps program established at Williams last fall.

According to Lt. Col. Joseph A. L. Greco, commanding officer of the local unit, the course of instruction is divided into basic and advanced sections, each covering two years of work.

Basic Course

By the end of the year, the thirty-one freshmen in their first year of basic training will have received ninety-six hours of instruction under the eight officers and men assigned to the school by the First Air Force Command. The largest part of this time, about thirty-seven hours, is spent in the upstairs gym or on Weston Field in the Wednesday afternoon drill classes.

The remaining time is taken up by two hours of class work sometime Monday, Wednesday, or Friday between 1-3 p.m., the hours allotted by the college to ROTC training. First year basic students are required to take courses in

Relays, Record By Wineman Offer Thrills

Bruins Show Strength; Muirmen Face Army At West Point Today

by Norm Wood

Churning their way to their third straight victory of the season, Coach Bob Muir's swimmers defeated a determined Brown team, 50-25, at Providence Saturday.

Spectator highlights of the meet were two very close relays and a new pool record in the backstroke by Hank Wineman. The competition offered by Brown was far greater than the score would show. Several of the times were improved, an encouraging indication for the Army meet this afternoon.

Baldwin Pulls Anchor

The 300 medley relay set a fast pace for the meet. Wineman gave the Purple a four-yard lead at 100. Then Milt Brier, Brown's ace breaststroker, pulled Brown back into a two-yard margin at 200. Ray Baldwin, swimming anchor man, really let loose, and in spite of a two-yard deficit at 250, sailed home a yard ahead of John Leeming.

Things settled down in the 220, as Bob Reid and Captain Sandy Lambert crossed the line one-two to chalk up eight points for Williams. The 50 was another close race. Ralph Gossler outouched Moe Murray for first, with Jim McKelvey and Chuck Brashears right behind them. It was so close that the judges disagreed on second place, but after a conference, awarded it to Murray.

Dive Has Color

Although Al Hydeman performed his best diving thus far this season, the judges still presented Brown's Val Gates with a first place. Brown's Gerry O'Donnell was awarded third.

In the 100 Baldwin and Brashears stacked up eight points more for the Purple. Hank Wineman swam his best backstroke time in competition this year, 1:40.3, in setting the new Brown University pool record. The former record, set in 1938, was 1:42.0. Ted Lamot also swam well, to take second over Ollie Patrell.

Brier, Lambert, Williams

Brown's Brier took the breaststroke in 2:32.2; Swede Svenson countered with three points for Williams by taking second. Captain Lambert romped home with a first in the 440. The 400 freestyle relay was hard-fought all the way. Gossler gained a yard over Warren at 100. Treat Arnold erased this lead at the halfway mark. George Coale, two yards down at 250, pulled himself back into a tie at 300. Then Bill Rueckert, sprinting beautifully, came in to win by two yards.

Summary: Williams - 50, Brown - 25; 300 medley relay, won by Williams (Wineman, Svenson, Baldwin), time 3:06.5; 220 free, won by Reid (W), Lambert (W), Wilson (B), time 2:22.6; 50 free, won by Gossler (B), Murray (W), McKelvey (B), time 25.0; dive won by Gates (B), Hydeman (W), O'Donnell (B), 81.4 points; 100 free, won by Baldwin (W), Brashears (W), time 1:40.3.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editor in Chief
Managing Editor
Make-up Editor for this issue
Copy Editor for this issue

J. David Maier, '48
Charles H. Klensch, '48
William R. Borney, Jr., '49
Robert S. Taylor, '49

Volume LXI

JANUARY 21, 1948

Number 24

Discrimination

At Monday night's UC meeting, after a fantastic session in which everyone from President Baxter to Roger Earnst was heard from, the Council voted to accept the report of the Committee on Social Relations as to the recent ballot taken on the question of discrimination.

The Committee report related the results of the ballot, (which were far from earthshaking), attempted a haphazard analysis of the voting, and concluded with a do-little, if not do-nothing, program for future action. They stated, "We do not feel that these results are in any manner conclusive, and believe that there is room for future discussion."

The general feeling of the Undergraduate Council, as informally expressed at the meeting, is that the problem of discrimination at Williams can only be approached from the standpoint of education, rather than legislation. This is probably the slowest means to a worthwhile end, but it is probably the most healthful one. But as an organization which proved its concern with the discrimination problem by last year's Barber Shop Case, the RECORD wants to be very sure that constructive steps for this education are taken, and taken soon.

One has already been proposed — a second, and we hope a much more thoughtful, ballot will be taken in a few months. Such a ballot takes a lot of time and energy. But there is no reason why, while this worthwhile educational device is being prepared, the UC's Committee on Social Relations, or any other interested parties, can not sponsor and really push, informal discussions and forums, distribute any kind of educational pamphlets they feel are worthwhile, organize interfraternity debates on the question, etc. There is a vast field open in educational opportunities on the discrimination problem. If the UC chooses this method for attacking the problem, we want to see a real attack, and not a shelving of a touchy question in a committee with a high sounding name.

J.D.M.

Explanations

It seems that explanations and apologies are in order on Robert Grogan's letter to the Editor printed in the last issue. The RECORD is a bit sheepish about the January 10 and 11 double-play circulation tarru. As it happened, subscribers at least as far away as Poughkeepsie got their copies about the same time Monday as Williamstown box holders after liaison between the printer, the RECORD Circulation Department, and the North Adams and Williamstown Post Offices broke down Saturday. This problem has been straightened out, and subscribers can be certain of finding their RECORD in the boxes on time in the future.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the Williams Record:

Would you be kind enough to print the following information in your newspaper?

On Saturday, January 24th, the Sophomore Class of Smith College is presenting its annual Ice Carnival. The time is 8 p.m., and the place is Northampton.

We extend a cordial invitation to you and anyone interested in coming. It's a sure cure for exam fever!

Very truly yours,
Anne Merryweather, Publicity

Oedipus - - -

articulated by Aristotle.

The misfortunes of the house of Oedipus, king of Thebes, provide subject matter for more extant Greek tragedies than any other theme save the equally appalling disasters that overtook the family of Atreus and his descendants Agamemnon and Orestes in Argos. Three tragedies of Sophocles tell of Oedipus and his children. Each of these tragedies is independent of the others. They are not in all details mutually reconcilable. The "Oedipus Rex" sets forth how knowledge comes to Oedipus that he has slain his own father and that the woman who is his wife and who has borne him four children is his own mother. The "Oedipus at Colonus" tells how Oedipus in his old age has taken stock of his past and learned to meet life; and then how he dies. The "Antigone" exhibits the heroism of Oedipus daughter Antigone, when her brothers Eteocles and Polynices have infilled Oedipus' curse died each by the other's hand.

Never has a dramatist more skillfully than in "Oedipus Rex" interwoven forward action with the reexamination of his past by the tragic protagonist. Each forward step that Oedipus would take leads him to look more closely at the past, and each new insight into the past drives him to the next forward step. This is the very movement and rhythm of "Rosmersholm", Ibsen's technical masterpiece.

The tragic irony of "Oedipus Rex" is most effective dramatically. But more important than technical virtuosity is Sophocles' penetration of the inscrutable and seemingly ironic selection by the gods of Oedipus to be at once the savior of Thebes, a devoted and pious king, and at the same time a defiler of Thebes through unwitting parricide and incest. Why should the gods so punish Oedipus? Why should they have given him, by his solving of the riddle of the Sphinx, the power to save Thebes? Sophocles neither justifies nor blames the gods, after the fashion of an Aeschylus or Euripides. The gods honor men and they bring them low. Man in his suffering, not an inquiry into the purposes of the gods, is Sophocles' theme.

Oedipus has given his name to a psychological aberration, isolated and defined by Freud. Here again Oedipus has been strangely misused by fortune. Not a trace of unconscious dependence upon or of abnormal sexual attraction to Jocasta his wife does Sophocles' Oedipus show because Jocasta is at the same time his own mother.

The story is of itself terrible, but it is not unwholesome or repulsive.

Uncle Eph's Worm Farm

Cum Grano

Salis

Hapatica

by D. Lighto de Moon

FIX FLIX . . . The entertainment boom in Guliemopolis continues with the opening tonight of the Taconic Theatre on Rudnick's Row. (The finest popcorn sold at a chrome-and-mirrored stand.) The opening will be the climax of two months of reconditioning and repair on the old Walden, which has been leased from Cal King by an outfit chartered as the Franklin Amusement Corp.

Lawrence J. Hacking, Jr., headman in the FAC, told us all about the many improvements and renovations. These include new lighting system, projection equipment, draperies and carpets, redecorated lobby, rebuilt restrooms, modernized heating plant, and complete insulation. In short, every attempt is being made to provide the finest cinemaison in the Berkshires.

The show on opening night will be "Ivy," a premiere in this area, starring Joan (she kept three men dangling . . . one of them on a rope) Fontaine and Patrick Knowles. The acting manager outlined the Theatre's policy, stating that he intends to raise the quality of entertainment and obtain the best of Hollywood productions and foreign films. To this end he has scheduled "The Egg and I," another first in these parts, and Chas. Dickens' "Great Expectations," one of '47's ten best, for the Taconic screen in the near future. "Thunder in the Valley" and Red Skelton in a one-niter next Saturday as "Merton on the Movies" round out the first week's program.

THEY CALL IT SPRING STREET . . . If the price slashes which the two local haberdasheries have been featuring continues, we'll soon be forgetting all about Robert Hall's and Barney's . . . Two bits the only way you could have gotten into the Gym's north entrance last week was either on skates or on your hands and knees, on acct of a four inch sheet of ice which covered everything, especially the steps . . . And by the way, is it going to get any colder than the eighteen below recorded last Wednesday night? . . . Add inflationary note — a pinball machine at Mike's nets you one free game for 1,000,000 points . . .

Any fusiliades you hear from the newly-refitted cage in the future will be the ROIC target-practicing . . . Big crowd attractor on Spring St. recently was the tastily-designed snow removal gadget . . . If for any reason you might have a craving to look at some old and dusty Williamsiana of any and all sorts, check showcase at Cabe's . . . WANDERING MALES . . . Ask George (or is it Charlie?) Turpin and Bob Eckhardt to tell you their story if you want to know how it is to be stuck in a snowdrift on the road to Smith. Seems this happened to the boys at two ayem, and with nothing in sight to get them out, and not enough gas to allow use of the heater, they had to huddle there in their heap in the low-temp mountain air until about eight. Sunday morning, too . . . The way Herb Brown is hanging around the Treas. Office these days you'd think he had a lot of bills to pay or something.

MALES WONDERING . . . Our Dean's Office correspondent tells us that the cause of all Associate Dean Keep's troubles these days, the unfortunate who "got sick" Friday night before vacation, slept thru all his Saturday classes, missed his train after trying for a week to get off one day early, but was afraid to report to the infirmary because they would have kept him there, is Jack McConnell . . .

Jack seems to be making bad connections all around, for shortly after his return to Guliemopolis and the no-cut list he was forced to spend the night on a hardwood bench in a Troy depot, with a group of gentlemen of distinction . . .

Not everyone was as amazed as the boys from the Psychological Research Corporation at Jim Stone's speed as an interviewer among GE employees in and around Pittsfield last week . . . Dan Pettengill made some interesting contacts on the same job . . . We were glad to see Daddy Cushman's shiny Chevvy out in front of the Deke house again after a session with the fender bender following a mistake last fall . . . Hear Bob Bernhard picked up a copy of Kinsey's "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male" the day they arrived at Washburne's . . .

We were trying to get a little sack time the other night, in preparation for a particularly rough hour test, when suddenly two little pink men, bearing a strange resemblance to Ward Mauck and Bob Pihlerantz, rushed into the room. They whopped up over the head with laundry bags, holed a deafening "Anything for Rudnick?" into our ear, and roared off in a '48 Cadillac convertible, screaming "Sanitone, Sanitone!" at the top of their lungs . . . Circulars sent out to the faculty urged their presence at John Jay's "Singing Skills" movie (at $1.20 a head,) pointing out that what the hell, all the cash goes back into increased salaries anyway . . . Suggest that the Chi Psi's start a fund to buy Pete Peabody a new pair of saddle shoes . . . Dave Young better be careful that the postmaster doesn't find out what he's been getting in his mail box, besides letters from Wellesley.

WENDING OUR SPORTUOUS WAY . . . We hear the outside board track is good fun to run on except that two or three times a lap you have to break stride to pull your foot out of a hole . . . Congratulations to the boys with the tweedy caps who ice-creamed Hamilton, a team which has the advantage of practicing every day on a covered rink . . . And good luck to Steve Wyer, who had worked himself up to the first string for this tilt . . . The boys at Bullock's garage number among our hottest basketball fans . . . For a good workout all you have to do is watch wrestling practice some afternoon for ten minutes . . . We hear Thunderbolt over on Greylock is a good slope, but you have to walk up.

IT'S INTERESTING TO NOTE . . . That contrary to last week's colyum Tom Walsh hasn't lost ten lbs. . . That honest Ray Washburne says Williams men receive too many and too long reading assignments which might well spoil their enjoyment of books in later life . . . The expressions on the faces of wheels about to be snapped for the GUL pix . . . That art courses in which the lights are doused for slide showing are conducive as hell to mid-morning snoozing . . . Grant North's tiger instincts . . . The hole in the front of Marc Reynolds' mush . . . The lack of interest displayed in the rocks at 8 A.M. jug classes . . . Bud Stege's car . . . Bob Ray drinking Pepsi at Mike's under the watchful eye of frat bro Pat Humphreys

THANK . . . to those who gave us notes for this week's column. If you have an item that might be good for a few laughs in print, just drop it in the RECORD box in the front hall of Jesup.

OPEN ALL YEAR
TEL. 498-RWILLIAMSTOWN
MASS.

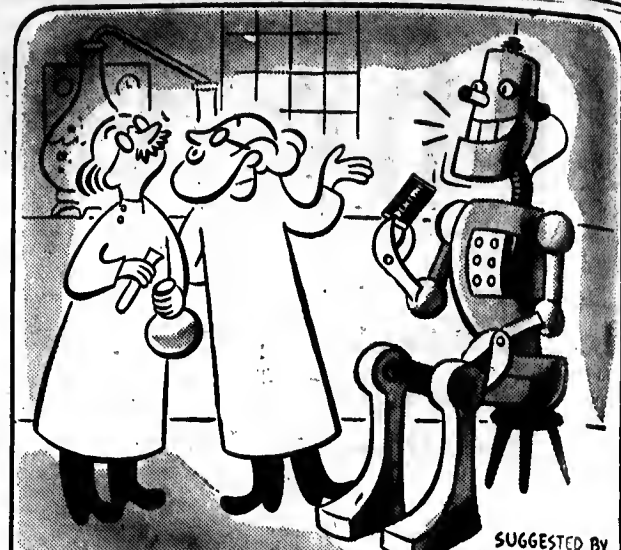

CHIMNEY MIRROR

HOUSEPARTIES. SKI PARTIES. OVERNIGHT GUESTS

BREAKFASTS SERVED

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

ROUTE 2

SUGGESTED BY
KENNETH E. HODGE
RENSSELAER POLY. INST.

"I also installed tasting equipment so he could enjoy Dentyne Chewing Gum!"

"Wire me for sound, and I'll tell the world—Dentyne's delicious! With each mechanical munch and muscle, I really enjoy Dentyne's refreshing, long-lasting flavor! Dentyne is keen chewing gum! Helps keep teeth white, smiles bright!"

Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

if you won't be back
next term . . .

• security

• good pay

• advancement

• retirement plan• free health care

• education

• travel

Facing the future with uncertainty?
Here's your chance for security with high income and the finest retirement plan. The new Army and Air Force offer unprecedented opportunities for young men with the capacity for leadership. Your college training will help you get swift advancement. Veterans will get full credit for previous service experience in assignment, rank and rate of pay. College level courses offered through the Armed Forces Institute will enable you to round out your education.
Talk over the advantages of this depresion-proof career with your faculty adviser or local recruiting officer today.

U. S. ARMY AND AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE
(LOCAL ADDRESS)

TACONIC

WILLIAMSTOWN

TELEPHONE 794

GRAND OPENING

WEDNESDAY
January 21

CONTINUOUS SHOW
FROM 7:15

IVY

JOAN FONTAINE

PATRICK KNOWLES

WEDNESDAY

THURSDAY

FRIDAY

Hockey Team Wins Over Massachusetts U., 11-1

Coleman Solos

Doug Coleman, Williams wing, sweeps around Shridlu of U. of Mass. Photo by Birchall

Williams Six Scores Over U. of Mass. In Rout, 11-1; Victory Is Second In Row

by Jerry Cole

Williams rejuvenated hockey squad won its second successive scheduled game of the current season with an impressive 11-1 win over the University of Massachusetts at Cole Field last Saturday. Coach Snively's inspired skaters grabbed a 5-0 lead in the first period and were never headed.

Mark Reynolds instigated the pyrotechnics after six minutes of scoreless play by converting a Doug Coleman pass into a Purple tally. Thereafter Williams scored at the rate of a goal every four minutes. Chuck Schmidt slammed home number two on an assist by Bud Wilson. Coleman and Spencer added three and four unassisted, and Schmidt assisted Swan in ending the festivities of the initial stanza a minute before its close.

Purple Loses Shutout

In the second period Williams eased up a notch, registering only four goals. Tom Healy was assisted by Irwin at 1:55; Pat Humphrey was assisted by Coleman at 4:54; Swan assisted Spencer at 12:34, and Ratcliffe did it by himself at 15:34. Hapless Massachusetts averted a shutout when at 9:10 Paul sent the puck winging at Owen's skate from where it deflected into the Williams cage.

The relatively inactive third period saw Williams add two more goals — one by Bucky Marchese on a pass from Reynolds, and once again Ratcliffe tallied on a solo smash.

Few Penalties

Penalties were not the order of the day — each side drawing a moderate total of three minor suspensions from the ice. Dave Pyncheon, who has been tending goal for Williams in a brilliant fashion, finally received a well earned rest. Coach Snively withdrew Dave after ten minutes of "saveless" play (a tribute to the Purple's tight defense) and put in sub Pete Andrews, who proved his worth by making seven saves, and almost had a shutout but for Massachusetts' freak goal. The visitors' goalie Sundstrom, however, was high man in this department with the remarkable total of fifty-two successful defenses of his net.

Schmidt Takes Puck

Chuck Schmidt receives pass from Bill Swan on way to U. of Mass. nets Photo by Birchall

CubBasketball Wins 58-38 Over Wesleyan

Easy Victory For Ephs Pusey, Larsen, High Scorers For Team

Outclassing a mediocre Wesleyan club in every department, the freshman basketball team coasted to an easy 58-38 victory at Lasell Gymnasium last Saturday. Thus the as yet unchallenged yearlings gained their second straight triumph and the first leg of the Little Three Title.

Again bothered by some opening-whistle tenseness, the Purple five found themselves behind 4-0 until pivot-man Chuck Pusey scored on a lay-up which was followed almost immediately by Fagerburg's hard-driving two pointer. At this stage the team shifted into high gear, and paced by acting captain Dave Jackson's eight points, they led 30-21 at the half.

Rebounds Pay Off

The second half saw Jackson's and Larsen's control of the backboards give Coach Coombs' charges complete control of both boards as the hapless Middletowners failed to score from the floor for five minutes. Bobby Coombs then began experimenting with new combinations and again Fritz "the Flash" Zeller and Shay Lynch proved that it would be difficult to keep them out of the starting line-up. Zeller's speed and underhand lay-ups were good for seven points while Lynch's fine play-making resulted in another Purple scoring splurge.

The game's statistics showed that Chuck Pusey had again paced the scoring with sixteen points, while Bob Larsen coupled his fine defensive work with thirteen markers. Jack Fraser, who met with some of the toughest luck ever witnessed on a hardwood contest, flashed some of his old Deerfield form late in the game as he chipped in with two buckets and a free throw.

Albany Academy Next

All in all, it was a loosely played game both on the part of the inept Wesmen and of the Purple yearlings, who consistently hurt themselves by sloppy passing and a tendency toward excessive dribbling. In addition the Coombs men were virtually helpless from the foul line. Out of the thirty free throws with which they were presented, they managed to salvage a mere twelve points.

Williams Box Scores
	FG	F	TP
Larsen	5	3	13
St. Clair	0	0	0
Brooks	0	0	0
Fagerburg	1	0	2
Zeller	3	1	7
Laney	1	0	2
Pusey, C	6	4	16
Pusey, B.	1	0	2
Quinby	0	0	0
Jackson	4	0	8
Lynch	0	3	3
Olsen	0	0	0
Fraser	2	1	5
Speck	0	0	0
Manning	0	0	0
Totals	23	12	58

Purple Squash Defeats MIT

7-2 Victory Marks Last Match Of Term

The Williams varsity squash team defeated MIT 7-2 last Saturday in the Squash Building.

Randy Thomas, playing one for the Ephs, lost in four games to Captain Brauns of MIT. Thomas got off to a fast start by taking the first game, 15-9. However, the last three games were annexed easily by Brauns, 15-4, 15-8, 15-10. Thomas could not keep the ball low consistently, consequently Brauns was able to execute many fine corner shots, scoring point after point on that maneuver.

Bill Mikell, at number two for Williams, also dropped a four-game struggle. Mikell committed many errors and was continually missing cone shots. MIT's Marlio exploited these errors, winning 15-10, 17-15, 9-15, 15-9.

Pietsch Wins

In the remaining seven matches, MIT managed to win only one game, as Jack Pietsch at the fourth spot for Williams was extended to four games. In the first game, Auty of MIT carried Pietsch to 10-10, before Jack ran out a string of five straight points to win 15-10. Pietsch also won the second game 15-8. However, in the third stanza, Pietsch let up and lost 15-10. In the fourth game

See SQUASH, page 4

Freshman Wrestlers Win 30-0 As Skaters Lose First Game

The Freshman wrestling team piled up a decisive 30-0 victory in its opening meet at Kent last Saturday, while the Frosh skaters playing at Mount Hermon lost their initial encounter 3-1.

Throughout a one-sided meet, the yearling grapplers completely outfought their opponents, there being only one match of which the outcome was in doubt.

Kent Whitewashed

At 121 pounds Ken Moffat pinned Tooker. Chuck Halleck won a decision from Matteson in the 128 lb. class. "Scrubby" Perry edged out Whiteford with a 3-2 decision in the closest match of the afternoon. Paul Shorb and Pete De Lisser gained decisions from Mac Arthur and Morrison respectively, and at 165 lbs., Bud Moody downed Anderson. George Selly pinned Dennant for the 175 lb. category, and in the Unlimited, Don Whitehead pinned Cobden in the meet's record time of two minutes, two seconds.

Mount Hermon, featuring an Galley 8 aggressive passing attack which netted the puck twice in the opening minutes, proved too much for the Eph skaters. "Batt" shots in the first two and a half minutes of play by alert Mt. Hermon forwards proved to be the margin of victory.

Penalties Stymie Purple

The Purple attack, stymied by excessive penalties, never materialized until the third period, after the Hermonites had caged their third goal on a loose puck in front of the Williams net midway in the second period. With Jim Brown, Dave Humphrey and Mitch Fish in the forward line, the Frosh came to life and registered their lone tally on a pretty pass from Humphrey to Brown.

K. of C. Meet Relay Opener

Three Holdovers Form Nucleus For Squad

The indoor track squad goes into action for the first time on Saturday night at the Boston Garden when the 1948 mile relay competes in the Boston Knights of Columbus Meet. After three weeks of serious practice, Coach Tony Plansky's charges have hopes of at least equalling their fine record of last winter.

Three holdovers from last season's outfit, Lionel Bolin, John Weeth and Kev Delany as well as a newcomer to relay competition, Gordon Smith, have survived recent time trials and won starting relay positions. Scottie Brooks will run in the fifty yard dash and act as alternate for the mile relay. As yet, Plansky has not designated the order the men will run in.

Barney On Injured List

The team has been without the services of one of its expected starters, Bill Barney due to an injured shoulder sustained before Christmas. Last Spring's stand-out dash man may break into the lineup in a few weeks if he can achieve his old time form. Dan Speath and John Hay are also capable of making the team at any moment with a slight lowering of their times.

In this meet last year, Williams won one of the most exciting races of the evening with a slim victory over Amherst and Bowdoin.

KA's, PhiDelt's Lead Leagues

Phi Delt's Unbeaten KA's Triumph 52-18

by Kevin Delaney

Results of last week's play in the Thursday Intramural basketball league put KA in first place, though possibly only temporarily, with DKE, Chi Psi, and Theta Delt in a three-way tie for second place. This week's schedule includes important games in both the Tuesday and Thursday leagues which should indicate the eventual winner in both sets.

The unbeaten KA's rolled up the largest total of the week on Thursday when they downed Delta Phi, 52-18. For the winners, Derry Filley and the Ridall brothers collected thirty-four points between them. However, D Phi has protested the game due to the questionable eligibility of a Kap player and a decision is being awaited.

Other Easy Victories

With Ted Ferry grabbing fourteen points, the Garfield Club scored an easy 27-14 win over Chi Psi, led by Marty Detmer and Dick Whitney. Although they were held scoreless in the first half, the Dekes overcame a six point handicap and overwhelmed Phi Sig, 20-10. Ollie Thompson was high man for the victors with six markers. Theta Delt had about as much trouble with Psi U and came out on top by 21-12. Garrard Bennett of Theta Delt and Walt Neff of Psi See INTRAMURALS, page 4

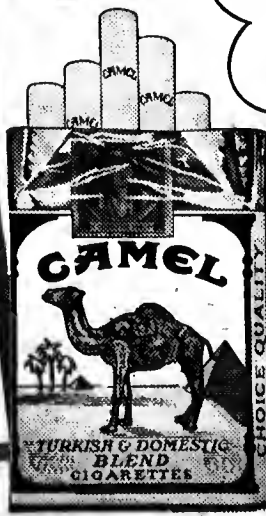

It's Another Headline Record!

Louis Prima's "With a Hey and a Hi and a Ho Ho Ho" (RCA Victor)

THE MAN who plays pretty for the people, Louis Prima, has a groovy new record! A trumpet player of long experience, Louis knows when he's hit the right note in smoking pleasure too. He's a dyed-in-the-wool Camel fan. "Camels are the 'choice of experience' with me," says Prima. Try Camels! Let your own experience tell you why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience."

CAMEL
IS MY BRAND!

And here's another great record—

More people are smoking
CAMELS
than ever before!

J. J. Reynolds Tob. Co.
Winston-Salem, N. C.

Rev. Baldwin Guest Speaker

Stresses Personalized Religion In Individual

Addressing the "seven out of ten college students who feel the need for some form of religious orientation", the Rev. A. Graham Baldwin '25, school minister at Phillips Andover Academy, discussed the development of a personal religion for the individual, at the Thompson Memorial Chapel services Sunday evening, January 18.

The Reverend Baldwin first noted that in a poll taken by a Harvard professor, of 500 Harvard and Radcliffe students, half of them veterans, seven-tenths definitely believed in the "value and importance of religion", while two-tenths did not feel the need for formal religion. The speaker defined his own religion as "an attempt to come to terms with the universe as I see it and understand it", and observed that a man's personal beliefs would of necessity depend on his own background and experience.

The Reverend Baldwin suggested that in developing one's religion it is essential to first dig out from the experiences of the past those ideas and values which have stood the "test of time"; and, secondly, to add as much as possible of new truths. As a basis for this idea, he quoted the words of Jesus: "Seek ye the truth and the truth shall make you free."

Emphasizing the necessity for each individual to choose his own religion, in view of present-day dissatisfaction with the accepted forms of the Church, the speaker asserted "I have no reason to believe that religion today can stand still." Men must constantly be developing a "dynamic philosophy of life" in an attempt to discover their relationship to "the ultimate reality that lies at the heart of life," declared Reverend Baldwin.

Reverend Baldwin's sermon was the next to last in the chapel series of the current semester. There will be no chapel exercises during examinations. No services will be held between January 25 and February 22.

Students - - -

need for the business in the college and town. "It is a question of whether there is room for another such business, and whether it will produce harmful, needless competition," the Dean said.

Point number three states that no profit-making student activity shall be operated from within a college dormitory. This came as the result of the recent Rudnick-Purple Cow episode in which Rudnick Inc. informed local tax officials of the taxability of such enterprises on the part of the college students if, and when, they are carried on within a college owned building.

Swimming - - -

ears (W), McKelvey (B), time 54.9; 150 back, won by Winemar (W), Lamot (W), Patrell (B), time 1:40.3 (pool record); 200 breast, won by Brier (B), Svenson (W), Sanford (B), time 2:32.2; 440 free, won by Lambert (W), Wilson (B), Pendleton (B), time 5:15.8; 400 free relay, won by Williams (Warren, Arnold, Coale, Rueckert), time 3:48.7.

Flicks - - -

After U.C.L.A. Mr. Hacking returned to Boston, where he joined the Dual Projector Corporation. Before coming to Williamstown he was assistant sales manager of that firm.

"The theatre offers quite a good chance for profit — if properly run," asserted Mr. Hacking. "Ivy" and "The Egg and I", the theatre's first two offerings, are both new pictures which have not yet come to North Adams, and the management expects to continue this policy.

Sports New Equipment

New equipment in the projection booth consists of a better lighting system and "coated" lenses which Mr. Hacking declares will increase the clarity of the pictures. The rest rooms have also been modernized, and plans are underway for improving the appearance of the lobby.

Attention!

An elementary group of ROTC men toe the line for Sergeant Skinner in the upper basketball court of the Lasell gymnasium.

Photo by Birchall

ROTC - - -

national defense acts, individual weapons, military organization, hygiene and first aid, maps and aerial photographs, and mines and booby traps.

Advanced Course

The remaining nine students, all veterans who have been given two years of ROTC credit for spending one year or more in the service, are taking the first year advanced course. Again, a large part of their 160 hours of study is spent in drill.

Military Leadership, Statistical Control, Supply, Navigation, Tactics, Military Law, Meteorology, Guided Missiles, and a variety of other courses are studied by the advanced students in their five hours of weekly classes.

Summer Camp

Beginning around June 15, Air ROTC students who have completed their first year of advanced training spend six months in training at some air base. Colonel Greco said that students last year asked in both cases," said Barnes, "is: 'Does it suit our needs?'"

Oxford - - -

In the next speech, the first rebuttal, Stone tabbed nationalization as a "cruel hoax." He was followed by Benn, who attacked Stone's previous speech. Stone had asserted that "under free enterprise, men rise to high positions strictly on the basis of their ability, their capacity for doing the job, while such is not the case in nationalized industry." Benn answered this statement by pointing out, with not unpleasant sarcasm, that the reason Henry Ford III is now running his grandfather's corporation is "undoubtedly because such ability is inherent in the Ford family."

Britain In "Life"

Barnes, in the next speech, spoke of the ever-present confusion and inefficiency in government-run organizations. To implement his point, he read from an article in "Life," by John Dos Passos. In the final rebuttal, Harris said: "When you want to learn about life in Britain, don't read about Britain in 'Life.'"

Commenting on the debate after the audience had voted in favor of the Oxford team, Professor Connolly said: "The debate was won by Oxford on their rebuttals, which were very well handled." Professor Richard A. Newhall said: "I cannot remember a time in Williamstown when I have enjoyed a debate before. The fine preparation of the Williams team is a credit to Professor Connolly's coaching."

Friendly Audience

After the debate, Benn complimented Barnes on an "excellent presentation," adding that it had been a very friendly audience. He said that he was pleasantly impressed with Williams, and that the Oxford group had heard of the College "from Cambridge, who five-starred it." Harris sensed an English atmosphere here in the Berkshires, "academically, architecturally and geographically."

Sir Edward Boyle, who did not join in the debate, said: "The group has not had as good competition anywhere, except at the University of California." In his talk at the Faculty Club, Sir Edward presented a summary of the present British social, economic and political situation. He summed up Britain's economic status by saying: "The problem of paying our way is one which we have not yet solved, but we are well on our way."

were trained at Stuart Field near West Point, and were paid $75 a month while at camp. He stressed the fact that summer camp training was primarily intended for practical application of class room work.

Advanced students are given a "subsistence allowance" of seventy-nine cents a day. The colonel explained that the army had calculated this to be the amount spent in feeding one soldier for one day in field operations. He said, "I realize that this isn't quite enough to cover expenses up here, but it helps a little anyway."

Colonel Greco expressed a hope that sometime in the near future it might be possible to furnish flight training to last year students in the course. According to present plans, twenty-five hours of civilian instruction would be given. This is almost the amount of flying time needed to get a private pilots rating.

Ernst - - -

for disclosure to "Prevent fraud in material which goes to the mind." He said that there is a civil right to being anonymous but that we must "smoke out" the underground groups which are harmful to our type of democracy.

Mr. Ernst went on to state that "All people prefer to live in a world of anonymity . . . but every time you allow people to go underground and join subversive groups, you are devitalizing the civil rights."

In a question period after the lecture, Mr. Ernst stated, in regard to the current Congressional fidelity investigations, that while disclosure would be ruinous to those belonging to subversive movements, it would stop the persecution of any innocent persons who are suspected of attachment with these groups.

Intramurals - - -

U each collected ten points.

As the clubs roll into this fifth week of competition, the defending Phi Delt champions put their spotless record on the line in a Tuesday game with the AD's, tied for second place. Two other clubs tied for second position, the DU's and Zetes, will try to improve their records against the Betes and Phi Gams, respectively.

DKE-KA Battle

On Thursday, two crucial matches pit the league-leading Kaps, against the once beaten Dekes, and Theta Delt versus Chi Psi, sharers of second place in their section.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

STANDINGS

Tuesday League
House	W	L	Pct.
Phi Delt	4	0	1.000
Zeta Psi	3	1	.750
Alpha Delt	3	1	.750
DU	3	1	.750
Phi Gam	1	3	.250
Sig Phi	1	3	.250
Bete	1	3	.250
Soints	0	4	.000

Thursday
House	W	L	Pct.
K A	3	0	1.000
DKE	3	1	.750
Chi Psi	3	1	.750
Theta Delt	3	1	.750

Honor - - -

al be found guilty of fraud the penalty shall be a recommendation to the Faculty for his seperation from college.

Therefore, in view of this apparent weakness in the Honor System Constitution, the Committee recommends that the following clause be added to Article IV, Section 1, First and Second:

"In case of a technical violation with extenuating circumstances by a member of the Senior, Junior or Sophomore class (as well as the Freshman class), the penalty shall be a recommendation to the Faculty of a period of Probation for a time to be determined by the Student Committee."

The second amendment concerns the method by which the student body votes in approving changes in the Honor System Constitution. Under the present method which requires a mass meeting it is often difficult to get a very large attendance. Thus the Committee believes that a much better vote could be obtained by amending Article VII, Section 1 to read as follows:

"This Constitution may be amended by a three-fourths vote of those voting on ballots distributed to each social unit. Amendments shall be published one week prior to voting. Any amendment so adopted must be ratified by the Faculty before becoming effective."

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1830

CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE
DUST PROOF COAL RANGE and FUEL OILS
73 Spring St. Williamstown Mass.

The Greystone Inn

Williamstown, Mass.

ACCOMMODATIONS BY DAY OR WEEK
Merton A. Odell Tel. 476-W

The Haller Inn

MR. and MRS. FRANK R. THOMS - '30

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

When in New York between terms
Enjoy this favorite meeting
place of Williams Men

Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

COCKTAIL LOUNGE - DINING ROOM

Squash - - -

Pietsch's corner shots found their mark again and again, and he won this game 15-3.

In the other six matches, George Kneass at number three, Lou Lincoln, number five, Jerry Dresser, at the seventh spot, Bill Riegel, number eight, and Andy Goodrich at the ninth position all triumphed in three straight games. Eleven points were the most scored against these six men in a single game. This match was the last contest until next term when the team will face Trinity at Hartford, Conn.

Psi U	2	2	.500
Gorfield	1	3	.250
Delta Phi	0	3	.000
Phi Sig	0	4	.000

Keep your valuable papers

and securities

in a

SAFE DEPOSIT BOX

They are now

available

Williamstown

National Bank

Williamstown, Mass.

Member F D I C

INSURANCE BROKERS

TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beckman 3-4730

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.

On Sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newstands

THE MUSIC HOUSE

RECORDS - RADIOS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
PIANOS

34 Bank St. North Adams

60TH ANNIVERSARY SALE

George M. Hopkins Co.

Now is your chance to get that Table, Bookcase, Bed Spread, Smoker or Waste Basket. Take advantage of this sale to give your room that homey atmosphere.

Come in and see the DELTOX rug. Made especially for college rooms.

FOR YOUR PARTY

Let us supply that glassware and candles.

Swimmers Douse West Point 40-35

Applicants For Coaching Job Revealed

No Decision Reached By Athletic Office; To Name Man Soon

Interviews Planned In Next Two Week

Corum Sees Battles, Ex-Dodger Coach Here

Since the Administration announced its search for a new gridiron chief Tuesday afternoon, speculation as to the identity of a new coach has increased on the campus and in alumni circles throughout the country.

To date no decision has been reached, despite rumors and reports to the contrary which appeared as early as last December. In his New York Journal-American column, December 16, Bill Corum forecast that Cliff Battles, former Dodgers Pro-Football League head coach, would take over the helm at Williams.

Official Release
This week the first official release from the Athletic Office made public a partial list of applicants, prominent in school, college, and professional football, who have shown a definite interest in the 1948 coaching position. Clarence Anderson, coach of the crack-jack Montclair High eleven, and Len Waters of White Plains High, both have bid for the top football berth. Waters' success was recently publicized in the Saturday Evening Post.

From the college ranks have come applications from Eddie Dooley, former star halfback at Dartmouth and currently a sportscaster; Jim Di Angelis, Yale line coach; and "Chief" Boston, of Dick Harlow's staff at Harvard. Boston, while playing for the Crimson, received All-American Honorable Mention, and before returning to his alma mater did a brilliant coaching job at University School in Cleveland.

Also included are applications from Lou Elverson of Swarthmore, who played at Penn; Howard Smith, assistant coach at Holy Cross; and Henry Johnson, Detroit Tech coach.

New Head Of Chapin Library

Mary Richmond Named As Acting Custodian

Mary L. Richmond, wife of Prof. Donald E. Richmond, was appointed Acting Custodian of the Chapin Library of Rare Books to succeed Lucy E. Osborne, who retired as custodian last June, at the meeting of the Trustees of Williams College last week.

Mrs. Richmond, who received a Certificate of Librarianship from the University of California in 1929, has held numerous positions in the university library. She also served as head cataloguer at the Stetson Library from 1942-44.

Commenting on the Chapin Library, Mrs. Richmond said, "Miss Osborne has done an admirable job of organizing and cataloguing the Chapin materials. Such a well-

Maggie Teyte

Maggie Teyte Thrills Crowd

Great Performance By English Artist

by Larry Witten II '48

On Tuesday evening Maggie Teyte was the solist in a program of songs and arias comprising the third concert of the 1947-1948 series sponsored by the Thompson Concert Committee. Despite its acoustical peculiarities Chapin Hall was filled with a large audience which the great English soprano found entirely sympathetic to her very entertaining performance.

Let it be said forthwith that Miss Teyte is indeed a very great singer. This is evidenced in many ways: Miss Teyte sings in tune and in time; she maintains extraordinary clarity of vocal line; the most complex phrase becomes intelligible and takes on form through the medium of her thorough directorship over it. She has also a very beautiful and very beautifully trained voice; no one can sing with great success on the concert and operatic stages as she has for many, many years without a superlative technique.

This reviewer has never heard any singer match the beauty of

See TEYTE, page 4

USAF-ROTC Trains Forty

Group Has Advanced And Basic Sections

As a result of regrettable errors, the ROTC article which appeared in the RECORD of Wednesday, January 21, contained certain errors in fact and a statement in regards to the subsistence allowance — "I realize that this isn't quite enough to cover expenses up here but it helps a little anyway." — which was wrongly attributed to Lt. Col. Joseph A. L. Greco.

The following article has been approved by Colonel Greco.

Forty Williams undergraduates are now enrolled in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit established on the campus last fall, working for commissions as Second Lieutenants in the United States Air Force Reserve upon satisfactory completion of the course.

The course of instruction offered by the ROTC program is divided into basic and advanced sections, each extending over a period of two years, but only the first year subjects of each section are being taught here this year. Of the forty students enrolled in the Williams ROTC unit, nine are veterans.

See ROTC, page 4

Discrimination Issue Put Off; Restrict Student Concessions

468-266 Vote 'Yes'; Committee To Study Situation Further

Highlighted by heated discussion and the near resignation of a committee chairman, the Undergraduate Council meeting Monday night, attended by President James P. Baxter, III and Dean Robert R. R. Brooks, resulted in a decision to put the discrimination issue into the hands of the Social Relations Committee for further study.

Robert A. Rupen '48, Chairman of the Committee on Undergraduate Social Relations, read the results of the student opinion poll taken January 15 on the resolution concerning discrimination. The full report of the committee whose recommendations Rupen opposed, reads:

"The result of the poll taken concerning the anti-discrimination resolution was 468 votes for the resolution and 266 against.

"In analyzing the returns and campus reaction, this committee is of the opinion that the voters opposing the resolution fall in four categories: 1) A small group actually believes in discrimination. 2) Another group fears that there is some hidden purpose behind the resolution. 3) Certain students deplore discrimination but object to this method of opposing it. 4) And still others think that the resolution is ineffective and doesn't go far enough in anti-discrimination procedure.

"It appears that the student body is not wholeheartedly behind presenting this resolution to the President and Trustees, and therefore this committee recommends that no further action be taken.

"We do not feel that these results are in any manner conclusive, See DISCRIMINATION, page 2

Deadline February 1 For Vet Pay Request

All veterans qualified and wishing reimbursement by the Government for books purchased for the 1947 Fall term must leave receipted book bills at the Treasurer's Office not later than February 1, 1948, Charles D. Makepeace, College Treasurer, has announced.

Local Donations Swell Fund Drive

'Encouraging Response' Of Over $25,000

Local townspeople and alumni have contributed $27,608 to the Building and Endowment Fund Drive so far, Dr. Karl E. Weston announced at a meeting of drive workers in this area.

Fine Arts Prof. Emeritus Weston, chairman of the campaign committee, declared that "The results of the drive have been very encouraging. The response from the townspeople shows a wonderful spirit towards the College." In a pamphlet presenting the situation to the townspeople, Dr. Weston had emphasized the fact that, "The people of Williamstown have always come valiantly to the rescue when Williams College was in the need of financial assistance."

Reports of members absent from this meeting and contributions from persons not yet contacted are expected to swell the total when final results are tabulated at a meeting Wednesday, January 28.

To Withhold Diplomas From Seniors Not Complying With Tax

Restrictions on undergraduate concessions and a College sanction for UC Tax collection were among the matters brought up at the prolonged Undergraduate Council meeting, Monday night.

Dean Brooks put a proposed ruling concerning student concessions before the UC for consideration. The ruling would be that there will be no concessions granted to any student to sell goods or services to students or to solicit subscriptions or advertising except through written application to the Executive Secretary of the Committee on Student Aid, and with the approval of the SAC.

It was further stipulated that financial need must be shown by the applicant, and his ability to do the job must be proven. The proposed concession must be practical, not duplicating any existing enterprise, and must not be carried on in any College room or dormitory. The UC decided to give the Dean's proposed ruling to the SAC for discussion in a public open forum to be held within two weeks.

Agree On Sanction
President Baxter and Dean Brooks agreed to a College sanction of withholding diplomas from seniors who have not paid their UC Tax, provided the Treasurer's See UC, page 2

Budget Indicate Need For UC Tax

Non-Profit Members Of S A C Affected

With more than $1000 of the Undergraduate Council tax still to be collected, non-profit organizations of the Student Activities Council have indicated by their budgets and mid-term financial reports the need for the 274 delinquents to pay their tax bills.

In addition to increased operating costs, many of the organizations plan larger programs this year, said Dickinson R. Debevoise '48, treasurer of the SAC. "The estimates represent the absolute minimum expenses," declared Debevoise, "since they are largely based on last year's records."

Glee Club Runs Deficit

Declared Charles R. Fetter '48, business manager of the Glee Club, "We have a current deficit of more than $150." Most of the club's expenses stem from printed music, and from transportation to and from out of town concerts. Music costs during the past term have amounted to $115, while transportation expenses for one trip were ninety-three dollars.

The Glee Club normally supports itself from concert proceeds, but this year it does not expect to present many profit-making concerts. All of its scheduled programs for the spring are to be presented out of town, said Fetter, so that travel costs are expected to be much higher than they were last fall.

10% Supports Cap and Bells

Ted Lohrke '49, business manager of Cap and Bells, declared that ten per cent of the UC tax goes to his organization. Last summer Cap and Bells lost heavily, he said, and is now in need of SAC aid. As an example of what an AMT production costs, he cited last summer's production of "Macbeth", which cost $1500.

The Adelphe Union — college debating organization — has a

See SAC, page 4

Baldwin Double Victor; Medley Relay Trio, Wineman, Reid Win

by Norm Wood

Continuing on their victorious way, the Williams swimmers turned the tide on a strong Army team Wednesday afternoon to choke them by a 40-35 score. The meet, though never in serious danger, provided the rather scant gathering of twenty-five with several close races and low times.

Army was better than the times they had made in their previous meets showed. They swept both the 50 and the breaststroke, won the 400 freestyle relay, and placed two men in the dive. It was the closest meet thus far for the Muirmen.

Carnival Plans Feature Skiing

Hockey, Dances On W O C Program

This week the Outing Club was snow-plowing along with its plans for a white Winter Carnival March 5-7 that will feature a three day ski meet, two simultaneous informal dances, the final hockey game of the season, and an intrafraternity snow sculpture contest.

Friday night the informal college dance will be held in the L-sell Gymnasium which will be professionally decorated for a suitable winter atmosphere. Tickets will be $3.00 per couple. In the main gym, Sammy Vincent and his fourteen piece orchestra, which played at the Smith Charity Ball this fall, will provide the music for those who prefer conventional dancing.

Squares In Wrestling Room
At the same time a square dance will be held in the wrestling room. According to James Dorland '50, Winter Carnival chairman, even the novices will have no trouble with Floyd "Pappy" Moon calling the steps and providing exhibitions of each one. Refreshments will be served in the upper gym during the evening.

The Outing Club has signed-up Yale, Amherst, Norwich, and Syracuse for the weekend ski meet. Army and Harvard were unable to accept. Wesleyan and Cornell have not yet confirmed their invitations. Should Cornell compete, their two top-flight Norwegian skiers will put on a worthwhile show said Dorland. Tickets for the complete meet are $.60 per person.

Schedule Of Events

The meet schedule is: Friday afternoon, cross-country — from See CARNIVAL, page 2

LC Offers 'Becky Sharp'

Movie Of 'Vanity Fair' At A M T Monday

Becky Sharp will appear on the screen of the Adams Memorial Theatre Monday at 8 p. m., when the Williams Lecture Committee presents the technicolor movie adaption of Thackeray's novel "Vanity Fair."

The movie, entitled "Becky Sharp", is the second in a series of free productions to be presented by the Lecture Committee this year and stars Miriam Hopkins in the title role, supported by Allen Mowbray and C. Aubrey Smith. Called "Good"

The screen version of "Vanity Fair" was called "good" by Professor Bushnell of the English Department, who declared that "it didn't do justice to the book, but then no movie could." He said that Miriam Hopkins captured Becky's character very well, displaying her vitally, enthusiasm for life, and completely unprincipled character, unaffected by moral considerations.

Purple Jumps to Lead
The 300 medley relay was very similar to the same event with Brown a week ago. Hank Wineman was able to pull away from his man by about three yards at 100. George Wentsch, in the breaststroke split, won this back with a little more to spare. Then Click Brashears evened it off for Williams at 275, and sprinted his way to first by about a yard. The time was improved, -3:06.3.

Ray Baldwin jumped to an early lead which he never relinquished, and splashed home with a strong first. Bob Reid pulled into second at 150, finishing up back of Baldwin. John Irwin and Jim Smyly, in the 50, then sped up and down the pool to grab eight points for West Point. Moe Murray was third.

Army Sneaks Up
Danny Rogers won first in the dive for the Cadets with a reputable score of 84.76 points. Al Hydeman dove well enough to place second, forcing Army's Frank Howard to show at third. It was interesting to note that Cliff Stowers, in his first varsity competition, had only a little over one-and-a-half points less than Howard.

At this point the score was 17 - 15 for the Purple, the closest score they have had to deal with this year. But Baldwin and Murray teamed up for a first and third in the 100, widening the gap between the teams.

Take and Give

Hank Wineman, whose time seems to drop from week to week like the mercury, then back-paddled his way over the 150-backstroke course in a time just shading the 1:40 mark by one-tenth of a second. Ted Lamont, who was pushed all the way by Ed Townsley, finished second.

Wentsch led the field all the way to win the breaststroke. Swede Svenson and Jim Van Fleet battled it out right to the end. They were even at 150, and at 175 Van Fleet had a slim lead. Both men raced down the last length of the pool at full speed, but that lead was just enough to mean a second for Army.

Cadets Push Reid

In the 440 the two cadets snatched an early lead, which Bob Reid erased at 150. He then raced across the wire in the excellent

See SWIMMING, page 4

Promotions In Faculty Made

Appointments Approved By College Trustees

At the recent meeting of the Williams College Trustees in New York City, several promotions and new appointments in the faculty were made, and numerous annual reappointments in both the faculty and the administration were approved. An interview with Mrs. Mary L. Richmond, appointed Acting Custodian of the Chapin Library of Rare Books, appears elsewhere on this page.

Two faculty promotions, effective July 1, were announced: William B. Gates, Jr. from Lecturer in Economics to Assistant Professor. See TRUSTEES, page 2

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editor in Chief: J. David Moier, '48
Managing Editor: Charles H. Klensch, '48
Make-up Editors for this issue: J. Edward Pawlick '49, Seth M. Bidwell '49
Copy Editor for this issue: Joseph F. Dorsey '49

Volume LXI JANUARY 24, 1948 Number 25

Brooks On Concessions

For the past few years a sloppily-handled concession situation has steadily been getting worse. Enterprising students, imbibed with the spirit of competition and a desire for a little money on the side, have been stuffing the campus with laundries, cleaners, refreshment businesses, blotters, calendars, etc.

In some cases these concessions have been needed and worthwhile; they have provided healthy competition where monopolies formerly had been "milking" undergraduates. But in other cases, they have been an unnecessary burden. There have, however, been no well-defined, written rules nor any enforced central controls governing concessions. Dean Brooks' recent proposals should finally clear up this situation.

CRUX OF THE PROBLEM

Although the importance of the centralization of control through Mr. Osterhout's office for Student Aid can not be over-emphasized, the crux of the problem is handled in the second proposed rule, which provides a three-point concession-allotment program. At long last the college policy of awarding concessions only to needy students will be carried out. The second point of this program, however, demanding that ability as well as financial need be proven, eliminates the carrying of the "need" question to absurdity. The fact that the need and usefulness of the concession must also be proven will eliminate unwarranted competition.

In his suggestions for the operation of the proposed rules, Dean Brooks suggests that "in the case of the Record, the Purple Cow and the Gul or any other publications recognized by the SAC and carried on by self-perpetuating organization be exempted from having to make a showing of financial need." This suggestion is fine as far as it goes, but the Record feels that it must be extended to include such SAC organizations as Cap and Bells, the Lecture and Concert Committees, and WMS. These organizations carry on either or both of the functions of solicitation of subscriptions and advertising, and, like the publications, are recognized extra-curricular activities under the SAC.

Under the new rules all such questions as the recent tax problem with the Rudnicks will be eliminated. Both undergraduates and Spring Streeters will be protected against unwarranted solicitation, and needy students with top ability will finally get the jobs. The Record, therefore, heartily endorses the Dean's new program.

J.D.M.

Carnival . . .

the Taconic Golf Club to Cold Spring Road. Saturday morning and afternoon, slalom and jumping on Sheep Hill. Sunday morning, downhill races on Thunderbolt Trail, Mount Greylock, where the Eastern Downhill Championships will be held Feb.

Dierimination . . .

or of Economics, and Robert C. Goodell from Instructor in German and believe that there is room for future discussion. We believe that this problem is one to be handled by the UC and that any future action should be initiated by the UC.

Resolution Poorly Worded

There was general agreement in the UC that the resolution was confusing and had been poorly worded. Rupen said, "There might be a hundred reasons why people voted yes or no". He proposed that a new questionnaire be made up which would get the opinions of individuals on separate, specific questions.

Dick Debevoise '48, replied by saying that it would be harder to get specific question answered at this time in view of the imperfect results of the recent "yes-no" questionnaire. Gene Harling '49, then countered with another plea for a new poll on specific questions. UC President Harry Dewey '48, asked President Baxter for his opinions on the subject. The President began by saying that he has "always felt that there was too much discrimination in undergraduate social groups." He said that taking in more of the minority groups can strengthen a house as well as taking in any other man.

Disapproves Of Amherst Plan

President Baxter said that at no time does he want to follow a plan such as the one in effect at Amherst. The Amherst plan "makes it necessary for all fraternities to certify that there is a 'no-discrimination' clause in their charters. This of course would be opposed by southern chapters."

President Baxter said that no sort of quota system would be feasible. He told of two Jewish graduates to whom he had once talked on the subject of the quota system for fraternities, who said that they would never accept a 7-8. Each fraternity has promised to house and feed at least two of the visiting skiers while either Saturday night or Sunday afternoon a party will be given for them at the Faculty House.

After the hockey game Saturday evening, several houses have planned sleigh rides. Later that evening the house dances will be held.

bid if they were under the pressure of a quota system. The President said that he felt that everybody would agree to selecting men on the basis of ability, personality, and character, and concluded by saying, "Discrimination is a very important issue, which requires education and not legislation."

Rupen Resigns

Confusion took over the UC as two motions appeared on the floor at the same time. Brad Hammond '48, recommended that the Social Relations Committee look into the situation, without taking another vote, to see what people think. Rupen again suggested his questionnaire idea after Roger Ernst '48, had expressed his pleasure and gratification at the results obtained by the yes-no questionnaire of last week.

When the UC approved the report of the Social Relations Committee, Rupen resigned as its chairman. He said that he was opposed to the general sense in the UC vote, feeling that it was an attempt to silence an issue that needed full discussion. President Baxter said that a way to help the matter is to have various social groups discuss the matter. "People are suckers," he said, "not to be more catholic in their choice, and not to take in a wider range of men."

"Unripe Time"

Dean Brooks told the Council that he felt that a period of time should elapse before taking a second ballot, and that the principle of "unripe time" applied.

Dick Debevoise proposed a plan whereby the Social Relations Committee would consider the discrimination problem, and would make up a questionnaire to be distributed before April 1. When this plan was accepted by the UC, Rupen agreed to return to his position as Chairman of the Social Relations Committee. Then there was a unanimous vote of confidence for Rupen as committee chairman.

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

I DO NOT WRITE UNCLE EPH'S WORM FARM

so please stop throwing rocks through my window in dead of night dammit!

Someone left a poem on my desk yesterday, and it's so good that I want you all to see it.

PEN AND INK

I

It's rather wonderful I think,
When friends are made by pen and ink;
A piece of paper blue and white,
Someone decides that they will write;
To one that they have never seen,
Who lives where they have never been.

II

A pen becomes the magic wand,
Two strangers start to correspond;
Not strangers long, but soon good friends,
Just note how their last letter ends;
How pleasant this exchange of views,
The comments on important news.

III

Two friends that live quite far apart,
Can gladden much, each other's heart.
Can nourish, too, each other's mind,
With letters, understanding and kind;
It's truly beautiful, I think,
The friendships that spring —
From pen and ink.

— Author Unknown

It really is a pity that this poem's author is unknown. It does make it jolly to be able to take guesses, though. My first guess would be Milton. There are certain similarities. Words, for instance. And punctuation, although punctuation is more apt to indicate one of E. E. Cummings' later works. The subject matter might be that of Browning. Elizabeth Barrett, I mean, although it's fairly obvious that it couldn't have been Robert. At least we can eliminate Chaucer since he didn't write in sonnet form. That narrows it down pretty far, and any idiot can guess that the real author is Gertrude Stein.

Of course, this is a free translation — apparently made post-humously by Alice B. Toklas and then again apparently not. As I see it, the rime is a little too close for Miss Stein even in her more intimate moments.

It is rather wonderful to think that friends are made on blue and white paper by pen and ink. I'd never thought of it quite that way before — and I don't think I shall again for awhile. Thoughts like that are O. K. for now and then, but a steady diet would make one lose all one's faith in humanity. I'd rather make my friends in some other way. Besides my stationery is pink. But then maybe that would give me ruddy friends.

This idea of commenting on important news (see verse 2) may be just a trifle overdone. I mean that too much comment on Russia or something may very well lead to subversive chatter which wouldn't be at all becoming — especially to a friend who has sprung from pen and ink. I just can't resist putting in a little sample of my own poetic work. "Genius" some people call it, but let's not quibble.

I

I often wonder when I look at stuff,
If padded cells are thick enough.
It seems to me that minor poets
And people who write programme noets
Should be tossed in the clink.

Trustees . . .

the next term, March 1 to June 30.

Fox Granted Leave

Professor Bertrand Fox, William Brough Professor of Economics, was granted a leave of absence to permit him to carry out a study of the investment banking business and its practices. Professor Fox has been engaged for this research by a group of investment bankers involved in an anti-trust suit. Delevan Pierson Evans, Assistant Professor of Political Science, was granted a leave of absence until June, 1948, to enable him to complete work for his doctorate.

New Appointments

The following new appointments were approved: Myer Rashish was made Instructor of Economics, beginning February 16, Mr. Rashish, a Harvard graduate, was a staff member at the M.I.T. Radiation Laboratory from 1944-45, a Research Assistant at Harvard from 1946-47, and a Teaching Fellow in the Economics Department at M.I.T. and at Tufts. Ralph J. Quintana was made assistant basketball coach for the current season, and Frederick S. Nathan, Williams '43, was appointed Instructor in Political Science for

U C . . .

Office and the Administration agree.

The UC put Henry M. Halsted '48, President of the Williams chapter of the NSA, in charge of collection of signatures of students backing the Marshall Plan for European recovery. Local organizations favoring the plan are to send their signed petitions to state headquarters and to Washington, where public opinion will be tabulated.

Bob Boyer '48, announced that approximately $290 had been collected at the showing of John Jay's ski-movie, "Singing Skis", last week, for the benefit of the Williams Building and Endowment Fund.

It was decided by a vote of house representatives to have an interfraternity snow sculpture contest the weekend of March 7, as a part of the Winter Carnival festivities.

If it's

BORDEN'S

It's got to be good

LADY BORDEN'S

ICE CREAM

105 HOLDEN STREET

THE MUSIC HOUSE

RECORDS - RADIOS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
PIANOS

34 Bank St. North Adams

INSURANCE BROKERS

TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C. H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

SEE!

Thrilling • 65 Meter Hill
SKI JUMP
CONTEST
Sunday FEB. 15 1 P.M.
Norwegian Stars
Canadian Champions • U. S. Experts
BRATTLEBORO VERMONT

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber, Avenue.

NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Telephone 3553

Richmond
Hotel

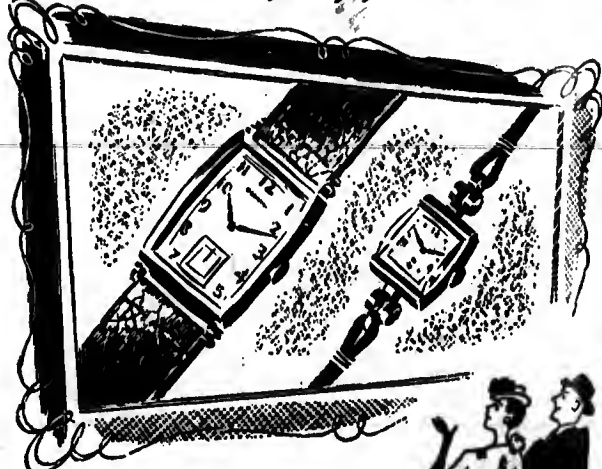

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND
GRILL for the best in food,
drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

D & D OFFICE
SERVICELet D & D Do Your
Typing For You

Leave material to be typed at 85 Spring Street
next to the Alumni House

TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

Every way you look at it...

it's America's Fine Watch
HAMILTON

All fine watches have 17 or more jewels — but all watches that have 17 or more jewels are not fine watches. Hamiltons are fine all the way through. Hamilton has made fine watches exclusively for more than fifty years. They'll be back soon. May we call you when they get here?

FRANK DILEGO

70 Main Street

JEWELER
North Adams

Telephone 2570

West Point Trounces Williams Quintet, 53-27

Cadets Run Wild In Second Half As Ephs Setshots Fail

by Jack Shafer

Army, Williams, and two guys named Joe who did the refereeing, contrived to put on the worst basketball show seen before these four eyes since high school days, and in a manner assuredly designed to put the crush on Dr. Naismith's noble invention for all time. The game was rough and dull all the way.

If Williams had scored twice as many points, it would have won by one. As it was, Army, displaying a finer technique in the art of knocking their opponents around, emerged winner 53 to 27 in the varsity game played in Army's cavernous Field House last Wednesday afternoon.

Williams Kept Outside

The Cadets consistently refused to let Williams in under the basket, not by alert defensive play, but by pure and simple strong-arm tactics. This mode of defense should have been called by the refs, but it wasn't, and so Burnett's boys were reduced to shooting from the outside. For the first time this season the team was woefully off in its set shooting, all of which made scoring points next to impossible.

After letting the game get completely out of hand in the first half, the local officials in charge of festivities tried to get things under control in the second. This resulted in twenty foul shots being scored in the last chapter while only eleven field goals were registered.

Williams Scores One

Only one of these floor shots was scored by the Purple. With a minute and a half to go, Frank Baldwin finally scored a Williams two-pointer. It was this inability to shoot from the outside, an ability not usually found lacking in this team, that cost the Ephs the ball game. Given the fact that it could not work its plays for conversions, the team also found it could not hit with its set shots, and hence the ball game.

Williams was in the lead only in the first few minutes. After Mosny had counted from the foul line, George Dittmar, who was again high-scorer for the Purple, but this time with only six points, converted a Jack Mason pass to make the score 2 to 1. At the four minute mark, Sheperd of Army, the game's high man with sixteen points, registered with a hook shot, but Mason took a hand-off from Dittmar to put Williams back in front, 4 to 3.

Army Racks Twelve

Here the Cadets racked up twelve straight markers before Bill Kaufman broke the skein with a long set. Bud Cool then drove in with a lay-up and Williams was off on a string of its own. Dittmar followed Cool with a long angle set which was followed by Cool's one-pointer from the foul line, to make the score 12 to 17, Army ahead. West Point then counted six to Williams' three, Dittmar and Brownell hitting for the visitors, which finished the half with the score 15 to 24.

The second half started with Wagner, who had been flinging the ball in the general direction of the basket all afternoon, finally getting into the scoring column with a penalty toss. He was given this opportunity by Gerry Page who had accidentally busted him in the choppers a few seconds before. Soon after this Bob Brownell was tossed for a nice loss by football captain-elect Bill Yoeman, who seemed to be pretty well mixed up all day on what the sport was he was playing. Captain Brownell got two successful foul tries for the experience. The game quickly degenerated into an orgy of foul shots which consumed most of the remainder of the game. Sheperd's tap shooting was the only sign of basketball prowess extant.

Williams
		FG	F	Pts.
Dittmar	RF	3	0	6
Baldwin		1	0	2
J. Mason	LF	1	3	5
R. Mason		0	0	0
Poge	C	0	1	1
Cool		1	2	4
Brownell	RG	0	4	4
McWhinney		0	0	0
Bush	LG	0	1	1
Kaufman		1	2	4
Totals		7	13	27

Army
		FG	F	Pts.
Wagner	RF	1	4	6
Chapman		0	0	0
Sheperd	LF	7	2	16
Galiffa		1	0	2
Rowers	C	3	4	10
Foldberg		1	0	2
Swantz		0	0	0
Yoeman	RG	1	1	3
Pursley		1	0	2
Boray		1	0	2
Mosny	LG	4	1	9
Nelson		0	1	1
Totals		20	13	53

Coomb's Five Faces Albany

Undefeated Hoopsters Seek Third Win Here

The undefeated freshman five will be looking for their third win when they face the Albany Academy club at LaSalle Gymnasium this afternoon. The Coombs men, who have won their first two games by comfortable twenty point margins, should have no trouble remaining in the undefeated ranks until they meet a standout Springfield club on February 28.

The same starting five which has rolled up eighty five points while playing only a half of each game so far, will probably be on the floor at the opening whistle. Sharp-shooting Dewey Fagerburg and big Bob Larsen, whose all-around play has tabbed him as a definite varsity prospect, will be starting at the forwards. Chuck Pusey, whose seventeen points a game have made him the team's high scorer, will be throwing hookshots from the pivot slot again, while rebound-getter Dave Jackson, and sharp-shooting Jack Fraser will be the starting guards.

Fresh Pummel Crusaders

An informal scrimmage with the North Adams Crusaders last Tuesday showed considerable strength in the second and third teams and a marked improvement in both the yearling's passing and in their accuracy from the free throw line. The Albany Academy game should see the team live up to its full potentialities as the adds-on favorite for the Little Three title.

Conditions Still The Same

With the advent of a new rink the Hockey Captain will be relieved of such duties.

Photo by Birchall

Snively Recalls Eph Hockey Over Last Seventeen Years

by Stu Robinowitz

A Barr Snively was arranging something in the trunk of his car when we came trudging up the backroad still covered with snow that led to his home. As we drew nearer, we could make out a bushel basket resting on the floor of the trunk. Into this "Whoop" was pouring the remains of some sand from another basket. He finished, and turned. "I'll be with you in a minute."

He led us through the garage into the kitchen, which had just been torn apart by an eager plumber, and into the living room, where some flames were licking at a massive log in the fireplace.

"How about some hockey stories, Mr. Snively?"

He sat down, lit a cigarette and commenced.

Started Behind Sage

Hockey, it seems, was originally played in back of Sage Hall, where snow was packed down and coated with water. A heating pipe that ran into Sage fouled up the works on more than one occasion. "We couldn't keep the ice on account of the pipe and the sun, which was reflected onto the ice from the windows in Sage. I remember one game with MIT in 1933. There was so much shell ice that by the end of the game no one was skating. The fellows were just running up and down the ice taking golf shots at the buried puck. It was football on skates." The game ended in a scoreless tie, and brought an abrupt ending to the season.

A new rink was necessary, so the Athletic Department sent a steam-shovel to Cole Field to clear out part of the swan land in back of the field house. Here the Eph skaters settled for the 1934 season, and they have remained since.

Lots of Wind

"We get a lot of wind down there. I can remember the Yale game in 1939. The score was 1-1. The puck was drifting loose around the Williams cage, when a gust of wind caught it and swept it past the Williams goal-tender." Final score: Yale 2, Williams 1.

"There used to be muskrats down there. We clear them out every fall now, though. Well, one year, before we got rid of them, we were playing RPI. At night the muskrats used to eat through the ice, and during the day the openings they had made would freeze over, but with only a thin covering of ice. We knew where most of these weak spots were, and managed not to skate over them. No one told RPI about them." They're still looking for that sixth man."

"What about some great players you've had here?"

Bill Mosley 'Great'

"I don't like to single anyone out, but I guess that everybody who has followed hockey here remembers Bill Mosley, who graduated in 1936. He was in a class all by himself. He'd play sixty minutes every game. When he wasn't on defense, he was playing center on the second line. He had a tremendous shot. There used to be a sign in the back of the rink. During one game 'Mose' got off a shot that cleared the fence around the rink, hit the sign and split it in half. The goal-tender on the other team never even saw the puck. When he heard it hit the sign, he fell to ice blocking the cage. The opposing coach yelled to me across the ice. 'Get that guy off the ice, before he kills somebody.'"

At this point it was nearing four o'clock, so "Whoop" went off in search of his cap, returned and prepared to leave for Cole Field. He dropped us off near the corner of Spring Street, and we went in search of some statistical information about the Snively hockey teams.

62 Wins, 58 Losses

"Whoop" started coaching the sport in 1931, and in the course of

Two Teams To Wrestle

Meets With McGill, Mt. Hermon Today

The undefeated Varsity and Freshman wrestling teams come up against McGill and Mt. Hermon respectively in home meets today. At 8:00 p.m. in the main gym, the Varsity meets a strong McGill team. Ouellet and Reynolds, both Canadian Intercollegiate Champions, round out their aggregation; however their loss to Springfield of 14-8 last weekend tends to tip the scales for the Ephs.

The Williams line-up will be: Bill Kelton, 121 lbs. Paul Coog, 128 lbs. Hank Hall, 136 lbs. Bill Lettlinger, 145 lbs. Grant North, 155 lbs. Ted Reynolds, 165 lbs. Chuck Blakney, 175 lbs. and John Stillwell, Unlimited.

The curtain-raiser for the Cubs is at 3:45 in the wrestling room. Mt. Hermon, has retained the same team that beat last year's freshmen 26-10. For this match, the team will probably be the same group that blanked Kent last Saturday. They include Ken Moffat, Chuck Halleck, "Scrubby" Perry, Paul Shorb, Pete DeLisser, Bud Moody, George Selly and Don Whitehead.

sixteen seasons (no team during the 1944-45 winter) he has compiled an over-all record of sixty-two victories against fifty-eight setbacks. The figures actually belittle the fine performance of the teams under "Whoop's" guidance because more than half the losses (and only three of the victories) have been sustained in Ivy League competition, where the Ephmen were playing out of their class. Against all other opponents the Purple boasts a remarkable .670 win average with fifty-nine victories and only twenty-eight losses.

Hamilton, the big rival on the Williams schedule since Amherst abandoned hockey back in the early thirties, has proven easy pickings for the Snively-coached teams. They have thumped Clinton, N. Y. teams ten times in twelve starts (one tie and one loss) Against all other "small" colleges, the hockey teams have done as well, posting 8-1-2 and 6-1 records against Middlebury and Union. The Ephmen hold a 7-6 margin over West Point and a 5-1-1 margin over MIT.

The Rev. Gerald B. O'Grady, Jr., '40, Chaplain of Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., will speak in the Thompson Memorial Chapel Sunday evening January 25.

WINTER LUBRICANTS

will

- Provide thorough lubrication for all parts even during the very coldest weather.

- Make your car ride better and steer easier.

- Help avoid excessive wear that results in expensive repairs.

Bring Your Car "Back Home" to us for Winter Lubrication

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

Sextet Ties Middlebury In 6-6 Thriller

Game Still Tied After Ten Minute Overtime; May Be Replayed

The hockey teams of Williams and Middlebury fought to a 8-6 deadlock in a thrilling overtime game at Middlebury last Wednesday afternoon before a sizable gathering of enthusiastic spectators.

Middlebury ruled a slight pregame favorite mainly because of football-score victories over Union and Lehigh, but the first fifteen minutes of the opening period saw Williams in good command of the ice having scored in three out of four attempts at Middlebury's cage, while holding them scoreless. A pass by Bucky Marchese to Doug Coleman coming from behind the cage was converted by Doug at 5:30. Bud Wilson made the second goal after a scramble in front of the Blue Shirts' cage two minutes later, and Schmidt skated through their defense to make it 3-0 at 14:48. Middlebury started to come from behind when Prescott scored at 17:02.

Middlebury Ties It Up

Tables were reversed in the second period with Middlebury scoring three goals to one for Williams. Bucky counted at 1:26 on a Reynolds pass, but in the next seven minutes Middlebury made the score symmetrical by knocking the puck past Dave Pynchon three times. In the third period each team added one more goal to bring the count to 5-5 at the end of the regulation three periods. A pass from Captain Charlie Huntington was converted by Tom Benson at 3:45, but Middlebury tied it up again five minutes from the end.

No Decision In Overtime

Ten minutes of overtime proved just as inconclusive. Owen made good on a rebound shot after a pass from Healy at 8:45, but Middlebury right in character brought the score to 6-6 on a Forbes tally forty seconds before the final whistle. Arrangements are trying to be completed to decide the issue in a replay here Tuesday or Wednesday.

This Saturday night at 8 p.m. at Cole Field Williams will meet the Bronxville Rockets of the Westchester Amateur Hockey League.

Taconic Theatre

FRIDAY

IVY

With

JOAN FONTAINE
and PATRIC KNOWLES

SATURDAY

MERTON OF
THE MOVIES

With

RED SKELTON
and
VIRGINIA O'BRIEN

SUNDAY MONDAY, TUESDAY
WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY

The Egg And I

With

CLAUDETTE COLBERT
and
FRED MacMURRAY

EVERYBODY'S TALKING

It doesn't take long for the word to get around. When the WILLIAMS INN modernized its kitchen and dining room this winter, it was the perfect answer for those who want delicious food served and prepared the way you want it.

MAKE YOUR SUNDAY NIGHT SUPPER
THE BEST MEAL OF THE WEEK

COCKTAIL LOUNGE & GAME ROOM & INFORMAL & CONVENIENT

FAIRFIELDS FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

NSAC Campaigns For Local ERP Interest

As a part of a nation-wide campaign of the National Student Association, the local NSA chapter will sponsor two movies this week to stimulate student interest in the European Recovery Plan.

Tuesday evening the NSA committee will hold an open forum on the Marshall Plan in Griffin Hall, which will be led by several faculty members of the local Committee for the Marshall Plan. During the week petitions, to be sent to Congress, will be circulated by NSA groups throughout the country for signatures of students supporting the ERP.

Swimming - - -

time of 5:01.1. Captain Sandy Lambert had to wait until the 250 mark before he passed his opponents, but then increased his margin to take second for the Muirmen.

The 400 relay was another thriller. Bill Rueckert had to yield a foot to Army's Harvey Prosser in the first 100. Treat Arnold lost a couple more feet. George Coale was just a shade further back, and Chick Brashears, as anchor man, just couldn't catch Jim Smyly. The West Pointers won by roughly two yards.

Summary

300 medley relay, won by Williams (Wineman, Svenson, Brashears), time 3:06.3; 220 free, won by Baldwin (W), Reid (W), Prosser (A), time 2:18.1; 50 free, won by Irwin (A), Smyly (A), Murray (W), time 23.9; Dive, won by Rogers (A), Hydeman (W), Howard (A), 84.76 points; 100 free, won by Baldwin (W), Smyly (A), Murray (W), time 54.0; 150 back, won by Wineman (W), Lamot (W), Townsley (A), time 1:39.9; 200 breast, won by Wentsch (A), Van Fleet (A), Svenson (W), time 2:35.6; 440 free, won by Reid (W), Lambert (W), Rowell (A), time 5:01.1; 400 free relay, won by Army (Prosser, McCutchen, Lamin, Smyly), time 3:43.2.

Teyte - - -

tone achieved in sustained singing, mezza voce, in the upper register. The ability to achieve with ease a tone of great beauty in this register without gasping or singing out of tune is a rara avis and says a great deal for Miss Teyte's training. She learned to sing, I am not at all surprised to learn, with Jean de Reszke. This gentleman, it is maintained hotly by those who have heard many great singers, easily surpassed Caruso, Tamagno, Bonci, De Lucia, and all the greatest tenors of many generations. It is also interesting to note that this judgement is made upon the basis that de Reszke, lacking a truly great natural voice, minimized his deficiency through perfection of technique, greatness in interpretation, and remarkable phraseology — in other words, very great artistry. It seems to me that Maggie Teyte's singing is best understood and appreciated in these terms.

However, there was another and extremely important facet to Miss Teyte's recital. Her stage presence was overwhelming. I think it is fair to say that her great good humor in reading translations of some of the French works and in the manner in which she repeated several pieces and sang encores had as much to do with her complete captivation of the audience as her singing.

Maggie Teyte is most famous for her singing of the music of Claude Debussy. Audience reaction to her singing of the rather lengthy letter which Genevieve reads in the opera "Pelleas et Melisande" induced her to repeat this portion of her program, which has always seemed somewhat insipid to most auditors. Suffice it to say that the letter became a very moving and very beautiful work of art through her singing, which can only be called interpretation on a very high artistic level.

The other Debussy pieces received finished performances, the "Fetes Galantes" being deserving of particular praise. The Mozart airs were very tastefully sung, taking into account the impression that Miss Teyte's voice was not fully warmed up to the hall ans with at least one full year in the Armed Forces, and are entered in the advanced section, having been granted credit for the basic course.

ROTC - - -

First Year

The first year of the basic course consists of ninety-six hours of instruction in a variety of general military subjects, under the eight officers and enlisted men assigned to the Williams College unit by the War Department. Instruction in marksmanship and firing on the new range are included in the first year basic course.

The first year of the advanced course consists of 160 hours of instruction in more varied and advanced subjects, such as starting Military Leadership, Psychology, Personnel Management Navigation, Meteorology, and Air Operations. On or about June 15, students who have completed the first year of advanced training are assigned to a United States Air Force Base, where they are given six weeks of training in the practical application of the classroom work.

Subsistence Allowance

The ROTC candidates receive a "subsistence allowance" of seventy-nine cents a day throughout the advanced course, including vacations and the summer, and are paid seventy-five dollars a month during the summer training period, together with transportation costs to and from the air base.

Stress is given to leadership throughout the entire ROTC course, as this quality is considered a basic essential for successful completion of any assignment given the members of the training program.

Please Patronize

RECORD

Advertisers

and the audience at this time in the program.

The second half of the program was accomplished with the same admirable qualities as the first. It is unfortunate, I think, that much of the music on this part of the program was in very questionable taste. If it was attractive and appealing, it was only because Miss Teyte made it so. I fail to understand the necessity for singing Levitzki and Reynaldo Hahn even in so remote a clime as Williamstown. Miss Teyte remarked that she felt that she had come here to entertain and not to instruct.

I should like very much to point out that this college does not have as one of its aims the entertainment of its student body. I should like further to say that the Thompson Concert Committee does have as its principle aim to provide the students of Williams college an opportunity to hear the performance of some of the world's great music by the best performers obtainable in all the fields of musical art.

This auditor got the very definite and quite possibly mistaken impression that Miss Teyte played down to a small-town audience. The calculated intent of the artist does not appear to have been to create as artistic a performance as possible, but rather to entertain. I hold that more of that rare admixture of great music and great artistry in performance which made Miss Teyte repeat the "Pelleas" scene would have been extremely welcome and would have yielded that kind of entertainment which goes under the apparently suspect title of "a moving aesthetic experience". Let it be said that the Thompson Committee requests each performer to give as musical a program as possible. The occasional infiltration of unmusical material into the program seems to indicate an unwillingness on the part of performers to risk a program comprised entirely of music, or an inability to discern that which is musical.

I trust that Mr. Sziget, who will perform at Chapin Hall on March 20th as the fourth artist in the series, will not feel constrained to play a program consisting entirely of the Tchaikovsky and Bruch violin concerti.

Chapin - - -

balanced collection of rare books is unique in American colleges. I hope that both faculty and students will feel free to make extensive use of the library for personal as well as class use." She said that she would be glad to answer any questions which might arise in their work.

From 1945 to 1946 she was assistant to the vice-president and provost of the University of California, and during the United Nations Conference in San Francisco, was reference assistant and liaison officer in the library established for the delegates to the conference. In addition to having given bibliographical assistance for several books, Mrs. Richmond is the author of "Footnotes and Bibliography: A Manual for College and University Students," to be published by the University of California.

Coaches - - -

Browns, All-American Conference champions, Joe Maniacchi and Ben Wolfson, standouts at Fordham and Lafayette, respectively, both have coached New York Giant farm teams.

Cliff Battles the recent Brooklyn mentor, is another possibility, but, according to the Athletic Office, his chances are no better than those of the other applicants, despite a prevalent rumor.

Interviews

Expecting many more applications, Athletic Director Walter Sheehan stated that interviews with candidates will take place during the next two weeks. At the end of this period, the Athletic Council will make its recommendation to President Baxter for final approval. The announcement of the appointment is expected within the next month.

S A C - - -

much larger program this year, besides an increased membership. According to Peter Gutman '49, this year's trip to Middlebury will cost $100, involving transportation, rooms and food expenses for two teams.

IRC Needs $300

A budget of $300 for the year was submitted by the International Relations Club. Half of this amount pays the travel and expenses of visiting speakers, while participation in inter-collegiate conferences sets the organization back $100.

The Philosophical Union incurs its greatest expense bringing guest speakers to the college. With speakers at roughly sixty dollars apiece, the three lectures planned for March, April and May will cost $180.

MOVING?

The world Moves and so does
MULLEN

Agents AERO MAYFLOWER TRANSIT CO.

Call 890

North Adams, Mass.

80 State Street

"My cigarette is the MILD cigarette... that's why Chesterfield is my favorite"

Ronald Reagan

STARRING IN
"THE VOICE OF THE TURTLE"
A WARNER BROS. PRODUCTION

It takes ABC TO SATISFY ME!
says Picture Star Ronald Reagan

When you change to Chesterfield
THE FIRST THING YOU WILL NOTICE IS THEIR MILDNESS
...that's because of their Right Combination
World's Best Tobaccos —

A ALWAYS Milder
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING

ALWAYS BUY CHESTERFIELD
They Satisfy

The Williams Record

Volume LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1948

Number 26

Dalrymple Elected F-'51 President

Pratt VP In 'Fixed' Ballot

by Steffen Lincoln

In a unique example of class election maneuvering, Stewart Dalrymple was railroaded into the presidency of the Class of F-'51 at a class meeting Thursday afternoon in Jesup Auditorium. Walter Pratt was elected vice-president.

Dalrymple openly traded votes in the most frankly rigged election in the recent history of the College. In the meeting which followed a deal was made to throw next year's elections so that the two men would swap positions.

"Same Old Evils"

This is not the first example of abuses in the aspect of student government. In an editorial in the January 10 Record, on the subject of similar practices in other class elections, reference is made to "the old farcical story of 'class meeting elections,'" and it is stated that "the same old evils still exist."

According to a spokesman of the Undergraduate Council, F-'51 "got in just under the wire," inasmuch as the Rules and Nominations Committee of the UC meets this week to curb such practices. He pointed out that under the present rules, there is nothing the legislative body could do about the situation.

"Boss" Defends System

In an interview with the Record, Dalrymple boasted of his machinations and warmly praised the astuteness of his cohort Pratt in swinging the presidential vote his way. He spoke glowingly of the smoothness and efficiency of the system and said that since the best men in the class had been chosen, any other system would have been undesirable.

"The Boss", as Dalrymple styles himself, refused to allow himself to be quoted directly in the Record because of what he termed "regrettable errors" in quoting campus figures in the past.

Full Attendance

The meeting itself was also unique insofar as it was the first class election since a Record editorial on the lack of interest in these matters — and there was one hundred percent attendance. The UC spokesman, while en-

See ELECTIONS, page 6

IRC To Poll Student Body

Two New Conferences Planned Next Term

The International Relations Club is planning a poll to obtain a cross-section of the views of Williams College students on world affairs. It was revealed at a meeting of the group Wednesday night.

Peter M. Gutman '49, president of the organization, expressed the hope that the poll would create student interest in current events and in the activities of the IRC. The club decided that a canvass of the dormitories is the most efficient method of sounding out student opinion. The poll will be conducted during the first few weeks of the Spring term.

Also at the meeting it was disclosed that there is to be a conference at Wellesley College February 11-15, where the students will discuss the duties of the United Nations. "The United States in the Middle East" will be the topic of discussion at Mount Holyoke College February 27-28. Fourteen are to participate in the conference to be held at Amherst College March 12-14, when the delegates will consider the topic "Political Effects of American Foreign Policy." The club plans to send delegates to the last two conferences

See IRC, page 2

Slalom Practice

Raymond C. Prime, Jr. '50 practicing slalom on Sheep Hill last week as Dan Pugh '50 looks on. Ski team story on page 3. Photo by Williams Photo Service

Purple Cow Finally 'Seen'

Atomist, Find Burgess-Type Bovine In Swamp

by Richards Heuer '50 and Dan Pugh '50

Those who leafed through the back pages of the "Chicago Sunday Tribune" December 28 must have cast a skeptical eye on the headline "Atomic Age Discovery: A Purple Cow." But further investigation by the Record reveals that the report was true, and that a real, live, honest-to-goodness counterpart of our heretofore "mythical" mascot was born in Florida in the Spring of 1942.

According to the "Tribune", more than 250 scientists "rubbed their eyes in amazement" when Dr. Davis showed movies of the mauve creature before a national conference on the use of atomic substances in agricultural research.

Copper-Deficient Soil Causes Freak

While the "brightly hued" bovine was switching her tail complacently through several feet of film, Dr. Davis explained to the

See PURPLE, page 2

Concerts Scheduled For Williams Octet

The Williams Undergraduate Octet is tentatively scheduled for two concerts on February 7. The octet will sing first at Emma Willard School in Troy and, later in the evening, will be heard in the Adams Memorial Theater as part of a program being given by the North Adams Boy Scout Council in celebration of National Boy Scout Week.

In addition to singing at the Winter Carnival formal dance, the organization has also scheduled a charity concert April 17, with the Skidmore Octet in Greenwich, N. Y.

Women's Colleges Recesses Surveyed

Record Makes Survey Of Girls' Vacations

Despite the fact that Williams men are this week girding themselves for a hectic thirteen-day exam period, which starts Saturday, January 31, many forward-looking readers soon will be making plans for between-exam sorties to the campuses of women's colleges, in addition to the between-semester recess excursions February 12-15. Therefore the Record offers, as a service to its readers, the following survey of the between-semester recesses of leading women's colleges in this area. A similar survey of the spring vacation dates of these institutions will be presented by the Record in the near future.

Bennington: reopens March 22.
Berkshire J. C.: February 14-18
Bryn Mawr: February 1, 2
Connecticut: Noon Feb. 5-8 Sunday night.
Mount Holyoke: Jan. 30 - Feb. 1
Skidmore: February 4-9
Smith: February 3, 4
Wellesley: February 5-10
Wheaton: 5 p.m. Jan. 9 - Feb. 1
Vassar: January 23-25

Lasell, Kelly Perform 'Brilliantly' In 'Fine Production' Of 'Oedipus Rex'

by Paul R. Barstow

"Oedipus Rex" was not only a personal triumph for John Lasell, but a sustained fine production of remarkable integrity and power. While some aspects of the presentation were not finished, to call it "experimental" seems falsely modest. It is unfortunate that this was not given the additional time, expense and effort of a major production.

In John Lasell, Williams has an actor of great and growing stature. His performance in "Portrait of a Madonna" was memorable, and his Oedipus proved that he is capable of the most exacting and difficult tragedy. He dominated the play by a rich vocal power which was inadequate only to anger, and profoundly moving in pathos. His conception of the role was physically immobile to an unfortunate degree, placing a greater than necessary demand on his voice and the emotional impact which he could give it, but they proved equal to the task.

Emotional Power of Lasell

Although not sufficiently regal in his bearing, he handled his body with skill in expressing the emotional turmoil within him. His gestures, which would have been refined and augmented in a major production, were effective although underwrought and at times ungraceful. Growing in power throughout the play, he was richly pathetic in the final scene.

Jocasta Most Finished

Helen Byrne Kelly took the role of Jocasta with so much force and intensity that at one or two points she failed to maintain the restraint necessary if Jocasta is to keep her subordinate relationship to Oedipus. She gave a beautifully constructed interpretation of Jocasta's character, and in her technique, presence and gestures, gave the most accomplished performance of the evening. Her visitation of the altar was richly poignant and her final taunts at Oedipus moved to both pity and terror. In the great abilities of Mr. Lasell and Mrs. Kelly, fire answered fire. Each of them calling upon the utmost resources of the other, they both complemented and enhanced each other.

Dunne, Sondheim, Horton, Fine

Dominick Dunne played Creon with skill and imagination from the first, and in his last scene displayed a dramatic power which matched the demands of the role and the other principals. The occasional inadequacy of his voice and some lack of emotional force did not materially detract from a performance of great vitality and skill.

Stephen Sondheim as the blind seer showed remarkable vocal sensitivity, and by his restraint made the contrast between Oedipus' violent fury and his calm contempt particularly striking.

In a very competent performance. See LASELL, page 5

Reviewer Rips De Voto Talk

Lecture Sets Tight Limits On Fiction

by Bob Taylor

Last Thursday evening in Jesup Hall, Bernard De Voto delivered a lecture in which he tried to make clear the relationship which exists between the reader and the writer of novels. Much of what Mr. De Voto said was fairly obvious, but an irritating aspect of the lecture was the repeated contention that the sole reason for reading fiction is emotional; that people read from an unconscious and ungovernable feeling of psychological emptiness.

In other words, says Mr. De Voto, adults read literature for the same reason that children read fairy tales: "Every day we are reminded how small we are — reminded that we are cowards, liars, and that even our sins aren't very important . . . we are children crying in the dark. We read fiction so that we can fulfill ourselves, so that we can be important, if only vicariously."

Mr. De Voto's definition of the novelist is similarly soul-destroying: "He is neither philosopher nor sociologist, nor is he a political thinker; a novelist is a person who happens to be sensitive to human

See REVIEWER, page 2

Rev. O'Grady Blasts Pride

Trinity Chaplain Hits Religious 'Bookkeeping'

"The difficulty with us is our pride," declared Reverend Gerald B. O'Grady, '40, Chaplain of Trinity College, at the final Thompson Memorial Chapel Service of the semester, Sunday evening.

He stated that by basing their thoughts about God on how much better they are than their neighbors, rather than on any Christian ideals, they feel that their religious duties are accomplished. However we worship, he said, "the goal of religion is God . . . and actually we do not want to meet God."

"Life under God can't be a matter of bookkeeping. We must realize that we will not be able to get the books to balance," he declared. We think that we can come before God with a "life statement in the black, but it always is in the red. We must go on our knees to God."

"The fact is that we don't really want Him. We ask ourselves 'How well am I doing in God's way.' We must answer, 'not very well.' We may attempt to reach God by meditation, prayer, and good works, but a touch of pride will ruin the whole effect. Our pride short circuits the value we might find."

'Cow' Cleaners Join Rudnick's

Effective January 23

Effecting an agreement under which the Purple Cow Cleaners will transfer its business from Petri's Cleaners in North Adams to George Rudnick, Bill Eldridge, president of the Cow cleaners, signed a contract effective January 23.

Newhall Talk Opens Faculty Lecture Series

The Faculty Lecture Series will be resumed, after a wartime lapse, with a talk by History Professor Richard A. Newhall February 19. Professor Michael Vaccariello, chairman of the faculty lecture committee, characterized these lectures as the most valuable of the year and an important educational contribution.

Encompassing a wide variety of subjects in a comprehensive manner, the lectures will be given by professors speaking upon pertinent topics in the fields in which they are experts. Professor Vaccariello considered it significant that the talks would be offered by men who would be in Williamstown to meet the repercussions of the ideas they presented in their lectures.

The lectures will be given in the chemistry building at regular intervals next term. No definite speakers or topics have been determined for the lectures which follow Professor Newhall's, but the speakers will be announced in the Record following the decisions of the faculty committee which is arranging them.

The series came into being about 30 years ago in order that students could gain information in fields other than those in which they were taking courses. Following its cessation during the war, the series came to life again briefly last year with a talk by President James P. Baxter III.

Foreign Study Plan For Junior Year

Includes Students Of Forty U. S. Colleges

Students from over forty American colleges and Universities are currently registered at the University of Zurich and the University of Basel in connection with the intercollegiate Junior Year program, according to a statement released by Professor Edmund E. Miller, Director of the American Council on College Study in Switzerland.

The Junior Year program is operated by American teachers for the purpose of making European University facilities accessible to American undergraduates without loss of time or credits. It is open to qualified applicants from accredited colleges who wish to take the third year of their college course in a foreign country.

Graduate Year Abroad

Students interested in foreign study should discuss the matter with their major professors and with their language teachers. If already beyond the Junior Year level, the Graduates Year Abroad, sponsored by the University of Maryland, could be considered. The graduate programs are conducted in Paris and in Zurich and lead to the degree: Master of Foreign Study.

The Junior Year program in Zurich includes Junior courses in German language and composition, art, economics, German literature, government, history, and is supervised by professors on

See FOREIGN, page 6

The student business will still exist as an entity under the terms of the new agreement, but will now solicit dry cleaning in the college dormitories and fraternity houses for the Williamstown firm. The agents of the Cow cleaners will receive commissions on the basis of the business brought into Rudnicks through their efforts.

With the end of competition between the two businesses, the agreement provides that Rudnick's will not solicit any business on their own from the college owned buildings or fraternity houses, but will continue to deliver the processed clothes as has been done in the past.

Founded last year, the idea of a student operated dry cleaning business originated with Bill Eldridge '49, John Hadley '49, and Bob Mahoney '49. In beginning operations the Cow cleaners left the clothes they delivered to college dormitories in their agents' rooms for later distribution. It was then brought to the attention of the College authorities that a business was being conducted in dormitories, which place in jeopardy the tax free status of college owned buildings. Upon review by the college, this system was changed to direct delivery to the rooms of the students. The cleaners felt it was clear that they were not carrying on a business from in the college dormitories. The new method was approved by the Dean's Office, and they pointed out that students living in dormitories certainly should be allowed to hold jobs.

Since much of the students' cleaning was being sent to North Adams, and as a result was detracting from the business sent to the local establishment, the college authorities suggested to the Cow cleaners that they might be able to work out an agreement with Rudnick's, just as favorable as their former contract, that would return the lost business to Williamstown.

Dean Robert R. R. Brooks, relieved that a worthwhile settlement had been arranged, stated, "I am glad that the business has been returned to Spring Street and that it will provide employment for Williamstown people."

The officers of the Purple Cow cleaners are: Bill Eldridge, president; Ray Armater '48, vice-president; and Bob Mahoney, treasurer.

Record Notice

Due to the excess of exams, vacations, and brain fatigue, the Record staff is relaxing until February 21, at which time the favorite publication of Williams will re-appear.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editor in Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Copy Editor
Senior Associate Editor
Office Manager
Make-up Editor for this issue
Copy Editor for this issue

Editorial Board

J. David Maier, '48
Charles H. Klensch, '48
Borrett F. Emmert, '48
Robert A. Rupen, '48
Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
Ben B. Foster, II, '48
Seth M. Bidwell, '49
Robert S. Taylor, '49

Associate Editors

H. R. Platt '48, J. H. Schafer '49-F, W. R. Barney '49, S. M. Bidwell '49,
J. J. Cole '49, J. F. Dorsey '49, J. E. Pawlick '49 R. S. Taylor '49.

EDITORIAL STAFF

J. B. Gibson, '50 E. V. Gouinlock, '50 R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50
H. D. Mohring, '50 J. B. Shepardon, '50 P. W. Stites, '49
C. E. Utley, '49 H. Van Horne, '50

Sports Staff

M. C. Bhare '50, S. F. Blaschke '50, K. F. X. Delaney '50, W. V. M. Fowcett '50, J. G. Golding '50, S. Rabinowitz '50, W. P. Stern '50, N. S. Wood '50

Business Board

Business Manager, Acting Treasurer Arthur F. Dodd '48
Co-Adm. Managers Thomas Healy Jr., '50, Edward Stockhouse '50
Circulation Manager Dudley M. Irwin '50
Assistant Circulation Manager Oren T. Pollock '49

Volume LXI

JANUARY 28, 1948

Number 26

The Recent Merger

The recent merger of the Purple Cow Cleaners with George Rudnick, Inc. has aroused a great deal of adverse criticism. The RECORD feels this criticism is unwarranted and unfounded. Prior to the recent change, the Purple Cow Cleaners were a student organization which had their cleaning work done by a North Adams firm. The only change has been that the same work is now being done by a Williamstown firm.

The foundation of the objections to the merger seems to be a fear that now, with a virtual monopoly of the cleaning business of the college, Rudnick and the Purple Cow will resort to high prices and/or poorer service. Therefore there is a need of a second cleaning organization to provide healthy competition. But up to now there have been no monopolistic tendencies in Rudnick and the Purple Cow. We are very willing to join the chorus demanding healthy competition if and when these tendencies appear. But we feel that at this time a second cleaning establishment is not a necessity, that it does not fulfill the clause of "usefulness of the concession" under Dean Brook's proposed concession rules.

The next issue of the RECORD will be published Saturday, February 21.

Purple . . .

group of atomic researchers and educators that the cow was one of a herd of animals that had been browsing on grass grown on copper-deficient soil reclaimed from the peat and muck of Everglades swampland.

"When copper was fed artificially to the same animals they recovered from most of the disturbances, including a peculiar pacing gait and a propensity toward broken bones, which lack of the mineral produced. The purple cow, however, though she got an improved coat from the copper feedings, kept right on being purple."

In a letter to the Record, Dr. George K. Davis, head of the state nutrition laboratory, Gainesville, Florida, said, "It was a black cow suffering from copper deficiency, which resulted in a change in the color of the haircoat. It was a distinct lavender color."

Dr. Davis regretted to inform us that the cow has since gone to the abattoir, so there is no chance of Williams proudly displaying a true mascot at half-time. Nor is there the possibility that Williams Purple Cow magazine will install an electric milker on the second floor of Jesup.

The First "Purple Cow"

Everyone knows poet Gelett Burgess' gift to the literary world:

"I never saw a purple cow
I never hope to see one,
But this, I'll tell you anyhow,
I'd rather see, than be one."

In 1907 several enterprising students began a new magazine on campus. Being in a dilemma on the question of a name, reference was made to the poem and its title was given to the new creation because it was the most humorous and had no personal implications. In its first issue a sequel of Burgess' nonsensical piece of verse appeared:

"Who never saw a Purple Cow
Has now a chance to spy one
For we can tell you here and now
We'd rather sell than buy one."

A silly bit of jabberwocky to be sure, but none the less the name stuck through the years, while unimaginative students never gave much thought to the possibility that the accidents of nature might produce the real animal. But now in this cosmic age there has finally appeared what Williams has for years been grieved to find lacking — an atomic purple cow.

to see Captain Ahab simply as a man who got angry because a whale chewed off his leg? Or even more incredible, are we to accept Melville as the person who wrote that novel without being conscious of the enormous allegorical meaning — the universal meaning of what he was saying? In other words, just how did Melville feel about it?

Certainly, emotion is a vital necessity in any novel, and no novel can be at all successful without it. But Melville was writing about metaphysics, and it is inconceivable that anything in the book could overshadow for writer or reader what he had to say about it. He wrote with complete and ever-present understanding of what he was writing, employing, of course, the emotional "tricks of the trade" wherever they were needed. But these "tricks" are means to an end; they cannot be, as Mr. De Voto would suggest, the emotion, who can project himself into an emotional experience and who has a talent for building these experiences into convincing fantasies."

Reviewer . . .

Mr. De Voto also indicated that since the novelist, to some extent, "becomes the characters which he is writing about," his writing approaches a stream of consciousness type of expression. "There may be, of course, some Free Will present in the novelist's writing," he said, but as his lecture indicated, and as he himself stated later in the evening at a reception in the home of Prof. Roy Lamson, Mr. De Voto thinks "there is very, very little."

There would seem to be something lacking in this treatment of "The Novelist and the Reader." For example, examine Herman Melville's "Moby Dick"; are we

Uncle Eph's Worm Farm

by D. Light de Moon

THEY CALL IT SPRING STREET . . . We doff our earmuffs to Chief Royal, Williamstown's wandering protector of law and order, whose merits are only just beginning to be fully recognized by the public. When the Chief returned home last Friday night from the monthly conference of the Mass. Chiefs of Police Association, his familiar blue Pontiac was loaded with silver . . . service for six, awarded to the man who traveled the greatest distance to the confab . . . We caught the Chief taking forty winks during the opening half of Maggie Teyte's concert Tuesday night, but he seemed to perk up a little after an intermission with Ernie Mierjewski. But don't make the mistake of judging the Chief by this when he's on the job . . . Sinclair Lewis, comrade-in-arms of Bob Rupen in the fight against discrimination, has just returned to his home here to start research on his next book.

THEY CALL IT HUMOR . . . The following kernel was korned in the SRL by Bennett Cerf:

A very dignified lady walked into Ray Washburne's bookshop in Williamstown, and announced that she was looking for something "new and good" to read. Washburne suggested Pat Frank's "Mr. Adam."

"What's it about?" she asked.

"Well," said Washburne, "An atomic bomb suddenly renders every male in the world completely sterile — everyone but a single fortunate chap, that is, who was working deep in a mine shaft at the time of the explosion, and emerges with his powers unimpaired. You can imagine the spot in which he finds himself then!"

"It sounds very interesting," said the dignified lady. "Tell me, is it fiction or non-fiction?"

KIX AT THE FLIX . . . Our man Godfrey reports that the Wednesday nite opening of the new improved Walden Theatre was a gala (sic). While cheering and inordinately curious mobs of Williamsania stood outside in the cold to gaze at the visiting celebrities, a long black limousine pulled up to the curb. Two attendants sprang out and quickly unrolled a red carpet to the door, to which descended a striking trio. First-niters Sauve Bill McCredie and Continental John Dickens were straight from PIC, but the, buxom beauty between them was what caught our reporter's eye. This Brunhildian toast of the theatre crowd and her busts by Schlitz were draped in the latest New-Look style, tho the cut, material, and even the towels of their chauffeur-driven car for last which it was composed had not only an old but slightly used look.

Phi Delts McCredie, Aldeborgh, and Dickens as they stepped from their chauffeur-driven car for last Wednesday's premiere.

Once inside the emporium, the eager crowds who managed to trip down the primrose (courtesy of Metro, Golden, Mayer) path were treated to an hilarious Woody Woodpecker cartoon, the grand climax of which was a diabolical "Tit-for-Tat Machine", which could have only been invented by the combined genius of Rube Goldberg and Chas Addams. The selected short subjects included 'Ivy', a thriller.

WANDERING MALES . . . Hard luck story of the week concerns Steve Murphy, who ran his heap "Herman" into a snowbank outside of Springfield on the way home after a Sat. nite date at Smith and a little trouble with tangled bumpers. He spent the next two hours alternately digging snow with a bucket and trying to keep his hands and feet warm on Herman's engine . . . Also at Northampton were frosh wrestlers Bud Moody and Scrubby Perry who dropped over after beating their Mt. Herman opponents that afternoon . . . Add Bill Ward . . . Bob Taylor and Dick Morrill were picking up a few words of wisdom from JPB3 and Bernard DeVoto at Prof Lamson's party for the latter Thursday night . . . then there is the patriotic freshman who volunteered his services at the NA recruiting office last Wed. nite and decided too late that the Marines wouldn't be as nice as Williams.

MALES WONDERING . . . A box of Snickers to WMSers DeW. Morrill and Pete Bigler who may get their 'air nets untangled in time to play 'Yard by Yard' for the Second Coming . . . A box of Mars Bars to Phi Sig Vic Jevons and Chi Psi Jerry Page, the first of the new delegation of house pexies . . . It seems that Flaps Kelly was pursuing frabro Howie Green around the Psi U house awhile back with a supposedly empty shotgun. Retiring upstairs after failing to find his victim, hunter Flaps drew a casual bead on a fire extinguisher, pulled the trigger, and was amazed to see the target explode . . . Might be worth while staying around for the big h'party the Saints are planning between semesters . . . a big Wheel is rumored to be bringing Joan Caulfield . . . and sister Betsey.

WENDING OUR SPORTUOUS WAY . . . Jimmy Bekerous joined the skiers out on Sheep Hill Sunday afternoon for his second day on the flexible filers. The whole fresh-air crowd was off to the slopes at twelve noon Saturday, complete with five kinds of wax and forebodings about tomorrow. But frankly, the whole thing left us stiff. We've always been suspicious of these chateau athletes anyway.

final end in themselves.

Bernard De Voto may speak truly when he confines the average contemporary reader and writer to such narrow limits. If so, it is unfortunate. But what is more unfortunate is that a man in De Voto's eminent critical position will intimate so strongly that the whole field of fiction itself has no business outside these limits.

IRC . . .

None of the delegates were selected at the meeting.

It was announced that David B. Truman, Associate Professor of Political Science, will speak on "The Influence of Public Opinion on National Affairs" at the beginning of the coming semester.

MANCHESTER, VERMONT

4-SEASON RESORT — ON U. S. ROUTE 7
190 MILES FROM NEW YORK • 180 MILES FROM BOSTON

Stay
Worthy
Inn

Two major seasons
NOW OPEN YEAR ROUND
Good Food • Cocktail Lounge
$2.50 - $10.00 per day
American Plan
Special rates on longer stays

Ski
Snow
Valley

One of the finest skiing resorts in the East
2 LIFTS • 10 SKI TOWS
4 SKI TRAILS • 6 TRAILS
SKI SCHOOL • RESTAURANT

FOR INFORMATION, RESERVATIONS, 24-HOUR SNOW REPORTS PHONE
MANCH. 92 OR 94W; ALSO, SNOW REPORTS N.Y.C. (24-HR.) VA. 6-2550,
BOSTON, LI. 7070.

WRITE FOR COLOR BROCHURE "X"

Why wait in the cold for a bus to Mt. Mansfield?

We take you there free!

Extra Added Attractions —

Try our famous Mary Fiske Doughnuts.

VAN WYCK SKI LODGE
STOWE, VERMONT

What more could you want?

Eight room colonial house entirely modern with oil air conditioned heat. Two large lounges with fireplaces. Two baths with showers. Guest house adjacent with fireplace and bar (not Stocked). Three Car Garage. Can Accommodate 16 to 18 People. Rates . . . $4.00 per day which includes light breakfast. This Permits a $5.00 to $6.00 a day Budget. The arrangement of rooms will permit both men and women.

THE FINCA

Franklin Griffin.

Stowe, Vermont

NEW 4th LIFT
NOVICE
AREA

Ski
BIG Bromley

NON-SKIER
TOUR MT. IN
SNO-CAT TRACTOR

NEW COLOR MOVIES, rental FREE. 4-color folder. Snow reports,
NEW YORK (24 hr.) Columbus 5-2525. BOSTON, Liberty 7070.
Big Bromley, Box 226T1, Manchester Center, Vt. Phone 315.

MANCHESTER, VERMONT

WINTER SPORTS

50 Acres of Fun on the Grounds of
DUBLIN INN

Phone Dublin 110 Dublin, New Hampshire
Elevation 1250 feet — Plenty of snow

EASY TO REACH—

By Automobile—From Williamstown; Route 2 to Greenfield, Moss. 10 to Keene, N. H. 101 to Dublin, N. H.

2 hours from Boston 6 hours from New York
By Bus and Rail—Frequent and excellent service.

By Air—1 hour and fifty minutes from LaGuardia Field.

Dublin, New Hampshire —

Is a spot you will long remember. Its 160 year old Inn, full of charm and atmosphere. Comfortable guest rooms, private baths, fine cuisine, cocktail lounge.

Ski Lodge —

(Adjacent to the Inn)
Has sleeping accommodations for 48 guests—ample bath and shower facilities—furnace heat.

Rope Tow —

For quick service up the slope.

Ski Hut —

At head of Tow—warmth and refreshments

As You Prefer —

Tobogganing—sleigh riding—ice skating rink—flood lights—music.

Daily Rates —

THE INN—(American Plan)
Single Rooms—$10.00 - $12.00
Double Rooms—$18.00 - $20.00

THE SKI LODGE (European Plan)
$3.00 per person, meals a la carte.
ALL SPORTS — MINIMUM CHARGE

Middlebury Defeated By Williams, 41-30

Ditmar Sets Pace As Ephs Trounce Middlebury, 41-30

Purple Holds 21-13 Halftime Margin

Alert Defense Renders Blue Scoring Futile

by Jack Schaffer
Williams ran up and down the court and couldn't score, and Middlebury ran up and down the same court and couldn't do anything. Due to this happy-futility on the part of the opponents, the Williams varsity team won its third victory in eight starts, beating Middlebury College 41-30 on the Russell floor last Friday night, before 900 spectators.

If the visitors had been any good Burnett's team would have had their hands full. This was the second consecutive game in which the Purple have found it a major accomplishment to throw the ball through the hoop. However, Middlebury was so inept that the outcome of the contest was never in doubt and spectators could only hope that the Ephs would start hitting with their set shots.

Although this never transpired, everything else the Williams team did showed class. They handled the ball well, passed smoothly, and completely swamped the visitors' attempts at scoring with an alert defense. Middlebury, for its part, put up a zone defense, the first one seen by Williams this year. The team tried to break it down with set shots from outside, but was unable to hit with any regularity.

Ephs Always ahead
After four minutes of play, Williams was in the lead 5-0. George Ditmar, high man for the winners with sixteen, opened the scoring with a successful penalty toss, Bob Brownell hit with an angle set and Ralph Mason threw in another set shot. Middlebury finally grasped the idea and had Turnbull score on a lay-up. Kaufman countered with a tap-in, but Works pushed the Middlebury total to five with a field goal and a foul shot, as Ditmar registered the Williams eighth and ninth points with a one-hander from the foul circle.

After several minutes of wandering around, in which almost everybody took a crack at the bucket from the foul-line, Winsor narrowed the margin of difference to 9-7 with a lay-up shot. Jerry Page came back to convert Ditmar's pass, however, to start a Williams run of eight straight points. Ditmar scored from the foul line, Page followed with a lay-up on the quick break, and Brownell hit for a penalty toss and a set.

Nightingale, the big noise for Middlebury, finally broke in with a foul shot from the side after his team had gone six minutes without scoring. Brownell sent the count to 19-9 with a side set, whereupon the visitors scored on two field goals before Ditmar dropped a set as the half ended with the score 21-13.

Second Half Slow
Neither team seemed anxious to step up the tempo of the match as the second half started. It took three minutes for Middlebury to get a set shot and two fouls into the records, and, at the four minute mark, Ditmar tossed in an angle set and then a side push to put Williams in the van, 25-17.

Nightingale came in with a side set, which Page countered, by converting Brownell's pass. After Middlebury has scored two more from the floor to narrow the gap to four points, Burnett put in the five tallest men he could lay his hands on in an attempt to control the offensive backboard.

Williams Lead Lengthens
Jack Wideman then tossed in a short one-hander which was followed by Nightingale's lay-up with nine minutes to play. This was the last Middlebury field goal until the final minute.

It was during this period that Williams steadily widened its lead to the final eleven point margin. With the count 30-26, Ditmar threw in a long set, Page also dropped a set, and Ditmar hit with a push shot as Middlebury was being successful with two foul tries. Brownell continued the Eph surge with a nice lay-up shot, after which Jack Mason tossed in a penalty shot and Ditmar drove in a lay-up to end the Williams scoring at 41.

The score:

WILLIAMS
	FG	F	Pts.
Ditmar	RF	7	2	16
Bush		0	0	0
Fuzok		0	0	0
Mason, J.	LF	0	1	1
Mason, R.		1	0	2
Johnston		0	0	0
Page	C	4	0	8
Kaufman		1	0	2
Wideman		1	0	2
Brownell	RG	4	1	9
McWhinney		0	0	0
DeOnis		0	0	0
Cool	LG	0	1	1
Boldwin		0	0	0
Totals		18	5	41
Middlebury
	FG	F	Pts.
Trocy	RF	1	0	2
Mouer		0	0	0
Twambley		0	0	0
Turnbull	LF	1	0	2
Judson		0	0	0
Works	C	3	2	8
Winsor		2	4	8
Nightingale	RG	5	0	10
Whalen		0	0	0
Gradaine	LG	0	0	0
Stevens		0	0	0
Totals		12	6	30

Skiing On Sheep Hill

Art Dunmore negotiating the slalom course on Sheep Hill.

Williams Photo Service

Ski Squad Practices For Winter Meets: Brown Captain

Resuming action after exams, the ski-team will participate in four carnivals, highlighted by the Williams Carnival weekend on March 5-7.

The team will see action in the Dartmouth Carnival, the Middlebury Carnival, the Williams Carnival, and the Harvard Grand Slalom. In addition to these affairs, individual members of the team will enter the Eastern Downhill Championships.

Brown Captain

The team, coached by Landon G. Rockwell, is led by Captain Dick Brown, the team's best four-event man. Brown, Gordy Volkman, also a four-event man, Pete Finlay, and Case Prime, form the nucleus of the team. A fifth man, Gus Klein, counted on as a regular, was injured at Lake Placid early in the season, and is out of action. Also expected to see some duty are Rolo Palmedo, Tom Taylor, Peyton Mead, Bill Campbell, and Dick Merryman.

So far the team has entered two meets. Journeying to Lake Placid over the Christmas vacation for a ten-team meet, they ended up ninth. The Ephs were doing well until the jumping, where they were very weak.

Rutland Meet

On January 10, Rutland Junior College held a meet in which Williams, Dartmouth, Middlebury, University of Vermont, Rutland, St. Michaels and Norwich were entered. The results of this meet have not yet been released. The opposition here was very stiff, as Dartmouth and Middlebury have two of the best teams in the country.

Four teams, Yale, Amherst, Syracuse and Norwich, will definitely compete in the Williams Carnival, while Cornell and Wesleyan are also possible participants.

Carnival Schedule

The schedule for the Winter Carnival is: Friday afternoon: Cross Country at the golf course; Saturday morning: Slalom on Sheep Hill; Saturday afternoon:

Phi Delts, KA's Undefeated; Chi Psis, DU's, Zetes Tied

With only two games remaining to be played in both the Tuesday and Thursday intramural basketball leagues, KA and Phi Delt pushed their unblemished records to five straight last week by routing DKE and AD respectively. In the Tuesday League Sig Phi, Zeta Psi, and DU all eked out victories over their opponents. On Thursday Chi Psi and the Garfield won easily, while D Phi was hard pressed to win over the Phi Sigs.

The unbeaten Phi Delts won their fifth game of the year on Tuesday by conquering the second place AD's 30-16. The game was close through the first half with the score 9-7 in favor of the Phi Delts, but in the second half the AD's were out scored 21-9 bringing the final total to 30-16. There were no particularly high scorers in the game, with the points being well distributed throughout both teams. The Zetes nosed out the Phi Gams 24-22 in a thrilling game, thus tying them with the DU basketballers for second place, as the AD's lost to the Phi Delts. Humphrey was high scorer of the contest with twelve points for the victors.

DU by One

The DU team won the closest game of the afternoon by squeezing by a fighting Beta five by a score of 15-14. This win keeps the DU's in their second place spot. Bob Gleckner's ten tallies for the Betes almost gave them the win. Sig Phi won another close one over the Saints by the narrow margin of 15-13. The winners were paced to victory by the accurate eye of Pete Goodfellow, who was high scorer of the game.

The league-leading KA's of the Thursday League remained in top position this week by beating the second place Dekes 21-10 in a rather one-sided contest. This dropped the Dekes to third place, while giving KA its fifth victory against no defeats. The Ridall brothers again led the winners in the scoring with 10 points. A scrappy D Phi five won its first game of the year by nosing out the Phi Sigs by the slim margin of 16-14.

Chi Psi, Club Win

The battle for second place in the Thursday League took place between Chi Psi and Theta Delt, with the former emerging victorious 37-29. Dick Whitney paced the victors with thirteen points, while Chris Acker won scoring honors for the losers. The Garfield Club remained in third position by overcoming Psi U 28-19 in a game where the Club definitely held sway.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL STANDINGS

Tuesday League
House	W	L	Pct.
Phi Delt	5	0	1.000
DU	4	1	.800
Zeta Psi	4	1	.800
Alpha Delt	3	2	.600
Sig Psi	2	3	.400
Bete	1	4	.200
Psi Gam	1	4	.200
Soints	0	5	.000
Thursday
House	W	L	Pct.
KA	5	0	1.000
Chi Psi	4	1	.800
DKE	3	2	.600
Theta Delt	3	2	.600
Garfield	2	3	.400
Psi U	2	3	.400
Delta Psi	1	4	.200
Phi Sig	0	5	.000

$ SAVE $

The Berkshire Laundry Service is Proud to announce:

- 1) That in compliance with the requests of President Truman and Senator Taft (and Henry Wallace) OUR PRICE WILL BE LOWERED TO $26.00 FOR THE SPRING SEMESTER.*
- 2) That the installation of the newest equipment and the most efficient techniques at the laundry plant in North Adams will mean better service for you.
- 3) That we use the finest soap in our laundering process and we DO NOT USE SANI-FLUSH!!!
- 4) That the BERKSHIRE SERVICE has the following advantages:
 - 1) Deliveries and pickups to and from your room.
 - 2) Guarantee against any possible losses.
 - 3) The opportunity to withdraw at any time with proportional rebate.
 - 4) All socks are dried on stretchers to guarantee against shrinkage.
 - 5) Our flat rate service permits you to send as much laundry as you soil.

DO YOU REALIZE that a bundle consisting of the following items, if sent to the average commercial laundry once a week, WILL COST YOU OVER $30.00 PER SEMESTER:

- 4 shirts
- 3 undershirts
- 3 underdrawers
- 5 pr. socks
- 3 handkerchiefs
- 1 sheet
- 1 pillowcase
- 1 towel
- 1 face cloth
- 1 pr. pajamas
- 1 pr. dungarees, or
- 1 pr. pants, or
- 1 dress shirt, or
- 1 sweat shirt.

(brossieres extra)

Remember . . .

for $26.00* WE INVITE YOU to send as much dirty clothing as you like.

"The BERKSHIRE Boys thrive on dirt."

Remember our motto:

Discriminating women say, "We prefer men in 'Berkshire' laundered shirts."

'Berkshire' laundering gets lipstick on the collars and takes it off. —retsehcor '00.

If interested, contact us c/o P. O. Box 265, Town.

FIRST PICK-UP ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON — FEBRUARY 19, 1948! ! !
FIRST PICK-UP ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON — FEBRUARY 19, 1948! ! !

*—PRICE REDUCTION APPLIES TO SUBSCRIBERS PAYING BEFORE APRIL 15, 1948.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

ON SALE

G. W. Bass Ski Boots
Were $29.50 Are $25.95
$22.50 $18.95
$11.50 $9.95

Also Bass Loafers
On Sale

SALVY'S

Spring Street Tel. 600

SEE!

Thrilling • 65 Meter Hill

SKI JUMP CONTEST

Sunday FEB. 15 1 P.M.

Norwegian Stars

Canadian Champions • U.S. Experts

BRATTLEBORO VERMONT

Highest Prices

PAID FOR USED BOOKS

FEBRUARY 5th and 6th

Barnes & Noble Inc. of New York, one of the country's largest dealers in used college textbooks will be at our store on these dates to purchase all books, whether assigned at Williams or not.

Please bring in what you want to sell on these two days.

COLLEGE BOOK STORE

Spring Street

"SKIING THE AMERICAS"

By JOHN JAY, WILLIAMS '38

Now Back In Stock

Frank Elkins, ski expert of the New York Times, calls Jay's book "surely one of the most interesting and informative to appear in ski circles in the past decade."

$4.95

Wrestlers Rout McGill; Track Wins Mile Relay

Relay Team Triumphs At K of C Meet

Team Beats Amherst, Bowdoin, Wesleyan, In 25 Yard Victory

The 1948 mile relay team opened its season in the K. of C. Meet at the Boston Garden on Saturday night before over 12,000 track enthusiasts, with a decisive victory over the squads of Amherst, Bowdoin and Wesleyan in that order. Their time of 3:31.6 for the distance was a good clocking in their first competition and spoke well for the team's chances in the remaining meets.

Lionel "Beans" Bolin, running from the pole position, opened up an early lead for the Purple with a 53.5 seconds quarter-mile that started John Weeth on the second leg with a six yard advantage. Weeth proceeded to run an even faster, 53.0 quarter but with stiff opposition was only able to maintain the lead. Gordon Smith also outlasted the runners from the three other colleges with a 53.3 clocking that gave the baton to the Williams anchor man Kev Delany, with a three yard lead over Amherst, running second position.

Delany pulled away from Evans of Amherst after a lap had been run and won going away by about twenty-five yards. His time was caught at 51.8 seconds. Bowdoin finished ten yards behind the Jeffs to garner third place, while Wesleyan finished far behind the rest for a distant fourth.

The 3:31.6 performance of Coach Plansky's boys was a considerable improvement over their winning time of 3:36.2 in the same meet a year ago. However, they expect to encounter serious trouble in this Saturday's Millrose Meet at Madison Square Garden in New York in the form of some brand new opponents. The Ephmen won their Millrose effort last winter in 3:31.6.

Scottie Brooks, alternate for the relay team, entered in the star-studded fifty yard dash at Boston and was eliminated in his first heat.

The highlight of the meet to the sell-out crowd was the very successful, initial appearance of the season of U. S. mile king, Gil Dodds, who finished all alone in 4:08.4 for a new Boston indoor record.

Frosh Defeat Albany, 44-29

Larsen Top Scorer As Ephs Triumph Easily

Playing most of the game without the services of center Chuck Pusey, their injured scoring ace, the yearlings were behind 4-0 until Bob Larsen chipped in three points with a driving lay-up and a free throw. The remainder of the half was a see-saw battle in which the Albany zone defense and a six foot four inch hook shot artist Hadberg were almost more than a match for Larsen's underhand lay-ups and Dewey Fagerburg's consistently accurate one handed shots. The half ended with the Purple leading 17-15.

Chuck Pusey Returns

The second half was an entirely different story as the suddenly rejuvenated freshmen held the Academy five scoreless for the first seven minutes, while the ailing Chuck Pusey and the ever-present Bob Larsen penetrated the now ineffective zone at will. Then again, Bobby Coombs cleared the bench in an effort to keep the score down, while the Albany mentor threw in a willing but untalented six foot six giant to no avail.

The team still did not act like a co-ordinated unit but again was impressive by virtue of individual performances. Dewey Fagerburg contributed nine points while playing his finest game to date and Larsen and Jackson rebound-grabbers showed that they could control the boards even against superior height. Little Bill St. Clair's coolness and setshooting gave further assurance of the team's reserve strength.

Williams Box Score:

	FG	F	TP
Larsen	6	2	14
St. Clair	3	0	6
Brooks	0	0	0
Fagerburg	4	1	9
Zeller	0	0	0
Pusey, B.	1	1	3
Loney	1	0	2
Pusey, C.	3	0	6
Quinby	0	0	0
Jackson	0	2	2
Speck	0	0	0
Olesen	0	0	0
Fraser	1	0	2
Lynch	0	0	0
Manning	0	0	0
Totals:	19	6	44

The Middlebury Game

Jerry Page stretches as George Bush looks on.

Photo by Birchall

Muirmen Face Indians Here

Dartmouth Boast Powerful Squad

Riding the crest of a four-meet winning streak, the Williams swimming team plays host this afternoon at four o'clock to the Dartmouth Indians. The meet, by all indications, should be one of the best ones to be witnessed in the Lasell Gym pool this winter.

Coach Robert Muir, who has naturally followed the Big Green's doings with more than passive interest, said of the meet, "It will be the highest hurdle so far this season. It probably will not be decided until the 400 relay. I Indians Fleet

The won-lost record for the Indians is good. Claiming Bowdoin, R.P.I., Colgate, and Brown among their vanquished, they have lost only to the powerhouse Yale squad which doesn't seem to know the meaning of defeat. The trouncing of Brown was by two points less than the Purple's, but their mastery of the Bruins is demonstrated by the fact that at the end of the backstroke, Brown had only eleven points. Brown has thirteen against Williams two events earlier.

These figures carry little weight; See SWIMMING, page 6

Deerfield Beaten By Freshman Squash, 6-1

The Williams freshman squash team, undefeated to date, trounced Deerfield Academy 6-1 last Saturday in Williamstown.

Because of the depth and balance of the Eph squad, Deerfield won only the number one match, in which Bud Treman bowed to Charley Ufford in a five game struggle, 18-17, 7-15, 7-15, 15-13, 18-16.

Carey Bldgood, playing two for Williams, beat Len Adkins in four games 15-6, 11-15, 15-12, 15-6. In the number three match Bill Windle outlasted Win Hindle in another five game match to win 15-12, 15-9, 12-15, 16-17, 15-13.

In the remaining four matches Jack French, Tom Kent, Hank Van Anda, and Len Jacob all won easily for Williams.

Wrestlers Beat McGill, 35-0 Frosh Trounce Mt. Hermon

In two home meets last Saturday the Varsity wrestlers blanked McGill, 35-0, and the freshmen beat Mt. Hermon, 26-7. These meets constitute the second victory in as many contests for both teams and the term's schedule ends with an imposing record.

The seven-pin victory over McGill was as unexpected as it was impressive. After considerable delay, due to a late train, the Canadians started out badly by receiving three first period pins. Captain Paul Cook, wrestling at 128 lbs., dropped and pinned Gagnon in a half nelson body hold in 50 seconds.

Three Quick Pins
Hank Hall then took over the pace at 136 lbs. and pinned Corbett of McGill with a double reverse and bar arm in 28 seconds, a time which may well prove to be the season's record. In the 145 lb. class, Bill Leitzinger carried on to pin Herraro in 2 minutes, 28 seconds.

Grant North and Harry Neave then came out to pin Fleishman and Emond in second-period falls with times of 3 minutes, 21 seconds and 4 minutes, 8 seconds respectively. At 175 lbs. Chuck Blakney tallied the sixth Williams' fall over Ritcey in 1 minute, 50 seconds of the first period. It remained for "General" John Stillwell to complete the rout in the Unlimited class. He pinned Kowal Bud Moody won the Eph's second pin over Pamisch in the 165 lb. category. Grange Ottley, wrestling 25 pounds over his weight, fought Swanson to a draw which gave each team 2 points. The final tally was made when Falk was pinned by the Eph's Unlimited prodigy, Don Whitehead. A testimonial to the cub team is particularly due because the Mt. Hermon team has retained intact the aggregation that beat the '50 wrestlers last year, 26-10.

Completely Onesided
As McGill had no 121 lb. entry an additional five-point forfeit was offered. In view of the fact that Canadians do not have this class however, it was waived by Coach Ed Bullock. The onesidedness of the meet would indicate that McGill is just not in our class; actually its enrollment is ten thousand and they are noted for turning out top-flight teams.

Testimonial Due
Prior to the McGill meet, the freshmen downed Mt. Hermon by a decisive 26-7 score. Ken Moffat gained a decision from McArthur in the opening bout. At 128 lbs. Chuck Halleck was pinned by Jones, the opponent's captain. Scrubby Perry then pinned Barnes to regain the lead. Paul Shorb and Pete DeLisser beat Carridge and Smith by decisions.

How Do YOU Choose Your Laundry?

Quality? We specialize in doing shirts well, so that when the weekend rolls around you don't have to dig through your drawer to find a shirt that is right to wear. And shirts properly washed in soft water of just the right temperature, properly rinsed and ironed, last longer.

Cost? Our records show that most student customers spent LESS THAN $22 on laundry last semester, INCLUDING EXAM WEEK. You pay only for what YOU send and get in addition the best quality work and service.

Service? Bundles picked up when you wish — delivered to your room in three to four days. Emergency service when you need it.

When you have laundry or dry cleaning and want top quality, reasonable cost and quick service...

Let George do it!

PHONE 433 or Stop In At

George Rudnick, Inc.

Spring Street

We CALL and DELIVER

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY

The Egg And I

With

CLAUDETTE COLBERT
and
FRED MacMURRAY

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

Thunder In The Valley

with

LON McALLISTER
PEGGY ANN GARDNER
Matinee Saturday at 2:15 P. M.

SUNDAY & MONDAY

Somewhere In The Wind

With

DEANNA DURBIN
Continuous Show From 2:15
On Sundays

CHRISTMAS TREE INN

When skiing at Big Bromley or Snow Valley make the Christmas Tree Inn your home.

Tempting food, comfortable rooms and a congenial atmosphere await you.

Route 7, East Dorset, Vt. Walter Young, Owner, Manager required reading...

...for every man on the campus! PIC rounds out your liberal education with information on careers... sports... apparel... fiction. PIC brings you extra credits in entertainment with the latest reviews in music... records... stage... screen. Add PIC to your regular curriculum... It's your best magazine buy.

PIC, 122 East 42nd Street, New York 17, N. Y.

Enclosed find ☐ check ☐ money order for $1.50 for the one year special college subscription.

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____ COLLEGE _____

CITY _____ STATE _____

Subscribe NOW... only $1.50 per year

Lasell - - -

ance as the priest, Josiah Horton lacked only enough emotion and force. Much of this was not his fault, since he is given some of the most unfortunately written lines of the play.

Lesser Roles

James Dissell gave a very convincing characterization of Messenger, effectively conveying the necessary qualities of age, rusticity and petulance. His second, the Herdsman, as played by Harry Ess, said his lines in a most insipid and laxadical manner, giving the only performance of the evening which seemed totally inadequate. Richard Chinman, as the Second Messenger gave evidence of remarkable vocal power, and he should have been allowed to put it to effective use. Instead, he told a tale of the most consummate horror, as if in a trance, and this, while it might have been effective for the first part of his story, was completely incongruous as his climactic revelations reached their final pitch.

Garla Washburne and Betsy Bryant as the unfortunate daughters of Oedipus took their places with remarkable naturalness and effect, while Peter Mehlin led Tiresias about with the boredom which was natural for the role.

Chorus Suffers

Gerald O'Brien as Choryphaeus, Leader of the Chorus, gave his role the subdued quality which best fitted its relation of the play as a whole. The Chorus of Theban Citizens, made up by Theodore Lohrke, Richards Heuer, Stephen Birmingham, Russell Bourne, Malcolm Frazier, Llewellyn White and Andrew Heineman, faced one of the most difficult tasks in the play, and was perhaps most subjected to the limitations of an experimental production.

They achieved the prerequisite of clear intelligibility so absolutely necessary to the intellectual nature of the play, but here they stopped. Their vocal effect was

Oedipus Harangues Theban Citizens

Photograph by Jack Birchall
Oedipus (John Lasell) denounces the blind seer, (Steve Sondheim) to the chorus of Theban Citizens, headed by Jerry O'Brien.

that of monotonous shouting, except where individual voices and combinations were called upon, and these latter were not selected to give crescendos and diminuendos of power. Except in its faster beat, the joyful chorus was in no way distinguished from the others. Consequently, the emotional effectiveness of their commentary on the action of the play was nil.

Direction Skillful and Subtle

The direction of Mr. Bryant was brilliant for the most part in capturing the development of the play, and what was unfinished or inept could well be laid to the exigencies of time and means. An excellent balance in the groupings was maintained throughout the performance. Where mere placement would be inadequate, the lighting of separate acting areas was effectively and imaginatively carried out with remarkable variation of intensity, warmth and color.

Set, Staging, Lighting Praised

The set itself was of impressive simplicity, providing for a variety of levels which were dynamically utilized. Particularly with the great doors at considerable height, the set was exploited for thrilling effects on the entrances and exits of the principals. The combined possibilities of setting, staging and lighting were used with great skill and contributed enormously to the total effect of the production.

The costuming seemed designed for economy and ease. That of Jocasta was beautiful and dramatically effective and its color relationship with the rich red of Creon's symbolized their blood relationship, but those for Oedipus and the Chorus were unimpressive, the former lacking in regal splendor, and the latter inappropriately off the shoulder. The make-up would have had heightened effect if more imaginatively and plentifully employed, particularly to Oedipus' bleeding eyes, but Edward Fox was undoubtedly hindered by the experimental production budget, and used limited resources with considerable skill and ingenuity.

It is very gratifying that the play was a box office success though it seems unfortunate that this, of all productions, should have been skimmed for the sake of others.

Paragraphs In The News

The Veterans Administration, studying the situation of veteran-students in medical school, have drawn three important conclusions regarding the chances of such men to complete their training successfully. Med students have a better-than-average chance, says the VA, if they (1) obtained pre-med grades of B or better, (2) made particularly good grades in the natural sciences, (3) enrolled for medical training in the same educational institutions in which they took their pre-medical work.

Lennox Robinson, Irish playwright and director of the Abbey Theater, Dublin, will lecture at Galley 6 Williams February 19 and 20. Mr. Robinson has edited three volumes of Irish verse, and has written a novel, a volume of short stories, several biographies, and two autobiographies. Twenty-one of his plays have been presented, including "The Lost Leader" and "The Whiteheaded Boy", both popular in the United States.

WIDE TRAILS

No waiting. On HOGBACK T-BAR Lift 900 skiers per hour ride 2400 ft. Excellent Trails newly widened, some to 250 beginners Rope Tow. Les Billings Ski School.

Cafeteria, dining room service at lift. Town buses. Cleared state highways to area. Hotel, tourist accommodations nearby. Frequent metropolitan trains, buses. FREE FOLDER write Chamber of Commerce, Box W.

BRATTLEBORO VERMONT

Acres of Diamonds in Your Own Back Yard

BERKSHIRES Offer the best Skiing and it's right here

No Time Wasted Traveling!

For information about Berkshire Ski areas contact

THE BERKSHIRE HILLS CONFERENCE OFFICE

County Court House, Pittsfield, Mass. Telephone Pittsfield 2-7437

Up to the minute snow information of all the better ski areas can also be obtained any time of day at the Williams Inn. Ask while visiting the new skiers GAME ROOM or phone Williamstown 550.

SKI MORE AND TRAVEL LESS

DUTCH HILL

HEARTWELLVILLE, VERMONT

ALPINE LIFT — 5 TRAILS — RESTAURANT — NEW ROPE TOW

NEW OPEN SLOPES — PARKING AND
GORDON LOWE'S CERTIFIED SKI SCHOOL!

OPERATING DAILY

The BEST in Skiing ONLY 14 Miles From Williamstown, Mass.

FARNAMS SKI SLOPES

At Cheshire, Mass.

Practically in your backyard. Four Smooth Tows, Canteen, and parking by the first tow.

Tows start Saturday at 11 A. M. — Sunday at 10 A. M. — $1.50 all day.

SHEEP HILL

Only two miles South of Williamstown.

Run for and by Williams Students

Convenient, Fun, and popular.

BERNARD'S IN THE NOTCH—6 miles from Williams at the foot of Greylock. One Tow. Night Skiing.

CONLEY'S HILL—8 miles from Williams. At Clarksburg. One tow. Night skiing.

THUNDERBOLT SKI RUN—On Mount Greylock for expert skiers.

STONY LEDGE SKI TRAIL—6 miles from Williams on Mt. Greylock.

GOODELL HOLLOW—for the intermediate skier. 1 tow on Weekends.

BRODIE MOUNTAIN—10 miles from Williams. 3 tows Weekends serving smooth slopes. Canteen.

BOSQUETS SKI CENTER—Pittsfield. 10 tows, canteen, ski school.

PITTSFIELD STATE FOREST—N. W. of Pittsfield. Jump, trails and slope.

BEARTOWN STATE FOREST—South Lee. Canteen. 2 tows on Weekends.

OAK N' SPRUCE—between Stockbridge & Lee. Beginners tow. Ice-skating.

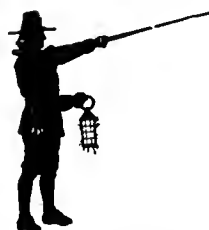

JACOB'S LADDER—E. of Lee on Rt. 20. 750' tow and Restaurant.

ABBEY HILL—2 mi. N. of Gt. Barrington. Tow for weekends and Sat. nite.

G-BAR-S-RANCH—Gt. Barrington. 5 tows op. daily. Canteen & Ski School.

OTIS RIDGE—Otis. 2 tows on weekends. Canteen, trails and slopes.

CATAMOUNT—Egremont. 6 tows serving trail and slopes. Ski School.

WILLIAMS INN

When recommending the above places to your friends, who will find the Berkshires nearer and better for Skiing, tell them about our skiing resort right here at the top of the Berkshires.

MOVING?

The world Moves
and so does
MULLEN

Agents AERO MAYFLOWER TRANSIT CO.

Call 890

80 State Street

North Adams, Mass.

If it's

BORDEN'S

It's got to be good

LADY BORDEN'S

ICE CREAM

105 HOLDEN STREET

PORTABLE
TYPEWRITER
HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corona

Underwood

Royal

108 Main Street
North Adams

Richmond
Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND
GRILL for the best in food,
drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

WHERE TO TAKE A DATE?

Easy — cocktails in the Ladies Lounge of the Williams Club, dinner in the Ladies Dining Room, (and what drinks and what a dinner!) After that you're on your own.

Just one among many reasons why the Williams Club is the meeting place of Williams Men in New York.

Some others:

Fine food at reasonable Prices in the Grill.

Theatre Ticket Service (with capsule critiques if needed) by Stanley at the front desk.

Good rooms for overnight, with special rates for Undergraduates.

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

Undergraduates Always Welcome!

SKIING PLEASURE

at

Auberge Hillcrest, North Hatley, Quebec

One of the newest and most select resorts in the Eastern Townships — Private 500 acres propriety — 14 well packed downhill and slalom runs and slopes that have been bulldozed for maximum safety, speed and thrills — Fine practice hills at your doorsteps — Four ski-tows — Lighted skating rink — Riding — Sleighing — Well known for its specialized cuisine — Spacious living room and colorful licensed Cocktail Lounge — Perfect for an unforgettable winter vacation.

For additional information

Write or phone Lennoxville 115

Hockey Rink - - - Foreign - - -

Director of Athletics, last week, while discussing tentative plans for the new hockey rink.

The enclosure, which will house the new playing area, will be similar to those at Dartmouth and Clarkson Tech, where snow is dumped inside the "shed" and then coated with water, which freezes over. Newspapers are sometimes used with the snow or in place of it.

Artificial Ice Costly

The Dean said that these rinks have proven extremely satisfactory. He added that the cost of installation and of upkeep involved in making and maintaining ice is prohibitive and makes any possibilities of it out of the question at Williams. Maintenance for one season alone runs from $6,000 to $8,000.

The site under consideration is the area beside the Cole field house which is used for intramural football and baseball games. A careful survey by "Whoop" Snively, hockey coach, revealed that this location is one of the coldest on campus. "Whoop" prefers this to other sites under consideration because of the proximity of locker-room facilities.

Mr. Sheehan said that new football and baseball fields for intrafraternity competition will be constructed on the land between the Lynde Lane tennis courts and the field house.

FAIRFIELDS FARM GUERNSEY MILK

D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

ALL TYPES OF
SKI BOOT REPAIR AT LUPO'S
Spring Street

LAMPS
FABRICS
RUGS
GIFTS

on the Bennington Road
just past Phi Gam

REMEMBER . . .

KING'S Package Store

When you want to stock up on the finest . . .

WINES
BEER
CHAMPAGNE

Open Daily Until 11 P. M.
Walden Theatre Building

leave from American institutions. The Basel program offers similar courses and additional provision is made in Basel for a limited number of science students.

Prerequisites

Two years of college German or its equivalent; the completion of the Sophomore Year in an accredited college or University; approval of student's major professor; and the recommendation of the student's dean or president are prerequisite to membership in the Junior Year in Zurich or in Basel.

Only students of good scholastic standing should apply. The Junior Year operates as a group abroad, and an agreeable personality coupled with an upright character is hardly secondary to academic achievements.

Approved by V. A.

These programs are approved by the Veterans Administration. Veterans transferring from an American institution to the Junior Year should apply for a supplemental Certificate of Eligibility and Entitlement from the Manager of the Regional Office having jurisdiction over the Veteran's present program.

The Junior Year, which begins September 16 and ends July 15, has no scholarship funds available for 1946-49. There is no opportunity for self-help while abroad.

Current opportunities for study issued by the American Council on abroad are outlined in bulletins College Study in Switzerland. For these bulletins and additional information address correspondence to the American Council On College Study In Switzerland, 1123 N. Eutaw Street, Baltimore 1, Maryland.

Swimming - - -

the important numbers are those designating the swimmers' times. And they are good. In some cases they are better than Williams', but on the whole they are very nearly the same.

Green and Purple

If Jackson, Urstadt, and Pettit handle the 300 medley relay for the visitors, the spectators can look for a split-second victory either way. Pettit and Pollack have been doing quite capably in the sprints, and Kroehler and Worthen are rumored to be fairly agile performers on the one-meter diving board. Solberg and Urstadt both turn in times in the neighborhood of 2:30 in the breaststroke.

The Purple, however, should be at full strength physically, and will have to be at full strength mentally. A victory in the medley relay, with Hank Wineman, Swede dorsing the turn-out, scoffed at the suggestion that the Record was responsible, pointing out that because the Class of F-1951 is composed of only two men, the attendance figure was not remarkable. According to class president Dalrymple, he and Pratt entered Williams in the fall of 1945 and attended one semester before entering the armed forces. Since they returned in October of this school term, they will complete their courses in February 1951.

Elections - - -

Svenson, and Chick Brashears swimming, would make the Muirmen's job easier. A 400 freestyle relay victory is almost necessary for triumph over the Indians. In short, if it is to win, Williams will have to be the strongest where it is already strong, — the distances, relays, and backstroke.

KRONICK'S
ESSO SERVICE STATION

CARS WASHED $1.50
POLISHING AND WAXING

State Road - Opp. Howard Johnson

D & D OFFICE SERVICE

Let D & D Do Your
Typing For You

Leave material to be typed at 85 Spring Street
next to the Alumni House
TEL. NORTH ADAMS 22

THE MUSICHOUSE

RECORDS - RADIOS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
PIANOS
34 Bank St. North Adams

WE WILL LUBRICATE
YOUR CAR
THE FORD WAY

The Smith Baker Co.
INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS

SUGGESTED BY
DUKE C. WILLARD
UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

"Just as I reached my boiling point I gave the chef a pack of Dentyne. That got me out of the royal stew fast! Naturally—because Dentyne's keen, delicious flavor always makes friends fast! Dentyne also helps keep teeth white!"
Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

FOR A HOT MEAL ON THESE COLD DAYS,
THE PLACE TO GO IS
THE COLLEGE RESTAURANT

if you won't be back
next term . . .

- security
- good pay
- advancement
- retirement plan
- free health care
- education
- travel

Facing the future with uncertainty? Here's your chance for security with high income and the finest retirement plan. The new Army and Air Force offer unprecedented opportunities for young men with the capacity for leadership. Your college training will help you get swift advancement. Veterans will get full credit for previous service experience in assignment, rank and rate of pay. College level courses offered through the Armed Forces Institute will enable you to round out your education. Talk over the advantages of this depression-proof career with your faculty adviser or local recruiting officer today.

U. S. ARMY AND AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE

Post Office Building
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.
116 John Street, N. Y. C. Beekman 3-4730

Top of the deck Record!

It's MONICA LEWIS' top Decca recording
... "The Gentleman Is a Dope"

HER MONIKER is Monica (Lewis, that is)...and she has one swell set of pitch pipes. When it comes to cigarettes — well, let Monica sing it: "Camels are my choice — they suit me to a 'T.'"

Millions of smokers agree with you, Monica. That's why more people are smoking Camels than ever before! Try Camels! Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience!"

AND HERE'S ANOTHER TOP RECORD —

More people are smoking
CAMELS
than ever before!

CAMELS are the choice of experience with me!

Monica Lewis

B. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company
Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Len Watters Signs To Coach Football Sunday Dinner At Club Highlights Reunion

More Than 300 Alumni Form Largest Gathering In History

Activities Include Initiations, Smoker, Meetings, and Sports

The alumni dinner at the Garfield Club tomorrow noon will be the high point of the annual Midwinter Reunion and will spotlight the presentation by President James P. Baxter, 3rd, of the James C. Rogerson Cup, the Belvidere Brooks Memorial Medal, and the Meredith Wood Cup.

The more than 300 alumni who are expected to attend will make the banquet the largest held since the first reunion in 1931. Reunion Chairman Albert V. Osterhout announced this week.

To Hold Smoker
Other weekend activities include alumni meetings, fraternity initiations, and athletic contests. A new faculty-alumni smoker to be held at the Faculty Club after Chapel services tomorrow evening will be an event never held before.

Coaches Robert Muir and Tony Plansky will be guests of honor at the Sunday luncheon. Congressman Charles A. Halleck (R.-Ind.) will attend with his son, Charles Halleck '51.

Cup to 1914
The Meredith Wood Cup will be awarded to the class of 1914 for the highest percentage of contributors to the Alumni Fund in 1946-47. Clyde Deane will receive it in place of Class Agent Clinton S. Van Cise, who will not be present. The Belvidere Brooks Memorial Medal will be presented to the member of the football team whose play during the season "has been of the greatest credit to the College." Last year's winner was Patrick A. Higgins F-'49.

The James C. Rogerson Cup and Medal will be awarded to an alumnus or member of the senior class "for service and loyalty to the College and for distinction in any field of endeavor." Carlton Overton '16, a Trustee, was honored last year.

The oldest person to attend is former Alumni Secretary E. Herbert Botsford '82, who now lives in Williamstown.

Drive Needs $1,600,000

Baxter, Sheehan Talk With Alumni Groups

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Williams Alumni Association at the Harvard Club in Boston, February 6, President James P. Baxter III announced that approximately $900,000 has been collected in the current Building and Endowment Fund drive. The first million dollars contributed toward the $2,500,000 fund goal will be used to increase faculty salaries, President Baxter told the 175 alumni attending the meeting.

Sheehan Speaks
Walter F. Sheehan, Dean of Freshmen and Director of Athletics, spoke at alumni meetings in Syracuse and Rochester February 10 and 11 on behalf of the fund drive, and President Baxter addressed an alumni gathering at Wilmington, Delaware, February 12. Several other talks by College officials for the benefit of the drive are scheduled for alumni meetings throughout the country in the near future.

Among those present at the Boston meeting February 6 were Charles B. Hall '15, President of the Alumni Society and National Chairman of the fund drive, and Trustees Morris B. Lamble, Arthur J. Santry, and Lewis Perry. Albert Vinal, president of the Boston Alumni Association, presided over the meeting, at which John B. Clapp '18 was elected president for the next year.

Brooks To Speak At Labor Confabs

Accepts Middlebury, Wesleyan Invitations

Dean Robert R. R. Brooks has accepted an invitation to speak at Wesleyan University during a conference to be held March 11-12 to discuss the problems of Labor-Management Relations. Dean Brooks will be moderator for the panel considering the topic of "Man Versus Machines."

An annual institution at Wesleyan since 1924, this year's discussions have been designed to stimulate the student's awareness of the economic world. The field of labor-management will be considered from as many points of view as possible. Lectures given at the conference will cover the specific issues of the Taft-Hartley Bill as well as the more general economic, social, and political implications involved. "Man Versus Machines" will deal with technological progress as viewed from both the labor and management points of view.

Following lectures by the two other men on the panel representing the affirmative and negative sides of the topic, Dean Brooks will present a short summary of the subject and then encourage an informal discussion between his two fellow speakers.

Dean Brooks has also accepted an invitation to participate in a similar conference to be held April 24-25 at Middlebury College. The discussion there will be concerned with "Man's Quest for Freedom and Security."

Fortune Publicizes Edowment Fund

Sixteen Colleges Ask More Than Williams

The Williams College Building and Endowment Fund was cited in an article on the fund raising problems faced by the nation's schools, colleges, and universities, in the current issue of Fortune.

Sixteen colleges in the Fortune survey have asked for more money than Williams, which is "bursting at its seams with deficit-making students." Although amounts ranging from three to eighteen millions are desired by other colleges, even these seem insignificant when compared with university goals such as Northwestern's aim of $168 million or Columbia's goal of $100 million.

Heating Plant Pictured

A full-page picture of the Williams heating plant included in the article was captioned with a quotation of President Baxter's remark that inflated coal prices had cost the equivalent of the salaries of two full professors, two assistants.

Nineteen Men Earn Degrees

F-1948 Graduates Without Ceremony

Nineteen seniors, constituting the Class of F-1948, completed their Williams College undergraduate work with the passing of midyear examinations. No graduation exercises were held for these men, but the members of the class have been given the choice of either procuring their diplomas at the Treasurer's Office at once, or returning in June to graduate formally with the other members of the Class of 1948.

The graduates are all veterans of World War II, five of them having been associated with the V-12 training program. All but one of the remaining fourteen students were formerly members of some other class, but had their college careers interrupted by wartime service in the armed forces. Eight of these men are now married.

No Formal Graduation

Although there were no formal graduation exercises, the members of F-1948 attended a dinner at President Baxter's house Saturday, February 7.

Five members of the class plan to go on to graduate schools for specialized study, while eight others are definitely placed in jobs. The remaining six students are still considering a number of offers for employment in various fields. The positions already accepted by members of F-1948 are in such varied spheres of activity as law, insurance, the oil business, and in one case, professional football.

Mid-Year Graduates

The members of the Class of F-1948 who have finished College at this time are: Samuel J. Brinton, Jr.; William E. Carl; David P. Clarendon; Alan H. Clark; James A. Cooper; Robert D. Coye, Jr.; Richard E. Ely; Robert J. Grogan; Clifford H. Hall; Patrick A. Higgins; Richard T. Johnson; Richard T. Killian; Denham C. Lunt, Jr.; Frederick H. Norton, Jr.; Arthur B. Silverman; Arthur L. Stevenson, Jr.; John L. Tyler; William R. Wood, Jr.; and Gordon S. Youlden.

Pastors Lead House Talks

Embassy To Feature Religious Discussions

The annual Williams Christian Association Embassy will feature a program of informal, religious discussions on Monday and Tuesday of next week in the social units.

The guest speakers, who will lead after-dinner talks at each of the fraternity houses on religion's contemporary importance, are mostly Williams graduates who represent every type of experience in the ministry. The program will start formally at a Sunday evening meeting at the home of Chaplain A. Grant Noble for those interested in the ministry.

Two Teas

The Embassy will also include two teas on Monday and Tuesday afternoon to be given by President and Mrs. Baxter and the Reverent and Mrs. Noble.

The Rev. William E. Par, D.D. '30, will lead the panel discussion on the ministry as a vocation Sunday evening, assisted by Mr. Lawrence Whittemore '39, Mr. William Schram '43 and the Rev. Sidney W. Goldsmith, Jr. Dr. Park, is president of the Northfield School, while Mr. Schram and Mr. Whittemore both served in the Army during World War II and are now in theological school.

Other Leaders

Other Embassy leaders include men of varied experience. The Rev. Charles Taylor '21, is Dean of the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge. The Rev. A. Graham Baldwin '25, is the Chaplain at Phillips Academy in Andover, Massachusetts. The Rev. Robert Metters '34, Rector of Emmanuel Church, Boston, served as a navy chaplain during the last war.

Mr. Trevor Hoy '43, served in the war and is now in his junior year at the Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge. The Rev. George Beilby is Pastor of the First Congregational Church, Williamstown, and The Rev. Malcolm Eckel is the Assistant Headmaster at the Darrow School, New Lebanon, New York.

Vocational Lecture Series Features Several Talks By Noted Williams Alumni

Ten Williams alumni will deliver a series of nine Monday evening vocational guidance talks in the social units during the spring term, William O. Wyckoff, Director of the Placement Bureau, disclosed Tuesday. Arrangements were made by Mr. Wyckoff and Henry L. Halsted III '48, UC representative for the lectures.

Vocational Poll Taken

The series will commence at 7:30 on Monday, March 1, and will be open to all undergraduates. "I want the students to know," said Mr. Wyckoff, "that this is not just for seniors. It's for men in all classes."

At the suggestion of the Undergraduate Council, Mr. Wyckoff recently polled the classes of '48 and '49 to determine the vocations of most interest to them. The ten most popular vocations as indicated by the poll will be discussed by the alumni.

Advertising heads the list, and the opening talk, scheduled to be

Exhibits LIFE Pictures

"The Age of Enlightenment," a photographic exhibit on the intellectual and social ferment of 18th century France, is on view at the Lawrence art museum through February 29. The display has been lent by Life Magazine.

Organized under three main sections — Versailles, Paris, and the Age of Crisis — the exhibit is a pictorial presentation of one of the great periods in the history of western culture.

Also on view is an exhibition of enlarged photographs of architecture entitled "The Genius of Louis Sullivan" lent by the Museum of Modern Art in Boston. The museum is open from 9 to 12 o'clock and 2 to 4 daily, and Sundays from 2 to 5.

Two Amendments Alter Honor Rules

13 Represent Student Body At Ratification

Two amendments were added to the Honor System Constitution at a meeting of the College, conducted by John N. Wilson '48, president of the Honor System Committee, January 27.

Both amendments were passed by a unanimous vote. Six students were present to vote on the first of the two amendments. Seven more arrived in time to vote on the second. Of the nine members of the Honor System Committee, three were present at the meeting.

Technical Violations

The first of the two amendments changes the action which the Committee may take in the case of a technical violation of the Constitution with extenuating circumstances. The necessity for this change came up before the Committee which involved a technical but not a willful, violation of the Constitution. Under the former arrangement, the Committee had no alternative other than to recommend the separation of the student from College. The new amendment makes the following clause a part of Article IV, Section 1:

"In case of fraud by a member of the Senior, Junior, or Sophomore class..."

See HONOR, page 3

White Plains Mentor Has 3-Year Pact

Baxter To Introduce Noted Team Builder At Alumni Luncheon

Len Watters, who built up the White Plains, New York, High School football team from obscurity into one of the top three secondary school teams in the country, has signed a three-year contract to coach the Williams eleven, it was revealed in an advance release to the Record from Pres. James Phinney Baxter, 3rd. Under the contract, which begins July 1, Coach Watters will also assist in the physical training program and baseball.

President Baxter stated that Coach Watters would make his first official appearance here at the Alumni Luncheon Sunday afternoon.

Commenting on the appointment, the President was confident that the appointment was "a very wise one." He said: "Mr. Watters has had a wealth of experience in coaching and seems admirably qualified, both in character and ability, for the important post he will hold with us."

Teams Noted For Power

Watters was described in a Saturday Evening Post article last November as a perfectionist, whose teams have long been noted for their fine conditioning, and their complete mastery of fundamentals. Since his introduction to White Plains, his teams have won eight Westchester County Interscholastic Championships, and are regarded as powerful offensive teams.

In 1946, the White Plains aggregation rushed the ball more than two miles, running up 288 points. It never allowed its opponents to cross the goal-line by rushing, and allowed only thirty-six points scored against them. Last year, White Plains racked up over 300 points for the season, and its one defeat, suffered at the hands of Bridgeport, was a moral victory for the home team. Bridgeport gained 74 yards to White Plains' 527.

Played With Boynton

Born in Dubuque, Iowa, Watters learned his fundamentals at South Bend High School, Indiana. He attended Springfield College where he captained the 1921 football team in his senior year. After graduation, Watters joined the Buffalo team of the National Football League where he played on the same team with Williams immortal Benny Boynton.

Following his professional career, he went to White Plains in 1929, where he has remained the last nineteen years, except for three years in the Navy. Watters served with Capt. Tom Hamilton in the Naval Bureau of Personnel, and coached the Naval Air Station team at Bunker Hill, Indiana, which won nine games — losing only to the Iowa Sea Hawks during the 1944 season.

GOING ABROAD?

Movies of last summer's European program of the Experiment in International Living will be shown at 8 p.m., February 24 in Jeap. Donald B. Watt, Ell field representative will comment on the movies and answer questions on travel abroad this summer. The program is sponsored by the Williams National Student Association Chapter.

ALUMNI SCHEDULE

- Saturday
8-12 a.m.—Alumni invited to attend classes.
9-45 a.m.—Exec. Comm. meeting, Jesup.
10 a.m.—Regional Alumni Association representatives meet, Jesup.
2-30 p.m.—Basketball, with Amherst, Lasell.
3-30 p.m.—Swimming, with Bowdoin, Lasell.
4 p.m.—Wrestling, with MIT, Lasell; Squash, with Army, Squash Courts; Hockey, with Harvard, Cole Field.
4 p.m.—Nominating Comm. for Alumni Trustees, Jesup.
7 p.m.—Reunions at Social Units.
Sunday
10-30 a.m.—Alumni-Undergrad. Squash match, Squash Courts.
1-30 p.m.—Alumni Luncheon, Garfield Club.
7-30 p.m.—Chapel service, Rev. Wm. E. Park '30, President of the Northfield Schools will preach.
8-30 p.m.—New Faculty-Alumni Smoker, Faculty Club.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editor in Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Copy Editor
Senior Associate Editor
Office Manager
Make-up Editor for this issue

Editorial Board

J. David Maier, '48
Charles H. Klensch, '48
Barrett F. Emmert, '48
Robert A. Rupen, '48
Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
Ben B. Foster, II, '48
William R. Borney, '49

EDITORIAL STAFF

J. B. Gibson, '50
H. D. Mohring, '50
C. E. Utley, '49
E. V. Gouinlock, '50
J. B. Shepordson, '50
H. Von Horne, '50
R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50
P. W. Stites, '49

Volume LXI

FEBRUARY 21, 1948

Number 27

"Bon Voyage"

With the announcement that Len Watters is to be the new Williams football coach, the time has come for rosy optimism and good wishes. The Record wants to join the chorus and sincerely wish Coach Watters all the luck in the world. He is an excellent coach with an excellent record. But he will have to face many not-so-rosy facts and figures about the Williams football situation.

In some ways a comparison between White Plains High School and Williams College is not valid. In every case there are extenuating circumstances and logical explanations for the differences. But these do not eliminate the validity of the facts and figures.

An article about Coach Watters in the November 22, 1947, issue of the Saturday Evening Post devotes a complete paragraph to the statement that "in 1928, the team lost all but one game on its schedule." Williams can go that one better. Last year White Plains had 135 boys in uniform with 65 surplus candidates standing by. Williams had 60 men in varsity uniforms. The fact that the gate receipts in 1946 for the White Plains team came to $17,000 in four home games is explained by the size of their stadium — seating capacity 11,000, with standing room for 5,000 more. Weston Field, with extra seats, can be packed up to 6,000. But the most important point in this line is the Post's statement that fans "turn out in large numbers to view the daily practice sessions."

During games, White Plains sports an $5 piece marching band and 35 cheerleaders. Perhaps this falls in the category of unnecessary spectacle, but it is at least indicative of the spirit of the students. The Williams band, not quite $5 strong, decided not to march last season. At the end of the season each letter man on the White Plains squad receives, at a banquet in their honor, a sweater and a gold football. Thanks to the recent efforts of the President of the Purple Key Society, award winners at Williams now get a handsome chenille letter instead of the faded felt one formerly awarded.

Most of our "not-so-rosy facts and figures" have been little things. But they are enough to make a coach's life difficult. The Record feels confident, however, that despite difficulties Coach Len Watters will do for Williams what he has done for White Plains — put a well-coached, spirited team on the field for every game.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I send you the enclosed check for $5 (in payment of my current subscription) with regret. The delay is entirely due to the regret. And the regret is entirely due to my failure to find in any issue I have yet read anything worth the $5.

The continuous and equally tiresome expressions of the evidently filthy mind of a certain Josiah Horton seem to be the chief stock in trade of your editorial policy. Probably the lowest level of this peculiarity was reached in his attempted desecration, in a recent issue, of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" — a story that is almost sacred to all lovers of really good literature. One need not be surprised that Comrade Horton would try to drag this down to his own level of thinking. But one can be surprised and disgusted that anyone who edits (and therefore probably controls the standards of) "The Newspaper of Williams College" would so far forget the responsibilities of that privilege.

Permit me to recommend that the enclosed $5 be used for the purchase of a small vacuum cleaner and that the same be presented to Comrade Horton with the compliments of this subscriber and with the recommendation that he should apply it to both his pen and his mind. It should be by its name particularly effective in both areas.

Very truly yours,

Richard Gurley

January 29, 1948

The Rectory
St. Martin's Church
Radnor, Pa.

(For Columnist Horton's reply to these charges, see Column 2 on this page. Ed.)

To The Editor Of The Williams Record:
Sir:

The Undergraduate Council's resolution on campus discrimination seems to this one alumnus to be a wee bit blind in one eye. It asks trustees to abolish any discrimination by the college which is fine and probably gives the UC a virtuous feeling. Then it "looks with favor on any action the fraternities may take on discrimination."

But you the fraternities are the source of 99 1/2% of the discrimination which exists, and the college the source of less than half a percent. What action do you expect any fraternity to take against discrimination? I recall a conversation in my senior year, when we were considering the list of the incoming freshmen class and discussing whom to invite up to our house. There was one name like Papadopoulos, or whatever, an obvious Greek name. Said one senior, "Let's have him up." Said another, "Oh, we can't ask him." Said the first, "Why not?" Said the second great mind, "Why he's impossible, he's a Greek." And the other bird remarked to me recently, "You know, it was 25 years before it crossed my mind that we were a Greek letter fraternity."

Likely enough, things have changed since then. But it gives an outside observer curious twinges to read about the council moving against discrimination in the midst of 14 or 15 social groups which exist wholly by being exclusive and discriminatory.

R. W. Riles, '17

January 23, 1948
South Kent, Conn.

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

Not long ago I wrote an article entitled "How to write Perfectly Nasty Letters." It has borne its fruit. (See Letters to the Editor). Now that the writer of the letter has absorbed the principles of writing nasty letters, it is only fair that I — as his teacher — show him how to answer them.

For the sake of argument, let us assume (it is an academic proposition, of course) that I am the "certain Josiah Horton" referred to in Reader Gurley's letter. Here is an example of a poor answer:

My dear Reader Gurley, you old bluenostril,

Just where do you get off writing such a letter to the Record? There are a few points in your pointedly pointless letter which can stand being taken up. First of all, your lame excuse for not paying a bill which is four months past due, is that you have not read in any issue of the Record anything worth the $5 you promised to pay us. Anytime the Record prints, in any single issue, anything that is worth $5, even at the current rate of exchange, you'll pay $5 for the issue — not for the entire subscription.

As for the "continuous and equally tiresome expressions of the evidently filthy mind of a certain . . .", I can only say, "Phaugh!" Please do not quote me. It was indeed a shock to learn that my mind is evidently filthy. I've tried so hard for years to make it subtly filthy.

It is surprising to know that you consider CUM GRANO SALIS "editorial policy" since I haven't followed the Record line on the problems of the Weston toilets or the Library lighting system. I am encouraged by the knowledge that my several campaigns for improved campus and world conditions have assumed such proportions in your mind.

You say I made an "attempted desecration" of Charlie Dickens' "A Christmas Carol." Actually my desecration was rather complete. I thought. And perhaps it made one or two poor idiots laugh — which is not something Dickens would have disapproved of.

Concerning that nonsense about "a story that is almost sacred to all lovers of really good literature," may I say that CUM GRANO SALIS, which you attempt to desecrate in your letter, is almost sacred to all lovers of really lousy literature. We outnumber you considerably, and we may demand an apology!

And please don't call me Comrade, comrade. That stuff is fine in the Party meetings, but our movement hasn't come out in the open yet, you know. My friends call me Josie.

I was surprised — although not disgusted — to learn that I edit and control the standards of the Record. I take that back — I was disgusted. I was grossly insulted by the insinuation that I am in any way responsible for what happens outside this column.

The crowning blow is your recommendation that we take the $5 which we have been waiting for so breathlessly, the $5 which will keep our office staff from starving, the $5 which is to pay for your Record subscription — and buy a vacuum cleaner. What a cad to suggest such a thing!

My only objection to your final crack is that I didn't think of it first. It's very good.

Yours very truly,

(signed) Josiah T. S. Horton

Good heavens! Anyone who would send a letter like that to Reader Gurley wouldn't be worth a last week's Chapel card. This then is the type of letter I should write in answer to Reader Gurley's letter — were I this Horton person:

Dear Sir:

It is with great rejoicing that the Record received your letter which we are publishing at the earliest opportunity. You are absolutely right in your statement that nothing in the Record is worth $5. We hate ourselves for it, but people keep paying $5 for our acknowledged inferior product and we keep dishing it out.

It was certainly with no conscious attempt to desecrate that I set my evidently filthy mind to work on Charles Dickens' great story that is sacred to all lovers of really good literature. It was rather with the thought of elevating my own level of thinking — by association with an author who is respected by the Williams College English Department and Lionel Barrymore.

Because of your kind interest, Horton shall become sanitized. I shall fill the space with quotes from "Gulliver's Travels" and Joyce's "Ulysses" and the "Song of Solomon" and various Restoration comedies — works which are almost sacred to all lovers of really good literature.

Enclosed please find a bill for $265. I used your kind remittance of $5 as a down payment on a Hoover (it beats as it sweeps as it cleans) housecleaning system. I tried your first suggestion — a small vacuum cleaner — but as I was trying to reach a remote filthy corner of my mind it was sucked in by a counter vacuum and got lost. Besides, I'm really big enough for the large size now.

Thank you and write again real soon.

Yr oblgd fnd & hbl obt svt,

(signed) Josie Horton

Uncle Eph's Worm Farm

by D. Light de Moon

ALUMNI NOTES . . . There's one alumnus we're pretty sure won't be back for the Reunion this weekend — he's Carl Aldo Marzani '35. BMOG (Garfield prexy, Gargoyle, Phi Beta), former OSSer, and State Dept employee who was denied his appeal from a 1-3 year stretch for "falsely denying he had ever been a member of the Communist Party." He had been with State Dept Intelligence four years when he denied his Party affiliation in the Federal witch-hunt in June 1946. In trying to get a little more background on Marzani, our researcher found that someone (probably with a thot of The Good Name of the College) had ripped his picture and history from the Record's 1936 GUL.

SPORTUOUSLY SPEAKING . . . The Ski Team ignored the spring weather this week — except for special wax jobs — and went out for time trials. If this weather hangs on long enough, maybe they can work up a Sun Valley routine for "Winter" houseparty and go shussing thru the slush in bathing suits and dark glasses . . . one group of skiers who really had it rough between semesters included John Aldeborgh, Joe Mason, and Norm Olsen who missed their ski rack and three sets of boards after a return trip from Skidmore. They pounded back along the trail again, scanning the snowbanks on both sides. The search ended many miles up the road at a stretch of hickory splinters. And that isn't all . . . on their second return trip they had two blowouts just around the corner from home.

FACULTY FLASHES . . . Responsible for the recent campaign to get signatures on the petition to Congress for passage of the Marshall Plan are JPB3 who heads the local of the New England Committee, and members Dean Brooks, Joseph Johnston, and Mrs. Donald Richmond . . . There was a hot time at Prof. Nin-Culmell's home a week ago Sunday when a fire, resisted by the Gale Hose Co, burned $1000 worth of shingle roof.

"She'll snap right out of it as soon as she gets her Dentyne Chewing Gum."

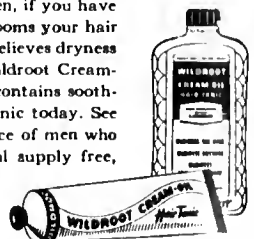

"I wouldn't have to put on this sleepwalking act if that dopey husband of mine would remember to bring home delicious, clean tasting Dentyne Chewing Gum with the rich, long lasting flavor. A lot he cares that Dentyne helps keep my teeth white."

Dentyne Gum — Made Only By Adams

NEW WAYS TO MAKE THE FAMOUS FINGERNAIL TEST!

If you're not the athletic type, get yourself a Siamese twin to doodle your noodle. Then, at the first sign of dryness or loose dandruff, head (get it?) for the drug store for a tube or bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. Just a little bit will help you get ahead (get it again?) with women, if you have nothing better to do. Wildroot Cream-Oil grooms your hair neatly, naturally — without that gooey look. Relieves dryness and removes embarrassing loose dandruff. Wildroot Cream-Oil is non-alcoholic. Remember, however, it contains soothing Lanolin. Try Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic today. See for yourself why it's "again and again the choice of men who put good grooming first!" For generous trial supply free, send this ad with your name and address to Wildroot Co., Inc., Dept. C-B, Buffalo 11, New York.

It's new!

It's the talk of the campus

It's "comfort contour" collar styling

Here's "Comfort Contour" the new marvel of collar styling, now featured on all Van Heusen shirts. Low-setting, neater, smarter, it's making the grade on every campus from coast to coast. You'll find it on fine white shirts and exclusive Van Heusen patterns, all Sanforized, all laundry-tested, in your favorite collar models. $3.50, $3.95 and $4.95. PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., NEW YORK 1, NEW YORK.

You're the man most likely to succeed in

Van Heusen Shirts
TIES • SPORT SHIRTS • PAJAMAS

Williams Co-op

New England Student Group Backs Wallace

The two Williams representatives to the New England Students For Wallace conference held at Cambridge Saturday, February 14, Carl Markel '49, and Donald Merwin '50, returned to College Monday with increased enthusiasm for the part they believe student groups can play in launching a new third party. The conference was attended by 200 delegates from more than twenty New England colleges and universities.

In the keynote speech, Harvard Professor F. O. Matthiessen told the delegates that the energy of the Wallace Third Party supporters could be wasted if their only purpose were to elect Wallace in 1948. He emphasized that the real significance of the movement was the formation of a liberal party in the country. He stated that contrary to the contention of many commentators, the Third Party was turning out many voters in the elections who do not support either of the major parties and now stand.

Wallace Message Read

A message from Henry Wallace, read to the delegates, warned that a widespread attack has been launched upon academic freedom and blamed it on bi-partisanship in American politics, according to the report of the conference in the Boston Sunday Herald.

At the afternoon meeting, the conference adopted an organizational structure and program of activity and voted to support the Wallace Third Party platform.

The program of activity includes establishing new campus groups, working with Wallace Committees, and encouraging students to register. The work of the

Seventeen Students Return To Williams

Seventeen former students, six of whom are veterans, returned to Williams at the beginning of the current semester.

The men and their former classmates are: James C. Bolens, ex-'49-N; Ronald K. Chute, ex '49-M; Cullom E. Connelly, ex '49-N; Eusebio S. Delfin, ex '49-N; Linsley V. Dodge, Jr., ex '49-M; Calvert P. Holt, ex '49-N; Ashley E. Howes, ex '49-J; Tancred E. Jacob, ex '49-J; Robert B. Klopman, ex '50-M; William H. Lang, Jr., ex '50-O; Stephen H. Rowan, ex '49-M; Frederick McI. Scribner, Jr., ex '49-N; Edward G. Stack, ex '50-O; Anthony A. Waring, ex '50; Thomas I. Webb, ex '49-N; Charles S. Williams III, ex '49-M; and Wallace I. Wood, ex '49-J.

committees will be to help circulate petitions to get Wallace candidates on the ballots and to arrange lectures and other public information projects.

Twenty Williams students attended a meeting Tuesday, January 28, which was called by Merwin, who attended a steering committee meeting of the New England Students for Wallace at Boston in January. There was a general discussion of Third Party aims and those present were urged to attend the New England conference.

Fortune . . .

tant professors, and two instructors. Also included in the article was a picture of President Baxter conferring with the presidents of Middlebury, Dartmouth, and Amherst on their financial problems.

A further note concerning Williams placed the blame for the tight financial situation on "a determination to keep [the] teaching load and fees down." The article reported that the College feels that faculty salaries are too low, and said that "President James Phinney Baxter, 3rd, spends about twenty-five days a month campaigning away from his pleasant campus."

Honor . . .

classes, the penalty shall be a recommendation to the Faculty of his separation from College. In case of a technical violation with extenuating circumstances of the Senior, Junior or Sophomore (or Freshman) classes, the penalty shall be a recommendation to the Faculty of a period of probation, for a time to be determined by the Student Committee."

Change Amendment Rules

The second amendment changes the method for amending the Honor System Constitution. Prior to this, the Constitution could be amended only by a three-fourths vote of the students present at a mass meeting of the College. Article VII, Section 1 now reads as follows:

See HONOR, page 4

HARVARD SUMMER SCHOOL

OF ARTS, SCIENCES, AND EDUCATION

June 28, to August 21, 1948

Coeducational — Graduate and Undergraduate Courses

Veterans may enroll under G. I. Bill

Dormitory Accommodations and Cafeteria Service

(Engineering courses available in Graduate School of Engineering Summer Term.)

Address: Department W, 9 Wadsworth House, Harvard University, Cambridge 38, Massachusetts

Richmond Hotel

AFTER THE "Flicks"
Stop by the RICHMOND
GRILL for the best in food,
drinks, and service.
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

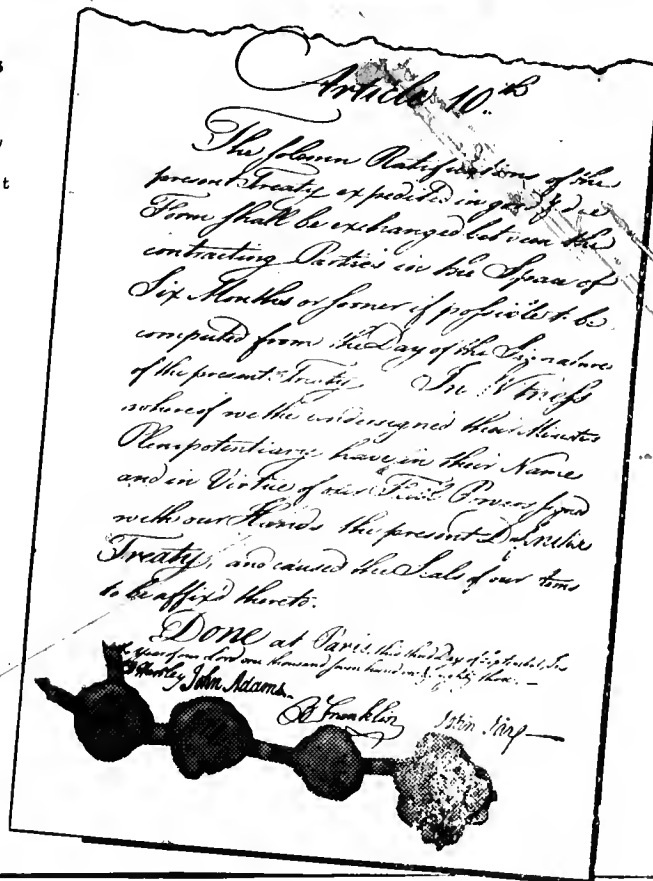

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beckman 3-4730

cause for American Pride...

THE TREATY OF PARIS

★ First formal recognition by any power of the independence of the United States. It provided, among other things, for the removal of all British troops from America. Article 10 of the original treaty, along with a hundred other famous documents in American history, is now touring the country aboard the "Freedom Train". Watch for this train's arrival in your area!

Be proud of what you write...
and the way you write it!

Parker "51"

"51 writes dry with wet ink!"

Just hold a new Parker "51" in your hand! Note its tapered beauty. Already you know the pride of owning the world's most-wanted pen. You feel like writing! See how instantly the "51" starts — and the way it writes . . . smoothly, effortlessly, without a skip. Truly, here's a pen that reflects credit on everything you write! So, ask for the Parker "51". Two sizes: regular and new demi-size. Both with wide range of custom points to choose from. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin, U.S.A., and Toronto, Canada.

© 1948 by The Parker Pen Company

Recognize This Picture?

It's familiar to almost everyone because pictures and stories of the atomic bomb tests at Bikini appeared in newspapers throughout the nation within hours after the historic blast.

Speed is a creed with newsmen and the Bell System helps make that speed possible.

It provides the local, Long Distance and radio-telephone, telegraph, teletypewriter and wire-photo facilities over which news is channeled to presses and microphones.

Keeping these facilities in top condition, ever improving and ever expanding, is the interesting job of many qualified men.

It is but one phase of the many-sided telephone industry in which thousands have found challenging and rewarding careers.

There's a future in telephony.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Campus to GENERAL ELECTRIC

ENGINEERING NEW LAMPS

The Story of Conrad Bechard

"When I came back to General Electric after getting my Army discharge," Conrad Bechard says, "the thing that impressed me most was the way the personnel people said, 'What would you like to do?' The way they said it meant very clearly that if there was any special field that interested me, they'd try to see that I got a crack at it."

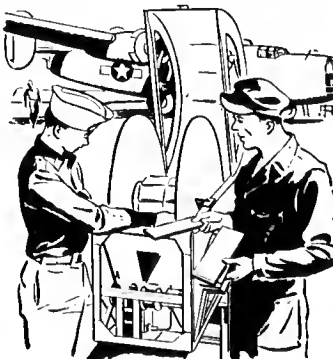

Con had an answer ready. He had heard a lot about Nela Park, General Electric's "University of Light" in Cleveland, Ohio. "I'd like to go to Nela Park," he said.

It was a big leap for him. He was asking for an assignment in a field in which he had had no previous training—not at Union College where he had gotten his degree in 1941, nor on "Test" with General Electric. In the Army he had worked in electronics. Nela Park would be a totally new experience.

But Personnel said Okay. In the two years since then, Con Bechard has contributed to better production machinery for making the new circular fluorescent lamps known as Circlines, and has helped improve their quality and life.

For your copy of "Careers in the Electrical Industry," write to Dept. 237-6, General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Today Con Bechard works on lighting problems at Nela Park, center of research aiming at broader knowledge of light and lighting.

During his Army service in Italy, Con won the Bronze Star for his invention of a "Choff" dispenser used to foil Nazi radar.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

Williams Defeats Massachusetts U. Five, 51-50

Eph Five Downs U. of Mass. 51 To 50 In Rough Contest

by Jack Schafer

A ragged and ill-played basketball game between Williams and the U. of Mass. closed down last Wednesday night to a hectic finish in which the Purple, having regained a vacillating lead with 15 minutes to go, withstood the late on-rush of the visitors and retired from the court winner 51 to 50.

The records reveal that the Massachusetts team has played before but nothing about their court play substantiated this. The Maroon team had a rough and sloppy five that times slowed the ball game down to a mere walk to the foul line. Fifty-three foul shots were taken by both teams, of which Williams took thirty-two and dropped nineteen. From the appearance of Bob Brownell after the game, one wonders that the visitors weren't indicted for assault and battery.

With the Little Three series due to start in only three days with the Amherst game here tonight, Coach Dale Burnett unveiled a new starter in Howie Taylor. Taylor, who spent the first half of the season playing for the Phi Delta club, showed as a smooth passer, a good play-maker, and a reasonably sure shot, who is expected to give the varsity a lot of help in the closing stages of the season.

Second Half Rush by Visitors

After both clubs had heaved the ball around in such fashion in the first half that Williams had registered 27 markers and the U. of Mass. 26, they both started the second chapter with a rush to the foul line. McGrath started it with a center set, but then Jack Mason

Williams
	FG	F	Pts.
Taylor RF	5	0	10
Mason, J. LF	2	3	7
Page C	1	0	2
Wideman	0	0	0
Cool	2	1	5
Brownell RG	2	5	9
Ditmar LG	2	8	12
Mason, R.	2	2	6
Totals	16	19	51

U. of Mass.
	FG	F	Pts.
McDonald RF	2	0	4
Horton	0	0	0
McGrath LF	5	4	14
Myers	1	0	2
Looney C	3	4	10
Tonet RG	2	2	6
Richardson	2	1	5
Masterson LG	3	2	8
Waskienicz	0	1	1
Totals	18	14	50

Frosh Five Wins 60-44

Jackson, Larsen Star In Mass. U. Victory

Showing flashes of brilliance, the freshmen basketballers coasted to a 60-44 victory over the University of Massachusetts jayvees in the preliminary game to the 51-50 varsity thriller. It was the fourth straight victory for the Coombsmen who only need victories over Springfield and Amherst for an undefeated season.

Paced by Bob Larsen's 12 points and Dave Jackson's brilliant defensive work the yearlings showed marked improvement over their pre-exam performances.

"Squid" Sheehy Debuts

The game marked the debut of 6 foot 5 inch "Squid" Sheehy, who, along with sharpshooting Bill St. Clair and Fritzle Zeller to chip in 17 points for Bobby Coombs second string five.

Williams Box Score

	FG	F	Pts.
Larsen lf	6	0	12
Zeller	2	0	4
Fagerburg rf	3	2	8
Hoeffler	0	0	0
Pusey, B.	0	0	0
Pusey, C. c	5	0	10
Sheehy	3	0	6
Fraser lg	3	0	6
Lynch	0	0	0
Jackson rg	2	3	7
St. Clair	3	1	7
Totals	27	6	60

Skiers Beaten At Dartmouth

Too Much Opposition At Winter Carnival

The star-studded teams of such skiing powers as Middlebury, Dartmouth, McGill, and St. Lawrence were too much for the Williams ski team, which, operating without injured Captain Dick Brown, came in tenth at the 38th Dartmouth Winter Carnival. Casey Prime's eleventh place in the slalom was the outstanding Williams performance in the historic meet in which Middlebury squeezed out its Dartmouth hosts by two-tenths of a point.

The Purple snowmen were weakened by the loss of Brown, star four-event man, on the very first day of the meet. After Gordy Volkman squeezed out a twenty-fourth in the downhill, the cross country skiers were given some well-meant but unfortunate advice on the correct wax to use on the tough nine mile course. As a result Johnny Brinkerhoff did not finish while Pete Finley and Hank Strong could do no better than a 33rd and a 36th place.

Eleventh in Slalom

The slalom race held on the next day saw Williams' Casey Prime take eleventh while Gordy Volkman, Dunc Cambell, and Pete Finley came in 23rd, 24th and 25th to give the Ephmen seventh place over Harvard and Amherst in this event.

In the jump, the meets' final event, Johnny Brinkerhoff, who had only been jumping for three weeks, took a twenty-third in an event dominated by such stand-

Williams Relay Team Defeats Little Three Foes In Milrose

The mile relay team captured two more first places during the exam period to run their victory string to three straight. The wins gained at the Millrose Games in New York on January 31 and at the Boston AA Meet on February 8 were by very narrow margins.

In the Millrose games, Lionel Bolin, running from the outside lane of the Garden boards never got a chance to show his form and handed the baton to "Doc" Weeth in third position in a field of four. Weeth ran a :53.4 second quarter to close the gap on pace-setting Amherst and Wesleyan.

Delaney Wins

On the third leg, both Wesleyan in second place and Middlebury in fourth place fell on a curve, although no one came in contact with them. Gordon Smith continued to close the gap on Amherst, and gave the stick to anchor man Kevin Delany with only a five-yard deficit. After a hard battle for a lap, Delany passed the Amherst man and won going away by ten yards.

The time of the winners was a poor 3:35.6, but it didn't detract from the excitement of the race. The Ephs' mediocre start and an unscheduled seven-hour train trip probably prevented a recurrence of the previous week's 3:31 clocking.

Third Win

The Boston episode on February 6 proved to be an even bigger crowd-pleaser. In place of Middlebury, a fast Boston University quartet was matched with the Little Three rival. Exhibiting a crack leadoff man, BU opened a wide lead at the start. Bill Barney, first man for the Purple, never got separated from the pack, but lost much time running wide on the "saucer" attempting to pass his opponents.

Weeth, taking the baton in third, ran his best 440 of the season to close the gap on second-place Wesleyan. Then Gordy Smith uncorked a 52.2 clocking to bring Williams up to a second spot by a few yards. On the anchor leg, Delany and Stone of Wesleyan set out after the BU man twenty-five yards ahead of them. The leader suddenly faded on the final lap and both pursuers passed him on the last turn with Williams breaking the tape two yards in front of the Cardinal and two in front of the BU. Delany's anchor leg was 52 seconds flat. Amherst was a distant fourth.

WIDE TRAILS

No waiting. On HOGBACK T-BAR Lift 900 skiers per hour ride 2400 ft. Excellent Trails newly widened, some to 250 beginners Rope Tow. Les Bilinguals Ski School.

Cafeteria, dining room service at lift. Town buses. Cleared state highways to area. Hotel, tourist accommodations nearby. Frequent metropolitan trains, buses. FREE FOLDER write Chamber of Commerce, Box W.

"I'll be up there soon!"

UP WHERE the ceiling's unlimited and the horizon's as wide as the world! Up where there's freedom and adventure—and a man can dare to do what no man's done before!

You're on your way up there when you join the Aviation Cadets. After a year's pilot training, it's silver wings for you—and a commission as Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force Reserve.

You are eligible if you're single, between 20 and 26½, and have completed at least half the requirements for a degree from an accredited college or university (or can pass an equivalent qualifying examination).

You'll fly the very best planes during your 12 months of pilot training. Then, after graduation, you'll pilot jet fighters and bombers. And you'll get a starting salary of $336 a month. During your three years on active duty you'll be given a chance to win a commission in the Regular Air Force.

This is a priceless opportunity for alert young men with the urge to carve their future in American aviation. Ask for details at your U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station. Or, write to Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Section, Washington 25, D. C.

U. S. ARMY AND U. S. AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE

outs as the Norwegian Tor Arneberg and Lowell Thomas Jr., Gordy Volkman and Hank Strong came in twenty-sixth and twenty-eighth respectively thus again outpointing Harvard and Amherst.

HONOR

"This Constitution may be amended by a three-fourths vote of those voting on ballots to be distributed to each social unit. Amendments shall be published one week prior to the voting. Any amendment so adopted must be ratified by the Faculty before becoming effective."

WE WILL LUBRICATE YOUR CAR THE FORD WAY

The Smith Baker Co.
Incorporated
NORTH ADAMS

Introducing ...

to our Alumni

IRENE'S Gift Shop

Featuring —

TRAYS and PLATES

with the

College-Seal

— ALSO —

A Large Selection of

HIGHBALL and COCKTAIL GLASSES

Come In and Look

Around in

WILLIAMSTOWN'S

NEWEST GIFT SHOP

53 Spring Street

KING'S PACKAGE STORE

WHEN YOU WANT THE FINEST ...

WINES

BEER

CHAMPAGNE

WELCOME ALUMNI

Open Til 11:00 P. M.

WALDEN THEATRE BUILDING

Undefeated Swimming Team Meets With Bowdoin Today

Eph Again Favored In Home Contest

Win Over Dartmouth Tips The Scales

by Norm Wood

Alumni returning to Williams-town will have a chance to see Coach Bob Muir's New England champion swimmers in action this afternoon, when the Muirmen meet the Bowdoin Polar Bears at 3:30 o'clock in the Lasell Gym pool.

Having won five meets, the swimmers have only three left, with Bowdoin, Wesleyan, and Amherst before the New England at MIT on March 12-13. Bowdoin, second in the 1947 New Englands, remains nearly as strong as last year.

Merron, Soltyslak Pace Bowdoin. The "Polar Bears" record thus far this season stands at four one-sided wins, Tufts, U. of Massachusetts, Trinity, and Wesleyan, and one loss, to Dartmouth.

The three events which are Bowdoin's strongest are the backstroke, breaststroke, and the 300-medley relay. Captain Adin Merron is the New England backstroke champion and holder of Williams pool record, and Tony Soltyslak was second in the New Englands last year in the breaststroke.

38-37 Last Year

Bowdoin will be seeking its fourth victory in its eleventh meet with Williams, but although Williams only squeezed out a 38-37 win over the Polar Bears last winter, the odds are against a Bowdoin triumph. Last year's freshmen, ineligible in the Bowdoin meet, compose the whole present team, except for Captain Sindy Lambert.

Coach Bob Muir felt this way about the meet: "I think it's going to be a good meet. We should win five firsts, Bowdoin, four. We should beat them, but it's going to be interesting."

Purple Well-Balanced
The Williams team, with only a week of practice after vacation, is likely to have some real competition. Besides Merron, Soltyslak, and the 300-medley relay team, Gath, Bowdoin's top diver, figures to be a real threat. He took a third in the New Englands last year.

The Purple, however, is too well-balanced to drop this meet. After crushing Springfield, U. of Massachusetts, and Brown, the Muirmen found Army and Dartmouth somewhat tougher. The Dartmouth meet was the highlight of the season.

Indians Scalped

On January 28, the Purple scalped the Indians here, 48-27, before a cheering, sardine-packed gallery. The Big Green's crack 300-medley relay team led off by setting a 3:03.7 pool record, slicing 1.3 seconds from the old mark. Ray Baldwin and Bob Reid took a one-two in the 220, but the Indians' Steve Pollak won the 50.

Al Hydeman lost the dive by .26 points to Rod Kroehler, a former teammate at Culver. The score read 18-16 at this point. But Baldwin and Morgan Murray swept the 100; then Hank Wine-man and Ted Lamot swept the 150 backstroke. Wineman set a new Williams varsity record at 1:39.5, breaking his own last year's record by .3 seconds. Dartmouth Captain Jay Urstadt and Charlie Solberg took the breaststroke, but Reid and Captain Lambert raced one-two in the 440. The 400 relay team of Murray, Chick Brashears, Bill Rueckert, and Baldwin wound up the meet with a thrilling three-yard victory.

Summary: Williams-48, Dart-See SWIMMING, page 6

Yearlings Bow To Hotchkiss

Purple Swimmers Take Medley Breaststroke

Wednesday the freshman swimmers were thoroughly soaked by a crack Hotchkiss squad, which exhibited superior strength in almost every department.

The 44-22 defeat was no surprise, Hotchkiss had already trounced the Deerfield team which edged out the yearlings, 35-31, on January 28.

At no time during the meet did the Ephmen threaten the lead of the prep school team, which collected first and second place in the 40-yard freestyle, first and third in the 220 yard freestyle, first and second in the 100-yard backstroke, first and third in the 100-yard freestyle, and first in diving and the 160-yard relay.

Only in two events did the Ephmen succeed in nailing down first place: the 180-yard medley relay, which Dick Lippencott, John Snyder, and Mercer Russell captured in 1:40.0; and the 100-yard breaststroke, which Snyder took in 1:11.1. Fast though it was, Snyder's time was four seconds slower than his performance in the Deerfield meet, when he lowered the freshman record from 1:09.4 to 1:07.2.

Wrestlers To Meet MIT

Home Meet Will Be Toughest To Date

In a home meet at 4:00 p.m. Saturday the wrestling team faces MIT. Undoubtedly this is the toughest encounter so far this season. The Tech wrestlers edged out Williams in the New England Intercollegiate last year and they retain one of the foremost teams of the circuit.

Whit Mauzy, captain of the MIT grapplers and 175 lb. New England champion, will face the Ephs in the 165 lb. class. Other talent in their aggregation includes Dick Lemmerman at 175 lbs., Lars Soderberg at Unlimited, Bill Haggerty in the 145 lb. slot, and Joe Deptula, who encounters Bill Kelton at 121 lbs.

The Tech-men have dropped two encounters to Harvard and Brown, 28-0 and 18-12 respectively, but they picked up a victory over Springfield in their latest tilt with a 20-13 score.

The home team line-up remains unchanged. It includes Bill Kelton, Paul Cook, Hank Hall, Bill Leitzinger, Grant North, Harry Neave, Chuck Blakney and John Stillwell.

Sextet Encounters Harvard In Home Match Saturday

This Saturday at 4 p.m. the Williams hockey team will tangle with the Crimson skaters of Harvard on the Cole Field rink. Coach Snively's men are rated the underdogs, but the Harvard sextet will not find them the 18-3 soft touch they were last year.

In preparation for the Harvard contest, Snively's ambitious charges played two mid-vacation games. Both games were lost to skilled opposition, but do not count in the season's record, being exhibition contests.

Alumni Aid

On February 12 at Norwalk, Connecticut, the St. Nicholas club decisively defeated the Purple, 9-4. Bill Mosely, who captained the Williams sextet in 1936, contributed to the Eph's downfall. The four Williams tallies were registered by Tom Benson assisted by Captain Charlie Huntington, Marchese and Ratcliffe on solos, and Wyer assisted by Humphrey, the last three goals coming in the third period.

Friday the 13th was unlucky for Williams, as they dropped a close game to the Westchester Eagles, 7-5, at the Rye rink. Ex-Williams men Lenny Holmes and Jack Sut-phen helped defeat the Purple.

Williams Scores

The first stanza ended in a three all tie. Roberts grabbed the first Williams goal on an assist by Humphrey, while Humphrey accounted for the second himself, and Benson scored on a double assist by Ratcliffe and Huntington. Each team scored once in the second period, Williams' goal being by Doug Coleman on a pass from Ratcliffe. But the third period saw the Eagles outscore Williams three to one to win. In this stanza Huntington made good on a pass from Tom Healy.

The official season record of the team is now two won, one lost and one tied. The loss was administered by St. Lawrence on January 30 here as the Larries outscored Williams 5-3.

Williams vs. Yale

Following the Harvard game on Saturday, Williams will meet Dartmouth here on Monday, and on Wednesday the 25th will travel to Pittsfield to engage Yale on the Commons rink. This contest is being set aside to aid in the present fund drive, so attendance is urged.

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY SCHOOL of LAW

Admits Men and Women

Registration

Day and Evening Programs — September 13 to 15, 1948
Early application is necessary

Veterans accepted under G. I. Bills

47 MT. VERNON STREET BOSTON 8, MASSACHUSETTS
Telephone KEEmore 6-5800

A MAN AND HIS PIPE

A Man may travel far and very pleasantly alone if he has his Pipe with him. There is no feeling of loneliness with such a companion.

The Pipe soothes and satisfies, helps thought, assists digestion, and gives one a good opinion of oneself. Few things have that power.

You have probably discovered that all pipes are not alike, nor do they taste alike. What is there about aged, genuine imported Briar that makes for a better smoking pipe? Simply this: there is nothing spongy or porous about top quality Briar. It grows in those countries that face towards the Mediterranean, high up in dry, rocky regions where no other vegetation can grow. It's arduous fight for life has given it a hard texture and close graining. These properties help Briar to resist moisture and retards any tendency to soak up tar and juices which soon makes a pipe strong and ill-tasting.

Here at COLLEGE PHARMACY you can obtain Imported Briar Pipes in the following well known brands:

DUNHILL - COMOY - KAYWOODIE - MARKSMAN.

Ask to see them, we shall be glad to show them to you.

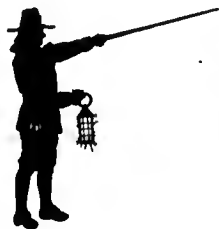

The Williams Inn

Sorry! You're too late for the Friday night shore dinner special but:

Come to the Saturday night feature of Chicken Caccitore with Spaghetti and Chianti Wine and on Sunday:

Make Sunday night your BEST meal of the week by coming to the Inn for the Sunday night bouffet supper similar to those before the war ... try it once and it will become a habit...

- On Campus
- Cocktail Lounge
- Game Room

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.

On sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newsstands

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

"RIDE THE PINK HORSE"

ROBERT MONTGOMERY

WANDA HENDRIX

Sat. Matinee: 2:15 Sat. Eve:

Two Complete Shows from 8:30

SUNDAY & MONDAY

SINGAPORE

FRED McMURRAY

AVA GARDNER

Sunday: Continuous from 2:15

Feature Presentation at: 2:50,

4:50, 6:50, 8:45.

Monday: Holiday Matinee 2:15

TUESDAY thru THURSDAY

"Green Dolphin
Street"

LANA TURNER

VAN HEFLIN

This Record Goes Hum-hum-humming Along!

It's JEAN SABLON'S...

"A TUNE for HUMMING"

(RCA Victor)

IN ENGLISH or French, his singing is terrific! His fans range from bobby-soxers to the lavender-and-old-lace set.

Why, he even lights his Camels with a Continental charm. Takes a leisurely puff and says: "Great!"

Yes, Jean, and millions of smokers agree with you about Camels. More people are smoking Camels than ever before!

Try Camels! Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience!"

And here's another great record—

More people are smoking

CAMELS
than ever before!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.
Winston-Salem, N. C.

WOC Plans Inter-Fraternity Ski Meet; Basketball - - -

Five Teams Signed For Winter Carnival

The Williams Outing Club is planning an interfraternity ski meet and has reorganized its internal system of administration. It was announced at a meeting of the club Tuesday night.

The meet will be held Saturday, February 28. A cup will be presented by the Outing Club to the winning house. The meet will consist of two events, down hill and slalom races on Sheep Hill. Although only three men will count in the scoring, each fraternity may enter a team of five men, who are not on the College ski team.

Carnival Plans

Plans for the Winter Carnival, March 5-7, are nearly complete. Yale, Norwich, Syracuse, Bowdoin, and Amherst will definitely be here, and RPI is expected to accept the invitation. Wesleyan, Army and Harvard, however, will be unable to attend, and the Cornell team has not yet given their reply. Although the competitors will eat at fraternity houses, as originally planned, they will probably sleep at the Field House.

New Administration

The governing body of the WOC will consist of an executive Council under which there are to be four committees: a Carnival Committee, Sheep Hill Committee, Personnel and Program Committee, and Trails and Cabins Committee.

shot, Masterson scored a lay-up and a foul and Looney hit with another foul shot. The score was now 48 to 45 with two minutes to go.

Ditmar stemmed the tide temporarily with a free throw but McGrath hit with a push and Masterson converted a penalty toss. As Masterson went in for an easy lay-up shot, Ditmar slammed into him with such force that the Mass. guard went half way up the bleachers before he stopped. This put Ditmar out of the game with his fifth personal but it exchanged a reasonably sure two points for the one. The final margin of difference was one point.

After Masterson's foul throw, Bud Cool supplied the winning points with a follow-up just before Richardson pushed his team's total to fifty with a push shot.

Swimming - - -

mouth-27; 300 medley relay, won by Dartmouth (Dodd, Urstadt, Solberg), time 3:03.7 (pool record); 220 free, won by Baldwin (W), Reid (W), Pettit (D), time 2:18.1; 50 free, won by Pollak (D), Murray (W), Brashears (W), time 23.7; Dive, won by Kroehler (D), Hydeman (W), Stowers (W), 76.66 points; 100 free, won by Baldwin (W), Murray (W), Belfit (D), time 53.6; 150 back, won by Wineman (W), Lamot (W), Jackson (D), time 1:39.5 (Williams record); 200 breast, won by Urstadt (D), Solberg (D), Svenson (W), time 2:39.0; 440 free, won by Reid (W), Lambert (W), Deevy (D), time 5:02.1; 400 free relay, won by Williams (Murray, Brashears, Rueckert, Baldwin), time 3:39.8.

HAVING A PARTY?

The Square Deal Store

... fully stocked to supply
your needs in every line.

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC

LIQUOR and WINES

HOWARD MOON, Proprietor

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1830

CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE

DUST PROOF COAL
73
Spring St.

RANGE and FUEL OILS
Williamstown
Mass.

The Williams News Room

HAROLD E. NORTHRUP

- MAGAZINES
- NEWSPAPERS
- SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Tel. 162 Spring St.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

FAIRFIELD'S FARM

GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corona

Underwood

Royal

108 Main Street
North Adams

WELCOME

ALUMNI!

This store, which may have served you during your undergraduate days, is still meeting the book needs of Williams men.

—1848—

Our Centennial Year

—1948—

COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

Spring Street

Raymond Washburne ex-'27

Bastien's

— ALUMNI —

Take home a set of college-seal glassware

- Highball Glasses
- Old Fashioned Glasses
- Cocktail Glasses
- Cocktail Shakers
- Decanters
- Beer Mugs

Drop in and look over our stock of college glassware and jewelry

REMEMBER . . .

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

When in New York for a weekend

Enjoy this favorite meeting

place of Williams Men

Special Room Rates for Students

"Chesterfield is my cigarette—it's Mild and pleasing"

Valli

STARRING IN
DAVID O. SELZNICK'S PRODUCTION
"THE PARADINE CASE"
DIRECTED BY ALFRED HITCHCOCK

WHY I smoke Chesterfield
(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"I smoke Chesterfields because I know the kind of tobacco that's in them and I like their flavor and mildness.
"Chesterfield is in the market for the yellow, mellow, ripe tobacco. We farmers here know that. It's good tobacco."

Russell C. Day
TOBACCO FARMER, PASIS, KY.

ABC
ALWAYS BUY

CHESTERFIELD

ALWAYS Milder BETTER TASTING COOLER SMOKING

The Williams Record

Volume LXI WILLIAMS COLLEGE WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1948 Number 28

Ephs Beat Amherst In Last-Half Drive

Win Is First In Little Three Title Series

Ditmar Scores 23 In 48 To 41 Conquest; Win Is Third Straight

by Jack Schafer

Williams won the first game of the Little Three basketball series Saturday when they romped over Amherst, 48-41, before a capacity crowd of alumni, undergraduates and guests in Lasell Gym.

The win put the Williams season total at five and five. The team has a unique record — it has won every home game and lost every road game. The win was its third in a row.

Jack Mason, Bud Cool, and Jerry Page fight for ball under Amherst basket.

Birchall Photo

Hell Week Has New Tortures

Bedraggled Neophytes Saved By Initiations

The usual number of bedraggled neophytes found their way home from Greylock, Blackinton and other remote corners of western Massachusetts last week until the tortures of Hell Week were completed by initiations.

One group of pledges failed to publicize the fact that they had been told to paint all of their house's toilet seats and a house member was caught unaware. Retaliatory measures were taken, and the next afternoon a number of freshmen were observed sporting kelly-green posteriors in the gym showers.

Ku Klux Klan

One enterprising pledge chairman took his blindfolded charges on a cross country hike to the top of a local mountain where, according to true Ku Klux Klan tradition, he had them light seven large wooden crosses and swear on a Bible to maintain strict silence for twenty-four hours.

At 3 o'clock one morning, another group of freshmen made an appearance rolling an oversized garbage can down the middle of Main Street singing "Roll Out The Barrel." At the same time, another pledge from the same house stood guard at Hopkins Hall under a ferocious bombardment of fire crackers thrown from a second story window by a second pledge.

Autographs

One underclassman, wearing seventeen neckties, turned up in See HELL WEEK, page 4

"Golden Boy" March Play

Cap and Bells Plans 50th Anniversary

Cap and Bells will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary March 11, 12, and 13 with the production of Clifford Odett's "Golden Boy". James Drissell '50 and Leslie Smith wife of Lawrence C. Smith '48, will have leading roles.

"Golden Boy", a melodramatic tragedy, was first performed at the Grup Theatre in New York in 1937 and has since been adapted for motion pictures. William Holden played the feature role of the violinist turned prize fighter in the motion picture version of the play.

Howard Erskine '49, Dominick Dunne '49, and John Lasell '50 will play the main supporting roles.

The scenery will be set up on two revolving stages to facilitate changes. Although the play is only three acts, there will be five complete scene changes.

Williams Swim Carnival Here On Saturday

Verdeur, Aquacade, Lamore Highlights

Williams College will hold its first annual Swimming Carnival this Saturday at 8 p.m. The amount of interest shown in swimming here has been one of the reasons why Williams decided to join such colleges as Yale, MIT, and Ohio State, who have similar carnivals, said Daniel G. Wheeler '48, swimming manager.

The main reason, however, for starting the annual carnival at this time is the sanction by the New England Amateur Athletic Association Union to have five New England championship races here at Williams. Such races are sponsored at various New England colleges to allow more people to see the best swimmers in this region. The Carnival has nothing to do with either the New England or the Eastern Intercollegiate Swimming Associations.

NEAAAU Agenda

The races to be held here are: NEAAAU Junior 220-yard freestyle; NEAAAU Junior 150 medley relay; Massachusetts State championship, 100 backstroke; Open 50 freestyle; NEAAAU Senior 100 backstroke for women. Winning any NEAAAU race automatically limits the entrant, any New England amateur, to the Senior competition.

Williams swimmers competing in the events will be: Ray Baldwin, Bob Reid, and Captain Sandy Lambert in the 220; three medley relay teams, with Hank Wineman, Ted Lampl, and Tim Lewis as backstrokers; John Snyder, Swede Svenson, and Sam Gentiles as breaststrokers, and either Baldwin, Morgan Murray, Chick Brashers, or Ruekert as the freestylers; Wineman, Lampl, and Lewis in the 100 backstroke; Murray, Brashers, Ruekert in the 50.

Features Add Color

Marian Senior will be on hand to defend her NEAAAU championship in the 100-yard women's backstroke. Clara Lamore, national AAAU champ in the 100-meter breaststroke, will swim that distance in an attempt to break the See WILLIAMS SWIM, page 4

Medieval Comic Strip Purpose Explained By Prof. Newhall

Talk, Holding Present Comics Vulgar, Opens Faculty Lecture Series

Disclaiming any interest in cartoon strips later than 1100 A. D., History Professor Richard A. Newhall opened the Thursday afternoon Faculty Lecture Series last week with an illustrated talk entitled "The Medieval Comic Strip."

Paraphrasing Voltaire, Mr. Newhall pointed out that the Tapestry of Queen Matilda at Bayeux, France, the subject of his lecture, "is not a tapestry, and very probably has nothing to do with Queen Matilda." He added that it is not a comic strip either.

The "tapestry" is actually a unique Medieval object d'art consisting of a piece of cloth 230 feet long and almost two feet wide upon which is embroidered, in comic strip-type panels, the series of events leading up to and including the Norman invasion of England in 1066. Although there are no dialog balloons such as present-day comics fans are accustomed to, a laconic running explanation of the main events is embroidered in Latin above the action and the leading characters are labeled.

At the beginning of his lecture, Mr. Newhall quickly aligned him-

W M S Opens After Five Month Delay

Schedule Calls For Twenty Hour Week

by Robert S. Taylor

WMS officially opened its first 20-hour week of broadcasting activity Monday after nearly five months of unbroken silence, toll and trouble.

The station engineering department, under the direction of Prof. Howard P. Stabler of the Physics department, Norton P. Cushman '49 and John C. Bigler '50, has been working to perfect the newly installed "Carrier Current" equipment. The result of their efforts, according to WMS Chairman De Witt C. Morrill '48, has been that WMS, at 650 kilocycles, now sends out the "highest fidelity signal which is receivable by any radio set in Williamstown."

Long Range Plan

The blueprint-bible which WMS has used to guide its reorganization is a 95 page work plan which was begun last February and not completed until June. Since then there has been much revision in the book, and it will probably be two or three years before all the written plans are actually put into operation.

The present system of broadcasting employs lines which run to four main spots on the campus; those spots are the freshman and Berkshire quads, the lab campus and the AMT. From these central points, the radio signal will be distributed through the power lines to all the college buildings and eventually to the fraternity houses.

Explore New Possibilities

The idea of broadcasting through the main power line in town rather than using the four campus points, was the original plan in the station revision, Morrill said. It is possible to hitch the station into a single line, and if that were done, the matter of distribution would be much simplified; all the college buildings, as well as many of the houses in town where faculty members live, would be able to hear WMS on their radios.

"But when this system was tried before," Morrill explained, there was a serious static disturbance See WMS, page 2

Luncheon Climaxes Winter Homecoming

President Baxter and Congressman Halleck talking things over at the Alumni Luncheon.

—WPS Photo

N R A Charter To ROTC Unit

Rifle Range Completed Early Last Month

With completion of a rifle range in the baseball cage, the local ROTC unit has formed a rifle team which has been granted a charter by the National Rifle Association and plans to begin competition with other ROTC teams early next month.

Difficulties in obtaining steel delayed construction of the range until early last month, and the team was unable to compete in the Hearst National ROTC Rifle Competition last month. Major John A. Cosgrove, who has been coaching the team, has high hopes, however, that it will do well in the First Army Intercollegiate Matches to be fired before March 10.

Competitions

The college range is open daily from 2-4:30 p.m. to all ROTC students interested in making the teams, which, as yet, have not been selected. Although membership is now restricted to ROTC trainees, Major Cosgrove said that if enough other undergraduates were interested, he would be glad to spend some time with them on the range.

The size of a rifle team varies according to the competition in which it is entered. Competitors must shoot from three positions at a target fifty feet away which contains three bulls eyes, each one-eighths of an inch in diameter. All competitions which the Williams team will enter will be fired on the local range, and the targets will be sent to First Army Headquarters at Governor's Island, N. Y. There they will be scored and compared with other college ROTC teams in this region.

I R C Queries Class Of '51

Frosh Lack Knowledge Of Foreign Affairs

Williams freshmen lack elementary information on foreign affairs, it was revealed last week by a poll conducted by the International Relations Club. "The results are not astonishing to instructors of freshmen political science," commented Associate Professor David B. Truman of the Political Science Department.

Fifty freshmen, half of whom take Political Science 2, were asked four questions: 1.) How much money has been requested by President Truman for the first fifteen months of the European Recovery Program? 2.) What is the approximate date of British withdrawal from Palestine? 3.) See IRC, page 2

300 Alumni Hear Baxter, Halleck Speak

Football Coach Watters Presented By Sheehan; Murphy Gets Wood Cup

by Seth Bidwell

After welcoming almost 300 alumni and sons to the eighteenth annual Mid-Winter Homecoming luncheon Sunday afternoon, Pres. James P. Baxter, 3rd, opened the after dinner speeches by reiterating the aims of the Fund Drive, and after a speech by Rep. Charles Halleck (R-Ind.), presented three awards for out-standing service to Williams.

The luncheon climaxed a weekend of sports events, fraternity initiations and reunions, and alumni meetings.

Walter F. Sheehan, Director of Athletics, commented on the athletic situation at Williams after which Len Watters, the new Williams football coach was introduced. (See story page three)

After the presentations of these awards, President Baxter accepted a picture of Charles F. (Doc.) Seely, Williams track coach from 1892 to 1935, who developed H. H. Brown '20, Williams two-mile record holder and Olympic medal holder. The portrait, painted by Dwight C. Shepler '28, was presented to the college by James A. Taylor '26.

Murphy Receives Brooks Medal

President Baxter then presented the Meredith Wood Cup to the Class of 1914 for the highest contribution to the Alumni Fund in 1946-47 and the Belvidere Brooks Memorial Medal to Gene Murphy as the member of the football team whose play during the season has been of the greatest credit to the college.

Quincy Bent '21, Vice-president of Bethlehem Steel, was awarded the James C. Rogerson Cup and Medal which is presented to an alumnus or member of the senior class "for service and loyalty to the College and for distinction in any field of endeavor." Bent, a trustee of the college who came to Williams from Penn Charter School, and while at Williams managed the football team, and became Marshall of the class of '21 and a member of Gargoyle, was one of the greatest pitchers in Williams baseball.

During World War II he was awarded the Albert A. Gary Memorial Medal by the Iron and Steel Institute for his development of "emergency steel." In accepting the award, Bent said, "I accept the award with deep and sincere appreciation. I shall continue to do the most for Williams as long as I live."

Rep. Halleck Speaks

Republican Majority Floor leader, Charles Halleck highlighted his speech by asserting that in the great struggle between the slaves and the free, "only the enlightened can be productive and strong." Halleck stated that it is necessary for the young people of the country to understand the government and make it their desire and ambition to make ours the best. He asserted that this can only be done by the education of our youth. Halleck, who nominated Wendell Wilkie at the Republican convention in 1940, is the father of Charles Halleck '51.

Mr. Sheehan then spoke of the difficulties which face the Director of Athletics, after which he introduced Tony Plansky and Bob Muir, coaches of two undefeated Williams teams. In speaking of Muir's teams, Sheehan said Muir had raised, swimming, from a See LUNCHEON, page 4

Professor Newhall

Collins Photo

self, in the words of Gilbert Seldes, with "those who have any pretension to taste and culture" who regard present day comic strip addiction "as a symptom of crass vulgarity, of dullness, and of defeated and inhibited lives."

The second talk in the Faculty Lecture Series, "Early Industrial Architecture in New England," will be presented by William Piersen, assistant professor of art, at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, in Room 10, Lawrence Hall.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts Williamstown, Massachusetts
 "Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editorial Board
 Editor in Chief J. David Maier, '48
 Managing Editor Charles H. Klensch, '48
 Sports Editor Barrett F. Emmert, '48
 Copy Editor Robert A. Ruper, '48
 Senior Associate Editor Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
 Office Manager Ben B. Foster, II, '48
 Make up editor for this issue Joseph F. Dorsey, '49
 Copy editor for this issue J. Edward Powlick, '49

Volume LXI FEBRUARY 25, 1948 Number 28

Pro and Con

Two proposals of the Garfield Club now before the Rules Committee of the Undergraduate Council deserve careful consideration, before any decision is reached on their validity. Briefly they are:

1) To eliminate the present system of post-season rushing in favor of a more formal, definite period; and 2) To excuse the Garfield Club from the "No-Talking Agreement."

Let us consider the first proposal. Under the present system, the Club acts as a perpetual membership pool for the fraternities, and is being constantly disrupted by the sudden departure of its members. Financially the Club often takes a beating from its members who are rushed to a fraternity. They can never be completely sure of their membership, thus they can never accurately plan their budget. Under the proposed system, this now perpetual disruption would be localized to a period of probably not more than a week. Therefore, to give the Club a cleaner end of an admittedly "dirty stick," the Record is completely behind this first proposition.

In the case of the exception to the "No-Talking Agreement," however, we feel there is a better solution than the Club's idea that their members should be allowed to discuss the fraternity system as a whole and the ideals of their own organization. The Record feels that this proposition provides an easy channel for talk of personalities, individual social units, and general campus gossip.

The argument of the Garfield Club in advocating this second proposal is that, although new students understand the fraternity system, most of them know little or nothing of the purpose and ideals of the Club. If this is the case, the situation could, it seems to us, be better handled in the pre-rushing meeting of all the freshmen by a speech of the President of the Club. This would assure a complete and proper statement of their point of view, while at the same time assuring that there will be no "free-for-all" of anti-fraternity gossip.

Enlightenment

There was a ripple of good-natured laughter when Representative Halleck, an Indiana U. Alumnus, said that now that he had visited here he found that "Williams wasn't so bad." Behind that good-natured laughter was a lot of the affectionate spirit for what Stanley Woodward once called "that dandy little school in the Berkshires" and, despite President Baxter's disheartening report that Amherst, of all places, was quite a bit wealthier than old Alma Mater, "the Williams Family" thought it rather droll that the Hoosier would compare A Big State University with Us and the Log.

In the light of Congressman Halleck's paraphrase of Wendell Wilkie — "Only the strong can be free, and only the enlightened can be strong." — the results of the current events poll conducted by Pete Gutmann and Art Sprung of the IRC are not encouraging.

And it is doubtful that a similar poll of Hoosier freshmen would turn in a worse record on knowledge of foreign affairs.

C. K.

WMS - - -

which we are still trying to trace." When the origin of the disturbance is found, perhaps next year, we will try our first plan again. If it is successful we will be the first college station using power lines to carry radio signals without radiation—an original and significant development for which Mr. Stabler and Cushman are entirely responsible. They have devoted approximately 250 hours to the exploration of this untried and untested technique, and for that reason we feel that the postponements of the opening date were well worthwhile.

Studio Renovated

All the old equipment in the studio has been, or soon will be removed. A new studio inter-communication system has been installed, and there are more microphone channels now than there ever have been before.

Thus far only $700 of the $3000 budget has been expended; the rest will go for more equipment, which will include new turntables, recording devices, and an entirely new arrangement for remote broadcasting (football games, etc.) which has been carried on previously via the telephone lines.

Use P. A. System

WMS will eventually use communication lines which connect President Baxter's house, Chapin Hall, Hopkins Hall, the AMT and the Thompson Memorial Chapel. These connections, the remnants of a public address system installed by the Navy during the war, will be employed by WMS for broadcasts originating at any of those points.

"The men who worked on WMS last semester," Morrill said, "have created the most complete radio station Williams has ever had. When the plans, now well on their way to completion, are fully realized, the station will, technically speaking, be one of truly professional stature, while the money spent will have been only a bare fraction of the ordinary price."

Intramurals

Tuesday League

House	W	L	Pct.
Phi Delt	7	0	1.000
D U	6	1	.857
Zeta Psi	5	2	.714
A D	3	4	.428
Phi Oam	3	4	.428
Bete	2	5	.285
Sig Phi	2	5	.285
Saints	0	7	.000

Thursday League

House	W	L	Pct.
K A	6	0	1.000
Chi Psi	4	2	.667
D K E	4	2	.667
Theta Delt	4	2	.667
Garfield	3	3	.500
Psi U	2	4	.333
Delta Phi	1	5	.166
Phi Sig	0	6	.000

Uncle Eph's Worm Farm

by D. Lighto de Moon

SOCIAL NOTES . . . Social life here at Williams hit a new high Thursday with a tremendously successful cocktail party given by three guys named Junior, two thirds, and a Sigma Chi on the top floor of West College. Formal invitations carried the names of Dave Dutton, Cy Merrell, Lee Warthen, Tony Stovall, Lew White, and Bill Blanks. Two couches were moved out into the carpeted upper hall for the relaxation of the hundred-odd guests. But fifteen gallons of gin and juice did a better job. Incidental sportuous note in the decorations was a pair of crossed snow shoes on the wall. Lavender-and-yellow streamers from the rafters created an unmistakably Williams effect, while two wire recorders blared symphonies through the din of voices.

Lew White, Cy Merrell, Bill Blanks, and Scotty Wells help out at the punch bowl. Flash-conscious Joe Mason stands by.

Collins Photo

Among the celebrities helping themselves to the punch was Lennox Robinson, who blandly asked if this sort of thing was a common occurrence . . . A bitter-ender from the English dept found another drink in his hand every time he tried to get away to prepare the next day's lecture . . . The art and phil depts out in force . . . Prof. Stoddard, an old West Collegian himself, was at the party with Mrs. Stoddard. He reminisced about the 'good old days' (1935) . . . Director Dave Bryant arrived attired in his Stork Club tie . . . Classie-mark of the afternoon came from Prof. Avery who wanted to know when there would be elevators, after he had struggled to the top floor . . . Lee Warthen (Jr.) and Tony Stovall (III) claim to have been the only standees by eight o'clock.

PROHIBITION NOTE . . . Unbearded youths have found that the Inn has stopped serving spirits to minors or anyone who looks the part. There is also an eleven o'clock curfew at the bar. Action was due to Dean Brooks' response to complaints from a light-sleeping resident above the Inn's pin-ball room . . . Chuck Schmidt, astute senior and gargayer, was one of the first refused a snort.

MALES WONDERING . . . Biggest axe of the recess weekend was the one the Saint Wheel got from Joan Coulfield. See you in the newsreels, Bill . . . The Phi Sig's loss was the Immigration Department's gain as Chief Royal hauled away the South Street fraternity's houseman on an illegal entry charge . . . Final examers in Hopkins Hall were entertained by a burning truck, on Main Street. The Gale Hose Co., which has had its hands full recently, finally quenched the blaze . . . They made another run to Morgan Hall after two panicky residents mistook escaping steam for smoke.

Ephs - - -

The line-ups:

Williams	FG	F	Pts.
Taylor RF	0	1	1
McWhinney	0	0	0
Mason, J. LF	5	3	13
Mason, R.	0	0	0
Page C	2	0	4
Cool	0	0	0
Wideman	0	0	0
Brownell RG	2	3	7
Goodfellow	0	0	0
Ditmar LG	7	9	23
Totals	16	16	48

Amherst	FG	F	Pts
Kelley RF	3	2	8
Geraghty	0	0	0
Richenaker	0	0	0
Chamberlain LF	5	1	11
Barry	1	3	5
Priesling	0	0	0
Rainey C	1	0	2
Moyer	0	0	0
Hammond RG	5	1	11
Waskiewicz LG	1	2	4
Rossano	0	0	0
Bowen	0	0	0
Totals	16	9	41

IRC - - -

How much aid has been requested for Chiang Kai-Shek in China? 4.) Do you favor the Marshall Plan?

How Much Aid Requested

The answers to the first question varied from 1.5 million to 500 billion dollars. Forty-eight per cent of the political science students did not have even a near-miss idea of the amount requested. Only 6% of those polled knew the correct amount — 6.8 billion dollars; but 40% of the freshmen gave answers within two billion dollars of the correct figure.

The second question brought similar results, but 46%, including 64% of the political science students, were within a month-and-a-half of the correct date, May 15th. One student had no idea that the withdrawal was scheduled; 12% thought that the British had already left.

Answers Vary Widely

When asked, "Did the Truman Administration ask for any aid to the Chiang Kai-Shek government of China?", and, if any, the amount so requested, 52% of the polled students thought that none had been requested or had not heard of the program. No one gave the correct figure of 570 million dollars; estimates ranged from four million to 100 billion dollars. 80% of the 50 men polled knew within 300 million dollars the correct sum requested.

In the face of lack of accurate information, 88% of the freshmen polled were in favor of the Marshall Plan; 6% opposed it; and 6% were undecided. One individual opposed it because of its not being administered through the United Nations; another, an economics student, because it would raise taxes and lead to inflation; and a third, because "my old man is against it and it disagrees with my ideas."

Is Democracy Declining?

Frederick L. Schuman, Woodrow Wilson Professor of Political Science, commented, "Here is a highly select group far above the general average in IQ, intelligence, and scholarship. Half of them are engaged in a course which deals with this material. The group shows great ignorance of current events; perhaps Spengler's belief that democracy is in decline is not far wrong."

Assistant Prof. Kermit Gordon, of the Economics Department, noted that the freshmen did better than did a general sample of the population at large, "but that doesn't say much." Richard A. Newhall, professor of history, suggested, however, that, "the questions hinge too much on the specific knowledge of a figure, so that ignorance and indifference is not conclusively proven."

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1930

CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE

DUST PROOF COAL

73

Spring St.

RANGE and FUEL OILS
 Williamstown
 Mass.

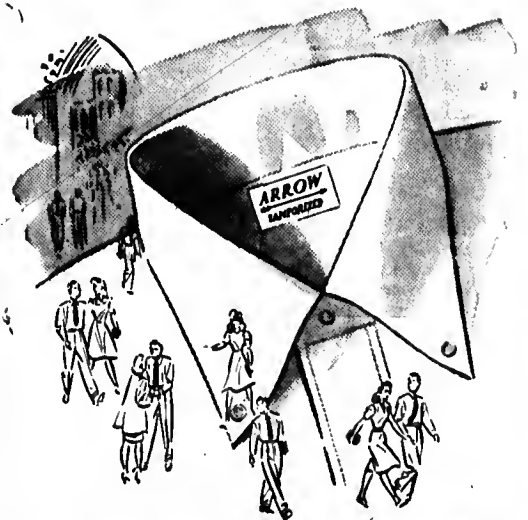

RUDNICK

Looks to the Future

When You Send Your Clothes To Us,
 We Take Pride In A Job Well Done.
 YOU Are Our Business And We Give
 Our Business The Very BEST.

Leave your laundry in your entry any day of the week for quick efficient service.

Let George do it!

ARROW GORDON OXFORDS BACK IN CAMPUS STYLE PICTURE!

N. Y., Jan., 1948 . . . Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., makers of Arrow products, announce the return of their fine Gordon oxford cloth shirts for college men.

1. FENWAY—Arrow's new oxford shirt with a button-down collar which comes in white, stripes, and solid colors.
2. DOVER—The classic of the button-downs with a medium point roll collar.
3. SUSSEX—Smartest of the wide-spread stay collars.
4. DOUBLER—The shirt that doubles for dress and sports. A regular length collar.
5. BROCKLY—Another fine oxford in medium point collars.

See your Arrow dealer now and place your order for your favorite style in Gordon oxford.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

WINS POPULARITY CONTEST

NO, the man in this picture is not upside down! You must be reading this standing on your head. Little wonder you can't pass the Finger-Nail Test. Better straighten up and streak down to the corner drug store for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil Hair Tonic. Just a spot of Wildroot Cream-Oil grooms your hair neatly and naturally—gives it that neat, well-groomed "college" man look. Relieves annoying dryness and removes loose, ugly dandruff . . . It's non-alcoholic, so don't try drinking it. Remember, however, it contains soothing Lanolin. Get Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic today and see for yourself why it's "again and again the choice of men who put good grooming first." For generous trial supply free, send this ad with your name and address to Wildroot Co., Inc., Dept. C-D, Buffalo 11, N. Y.

Purple Swimmers Sink Bowdoin By 45 - 30 Score

Freestylers Wield Power In Sixth Straight Victory

Morrow, Wineman Clip
New England Record;
220, 440 Exciting

by Norm Wood
Once again the overwhelming power of the freestylers played the leading role as the Williams swimming team rolled to victory over the Bowdoin Polar Bears Saturday afternoon, 45-30. Bowdoin was strong, and for seven events, in spite of Purple sweeps in the 50 and 100-yard dash, it was able to keep within a point of Williams, by virtue of victories in the 300 medley relay, dive backstroke, and a sweep in the breaststroke.

440 Goes It
By Reid, Captain Sandy Lambert and Bill Ingraham staged an extremely close and exciting race in the 440, as they all swam through the drooping flags at the finish line within five yards of each other. Reid led all the way, and was in the van by some three yards at the finish line. Captain Lambert pulled into second with about 150 yards to go, and nosed out freshman Ingraham by an arm-length, to make Purple victory certain.

Two events before, Bowdoin Captain Adin Merrow and Hank Wineman put on an exhibition of rapid back-paddling, as they both shattered the New England Intercollegiate 150 backstroke record. At the first 50, they went underwater for the turn at the same time Wineman kept pushing Merrow, but the Bowdoin ace slid into a slim lead at 100, and did not lose it as he finished five feet ahead of Wineman.

Records Fall
Morrow's time was 1:36.9, lowering the old mark, 1:38.0 set by him last year. It also eclipsed the Williams pool record, 1:39.7, which he set in the New England here last year. Wineman's time, 1:37.7, was under both old records, but was unofficial because there were not the times of three watches, a requirement for an official record.

In the curtain-raiser the Bowdoin 300 medley relay team of Merrow, Tony Soltyslak, and Bob McGowan edged out the Purple team of Wineman, Swede Svenson, and Bill Rueckert by two yards. Baldwin then led the field to capture the 220, but Polar Bear freshman Ingraham was only two yards behind him, and Reid, only three yards behind Ingraham.

Lennie Gath Outstanding
The sprints were all Purple. Chick Brashears and Moe Murray tied in a dead heat in the 50, and then Brashears copped the 100 by outtouching Murray by a yard. Dick Curry and McGowan finished third in the 50 and 100, respectively.

Lennie Gath, third in the New England last year, dove beautifully as he racked up 100.1 points. Al Hydeman showed his best form this winter, and earned 83.7 points and second place. Bowdoin's Bill Blaine nipped Cliff Stowers for third place, by roughly a quarter of a point.

Freestyle Relay Romps
Breaststroker Soltyslak won his event with ease in the time of 2:36.5, an only fair time for the Bowdoin ace. Paul Moran also finished before Svenson. The Purple 400 relay team of Murray, Brashears, Rueckert, and Baldwin walked to an easy, 20-yard victory.

Drippings . . . The 220 and 440 were both unusually close. . . Bill Ingraham is a freshman, but because Bowdoin is still on the accelerated program, he was allowed to swim.

Summary: Williams-45, Bowdoin-30. 300 medley relay, won by Bowdoin (Merrow, Soltyslak, McGowan), time 3:05.2; 220 free, won by Baldwin (W), Ingraham (B), Reid (W), time 2:18.2; 50 free, dead heat between Murray (W) and Brashears (W), Curry (B), time :24.5; Dive, won by Gath (B), Hydeman (W), Blaine (B), 100.1 points; 100 free, won by Brashears (W), Murray (W), McGowan (B), time :54.8; 150 back, won by Merrow (B), Wineman (W), Lamot

(W), time 1:36.9 (NEISA record); 200 breast, won by Soltyslak (B), Moran (B), Svenson (W), time 2:36.5; 440 free, won by Reid (W), Lambert (W), Ingraham (B), time 5:04.1; 400 free relay, won by Williams (Murray, Brashears, Rueckert, Baldwin), time 3:42.4.

Alumni Greet New Mentor

Watters To Stress Blocking, Tackling

by Seth Bidwell
Len Watters, the new Williams football mentor, brought the alumni to their feet at the conclusion of his introductory speech on the Williams campus, and left a deep and sincere impression on the 300 people gathered for the 18th Alumni Luncheon. Making no predictions for the coming season, Watters did promise that "the team will be well conditioned and able to go for the full sixty-minute tilt." He added, that it was his firm conviction that you cannot win ball games without this kind of conditioning.

Len Watters

—WPS Photo

Watters mentioned in a Record interview after the luncheon that his only plans for next year at the present time are to hold two conferences with the team before June.

"Old Fashioned"
Asserting that he is an old-fashioned coach and still believes in the fundamentals of blocking and tackling, Watters said, "I figure that you should knock them down so they don't get up in a hurry." He continued by saying that his team of last year forgot this principle in the Alliance, Ohio game, and found themselves trailing at half-time 12-0. "I told the boys between halves," he added, "that they were a modern ball club in the first half, and suggested that they go back to the old system." White Plains racked up four touchdowns in the period while Alliance efforts went for naught.

Continuing, Watters said that he believes football to be an intricate part of every American boy's life. He cited the example of his experiences at Bunker Hill Indiana Naval Air Station. During the 1944 season, Watters produced a team which practiced in shifts because half of the team was flying when the rest were on the ground. He introduced them to each other on Saturday afternoons, and only lost one game, to the Iowa Sea Hawks that season.

See WATTERS, page 4

End of Race

Following the record-breaking 1:36.9 time in the 150-yard backstroke, Adin Merrow, Hank Wineman, Ted Lamot take a breather.

Photo by Birchall

Matmen Down Army Defeats MIT, 24 - 10 Purple Squash

Third Win Sparked By Cook, Hall, Leitzinger

In their third straight win, the Eph wrestlers downed MIT, last year's New England Intercollegiate champions, by a decisive 24-10 count. Well on their way to the New England championship this year, the Bullockmen can draw considerable encouragement from the Amherst-MIT score — a 14-14 tie.

The curtain-raiser of the meet saw Chuck Turpin wrestling Harnsberger at 121 lbs. Turpin proved an able understudy for the injured Bill Kelton, gaining a 3-2 decision. Paul Cook, at 128 lbs., turned in the second victory by pinning Depula with a double bar arm in 4 minutes, 51 seconds.

Hank Hall, displaying his best form to date, had little trouble with Handy of Tech at 135 lbs. After a one-sided exhibition, Hall made his fall in 3 minutes, 50 seconds, the shortest time of the meet.

Leitzinger Outstanding
Another outstanding performance was turned in by Bill Leitzinger, wrestling the formidable Haggerty at 145 lbs. In an interesting, fast fight, which included four reversals, Leitzinger outpointed his man for a decision. The Techmen had no entry at 155 lbs. to face North; hence a five point forfeit brought the score to 21-0.

MIT's Captain Mauzy, displaying his usual form, was too much for Harry Neave in the 165 lb. slot. After a stubborn fight Neave bowed in the second period, with a 4 minute, 27 second fall. In the 175 lb. category, Chuck Blakney met Rock, a powerful but untalented entry. In a slow one-sided struggle Blakney was unable to make the pin but retired with a decision from an 8-0 count.

Undeclared Season

The Unlimited performance gave MIT its second match. John Stillwell met Soderberg, a surprisingly fast 245 lb. individual. His weight was sufficient to down Stillwell in a 5 minute, 41 second fall.

The remaining competition for the Ephs will consist of the Little Three circuit beginning with Wesleyan next week, and the New England which will be held here March 12 and 13.

Lincoln, Dodge Triumph As Cadets Win 6 - 3

A strong Army squash team, including some of the top intercollegiate players in the country, proved too powerful for the Williams outfit, downing them 6-3 before a large Winter-Homecoming crowd at the Lasell Gymnasium on Saturday afternoon.

With the first four matches almost certain to go to Army, Williams would have had to win the last five contests to take the match. They came close to doing this, winning the fifth, seventh, and ninth in quick order.

Chance for Victory

The home team still had a chance for victory until Jack Pfetsch, playing in the number six position, although forcing his opponent to four games, finally went down to defeat. After this match, Jerry Dresser, playing the last contest of the afternoon, dropped a four-game match to the Army man.

The spectators got an exhibition of fine squash in the number one match. Ball of Army, runner-up in the National Intercollegiate last year, downed George Wright, number one Williams man, by 15-11, 15-9, 15-5. The match was closer than the score indicates, however, as Wright displayed some excellent playing.

Thomas Loses

In the number two position, Oliver of Army had little trouble in trimming Randy Thomas, 15-9, 15-4, 15-8. Oliver's shot placements had Thomas on the go all the time. He also played the corners very well in winning an easy victory.

At the third spot, Bill Mikell, playing with one leg heavily taped, put up a stout game but was defeated by Army's Dougherty in four games, 15-5, 11-15, 15-7, 15-9.

Kneass Downed

The fourth match also went four games before Stillson of Army tripped George Kneass, 15-3, 12-15, 15-9, 15-6. Kneass had trouble with shots down the wall to his backhand.

The Eph's first victory was turned in by Ted Lincoln in the number five spot, downing Army's Wilford in three games. Lincoln had a

See SQUASH, page 4

Harvard Downs Sextet 5 - 1 Dartmouth Also On Top 9-1

by Jerry J. Cole

As the odds predicted, the Williams hockey team dropped two home games over the weekend — the first to Harvard 5-1 on Saturday afternoon, and the second to Dartmouth's crack sextet 9-1 on Monday. But both Dartmouth and Harvard knew they were in a hockey game before the final horn of the timekeeper.

Against Harvard, Coach Snively's men played inspired hockey for two periods, but failed to maintain the pace in the last stanza. There was no scoring at all in the first period as Dave Pynchon made some fine saves and Don Ratcliffe successfully ragged the puck while Tom Benson was in the penalty box. Williams frequently carried the action to the Harvard cage but was unable to counter.

Marchese Scores

However in 2:23 of the second period Bucky Marchese converted a Huntington and Owen assist and as the period wore on an upset appeared in the making. But at 13:31 the Crimson scored on a screen play as Pynchon was drawn out of the net, and three minutes later Harvard pushed its second tally into the cage to lead 2-1.

In the final frame the tempo and tempers increased along with the Harvard scoring punch. The Crimson added three more goals while managing to keep their own net unpenetrated.

On Monday afternoon before a good turnout of approximately 150 Williams played bold, aggressive hockey for one period to hold Dartmouth, one of the top sextets in the country, on even terms, but as in the Harvard game, the Purple tired and played defensive hockey in the last two periods.

Campbell drew first blood for Dartmouth at 3:06 after a scramble in front of the Williams cage. In the next twelve minutes there was no scoring, but plenty of activity. Don Ratcliffe continually pleased the partisan crowd by bowling over surprised Dartmouth men, Joe Reilly of Olympic fame included. Tempers and sticks were high and by the time the period ended each team was playing with four men on the ice. Williams drew two penalties and Dartmouth drew four in the first frame. At 15:22 the Ephs scored their only goal as Healy counted assisted by the Purple captain, Charlie Huntington. Goalie Dave Pynchon was credited with fifteen saves in this period.

Dartmouth Gains Control

In the second and third periods Dartmouth gained complete control of the ice keeping the puck constantly in the Williams zone mainly through the fine skating and play ability of Joe Reilly. The Green scored three times in the second frame even while Pynchon was making twenty-three successful defenses of his cage. Williams caught up to Dartmouth in penalties, garnering three to none for the Hanoverians. In the final stanza Dartmouth tallied five more times, taking advantage of snarls before the Williams net making Pynchon's job tending a very unenviable job. Dave's total of saves was a busy fifty. High man for Dartmouth was Malone with three goals, followed by Campbell with two goals, and also three trips to the penalty box, which is an even lower number than the spectators would have liked to see him take.

"I'm Western Electric. I back up your Bell Telephone Service with equipment and supplies."

There's a good reason why WESTERN ELECTRIC is in this family circle

Western Electric is a member of the Bell System family circle for exactly the same reason that your local Bell Telephone company is a member—to assure the close teamwork that is essential for efficient, economical, nation-wide telephone service for you.

As the supply member of the family, Western Electric makes telephone equipment, buys all kinds of supplies, keeps these things in stock at 29 distributing houses for delivery to the telephone companies, and installs central office equipment.

This unified service of supply results in many economies to the Bell Telephone companies and, in turn, to you who use the telephone.

Since 1882, Western Electric has been a member of the Bell Telephone family—helping to make your service the world's best at the lowest possible cost.

Western Electric

A UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM SINCE 1882

Williams Inn Game Room

OPEN HOUSE
EVERY NIGHT 5 TO 7

Free Popcorn

Fritos

Potato Chips

Also outstanding selection of Ales and Beers including Black Horse, Heineken's Budweiser, Schlitz, Pabst and Ballantine.

Lennox Robinson Tells Story Of Emergence Of Irish Theatre

Lennox Robinson, Irish dramatist, pointed to the intense nationalism of his people as the most important element in the Irish theatre, in his lecture Thursday evening in Jesup Auditorium.

Mr. Robinson prefaced his talk with the story of an incident which occurred recently in the Abbey Theatre in Dublin, for which he writes. The event concerned two young men who rose after one of the performances and protested against the bad acting and the theatre's excessive use of Gaelic. The speaker devoted the rest of his talk to the explanation of such an incident, unheard of in our own theatre, could happen in Ireland.

With the coming of the English and the turmoil and strife which they brought with them, the early Irish culture withered. The country was torn by the problems of Catholic emancipation, the land question, and political freedom. It was at this time that the young men, William Butler Yeats and his friends, decided to do something about a country which they saw had become ignorant, had forgotten its culture and language in political controversies. They started the Irish Renaissance, founding the Irish Literary Society, sending out lecturers, and distributing books.

The movement almost came to an end because of the impracticability of bringing a company over from London every year to produce the plays. But it was saved from extinction by a small group, headed by Willie and Frank Fay, who produced plays in makeshift theatres in their spare time. They attracted such geniuses as John Millington Synge, whose immortal "Riders to the Sea" was written for them. The accent turned to simple plays about the peasants and working people. But their art was not accepted, as has been the case with much of our own, because it was native.

With the death of Synge, however, a new generation took the initiative, a generation which loved Ireland to the point where they wanted to expose her every vice and fault. A company which came to America in 1911 exerted a tremendous influence on our play-wrights, who had hitherto written largely for the drawing room. They began to discover a wealth of material in ordinary people, in the Negro, on the front page.

The Gaelic language, he concluded, has become increasingly important until it is now a required subject. The people who

Fight Original Sin, Warns Preacher

Park Links Selfishness To World Friction

The Rev. William E. Park, '30, D.D., president of The Northfield Schools, East Northfield, placed the blame for world friction today on our failure to recognize and overcome "the dregs of original sin" in a sermon delivered at the Thompson Memorial Chapel Sunday evening, February 22.

Doctor Park believes that all of us, like Cluny Brown, should attempt to answer the question, "Who do you think you are?" Our world troubles today arise because we are too eager to ask this of others and too lax to ask it of ourselves.

He stated that once man has asked this question he will become aware of his own weaknesses, but that man alone can never overcome hatred, jealousy, and pride because the conquest of one merely leads to its replacement by another. He concluded with the statement that we can overcome these basic weaknesses in one way — by putting our ultimate trust in God.

were shocked by the sordiness of the Irish theatre in 1911 now take pride in it as one of the greatest expressions of their national culture. This was the emotion which prompted the two young men to raise their objections at the Abbey Theatre.

Luncheon - - -

small sport until it is now one of the most popular on campus. "Coming here in 1936, Muir has built four New England championships," Sheehan continued, "and Williams is now rated fourth nationally in swimming following Ohio State, Michigan, and Yale." After Mr. Watters speech, the luncheon was closed by the traditional singing of "The Mountains."

Watters - - -

He modestly attributed the success to the fact that the boys loved to play football.

Likes Williamstown

Mrs. Watters is the person responsible for the Watters family moving to Williamstown. On visiting Williamstown in the sub-zero of last January, Mrs. Watters still thought it a very beautiful place, and by the time they had gotten to Great Barrington on the return trip to White Plains, Watters had decided to make every effort to get the Williams job. The Watters will move to Williamstown in July.

Watters further asserted that in the transition from high school to college ball, he had no intention of going into the "big time." He said that he did not like the idea of "beating the bushes every summer when the trout season was on and the golf courses green, and then coming up with a football player who you discover couldn't do a problem in the division."

In his closing comment, he said, "I know that you will like Mrs. Watters. I know we will like Williamstown, and hope you will like us."

Squash - - -

stronger game and proved the better hitter throughout.

Eph Victories

The other two Eph victories were turned in by Linsley Dodge at number seven position, downing Army's McMullen in three games, and by Frank Donnelly at number eight, who bested Callowan of Army in three games.

The other two matches, which if won by Williams would have given them the match, went to Bradshaw and Pompan of Army over Williams' Pietsch and Dresser, both matches going four games.

If it's

BORDEN'S

It's got to be good

LADY BORDEN'S
ICE CREAM

105 Holden Street

Hell Week - - -

French class to get his professor's autograph on a raw egg. Several others had to borrow and get autographs on a variety of feminine lingerie.

A novel note was added to the time-proven trick of having pledges eat a meal with their hands tied to a long pole, by the house that furnished a live rooster for the harassed neophytes' dinner table.

Williams Swim - -

world's record. Joe Verdeur of LaSalle College, world's record-holder in the 200-yard and 200 meter breaststroke, will try to shatter his own existing records. A month ago he broke his 200-yard record, and more recently, his 200-meter record at Yale.

Bill Campbell and Manuel Sevilla, both of Springfield, will put on a diving exhibition. They were winner and runner-up, respectively, in last year's New England. Campbell and Springfield coach Ed Smythe will perform a comedy diving act. There will be a Pittsfield Girls' Aquacade, representing the Red Cross. Joe Hasenfus, U.S. Olympic star in 1936 will give a Red Cross demonstration in canoeing. The Williams Octet will sing, and possibly the Purple Knights will play.

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY SCHOOL of LAW

Admits Men and Women

Registration

Day and Evening Programs — September 13 to 15, 1948

Early application is necessary

Veterans accepted under G. I. Bills

47 MT. VERNON STREET BOSTON 8, MASSACHUSETTS

Telephone KEmore 5-5800

HARVARD SUMMER SCHOOL

OF ARTS, SCIENCES, AND EDUCATION

June 28, to August 21, 1948

Coeducational — Graduate and Undergraduate Courses

Veterans may enroll under G. I. Bill

Dormitory Accommodations and Cafeteria Service

(Engineering courses available in Graduate School of Engineering Summer Term.)

Address: Department W, 9 Wadsworth House, Harvard University, Cambridge 38, Massachusetts

WANTED

DESK
SALESMAN

Looking for one live-wire student to sell our student desks to rooming houses, fraternities, individuals in Williamstown.

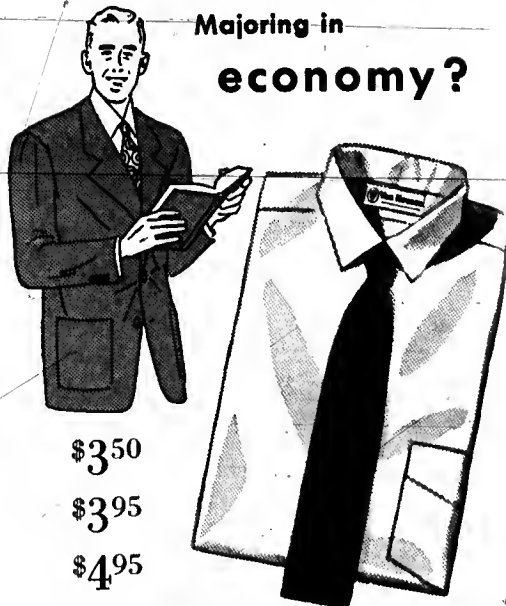

List your qualifications in a letter and enclose a letter of reference from a faculty member. Send to

FREEDMAN

Artcraft Engineering
Corp.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Majoring in economy?

$3.50

$3.95

$4.95

Yes, prices are an important item in every college man's curriculum these days, and that's one thing that makes Van Heusen shirts so popular. For these fine shirts are priced amazingly low! Other things that college men like are: smart new low-setting "Comfort Contour" collar styling; the action-tailoring; the figure-tapered fit; the tug-proof pearl buttons. In whites and exclusive patterns, in your favorite collar models. Sanforized—these shirts will stretch your budget but they'll never shrink out of size. You get a new shirt free if one does. $3.50, $3.95 and $4.95. PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., New York 1, New York.

You're the man most likely to succeed in

Van Heusen Shirts

TIES · SPORT SHIRTS · PAJAMAS

EXCLUSIVE AGENTS . . .

Williams Co-op

TACONIC
Theatre

TUESDAY thru THURSDAY

"Green Dolphin
Street"

LANA TURNER

VAN HEFLIN

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

"THE WEB"

with

ELLA RAINES

EDMOND O'BRIEN

WILLIAM BENDIX

Record Success Story!

RCA Victor's rising star of the keyboard
— Larry Green — scores another hit . . .
"GONNA GET A GIRL"

CAMEL
is the cigarette
for me!

WITHIN the past few months, Larry Green has climbed right up with the top bands of the land! If you ask Larry how he did it, he'll light up a Camel and say: "Experience is the best teacher in the band business — and in cigarettes. I know from experience that sweet music suits my band, just as I learned from experience that Camels suit my 'T-Zone' to a 'T'!"

Try Camels! Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience"!

And here's another great record—

More people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company
Winston-Salem, North Carolina

The Williams Record

Volume LXI

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1948

Number 29

Frosh Choose Mierzejewski As President In Close Race Sperry Also Elected

Spirited Election Held As Class Of '51 Crowds Jesup

By Frank Reiche '51
Mr. the hooting and hollering of the freshmen, Ernest I. Mierzejewski was elected president of the class of '51 at a stormy meeting at Jesup Hall Wednesday night. After the tumult calmed down for a moment, the frosh chose Bill Sperry as secretary, ending 70 minutes of "high-pressure" Williams' politics.

When Bob Boyer '48, Chairman of the UC Nominations and Rules Committee called the meeting to order, he explained the election procedure and called for nominations. Immediately names were fired from all corners of the hall, with a total of eighteen finally being chalked up on the board.

Slowly the candidates were eliminated until only two remained—Mierzejewski and Bill Sperry. In the sixth and final ballot Mierzejewski edged out Sperry by a 96-83 count.

The new president is no stranger to members of his class, for he captained the 1947 undefeated freshman football team. Before coming to Williams, Mierzejewski attended New Bedford Vocational High School in New Bedford, Massachusetts, his home town. In September, 1944, he entered the Army Air Corps and served until June 1948, rising to the rank of sergeant as a gunner in a B-29. Last year he enrolled at Taber Academy where he excelled in football, basketball, and baseball. President Mierzejewski is a member of Sigma Phi and hopes to continue his baseball career this spring.

At the conclusion of the presidential election, several members of the class of '51 decided that they had had enough and left before the election of a secretary. As a result only 103 votes were cast for secretary in the third ballot which saw Bill Sperry win over Ben Farrington in a close race, 60 to 43.

Secretary Sperry comes from Scarsdale, New York, where he attended Scarsdale High School and starred in football and baseball. He graduated in the class of '47 and continued to play winning football on the freshman team. See FROSH, page 4

Reporter Unable To Review Cow Quoting, Says Emotions 'Hard To Describe'

A student whom the Record asked to review the "Feb. 25c" issue of the Purple Cow which came out last weekend, left a note for the make-up editor explaining that he was unable to do the assignment. Attached to the note was page 13 of the issue on which everything had been crossed out except these words:

"Her lifeless form lay stretched out before me. The night was cold and I shivered a little. . . . My emotions were hard to describe. . . . How ridiculously simple, I thought. Without further hesitation, I picked her up by the tail, dropped her into the garbage pail. . . . As far as I was concerned it was good riddance, my conscience bothered me little."

Watt Explains Summer Tours To Europe Program Corrects Prejudices Caused By Ignorance

Program Corrects Prejudices Caused By Ignorance

Donald Watt, representative of the Experiment in International Living, explained his organization's program for increasing international understanding between Europeans and Americans in a talk at Jesup Hall Tuesday night.

This program, he said, features student tours abroad during the summer vacation in an effort to build up personal friendships. Following the talk, which was under the auspices of the NSA, Mr. Watt showed color films of last year's travels in Europe.

Urges Students

In urging students at Williams to avail themselves of this opportunity, he expressed the hope that the program would correct some of the misunderstandings caused by our motion pictures, soldiers, tourists, and residents abroad. Through this exchange of knowledge Americans and foreigners should have a higher respect for each other's way of life.

Life Photographer Pictures Williams

Life Magazine photographer Ralph Crane, Assistant Editor John Thorne, and James Crider have been in Williamstown for the past three weeks to take color pictures and gather material for a series of long "photographic essays" to appear next winter about American colleges and Universities.

The Life series will portray the advantages and disadvantages of at least two or three different types of schools, including an article on a large western or middle western university, and possibly one covering a large girls' college.

Writings Of College Physician Exposed; Dr. McAlpin Turns Out Stories On Sly

by John B. Shepardson '50
Not content with the details of his profession, Kenneth R. McAlpin, M.D., is regularly turning out fiction on the sly. He has been doing it ever since 1917, when the conclusion that "Doctors have the world's worst style" led him to write his first story in the hope that it would improve his technique on medical papers.

Afraid of possible accusations that he would be "shooting off his mouth," Dr. McAlpin was modest about revealing the extent of his writings, which include one novel and innumerable short stories turned out during the past thirty years.

Taught at Columbia

Dr. McAlpin was graduated from Princeton in 1905, received his M.A. from there in 1908 and obtained his M.D. from Columbia in 1910. After a term at the University of Munich, he returned to Columbia where he was assistant professor of internal medicine from 1914 until his arrival at Williams in 1940.

Began To Publish Stories

The doctor-author harbored no intentions of continuing in the field when he began to write fiction in 1917, hoping thereby to develop

Sheep Hill Before The Storm

Winter Carnival Chairman James N. Dorland '50, captain of the ski team, Richard Brown '48, and ski team member August Klein '48 optimistically practice their skiing in anticipation of the blizzard predicted by Dorland.

Chairman Of Winter Carnival Forecast Blizzard Tomorrow

Key communication centers have been alerted for the blizzard of February 29, Winter Carnival head James N. Dorland '50, optimistically told The Record Wednesday. Trucks and crews are on twenty-four hour emergency call to cart excess snow away from Sheep Hill.

Dorland, who has installed a direct wire to the New York weather bureau, expressed a hope that Route 7 will be cleared by next Friday and two rotary plows are being rushed from Boston at his request.

In case the blizzard fails to occur, the name of the weekend will be changed to "The Winter Follies" and the ski competition will be held Saturday on Greylock's Thunderbolt Trail.

In any case, the Friday night dance will be held in the Lasell. See CARNIVAL, page 2

Stassen Group WGY Presents Being Started Glee Club

A group of students interested in forming a Students-For-Stassen club at Williams met Tuesday night to discuss plans for organization. John M. Reid was elected temporary chairman.

Reid announced that the group's charter would arrive late this week and that a membership drive would be launched Monday to enroll as members eligible voters as well as students who are under the voting age.

A meeting open to all prospective members will be held Monday. The time and place to be announced later. Other activities of the group will include a talk in March by Mr. William H. Vanderbilt, former governor of Rhode Island.

The Williams and Emma Willard Glee Clubs will sing over station WGY in Schenectady, N.Y. at 4:30

During the 30 minute program, the Williams group, under the direction of Professor Robert G. Barrow, will sing the "Drinking Song" from J. S. Bach's "Peasant Cantata," "Crucifixus" by Antonio Lotti, and works by Haydn and Deems Taylor. Joining with the Emma Willard Glee Club to form a 140 voice chorus, they will sing part of Haydn's oratorio "The Seasons" and Brahms' "Chorus of Homage."

The next concert of the Glee Club will be in New York on March 13 when the group will appear with a chorus of selected voices from three New York girls' schools.

Schlesinger, Porter Signed For Panels

Spring Conference Announces List Of Ten Men

Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., professor of history at Harvard University and author of "The Age of Jackson," and Paul Porter, former head of the Office of Price Administration, will be among the members of the eleven-man panel assembled here May 14-16 under the auspices of the Spring Conference Committee to examine "The Challenge to American Politics — 1948 and Beyond." Kenneth Galbraith, a member of the editorial board of "Fortune" magazine, will also be present.

The remaining eight speakers, representing a wide range of viewpoints, will include Frank Abrams, of the Board of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, who will be the opening speaker; Tom Braniff, President of Braniff Airways; Professor Louis Hacker of Columbia University; James Reston, the Washington correspondent of The New York Times; T. V. Smith, former professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago; Stacy May of the Economics Research Institute; and Elmo Roper, New York Herald Tribune pollster.

Discussions in AMT

The panel, representing the fields of writing, philosophy, government, corporation enterprise, teaching, economics, editing, aviation, and research, will conduct its discussions in the Adams Memorial Theater.

The Conference will begin Friday. See CONFERENCE, page 2

Verdeur To Highlight First Swim Carnival

Joe Verdeur, world's record holder in the 200-yard and the 200-meter breaststroke, and Clara Lamore, national AAU champion in the 100-meter breaststroke, will head a field of outstanding aquatic performers in the first Williams Swimming Carnival at the Lasell Pool at 8 p.m. tonight.

In addition to these stars, Marian Senior, N.E.A.A.U. champion in the 100-yard women's breaststroke, Joe Hansenfus, U.S. Olympic Star in 1936, Bill Campbell and Manuel Sevilla, Springfield diving stars, a host of Williams swimmers, and a bevy of beauties from the Pittsfield Girls' Aquacade will be on hand for the festivities.

Newspapers Want College Graduates

Hartford Editor Talks To College Reporters

Speaking to 100 delegates of the Third Annual Inter-collegiate Newspaper Conference held at Wesleyan University last weekend, H. Viggo Andersen, Sunday editor of The Hartford Courant, said that most large metropolitan newspapers prefer college graduates in their organizations.

He stressed the point that graduates will have to start on the "ground floor" just as everyone else, but it is the graduate who will climb to the more responsible and interesting positions.

Stating that the position of reporter will undoubtedly be one of those filled by a college graduate on the "way up," Mr. Andersen summarized the qualifications of a good reporter as consisting of a "more than ordinary amount" of intelligence, a lively curiosity, a sympathy for his fellow man, a pleasing personality, a controlled aggressiveness, and a working knowledge of English.

Half-Cut Rule Chopped; Full Cuts Granted

Later Curfew Hour

Help For Fund Drive; Hell Week Also Debated At UC

Free cuts will be granted to all students representing the College on trips away from Williamstown, it was announced at a meeting of the Undergraduate Council Monday night.

Prof. Whitney S. Stoddard revealed that the faculty had decided to do away with the one-half cut system formerly covering athletic trips away from the college. Free cuts will now be given to participants in the activities of any recognized athletic or non-athletic college organization on trips, Mr. Stoddard said that, as in the past, managers will be required to submit a list of the names of the men making the trip, with the time of departure and return.

Guest Ruling Changed

John Wilson '48 announced at the meeting that Dean Brooks had put a ruling through the faculty extending time limits for the presence of female in college dormitories during the Winter Carnival weekend. The curfew hours set were at 10 p.m. Friday night and 9 p.m. for Saturday night. Wilson said that students desiring to entertain dates in their rooms must sign up in the Dean's Office before the weekend, giving his name, the name of the girl, and the number of the room in which the couple plans to be.

Since the Dean said that this plan might be re-installed if all goes well this first time, Wilson said that he hoped that Junior Advisers will be able to check the Freshman Quad and enforce the ruling. He said that the Discipline Committee of the UC will appoint one person from each party to be responsible for everyone leaving the room at the proper time.

Support For Fund Drive

UC President Harry Dewey '48 suggested that undergraduates be asked to support the Building and Endowment Fund Drive. Since their instructors will be the first to benefit from the fund, he felt that such a drive would make a very personal appeal to the men now in college.

Jim Young '48 proposed that collection be made through the social units, with house presidents taking it upon themselves to set their own quotas. The UC set up a committee headed by Dewey to formulate plans for the drive.

The Council reported that the VA would pay the UC tax next year.

Wasted Week

Fred Henry '48 pointed out to the UC that there is a certain amount of feeling among faculty members against the week of hazing prior to fraternity initiations known as "Hell Week." Henry said that some faculty members feel that to a great number of students, "Hell Week" is a wasted week, academically speaking. He asked if there were any steps that might be taken to clear up this apparent student-faculty conflict.

President Dewey said, "I don't feel that there is very much that the UC can do about it." He said that as far as explaining "Hell Week" to the faculty is concerned, there is no need for that, since there are enough fraternity men on the faculty who all ready know the purposes of "Hell Week."

House Reminder

Bernard J. Felch '48 favored the idea of reminding all houses not to keep their men so busy that they will be forced to miss any of their classes and neglect their work. Dewey summed up the matter by saying that he would see Dean Brooks to determine faculty See U. C., page 2

Dr. McAlpin pounds out a story in between patients.

a style for his medical papers but he was urged to have some of these fictional efforts published, and some were accepted by magazines. Since then he has continued to turn out these short works at the rate of two or three a year.

Writing, however, has never been more than a hobby with Dr.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts Williamstown, Massachusetts
"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, of the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editorial Board
Editor in Chief J. David Maier, '48
Managing Editor Charles H. Klensch, '48
Sports Editor Borrett F. Emmert, '48
Copy Editor Robert A. Rupen, '48
Senior Associate Editor Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
Office Manager Ben B. Foster, '48
Make up editor for this issue J. Edward Powlick '49

Volume LXI FEBRUARY 28, 1948 Number 29

Another Example

Fortunately the railroad attempted at last Wednesday's freshman elections was unsuccessful. But it was another typical example of the fiascos possible under the present system.

Two social units have been accused of arranging a pre-election agreement for mutual support of their respective candidates in order to coral both positions.

In other words Social Units A and B would vote for Mr. A for president, and then both vote for Mr. B for secretary. The circumstantial evidence in the following chart would seem to substantiate the accusations:

Presidential Election:	Person Elected
	Mr. A
Ballot 1	40	14
Ballot 2	42	24
Ballot 3	44	53
Ballot 4	47	69

Of course we are willing to admit that these figures could be slightly off, since in the third ballot the five votes of the nominees who were polled separately changed the standings by six votes. Then in the fourth ballot the 173 people present managed to chalk up a total of 186 votes. All in all the election of the freshman president was very exciting.

Evidently the election of the secretary wasn't as exciting, since 62 members of the class walked out before the balloting.

The figures we have been quoting are not meant, and should not be taken, as a slam at individuals. Under the present class election system such shenanigans are customary and natural. A few weeks ago the Record advocated a plan for class elections which we felt would eliminate these shenanigans. The Nominations and Rules Committee of the Undergraduate Council saw fit to reject this proposal. That is their privilege. But it is not their privilege to ignore this latest fiasco of student government resulting directly from an inadequate and antiquated system.

J.D.M.

Carnival - - -

Gym from 10-2 to the music of Sammy Vincent's 14 piece band. Vincent, who played for the Smith Charity Ball, will feature as girl vocalist, Ann Weir, formerly with Claude Thornhill.

Informality the Theme
Informality will be the theme of the Carnival and ski clothes may be worn the entire weekend, even at the Friday night dance. Ski boots will not be allowed at the dance, however, because they would mar the floor.

Floyd "Pappy" Moon who won a Massachusetts state square dance calling championship will be leading square dancing in the wrestling gym at the same time that Vincent is scheduled to be providing his smooth music in the main gym. Dance Committee head Paul Mort '50 has warned that Moon must be seen to be appreciated as it is his sparkling personality that puts fun into the dancing.

Both gyms will have a snowy, wintery atmosphere provided by a professional decorator. Refreshments and a lounge will both be upstairs in order to give everyone plenty of dancing room.

Medals to Skiers
Medals will be awarded to skiers finishing first and second in all four events and also in the combined jump-cross country and slalom-downhill. The awards will be presented at a beer party to be held for contestants at the Alumni House Sunday afternoon if Sheep Hill is useable and Saturday night if all the races must be held at Greylock on Saturday.

The 50 entrants will sleep at the Cole Field House but will eat at the various social units. Those teams who will participate are Yale, Amherst, Syracuse, Bowdoin, Norwich and RPI.

If the predicted blizzard materializes the ski schedule will begin with cross country Friday afternoon followed by slalom and jumping on Sheep Hill Saturday. Sunday morning will feature downhill races on Mt. Greylock.

McAlpin - - -

and Old Mexico." His formula in recent stories has been to set them in these localities, transferring to the West the people he finds in the East.

This allows him to bring in local western habits and characters—guides, cowhands and other native personalities. He has not, he declared, attempted to write "wild westerns" with the usual gunfights and bandits.

Movies 100% Wrong
"I'd like to debunk the 'westerns', especially movie 'westerns,'" he asserted. "Movie gunfights are one hundred per cent cockeyed; when a man shoots a pistol in the movie he flinches. The actor probably'd never seen a pistol before!"
Asked if he had ever thought of writing historical novels, he cocked his head and said "Well... yes." Recalling the novel "Dragonwyck," he asserted that he was interested in the plight of the farmers victimized by the surviving Dutch patroonships on the Hudson during the last century.
Interested in Patroon History
The patroons, he said owned vast tracts of land, portions of which they would "sell" to local farmers. A contract would be signed between patroon and farmer, whereby the farmer would have to pay a huge portion of his production to the patroon as a tithe or "rent" for the rest of his life.

Failure of rent payment, stipulated in the contract, caused the farmer's land to revert back to the patroon. A further legal twist demanded the farmer to pay taxes on the land, since, by the contract he owned the land.

Make Good Novel Setting
The author of "Dragonwyck," said Dr. McAlpin, injected too much mysticism into her novel. What some enterprising author might do, he said with a flash in his eye, would be to write a novel about the farmers' revolt in 1845 which led to the virtual rewriting of the New York State constitution.
"One thing I forgot to say about my stories," he said in conclusion, "there's always the love stuff." Asked if all his stories contained "love stuff," he exclaimed, "Oh, Lord yes... I've got three daughters."

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor of the Williams Record:

As chairman and chief instigator of the Undergraduate Council's Committee of Social Relations, I found Mr. Riis's letter of January 23rd, regarding fraternities, very interesting.

I certainly agree with his observations, but it seems to me that further comments are in order. First, it might be well to put the UC's resolution in some perspective. At the last National Interfraternity Conference in New York, which I attended, the consensus of those attending was that discrimination was the democratic right of fraternities, and that the establishment of more fraternities for minority groups, ie: Jews and Negroes, would provide answer to the critics of the system, or at any rate silence most of us who criticized. Fraternity critics were classified generally as those who themselves did not "make" a fraternity, and it was stated at various times in the meeting that such criticism came from "Communist-inspired" groups.

When this information was reported to the UC, these conclusions of the National Interfraternity Conference were eschewed, and stated as not representing opinions at Williams. One of the undergraduates, Roger Ernst, then thought of getting this college's non-adherence to these opinions in the form of a statement by the board of trustees, after the student body expressed itself on the subject. Voting by the student body on the resolution offered was clearly not in the terms of the original wording of the resolution, but involved much extraneous opinion on the subject. This was probably inevitable. To get some more meaningful idea of undergraduate opinion of the fraternity system as it operates here, the UC, somewhat haltingly and reluctantly, approved the taking of a poll which is to embody a sufficient range of questions in sufficient detail so that the confusion and misconstruction of the original resolution will be avoided. This poll is to be undertaken by the first of April.

This whole business of "undergraduate social relations" was brought into prominence by my "campaign speech" in running for the presidency of the Garfield Club. The gist of the speech was that the existing social arrangement here is poor indeed. It is based on principles which seem to me to defy the meaning of a liberal arts education and the meaning of the principles upon which this nation is supposedly built. This gap between principle and practice is repugnant to me, and I wish to do what one person can do to lessen the gap, if it cannot be eliminated.

There was an immediate emotional reaction to my speech on the part of various fraternity members. I threatened to "split the campus" and do other horrible things. From the start, however, it was evident to me that a procedure which was to have a chance of resulting in any action whatsoever, must be taken through a body such as the UC, which represents the whole college, or else the administration, above the undergraduate body, would have to act. That is the administration would have to impose a change, or the undergraduate body itself would have to take action. I dismissed the idea of administration action as being unlikely.

Of course, the only meaningful action I am able to postulate, given the local conditions, would be to advise the college to get title to the houses and assign students to them as though they were dormitories which they would become. The chances of this taking place seem to me remote. But this does not mean that those who believe in the system are wrong and must abdicate. Stirring up thought on the subject is necessary. If "education" and not "legislation" be the key to the solution education must be attempted. Refusal even to consider the matter, the idea of letting the thing work itself out, is abdication.

Will the fraternities here admit that they "exist wholly by being exclusive and discriminatory," as Mr. Riis states in his letter? When they denied the National Interfraternity Conference conclusions they denied this proposition. I detect inconsistency. If the inconsistency can be indicated continually, and even harped upon, perhaps, some day, the undergraduate body will take upon itself the task of resolving this inconsistency.

One thing more — many feel that eliminating that obvious discrimination will solve the whole problem. Mr. Riis shows, that he knows, there is more to it, by including "exclusive" as well as "discriminatory" in his characterization of the fraternities. But this gets more subtle, though I think that free acceptance of Jews and Negroes, the elimination of discrimination, is not unrelated to the more basic problems of exclusiveness. The one can be a stop to the other.

Sincerely,

Bob Rupen '48

To the Editor of the Williams Record:

We believe that the coming election will be a crucial one in the history of our country. With that in mind the American people must be particular in their choice of a presidential candidate. Therefore, we urge all readers of this newspaper to support Harold E. Stassen for many reasons, the fundamental ones being:

1. Stassen is a good administrator — in his three terms as Governor of Minnesota, he provided efficient State government, cut state debt 25% and at the same time improved the State's numerous welfare programs.
2. Stassen can provide for industrial peace. Minnesota's famous Labor Peace Law, which he enacted, has worked successfully for ten years.
3. Stassen can get us World Peace. His appeal for a United Nations Charter Review to strengthen that organization is the only realistic approach towards getting peace in our time.

Sincerely yours,

John M. Reid
A. Richard Goodman
John Kimball Whitney
Raymond E. Baldwin, Jr.
William A. E. Leitzinger
Charles C. Jensch
Stephen C. Wyer
Hubert R. Hudson
Edwin A. Buck
John P. Worcester

Conference - - -

day evening with a Plenary Session at which time Mr. Abrams will give the first of two formal addresses. The purpose of Mr. Abrams address will be to preview the topics to be discussed during the three panel discussions taking place Saturday and Sunday. The second speech concerns the interrelationship of domestic and foreign policy.

Ten eastern colleges have been invited to send two observers to the conference. A group of twenty foreign students, touring the New England states under the auspice opinion before any action is taken. The Council vigorously opposed taking part in any anti-Universal Military Training campaign, as was requested in a letter read to the UC by Dewey. To close the meeting, the UC decided to answer two other letters, requesting support of the Marshall Plan by explaining that the College is in the process of supporting it at the present time.

U. C. - - -

of the National Students Association, are expected in Williamstown for the occasion.

The Williams Inn

Don't forget the Saturday night feature of Chieken Cacciatore with Spaghetti and Chianti Wine.
Our famous Sunday night buffet which before the war brought fraternities en masse is again being served for Williams men.
● On Campus ● Cocktail Lounge ● Game Room

INSURANCE BROKERS TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.
116 John Street, N. Y. C. Beekman 3-4730

McGregor Sportswear

WARM JACKETS — SWEATERS

PLAID SHIRTS — SHEEP COATS

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

George M. Hopkins Co.

Spring Street

Phone 29-R

NEW SHIPMENT

TAVERN CANDLES — 10 in., 15 in., 18 in.
STEM COCKTAIL GLASSES — $4.50 a doz.
COCKTAIL SHAKERS — $1.49 each
HEAVY BASE GLASSES — $1.49 a doz.
Assorted Maple and Mahogany Tables

KEEP YOUR FORD'S

Showroom Complexion BRIGHT

Expert body and fender repairs done the FORD WAY... with special FORD equipment and finishing materials. Reasonable prices.

The Smith Baker Co.

INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

WHERE TO TAKE A DATE?

Easy — cocktails in the Ladies Lounge of the Williams Club, dinner in the Ladies Dining Room, (and what drinks and what a dinner!) After that you're on your own.

Just one among many reasons why the Williams Club is the meeting place of Williams Men in New York.

Some others:

Fine food at reasonable Prices in the Grill.

Theatre Ticket Service (with capsule critiques if needed) by Stanley at the front desk.

Good rooms for overnight, with special rates for Undergraduates.

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City
Undergraduates Always Welcome!

Shall have,

"Sorry, Mrs. Higgenbotham, no exceptions. You'll have to pay your package of Dentyne Chewing Gum or you don't get in!"

"Sure, Dentyne Chewing Gum is keen-tasting! Sure, it'll help keep your teeth white! So what? Who's gonna stop you from getting yourself another pack of Dentyne—after you've seen my swell show?"

Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

Williams Quintet Sand-Bagged By Wesleyan 58-28

Ditmar Scores 18 Points; Ephs Stage Fruitless Second Half In Little Three Defeat

by Seth Bidwell

After staging a first half battle with Wesleyan Wednesday, which had all the makings of a real ball game, Williams splurged themselves to the grand total of seven points in the second period and produced their first conference loss 58-28. George Ditmar was the Williams high-scorer with eighteen points.

With the half time score reading 26-21 in favor of the Cardinals, and Ditmar the main Eph contributor with sixteen points in that period, it appeared that the Williams first period hard luck might end and put the favored Wesleyan in a precarious position. Opening the second, however, Wenner, Wes guard, chipped in three lay-ups and a free toss along with Gunders, while Williams was pulling a repeat of the first half and going scoreless for six minutes. Ditmar then scored with a center set to break the ice.

Instead of breaking the ice, this merely sealed it tighter, and the Williams offense amounted to a lay-up and two charity tosses by Ralph Mason, and a free-throw by Wideman. Wesleyan in the meantime was having a field-day, and after practically running the score to fifty-four at intermission, the JV's were substituted.

Basket Lids On Tight

The janitor forgot to take the lid off the baskets in the first period, and the spectators were treated to the spectacle of both teams' frantic scoring attempts going for naught for the first five minutes of play. Wenner finally drove in for a lay-up, and converted a foul by Page, to put Wesleyan three ahead. Wesleyan then dumped in three more before Ditmar dropped in the first Williams counter after six minutes of play.

Williams then staged a scoring spree which saw Ditmar, Mason, and Brownell more than matching shots with the Cardinals to bring the score to fifteen-all after 12 minutes had elapsed. "Hook" Littell, the six-foot six inch Wesleyan center then entered the game, and threw in three fantastic no look shots, and the Weamen pulled ahead again.

Ditmar and Lavelli

However, the Cardinals were unable to stop Ditmar whom the Hartford papers had described as another Lavelli, and the partisan Middletown crowd was not in the least convinced that he was not going to continue his scoring exhibition. During this period, the Ephmen had missed eight free-shots along with several easy lay-

See BASKETBALL, page 4

LAMPS

FABRICS

RUGS

GIFTS

on the Bennington Road just past Phi Gam

Jackson Captains Frosh Basketball

Dave Jackson '51 was elected captain of the undefeated freshman basketball at the Wednesday night practice session. Dave, a member of Phi Gamma Delta, has been the outstanding defensive player on the Coomb-coached basketball team was the starting left end on the freshman football team last fall.

He hails from Hinsdale, Illinois, and went to the Fountain Valley School in Colorado where he co-captained the basketball team and played varsity football and baseball.

Wrestlers To Face Wesleyan

Purple Favored In Third Home Meet

In their third home meet of the season, the Eph wrestlers face Wesleyan this afternoon. In contrast to last year, when they tied us for second place in the New England, the Cardinals have not had an auspicious season. The odds are still tipped for Williams, chiefly by comparison of scores in meets with Tufts; Wesleyan won 18-13. Williams triumphed 29-3.

Their other essays this winter include losses to Harvard and Coast Guard, 30-0 and 19-11 respectively, and a 16-16 tie with Amherst. The first two, Harvard and Coast Guard, are probably the strongest teams in this territory, however, so those outcomes give no indications this meet will be a pushover.

Weakened by the graduation of Koehler, Carey, and Stillman, the Cards retain strength in Captain Frank Bowles at 155 lbs., Art Stemler at 145 lbs., and Jim Burton, the football star, in the Unlimited slot.

The Williams line-up is indefinite at this time; Bill Kelton, still recovering from a dislocated knee, will probably again yield the 121 lb. fight to Chuck Turpin. John Stillwell's appearance is uncertain, and Grant North, due to graduate exams, retires in favor of Dick Bilder at 155 lbs.

SALVY'S

SKI BOOTS REDUCED!

G. H. BASS

$29.50 to $23.95

$22.50 to $18.95

$11.50 to $ 8.95

Varsity Swimmers Favored To Tounce Wesleyan Today

by Stu Robinowitz

Coach Bob Muir's swimmers, who haven't been beaten since Yale turned the trick way back in 1944, shouldn't have too much trouble extending this season's victory skien to seven when they entertain the Cardinals from Wesleyan in the Lasell Pool 2:30 this afternoon.

The Ephmen dunked the Bowdoin Bears 45-30 here last Saturday, and a few weeks back those same Bears soundly thumped Wesleyan 50-25, taking both relays and firsts in every event except the breaststroke and the dive. Against the only other mutual opponent, Wesleyan beat the University of Mass. 58-17, while Williams beat the State swimmers 82-13. Coach Muir seemed confident, but still a bit cautious, when he said, "We should beat them, but they have some good men. It will be a good meet."

Taylor Impressive

Among those singled out on the Cardinal squad by Muir was Rob Taylor, who has been impressive in the diving event, and a free-styler named Stone, who has been a consistent winner in the 220 and a threat in the 100. Ray Baldwin and Bob Reid have each bettered Stone's best time, 2:23.8. Coach Muir said that his divers, Al Hyde-man and Cliff Stowers, were "going good now" and should make it interesting for Taylor in the dive.

Hank Wineman, Williams back stroke ace, will go after Adin Merrow's record shattering 1:36.9 in the 150 yard event. The Bowdoin captain turned in that time here Saturday and lowered the old mark, 1:38.0, which he set here last year. Wineman was clocked in 1:37.7, as he finished five feet behind the Bowdoin swimmer. Coach Muir said that Wineman, who has been plagued by colds and a sore back, could better Merrow's time "if he's on."

Good Wes Record

Aside from the Bowdoin defeat Wesleyan has compiled a good record, winning over University of Conn. 50-25, over University of Mass. 58-17, over MIT 49-26 and over Amherst 47-28. On the strength of comparative scores, the Ephmen seem definite favorites in the race for Little Three laurels.

The Williams swimmers enjoy an 18-10 victory margin over Wesleyan in dual meets since 1916. One has to go back to the 1936 encounter for the last Wesleyan victory.

The freshmen will meet the Redbird's yearling squad after the varsity affair. Starting time for this meet should be around 4 p.m.

Yearling Five Wins Over Pittsfield High

Unbeaten Frosh Blunt Drive, Win 47-41

Bobby Coombs' freshman basketball team withstood a second half rally by a well-coached Pittsfield High five to remain undefeated and to gain their fifth victory by a 47-41 count. Dave Jackson, the club's standout defensive guard, was elected captain after the game.

Coach Coombs started his second team which acquired an 11-8 lead by the end of the first quarter. The aptly named "Squid" Sheehy controlled both backboards while little Bill St. Clair and Chuck Hoeffer chipped in with eight points.

Pusey Scores 11

The second quarter saw the first team go into action and score twelve points to Pittsfield's two in the first five minutes. By the end of the first half, the yearlings sported a comfortable 27-18 lead, thanks chiefly to the improved defensive play of pivot man Chuck Pusey, who also captured the scoring honors with eleven points.

The second half was an entirely different story. The high schoolers began to shoot from the outside and outscored the Ephmen 23-20 in this half. Had it not been for the stellar defensive play of Bob Larsen and Dave Jackson, the outcome might have been quite different.

Williams box score.

	fg	f	tp
Hoeffer lf	2	1	5
Larsen rf	2	1	5
Zeller rf	0	1	1
Fagerburg	3	1	7
Sheehy c	2	0	4
Pusey	5	1	11
St. Clair lg	2	0	4
Fraser	2	0	4
Lynch rg	0	0	0
Jackson	2	2	8
Totals	20	7	47

Bowling League

Interest has been expressed by several houses in the possible formation of an interfraternity bowling league. The teams will consist of five men, three games being bowled per man in each match. A cup will be offered to the winning house at the end of the year as well as one to the man bowling the high three consecutive games. All houses that are interested in the organization of such a league should have their representative call either Ted Holsen at 304 or Bob Walmsley at 192 for full particulars.

Patronize

RECORD

Advertisers

Squash Team Downs Wes By 5-4 Score

Thomas' Win Decisive; Jayvees, Freshman Also Down Cardinals

Randy Thomas' five-game victory over Wesleyan's Cagney in the number two position provided the margin of victory as Williams' squash team won a close match from Wesleyan by a 5-4 score at Middletown on Wednesday. The Jayvee and Freshman teams also won their matches to make a clean sweep.

In the crucial number two match, the contest stood even at two-all after four games. In the deciding fifth game the score went to fourteen-all, but Thomas took the next three points to win the game and the match.

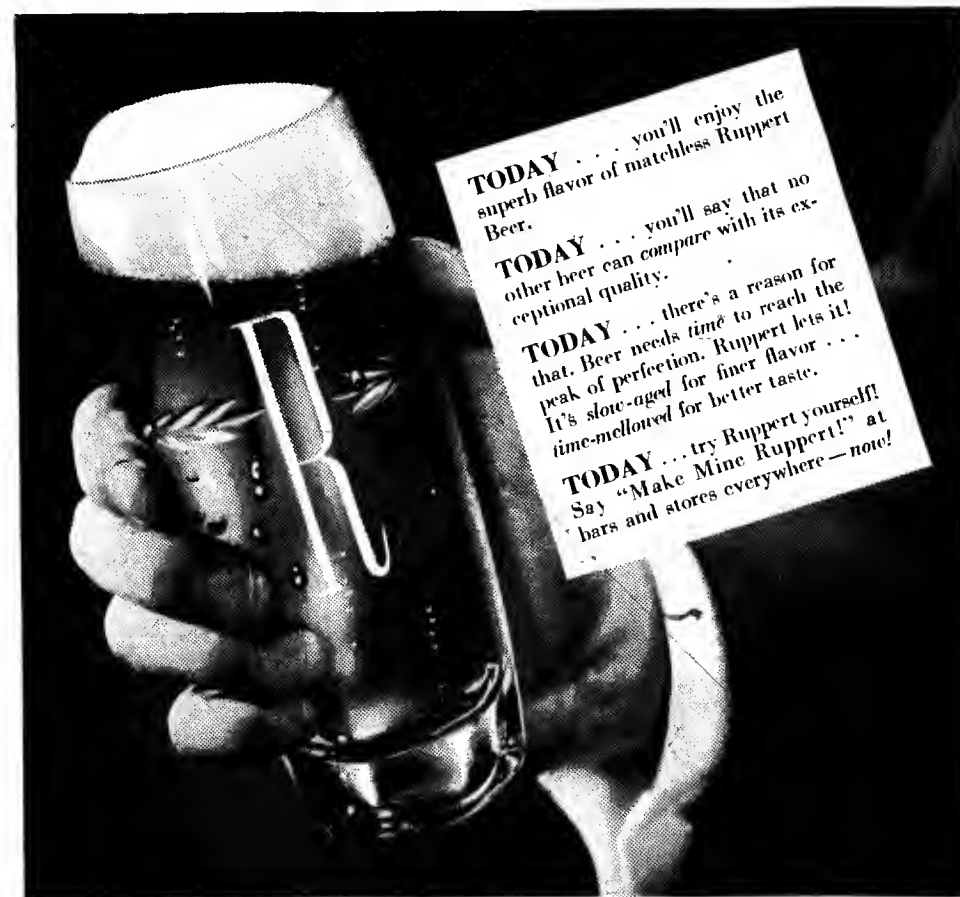

Salaun Wins

In the number one match, Captain Hank Salaun of the Cardinals, one of the best squash players in New England, proved too strong for George Wright, winning in four games. Wesleyan also took the number three match, when Bill Mikell still hampered by a taped leg, lost in four games to Spelman of Wesleyan.

Lou Lincoln, playing number four, downed Cowan of Wesleyan in three games. Frank Donnelly in the fifth position also won his match in three straight games. Bud Dodge at number six, dropped a four game match to Luty of Wes. In the seventh position, George Kneass was just edged out by Wesman Travis in five games. The first three games of this See SQUASH, page 4

TODAY

try Ruppert—it's Delicious!

Ruppert Knickerbocker Beer and Ruppert Ale, Jacob Ruppert, New York City—1948

Today—try New York's Most Famous Beer

RUPPERT

Bowl-For Health

BOWLING

8 ALLEYS ALWAYS READY TO SERVE YOU

REDUCED STUDENT RATES IN THE

AFTERNOON

For Reservations, Call

Bowlitorium

North Street

Phone 800-W

Paragraphs In The News

Representatives of three organizations offering jobs will be in Williamstown during the week of March 1 to interview seniors. Tuesday, March 2, D. W. Crowther, superintendent of the Group Division of the Aetna Life Insurance Co. and Walter Dowling, Associate Chief, Division of South European Affairs of the State Department will be here. Wednesday, March 3, George C. Capen, Assistant Superintendent of Agencies of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company will interview applicants. Seniors are urged to learn as much as possible about the company and the job opening before going to each interview.

Squash - - -

match all went to deuce. Williams Wins

Williams swept the last matches, with Jack Pietsch at number eight winning in three straight games, and tennis-star Stu Robinson taking the number nine match in four games. Robinson, up against a very hard hitter, used his head and outsmarted his opponent to win his match.

The Jayvee team, winning twenty-two games out of a possible twenty-seven, slaughtered the Wesleyan Jayvees, winning all nine matches. The Freshman had even less trouble with the Wesleyan Frosh, also winning their match by a 9-0 score. Every contest in this match was won in three games, except for the number one contest, where Rich Allen took four games to down his opponent.

The varsity plays at Princeton today. They will attempt to annex the Little-Three Crown, when they meet Amherst at home next Wednesday.

FAIRFIELD'S FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

By popular acclaim the RICHMOND GRILL is the place to go for FOOD and DRINKS

Richmond Hotel
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

TACONIC

FRIDAY & SATURDAY
"THE WEB"
with
Ella Raines
William Bendix
Edmond O'Brien

Sat. Matinee: 2:15
Sat. Eve: 2 complete shows from 6:30
Feature Screened at 7:05 and 9:10

SUNDAY & MONDAY
WISTFUL WIDOW OF WAGON GAP
Abbott and Costello
Marjorie Main
Latest "MARCH OF TIME"

Sun. continuous from 2:15
Feature at 2:50, 4:50, 6:45, 8:45
Last complete show at 8:45

TUES - WED - THURS
SONG OF LOVE
Katherine Hepburn
Robert Walker
Paul Henreid

Try-Outs For Yale, Harvard Debates Set

Try-outs for the debate with Yale and Harvard will be held Tuesday, said Prof. George G. Connelly, on the question "Resolved that a Liberal Arts Education Can Better Be Obtained at a Small College than a Large University."

The trials will consist of three minute speeches on either the affirmative or negative sides of the question. Any student interested in debating is eligible for participation.

A debate with Princeton was held last night, while the Williams team, consisting of Francis J. McConnell '50 and George Thomason '49, will meet Columbia tonight with the affirmative side of the subject "Resolved that the United States Should Adopt Universal Military Training at Once."

Postcards have been sent out to students pledging money to the Williams College Chest Fund Drive. These pledges are due on or before March 1. The Williams Christian Association urges that these students send their payments promptly to Peter Stites, Chi Psi Lodge.

The initial lecture in the vocational guidance series arranged by William O. Wyckoff, Director of the Placement Bureau, will be given by Frederick S. Gilbert, 34, Advertising Manager of Life Magazine's international edition, at the Garfield Club, Monday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Gilbert's lecture on advertising, following the general procedure of the lecture series, will consist of a 30 minute talk on his topic followed by a question and answer period. All undergraduates are invited to attend.

Last Tuesday evening, the Williams Yacht Club elected Wallace Davis '50 Commodore, and John Uhlein Jr. '50, Vice-Commodore. Michael Luther '51 and David Barker '50 were installed as Secretary and Treasurer. Each man present gave a two minute extemporaneous speech on his boating experiences, and a report was given on the 21st annual Inter-collegiate Yacht Racing Association Meeting in New York which was attended by Dean Keep and Hugh Wells '49.

The Rev. Vivian Pomeroy of the First Parish, Milton, Mass., will preach on Sunday, February 29, at 7:30 p.m. in Thompson Memorial Chapel.

The Chi Psi House has recently elected the following slate of new officers: President Jerry Page, Jr. '49; Vice-President Edwin Maynard '49; Treasurer William O'Neill '50; Secretary Roland Palmedo, Jr. '50.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

Open all year Tel: 498-R
CHIMNEY MIRROR
Williamstown, Mass.
Route 2 Opp. Howard Johnson's
Houseparties, Ski Parties, Overnight Guests
Breakfasts Served

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corono
Underwood
Royal

Lamb's STATIONERY STORE
108 Main Street
North Adams

An average of 85 men yearly use the 888 textbooks in the 1914 Memorial Library, librarian Wyllis E. Wright has disclosed.

The Library was established in 1920 by the Class of 1914 in memory of their classmates who died in World War I.

Those eligible to borrow from the Library are scholarship students, undergraduates eligible for college loans, and those presenting a signed statement stating such need with the approval of the College Treasurer.

Frosh - - -

last fall as first-string quarterback. He is now the number one diver on the frosh swimming team, and in a month he intends to begin baseball training. Bill Sperry is a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

Basketball - - -

ups, and all indications were that Williams would catch on fire the second period.

The second half Williams scoring dearth was not due to any terrific Wesleyan defense, but merely the fact that Williams made the astonishing total of two out of thirty-five shots. This inability, along with the Eph inaptitude at the foul line, were the causes of the run-away score. Williams scored less than fifteen percent of their shots, making eleven of some seventy-odd shots, and dropping only six out of twenty-two free shots. Combined with the fact that Wesleyan had almost a forty-percent shooting average, the end results follows the rule of cause and effect.

Williams	FG	F	P
Ditmar LF	8	2	18
Mason, J. RF	1	0	2
Page C	0	0	0
Brownell RG	1	0	2
Taylor LG	0	1	1
Cool C	0	0	0
Mason, R. RG	1	2	4
Wideman C	0	1	1
McWhinney LG	0	0	0
Baldwin RG	0	0	0
Totals	11	8	28
Wesleyan	FG	F	P
May RF	2	0	4
Cole LF	2	0	4
Dundas C	2	3	7
Whiting RG	0	5	5
Wenner LG	4	3	11
Bushman RF	2	1	5
Littell C	7	2	14
Robertson LF	1	0	2
Hayles RG	1	0	2
Wubbenhorst LG	1	0	2
Schlekmann C	1	0	2
Totals	22	14	58

Why wait until morning?
When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in The Transcript
North Adams, Mass.
On sale at 5 p.m. on all Williamstown Newsstands

RELIABLE SERVICE
Join our list of Regular Williams Customers at...
KRONICK'S Esso Station
Opposite Howard Johnson's

A CIGARETTE CAN BE MILD

"The more I smoke Chesterfields the more I appreciate how good they are"

Jack Oakie
STARRING IN
"NORTHWEST STAMPEDE"
AN RAOL-LION PRODUCTION

WHY I smoke Chesterfield

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"When I bring my tobacco to market I'm always looking for the Liggett & Myers buyers because I know when I've got real good mild, ripe sweet tobacco they'll pay the top dollar for it."
"I've been smoking Chesterfields for about 25 years. I like their taste and I know the kind of tobacco that's in them."

Arthur Williams
TOBACCO FARMER
GREENVILLE, N. C.

YES - CHESTERFIELDS SMOKE SO MILD - SO MILD THEY SATISFY MILLIONS - SO MILD THEY'LL SATISFY YOU.

CHESTERFIELD

ALWAYS Milder BETTER TASTING COOLER SMOKING

Eph Five Defeated By Vermont 54 - 45

Prexy Outlines Financial Need For Education

Baxter Explains Rise Of College Expenses In 'Monthly' Article

In an Atlantic Monthly magazine article entitled "Inflation Hit The Colleges," President James Phinney Baxter III describes the numerous financial headaches which face a college president in these days of increased enrollment, decreased endowment income, and booming prices. In urging fellow educators to meet this challenge he said, "If we are to have peace with freedom and justice, educators must do a better job than ever before."

Attributing the need for endowment drives to inflation conditions and high veteran enrollment, President Baxter commented that "many college presidents are now chiefly itinerant mendicants." He revealed that the endowment income per student at Williams had dropped from $455 in 1939 to $400 this year, with prospects for a further decrease.

90% Increase In Costs

Citing Williams as an example, President Baxter illustrated the sharp increase in overhead by announcing that operational costs of the Berkshire dorm have risen from $3100, to $5891. He stressed the necessity for higher faculty salaries as the solution to job competition from business and industry.

President Baxter scoffed at the suggestion of meeting financial needs by increasing student fees because "to cover deficits by increasing fees in anything like the degree to which prices of other goods have risen would be to risk pricing ourselves out of the market for two types of boys by whom we set great store — boys from a distance and boys of limited means."

Record Falls At Carnival

Clara Lamore Sets American Record

Clara Lamore's shattering of the American Record for the 100 Meter Breaststroke event, highlighted the first Annual Williams Swimming Carnival, held on Saturday night at the Lasell Pool before a large audience. Miss Lamore, swimming only against the clock, lowered the existing record by two-eighths of a second, covering the distance in 1:22.9.

Joe Verdeur, of Lasalle College, outstanding breaststroker and holder of several World's records in this event, tried to lower his own time for 200 yards, 200 meters, and 220 yards. While he did not set any new world's records, he bettered the pool record in both the breaststroke and individual medley events.

Comedy Diving

The biggest attraction of the night, as far as the crowd was concerned, was the finale, a comedy-diving act put on by Professor Ed Smyke of Springfield College and Bill Campbell, the New England AAU highboard and Intercollegiate Champion.

Campbell had earlier participated in a diving exhibition along with Manuel Sevilla of Springfield College, runner-up in the New England Intercollegiate's and top-flight Mexican springboard star. See CARNIVAL, page 4

SNOW SCULPTURE AT MASS. STATE

This sculpture of The Last Supper which portrayed all thirteen figures won second prize at the Mass. State Carnival last month.

House With Best Snow Statue To Get Koveted Keg During Carnival Dance

A keg of beer will be awarded during the Friday night dance to that social unit winning the Snow Sculpture Contest. It has been announced by Winter Carnival Chairman James N. Dorland '50. Dorland, who is looking to strong competition for the "Koveted Keg," said the judging will be Friday afternoon.

He also revealed that Harvard has agreed to enter the ski competition, raising the number of teams to 8.

Hockey for Saturday

A hockey game with the New York Athletic Club has been arranged for Saturday evening about 7:45.

Nine house-dances are planned for Saturday night with two units planning one together. The following list names the houses at which the dances will be held.

Kappa Alpha - Zeta Psi
Andy Konopka
Phi Gamma Delta - Sigma Phi
Harry Noring
Phi Sigma Kappa Harry Apple
Psi Upsilon - Theta Delta Chi
Frankie Thompson

Garfield Club
52nd Streeters
Saint Anthony Hall
Sammy Vincent
Alpha Delta Phi - Phi Delta
Theta Harry Hart
Delta Phi - Beta Theta Pi
Delta Upsilon Dan Barzle
Delta Kappa Epsilon - Chi Psi
Purple Knights

Hay-rides Planned

Many hay-rides have also been planned for Saturday night in line with the informality theme which includes ski clothes all weekend, even at the Friday night dance.

Admission — either stag or with date — to the slalom and ski jumping competitions planned for Saturday at Sheep Hill will cost $.60. The slalom will be held in the morning at 10, and jumping will be in the afternoon at 2:30.

Cross-country will start and finish at Weston Field on Friday afternoon, beginning at 3:15. The down-hill racing will take place on Greylock's Thunderbolt Trail at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday.

Prof. Thrills At Early Mills

Finds Much Beauty In Industrial Buildings

In the second talk of the Faculty Lecture Series, Thursday afternoon, February 26, Art Professor William H. Pierson declared that early American factory buildings possess much architectural beauty.

"The beauty of the factory," Mr. Pierson said, "is one that comes from the fulfillment of function. Early factory buildings had their mass and interior space planned by engineers on the basis of what they knew about machines."

Prof. Pierson compared Griffin Hall to the typical nineteenth century mill, and said that in both are found good use of red brick and white limestone, tasteful decoration, simplicity of construction, and a systemized plan of proportion.

The next talk in the Faculty Lecture Series, "Ideological Rigor-Mortis," will be presented by Landon Rockwell, assistant professor of political science, at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, in the Chemistry Laboratory.

Politics Enter Foreign Policy

Public Opinion Effects Both, Says Truman

"Foreign policy has become an integral part of partisan politics in America" was the conclusion of a syllogism proposed by David B. Truman, Associate Professor of Political Science, in an International Relations Club lecture Thursday evening.

Public opinion, he declared, has an importance of growing magnitude because of the fact that the healthiness of the present situation, depends on the proper enlightenment of the American people and on keen analysis of the opinions formed by an enlightened public.

Politics Depend On Public Opinion

Professor Truman's first premise stated that partisan politics are dependent on public opinion. This has always been so to a large extent, long before the advent of public opinion polls.

Platforms and principles of political parties are based naturally on the opinions of various groups of people.

The advent of more accurate analysis of public opinion has produced the second premise of the syllogism, that official declaration of public opinion is a

See TRUMAN, page 2

Universal Urge For Money Fateful To Male Lead Of Odets' Play "Golden Boy"

by John Hawley Roberts

It was a little over ten years ago that "Golden Boy," by Clifford Odets, opened on Broadway and became not only a hit but the peak achievement of its author and of the Group Theatre. In revival in 1948 it should still be good.

Odets called the play "a modern allegory." I hope the label will frighten no one. What he meant, of course, was that "Golden Boy" has an abstract meaning, which he tried to express in terms of a fast, realistic, contemporary story. He is dealing here with one of the basic situations in modern life: the urge so many people feel to make money — lots of money — very fast and to gain a flashy kind of fame. This is the American dream that so often becomes a nightmare. For Joe Bonaparte in the story, the nightmare wakes up and kills him. Because he loved music and had a certain talent for it, he might have lived a pleasant enough and a useful enough life making music reasonably well. But his music would never have made him rich nor would it have made thousands roar. So he gives up the violin and gains money and notoriety with the gloves. For this success he pays a bitter price. He turns hard. He finds himself not the free and independent individual he had hoped to be but the property of many owners. He breaks his hands and can never go back to the violin; he breaks his heart and can find no real satisfaction in the crude exploitation of the prize ring.

In telling this story, Odets made the most of his gift for dialogue. The comic scenes of family life, the tough background of commercialized sport, the sinister implications of gangsters muscling in on sports rackets give considerable vividness and color to the tragic fable. The men and women speak not always politely but always graphically. They come to life on stage through their language. They give the audience the necessary illusion of reality without which the abstract meaning of the play would be embarrassingly foolish. We must of course ultimately understand that the play is discussing the fight that so many must wage for a sense of importance that will assure them that they are not lost among forgotten nonentities; but we must also feel for the moment that this is a particular story interesting and convincing in its own right. To achieve the latter result Odets has written some of his best lines for the minor characters, who give the drama a sense of truth and help us accept the problems of the central character.

That this problem is at least in part universal as Odets believed can best be indicated by the fact in Odets' own life.

Let writing plays for the group equal Joe Bonaparte's violin; let Hollywood equal prizefighting. Joe gave up the fiddle for his fists; Odets left honest work with the Group for Hollywood. Joe died spiritually and physically; as far as I know Odets is still physically alive.

Marine Corps To Interview Summer Training Candidates

Members of the Platoon Leaders Class, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve officer training program, engage in a map reading exercise at the Marine Base, Quantico, Virginia. Students in accredited colleges may attend summer instruction periods to earn commissions in the Marine Corps Reserve upon graduation.

Captain Benson A. Bowditch of the U. S. Marine Corps will visit the Williams campus March 4-6 to interview qualified students interested in enrollment in the Platoon Leaders Class program, under which it is possible for undergraduates to receive officer candidate training during the summer vacation months. Capt. Bowditch will be in Mr. Sheehan's office in 5 Hopkins Hall from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

The PLC training program is open to freshmen and sophomores, and juniors with at least twelve months of active service in the armed forces, who are of commissioned-officer caliber and physically qualified in all respects. After successful completion of the required periods of summer military training and graduation from college with a baccalaureate degree, platoon leaders are eligible for commissions as Second Lieutenants in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, and a limited number of graduates may be commissioned in the regular Marine Corps, if they so desire.

Paid Training

Trainees attend one or two summer periods of six weeks each, juniors, with a year of previous military training, being required to take only the advanced training. Students are paid $90 a month during the first training period and $100 a month during the advanced training, in addition to having all expenses paid by the government. The classes are conducted at the Marine Corps Schools, located at Quantico, Virginia, thirty miles south of Washington, D.C.

Second Period Scoring Drive By Ephs Fails

Quintet Loses, 51 - 42 To Springfield Also; Mason, Ditmar High

by Jack Schafer

Williams met two smooth basketball teams over the past weekend and proved itself nine points worse than both of them. Which fact should surprise nobody since both Springfield, played on Saturday at Springfield, and Vermont, played at home Monday night, were known to have too much for the Burnett club.

The University of Vermont also came in with an impressive record. Among other marvels the team had edged a good Connecticut outfit by one point and, according to the papers, had beaten Springfield by thirteen. After seeing the Vermont team in action, however, there is considerable doubt being entertained in these parts that the Vermont five is thirteen points better than Springfield.

Both clubs were good, however, and they showed it by beating Williams 51 to 42 at Springfield and 54 to 45 on the local court. And Springfield had to come a long way behind to turn the trick. Williams retired after the first half with a 28 to 18 lead which forced the home five to apply much heat in the second in order to pull the ball game out. George Ditmar had done most of the applying in the first and had scored 13 of the Ephs 28 points. His over-all total of 20 made him high man for the night.

Vermont Never Headed

The Vermont club, in winning 54 to 45, was never headed. Due mostly to an excessively sluggish first half, Williams was able to get into the ball game only once. The first half had ended with Vermont showing the way to the tune of 28 to 17, but Williams put on a big spurge in the second and with the game at the fifteen minute mark, the team pulled up to within three points of the lead. This is the closest they ever got and they were never this close again.

With the fans in an uproar at the prospects of a Merriwell finish for the home team, the Williams offensive suddenly died after Vermont called time out. The Ephs could not keep the drive up long enough to get out in front. The game hung at the three point margin for a couple of minutes but then Vermont came back with its own scoring drive and soon put the contest safely away.

Williams Starts Poorly

The Eph first half play had pretty well squashed any chance for a victory. In this half the team never had control of the ball long enough to supply any scoring threat. It was being consistently out-jumped under the boards and in the frequent fumbblings for a loose apple. The defense was also ragged in this period and was unable to prevent the Vermont club from cutting through for lay-ups and from hitting from the corners.

Almost all this changed in the second stanza. The Ephs took control of both backboards and kept it pretty consistently throughout. They also handled and cut with a considerable degree of effectiveness and thus were able to take more good shots than they had been previously. Jack Mason was particularly sharp in the last period and it was he who supplied much of the scoring punch and backboard control.

The second half Williams push, which occupied and dominated See BASKETBALL, page 4

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Copy Editor
Senior Associate Editor
Office Manager
Make-up Editor for this issue

J. David Maier, '48
Charles H. Klensch, '48
Barrett F. Emmert, '48
Robert A. Rupen, '48
Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
Ben B. Foster, II, '48
Seth M. Bidwell, '49

Volume LXI

MARCH 3, 1948

Number 30

"Awake and Sing"

Williamstown last week witnessed two very promising signs of a welcome awakening. All athletes were given free cuts for classes missed during team trips; and Swimming Manager Dan Wheeler made a whopping success of the "First Annual Swimming Carnival." The cut ruling was the successful culmination of months of bickering between students, faculty, and administration — and a lot of honest effort by Dean Brooks, "Twit" Sheehen, the Purple Key, and the UC. The first of a long series of Swimming Carnivals was the high point in another completely successful swimming season for Coach Bob Muir (providing Amhest can be swamped this weekend).

In the past it has been said that "C's at Williams are equal to A's anywhere else" and "You come here to study, not to play football." With the new cut ruling, students can still get their C's, but they are not penalized as much as before for playing football. A liberal arts education at Williams could mean extra-curricular as well as curricular activities. Free cuts for athletics is a promising sign that perhaps this view might be coming into ascendance. Let's hope so.

An even more positive note is struck, however, by the success of the recent Carnival. Since the advent of Coach Muir, Williams has risen to the rank of fourth in national swimming circles, the New England Swimming Championship seems to have found a final resting place in the Lasell Pool and local interest in the sport has skyrocketed. It is unfortunate that only 358 of the more than 500 people in attendance thought it fitting to pay the admission price, but they will have another chance, at the "Second Annual Williams Swimming Carnival."

Truman . . .

sions on national issues such as foreign policy now depend on public opinion. The State Department, said Professor Truman, is paying increasing attention to the results of public opinion polls before deciding its policies.

Presents Two Problems

Two problems regarding public opinion face the United States today, he asserted. The first of these is manifested by "the appalling ignorance" of the American people concerning matters of foreign relations.

The problem is the inefficiency of channels in the United States through which public opinion is directed. The two main channels are newspapers and radio, and inadequacy is prevalent in both.

Public Ignorant

Public opinion polls, he said, show that most of the people ignorant of foreign affairs are those who have not had even a high school education, and who are in the lowest income groups.

Newspapers and radio should present their news in simplified and straightforward style. Professor Truman proposed that they present their coverage of world events in language that these people can understand.

Need For Opinion Analysis

The second problem he put forth was the need for better analysis of public opinion by government agencies such as the State Department. Since public opinion must be considered in the formation of daily foreign policy action, it is vitally necessary that the government have trained personnel to analyze the results of polls.

Because of the inconsistencies in poll results, however, the job of public opinion analysis is made more difficult, said Professor Truman. The inconsistencies result primarily from the ignorance of the people.

67% Ignorant Of E.R.P.

Citing results of public opinion polls, Professor Truman stated that sixty-seven percent of the public is ignorant of the Marshall Plan. One third of the people interviewed, he declared, "doesn't even know what the United Nations is for!"

As an indication of the sort of people who are ignorant of these tremendously important issues, Professor Truman revealed that two thirds of the people uninformed on the nature of the U.N. were women.

Half Lack Secondary Education

Half of them were people who had not gone beyond the eighth grade in grammar school, he declared, while one third of them had incomes of less than $1000.

This group is "characteristic of those people who invariably answer 'don't know' on public opinion polls." When an issue is presented to them for a pro or con answer, they are usually hostile.

Two Answers To Same Query

Furthermore, he said, when a specific question is asked in two different ways, these same people are likely to give a positive reaction to one version and a negative reaction to the other.

Asked whether they believed the United States should pursue an isolationist policy, they might answer "no", but when polled on the question of aid to Greece and Turkey, they would turn around with an affirmative reply.

Not True On Broad Questions

On broader questions, however, this does not hold true, declared Professor Truman. In 1939, the question was asked in innumerable variations whether the people thought that Hitler planned to conquer the world. Persons who had given opposing answers to different versions of more specific questions "just knew" that Hitler was bent on world conquest.

Where opinions of these people are unstable and have no related structure, they can be changed easily by events or propaganda. As a result, the very actions of the State Department can change public opinion.

Official Actions Affect Opinion

Since the foreign policy making officials cannot determine from unstable answers to polls what the public wants them to do regarding an issue such as the Marshall Plan, the officials are faced with the question of how their action will effect public opinion.

The tremendous burden placed on government officials because of this situation, he concluded, can only be relieved by a more enlightened public and well trained public opinion analysts.

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

THE COMEDY OF DOLLARS, or GIVE WHAT YOU WILL Dramatis Personae

Phineas Bakesterre — Lord High Manciple of Williams College
Melifluous
Croesus
Misanthropus
Alumni of Williams College
Chorus of Alumni
Chorus of Dancing Girls
Salvatoria — a serving woman

Scene I. A hall in Bakesterre's palace

Enter Phineas Bakesterre, Melifluous, and Misanthropus.

PHIN.— In sooth, I know not why I feel so broke,
Or why Mark Hopkins' log weighs heavy on my back.

MEL.— Perhaps it is, sire, that thy school doth need
A million — nay, I'll double that — in ready cash
To keep the standards of our alma mater high.

MIS.— Faugh! I say your liver's acting up again—
Another Southern Comfort highball's what you need,
Or else a little exercise.

PHIN.— Nay, hold!
Melifluous has hit the nail upon the very head.
I must go out and raise two million bucks
Or more, and keep the school from going to the dogs.

MEL.— Or keep the dogs from going to the school, perchance,
Since our high standards keep the curs and mongrels out.

PHIN.— I'll raise the dough! A Building and Endowment Fund
From alumni eager to be parted from their taxable cash.
Unto the Williams Club! And milk the Sons of Purple dry!
Already from me can I feel my sadness fly!
(Exeunt)

Scene II. Bar of the Williams Club

Flourish. Enter accompanied by hautboys Phineas Bakesterre, Misanthropus, and Melifluous.

CHORUS OF ALUMNI— Behold, the Lord High Manciple of Williams
Now enters the humble portal of our Williams Club.
Perhaps we should regale him with festal song.

SONG

Oh, rich alumni hate the spring,
With a hey and a ho and a hey nonino!
For income taxes it doth bring,
With a hoop and a ho nonino!
Oh, rich alumni hate the summer,
With a hey and a ho and a hey nonino!
For it brings bills of springtime's plumber
With a hoop and a ho nonino!
Oh, rich alumni hate the fall,
With a hey and a ho and a hey nonino!
For it brings end of folderol,
With a hoop and a ho nonino!
Oh, rich alumni hate the winter,
With a hey and a ho and a hey nonino!
For summer's profits it doth splinter,
With a hoop and a ho nonino!
(They drink)

Enter Croesus.

PHIN.— Methinks yon Croesus hath a sleek and well-fed look.

CROES.— Methinks yon Phinney hath a sly and grasping air.

PHIN.— Oh, sons of Eph, whom Williams ser'ed so well,

The time has come when you may help your school.

MIS.— (aside) I helped my school by sending all my sons to Yale.

PHIN.— We need support to keep from going under.

Support the dandy college in the purple Berkshires!

CROES.— I'll support the school with everything I have — save cash,
For nothing pulls my heartstrings like pleas for alma mater!

MIS.— (aside) And nothing pulls his pursestrings like pleas for gold or silver.

PHIN.— But let us to the dining hall make way, where I have planned
A banquet, floorshow, drinks!

CROES.— (aside) And further pleas.

I'll never part with aught my hard-earned dough

Though Phinney to the furthest lengths should go!

(Exeunt omnes.)

Scene III. A Banquet Hall.

(Enter Phineas Bakesterre, Croesus, Melifluous, Misanthropus, and Chorus of Alumni.)

PHIN.— while food is brought, let music loose your purse.

(Enter Chorus of Dancing Girls, veiled.)

SONG OF THE DANCING GIRLS

Come on and give Phinney your money,
Hey nonny!
Come on and give Phinney your dough,
Hey no!
The faculty's clothes are of gunny
Hey nonny!
The endowment's becoming too low,
Hey no!
Get out the money, honey!
Get out the jack, Mac!

PHIN.— Will no one offer shekels to save our school?

Has spirit left you? can you refuse to give your aid?

CHORUS OF ALUMNI—

We need our money. Taxes, bills, and safe Investments call our cash. We cannot give You what we'd like. Will half a million do?

(Enter Salvatoria, a serving woman)

SAL.— I'll give the money that you badly need.

Two million crackers for the Building Fund.

PHIN.— Oh, serving woman, it is real of you to help,

But only money from alumni can be used.

SAL.— I must admit its oddity, but I once worked

In Entry C of Sage as P-Lady for the boys.

So please accept my green stuff — I'm an alumna!

PHIN.— The day is saved. Alumni have come through at last!

Two million plus another half we have.

So dance and sing! Be merry, blithe, be gay.

The alumni have shelled out to save the day!

SONG

Oh, Phinney shook the shekels out,
Sing hey hi ho!
Oh, Phinney mooched the money out,
Sing hey hi ho!
Oh, Phinney grabbed the greenbacks ..
Oh, Phinney got the gold sacks
Oh, Phinney dug the dollars out,
Sing hey hi ho!

(Exeunt omnes)

Finis

"Dentyne Chewing Gum!"

"Too good to miss—that's the way I react to Dentyne Chewing Gum's grand flavor! And let me point out another fine thing about Dentyne—it helps keep your teeth white."

Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

Stripes

that are stoppers...

Perhaps you won't stop traffic in these new "Stopper Stripes" by Van Heusen. But you will stop more than your share of admiring glances. These smart new patterns are exclusive with Van Heusen—you'll find them on no other shirts! All of them boast new low-setting "Comfort Contour" collar styling and other fine details of Van Heusen's magic seamanship. All Sanforized—a new shirt free if your Van Heusen shrinks out of size! $3.95 and $4.95. PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., NEW YORK 1, N. Y.

You're the man most likely to succeed in

Van Heusen Shirts
TIES • SPORT SHIRTS • PAJAMAS

EXCLUSIVE AGENTS . . .

Williams Co-op

HARVARD SUMMER SCHOOL

OF ARTS, SCIENCES, AND EDUCATION

June 28, to August 21, 1948

Coeducational — Graduate and Undergraduate Courses

Veterans may enroll under G. I. Bill

Dormitory Accommodations and Cafeteria Service

(Engineering courses available in Graduate School of Engineering Summer Term.)

Address: Department W, 9 Wadsworth House, Harvard University, Cambridge 38, Massachusetts

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

Undergraduates Always Welcome!

The favorite meeting place of Williams Men features

LADIES LOUNGE

AND

LADIES DINING ROOM

An ideal spot to entertain the family or date.

Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

Wesleyan Vanquished By Swimmers, Wrestlers

Williams Swimmers Swamp Weak Cardinal Crew, 52-23

Wineman Sets Two College Records

Snyder Breaks Record As Frosh Also Win

by Stu Robinowitz

Like Jerome Kern's "Ol' Man River", Coach Bob Muir's swimmers just keep rolling along. Saturday afternoon they added their seventh straight victim of the current campaign by soundly walloping the Cardinals from Wesleyan, 52-23, before a rather small crowd at the Lasell Pool.

The meet was even more one-sided than the score indicates, for Coach Muir, realizing his swimmers' star excelled the visitors in every event but the dive and the breaststroke, gave his second stringers a work out in some of the other events. Even so, the Cardinals were unable to do better than two firsts, three seconds and four thirds in nine events.

Two Records Fall

Hank Wineman, whose record-breaking attempts highlighted the meet, broke two existing marks, his own record in the 150-yard backstroke and the college record for the 100-yard backstroke, which he set in the 300-yard Medley Relay. In the 150, Hank turned in an excellent 1:38.0, which broke his own record, 1:39.8. Last week swimming against Bowdoin's captain, Adin Merrow, who set a New England record, 1:36.9, Wineman finished in 1:37.7. A swimmer's time is not official, however, unless he finishes first in his race. In the relay Wineman set a new college record for the 100, 1:00.8.

The time in the relay, a snappy 3:03.4, also broke the pool record, 3:09.9 set by Dartmouth this season and the college record, 3:05.0. Syde Svenson and Ray Baldwin swam after Wineman and the Ephmen finished a good eight yards ahead of the Cardinals.

Reid Wins 220

Bob Reid and Bill Rueckert picked up a first and a second in the 220-yard freestyle. Rueckert finished five yards behind Reid and about twenty yards ahead of Black of Wesleyan. In the exciting 50-yard freestyle Chick Brashears and Moe Murray took a first and a third with Stone of Wesleyan edging in for a second.

Diving beautifully, Rog Taylor of Wesleyan amassed 98.8 points to walk off with honors in the fancy dive. Al Hydeman with 90.85 and Cliff Stowers with 72.5 were second and third for the Ephmen. The Cardinals also had little trouble. See SWIMMING, page 4

Runners Lose In New York

Relay To Compete In Garden Again

A five man indoor track squad competed in the Intercollegiate Championships held at Madison Square Garden on Saturday. After an all-winning record up to then, the Purple runners fell victim to just about the best college competition in the land and failed to gather a point toward the indoor title won by New York University.

The indoor teams' previous efforts had consisted in three mile relay races against squads of their own caliber. However, on Saturday the IC4A meet was run on a winner take all basis of eliminating heats and finals.

Fast Company

Bill Barney and Scottie Brooks were entered in the 60 yard dash but failed to survive the trials. In the 800 yard run, John Weeth and Gordon Smith met with the same fate although the latter led his pack for a time before being passed in the final stages of the race. Kev Delany likewise was a contender in his heat of the 1000 yard run up to the last lap but was left at that point.

In the trials of the mile relay the three-time-winning quartet of Weeth, Barney, Smith and Delany found themselves matched against N.Y.U., Fordham, Villanova, and Rhode Island State. The eventual winner was N. Y. U. in 3:26 and the Eph baton-passers never really threatened for honors. The fact that all of the relay members had run in other events earlier in the day probably did not help their showing.

Another New York Trip

The mile quartet will attempt to start a new victory streak this Saturday in New York at the Knights of Columbus Meet at the Garden. As yet it is not known what teams it will be matched against. Last winter the team ran in the college and club handicap relay at this meet and turned in their best performance of the season in grabbing fourth place out of sixteen teams.

Patronize

RECORD

Advertisers

Williams On Top

Hank Hall, of Williams, taking two points in decision victory over Wesleyan's Bartonick in 136 lb. bout.

Photo by Birchall

Undefeated Frosh Down Springfield

18 Points For Pusey In 66-47 Victory

A partisan Springfield crowd saw Bobby Coombs' freshman basketball team thoroughly trounce a strong Springfield five by a 66-47 score on Saturday. Chuck Pusey's eighteen points paced the yearlings to their sixth straight victory.

The "first half was a see-saw battle in which the Springfield setshot artists kept pace with Pusey's and Larsen's twenty points. Bobby Larsen's eight points in less than four minutes were instrumental in giving the Purple a 27-25 lead at half-time.

Height Pays Off

Bobby Coombs' second-half pep talk inspired the frosh to play their best basketball of the season as Jack Fraser opened the second half with three quick baskets to start a deulge in which the Ephmen out-scored the Maroon yearlings 39-22. Captain Dave Jackson chipped in with ten points in this half while the six-foot, four-inch forward wall of Sheehy, Pusey and Larsen kept complete control of both boards. The Maroon's deadly setshooting kept the score from being completely one-sided, as the fast-breaking freshmen penetrated the Springfield zone defense at will.

Amherst Next

The Pratt Field house at Amherst will see the freshmen's final appearance next Saturday when the Coombsmen will face an oft-defeated Jeff five. A Williams victory will mean the Little Three title as well as Bobby Coombs' second undefeated team in less than a year.

Williams Box Score:

	fg	f	tp
Fagerburg rf	1	0	2
Hoffer	1	0	2
Larsen lf	6	1	13
Zeller	1	1	3
Pusey c	8	2	18
Sheehy	2	0	4
Jackson rg	3	5	11
St. Clair	1	1	3
Fraser lg	5	0	10
Lynch	0	0	0
Total	28	10	66

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

By popular acclaim the
RICHMOND GRILL
is the place to go for
FOOD and DRINKS

Richmond Hotel
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Wesleyan Downed By Both Wrestling Teams Saturday

by M. C. Behre

Tigers Beat Purple Squash

Wright, Donnelly Win As Purple Lose 7-2

The Williams varsity squash team succumbed 7-2 to Princeton last Saturday at Princeton.

Williams' two points were chalked up by George Wright playing number one and Frank Donnelly at the fifth spot. Wright's victory was in the nature of an upset, for coach Chaffee had all but conceded the first three contests to Princeton.

Wright Wins

George Wright played his best squash of the season in defeating his opponent, Longman, in their grueling five game match. Wright's superior endurance coupled with his ability to retrieve shots that seemed destined to be his opponent's points and his fine backhand wall shots all contributed to his triumph. He dropped two of the first three games but rallied to win the final pair, thus taking the match, 15-12, 13-15, 11-15, 15-12, 15-8.

The Purple's other marker was a result of Frank Donnelly's win over Princeton's Blair. This match went four games, the score being 15-11, 15-10, 11-15, 15-12. Donnelly's fine change of pace along with his exceedingly hard service were the main factors in this Eph win. See SQUASH, page 4

With four regulars unable to wrestle, the Williams grapplers went their merry way quite undisturbed and crushed Wesleyan 26-7 for their fourth straight victory and the first leg of the Little Three mat crown. The frosh matmen performed at the same time, and were almost as effective, downing the Wesleyan cubs 24-10.

The Ephs started well as Chuck Turpin pinned Price of Wesleyan in the third period turning in his second very competent performance. Captain Paul Cook, wrestling Bageley at 128 lbs. continued the pace. With thirty-three seconds to go, Cook successfully managed a body cradle to give Williams the second fall.

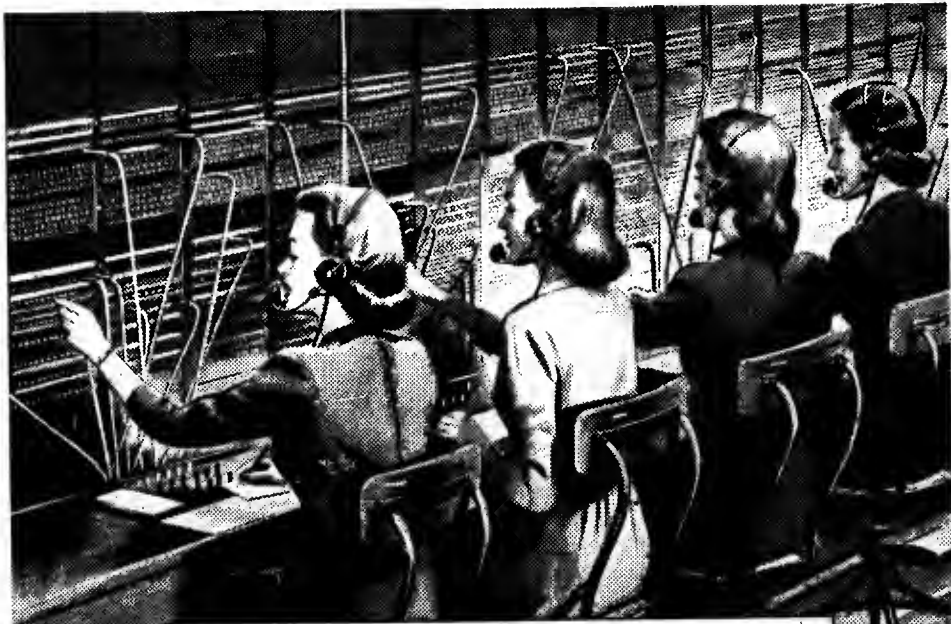

Ephs Start Well

Hank Hall, at 136 lbs., decided Hoover with a 6-3 count after a fast fight. The first serious opposition in the meet was Stemler of Wesleyan at 145 lbs. Bill Leitzinger edged out a 3-2 decision over him, however, with a time advantage breaking the deadlock. This brought the score to 16-0.

Frank Bowles, the Cards' Captain, gained a quick fall in the first period over Tom Conroy. Conroy, wrestling at 155 lbs. in place of North, put up a stubborn, losing fight before being overwhelmed. At 165 lbs. Dick Bilder wrestled Bellobuono to a 1-1 draw. Ed Reynolds met Matern in the 175 lb. slot and earned a decision by a lop-sided count of 10-2.

Blakney Pins Unlimited

In a last-minute switch, Chuck Blakney, Eph 175 lb. man was See WRESTLING, page 4

How many operators will we need NEXT YEAR?

This is but one of the many questions telephone men are called upon to answer.

Part of their work has always been to anticipate demands for personnel . . . to determine what additional equipment must be provided, what new construction will be necessary to handle the constantly increasing demands for service.

Careful planning in every phase of telephone work requires the services of many qualified men. For them, this growing business offers the opportunity for active, interesting careers.

There's a future in telephony.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

J. Paul Sheedy Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked the Finger Nail Test

START using Wildroot Cream-Oil today! It takes only a little bit to groom your hair neatly and naturally without that plastered down look. And Wildroot Cream-Oil relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff . . . helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Always ask for a tube or bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil at your drug or toilet goods counter. Find out for yourself why it's "again and again the choice of men who put good grooming first." Remember, Wildroot Cream-Oil is non-alcoholic and contains soothing Lanolin! For generous trial supply free, send this ad with your name and address to Wildroot Co., Inc., Dept. C-3, Buffalo 8, New York.

Swimming - - -

ble annexing the 200-yard breast-stroke with G. Forbes leading over Svenson and Gentiles.

Lambert Takes 440

Sandy Lambert copped the 440-yard freestyle for the Purple with Ginn and Avery of the visitors trailing, and a relay team composed of John Warren, George Coale, Treet Arnold, who have seen limited service this season, and Moe Murray swam well to beat Wesleyan's best relay squad in a close race.

The Eph freshmen took six firsts in eight events to triumph over the Wesleyan cub squad after the varsity meet. John Snyder, promising breaststroker, set a new frosh record as he broke his old mark of 1:08.4 with a 1:07.6 clocking in the 100.

Summary: Williams-52, Wesleyan-23; 300 medley relay, won by Williams (Wineman, Svenson, Baldwin), time 3:03.4 (new Williams record); 220 free, won by Reid (Wm.), Rueckert (Wm.), Black (Wes.), time 2:20.9; 50 free, won by Brashears (Wm.), Stone (Wes.), Murray (Wm.), time 24.9; Dive, won by Taylor (Wes.), Hydeman (Wm.), Stowers (Wm.), 98.8 points; 100 free, won by Baldwin (Wm.), Siff (Wes.), Stone (Wes.), time :55.0; 150 backstroke, won by Wineman (Wm.), Lamot (Wm.), Fisher (Wes.), time 1:38.0 (new Williams record); 200 breast, won by G. Forbes (Wes.), Svenson (Wm.), Gentiles (Wm.), time 2:34.8; 440 free, won by Lambert (Wm.), Ginn (Wes.), Avery (Wes.), time 5:04.4; 400 free relay, won by Williams (Warren, Coale, Arnold, Murray), time 3:47.2.

Basketball - - -

the first seven minutes of play, was led by Ditmar and Mason. Ditmar tossed in three field goals in these first minutes and Mason dropped two shots from the floor and three free throws.

The Scores:

Williams
	FG	F	Pts.
Ditmar RF	6	1	13
Mason, R.	0	0	0
Mason, J. LF	5	6	16
Wideman	0	0	0
Page C	2	1	5
Cool	0	0	0
Brownell RG	3	0	6
Taylor LG	2	1	5
Baldwin	0	0	0
Total	18	9	45

Vermont
	FG	F	Pts.
Henderson RF	1	0	2
Farma	2	2	6
Pierce LF	8	2	18
Collier	2	0	4
Nieman C	2	1	5
Conrad	0	0	0
Kotlareczk RG	3	1	7
Livingston LG	5	2	12
Total	23	8	54

Williams
	FG	F	Pts.
Ditmar RF	8	4	20
Mason, R.	0	0	0
Mason, J. LF	1	5	7
Baldwin	0	0	0
Page C	1	2	4
Wideman	0	0	0
Brownell RG	0	3	3
Cool	0	0	0
Taylor LG	3	2	8
Goodfellow	0	0	0
Total	13	16	42

Springfield
	FG	F	Pts.

Corcoran RF	1	1	3
Hayen	3	1	7
Murat	0	0	0
Smith LF	1	0	2
Cartmill	1	2	4
Hoffman C	1	1	3
Kubachka	2	2	6
Barder RG	2	3	7
Burke	5	4	14
Sullivan	2	0	4
Wells LG	0	1	1
Campagnold	0	0	0
Total	18	15	51

FAIRFIELD'S FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

TELEPHONE: 498-R — OPEN ALL YEAR — WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.
CHIMNEY MIRROR
Houseparties, Ski Parties, Overnight Guests
Breakfasts served
ROUTE 2 OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

THOMAS McMAHON & SON
EST. 1830
CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE
DUST PROOF COAL RANGE and FUEL OILS
73 Williamstown Mass.
Spring St.

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL of LAW
Admits Men and Women
Registration
Day and Evening Programs — September 13 to 15, 1948
Early application is necessary
Veterans accepted under G. I. Bills
47 MT. VERNON STREET BOSTON 8, MASSACHUSETTS
Telephone KEmore 6-5800

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College
Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.
116 John Street, N. Y. C. Beekman 3-4730

Carnival - - -

and Al Hydeman and Cliff Stowers, Williams' divers.

Water Ballet

Another highlight of the Carnival was a water ballet, staged by the Girls' Pittsfield Branch of the American Red Cross. Their precision maneuvers and synchronized swimming drew loud applause from the spectators.

A Canoe demonstration put on by Joe Hasenfus, 1936 Olympic star, kept the crowd constantly on their toes, and brought forth several bursts of spontaneous applause and laughter.

Championship races at 50 yards, 220 yards, 100 yard backstroke and a 150 yard Medley relay race, put on by the Williams swimming team, along with singing by the Williams Octet and musical selections by the Purple Knights and the Octet completed the program.

Squash - - -

victory.

Mikell Loses

Bill Mikell, at number three, lost a five game heartbreaker to Dave Carpenter, 8-15, 15-10, 16-18, 15-12, 15-10. His heavily bandaged left leg troubled him in the late stages of the contest and contributed to his defeat.

Lou Lincoln at number four dropped his match to Lineweaver in four games 15-10, 15-10, 5-15, 15-10. Lincoln's defeat can be attributed more to his opponent's extremely steady play than to any brilliance on the latter's part.

In the other matches Randy Thomas at number two, Bud Dodge, George Kneass, Stu Robinson and Bill Riegel, at the sixth, seventh, eighth, and ninth positions all lost in three straight games.

Intramurals - - -

Phi Delt in the scoring column. With the exception of two other foul shots and one basket by the Phi Delt, the Kaps controlled the play entirely in the first period and led 22-6 at half time.

Riddall with 19

Early in the second period the Phi's rallied to within ten points of the leaders, but the Riddall brothers teamed up to nip this rally. Ed controlling both backboards and Hank sinking shots from every angle. The loss of Gene Hughes, who led the Phi Delt scoring in the first half, early in the period handicapped the cause for the losers. The Kap team, working as a unit, outscored their opponents 20-17 in this period, and were never actually threatened during the whole game. The final score was 42-23, which gave the Kaps the Championship and an undefeated season with eight wins against no defeats. Hank Riddall took scoring honors for the day with nineteen points and Derrick Filley came through for another eight for the champs.

Wrestling - - -

sent in against Schneeberger at Unlimited weight. As usual, Chuck proved his prowess. In fifty-seven seconds of the second period he made the fall by entangling Schneeberger in a spread eagle.

The Freshman contest followed the same general pattern. After a five-point forfeit at 121 lbs. Wesleyan's Brewer pinned Smith in the second period of the 128 lb. tilt. Scrubby Perry then took over and made the fall against Thompson in 39 seconds, the shortest pinning time of both meets. An even match at 145 lbs. ended with a decision for Paul Shoro over Beck of Wesleyan. In another 1st period fall, Pete DeLisier pinned Saunders in a reverse cradle in 2 minutes, 35 seconds. At 165 lbs. Green Carleton out fought Schultz in a decision.

George Selly followed with another decision over Wall in a slow, even match. The final count for the cubs was 24-10.

MANCHESTER, VERMONT

4-SEASON RESORT — ON U. S. ROUTE 7
190 MILES FROM NEW YORK • 130 MILES FROM BOSTON

Stay Worthy Inn Two major ski areas NOW OPEN YEAR ROUND Grand Food • Cocktail Lounge $7.00-11.00 per day American Plan Special rates on longer stays	Ski Snow Valley One of the longest skiing seasons in the East 2 LIFTS • 3 ROPE TOWS 4 SKIERS • 4 TRAILS SKI SCHOOL • RESTAURANT
--	--

FOR INFORMATION, RESERVATIONS, 24-HOUR SNOW REPORTS PHONE MANCH. 92 OR 94W; ALSO, SNOW REPORTS N.Y.C. (24-HR.) VA. 6-2550, BOSTON, LI. 7070.

WRITE FOR COLOR BROCHURE "X"

SMOOTH

...because it's slow-aged!

SMOOTH . . . is that exceptional Ruppert taste. Rich, mellow, deliciously satisfying.

SMOOTH . . . for an excellent reason. Fine beer needs time to reach the height of perfection . . . and Ruppert never rushes it! Ruppert is slow-aged for finer flavor . . . time-mellowed for better taste.

SMOOTH . . . is what you'll call Ruppert Beer when you try it. Try it today at better bars and stores all over town!

Ruppert Knickerbocker Beer and Ruppert Ale, Jacob Ruppert, New York City

Today—try New York's Most Famous Beer

RUPPERT

Why wait until morning?
When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in

The Transcript
North Adams, Mass.
On sale at 5 p.m. on all Williamstown Newsstands

WE WILL LUBRICATE YOUR CAR THE FORD WAY

Ford

The Smith Baker Co.
Incorporated
NORTH ADAMS

TACONIC

TUES - WED - THURS

SONG OF LOVE

Katherine Hepburn
Robert Walker
Paul Henreid

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

THE UNSUSPECTED

Claude Rains
Joan Caulfield

Selected Short Subjects

478 Girls Arrive For Dances, Ski Contests; Eight Teams To Compete In Winter Carnival

Harvard, Late Entrant, Adds To List Of Top Flight Skiers

The ski team moves out of "Triple A" competition and takes on schools of its own calibre for the first time this year, as eight college squads invade Williams today for a three-day program of cross-country skiing, slalom, jumping, and downhill runs.

The outcome of the meet is unpredictable since the only opponent with whom Williams has regularly competed before this season is Amherst. The Lord Jeffs usually have just edged out the Ephs in points. Teams representing Amherst, Bowdoin, Harvard, Norwich, R.P.I., Syracuse, Yale, and Williams are entered in the meet.

Top Skiers

The Houseparty crowd will see top skiers in action this weekend. Harvard, late entrant and one of the better teams in the East, sends Gerald Genn, Larry Griffen, and Bill Wassermen, all of whom have shown up well in the slalom and downhill. From RPI comes Claude Weiss, a Norwegian, who is an outstanding jumper and cross-country man.

Yale will be led by Dave Fisher, a good four-event man. Syracuse is sending one of the best jumpers in the area in Bucko. Amherst's hopes will be based on her two four-event men, Grant Ford, who also captained the 1947 Amherst football team, and Per Smith, who is a doubtful starter because of an injury suffered last weekend at Middlebury.

Williams Team

Williams will not be at full strength for the Carnival, and Captain Dick Brown, hampered by a back injury, will compete only in the jump. Gus Klein will not be able to take part because of forthcoming exams.

The Eph's cross-country chances are centered on Gordy Makmann, who showed up very well at the Middlebury Carnival last weekend, and Pete Finlay, who has been a consistent scorer all season. In the jumping, Johnny Brinckhoff and Hank Strong, who are leaping for the first time this year, stand out along with Dick Brown.

The downhill and slalom events will be handled by Case Prime, Dunc Campbell and Dick Merryman. Merryman placed very well in the slaloms held several weeks ago on the Thunderbolt trail.

Rockwell Coach

The team, coached by Landon Rockwell of the political science department, has a non-too-impressive record so far this season.

In their first start, at Lake Placid, they finished ninth out of ten teams journeying to the Rutland Ski-Carnival, they finished in the middle of the field.

At the famed Dartmouth Ski-Carnival, against some of the top competition in the country, they finished next to last. Last week, at the Middlebury Carnival, the team finished at the end of the field.

Today, at 10:30, the slalom will start on Sheep Hill, with only one run, covering both the A and B slopes. This afternoon at 2:30, the jumping will start on Sheep Hill, and due to a slower take-off, the 32 1/2 meter distance made last year will probably not be approached.

Life Magazine Artist Takes School Photos

Crane Scorns Little Hills; Climbs Chimney For Campus Picture

Replete with two assistants, twenty cartons of flash bulbs, and a car full of cameras, stands and flood lights, Life Magazine photographer Ralph Crane is roaming around Williamstown, taking color pictures for a photographic essay which will appear in the magazine sometime next winter.

Balked in his hopes to find snow on the ground when he arrived three weeks ago, Crane wistfully contemplated using artificial snow-making machines. Running out of indoor pictures, he finally flew in disgust to California. Returning in the middle of last Sunday's blizzard, he happily set to work taking outdoor shots.

"These Little Hills"

"These little hills you call mountains — if you could have built them a little closer to this town of yours, I could do without all this trouble," the artist bitterly commented just before a steepie jack ascent of the 175 foot heating plant chimney, to take a picture of the entire campus. His photographic troubles have also included a 5 a.m. journey around the campus to get outdoor pictures before an inch of snow melted. A trip to the top of Rudnick's store and a camera balancing act on a step ladder in a Hopkins Hall classroom.

A dusk shot of three floodlighted Main Street fraternities required four hours of preparation and five exposures on one negative. Complaining that it is impossible to

See LIFE, page 3

Expressing a preference for nudes, Beta Theta Pi erected this imposing snow-sculpture under the direction of Chuck Halleck. Collins Photo

Twelve Elected To Phi Beta; One February Grad Chosen

9 Seniors, 2 Juniors Added To Society

New Members Named At Recent Meeting

At a meeting held last week, the Williams chapter of Phi Beta Kappa elected one February graduate and eleven undergraduates to the honorary scholastic society. Arthur L. Stevenson, F-48 was elected at the end of his senior year. Those of the Class of 1948 who were elected are: Robert E. Agger, Martin H. Bailyn, Paul R. Barstow, Paul Beres, William G. Bruce, Henry M. Halsted III, William P. Manning, Jr., John H. Mortimer, and George W. Smith. Robert M. Gleason '49 and Hubert R. Hudson '49 were elected at the end of their junior year.

Undergraduates may be elected to Phi Beta Kappa at the end of their junior year if their scholastic average is at least eleven A's. See TWELVE, page 3

Laud Stassen At Meeting

Rosthal Discusses Candidate's Policy

Fifty students heard Robert Rosthal, representative of Citizens-for-Stassen, explain his candidate's policies and estimate his chances for presidential nomination at a meeting in Jesup Hall Monday night. "According to a 'New York Post' survey," he said, "Stassen will have a minimum of 210 votes on the first ballot."

Concerning Stassen's views he declared that "the candidate favors: 1) the Marshall Plan with administration by a special federal corporation, 2) a strong policy toward Russia, 3) some reduction in taxes, mainly in the lower income brackets, 4) universal mili-

See LUAD, page 3

Retiring Record Members Announce New Editorial Board And Staff Appointments

Bidwell Becomes Editor-in-Chief

Dorsey, Pawlick, Barney Named As Editors

Along with the change of scenery at Williams caused by the addition of numerous females this week-end, the Record also undergoes a change with the appointment of Seth M. Bidwell '49 as Editor-in-Chief to fill the position of J. David Maler '48 retiring Editor.

Joseph F. Dorsey '49 and J. Edward Pawlick '49 will assume the positions of Co-Managing Editors to replace Charles H. Klensch '48, while William R. Barney, Jr., '49 was appointed Sports Editor, succeeding Barrett F. Emmert '48.

Bidwell, Dorsey

Bidwell, a member of the Record since March 1946, became an Associate Editor in November 1947. He is Sports Editor of the News Bureau, national representative of the NSA, and a member of Sigma Phi. Bidwell hails from Grand Rapids, Michigan. Dorsey, one of the two new Managing Editors, became an Associate Editor in November of 1947, and is Business Manager of the Gul and the News Bureau. Dorsey is also a member of SAC, the Lecture Committee, and a member of Delta Epsilon. He comes from White Plains, N. Y.

Pawlick, Barney

Pawlick, the other Managing Editor, has been a long standing member of the Record and was appointed Associate Editor in the spring of 1946. He is president of the News Bureau, and a former member of the Purple Cow and the Purple Knights. A member of Theta Delta Chi, Pawlick is from South Orange, N. J.

Succeeding Barrett F. Emmert as Sports Editor, Barney joined the Record in March of 1946 and became an Associate Editor in May of 1947. He is a member of the track team, the winter relay team, and the 1947 Lehman Cup winner. Barney is Assignment Editor of the News Bureau, Editor of the Williams Handbook, and a member of Alpha Delta Phi. He hails from Cleveland, Ohio.

Anti-Ski League Relegated To Sun-Lamps As WOC Reigns

Weekend Events

Friday
3:15 p.m. Cross-country - Weston Field
10 p.m. - 2 a.m. College Dance - Lasell Gymnasium
Saturday
10 p.m. Slalom - Sheep Hill
2:30 p.m. Jumping - Sheep Hill
7:45 p.m. Hockey with N.Y.A.C. Cole Field Rink
10 p.m. House Dances:
Kappa Alpha - Zeta Psi
Andy Konopka
Phi Gamma Delta - Sigma Phi
Harry Noring
Phi Sigma Kappa - Harry Apple
Psi Upsilon - Theta Delta Chi
Frankie Thompson
Garfield Club 52nd Streeters
Saint Anthony Hall
Sammy Vincent
Alpha Delta Phi - Phi Delta
Theta - Harry Hart
Delta Phi - Beta Theta Pi
Delta Upsilon - Dan Barzie
Delta Kappa Epsilon - Chi Psi
Purple Knights
Sunday
10:30 Downhill - Greylock

by J. Edward Pawlick '49

Members of the Anti-Ski League were relegated to their sun-lamps and their pictures of Florida today as the Williams ski team and the Outing Club took over the campus to stage their 11th annual Winter Carnival.

More than 475 girls invaded a snowy, icy Williamstown for the first post-war Carnival which was officially opened this afternoon with the cross-country ski race. Those couples who tried to escape the wintery blasts by attending the college dance in the Lasell Gymnasium tonight were greeted there only by snow and frost decorations.

Ski Conditions Good

Carnival Chairman James N. Dorland '50, one person who was glad to see the snow, is optimistic about skiing conditions.

Undismayed by the balmy weather a few weeks ago, he confidently predicted the blizzards which have brought 14 inches of snow to Williamstown. Students have been packing the trails all week, and Dorland says that any more snow will hamper their work.

Smith contributed the largest number of Winter Carnival dates, 43; while Vassar sent 29; Mt. Holyoke 26; Wellesley 23; Skidmore 13; Bennington and Briarcliffe 7.

Classes As Usual

Tomorrow morning's classes will be held as usual. The eight-team slalom competition will be on Sheep Hill at 10 a.m. tomorrow while the jumping will take place at 2:30 p.m. Admission—either with or without date—will be $60.

Tomorrow evening at 7:45 the hockey team will play the New York Athletic Club. No admission will be charged. Many hay rides have been planned after the game and most house dances will start at 10 p.m. The downhill racing on Greylock's Thunderbolt Trail will take place Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

Medals To Winners

Medals will be presented to skiers finishing first and second in all four events and in the combined jump-cross country and slalom-downhill. The awards will be made at a beer party to be held See CARNIVAL, page 3

"Golden Boy" Plays A M T Next Week

Dissell, Smith To Star In Anniversary Play

The Cap and Bells production of Clifford Odet's "Golden Boy", featuring Jim Dissell '49 and Leslie Smith wife of Lawrence C. Smith in starring roles, will be presented in celebration of the organization's 50th anniversary March 11-13 in the Adams Memorial Theatre.

Dissell, last seen as the Blind Shepherd in "Oedipus Rex", will play the part of Joe Bonaparte; Mrs. Smith, featured as Stella in "Ways and Means," will play Lorna Moon.

Jo Mielziner, set designer for such famous Broadway productions as "Street Scene" and "Finian's Rainbow" is planning to be in the audience Saturday evening. Mr. Mielziner is now working on sets for the forth-coming production of "Sleepy Hollow," based on the story by Washington Irving. Beginning Monday, tickets for "Golden Boy" will be on sale at the AMT all day.

Garfield Dates Number 75

Betas, Phi Sigs Lure 36 Each, For Second

Of the 478 dates arriving, the Garfield Club leads the pack with 75, while the Phi Sigs and Betas take top honors among the fraternities, each bringing 36 females to Williamstown for the weekend. The dates arriving are:

Kappa Alpha
D. Filley	Grace Elseman
H. Dewey	Troy
J. Barrie	Marrill Payson
D. Horsey	Smith
L. Homeier	Susan Shirley
F. Zeller	Boston
J. Lasell	Pat Birge
G. Hopfengeck	Vassar
R. Manning	Jean Gries
D. Van Alstyne	Conn. College
D. Baker	Betty Jean Tallor
J. Walker	Bradford J.C.
J. Ferguson	Nancy Barclay
W. Mauck	Wellesley
T. Lamot	Robbie Oxnard
A. McCready	Smith
B. Manning	June Stephens
	Phila
	Candy De Vries
	Bennington
	Joan Chaplin
	Bennett
	Anney Irwine
	Bennington
	Jean O'Neills
	Mt. Holyoke
	Meleanor Lazosni
	Bennett J.C.
	Dorothy Robinson
	Smith
	Doris Warren
	Westport, Conn.
	Marcy Tyler
	Bennington
	Sigma Phi
J. Young	Barbara Beatty
G. Schofield	Cleveland
	Polly Anne Trafford
	Middlebury, Conn.
H. Hudson	Nancy Hough
	Chicago
H. Strong	Peggy Nairn
	Washington, D.C.
S. Bidwell	Caroline Allen
J. Brinkerhoff	Grand Rapids, Mich.
	Lee Widen
	Colby Jr. Col.
W. Hudson	Barbara Palicke
	Miami, Fla.
L. Gourlay	Patricia Norton
	Nangatuck, Conn.
P. Humphreys	Mary-Lou Aspin
	Smith
S. Taylor	Barbara Homer
	Wellesley
J. Hendee	Marion Van Brunt
	Milwaukee
R. Schwab	Betsy Biggs
	Smith
E. Mierzejewski	Natalie Swistak
	New Bedford, Mass.

See DATES, page 6

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts: Williamstown, Massachusetts
 "Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief
 Managing Editor
 Sports Editor
 Copy Editor
 Senior Associate Editor
 Office Manager

J. David Moler, '48
 Charles H. Klensch, '48
 Barrett F. Emmert, '48
 Robert A. Ripen, '48
 Josiah T. S. Horton, '48
 Ben B. Foster, II, '48

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

H. Russell Platt '48, John H. Schafer '48, William R. Barney '49,
 Seth M. Bidwell '49, Jerry J. Cole '49, Joseph F. Dorsey '49,
 J. Edward Pawlick '49,

EDITORIAL STAFF

J. B. Gibson, '50, E. V. Gouinlock, '50, R. J. Heuer, Jr., '50
 H. D. Mohring, '50, J. B. Shepardon, '50, P. W. Stites, '49
 C. E. Utley, '49, H. Van Horne, '50, M. C. Bhere, '50
 W. V. M. Fawcett, Jr., '50, S. Robinowitz, '50, S. F. Blaschke, '50
 K. F. X. Delaney, '50, J. G. Golding, '50, W. P. Stern, '50
 N. S. Wood, '50

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager, Arthur F. Dodd
 Advertising Managers, Edward L. Stackhouse, Dudley M. Irwin

Volume LXI, MARCH 6, 1948, Number 31

WE GIVE THE TORCH

In this, the last issue of the retiring Record Board, it is perhaps fitting that there should be an evaluation of aims, editorially speaking. We have tried, without undue mudraking, to expose weak points in the functioning of the college, and to champion their repair.

Perhaps the primary concern of the editorial policy of the Record has been an intangible — college spirit. Because of, or perhaps in spite of, these efforts on our part, college spirit, as far as it can be measured, has picked up. It was hard to back a losing football team. There was a lot of grouching, a lot of amateur quarterbacking, but there was also a good deal of continued support of the team while it was on the field.

Our new student government has come in for a good many knocks, along with what we consider some constructive suggestions. The important thing is not that the UC refused these suggestions, but that with no exceptions, they carefully considered them. We still feel that the UC is far from perfect. Despite Mr. Boyer and Mr. Spencer, we still don't like the class elections system. But as long as the men who serve on our student government are open to suggestion and criticism, do not become dogmatic, there is hope that the system will become progressively better.

The various departments of the administration have received passing mention, some good, some bad. The infamous Weston Field rest rooms haven't changed much. Those working on the Fund Drive are continuing the work which they so auspiciously began.

But the retiring board has only scratched the surface. There are numerous leaky spots which have gone unmentioned. In this, our last chance to make new enemies, let us suggest to our successors that they look into the possibilities of: increasing class unity and spirit; limiting the power of the Rules and Nominating Committee of the UC; putting a little fire under the Social Relations Committee of the same body; championing a plan for adequate financial responsibility of the administration for athletic injuries; and increasing the low wage rate of non-faculty employees. The Record can exert considerable influence on the Williams Campus. With proper handling, this influence can be used to insure a strong college. We, the retiring board, publicly hand the torch to our successors and wish them "bon voyage."

NEW STAFF

The Record takes pleasure in announcing that Charles E. Utley '49 has been appointed to Associate Editor, and the following men have been raised to the staff: Henry M. Baker Jr. '50; Philip S. Collins, II '50; James B. Greene Jr. '49; Edward W. Jones '51; Blair L. Perry '51; Dan Pugh '50; Frank P. Reiche '51; David S. Ruder '51; Lansing G. Scofield '50; Frederick Wiseman '51.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor of the Record:

The Undergraduate Council wishes to make its position clear in relation to your editorial of February 29th criticizing the freshman class elections. Your previous criticisms of class meeting elections have been studied and rejected. We are in unanimous agreement with, and support of, the present method of electing class officers and feel that this method should be continued.

The present method is as follows: (1) A class meeting is called by the Undergraduate Council; (2) Separate unlimited nominations are called for from the floor; (3) The final election is determined by a count of hands, it being necessary for the person elected to receive a majority of votes.

We support this method of class elections on three fundamental principles which alternate plans would deny. They are as follows:

1. We feel that class meetings are a healthy symbol and contribute towards class spirit which is a necessary ingredient in any college.

2. We feel that any system of distributing ballots through the social units would inevitably result in the formation of "House Blocs", to a far greater extent than your present criticism indicates to be existent.

3. We feel that any system of "Nominating Committees" (as suggested by the Record) would inevitably result in "House Blocs", would be too rigid to be fair to all concerned, and would be too cumbersome to be practical.

The Undergraduate Council feels that the freshman class elections, held Wednesday evening, February 25th was an encouraging sign and represented a healthy indication that class and school spirit can return to the Williams campus, if given an adequate opportunity.

The very fact that a class meeting was necessary for the freshmen to choose their class officers was seen when the class requested that the nominees stand up to be recognized by name.

There was some semblance of the formation of "House Blocs" during the last election, although it was not serious. This is a factor that must be considered and discouraged by the Social Unit Presidents and other campus leaders. There is nothing inherent or inevitable in a class meeting election that results in the formation of "House Blocs", as we feel there is in a system of ballot distribution through the Social Units.

The Undergraduate Council feels that the freshman class elections was a fair and valid form of election and there is no question in our minds as to the results. We were encouraged by the turnout of some 180 odd members of the class and believe that this method of election will become increasingly better as students gain more experience in

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

Isn't that picture awful? I don't know what my mother will say. She thinks I go to the library every night.

HOW TO GET A HOUSEPARTY DATE

It really isn't the hardest thing in the world to get a houseparty date, if one goes about it in the proper way. I will show you a copy of the letter which I had printed to send to prospective suckers:

Dearest (Here insert the name of the girl.)
 Well, I'm really hitting the old books, and I certainly miss the wonderful times we had last vacation at (Here insert the name of a place at which a particularly sexful evening was spent with the above inserted girl.) It's been so long since I've seen you or held your warm pulsating body in my strong arms. (This may be deleted if one is not that familiar with the subject, or on general principles.)

Anyway, we are having a big Houseparty next weekend featuring Nathan Schradnick and his Hopped-Up Five. We are planning at the House to (One should use one's discretion in inserting something here. If inserted, make it plenty good.) It would certainly please me no end if you would deign to grace the party with your electric presence. (This gets them every time.)

Love forever, (most important!)

Josie

I had a gross of these printed — at a nominal fee — and spread them around the country's girls' colleges. The answers were eye-opening to say the least — and that's exactly what I want to say. The most common was none at all. That seemed fairly final, so I listed them with the negative replies. In all, I received fifty-seven letters saying, "No." Two said, "No. Thanks, but no thanks, kid." Several were more original. May I quote? All righty:

Dear friend,

Your kind invitation arrived followed by a telegram saying that Second-cousin Algernon is expected to die next week-end. Of course it is impossible for me to accept your kind invitation as I shall be in New Haven for the funeral. Thank you for the kind invitation.

Yours, Charmaine

This was from a girl at Skidmore, and as everyone knows, a Skidmore girl smokes and drinks, and plays the ponies — hardly the type to have for a Williams houseparty.

Dear Josie,

Migawd, I thought you had choked to death on rut-gut or something. I haven't heard a syllable from you since that night you mentioned at Euclid Beach when you disappeared into the dark night with that bleached thing from Smith. I'd really be simply warm for pulsating my body in your strong arms again if I didn't have to attend a lecture in Cambridge on "The Use of Dissonant Counterpoint in Economic Recovery in the Zambosi Backlands." You know how disappointed I am. Tough situation, Jose.

Passionately, Lohengrin

Never trust a Wellesley woman, I shall always say from now on. I doubt if she even intended to attend that lecture — interesting as it sounded. The next letter I received was from the "bleached" thing at Smith.

Dear One,

It was simply grand to hear from you again, and I'd be simply delighted to attend that simply mellow houseparty you mentioned. It simply crushes me to the quick to have to refuse, but I shall be at home that weekend attending my wedding. I'm sure you'll understand and be a brick about the whole thing. My room-mate would be simply thrilled to attend. She's something of your type. She isn't terribly good looking, but she has a simply riotous personality. She's warm too.

Love, Poochie

That's the trouble with Smith girls — they're always getting married or something. I learned from a fraternity brother that the riotous room-mate with the personality can't spikka da English, so I let the matter drop. From Bennington:

Dear Sir,

How can you have the unmitigated gall to write me after the rough time you gave me last weekend is more than I can understand — feeble intellect that I am. Anytime you catch me at a Williams houseparty, it will be dead or with boxing gloves on. I value my reputation too highly to allow it to be dragged through the filthy mire of your lousy houseparty. In a word — No!!

Sincerely, Penelope

How can you argue with a woman who doesn't enjoy good clean fun? Maybe she'd rather attend her damned Siamese dancing class. I hope she disjoints her neck! But the payoff came finally when I received this letter from Poughkeepsie-on-the-Hudson:

Dearest darling Josiah,

Come to your houseparty? Why I'd love it! I had accepted invitations from Yale, Princeton and Amherst, but naturally I broke them all when I received your letter today. Don't worry about getting in any hootch. Pops sent me a case of Haig and Haig, and I'll just load it into the rear of my new convertible and drive up on Friday. I'm mad to see you — I intend to spend every minute making this a houseparty you'll remember forever. Get set for a fantastic weekend. And remember — if you want anything, just pucker up and whistle.

Love, love, love, Ann

That's what I always say — if you want a really fine houseparty date, order her from Matthew Vassar's Seminary for Lovely Females.

the conduction of elections through class meetings and as class spirit returns to predominance on the Williams campus

Sincerely,

Edson W. Spencer, Secretary, UC

Robert J. Boyer, Chairman,

Rules Committee, UC

"IT'S FROM BROOKS BROTHERS' SIXTH FLOOR SHOP"

We have planned Brooks Brothers' Sixth Floor Shop for men who like Brooks Quality and Good Taste in the Things they wear. Here men find a complete line of Suits, Shirts and Neckties...and other Clothing and Furnishings that fill their every requirement. Things that are typically Brooks...at generally lower prices.

Suits, $70 to $85 • Shirts, $4.25 and $5
 Overcoats, $85 • Neckwear, $1.50 to $2.50
 Pajamas, $5 and $6

ESTABLISHED 1818

Brooks Brothers
CLOTHING
 Mens Furnishings, Hats & Shoes

346 MADISON AVENUE, COR. 44TH ST., NEW YORK 17, N. Y.
 46 NEWBURY STREET, BOSTON 16, MASS.
 LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

ARE YOU UNAWARE OF UNDERWEAR?

If you're laughing on the outside — dying on the inside (from creeping shorts with a cruel center seam) you're not aware of the wonders of Arrow underwear!

Switch to Arrow shorts and relax. Arrow shorts (with the patented seamless crotch) come in a variety of styles with either gripper fasteners or buttons and are Sanforized labeled, guaranteeing less than 1% shrinkage. $1.25, $1.50, and $1.75.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

YOU CAN GET ARROW PRODUCTS AT

C. H. Cutting & Co.

North Adams, Massachusetts

INSURANCE BROKERS
 TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

The Haller Inn

MR. FRANK THOMS '30

MRS. FRANK THOMS

Faculty Forum

by S. L. Faison, Jr.

The Vassar girls put on a show last weekend. It was called the National Intercollegiate Arts Conference. The title was sporting, the speakers were excellent, the discussion was better and the turn-out was 1200 souls — 800 out of 1400 Vassar girls, 200 delegates male and female from other colleges, and an enthusiastic attendance from the community. Please understand that no one was forced to go, that no hour test will be devised to find out who went, and that the entire conference was conceived, organized and administered by students.

Advice to anyone interested in conferences at Williams is to go. In the Vassar girls and let them take over. They seem to know something we don't. Here, by the way, is how they did it.

First, they had an idea for a conference. I mean an idea, not a face. Faces the World, or the World at Home & Abroad, or the World of Mankind? They did not have the idea, pedantically, as the title of the conference, but chose to give it a single keynote speaker to define in forty-five minutes their idea and develop it as a point of reference for what followed. (At Williams, we have three or four speakers, all chanting in a different key.)

Second, everything was informal except the speeches, which gave an opportunity to develop a thought uninterrupted. There was no fuss. The keynoter was brusquely introduced Friday night by the student chair(wo)man, "This is Professor Matthiessen of Harvard. If you don't know who he is, we don't know why you came here." Or words to that effect. She did not sit on the stage during his speech. After he finished everyone moved from the big lecture hall to Alumnae House, where with refreshments, two or three hundred people sat on the floor or stood in corners and pumped "Matty" dry — or tried to. He was magnificent and inextinguishable.

Third, each panel (Saturday morning and afternoon) was limited to two speakers each of whom had about half an hour at his disposal. Discussion from the floor followed the two speeches; it was naturally centered on what ever common ground or basic contrast had developed. This discussion was halted after half an hour, and the meeting broke up into smaller groups in more informal surroundings.

Each discussion group featured one of the men who had just spoken, or one or two other invited guests who led discussions on related fields. Each panel and each discussion group had a guest chairman, who made sure that the audience heard all the questions from the floor. The chairman did not, however, attempt to dominate the discussion. There was no reason why he should. (At Williams, we usually have six speakers per panel, few of whom talk on the same subject; so that the person who dominates is generally the one with the most impressive physique and the most resonant voice.)

Fourth, a distinguished guest, who was present from the beginning, gave a summary of the entire proceedings. (At Williams, this was done, and superbly done, by a distinguished insider.)

Other than Prof. Matthiessen, the speakers included Irwin Shaw, playwright; Merce Cunningham, dancer; Ben Shahn, painter; John Cage, composer; and John Malcolm Brinnin, poet. The final summary was delivered by Paul Weiss, Professor of Philosophy at Yale. All of them are young in spirit, and mostly are young in years. None is arty. All have the gift and articulate. All have the light touch. (All I heard, at least; I could not stay for Sunday.)

I could not avoid the contrast between the really inspiring address by Prof. Matthiessen (and the exciting discussion which ensued) and what happened at Williams last spring, when the same Prof. Matthiessen was allotted ten minutes in his due turn (left to right) among six speakers from vastly different walks of life. Last Friday night demonstrated what we had missed, and why our system is not successful. Everyone I compared notes with agreed that the conflicts and tensions that beset a mind of integrity in modern society have never been explored more lucidly or with greater meaning. Prof. Matthiessen brilliantly exposed the sham of the "official" version of America which is purveyed by what he called the National Association of Manufacturers of the American Way of Life.

Thinking it all over, I wonder if a humanities or arts conference in the spring of 1949 would not attract greater student attendance than our perennial Liberal conferences do. (Has anyone ever counted more than a hundred Williams students at any one of these sessions?) I feel certain that faculty and community support would be encouraging.

To those whose interest, like mine, is primarily in the humanities, I ask, do you want every spring conference to be political-economic? Aren't you a little tired of just economists, political scientists, and Big Men from the Real World? I have attended, I believe, every session of every spring conference to date. I am tired of being a Good Citizen. It is someone else's turn to develop his normal curiosity and broaden his mind. It is fatal to take the humanities for granted. They, not the social

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corona
Underwood
Royal

108 Main Street
North Adams

sciences, are the central core of a liberal education. It is high time that college funds for imported speakers go, for a change, in that direction.

This is an incitement to rebellion.

Carnival . . .

for the contestants at the Alumni House Sunday afternoon.

Informality reigned at the Laseil Gymnasium tonight as couples clad in ski clothes and other informal attire danced from 10-2 to the music of Sammy Vincent and his orchestra while others chose to "swing their partners round and round" in the wrestling room where Floyd "Pappy" Moon called square dancing.

During the dance the Koveted Keg sculpture award was made after the judges had visited the houses in the afternoon and viewed the snow figures which ranged from pink elephants to castles.

Life . . .

get spontaneous pictures on color film, the artist said that even "minor productions" require at least two hours of preparation.

Europe

Before starting to work for Life, Crane spent nine years covering Europe for the New York Times. During this period, he took pictures of the Ethiopian War, the Duke of Windsor's wedding, and von Hindenburg's funeral, and Laud . . .

tary training, 5) the Taft-Hartley law with the exception of the clause restraining unions from contributing to political campaigns or buying political advertisements in papers."

The Pauley incident came in for much discussion, but Rosthal defended his candidate by saying, "Stassen never made the direct statement that Pauley had inside information. Stassen involved above B and if they stand in the upper one-fourteenth of the class. After the midyear examinations of their senior year additional members of the class are chosen from those whose average up to that time is at least eleven A's above B. At the end of the senior year any others who have attained an average as high as eight A's above B are elected, the general major grade counting as the equivalent of two semester grades in the calculation of the scholastic average. No student is considered for Phi Beta Kappa who hasn't been at Williams for two full years.

Twelve . . .

Additional members of the Class of '48 who were elected to the honorary society at the end of their junior year are Robert R. Austell, Elemer E. Cornwall, Jr., Robert F. Gieckner, Robert L. Nelson, Paul B. Shapiro, and Francis C. Stokes, Jr.

he also covered the League of Nations for six years.

He attributes his scorn for New England topography, which led to the chimney climbing excursion to his residence in California, where "they really build mountains." He has lived there since 1941, when he first started working for Life. Last Saturday, some of Crane's pictures were featured in the Life article on skiing, the longest color series ever to appear in the magazine.

himself in this investigation merely because he felt it a question of public morality; he considered this speculation as an aid to increased inflation."

When asked about the effect of student participation in Stassen's campaign Rosthal replied that the Republican nominee would not be chosen "by a few men in a smoke-filled room," but that the voice of the people would be heard as in 1940 and that the students, by making their opinions known, could influence the decision.

Uncle Eph's Worm Farm

by D. Lighto de Moon

HARD LUCK STORY OF THE WEEK . . . concerns Jack McConnell and George Thomason who journeyed to Tigertown last weekend to hash over the UMT question. Mrs. Thomason went along to give the team the moral support, which, as it turned out, they needed badly. Lacking other means of transport, the trio was finally reduced to using the '34 Plimpy belonging to Kid Villa, handyman around the Deke house.

At dinner, the debaters discovered that the contest was to be unjudged. A little unusual, but okay by us, said the visitors affably. After much hemming and hawing it became evident that - ah - interest in debating had sort of - uh - fallen off around these parts of late. We don't mind, replied the Ephs innocently. We're used to debating before moderate audiences.

They were little troubled that night by the Tiger enthusiasm which later threatened to hospitalize the hockey squad. The teams went thru the informalities before an audience of two.

If the audience was moderate, the weather was not. The car broke down Saturday morning, so a quick call to Columbia cancelled the debate scheduled there in the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. T. gave up completely and took the train, leaving Jack with the wreck. Elapsed time for the return trip was ten hours, during which the car pooped out six times and used as many quarts of oil. The window, jammed open by cardboard from the broken panes, admitted avalanches of slush with each passing car. The Kid, however, was frankly amazed. 'Can't understand it,' he said. 'I just put a new motor in her.'

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT . . . the AD from Cleveland whose Kingly date is stretching houseparties into a ten-day fling . . . the Phi Beta in the Sig House who started a Students for Lynn Haskell Club . . . the big excitement in the cage on Friday nights when the Northern Berkshire Dog Traiping Club convenes . . . the plight of 2,000,000 Poles which recently occupied the first column of the Williamstown section of the NA Transcript . . . photogenic Ted Lamot and Phil Scheide appearing in every picture taken by LIFE fotog Ralph Crane. Latest rumor is that story may be retitled 'Lamot and Scheide at Williams' . . . how Uncle Ed's star groaner 'General' John Stillwell found love on the Boston and Maine.

WE DOFF OUR GOLF CAP TO . . . Octet guitarist Will Holt on getting his own ten-minute television spot on a Schenectady station . . . D. L. de Moon for the now-famous scoop on the Canfield axe which has received wide publicity via the NA TRANSCRIPT . . . Mike. Joel Verdeur, world breast-stroke champion expressed admiration for his gigantic hamburgers (according to Mike).

WILLIAMS GOES TO A PARTY . . . (Intercollegiate Dept). . . Noted in PIC's article on Princeton were Phi Delt's Cal Frese and Jack Schafer having a swell time on their hosts' hooch. We wonder if they did as well with the Tigers' dates.

Cause for American Pride . . .

Keep your valuable papers
and securities
in a
SAFE DEPOSIT BOX
They are now available

Williamstown
National Bank
Williamstown, Mass.

Member F D I C

*is thus beautifully offered to our acceptance
That we may fulfil with the greatest exactitude all our obligations to foreign and domestic, and in whatsoever abilities whatsoever, and in whatsoever they are pledged: for in public, as in private,
we are to be the best policy
That we may avoid connecting ourselves with the politics of any nation, farther than shall be found necessary to regulate our own trade; in order that commerce may be placed upon a stable footing, our merchants know their rights - and the government the ground on which those rights are to be supported. -
That every citizen would take pride in the name of American, and act as if he felt the importance of his position in the world, and that he would be ready to sacrifice himself, if he is called upon, in the defence of his country (farther than our own safety may require) and on the basis of any, whatsoever. And moreover, that*

WASHINGTON'S FAREWELL ADDRESS

Here, in our First President's own handwriting, is part of the far-sighted speech he delivered to the American people 152 years ago. The spirit of the doctrine still applies. It calls for a firm unity among our people . . . emphasizing, above all, the need for "every citizen to take pride in the name of an American." The original is now aboard the "Freedom Train" — a traveling exhibit of the most significant documents in our history.

Be proud of what you write . . .
and the way you write it!

Naturally you're proud when you own a Parker "51". For this is the world's most-wanted pen. It glides with satin-smoothness . . . gives new freedom to your thoughts and fingers . . . makes writing more fun! Whether it's an exam—a theme—a letter, this is the pen that will always show you at your best. Ask for the "51" in either the regular or new demi-size. Choice of points. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin, U. S. A., and Toronto, Canada.

Parker "51"

"51 writes dry with wet ink!"

Copyright 1948 by The Parker Pen Company

HOTEL SHERATON

Unexcelled Cuisine

Cocktail Lounge

Dancing

Saturday Night

(Sammy Vincent Orchestra)

FIREPROOF
300 ROOMS

John Donegan, Mgr.

The Square Deal Store

HOWARD MOON, Proprietor

LIQUORS

WINES

BEER

FRUIT

GROCERIES

VEGETABLES

43 Spring St.

Williamstown

Williams Defeated By Wesleyan Quintet, 52-44

A New Record, Obviously!

Judges Smith, Sheperd, and Milham conferring on new 300 yd. medley record (3:03.4) set Feb. 28 by Wineman, Svenson, and Baldwin. Photo by Birchall

Purple Swimmers To Defend Little Three Crown Today

Will Face Amherst Thirty-Fifth Time

Williams Undefeated In Seven Dual Meets

by Norm Wood

Having successfully defended the first leg of the Little Three crown against Wesleyan last Saturday, the Williams swimming team will try to make it three consecutive years as Little Three champs, when it travels to Amherst today to face its age-old rival at 2:30 p.m.

Undefeated in its seven dual meets against Springfield, Massachusetts University, Brown, Army, Dartmouth, Bowdoin, and Wesleyan, the Purple appears to be too strong for the Jeffs, who have a not-too-impressive record of three wins and three losses. All three of their defeats have been at the hands of teams conquered by Williams, — Bowdoin, Wesleyan, and Springfield.

Watch Ball, Rawdon

Co-captains Lew Ball and Blaine "Buckets" Rawdon are the Amherst men to watch. Ball has been turning in some good times this year in his dash specialties, the 50 and 100, and furthermore, swims anchor man in the 400 freestyle relay. Rawdon is the breaststroke ace and has been beaten only by Soltysiak of Bowdoin and G. Forbes of Wesleyan. Tom Fulton, Amherst's springboard artist, may also be a real threat. Earlier this year he defeated Canada's national champion and former Olympic diver, George Athans. Coach Bob Muir felt that the meet would be much the same as the Wesleyan meet. The Jeffs

Foilers Face Jeffs After Card Loss

The Williams fencing team, hoping to avenge the decisive defeat suffered last Saturday to Wesleyan, will meet the Amherst foil artists this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in Lasell Gymnasium.

Four men will make up the squad, with Captain Joel Carr '48, leading off, and Curt Joa, Woody Dickerman, and Dan Pugh all of 50, following in that order. Although lacking a coach and short on facilities, the thrusters are more confident about the outcome of this match.

The reappearance of Captain Carr, whose absence accounted for a good part of the 15-1 loss of the previous encounter, should considerably aid the Purple. The third and final meet of the year is the "Little Three" Championship to be held at Amherst on Saturday, March 13.

are strong in several events and figure to take the bulk of their points in them.

Muir Makes 'Em Good

While talking to Coach Muir before the renewal of the rivalry with Amherst, we decided to have a squint at his record since his arrival at Williams. Since Bob took the job of coaching the natators in Billville in the fall of 1936, his teams have won 71, lost only 11, and tied one in dual competition. This record gives a winning percentage of .866. The colleges topping the Purple during the twelve-year stretch are: Bowdoin, Army, Massachusetts State, and See SWIMMERS, page 5

Little Three Crown Won By Cardinals In Rough Contest: Eph Attack Led By Ditmar

by Jack Schafer

The Wesleyan basketball brigade came into town last Thursday night possessor of three straight Little Three wins, and after thirty-four minutes of close play, was assured of its fourth.

The win gives Wesleyan its first "Potted Ivy" championship since before the war with four victories and no Little Three defeats. Williams finishes out the season with a game at Amherst tonight but both clubs will be playing solely to complete the schedule.

Game Always Close

Up to within six minutes of the end of the game, the match was extremely close and could have gone either way. The Cardinals were ahead at half-time by one point, but it was not until the very end that they were able to pull away and assume a 52 to 44 victory. The lead changed hands ten times throughout the game and the score was tied on nine occasions.

Frank Wenner, of the visitors, was the big noise on the court, scoring three field goals and eleven out of twelve foul shots for a total of seventeen counters. His was the best exhibition of foul shooting seen in a Williams game this year. George Ditmar was next high with fifteen points, and Captain Bob Brownell had a good night with thirteen.

It Was Hard-Fought

Both teams were obviously "up for this game, especially Williams. They played it close and hard all the way, occasionally lapsing into some rough stuff. With everybody wanting to win it was natural that feelings should run as high as they did — it seems the officiating did little to quiet them. The visiting mentor spent most of the game on his feet, and if the game had been played at Middletown, it is a good guess that the spectators would have supported his evaluation of the ability of the whistle tooters.

If so, we like to hope that they would not voice their sentiments in the manner employed by the Williamstown crowd. It would be nice to know that the conduct of this crowd at ball games is peculiar to this locale and that such shabby partisanship as has been perpetrated here in the last few games is not prevalent elsewhere.

Second Half Wins Game

It was in the second half that Wesleyan pulled out in front and clinched the victory. Williams started the half one point behind at 28 to 29, but quickly pulled out in front when Ditmar converted a smooth hand-off from Jerry Page. The Ephs stayed in the van for the first six minutes as Wesleyan was unable to get in for shots and Brownell was hitting with a left-handed hook and a free throw.

The lead see-sawed back and forth for the next eight minutes when, with seven to go, Wesleyan went out in front at 40 to 37. After a Brownell set, however, the dam broke, with noble aid from Wenner, and the visitors went into a four point lead which Williams was never able to narrow.

In Ev'ry Play

by Barry Emmert

We were tapped on the shoulder the other day and told by the Editor that it was time we removed ourself from the premises of the Record office. It seems that in unfounded anticipation of our graduation in June, a new Sports Editor has been chosen to fill our size 4½ brogans.

This represents, therefore, absolutely the last endeavor we intend to inflict on this page. From now on it will be the result of Bill Barney's deft manipulations of the typewriter keys which will greet the occasional reader of these equally occasional columns. In this our final hour, we intend to deal with several topics, and so will make this, our last effort, a Sportspourri, to coin a cliché.

Three In One

Seems that Clarence Chaffee is the only coach in college to have guided in three Little Three Championship teams — all during the same season. Last Wednesday, Chafe's undefeated Jayvee and freshman squash teams ground Amherst to a pulp by whopping 9-0 scores, while the best the varsity could do was squeak by with an 8-1 margin. These victories followed 9-0 drubbings of Wesleyan by the Jayvees and frosh, with the varsity again experiencing the most trouble, coming out on top, 5-4.

Good Old Norm

Looks as though it is still safe for small colleges to have winning football teams and retain their coaches. Norm Daniels of Wesleyan has asked to have his name removed from all consideration for the still vacant Yale football coaching job. A Wesleyan Argus editorial writer, on hearing the news, uncrossed his fingers and jumped to the typewriter to say that a "big man had made a big decision", that he had refused to be swayed by the "glitter of big time college football", and that, well, Norm Daniels is a pretty swell guy. Guess he is.

Tough Skiing

Contrary to impressions that might be received this weekend, skiing resources of the Berkshires are hardly tapped by Williams undergraduates. Operating on a budget of strictly minor league proportions and without the benefit of a professional coach, the ski team has considerable trouble competing with the Middleburys, Dartmouths, and St. Lawrences which grace its schedule of opponents. Even the swamp dwellers from Amherst have, we hear, made great strides in exploiting their own limited natural facilities.

It is said that they have hired a coach and have purchased three hundred pairs of Army skis for their PT Department. These presumably are not to be confused with kindling, and are no doubt to be used to promote interest in one of the few college sports which can be enjoyed after graduation. Professor Landon Rockwell, "informal" coach of the Williams team, submitted last year a plan for more extensive skiing facilities. Coaching the team is for Rockwell a labor of love, and he is the first to advocate the hiring of a real full-time coach. But seemingly his plans must be temporarily shelved lest the Fund Drive, current number one scapegoat on campus, be upset by so radical a suggestion. Let it be certain that this shelving is only temporary.

Athletic Insurance?

We are assured by Walter F. Sheehan, Director of Athletics, that an insurance plan is being studied which will cover "all" medical cost involved in treating an injured athlete. The present half-way measures have been strongly criticized by undergraduates. It is to be hoped that the new plan is instituted before a case arises at Williams similar to the one at Wesleyan this Fall, when a freshman football player was seriously injured, involving paralysis from the waist down. Seems that Wes insures its players only up to 200 bucks. The boys' parents were as paralyzed as he when his bill ran into five digits.

"Everybody There Saw Kelley"

Howie Taylor hits the deck as opponents Waskiewicz (L) and Kelley look on in home victory over Amherst February 20. Photo by Birchall

Court Five Closes Season; Away At Amherst Tonight

High pointers

6 Leading Basketball Scorers (to Wesleyan Game)

	Games	Ave.	Points
Ditmar	13	15.2	198
Brownell	13	7.2	94
Mason, J.	13	7	91
Taylor	5	5	25
Page	13	4.9	64
Bush	8	2.9	23

Locals Beat Jeffs Two Weeks Ago

Amherst Wins Once In Twelve Games

by Stu Robinowitz

Disappointed that their perfect record has already been spoiled by a victory over Bowdoin (the only win in twelve games at the start of the week), the dejected Amherst courtmen will throw caution to the wind and chance another victory when the Williams basketball team invades Pratt Field House at Amherst Saturday night.

The consistent Jeffmen, who compiled their impressive record with two losses to Trinity and two to Wesleyan among other conquerors, also managed to succumb to Dale Burnett's charges. The game, played here two weeks ago, was surprisingly close and the Ephmen were forced to overcome a 28-25 half-time deficit to win 48-41.

Jeffs Tougher

The Amherst crew, playing on its home court, where the Bowdoin mishap occurred, should be a lot tougher for the Williams five, which hasn't won an away game all season. Monday's loss to Vermont was the first decision that the locals have dropped at home. Previously, they had won five times on the Lasell boards, suffering their seven losses on the road.

Playing their last game of the season, the Ephmen will probably take the court with George Ditmar, Howie Taylor, Jerry Page, Captain Bob Brownell and Jack Mason, with Bud Cool, Jack Wideman and Ralph Mason on tap for reserve duty.

Norwich Tops In Polo 18-11

Hudson and Pugh Tally Four Goals Apiece

The Williams Polo Team met defeat at the hands of the University of Norwich last Saturday by a score of 18-11, in the first round of the intercollegiate indoor championship.

The team found difficulty in the first chucker when the Norwich malletmen romped away with the play, having the advantage of knowing the ring and the side-board angles. The first period ended 6-0, but early in the third chucker the Ephs hit their stride and brought the score to 11-8.

The last period was the scene of some brilliant playing by Captain Shope of Norwich and Captain Hudson of the Purple, both of whom rode and played position well. The scoring for the Williams squad is as follows: William Hudson '50, playing at No. 2, four goals; Dan Pugh '50, playing the No. 3 defense slot, four goals; and Charles Gunther, '50, at No. 1, three goals.

Since the team has had virtually no indoor practice this winter owing to a lack of facilities, the margin of score can be laid to inexperience and the few times which the boys have had an opportunity to play. Better results are expected when they meet the Yale J. V.'s at Boulder Brook on Saturday, March 20.

SALVY'S

SKI BOOTS REDUCED

G. H. BASS

$29.50 to $23.95

$22.50 to $18.95

$11.50 to $ 9.95

Berkshire Optical Company

Prescription Optician

Courteous, efficient and Prompt

Repair Service

Broken Lenses or Frames

FRANK PROVENCHER, Proprietor

2nd Floor of the Kimbell Building,

Phone North Adams 1136

WINTER CARNIVAL

Open ALL Weekend To Serve

You and Your Date

Friday Night During the Dance

We're Right Across The Street

Saturday after the skiing drop in for a hot drink and a snack.

Sunday morning at MIKE'S is a houseparty

The College Restaurant

KEEP YOUR FORD'S

Showroom Complexion
BRIGHT

Expert body and fender repairs done the FORD WAY . . . with special FORD equipment and finishing materials. Reasonable prices.

The Smith Baker Co.

INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Hockey Squad Ties Cadets, Upset Princeton

Squash Team Beats Amherst; Annexes Little Three Crown

2nd Consecutive Title For Purple

Team Wins 8-1; Mikell, Thomas Pace Team

by Russ Platt

Flashing their best form of this season the Williams squash team captured its second consecutive Little Three championship last Wednesday by decisively defeating Amherst 8-1.

The outcome was never in doubt, for the Eph team garnered seven points before Amherst was able to register a victory. This lone Jeff score was earned by Owens as he beat George Wright at number one in four close games 18-13, 15-11, 15-13, 18-15.

Mikell Wins

At number three Bill Mikell, gamely overcame the disadvantage of his heavily bandaged leg and trounced Balmos in four games. Although he dropped the first game 18-18, Mikell's superior corner shots and ability to hold the center "T" position enabled him to sweep the next three games, 15-3, 15-7, 15-13.

Randy Thomas at number two outlasted Dave Rees to win in five games. Thomas trailed after the third game 2-1, but he eked out the fourth game 17-15. In the fifth game he managed to stave off Rees' last minute rally, thus winning the decisive game 15-13.

Lincoln Triumphs

Lou Lincoln at number four completely outclassed Von Stade, winning 15-10, 15-9, 15-12. The number five match was the same story as Frank Donnelly swamped Stetee 15-15, 15-13, 15-9. Both Ephmen outthit and kept shots lower than their opponents.

George Kneass at the sixth position for Williams triumphed over Tim Martin in five grueling games. Like Thomas, Kneass trailed 2-1 at the end of the third game, but he rallied strongly to win the fourth game 15-4. His better physical condition and superior wall shots enabled him to take the fifth game 15-11.

Bud Dodge and Stu Robinson at the eighth and ninth positions won their matches in three straight games: Dodge winning over Soliday 15-10, 15-8, 15-11, while Robinson trounced Williams 15-11, 15-11, 15-8. At the seventh spot Jack Pietsch won a close four game decision from Keevil, 15-11, 12-15, 15-12, 18-17.

Grapplers Face Amherst Today

Purple Favored To Cop Little Three

by M. C. Behre

Anyone able to tear himself away from the Carnival festivities Saturday should see Coach Bullock's grapplers take on an underdog Jeff squad at the Amherst Gym in the 25th annual wrestling classic. In their fifth venture of the season, the undefeated Purple wrestlers travel to Sabrinaville to gather the Little Three laurels for their third consecutive year.

The season's statistics put the Jeffs at a disadvantage.

At MIT, their first encounter, they split 14-14 with the squad that Williams recently downed 24-10. Against Wesleyan, Amherst gained their only victory at a 19-9 count. Last weekend a depleted Eph squad knocked off the Cardinals 28-7. The rest of the Jeff starts resulted in a 17-13 loss to Coast Guard and another 14-14 tie with Dartmouth.

Jeff's Strength Limited

With eight lettermen returning from last year, Amherst retains some formidable talent. They do not, however, have an all-around team with strength in every category. Foremost in their roster is Jim Roush at 175 lbs. This slot should provide a 50-50 match with our own prodigy, Chuck Blakney. Captain Fritz Greene should also be fair game for Hank Hall at 136 lbs.

At 121 lbs. Chuck Turpin meets Chuck Winans. Due to the knee injury which berthed Bill Kelton for the rest of the year, Turpin has acquired the slot for the remaining dual meets and the New England's Captain Paul Cook will face Don Burns of Amherst at 128 lbs. Bill Leitzinger and Harry Neave encounter Paul Hoyer and Sandy Keith respectively in the 145 and 165 lb. positions.

There is doubt whether Mike Rizik or Bob Dewey will face Grant North at 155 lbs; and it's also uncertain whether John Stillwell will meet either Lee Louria or Dick Schumacher in Unlimited weight.

Winter Sports' Captains

Team pilots from left to right: Joel Carr, fencing; John Weeth, co-captain of track; Paul Cook, wrestling; Sandy Lambert, swimming; George Wright, squash; Bob Brownell, basketball; Dick Brown, skiing; and Lionel Bolin, co-captain of track. Not present is Charlie Huntington, captain of hockey.

Photo by Birchall

Swimmers - - -

Yale, once each; Brown and Springfield twice, and Amherst three times.

He has won six of Williams' twelve Little Three championships. Moreover, he has won four New England Intercollegiate Swimming Association championships in a row, out of the six titles won by Williams since 1921. Against Amherst he has won six and lost three, as compared with the overall record with the Jeffs of fifteen wins, eighteen losses, and one tie.

Aces Primed

Still priming themselves for their defense of the New England crown on March 12-13, the Williams swimmers will present more or less the same lineup as in most of their earlier meets. Hank Wineman, Swede Svenson, and Chick Brashears or Bill Rueckert will handle the 300 medley relay. Captain Sandy Lambert, Ray Baldwin, and Bob Beld will churn over the distance courses, and Moe Murray, Brashears, and Rueckert will race the sprints.

Wineman and Ted Lamot will do the back-splashing, and Svenson, the breaststroke. Al Hydeman, who topped ninety points last week only to be out-pointed by Wesman Rog Taylor, and Cliff Stowers will operate from the diving board. The relay team may be composed of Murray, Brashears, Rueckert, and Baldwin, but there is a probability that Treat Arnold, George Coale, and John Warren will swim.

Drippings . . . The yearling Eph-Jeff splash-clash will follow the varsity affair, starting time approximately 4:15 . . . The series (Williams-Amherst) started in 1909, was discontinued during the years 1915, 1918-19, 1944-45.

Relay Runners Seek 4th Win

Team Position Changes For KC Track Meet

The mile relay team will be looking for their fourth victory of the indoor season at the Knights of Columbus meet in Madison Square Garden on Saturday night. Boasting the most successful indoor track record in years, the quartet has beaten their Little Three and other collegiate rivals in three match races.

After piling up an easy victory at the Boston K. of C. Games and hard-earned wins at the Melrose Games in New York and the Boston A. A. Meet, the foursome is tuning up for this closing attraction of the New York indoor season.

Winning Combination

The same men who snared a close decision in the B. A. A. Games will represent the Purple this weekend, although Coach Tony Plansky is experimenting with a change in the running order. He will attempt to profit by John Weeth's early speed by using him in the leadoff position. Taking over the second leg will be fast-improving Bill Barney who has recovered from a shoulder injury. Gordon Smith and Kevin Delany will hold down their usual important third and fourth legs respectively.

The Knights of Columbus Meet annually produces a goodly share of the best races and performers of the entire winter's activity since the promoters are able to present the proven standouts in track and field in the distances best suited for them. Williams will be one of over 92 college relay teams competing. Williams will run against Colgate, Holy Cross, Boston University, and St. Johns.

Skaters Draw With Army; Then Spill Tigers 3-2 In Penalty-Riddled Game

by Jerry J. Cole

With the breaks coming their way for a change, and being smart and aggressive enough to take advantage of them, Coach Snively's hockey charges pulled off two upsets on opposition rinks last weekend, tying Army 2-2 on Saturday eve, and defeating a highly favored Princeton sextet 3-2 Monday.

Against Army Williams was a little slow getting started after being rushed onto the ice and into the game with a minimum of warmup practice. The Cadets were in control throughout the initial stanza and jumped off to a 2-0 lead on goals by Schlotterbeck from Davis at 7:00 and Kuyk assisted by Cerow and Norby twenty seconds before the end of the period.

Purple Takes Over

But in the second and third periods the Eph skaters became accustomed to the mammoth Smith Rink (largest collegiate rink in the East), and proceeded to assume command of the ice in spite of the heralded supremacy of the Cadets who boasted victories over Yale 4-3, Middlebury 7-2, and St. Lawrence 2-1 — Williams having tied Middlebury and lost to St. Lawrence.

Tom Benson secured the first Williams goal on a double assist by Captain Charlie Huntington and George Owen in 19:10 of the second period. At 18:45 of the third frame Bucky Marchese knotted up the score for the Purple on an assist by big Don Ratcliffe. In the subsequent ten-minute overtime neither team was able to score. Goalie Dave Pyncheon was credited with thirty-one saves. The game was relatively mild with only five penalties being called.

Princeton Succumbs

After traveling down to New York by bus on Sunday, and watching the Rangers and Canadians in the Garden in a roughhouse affair, the team met and downed the Tigers of Princeton, 3-2, in their own lair to achieve a stunning upset. This was due for the most part to Coach Snively's forethought in having the squad prepare a special defense when depleted by penalties.

In the first period Williams went on the offensive at the first with well-executed three-man breaks, but were unable to produce any goals. Toward the end of the period the Tiger play picked up, but with sixteen seconds remaining Doug Coleman scored on a pass from Bucky Marchese at close range. Three very doubtful penalties were called by the referees.

Defense Holds

These same confusing officials continued to call their dubious decisions in the second frame and for four minutes the Purple forces were reduced to three active skaters, and one very busy but efficient goalie. But because of the aforementioned preparation of a special defense, and Pyncheon's alertness in the cage, the eager Tigers were unable to take advantage of their numerical superiority.

Princeton tied the score at 8:23 on a Pete Erdman goal, but less than a minute later Bill Swan put the Purple out in front again, scoring from three feet inside the blue line on an assist by George Owen. The stanza ended with Williams ahead 2-1.

Healy's Goal The Clincher

With Tom Healy's goal at 9:41 on a long shot from the side after assists by Benson and Huntington, the Tigers seemed to fall apart in their efforts to make up the deficit. Their passes and skating became very sloppy and the teamwork "non-existent" in the words of a Princeton observer.

A fitting climax to the Tiger's rage was reached when Hank Safarik began slugging Doug Coleman behind the Williams goal, and attempted to continue the fight in the penalty box, finally involving the rest of the players and the more hardy spectators. Both Doug and Hank drew major penalties for their rambunctiousness and were joined a minute later by Dick Ryerson and George Owen who also sat out the rest of the game. Forty seconds before the end Princeton tallied to make it 3-2, and as a last desperation measure removed their goalie for another forward, but Williams held to emerge the victor.

Princeton Box Score:

Williams	Goalie	Princeton
Pyncheon	Goalie	R. O'Conner
Spencer	Defense	Bernard
Ratcliffe	Defense	D. Ryerson
Huntington	Center	Clarkson
Healy	Wing	Elsaesser
Benson	Wing	Roberts
Goals: First Period:
1-Williams Coleman (Marchese)		19:44
Second Period
2-Princeton, P. Erdman (Wicks, Ryerson)		6:23
3-Williams, Swan (Owen)		7:18
Third Period
1-Williams, Healy (Benson, Huntington)		9:41
5-Princeton, Roberts (Wicks)		19:20

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

Winter Carnival Specials For The Weekend

KING'S Package Store

BEER Narragansett per case $4.00

Ruppert

Krueger's Ale or Beer

Goebel

SET UP

Ginger Ale
Soda

Look In . . .

THE VARIETY BOX

at the end of Spring St.

THE GREYSTONE INN

Williamstown, Mass.
ACCOMMODATIONS BY DAY OR WEEK
Merton A. Odell Tel. 476-W

By popular acclaim the
RICHMOND GRILL
is the place to go for
FOOD and DRINKS

Richmond Hotel
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

G. M. HOPKINS Co.

- ★ New Draperses
- ★ Rugs
- ★ 11 oz. Heavy base glasses
- ★ Pictures Framed

WILLIAMS MEN

Get a present for your Houseparty
Date at the COUNTRY SHOP.

A complete line of gifts for every choice.

Club Enjoys Lion's Share; Phi Sigs, Betes, Each 36

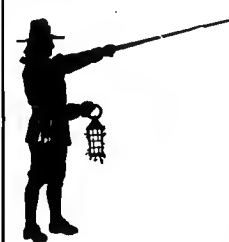

D. Pugh	Marilyn Miller	J. Johnson	Rowenna Colley
B. Benepe	Priscilla High	W. O'Neill	Mt. Holyoke
C. Pritchett	Noroton, Conn.	G. Youngman	Nancy Tholen
R. Hastings	Ellen Sleman	J. Durrell	Bennington
C. Rublee	Maplewood, N.J.	D. Whitehead	Colby
P. Madsen	Nancy Ames	P. Peabody	Terry Eaton
P. Scheide	Vassar	D. Wood	Briarcliffe
H. Wickham	Barbara Birt	R. Palmedo	Liz Flower
C. Connely	Sweet Briar	J. Page	Maplewood, N.J.
W. Dunlap	Barbara Wood	M. Detmer	Peggy Boomer
C. Oudin	Brooklyn	C. Farmer	Vassar
P. Peyton	Pat Seaman	P. Graney	Nina Peek
B. Smith	Mt. Holyoke	R. Platt	Smith
J. Forster	Jane Porter	D. Meryman	Cynthia Oustan
C. Cook	Colorado U.	D. Bennett	Colby JC
J. Belding	Lurette Freeman	J. McClement	Connie Roberts
H. Mohring	Bradford	G. O'Brien	Phyllis Weed
B. Anderson	Ellen Jayne Palmer	P. Geier	Edgewood Park College
W. Mann	Finch Jr. Col.	K. Jayne	Et Borden
F. Wright	Delta Upsilon	D. Rackerby	Queens College
G. Clarke	Barbara Dexter	B. Wcht	Betty Walker
R. Cottell	Bronxville	P. Sylvester	Vassar
I. Svenson	Virginia Carson	J. Geier	Rachel Grier
T. Whaley	St. Davids, Pa.	H. Humpotura	William Smith College
T. Reynolds	Dorothy Whitney	T. Curtis	Martha Early
A. Donohue	Bradford J.C.	J. Lund	Wells
F. Goodrich	Jacqueline Wickwire	D. Ruder	Nancy Vendiger
H. Ess	Catherine Gibbs	D. Neff	Glinny Callaghan
R. Hunt	Phyllis Stover	J. Semeam	Conn. College
J. Hay	Packer J.C.	S. Dalrymple	Midge Lohrke
D. Diefendorf	Mimi Huggan	P. Martin	Garden City
W. Campbell	Cornell	N. Wood	Horses Neck, Col.
W. Fiske	Joan Park	C. French	Sis Elsaesser
T. Holt	Port Washington, LI	S. Mody	Colby Junior College
H. Kellogg	Dora Missen	S. Bonme	Phyllis Ruckgeber
A. Goodrich	Worcester, Mass.	J. Bowen	Barnard Cally, N. Y.
P. Mead	Dorothy Eyres	T. Attix	Pifi White
T. Conroy	Worcester, Mass.	S. Suneron	New York City
P. Stites	Janice Robinson	G. Hyde	Dione Brondley
B. Voorheis	Wheaton	J. Pletsch	Caldwell, N.J.
R. Whitney	Andy Leonard	B. Stegl	Betty Richards
H. Erskine	Smith	P. Herrick	Warraza, Mexico
	Jane Holland	D. White	Caroline Husted
	Mt. Holyoke		Warraza, Mexico
	Julia Smith		Arlene Townsend
	Buffalo, N.Y.		Albany
	Buzz Gilliot		Sis Loeffler
	Mt. Holyoke		Smith
	Betty Schmidt		Liela Hammond
	Forest Hills, N. Y.		Ann Edge
	Shirley Godwin		Wellesley
	Boston, Mass.		Mary Lu Barry
	Virginia Weiss		Skidmore
	Lancaster, Mass.		Briarcliffe
	Barbara Wolff		Pine Manor
	East Aurora, N.Y.		Joan Dalrymple
	Barbara Barret		Pine Manor
	New York		Georgia Goss
	Polly Cole		Vassar
	Buffalo, N.Y.		Anne Jackson
	Chi Psi		Marymount
	Mary Stirling		Pat Zvins
	Skidmore		Smith
	Janny Burns		Marguerite Manrean
	Madison, N. J.		Cambridge, Mass.
	Judy King		Barbara Henderson
	Wellesley		Cynthia Lake
	Sugi Heekin		Centenary Jr. College
	Glendale, O.		Ellen Buckour
	Helen Kiddoo		Elmira College
	Smith		Mary Meryz
	Sally Noyes		Mt. Holyoke
	Mt. Holyoke		Pat Patterson
	Ann Pease		New Canaan, Conn.
	Garland		Sue Burnham
	Wellesley		Packard College
	Joan Duham		Beatricia Blerall
	Yonkers, N. Y.		Bethany College
	Sunny Thellen		Phoebe Trainer
	Wellesley		Mt. Vernon Jr. College
	Fifi Betts		Beta Theta Pi
	Vassar		Claire Hamilton
			Mt. Holyoke
			Carolyn Munson
			New York
			Anne Dudley
			Essex Falls, N.J.

DKEs Dick Wells, Berry Smith, Keith Martin, Dick Debevoise, Pete Chapman, and Ted Quinlan work on their snow masterpiece.

Collins Photo

B. Pusey	Nancy Hadman	C. Stowers	Pat Knapp
S. Peirce	Skidmore	A. Lewis	Wheaton
E. Coldwell	Ellen Niffen	C. McCord	Joan Orr
H. Rogers	Skidmore	J. Mason	Meridan, Conn.
G. Hutton	Deborah Durfee	P. Finlay	Joan Templeton
H. Van Ada	Bronxville	D. Bryan	Marrymount Col.
K. Hoeck	Bessy Henn	F. Scribner	Barbara Chernin
C. Halleck	Cheshire, Conn.	M. Neale	Colby Jr. College
A. Mirick	Lois Jaenicke	T. Gushee	Janet Schauman
G. Mason	New Haven	P. Van Dusen	Conn. College
E. Minor	Katharine Kip	S. Perry	Laura Dodd
G. Adams	New York	B. Fargo	Sue Weisler
R. Jeffery	Nancy Sweeney	H. Smith	Alison Duff
A. Singer	White Plains	E. Sziklas	Smith
B. Blakey	Pat Miller	J. Sziklas	Bonnie Hartshorn
P. Bigler	Logansport, Ind.	J. Spang	Olive Gearhart
D. Barker	Nancy Marks	D. Simson	Smith
T. Petersen	Chicago	H. Estabrook	Jean McGregor
D. Hughes	Gretchen Rouns	W. Wilde	Sue Purdue
J. Siker	Wellesley	P. Fisher	Smith
B. Dean	Ann Shannon	J. Belknap	Elizabeth White
W. Olsen	Montclair, N. J.	S. Wells	Medfield, Mass.
R. Donoho	Meredith Davidson	C. Utley	Valerie Field
D. Brown	Mt. Holyoke	C. Munger	Middlebury
C. Pusey	Jean Froy	F. Perry	Anne Delano
H. Schow	Briarcliffe	H. McDaniel	Bethany Col.
J. Dole	Pine Manor	P. Smith	Anne Soewey
S. Birmingham	Katherine Dandy	W. Eblen	Smith
S. Werkman	Wellesley	W. Turner	Delta Psi
E. Graff	Pat Casey	S. Williams	Jean Lincoln
D. Reid	Sarah Lawrence	W. Wesson	Hingham, Mass.
R. Boyer	Julie Staples	F. Loney	Day Hansel
D. Shaw	Finch	P. Bacon	Brookline, Mass.
A. Brown	Jane Weldon	T. Childs	Dottie Alton
L. Perkins	St. Elizabeths	W. Davis	Worcester
J. Jannotta	St. Elizabeths	C. Turpin	June Linsley
	Terry Harris		New York
	Wellesley		Louise Schoonmaker
	Kitty King		New York
	Barnard		Phyllis Whiting
	Sally Brown		Mt. Holyoke
	Riverside, Conn.		Jean Goubert
	Harriet Judson		Englewood, N. J.
	Pittsburg		Sally Schoellkopf
	Cedar Crest		Bennett JC
	Nancy Wagner		Marjorie Canfield
	Mt. Holyoke		Oslo, Norway
	Joyce White		Chris Bennett
	Cold Spring Harbor, N.Y.		Lesley Col.
	Nancy Shurtleff		Jane Marcy
	Wheaton		Vassar
	Polly Widen		Dot Wilkerson
	Briarcliffe		North Adams
	Phyllis Thorpe		Janet Simmons
	Mt. Holyoke		Conn. Col.
	Adele Kingsley		Bunty Keay
	Indiana, U.		Philadelphia
	Jeanne Hager		Phoebe Pierce
	Briarcliffe		New York
	Jane King		Judy Howard
	Cleveland		Mt. Holyoke
	Cathy O'Meara		Beverly Thomas
	Bronxville, N.Y.		Quincy, Mass.
	Mary Musser		Virginia Wohler
	Pittsburgh		North Adams
	Mary Hammerly		Pat Raymond
	Conn. Col.		Skidmore
	Florence Showers		Janet Dant
	Pine Manor		Barnard
			Becky Lou Doble
			Bennett JC

Join Your Date
For Breakfast At
"The Inn"

Dining room open until 10:00 A.M.
Sat. and until 10:30 A.M. on Sun.

A "Treadway Inn" Pleasant Informal Convenient

Don't make her walk through the snow
Take her in a
TOWN TAXI
PHONE 653-WK

BASTIEN'S
College Seal Glassware

- Highball Glasses
- Old Fashioned Glasses
- Ice Buckets
- Decanters
- Beer Mugs

G. Turpin	Joan Andrews	D. Greeg	Erma Whitmaker
B. Tweedy	Vassar	W. McCredie	Virginia U.
C. Bidgood	Ellie Lou Huser	W. Fawcett	Betty Doolittle
G. Blandy	Happy Kirk	W. Everett	Conn. Col.
G. Goodrich	Hartford	H. Hedges	Deborah Wiggin
G. Wright	Marty Lowell	C. Frese	West Hill
B. Hoddick	Worcester	R. Hoston	Nancy Reuter
T. Leous	Nancy Needham	J. Conway	Barat
D. Wyman	Mt. Holyoke	J. Mac Neil	Jo Deens
J. Herndan	Kitty Hill	V. Fuzak	Barat
G. North	Vassar	J. McGroary	Betty Butler
W. Blanks	Shirley Harrison	E. May	Hood College
T. Hodgman	Westmount, Quebec	M. Dunn	Verna Damon
D. Spaeth	Delta Kappa Epsilon	R. Overton	Pittsfield
O. Thompson	Audrey Stark	H. Scoble	Jill Buckley
C. Klensch	Ohio Wes.	C. Brock	Cleveland
F. Baldwin	Jo Johnson	H. Klein	Debby Garver
V. Heerman	Dana Hall	I. May	Cleveland
R. Wells	Nancy Maynard	J. Shepherd	Liza Erwin
W. Burke	Baltimore	P. Mort	Boston
G. Kellogg	Victoria Hurd	J. Thoman	Marilyn Miller
F. Salmon	New York	G. Bogart	Buffalo State
T. Quinlan	Teresa Penni	C. Pinkerton	Theta Delta Chi
J. McConnell	Marblehead, Mass.	A. Klein	Bettianne Shaw
R. Johnston	Barbara Bastine	D. Brown	Col. of Our Lady of the Elms
B. Smith	Albertson, L.I.	G. Pritchard	E. May
P. Smythe	Joan Delany	M. Moore	Mary Jane Cernsey
P. Collins	Brooklyn	C. Walker	Anne Beach
P. Hoff	Caroline Buchanan	H. Penfield	Wellesley
J. Glancy	Beduev College	D. Bennett	Virginia Quay
M. Behre	Barbara Frost	R. Prime	Wellesley
B. Emmert	Vassar	G. Bennett	Sue Norton
B. Baugh	Betty Brun	W. Worth	Vassar
J. Gibson	Skidmore	H. Schenck	Barbara Bowen
I. Burrows	Ami Grady	D. Jeffery	Vassar
F. Henry	Binghamton, N.Y.	R. Armater	Marion Bower
D. Rogers	Sally Tierney	E. Pawlick	Sweet Briar
D. Hornbeck	Shirley Graves	C. Alberti	Vickie Brock
D. Calhoun	Springfield	W. Norris	Ronica Williams
J. Logan	Mary Ellen Mata	M. Carter	Conn. College
L. Smith	New York	R. Hemstreet	Margaret McLaughlin
B. Walmsley	Phoebe Kirk	C. Thompson	St. Elizabeths
E. Greeff	Washington, D.C.	R. Stuart	Shirley Dawson
B. Swan	Patricia Rapp	P. Ruedemann	Bradford J.C.
J. Seaman	Smith	J. Hardman	Audrey Stewart
B. Angevine	Haney Mercer	G. Couch	Wellesley
S. Hoon	Marymount Col.	P. Megna	Lucy Blanchford
T. Edwards	Nancy Riford	G. Dorlon	Williamstown
T. Earle	Smith	H. Williams	Karan Brown
J. Earle	Dede Hutton	R. Bergen	Portland, Me.
D. Miller	Sally Rounds	T. Helperin	Rochester
W. Stabler	Cleveland	A. Crane	Betty Ogden
J. Walters	Anita Wilder	E. Madden	Utica
D. Gregory	Philadelphia	R. Messlmer	Barbara Barnes
S. Howard	Joan Brower	C. Weed	Melrose Park, Penn.
K. Hamilton	W. Englewood, N.J.	D. Bevier	Pat Lee
B. Sutherland	Regis Rodd	R. Verney	Dana Hall
B. Cremin	Greenfield, Mass.	W. Pratt	Barbara Jeffery
T. Cook	Nancy Akers	R. Welland	New York
J. Hadley	Mt. Holyoke	P. Smith	Carol Drew
B. Davis	Kit Slaughter	A. Bohner	Dana Hall
	Mt. Holyoke	G. Frimpter	Barbara Doyle
	Jean MacElwee	S. King	Smith
	Syracuse U.	E. Delfin	Dottie Rook
	Kay Dee	P. Waterman	Mt. Holyoke
	Berkshire Hills Jr. Col.	E. Lehman	Eleanor Hillier
	Bibi Pattison	H. Reed	Penn Hall Jr. Col.
	Lake Erie College	F. Lanes	Joan Holmstrom
	Kay Batterson		Bradford Jr. C.
	Carleton College		Brook Pickells
	Frances Wales		Berkshire Hills
	Bennington		Lydia Smith
	Carol Raynor		New York
	Sargent Col.		Molly Storb
	Nancy Moffitt		Wheaton
	Bridgeport		Debbie Carpenter
	June Meder		Smith
	Bridgeport		Jean Anderson
	Susanne Skylstead		Western Col.
	Georgetown, Va.		Joly Walton
	Betty Jones		Phila.
	Bennett		Stephanie Wagner
	Patty Metcalfe		E. Orange
	New York		Sis Bowers
	Nancy Sullivan		Vassar
	Green Mt. College		Mary Jane Shotwell
	Pam Ruland		Maplewood, N.J.
	Bradford		Phi Sigma Kappa
	Charlotte Hodgkin		Virginia Forte
	Windsor		Smith
	Joan Mack		Dorothy Bushnell
	Scarsdale		Mt. Holyoke
	Ann Wilmer		Lucetta Crisp
	Wellesley		Sarah Lawrence
	Mary Edgar		Joan Fenton
	Middlebury		Mary Burnham
	Sally Gates		Sally Seider
	Wilson College		Vassar
	Nancy Holmstrom		Joanne Gibson
	Bradford		Smith
	Pat Bardin		Briarcliffe
	Berkshire Hills Jr. Col.		Jean Nelson
	Jessica Ware		Skidmore
	Larson Jr. Col.		Ruth La Croix
	Nat Hazeltin		Smith
	Springfield, Mass.		Betty Jane Elm
	Joan Magavern		Peekskill, N.Y.
	Hamburg, N.Y.		Margaret Cushey
	Carol Sample		Jackson Hts., N. Y.
	Jacksonville, Fla.		Jany Gray
	Connie Read		Jackson College
	Boston		Allison Beck
	Betsy Walsh		Bayside, N. Y.
	Albany		Dusty Hisen
	Jo Golliday		Vassar
	Green Mt.		Marguerite Lerks
	Lee Bowen		New York
	Bradford		Olga Eshink
	Carol Lou Stowell		New York
	Pine Manor		Roberta Yorks
	Jane Logan		Ossining
	Ashburnhorne		Joan Walden
	Elaine Detwiler		Hartford
	Morristown, Pa.		Margot Meyer
	Phi Delta Theta		Vassar
	Anne Reese		Beverly Lard
	Smith		Melrose, Mass.
	Mary Seilman		Nancy Mairs
	Middlebury		Mt. Holyoke
	Beth Steane		Sue Ockrant
	Conn. College		Edgewood Park
	Maljean Anderson		Gail Whitehead
	Cornell		Radcliffe
	Barbara Tooley		Eavan O'Connor
	Skidmore Col.		Bennet Jr. C.
	Kalo Wilcox		Lee Chester
	Smith		N. J. College for Women
	Jay Havelock		Jane Howarth
	Vassar		Jackson College
	Caroline Saunders		Sally Noyes
	Wellesley		Williamstown
	Lowerre Harding		Jane de Vries
	Wellesley		Swathmore, Pa.
	Mary Lou Woldenberg		Peggy Smith
	Wellesley		Mt. Holyoke
	Carol Johnson		Carolyn Curtis
	Skidmore		Mt. Holyoke
	Matey McCally		Sue Polland
	Wellesley		Hanover, N. H.

See DATES, page 8

TACONIC

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

THE UNSUSPECTED

Claude Rains

Joan Caulfield

Sat. Mat. 2:15 Sat. Eve: Two

Complete Shows from 6:30

Feature Screened at 7:00; 9:15

Last Complete Show at 8:45

SUNDAY & MONDAY

THAT HAGEN GIRL

Shirley Temple

Ronald Reagan

Sunday Continuous from 2:15

Feature screened at 2:55, 5:00,

7:00, 9:05, Last Complete Show

at 8:25

STARTS TUESDAY

MY WILD IRISH ROSE

DENNIS MORGAN

Selected Short Subjects

Newspapers Magazines
New Shipment Briar Pipes

The Bemis Store

REMINGTON
TYPEWRITERS

All Types Repaired

WIN $500⁰⁰

in the MOLLÉ "What do you say?" contest!

We're scouring 16 American college campuses to find the man with the smoothest line! $500 if it's you!

What do you say* when a gal says:

*O. K.—so she isn't the girl of your dreams! Fill in your smooth answer in the blank balloon above, using 25 words or less. Type or print answers.

What do you say* when a pal says:

*This one is a cinch, for Mollé speaks for itself. (You'll find some hints in this ad!) Fill in the blank balloon in 25 words or less.

MOLLÉ BRUSHLESS, the shaving cream that gives you the smoothest shave, is looking for the college man with the smoothest line! Is it you? If it is, you're riding the rainbow toward 500 green, crisp bucks! The Grand Prize of the Mollé "What do you say?" contest!

A PRIZE FOR EVERY CAMPUS! $1300 IN PRIZE MONEY!

There's more than one prize! Every college must have a prize winner! A gent who collects $50 for being the winner in his own school . . . and who might win the Grand Prize of $500 in addition!

Any quick-thinking college man can win it! Here's all you do!

Every week—for the next 10 weeks—Mollé Brushless Shaving Cream will print a set of two cartoons in this newspaper.

In each set, just fill in the two empty balloons with what you would say in the situations illustrated. The man who fills in all ten sets most ingeniously gets a handful of beautiful money!

A SMOOTH SHAVE FOR A SMOOTH GENT!

We're sure that the gent with the smoothest line insists on the smoothest shave. And that means Mollé!

Mollé gives you a smooth face—and gives it to you quicker, clearer, more painlessly. For Mollé is the heavier brushless cream. It treats tender skin very gently. Yet Mollé has no mercy on even the toughest whiskers! So get yourself a smooth face with Mollé Brushless.

And now for Set 1 of the Mollé "What do you say?" contest!

DO IT NOW! Read rules carefully! Be sure to fill in your name and address in space provided in cartoon. Send answers to MOLLÉ "What do you say?" Contest, P.O. Box No. 489 New York 8, New York.

CONTEST RULES

Mollé "What do you say?" contest

1. Merely write, in the blank cartoon balloons above, your answers to the questions. Mail your entry to the address given elsewhere in this ad. Be sure to fill in your complete name and address in the space indicated.

2. Each contestant must be a registered male student of the college in whose paper this contest is published, and each contestant must compete in all ten sets of cartoons in order to be eligible for prizes. If you did not receive a copy of this newspaper, a reasonable facsimile of the cartoon or a written description of it will be accepted.

3. With Sets No. 3 and No. 8, the contestant must include a carton from a 25¢ or 50¢ tube—or from any size jar—of Mollé. Remember, only two cartons (of any size) are required, but be sure you send one in with No. 3 and one in with No. 8 of the sets.

4. Only one entry will be accepted from each contestant in each set and all entries must be the original work of the contestants, submitted in their own names.

5. Entries will be judged by the Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation, an independent judging organization. All ten cartoons submitted by a single contestant will be considered as a unit in judging, and the judges' decisions will be based on the originality, aptness and interest of each set. First prize winners of $50 from each school will be eligible for the Grand Prize of $500.00 to be awarded to the best series of entries from all the schools. The decision of the judges is final and duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of ties.

6. All entries become the property of Sterling Drug Inc., and no entries will be returned.

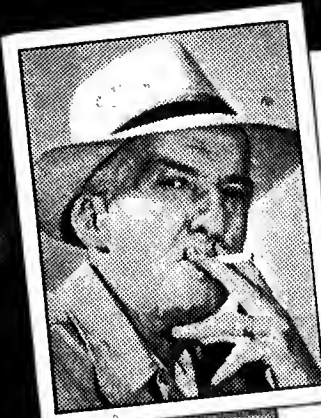

7. All ten sets of answers must be mailed before May 14, 1948, final date of the contest. Entries with inadequate postage will not be accepted. Prize winners will be announced in this newspaper the week of May 24.

J. Gloré	Pat Pardee	B. Stockton	Cindy Lou Madis
V. Jevon	Vassar	A. Shay	Fin
H. Elliot	Anne Tener	Paulette Doughty	Vass
H. Lucas	Finch JC	J. McCombe	Jean Thom
	Mary Lou Jordan		Briarcliff
	Edgewood Park	G. Muller	Betsy Davids
	Joan Taylor		Smith
	Skidmore	C. Schaaf	Genie Alguil
			Vassar
J. Prescott	Robinson	N Van Horne	Pamela Prind
	Cleveland		Finch
G. Bennett	Sally Watson
	Toledo
H. Lamborn III	Pat May	B. Grace	Ruth Wickende
	Brónxville, N.Y.		Bronxville, N.
T. Taylor	Jerry Ossman	B. Weiss	Joan Sanfor
	Salt Lake City		Touisset, Mah
W. Allison	Nancy Hoepfi	H. Harding	Elaine Ell
	Vassar		Endicott Colle
H. Green	Tinka Cosgriff	G. Best	Edna Mercu
	Vassar		Mt. Holyok
G. Razook	Marilyn Hardenbrook	K. Griggs	Betty Ino
	New York		Smith
R. West	Mary Chilton	J. Finke	Caroline Eaga
	Minneapolis		Rye, N.
R. Armstrong	Ann Bushnell	J. Dresser	Ann Whittlese
	Barnard		Smith
R. Stevenson	Audrey French	F. Schwarzman	Cordie Etl
	Davenport, IA		Montclair
T. Kent	Priscilla Bartlette	B. Lutz	Jeanne Wall
	Binghamton, N.Y.		Mt. Holyok
F. Klipstein	Bea Sanderson	O. Lothrop	Mary Hoy
	Greenwich, Conn.		Mt. Holyok
P. Ganyard	Barbara Lane	J. Longacre	Jean Lev
	Vassar		Mt. Holyok
D. Wilcox	Julie Hendrickson	D. Shack	Marjorie Bernstel
	Smith		Brookly
P. Boote	Margot Price	C. Hollerith	Catherine Graydo
	Scarsdale, N. Y.		Cincinnati
J. Smith	Evie Gurney	P. Hoagland	Eleanor Holme
	Buffalo		Waterford, Conn
J. Como	Jacqueline Gagnier	S. Whetsone	Martha Brow
	Pittsfield		Skidmore
P. Deff	Sally Moyer	L. Tupler	Betty Bros
	Smith		Smith
P. Kent	Karan Ellington	R. Gleason	Joanna Pfaf
	Vassar		Smith
H. Poole	Jane Lonergan	H. Baker	Bobby Lewi
	Albany		Mt. Holyok
B. Moody	Sally Sears	E. Cornwell	Peggy Star
	Pine Manor		Smith
B. Jaffray	Mary Jane Page	B. Pfaff	Mary Johnson
	Briarcliffe		Smith
B. Hyland	Virginia Conklin	W. Cravens	Betsy Cair
	Briarcliffe		Smith
J. Cleveland	June Pierson	C. Austrian	Florence Cromwel
	Westhampton Col.		New York
R. Lippincott	Mary Lou Holla-	R. Janson	Virginia Barne
	Sarah Lawrence		Bennington
W. Williams	Lois Versfelt	R. Ernst	Jean Johnson
	Brooklyn		New York
B. Huston	Marilyn Miller	P. Pettler	Sally Heyman
	Smith		Wellesley
T. Benson	Louise Flannegan	H. Brown	June Kemp
	Conn. Col.		West Hartford
S. Wyer	Amy Smaltz	H. Chisholm	Marie Kochis
	North Adams		Albany
R. Kelley	Lola Vantasse	R. Agger	Molly Blake
	Pine Cobble		Bennington
R. Gilday	Fay Godron	D. Agger	Marion Geller
	Manchester, Vt.		Emerson
L. Graham	Marian Ackerman	G. Spencer	Natasha Suftig
	New York		Vassar
		A. Edgeworth	June Denney
			Bradford
B. Sauers	Joan Ray	J. Sheret	Joan Grippin
	Edgewood Park Col.		Skidmore
K. Jones	Marge Bok	W. Allen	Mary Jane Brennan
	Syracuse U.		New York
H. Meeker	Dusty Jordan	J. Roth	Trudy Donath
	Vassar		Bryn Mawr
T. Gamble	Elizabeth Rosch	J. Greene	Jean McCormick
	Albany		Radcliffe
N. Perrin	Jinx Esty	P. Pollock	Alberta Shapiro
	Vassar		New York
B. Moody	Marilyn Mullen	T. Beal	Lorna Hubbard
	North Adams		South Natick, Mass.
C. Carr	Joy Cuypers	D. Humphrey	Betty Meade
	Barnard		Berkshire Hills
C. Lohrke	Sheila Devine	P. Shapiro	Barbara Hyman
	Buffalo		Albany
C. Peterson	Ellen Woodward	D. Goodman	Renie Stein
	Skidmore		Smith
C. Peyser	Mary Van Nostrand	J. Burbank	Betty Burbank
	Hofstra		Wellesley
C. Stone	"One Of Two Girls"	T. Mann	Janice Luther
	"One of Two Places"		Skidmore
C. Hydeman	Phyllis Riehl	J. Hall	Alisa Littell
	Pittsfield		New York
C. Bronfman	Mary Kridel	S. Haskell	Eleanor Platt
	New York		New York

Let George do it!

Phone 144

RELEASED THRU UNITED ARTISTS

D. T. McLawhorn
TOBACCO FARMER, WINTERVILLE

112
TOBACCO FARMER, WINTERVILLE, N. C.

HESTERFIELD

ALWAYS Milder BETTER TASTING COOLER SMOKING

The Williams Record

Volume LXII

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1948

Number 1

Amherst Wins Winter Carnival Ski Meet

Cap and Bells 50 Years Old Saturday

"Golden Boy" To Celebrate Anniversary

by C. E. Utley '49

Fifty years of Cap and Bells dramatic activity will be celebrated by the production of Clifford Odets' "Golden Boy" at the Adams Memorial Theater Saturday night, at 8:30 p.m.

"Golden Boy" will be presented Tuesday, Friday, and Saturday nights, March 11, 12, and 13. It was first given by the Theater Group in New York in 1927. Directed by David Bryant, the production will have in the leading roles, Howard Erskine '49, Leslie Smith, James Dissell '49, John Macell '50, Lew White '50, Andrew Heneman '50, and Doris Stafford.

Francis M. Casey is production manager, and Edgar Noyes is stage technician. Department heads are: Richard Marble '48, scenery; Anthony Wimpheimer P-'49, stage manager; Peter Candler '49, lighting; Robert Gilday '48, sound, and Theodore Lohrke, business.

Established 1898

Williams College had a dramatic association for several years prior to March 13, 1898, but on that date Lewis Perry '98, and Alex Palek '99, founded the Cap and Bells Society, with the purposes, as stated in the original constitution, "to further the interest in dramatics at Williams College by a series of productions to be given throughout the college year."

The first play given by the new organization was "For One Night Only." Other notable productions which followed were; "She Stoops To Conquer", "Dr. Faustus", "The Importance Of Being Earnest", and "King Richard".

Incorporated 1912

On April 22, 1912, seven undergraduates incorporated the Cap and Bells Society with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, "for the purpose of furthering dramatic and other educational interests." See CAP & BELLS, page 2

School Groups Ask SAC Aid

C Refused $700 For Current Losses

The Student Activities Council recently been asked for $900 to help Cap and Bells and the Thompson Concert Committee pay losses suffered during their recent seasons.

Although Cap and Bells is normally self sufficient, the organization was given $200 by the SAC to help cover a loss of about $500 sustained on the production of "Macbeth" last summer. Howard W. Erskine '49, president of the dramatic society, did not feel that the organization would need further SAC grants.

In addition to money from ticket sales, the Concert Committee is supported partly through appropriations of $1500. from the Mary Clarke Thompson Fund, and of $600 from the SAC, the largest grant given by the council to any undergraduate group. Due to what TCC treasurer Jack Birchall '48 termed "feeble showings at individual concerts," the SAC was asked for an additional $700.

According to Horton H. Kellogg, '48, SAC president, council members felt that since the Concert Committee gains so much of its support from the college, the treasurer's office should take any final action.

See THOMPSON, page 4

"OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Dean and friend square dancing.

Robbers Loot Dormitories

Money, Jewelry Taken From West, Morgan

Approximately $166 and two valuable items of jewelry were stolen from college rooms in Morgan and West last Friday between 2:00 and 4:30 a.m. by an unknown number of robbers, according to Chief Royal of the Williamstown Police Department.

Uncaught as of Sunday, the robbers left no evidence in the form of fingerprints or personal descriptions as they ransacked student wallets in a typical pre-weekend pillaging of college rooms. Royal stated that such crimes were not infrequent in past years before houseparty weekends.

Thief Arouses Student

John Howard of 1 Morgan, who entered college this February, was the only student to perceive the criminals, being awakened by footsteps and a shadow on the wall at 3:10 a.m. Having retired just before three, he was aroused and, leaving the room temporarily, the figure disappeared. Sleepless due to a dental appointment that day, he was wakened again by shuffling feet but did not realize his visitors motives until the next morning.

Largest single theft was $70 in cash taken from the room of William Ward '50, in West College. The money consisted of an amount Ward had collected from friends to pay for guest's rooms over the house party weekend.

Various Sums Taken

Often entering the student sleeping rooms, the robbers collected a number of smaller amounts. $21 was stolen from the See ROBBERIES, page 2

Dickens Editions In Library Exhibit

"Bleak House" and other first editions of Dickens will be exhibited in the Chapin Library this month. Each of the Dickens first editions carries its own illustrations by H. K. Browne, whose drawings were signed "Phiz" to match the fictitious name "Boz" which Dickens used.

Fourteen illustrations are exhibited along with separate issues showing the wood block cover designed by "Phiz". Twenty-five Victorian advertisements which accompanied each part cover miscellaneous household and personal items in vogue.

This exhibit was designed particularly to illustrate topics under discussion in English 20a, and will be open to the public until March 22.

Potter Coaches Varsity Backs

AC Considers Approval Of Another Assistant

Following a conference with Athletic Director Walter F. Sheehan, coach Len Watters, President James P. Baxter, 3rd, announced Saturday that Harvey L. Potter, freshman football coach, will move up as backfield assistant to Watters. In making the announcement, the President stressed that all members of the coaching staff have a year to go on their present contracts and that they will assist Watters.

Harvey Potter '40, remained at Williams in 1941, coaching freshman football, wrestling, and lacrosse. He resigned the following year to accept a similar position at Duke and returned here in 1946. Last fall he coached the freshman football squad to an undefeated season. Under his guidance the team racked up 94 points while limiting the opposition to 12 in breezing through a four-game schedule. He also coaches freshman wrestling and lacrosse.

President Baxter indicated that the appointment of another assistant to Watters will be announced as soon as this appointment is approved by the Athletic Council. He declined speculation as to who the new assistant might be, but hinted that he, Dean Sheehan, and Coach Watters had "a very good young man" in mind.

Besides discussing the coaching problem, Coach Watters came to Williamstown to solve his housing worries. He plans to move his family here about July 1. Meanwhile he intends to be in town often enough to hold two meetings of next year's football candidates. In response to the alumni's desire to meet him, Watters will attend the Gargoyle Alumni dinner in New York on Friday and the Westchester County Alumni dinner on April 7.

Speaker Describes Communist System

John Scott Lectures On Russian Policies

John Scott, author, journalist, and lecturer, in addressing approximately 200 people in Jesup Hall last Thursday night on "The Impact of Russia on Europe", contrasted the Communist system in the Soviet Zone of Germany with free enterprise in the British and American zones.

According to Mr. Scott, the Soviet zone has made a profit of about one billion dollars a year, while the American zone lost almost as much. The Russians have done this by making eastern Germany a slave system and by stamping out all opposition. The American zone has followed the traditional concept of free enterprise and in so doing has supported the German economy by artificial methods. He made no attempt to evaluate these facts, leaving the judgement to the audience.

Discusses Russian Policies

Mr. Scott also suggested that Russian Communists needed a threat which they could use as an excuse to explain Russia's backwardness. He said that the top Communists have exploited the

See SCOTT, page 4

THRILLS ON SHEEP HILL

PHOTO BY BIRK

Eph Administrators Attend Fifth Pentagonal Conference

Led by President James P. Baxter III, five administration officials of Williams attended the Fifth Annual Pentagonal Conference at Wesleyan University last weekend.

The Conference has been held each year since 1944 for the purpose of giving Little Three officials, together with those of Bowdoin and Dartmouth, an opportunity to meet and discuss mutual administrative problems. The first conference was held at Dartmouth, whose President Hopkins originated the idea; and since then successive meetings have been held at Amherst, Williams, Bowdoin, and Wesleyan, in that order, with the conference scheduled to return to Dartmouth next year.

Those attending the Pentagonal Conference for Williams this year, in addition to President Baxter, were Dean Robert R. R. Brooks, Associate Dean Albert Keep, Dean of Freshmen Walter F. Sheehan. See CONFERENCE, page 4

Stassen Wins In IRC Poll

Military Training, World Government Favored

The "typical Williams undergraduate" chose Harold Stassen to be the next president of the United States, favors the establishment of a world government within ten years, and is in favor of compulsory military training in this country although he does not expect war with Russia within the next decade, according to a recent campus-wide poll conducted by the International Relations Club.

The poll, which was directed by Hubert Hudson '49 and Peter Gutmann '49, contacted approximately 1000 undergraduates through the social units and received ballots from 825 men. It was considered especially significant, in that this is the first presidential poll taken by an eastern college.

Stassen Gets 44%

The first question was "Which of the following men would you most like to see as next president of the U. S.?" and offered a choice of eight leading candidates. Stassen was given an overwhelming preference, being named on 365 ballots — almost three times as many as his nearest rival, Vandenberg —, or 44.3% of the total vote. Vandenberg polled 14.9%, followed by Dewey's 11.6% and Taft's 8.0%.

President Harry Truman was given only 5.2% of the total vote, and third-party candidate Wallace received 4.1%. Warren, McArthur, and others were named on scattered ballots, and 3.5% of the students polled were "undecided". Professor Newhall came out surprisingly well, being selected on six write-in ballots, but Earl Browder and Professor Schuman drew only one vote apiece.

Republicans Preferred

Republican candidates were

See IRC, page 4

Seven Social Units Choose New Heads

New presidents were elected in seven social units last week: Alpha Delta Phi - Douglas T. Shaw; Chi Psi - Jerome Page; Delta Phi - Donald Hewat; Psi Upsilon - Steven Murphy; Sigma Phi - Henry Strong; Theta Delta Chi - John Thoman; Garfield Club - Eugene Harling

Duplication No Bar To New Businesses

Financial Need Not A Final Factor

Duplication of existing businesses or lack of financial need will not bar new student concessions according to the UC's approval Monday night of changes recommended by an open college hearing held last week. However, it was decided that an application for a duplicating concession must show need.

Also approved was the right to appeal to the UC from the ruling of Mr. Albert V. Osterhout, Adviser in Undergraduate Affairs. The Dean must be present when such a final appeal is made.

Hearing Held Wednesday

Robert A. Rupen '48 read the report submitted by the Nominations and Rules Committee hearing which was held Wednesday afternoon February 25. He said that about twenty undergraduates were present the majority of whom had some personal interest in the questions under discussion.

Under the new ruling the burden of proof as to need, usefulness and desirability is on the applicant for a new concession. Financial need is not to be a criterion in applications for new and original concessions.

See UC, page 4.

Timing Error Found; R P I Drops To 2nd

Williams Places Third; Prime Takes Slalom Brown 4th In Jump

In a reshuffling of the team standings Monday night due to a correction of one of the judge's timings, the Lord Jeffmen from Amherst emerged on top of a field of eight teams, and R.P.I. dropped down to second place ahead of Williams in the first post-war Winter Carnival Ski Meet here.

The correction, which moved G. Ford, the Jeff Captain, from twenty-fifth to eighth place in the downhill, gained a first instead of a fourth for Amherst in that event, and a third instead of a sixth in the combined slalom-downhill event. As a result, the Jeffmen were awarded an additional 12.3 points to send their total to 568.1, which was 8.4 points better than R.P.I.'s grand total. This change did not affect the other team standings, and Williams remained in third place with 571.1 points, ahead of Harvard, Yale, Norwich, Syracuse, and Bowdoin.

Jumping off to a quick lead Friday afternoon in the cross country event, Amherst managed to stay ahead of Harvard and Williams Saturday morning with a third in the slalom. The Ephmen captured this event with 100 points as Casey Prime took a first in the field of thirty-six.

Williams Captain, Dick Brown, who had been out of competition most of the season with an injured back, jumped extremely well Saturday afternoon to tie for the Sheep Hill record of 35 meters with Ford of Amherst and Fisher of Yale. He took a fourth, and Coach Rockwell's team moved into second place less than three points in back of the Jeffmen.

R.P.I., which had racked up 100 points in the jump, also led in the combined cross-country and jump, and moved from third into second only seven-tenths of a point behind Amherst, as the figures were compiled Saturday evening. See CARNIVAL, page 4

Prof. Claims Ideology Dead

Rockwell Cites Need For Experimentation

In the third talk of the Faculty Lecture Series last Thursday afternoon, Landon G. Rockwell, Assistant Professor of Political Science, stated "Ideological generalizations are value judgements to be tested and revised by continuous reference to our needs." He continued, "They are fruitful so long as they are instrumentalities for adjustment. . . . Otherwise, they become as they have in the past affected with varying degrees of rigor mortis."

Prof. Rockwell declared that we have thrown away the fruitful aspects of our political tradition, the theory of change and experiment. He said that "Liberty" expresses the ideals of rival ideologies, the context depending upon the group.

In a comparison of "liberal democracy" and Communism, Prof. Rockwell claimed that the underlying presuppositions of the two views are similar. The end of the oppression of the many by the few and the principles of liberty, equality and fraternity are upheld by both ideologies.

In closing, Prof. Rockwell See ROCKWELL, page 4

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts Williamstown, Massachusetts
 "Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

EDITORIAL BOARD

Editor-in-Chief: Seth M. Bidwell, '49
 Managing Editors: Joseph F. Dorsey, '49, J. Edward Powlick, '49
 Sports Editor: William R. Barney, '49
 Senior Associate Editor: Charles Klensch, '48

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Manager: Dudley Irwin, III, '50, Thomas Healy, Jr., '50
 Assistant Business Manager: John Prescott, '50
 Advertising Manager: Edward Stockhouse, '50
 Circulation Manager: Lon Homeier, '50
 Treasurer: Roland Polmedo, '50

Volume LXII MARCH 10, 1948 Number 1

Volume LXII, No. 1

With this issue the Record passes into the hands of new management, and is customary, the first editorial should set forth the policy for the future.

We feel a college paper should fulfill a number of functions, most of which are obvious: to report fairly and as completely as possible campus events, and in our news columns to present with the greatest degree of clarity and accuracy both sides of controversial issues and problems which affect members of the College. The function of the editorial column will be to interpret these issues properly, state our opinion, and, when needed, to suggest action which we deem necessary.

The function of the feature writers will be to present items of human interest, humor, and discussion. We intend to broaden the scope of the Record and include features by people outside of the Record on items which they see fit for comment. Sports-wise we shall endeavor to cover all athletic events; however, the actual amount of coverage will be determined by what we consider to be the major sporting events.

The Record will be controlled by those who work for it. Therefore, any editorials, news-articles, and by-line stories by staff writers will be endorsed by the Record. All stories written by non-Record writers will carry their by-lines and the opinions expressed in these articles will not necessarily be the opinions of the Record. The Record will not endorse the policies of any subscribers or advertisers unless we are in complete agreement with their policies. We shall, however, print any criticism and diverse opinions which are signed by the writer. The Record will feel free to criticize in return. We feel this is the only type of paper you would endorse.

The new board feels that the Record has shown constant improvement in the past year although we fully realize there is still room for further improvement. In striving to better the Record, we will, however, maintain our editorial policy. We hope this policy meets with your approval and that future Record issues will merit your constant consideration.

So with a bow to the retiring Board, we take the helm; the task will be somewhat different, but the objective will be to maintain a high standard of college journalism.

THE LIGHTNING ROD

Elsewhere in this issue of the Record there appears the first of a series of articles by Roger Ernst entitled "The Lightning Rod." The Record has asked Ernst to contribute an occasional column on whatever strikes his fancy.

In discussing the column with him, he indicated that he "hoped to be able to loose some trial-balloons, to think out loud, and get reactions to my ideas."

Ernst, now a Senior, was a Captain in the Executive Planning Staff of American Military Government from 1943 to 1947. He served in London, Paris, and Berlin. The last year he spent as the Assistant U. S. Secretary to the Allied Control Council for Germany.

He is majoring in political science, and expects to go into Government Service upon graduation.

Cap and Bells - - -

among the students at Williams College. Plays of literary importance continued to be produced, with the 1912 presentation of "Hamlet" often regarded as one of the best shows Cap and Bells has ever done.

Cap and Bells made many trips away from Williamstown, taking productions on tour in a manner similar to those taken by Hasty Pudding, Boston, Albany, Hartford, and New York were visited by the traveling players.

Early Experimental Shows

Charles Brackett '15, producer of "The Lost Weekend", was active in Cap and Bells Productions. Two presentations in which he appeared were, "His Excellency The Governor", and "Niobe".

During the period of 1925 to 1931, the Little Theater Group was active at the same time as Cap and Bells. This group did experimental productions in the old Opera House, presenting such plays as the early works of Eugene O'Neil, Alan Baxter, a member of the Little Theater, played in "The Voice Of The Turtle" in New York.

Flowers Arrives

Since there was no director of dramatics at the College at this time, professional directors were hired to come to Williamstown to direct the productions. In 1935, Max Flowers was appointed director of dramatics, making the relationship between the College and Cap and Bells much closer than it had been before.

Under Max Flowers, Cap and Bells enthusiasts did such shows as "High Tor", and "Our Town". The gift of the Adams Memorial Theatre permitted Cap and Bells to enjoy the use of the latest in theatre equipment. The first AMT production, "Marco Millions", in 1941, with its cast of over sixty-five persons, was the most elaborately staged presentation that the theatre has ever seen.

Post-War Organization

Cap and Bells Inc. reorganized after the war and changed its constitution so that men would become members, not only by election as before, but automatically after compiling a certain number of points. A decision was made to enlarge the season and the plan materialized this year in a schedule of seven plays. Several experimental productions are included in the schedule. They will be used to test new techniques and to provide practical instruction for students of the drama.

Robberies - - -

Morgan Hall room of Leonard Blumenshine, and Benjamin Newmark '50, lost $17 to the prowlers. Sums of money were also removed from the rooms of Donald Frank '48, Peter Nelson '50, and two occupants of 5 Morgan. Allen Slater '49, was robbed of a valuable piece of jewelry.

Dean Brooks, in a statement to the Record, seemed pessimistic concerning the criminal's capture. Chief Royal doubted that the thieves were local men though he said that "he had not closed his mind to any angle." Though professionals were the most probable criminals, Royal did not omit the idea of the robbers being students. In his opinion there was just one man involved in the crimes.

Dean Brooks sent out an alarm to all the social units Friday afternoon after receiving reports of the robberies Friday noon.

The Lightning Rod

by Roger Ernst

It has been a long time since I have written a column for a newspaper. The last time was in high-school, when, if I remember correctly, I wrote a vociferous attack on the school's policy on athletics. Whether my article did any good in that battle or not I don't know, but they did cause discussion. I hope to do that now.

The editors of the Record have been generous with me. Apparently I can write as I will — and propose to do just that: I hope to be sufficiently partisan as to cause reaction — and those who bestir themselves into writing rejoinders to my ideas and positions may be sure of a hearing in this column.

I am worried by the number of Williams men, especially Seniors, who apparently do not know what they want to do when they finish at Williams. These men, perhaps of intellectual excellence and much constructive ability, are drifters. How many they are I don't know precisely, but in discussions between classes, in "Mikes", and late into the evening I find a great number who don't really know what vocation to enter. Many of these have a general inclination — but lack the information requisite to an intelligent choice.

The Spectre of Commencement

There are men whose work is cut out for them: men going to medical and law schools, and a few men who are going to other institutions of graduate study in various other fields of endeavor. But these are not the majority. It seems to me that by the time a man succeeds to senior eminence that he should know how he desires to spend his creative energies. Certainly at this time with the spectre of Commencement only four months away this should be a matter of grave concern and concerted action. We must be aggressive in this respect.

How is one to know what one wants to do, what job will be the most satisfying, remunerative, and at the same time provide an opportunity for the individual to render service, either direct or indirect, to the community?

The types of jobs to be done are legion. There are four main categories of endeavor which one can perceive: government and public service, business, the professions, and labor. In each of these one can occupy himself with any one of a number of facts: personnel and human relations; technical, operational and mechanical procedures; economic aspects; political phases; and administration.

How Attractive Is The Job?

Evaluation of the attractiveness of a given job is a difficult task. Questions of the locale, the pay, the opportunities for promotion, the nature of one's working associates, the general outlook of the organization, and the type of problems handled are a few of these. Add to this one's affinity for, or dislike to a given job in terms of the degree of authoritarianism inherent in the organization offering the job, and the answer is obviously one that is arrived at easily.

Probably the best method of approaching this problem would be to have personal interviews. This would obviously almost impossible in terms of time. What then is the next best approach?

The answer would seem to be to bring the representatives of government, business, the professions, and labor to Williams where we all could have a crack at them. A beginning is being made — and it is a fine effort, by Mr. W. O. Wyckoff, and the Placement Bureau. Between now and May there are ten vocational-guidance talks to be offered to us. These talks are to be given by men assumedly eminent in their fields, on the possibilities in advertising, personnel work, export-import, merchandising, manufacturing, banking, government service, teaching, and journalism. This is the beginning of a scientific approach.

Additional Categories Urged

There are certain categories not included, and I cannot too strongly urge that they be included: transport, communications, unions and labor relations, mining, power development, Civil service, Foreign Service and the diplomatic corps, the United Nations, the Ministry, Law, Medicine, and Public Elective Office. There are surely many more areas worthy of exploration in addition to these.

The men who come here should not be the top men, but the men on the operating level, men between the ages of 30 and 45, who are still close to our age and problems to be able to outline for us the real issues we will have to face when we elect a particular job.

They should be asked a lot of questions. I'd ask in particular, what sort of people will I work with? how much responsibility will I have? how about promotions? is there a promotion policy? what about the chances of travel? and so forth. In private conversation one might advisedly determine what the organization's or business's policy is toward important current issues: the Marshall plan, the Taft-Hartley labor law, The Stratton Bill, U M T and similar issues. The dominant attitudes on these and other vital issues may well spell out the difference between being happy in your job and being miserable, lonely, frustrated, even though everything else is splendid and to your liking.

Expanded Senior Program Asked

I believe that an expanded program for Seniors commencing each October and running as long as necessary is advised and needed. It should have the status of a required class. Too many of us don't have enough information to make even an intelligent choice as to a job. Certainly learning what a vast number of occupations have to offer can't hurt any of us. Few of us are so set on one particular job as to have closed our minds to the possibilities in other vocations.

A lecture and question hour each week during the fall term for Seniors would be a major aid to us in determining exactly what we want to do, and in getting us started toward our objective. With the lectures over by mid-year exams, the Spring could be used for such additional interviews as are needed to make the final arrangements for a job.

Each of us as individuals, privileged to attend an institution such as Williams, given advantages over most of our fellow-citizens, have a real responsibility to carry, to carry more than our share in shaping the future of our country. A first positive action which we each can take is to get to work soon, and effectively after Commencement.

Is it a sports shirt?
Is it a regular shirt?

Yes, twice—it's both! The Arrow Doubler is styled to look equally well open-necked or with a necktie.

Doubler is made in fine white or blue Gordon oxford cloth and comes in regular collar and sleeve lengths. Sanforized labeled.* See your Arrow dealer for a Doubler today! $4.

*Fabric shrinkage less than 1%

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

YOU CAN GET ARROW PRODUCTS AT

C. H. Cutting & Co.

North Adams, Massachusetts

Carleton H. Davis Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil
Because He Flunked the Finger Nail Test

ACID INDIGESTION, Brother Hippo? Feeling mentally mildewed? Wallowing in grief? What you need is a tonic. And your best bet is Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. It's "again and again the choice of men who put good grooming first!" Just a touch of Wildroot Cream-Oil grooms your hair neatly and naturally without that plastered-down look. Relieves annoying dryness and removes embarrassing loose dandruff! And Wildroot Cream-Oil is the non-alcoholic hair tonic containing soothing Lanolin. Get a tube or bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil at any drug or toilet goods counter today. And ask your barber for a professional application. See for yourself how it helps you pass the Fingernail Test!

* of 120 Forest Drive, Orchard Park, N. Y.

Berkshire Optical Company

Prescription Optician

Courteous, efficient and Prompt

Repair Service

Broken Lenses or Frames

FRANK PROVENCHER, Proprietor

2nd Floor of the Kimbell Building.

Phone North Adams 1136

Mermen Dunk Amherst 42-33; Quintet Wins

Ephs Capture Little Three Swim Laurels

Wineman Smashes Pool Mark; Reid, Lambert Under Five Minutes

by Norm Wood

Swimming to their third straight Little Three title, the Williams swimmers notched victory Number one of the current season by tripping their ancient rival Amherst, 42-33.

Points of the meet were Wineman's fourth pool record of the year, and Captain Sandy Lambert's and Bob Reid's dead heat in the 440, in the excellent of 4:58.2.

Bob, Captain Sandy

In the backstroke, there just was place for first as Wineman roared into an early lead, and, cheered on by the Purple team, at the finish line, touched the ball in 1:38.2. This smashed the pool record, 1:39.4, set by Easton of Amherst in 1943. It added a pool record to his string of 14, University of Massachusetts, and Williams.

About ten minutes later, Lambert and Reid swam through the law of flags at the finish line, clipping the five-minute mark by nearly two seconds. They had not swum against each other in practice for three weeks, and the last time they had competed together was in the Dartmouth meet in January. Each was not sure how fast the other was. It was a real tonic for both of them and the team when they crossed the line together in such an outstanding time.

Ball Wins Two

Ted Lamot, Swede Svenson, and Bill Rueckert captured the first five points by taking the 300 medley relay. Ray Baldwin swam another of his good races, winning the 220 in 2:17.0. George Coale garnered a third for the Purple. Amherst co-captain Lou Ball pinned to victory in the 50.

Al Hydeman's consistency proved the deciding factor in the dive as he outpointed Jeff Tom Fulton. Ball won the 100 for Amherst, and Moe Murray, although he missed a turn, recovered, only to lose a second by inches to Warren Wineman chalked up his record, then "Buckets" Rawdon, the other Amherst captain, swept to victory in the breaststroke. Sam Gent rallied in the last thirty yards to nip Leeb by a yard. Swede Svenson had taken second, but was disqualified when he failed to touch 150 with both hands. A new day combination of Treat Arnold, Jim Burbank, Bob Bern-

Baldwin, Wineman Pilot Swim Team

In an election following the Amherst swimming meet, Bob Mulr's swimmers elected Ray Baldwin '50, and Hank Wineman '50, as co-captains for next year's team.

Baldwin is one of the freestyler mainstays of the team, swimming in various meets the 100, 220, and anchor man in both the 300 medley relay and the 400 free style relay. Undeclared in ten individual races, Ray is New England champion.

Wineman, losing only to Merrow of Bowdoin in the last two years, is a back-stroker and lead-off man in the 300 yard medley relay.

Purple Five Halts Amherst 43-33

Pusey Tallies 14 As Undeclared Cubs Win

Playing their finale in Amherst's Pratt field house, the freshman basketball team completed an undeclared season by coasting to a 43-33 victory over the Jeff yearlings. It was the seventh straight victory for the Combsmen and the fourth unbeaten team from the class of '51.

The Jeff five turned out to be a small, fast club, which stayed in the ballgame by virtue of some fine one-handed shooting as well as the Purple's periodic inability to score. The first half saw Captain Dave Jackson provide a ten point scoring spree to pace the Ephs to a 23-17 lead at half-time.

Pusey Scores 14

The second half featured some outstanding rebound work by "Squid" Sheehy and Bob Larsen but the Ephs failed to take advantage of their superior height. However, there was just too much talent on the Purple squad and when the game ended Chuck Pusey had scored 14 points. Dave Jackson had played his best basketball of the season.

Williams Box Score

	fg	f	tp
Fagerburg rf	2	1	5
Sheehy	2	0	4
Larsen lf	0	2	2
Zeller	1	0	2
Pusey c	5	4	14
Jackson rg	6	0	12
Fraser lg	1	0	2
St. Clair	1	0	2
Totals	18	7	43

hard, and George Coale bowed to Amherst by some eight yards.

Summary: Williams - 42, Amherst - 33; 300 medley relay, won by Williams (Lamot, Svenson, Rueckert), time 3:10.4; 220, won by Baldwin (W), Kesseler (A), Coale (W), time 2:17.0; 50, won by Ball (A), Murray (W), Brashers (W), time 24.0; dive, won by Hydeman (W), Fulton (A), Connant (A), 80.2 points; 100, won by Ball (A), Warren (W), Murray (W), time 55.1; 150 back, won by Wineman (W), Towson (A), Louis (W), time 1:38.2 (Amherst pool record); 200 breast, won by Rawdon (A), Gentles (W), Leeb (A), time 2:38.0 440, tie between Reid (W), and Lambert (W), Kesseler (A), time 4:58.2; 400 free relay, won by Amherst (Butler, Towson, Stevenson, Ball), time 3:51.0.

Richard Brown who established a new Sheep Hill jumping record of thirty-five meters at Saturday meet.

Runners Upset Holy Cross; Edged By Colgate In Garden

Climaxing one of the most successful indoor track seasons in Williams history, Coach Tony Plansky's mile relay quartet of John Weeth, Bill Barney, Gordon Smith, and Kevin Delany, just missed a perfect season in the invitational meet circuit by taking second to Colgate at Madison Square Garden last Saturday night.

Although the purple thinclads were given no better than a chance for fourth place by New York sportswriters, the relay team nosed out Holy Cross, the favorite, and Boston University to gain second place medals. St. Johns was a poor fifth.

Poor Start

Having the misfortune of the outside lane at the start, leadoff man Weeth was forced to follow his opponents around the board oval most of the first leg. On a fast stick-pass between Weeth and Barney, the latter succeeded in breaking away from the pack, and at the end of his leg had secured second position which was maintained throughout.

Smith ran a hard race but was unable to gain on the fast-moving Colgate leader. Running the fastest quarter of the night for the Purple, (52.2), he passed the baton to anchorman Delany who warded off a last ditch sprint by Holy Cross and copped the second place laurels in an all out photo-finish. Colgate won in the excellent time of 3:27, while Williams turned in a 3:31 clocking, the relay's best effort this year.

Little Three

Although there is no official Little Three title for indoor track, the team has thrice beaten Amherst and Wesleyan in similar races at the Boston K of C, Mill-

Frosh Clip Jeffs For Mat Crown

Squad Stays Unbeaten In Close Tilt, 16-11

To balance off the varsity loss last Saturday, the frosh grapplers nipped Amherst despite initial adverse decisions over Ken Moffat and Chuck Halleck, by a 16-14 count.

At 136 pounds, Scrubby Perry scored the first win over Rowland. Paul Shorb and Greene Carleton each pinned his opponent with a second period fall. Pete Delisser registered a one-sided decision over Bushman at 165 pounds.

Little Three

In a close fight, George Selly bowed to Barker with a 9-5 decision. At unlimited weight, Don Whitehead also succumbed to McGrath by a third period fall. The final score for the yearlings this year is an undeclared title. The matmen eclipsed Kent, Mt. Hermon, Wesleyan, and Amherst, tallying four straight and the junior Little Three Crown.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.
Telephone 3553

Ephs Defeat Amherst, 61-49; Place Second In Little Three

Matmen Lose Championship

In a disappointing 14-13 upset last Saturday at Amherst, Coach Bullock's varsity wrestlers dropped their first match of the year and the Little Three title.

At 121 lbs. Chuck Turpin propped the initial decision to Winans by a 4-6 count. Captain Paul Cook at 128 lbs., registered the meet's only pin with a 4 minute, 50 second fall over Snyder. Hank Hall suffered the second Jeff decision bowing to Rowland in a fast fight at 136 lbs.

Leitzinger, North

Bill Leitzinger continued his undeclared season with a 4-3 decision over Hoyer in a grueling bout won by Leitzinger's time advantage. At 155 lbs. Grant North chalked up another decision for Williams after a one-sided match with Dewey.

At 165 lbs. Mac Neale, wrestling for Harry Neave, was overwhelmed by Keith with a 6-0 decision. The best individual match was between Chuck Blakney and Jim Roush at 175 lbs. Roush snarled a close decision. One point behind, the hopes of a victory rested with John Stillwell at Unlimited. However he could do no better than tie Louria which gave each team two points for the draw.

rose Games, and Boston Athletic Association Games. Other scalps belonging to the relay are Bowdoin, Middlebury, and Boston University. Saturday's Garden meet ended the 1948 indoor season in the East.

Team Plays Best Ball Of Season In Finale Mason High-Scorer

by Jack Schafer

The Williams varsity basketball troupe grabbed off the second-best position in the Little Three title derby last Saturday night by thumping the woeful Amhersts, 61-49, before 750 spectators in the Pratt Field House.

The win by Williams in its last game of the season gives the team a Little Three record of two wins and two losses and an overall season record of six wins and nine adverse decisions.

Although Amherst stayed close to the Burnett team for the first thirty minutes of the game, both teams were pretty close to form and the Williams win was not a surprise. The Eph club chose this, its last game, to play its best ball of the season and could have beaten almost anyone on its schedule.

Jack Mason had a particularly hot night. For the second time in the last three games he was the Williams high-scorer, and in this game he was the high man on the court with twenty-one points. George Ditmar, scoring five field goals in the first half, was next high with sixteen. Lou Hammond, of Amherst, also posted sixteen.

Game No Runaway

In spite of the fact that Williams was playing just about its best ball of the season, the game was no runaway. As in almost all Little Three games, the home team was playing over its head, and until mid-way in the second period, Amherst was sincerely threatening to knock the Williams ears off.

See BASKETBALL, page 4

DELICIOUS

...because it's slow-aged!

Ruppert Knickerbocker Beer and Ruppert Ale, Jacob Ruppert, New York City—1948

Today—try New York's Most Famous Beer

RUPPERT

TAACONIC

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY

MY WILD
IRISH ROSE

DENNIS MORGAN

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

The Vigilantes Return

JON HALL

MARGARET LINSAY

Selected Short Subjects

If it's

BORDEN'S

It's got to be good

LADY BORDEN'S

ICE CREAM

105 Holden Street

Basketball - - -

After the game went into a four-four tie two minutes after the start, Williams took the lead and was never headed thereafter. At one point the team was in the van by twelve points, but the Jeffs closed this down, and at no other time was the Purple in a commanding lead. The score at the end of the half was Williams 32, Amherst 29.

Mason Bulks Up Lead

Captain Bob Brownell, playing his last game for Williams, and Ditmar and Mason were the principal factors in keeping the Ephs out in front in the first half. In the second, it was Jack Mason who showed the way with fifteen points. With ten minutes to go, and the game still close, the Williams left forward tossed in seven straight markers and from here on out, the Williams lead was never threatened.

Williams	FG	F	Pts.
Ditmar RF	7	2	16
Mason, R.	0	0	0
Mason, J. LF	7	7	21
Baldwin	1	0	2
Page C	2	2	6
Cool	1	1	3
Brownell RG	2	4	8
McWhinney	0	0	0
Taylor LG	2	1	5
Goodfellow	0	0	0
Totals	22	17	61
Amherst	FG	F	Pts.
Hammond RF	6	4	16
Barry	1	0	2
Nesbitt LF	0	0	0
Getz	1	0	2
Kelley C	1	1	3
Priesing RG	1	0	2
Chamberlain	2	5	9
Waskiewicz LG	2	5	9
Richenaker	1	0	2
Rossaro	2	0	4
Totals	17	15	49

IRC - - -

picked on 82.4% of the total ballots, while Truman and Wallace together collected only 9.1%. The Stassen preference agrees with that of polls conducted by several mid-western colleges, but was considerably stronger here than in other sections of the country. The popular Republicans got more votes in the Williams poll than the other seven candidates combined.

The second question was "Do you personally favor the principle of federal world government?" 66% replied affirmatively, 18.8% said no, and 15.2% did not choose either stand. To the third question, "Do you favor the establishment of a federal world government within ten years?", 50.2% of those polled replied favorably, but 31.5% were opposed to the idea, and 18.3% were uncertain.

Asked whether or not they favored the establishment of compulsory military training in the U. S. now, 51.7% were in favor of the plan, 38.7% replied negatively, and only 9.6% could not make up their minds.

No War

The last question, "Do you believe that there will be war between the United States and the Soviet Union within the next ten years?", was the only one to which the student body as a whole said no. 40.9% doubted the possibility war with Russia within ten years, while 33.7% thought that there will be war, and 25.4% did not make a decision either way.

The IRC will conduct a second presidential poll on the campus within "two or three months", Hudson told the Record last week.

Scott - - -

dire threat of the counter-revolutionaries, the fascists, and now the imperialist reactionary capitalist countries. He blames the Russians for creating the present situation, due to their necessity for keeping Russian people producing the greatest amount for the least wages.

One other point was raised in the discussion after the lecture which was of interest to the proponents of Dos Passos' theory that socialism by its very nature will eventually lead to totalitarianism and negate individual liberties. Although he felt that at present the theory seemed to be valid, he said that Great Britain would be the proving ground.

WE WILL
LUBRICATE
YOUR CAR
THE FORD WAY

The Smith Baker Co.

Incorporated

NORTH ADAMS

Carnival - - -

ening.

With the correction in Ford's time, the Lord Jeff's picked up 7.7 points on R.P.I. Sunday morning with a first in the downhill and third in the combined slalom-downhill to win the meet by a 8.4 points.

Praising the efforts of the Williams team, Coach Rockwell said, "This is by far the best job the team has done this season." He singled out Prime's first in the slalom and Brown's fourth in the jump for special commendation.

In the cross-country, Gordon Volkman took a sixth and Pete Finlay an eleventh. Finlay finished tenth in the slalom, and John Brinkerhoff was eighth in the jump for Williams. Dunc Campbell paced the Ephs with a fifth in the downhill, and finished eighth in the combined downhill-slalom. Prime was fourth in this combined event. In the other combined, the cross country and the jump, Brinkerhoff, and Henry Strong and Volkman finished seventh, eighth and tenth respectively.

Team totals:
Amherst	586.1
R.P.I.	577.7
Williams	571.1
Harvard	565.3
Yale	562.0
Norwich	538.4
Syracuse	504.1
Bowdoin	381.7

CONFERENCE - - -

and Frederick C. Copeland, Director of Admissions.

The main subjects under discussion this year were admissions, curricula, scholarship, college finances, and student life. Specific decisions and policies formulated at the conference are not available for publication, since the sessions are primarily intended to be of service only to the individuals and colleges directly concerned.

Thompson - - -

"Student interest in the concerts obviously can't be raised, so the school will either have to cut down the number of concerts or increase its grant if it is felt that the TCC will continue to need more money in the future, we can't afford it, Kello said. Assistant Treasurer Earle O. Browne commented, "I have nothing to say."

Rockwell - - -

found no possibility for an end to the struggle in the world today except through the theory of change and experimentation.

The next talk in the Faculty-Lecture Series, "A Protest Against the Second Best-Seller," will be given by Volney H. Wells, Professor of Mathematics, at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Chemistry Laboratory.

UC - - -Written Prospectus Required

The Council also passed a resolution requiring applicants to submit a written prospectus with their requests, indicating the amount of business expected with figures on costs and prices. All concession permits will have to be renewed annually.

Herbert Harling asked if anyone had the power to revoke a permit when an unforeseen conflict between concessions came up. Brad Hammond '48 worried about the fact that there might be a need for some type of review for such cases of conflicts.

Review Procedure

Dick Debevoise '48 suggested that the SAC might be able to handle such reviews since student activities are under its jurisdiction. Ripen then proposed the final plan whereby the review of a permit would proceed through Mr. Osterhout to the UC where a two-thirds vote will be necessary to revoke a permit.

Mr. Osterhout said, regarding the new ruling on concessions,

"We'll try our best to make it work". He also thanked all of the social units for the way they helped to make the Mid-Winter Homecoming weekend the success he felt it was.

Concerning a possible faculty objection to "Hell Week", as was brought up at the UC meeting last week, UC president Harry Dewey '48, said that he had taken the matter up with the faculty, and that the general opinion is that it did not perceptibly interfere with students' work.

Why Admission Charge

Jay Sikes '48, asked the UC for information on why admission will be charged to watch the skiing events on Sheep Hill this weekend. He said that he is aware of a strong feeling among some undergraduates that student admission cards should suffice, as they do at all other college athletic events.

Debevoise replied by saying that the Outing Club has certain monetary obligations that it has to meet with the owner of the hill, but he added that he would check on the matter with the Winter Carnival Committee.

"I've tried them
all and I like Chesterfield the best"

Louis Jourdan

STARRING IN
DAVID O. SELZNICK'S PRODUCTION
"THE PARADINE CASE"
DIRECTED BY ALFRED HITCHCOCK

WHY I smoke Chesterfield
(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"Liggett & Myers buy as fine tobacco as there is grown. They buy only mild, sweet cigarette tobacco."

"I smoke only Chesterfield cigarettes and I have smoked them right from the start."

P. V. Hardy

TOBACCO FARMER, MULLINS, S. C.

By popular acclaim the
RICHMOND GRILL
is the place to go for
FOOD and DRINKS

Richmond
Hotel

NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.

On sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newsstands

INSURANCE BROKERS
TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beckman 3-4730

CHESTERFIELD

ALWAYS Milder BETTER TASTING COOLER SMOKING

'Golden Boy' Difficult Play Well Staged Says Reviewer

Teamwork 'Tops' Labeled For Individual Characterizations

by Paul R. Barstow

Fitting that the 50th anniversary offering of a theatre group should be a group success. That is just what the present production of 'Golden Boy' is. Acting, direction, and technical skills combine to give a clean, sharp staging of a difficult play. Top honors to a theatrical team, on stage and off.

Thursday night, James Dissell as the Bonaparte, the title role, gave a vital interpretation of the boxer who could have been a violent, but lost first the music in his soul, and then his soul itself. He took every advantage of the developing character Odets so sharply etched, and by his own conviction carried the audience with him in fear and pathos.

Dunne Performance Tops

The performance of the evening was that of Dominick Dunne as the gunman Eddie Fusell. He lived his role from hair to heels, and what a character he created! He made Fusell revolting, terrifying, and yet strangely moving, in a magnificent performance.

Supporting Roles

Leslie Smith as Lorna Moon played creditably, but with too much poise and culture in voice and manner for the girl who always felt like a tramp. Howard Erskine as the harassed Tom Moore, her lover and Golden Boy's manager, was the straight-forward foil to his clammy associate Fusell. Otto Siebert as the other owner, Roxy Gottlieb, was both hilarious and convincing, while Toka, the trainer, as played by Richard Chinman, had all the earnest good-nature required by the part.

Lasell Forceful

The Bonaparte family, headed by John Lasell as Joe's father, was excellently handled. Mr. Lasell carried his poignant role with dignity and force, catching the naive goodness which makes the character. In the initial family scenes he was well poised against his sonny Carp, played with rich humor by Llewellyn White. Andrew Heineman caricatured the brother-in-law Siggie, but with so natural a charm that the audience could well understand the love of his simple silly wife, played by Dora Safford.

Sensitive Direction

The rest of the characters were without exception ably played. The team work was the thing, and this took its cue from the sensitive direction of David Bryant. With few awkward moments or movements, the fast pace set in the first scene swept the play along in close order to its moving finish.

The entire technical production was not only finished but polished. The sets, designed by Sheldon Ripley, with two revolving side areas and changing back drops, were constructed with artistry and manipulated with skill.

Individuals can create roles or effects, but only a team can create a production like this, in the finest tradition of fifty years of Cap and Bells.

Insurance Plan Offered UC

Bulletin Board, Ski Coach Discussed

An explanation of the pre-war system of class insurance policies, by Jack Talbot '44, opened the Undergraduate Council meeting Monday night in the glare of Life Magazine's exploding flash bulbs. The Council approved a project to procure a college bulletin board, and heard the need for a ski team coach expressed. The UC elected three men to serve on the committee to select the winner of the Grosvenor Cup, and accepted a recommendation to have a faculty advisor on the UC Entertainment Committee.

Talbot, Berkshire Life Insurance Company representative, outlined the class insurance policy program to the UC. He said that usually a $20,000, twenty-five year endowment policy is taken out by a class, wherein yearly premiums of $7.50, paid by 150 people would yield a $20,000 endowment gift for the college when it matures in twenty-five years.

The class insurance policy system was set up in 1915, and was followed by classes until 1944. Talbot explained that since then until recently, classes have been confused and have lacked the college spirit which did so much to make the plan successful.

Insure The Young

One way of carrying out the policy payment is for each man to take out a $250 policy on his own life, maturing in twenty-five years. The difficulty here, Talbot explained, is that almost no insurance company will do this.

See UC, page 4

Pittsfield D. A. Checks Crime Wave

In a determined effort to discover the thief who made off with $166 and several valuable items from Morgan Hall and West College early on Friday morning March 5th, the Pittsfield District Attorney's office has sent John F. Horgan to assist Chief Royal in the investigation. Queried as to whether he had discovered any fingerprints Chief Royal said, "All the surfaces touched were of such material that no fingerprints were left."

'Haute Couture' Hits B'town, RECORD Interviews 1946 Miss America

by Lois Lane, Fashion Editor

The Record, on the lookout for the Word on the New Look, incidentally scooped the local wolves by an interview with five of the most luscious models ever seen in this part of New England. Marilyn Buford, Miss America of 1946, (see cut) felt that the New Look is far superior to the old, a sentiment shared by the other beauties.

Peggy Taft, a gorgeous black-haired girl, said the New Look was fine "especially for girls with rather thick gams" but a close scrutiny of Miss Taft in a yellow sunsuit showed no such affliction. She also approved of the plunging neckline "as long as it doesn't go too far", pointing to the general area of her diaphragm, but did not approve of the hobble skirt.

Marilyn Buford is "glad the old look went out" but feels that the New Look can be carried too far if skirts go more than halfway to the ankles. She would not comment on how it feels to be Miss America, even two years later, but showed an interested Record reporter what she thought was the proper feminine footgear, complete with diagrams and a detailed explanation of the Louis XIV heel.

Among examples of the man-catching art displayed was a gray

Gargoyle Polls Student Body

Questionnaire To Show Faults Of Activities

Seeking to find from the results what is wrong in the field of extra-curricular activities at Williams College, Gargoyle Society has this week polled a representative group of undergraduates on their attitudes toward athletic and non-athletic activities.

Four Gargoyle members, J. David Maier '48, Horton H. Kellogg '48, Daniel G. Wheeler '48, and Pat A. Higgins '48, have worked with Mr. David Truman, Associate Professor of Political Science, since November 1 1947, making up the questionnaire. An eighteen-man board of seven Gargoyles and eleven others assisted the committee.

The members of this board, who helped the polling, were: John Bacon '48, Seth Bidwell '49, Arthur Dodd '48, Joseph Dorsey '49, Hugh Higbie '43, John Hammond '48, Kevin Moran '51, Norm Olson '50, Ted Quinlan '50, Charles White '49, and Bill Yates '49.

Results of Poll

According to Maier, the poll is expected to show the relationship between: 1) fraternity or non-fraternity affiliations and extra-curricular activities; 2) studies and extra-curricular activities; 3) attendance at prep school or high school and activities.

The interviewers questioned 123 students picked at random from a College list. Maier revealed that the list had been stratified by social unit and class, in order to have a representative group. Beginning last Monday afternoon, the interviewers worked through Wednesday night, each questioning six or seven men.

Administration O. K.

Before the eight page questionnaire was presented to any students, Pres. James P. Baxter, 3rd, Dean Robert R. Brooks, and Walter F. Sheehan, Dean of Freshmen, gave their approval to the plan. The questionnaire, which requires about forty minutes to complete, asks questions about literary, dramatic, and athletic activities on campus.

The results will be tabulated with the IBM machines purchased this year, to be used with the Roper Poll material given to the College.

See POLL, page 4

War Orphan Adopted By Fraternity; Sigma Phi's Become Foster Parents

DU's Also Planning To Sponsor Child

by John Shepardson

Micheline Remy, an eight year old Belgian girl who was virtually orphaned after the German occupation of Europe during World War II, recently acquired a new set of parents.

Sigma Phi, in a move which has since been followed by the members of Delta Upsilon, this month undertook to support the child through Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, Inc.

Has 54 New Parents

Micheline's new foster parents, fifty-four in number, spend forty-two cents each month towards her support, sending the money to Foster Parents' Plan, an organization with headquarters in New York which is supporting hundreds of war children in the ravaged areas of western Europe.

The Remy's were described in a letter to the Sigs from Foster Parents' Plan as an average middle class family to whom "life before the war seemed to hold much promise."

Nazis Came In 1940

But when their only child, Micheline was scarcely two, war came along and in May, 1940, Nazi legions ground the Remy's country underfoot in their march towards France.

Sig's Adopted Daughter

Micheline Remy, 9-year-old Belgian war orphan, who has been "adopted" by Sigma Phi.

Hubert Remy, Micheline's father, wasted no time in joining the underground movement. But after several months of distributing secretly published newspapers and pamphlets, he was captured by the Gestapo and taken to Germany.

Father Tortured, Shot

Torture failed to break his stubborn refusal to reveal his See WAR, page 4

LAM Shows Personnel Job Local Crafts Exacting Task

Tea Tables, Etchings In Unique Exhibit

The current exhibit of home-grown handicraft and art objects at the Lawrence Art Museum, "Crafts of Our Town," is an exciting innovation in art museum displays.

Among the hundred art objects gathered by Museum Director Carl E. Weston are such diverse items as tea tables, "spontaneous tin can sculpture," painted neckties, a scale model railway, etchings, and hooked rugs. All of these were created by members of the Williams community, including a number of students.

The outstanding student contribution is a plaster cast of a clay modelled girl's head by Richard H. Janson '48. Hendrick B. Roll '48, Bernard Felch '48, and Charles Klensch '48, contributed etchings, a wood engraving, and a lithograph, Art 19a projects.

Outstanding among artisans of the faculty and their families are the Mehlns, the Piersons, and Assoc. Music Prof. Robert Barrow. Prof. and Mrs. Theodore Mehlin are represented by a table loom, two bolts of woolen cloth, and numerous other examples of their weaving. The Mehlin children have several small ceramic figures in the exhibit. Asst. Art Prof. William Pierson contributed a tea table, and a large decorative blue bowl, Mrs. Pierson a ceramic group.

Mr. Barrow loaned a section of his scale model railway, complete with an engine and two cars, a stretch of track, buildings, and an outdoor signboard.

Other faculty contributions are: Asst. History Prof. Charles Cremins — linoleum block Christmas card; Mrs. Franzo Crawford and Mme. Culmell — bookbindings; Mrs. Samuel Matthews — bookbinding, painted ties, and painted bow tie; Mrs. Emile Despres — painted ties; Mrs. Kermit Gordon — costume designs for "Alice in Wonderland"; Mrs. Chandler Morse — woven pieces; Mrs. A. V. Osterhout — hooked rug; Mrs. Morris Avery — rugs.

Alumnus E. Crosby Doughty '99 whose handicraft contributions would make an exhibition in themselves, include a tea table, woven scarves and linen fabrics, metal See LAM, page 4

Speaker Says Field Has Variety, Interest

Speaking to twenty-five undergraduates last Monday night in the library of the DKE House on "Personnel Work As A Career," Paul H. C. Haggard '31 said that the work of the personnel manager is one of the most demanding yet interesting jobs in the business world today, for it entails a wide variety of activities.

Mr. Haggard said, "A great many people believe that the main job of a personnel manager is to act as a glorified recreational director. Actually this is but a small part of his work."

One of the main tasks confronting a personnel manager is the problem of attracting people to the firm through publicity campaigns and of maintaining contacts with sources of employment. "Once people are through the front door," he said, "they must See PERSONNEL, page 4

Swimmers Seek Fifth NEISA Title At MIT Today

RECORD Pool Tout Sers Purple Victory With 62 Points

by Norm Wood

Five consecutive New England Intercollegiate Swimming Association crowns, — that is the aim of Coach Bob Muir's unconquered swimmers as they journey to MIT this weekend to compete in the finals of the twenty-seventh NEISA meet at 2 pm. this afternoon.

It seems more than likely that they will achieve their aim, because they have already defeated all the important entrants during the regular season.

From Six to Fourteen

There are thirteen teams entered in the New England's this year: Amherst, Boston U., Bowdoin, Brown, MIT, Springfield, Trinity, Tufts, Connecticut U., Massachusetts U., Wesleyan, Williams, and Worcester Tech. Bates is the only member not entered. This membership is a long stride forward from the six-charter-member organization founded in the October of 1921.

Since then, nine new members have joined the NEISA. Dartmouth, a charter member, has withdrawn. Out of the twenty-six meets, Williams has won six, considerably more than its share. In addition to victories in the last four years, Williams was victor in 1927 and 1932.

The Crystal Ball

As to the meet itself, the crystal ball has been spinning, and here is the word — Williams will win because it is strong in the distances, the 100, and the 400 freestyle relay. As last year, Bowdoin will be runner-up, Springfield, third, Brown, Wesleyan, and Amherst will follow in that order.

The 300 medley relay promises to be a good race, because the Bowdoin, Springfield, and Williams teams are all about the same. That should be the final order, with Brown fourth and Wesleyan fifth. Ray Baldwin may repeat his 1947 NEISA victory in the 220. Bowdoin's Bill Ingraham will sneak into second, as he did in the Williams-Bowdoin meet three weeks ago, just ahead of Bob Reid and Captain Sandy Lambert, and Conyne of Springfield.

Scrambled Fifties and Dives

The 50 is practically impossible See SWIMMERS, page 3

EdMaynardChosen President Of WCA

Graney, Lohrke, McDaniel Appointed To Board

At a meeting of the Williams Christian Association cabinet on Thursday evening, March 4, Edwin P. Maynard '49, was elected president, replacing Charles W. Schmidt '48. Patrick C. Graney '49 was elected vice president and corresponding secretary. Completing the Executive Council is Theodore Lohrke '49, the new treasurer, and Harry McDonald '49, recording secretary.

The following named men were appointed chairmen of their respective activities: Chest Fund Drive, Peter Stites '49; Activities Committee, Bill Sauer '50; Deputations, Robert Worley '49; Boy's Club, Chick Brashears '50; Embassy, John Prescott '50; Student Christian Movement, Art Singer '50; Forum and Discussion, David Stamper '50; Publicity, Seth Bidwell '49.

The Reverend Grant Noble, W. C. A. Advisor, and Wally Barnes '49, Married Veteran Representative, round out the 1948 W. C. A. cabinet.

Halstead Edits NSA Bulletin

Regional Report Tells Of Current Activity

The first of The Regional Bulletin of the Northern New England National Students Association was published March 10, by the Williams NSA Chapter, under the direction of Henry M. Halstead, III '48. The Bulletin will be published twice monthly, and copies distributed to the major organizations of the almost sixty colleges in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts.

The Bulletin edits and distributes information sent in by the various NSA chapters in the area. Although the publication is now mimeographed in news letter form, Editor Halstead is looking forward to the time when The Bulletin can be built into a larger paper containing advertisements and an editorial column.

Marilyn Buford, Miss America of 1946.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office of North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Volume LXII MARCH 13, 1948 Number 2

EDITORIAL BOARD

Editor-in-Chief Seth M. Bidwell, '49
Managing Editor Joseph F. Dorsey, '49
Sports Editor William R. Barney, '49
Senior Associate Editor Charles Klensch, '48

BUSINESS BOARD

Business Managers Thomas Healy, Jr., '50, Dudley Irwin, III, '50.
Assistant Business Manager John Prescott, '50
Advertising Manager Edward Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Lon Homeier, '50
Treasurer Roland Polmeda, '50

Williams Children

Foster Parents Plan For War Children, Inc., have offered the members of Williams College an opportunity to do their small share in the rehabilitation of Europe. Two social units have taken advantage of this plan and are now the proud foster parents of two children orphaned by the war. The adopting "parents" may choose their child to the extent of nationality, age, and sex. The reward is the satisfaction of knowing that you are helping, on a personal basis, a child to have a chance to lead a normal, healthy life.

If you favor the Marshall Plan, here is an opportunity to start your own Marshall Plan, if you oppose the Marshall Plan, there will be no need to feel that you are aiding an advocate of a foreign ideology when you read the story of Micheline Remy elsewhere in this paper. The cost of such an adoption is $180 per year — about forty cents a month per member for a social unit with fifty members.

The Record feels that each fraternity on the Campus should adopt at least one foster child and that the Garfield Club with its larger membership should take on a proportionate number. The address of the Foster Parents' Plan is 55 West 42nd Street, New York 18, New York.

CLASS INSURANCE

An explanation of a class insurance plan whereby each graduating class can leave a $20,000 twenty-five year endowment policy to the College was presented to the UC Monday night. A plan which had been followed by graduating classes for twenty-four years, it was dropped during the war due to the lack of organized classes. The time has now come for the re-institution of this endowment system. Each year's tuition at Williams pays for approximately half the total cost of the years education. The total amount that each class member donates through this policy system is $187.50 spread over the course of twenty-five years. We feel that $7.50 per year will not radically affect the financial status of any individual member of the class, however, the aid that the matured policy will give Williams needs no enumeration.

The Record hopes that the class of 1948 will see fit to reinstate this plan and that all future classes will follow suit.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of the Williams Record:

Mr. Faison's enlightening review of the National Intercollegiate Art Conference at Vassar two weeks ago is not, I think, so much an "incitement to rebellion" as it is a restatement in critical form of the problems faced by the Spring conference Board last summer and in the years preceding. Mr. Faison chose to contrast both the subject matter and the techniques of the Vassar conference with those of our own, and with some justification. But whereas there is much of constructive value in his criticism on both points, there can be an honest difference of opinion concerning the implications that he draws.

It is true that the Spring Conferences at Williams in past years have dealt primarily with political-economic problems. The rush of events from 1939 to 1942 was so great and the immediate implications for a group of young men so extensive that it seems hardly illogical for discussions at Williams to center on political, military, and economic affairs. And in the same sense it would seem logical that for at least two years following the close of the war (in which a majority of the students now in college participated) interest should be concentrated on discovering what the practical results have been and what the future may hold.

If I may be permitted, I think the implications of the war and its immediate effect on the thought of Williams students was and is greater than on that of Vassar girls. Consequently the present heavy enrollment in the economics major here and consequently the natural inclination of the Spring Conference Board to set up conferences in which it's necessary to have "Big Men from the Real World" participate.

Mr. Faison further states that he thinks a humanities or art conference in the spring of 1949 would attract greater student attendance than our perennial Liberal conferences do. I do not question the advisability of having a discussion next year. It might be a welcome and significant change and perhaps an indication of a farsighted maturity. But I seriously doubt that any Williams conference would achieve such a high percentage of attendance as that achieved at Vassar. Not because the type we have had in the past conflicts with student interests, but rather because of the general apathy which the "Williams man" seems to have toward this type of function.

In the same vein, Mr. Faison applauds the informal character of the discussions which followed the formal addresses at Vassar. Full opportunity was given Williams students to do the same thing last May — not only during the question periods which followed discussions in the AMT, but also at a public reception at the Williams Inn Saturday afternoon. The attendance was woefully small, yet a large majority of the participants was present and more than willing to enter into lively arguments.

At the moment Gargoyle is sponsoring an elaborate poll to discover the attitude of the college toward extra-curricular activities and toward the function of the liberal arts school. Perhaps the opinions voiced will provide some answer to the low percentage of students who attend the Conference sessions and other functions of the same type. But whereas other subjects might provide a valuable change, I do not believe that they would increase the size of the audiences.

I look forward to a further faculty forum in which Mr. Faison will elaborate on his "revolutionary" ideas for the 1949 Conference. They cannot fail but be of help to those who will begin in June to plan for next year.

March 10, 1948

Rhett Anstall

To the Editor of The Williams Record:

In last Wednesday's Record there appeared an article concerning a $700 loan which the Thompson Concert Committee asked from the

Uncle Eph's Worm Farm

by D. Light de Moon

WANDERING FEMALES . . .

They're still talking about the houseparty date who arrived early Friday afternoon and passed out one hour and fifteen minutes later . . . and the sweet young thing who locked herself up in the head with a bottle of hooch and screamed her refusal to attend the @!#! dance . . . some fine jokes by Bob Crane's Southern Comfort . . .

the Yalie's date who hinted to a Phi Sig that a bevy of naked girls would appear on the Deke House steps at five in the morning. Toward six, bitter-enders found him quietly propped up against one of Epsilon's columns, still waiting for the floor show . . .

It's Pity Fun:

Turn out d' lights!

Operator's badge of the week-end goes to George Razook who was chopped at noon Friday and had another date by 12:05 . . . Later still, however, was the axe which fell on a dejected character at the dance.

His date caught the measles at 12:30 . . . The NA Transcript can't seem to get enough on the Caulfield axe (after the tip in this column.) Who's been passing out the inside info?

SPORTUOUSLY SPEAKING . . . They tell us that the College Pharmacy is planning to sponsor the frosh hoopsters, with several local additions, in a basketball tournament in Pittsfield. They'll wear the Pharmacy's uniforms . . . and speaking of uniforms, our equipment room correspondent says we won't recognize the Ephmen when they trot on the gridiron next fall attired in satin pants and gold-with-purple-striped headgear. Coach Watters has given the place a spring house-cleaning, and the old wool pants and black helmets are out . . .

If nobody else gets around to it, we'd like to congratulate the hockey team on their game against West Chester Saturday night. A goodly crowd of fans and their dates disregarded the cold to watch the Purple triumph 4-0 . . . Interesting sidelight ski jumping contest was the snowball barrage which forced Chuck Schmidt into a foxhole on Sheep Hill Saturday afternoon . . . The Deke neophytes surprised Tuesday when they defeated the upperclass "oldsters" 37-35 in a hardfought contest. The losers treat to a beer party before spring vacation.

WE STRETCH OUR EARMUFFS TO . . . Chuek Halleck and the rest of the Beta's on their winning snow-sculpture exhibition . . . Spring Street's Whip Perry on his coming marriage, April 3 . . . The twelve latest initiates into Phi Beta Kappa . . . Max Flowers, former AMT head, on his second season as director of the Berkshire Playhouse drama school.

THEY CALL IT HUMOR . . . One day this week, Professor Long was stopped as he came out of Hopkins Hall by an excited freshman, who blurted out:

'Oh, Mr. Makepeace—I want to thank you . . .'

'But I'm not Mr. Makepeace.'

'Oh, you're Mr. Smedley, the keeper of the grounds . . .'

'No . . . I'm President Truman,' said Professor Long and continued on his way.

THE RAT: who stole Josiah T. S. Horton's coat during the recent festivities somehow managed to return it to the dining room the night after The Advisor ad appeared . . . Dept. of higher Education: Prof. Mehlin last week lectured on weatherrecording to two groups of primary students from Mitchell School . . . An investigation by the State has started of a proposal to install FM and television apparatus on Greylock . . . Wandering Males at the Wheel Subdivision: our police court reporter informs us that Walt Stern and Ed Bronfman are the latest contributors to the local treasury. Nolo Contendere Robinson beat his registration rap by blaming it on Uncle Sugar.

KIX AT THE FLIX . . . for all English 2 students and anyone else interested in seeing one of the classic films in the history of American motion pictures. The Taconic is running a special matinee of Liam O'Flaherty's 'The Informer,' produced by John Ford and starring Victor McLaglen, on Wednesday afternoon, March 17, at 4:00 p. m. Prices are down 20 per cent.

SAC. Due to a mistake on my part it was stated that the Concerts received $600 this year from the SAC. The truth is that the Concerts are supported wholly by the so-called Mary Clarke Thompson Fund . . . This amount is not ear-marked for the Concerts but is voted by the President and Trustees each year for the Concerts from the larger amount which was left to the College.

For many years the Concerts were supported by the Thompsons and it was felt that a portion of the money left to the College should be devoted to that purpose. . . .

10 March, 1948

Sincerely,
Horton H. Kellogg

Dear Josiah Tough S. Horton:

We, the members of a college newspaper, have just finished perusing your column of February 21, 1948. Your troubles of getting $5 are amusing to us for we have the same trouble in getting $3. Here you can help us. With but one of your articles with which our students could compare the delightful writing of our own columnists we would have no trouble at all in getting the money. (We never could have written a sentence like the above before having freshman English—now we do without strain.) Your writings would make ours look great, Josie. That's what it says—Josie—it wasn't our idea.

Our copyreaders also enjoy reading your articles. (Why they pick the Williams Record from the exchange papers that cover the floor of our office, I don't know.) Anyway, they enjoy them. There's so many ambiguous and double-purpose meanings and mistakes the true errors would go unnoticed. . . .

Say "Hello" to Richard Gurley, the distressed reader. What does 'desecrate' mean? It kept us from understanding part of your last article.

Please keep sending the Williams Record—that glossy paper does wonders in holding the dust swept from the floor.

Yr obld frnd & hbl obt svt,
What ever it means, we really mean it.
The Boys

March 9, 1948

Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio

"IT'S FROM BROOKS BROTHERS' SIXTH FLOOR SHOP"

We have planned Brooks Brothers' Sixth Floor Shop for men who like Brooks Quality and Good Taste in the Things they wear. Here men find a complete line of Suits, Shirts and Neckties . . . and other Clothing and Furnishings that fill their every requirement. Things that are typically Brooks . . . at generally lower prices.

Suits, $70 to $85 • Shirts, $4.25 and $5
Overcoats, $85 • Neckwear, $1.50 to $2.50
Pajamas, $5 and $6

ESTABLISHED 1818

Brooks Brothers
CLOTHING
Men's Furnishings, Hats & Shoes

346 MADISON AVENUE, COR. 44TH ST., NEW YORK 17, N. Y.
46 NEWBURY STREET, BOSTON 16, MASS.
LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

"It contained my car keys, $20 and a whole package of Dentyne Chewing Gum!"

"This dame must think I'm Dick Tracy! Nobody can resist delicious, clean tasting Dentyne Chewing Gum. Nobody can pass up that rich, long lasting flavor. She knows Dentyne helps keep teeth white and smiles bright. Yet I should find the guy who stole her Dentyne. If I could do that I'd be the D.A.!"

Dentyne Gum — Made Only By Adams

AFTER THE GAME REFRESH WITH COKE

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
BERKSHIRE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

© 1948, The Coca-Cola Company

Swimmers - - -

to predict. The order might be: Ralph Gossier of Brown, Lou Ball of Amherst, Moe Murray and Chick Brashears, and Jenkins of the U. of Connecticut. Leonard of MIT and Hall of Massachusetts U. are possible placers.

Manuel Sevilla and Bill Campbell, of Springfield, appear to have too much class in the dive. After them there will be a mad scramble for the three remaining positions, between Bowdoin's Lennie Gath, Wesleyan's Rog Taylor, Williams' Al Hydemann, and U. of Connecticut's Dominic Spallone.

Backstroke The Pay-Off
Baldwin could win the 100, and teammates Brashears and Murray could finish right behind him. Ball and Jenkins may be in the next slot. Conlin and Edgar of MIT must get into this one.

Coach Muir called the 150 backstroke the "feature" race of the meet. He said that not only did the race between Williams' Hank Wineman and Bowdoin's Adin Merrow loom as one of the closest of the day, but also that the other two places would be hotly contested. From this corner the race is a toss-up. Wineman has been improving steadily since the Bowdoin meet, but Merrow is still the man to beat. Hank Whitton of Springfield looks like a third, Ingam fourth, and Ted Lamot of Williams fifth.

Breaststroke Outstanding
The breaststroke might also be one of the best races of the afternoon. Milt Brier of Brown appears to be the strong man here. Tony Soltysiak of Bowdoin, G. Forbes of Wesleyan, "Buckets" Rawdon of Amherst, Pelletier of MIT, and Herb Hoefler of Springfield are the other men to watch.

Kend and Captain Lambert are the fastest men in the 440, on the basis of their identical 4:58.2 times last Saturday. The field spreads out after them, Al Malthaner of Springfield, Ed Kesseler of Amherst, and Wilson of Brown being the next three.

400 Relay to Purple
Soltysiak and Merrow seem to be fastest in the 300 individual medley relay, followed by Forbes, Lamot, and Rawdon. In the 400 freestyle relay, Williams, with Murray, Brashears, Bill Rueckert, and Baldwin, possibly George Cole or John Warren, appears to have the swiftest quartet. Springfield Wesleyan, MIT, and Bowdoin.

See SWIMMING, page 4

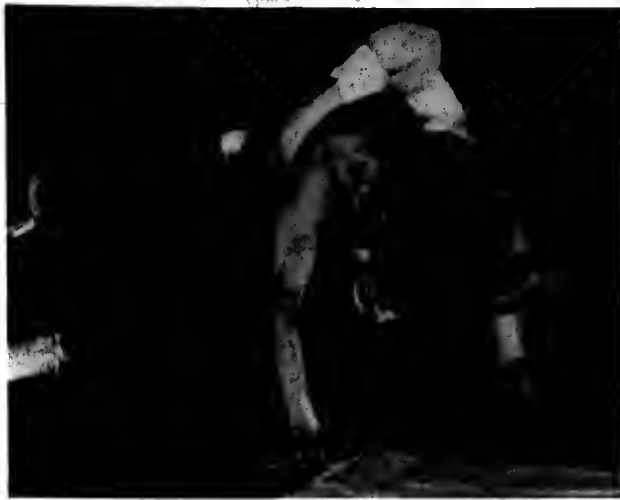

Relay To Run At Cleveland

As a result of their posting three firsts and one second place in four match races, the indoor mile relay team has been granted permission to accept an invitation to the Eighth Annual Cleveland Knights of Columbus Games to be held at the Cleveland Arena Friday evening, March 19. This post season venture will furnish the midwestern alumni with the rare occasion of seeing a Williams athletic team in action.

Coach Plansky will send his highflying quartet of "Doc" Weeth, Bill Barney, Gordon Smith, and Kev Delany against a host of Ohio opponents in an attempt to garner one more victory in what has already been a highly successful season. There is a strong possibility that a fifth man may also make the trip as alternate, probably either Dan Spaeth or Scottie Brooks.

First Mid-West Outing
The March 19 performance will mark the initial appearance of a Williams squad in the Cleveland arena, and for that matter it will mark the first Williams midwestern athletic endeavor in some years. The trip, however, is not part of the regular season's schedule. The mile foursome will undertake the journey on its own with college sanction.

"Captains Courageous"

Captain Paul Cook of Williams battling Hofstra's Captain, Dick Fusco, to a draw last Wednesday afternoon.

Williams Photo Service

Matmen Beat Hofstra 18 - 13 In Last Dual Meet Wednesday

Establishing the season's count at five wins and one loss, the Williams Wrestling team finished their dual meets last Wednesday by downing Hofstra 18-13. Pins by Chuck Turpin and Chuck Blakney headed the Purple offensive and decisions for Bill Leitzinger and Grant North clinched the meet.

Hofstra has conquered NYU, Adelphi, Champlain, Brooklyn College and Brooklyn Polytech, a record which points up the caliber of the Eph squad.

Cook Draws

After Turpin's initial win over Griffith, Captain Paul Cook broke even with Hofstra captain Dick Fusco.

In an extremely fast match which included eight reversals, Cook saved an adverse score and each team tallied two points for the match. The 136 lb. fight saw Hank Hall bow to DeAngelis by a fall in 7 minutes, 19 seconds. This tied the match score at 7-7.

In the next two classes Bill Leitzinger and Grant North decisioned Daum and Masterson respectively in even matches. Like Cook, North also saved his match by a tense, third period rally. At 165 lbs. Mac Neale was vanquished by Suprina with an 8-2 decision.

With a scant three point lead, the meet was decided by Chuck Blakney's pin over Trenkle in the

Foilers In Little Three Meet Today

The Williams Fencing team meets in the Little Three Championship today at Amherst. The foilers, who lost to Amherst 17-14 last week will try to remedy past mistakes and cop the fencing title this afternoon at 2:00 p.m.

Grapplers Enter NE Finals In Lasell This Afternoon

The survivors of yesterday's preliminary and semi-final round bouts will compete for top honors this afternoon in the finals of the New England Wrestling Championships, which are being conducted at Williams for the first time.

Donnelly Elected Squash Captain

Allen Chosen To Lead Unbeaten Freshmen

In a meeting of varsity squashmen last Monday afternoon, Frank Donnelly, '49 was elected to lead the 1948-49 squash team. Last week's election makes the second captaincy for Donnelly. Last fall he was chosen to soccer captain for the coming year.

4th Undeclared Team

Following an 8-1 victory over Amherst March 3, Rich Allen '51 was picked helmsman for the outstanding undefeated freshman squash team. Boasting a 9-0 smearing of the Yale frosh, next year's varsity should be well fortified. This record makes the 4th in an impressive list of unbeaten yearling teams — football, basketball, wrestling, and the Chaffee-men.

second period. Using a three-fourths nelson and body press, Chuck finished off a fast one-sided match. At unlimited weight Hofstra's Genther gained a decision over John Stillwell.

In the first and second round bouts of yesterday (held after the record went to press) the grapplers, who were seeded and paired accordingly, represented Amherst, Coast Guard, MIT, Springfield, Tufts, Wesleyan and Williams. These colleges are customary entries in the New England with the exception of the Coast Guard team, an Eastern League member, which is filling the spot left open by the withdrawal of Brown.

Coast Guard Favored

At press time, the Coast Guard squad ruled favorite with an impressive record that was highlighted by a 19-11 triumph over powerful Harvard. This is the only loss suffered by the Crimson. The Tar's also defeated Amherst, one of the chief contenders for the New England title, 16-13 last month. Along with these two outfits, the Ephmen should make a strong bid for the laurels. They have beaten all the competing teams except the Coast Guardsmen, and Springfield whom they did not meet, and Amherst, which scored an upset victory last week.

Eph Contenders

Williams grapplers likely to figure in the finals are Paul Cook, Captain of the Ephmen, at 128 lbs. Chuck Blakney, last year's Captain, at 175 lbs., Bill Leitzinger at 145 lbs. and Grant North at 155 lbs. See GRAPPLERS, page 4

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1830

CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE

DUST PROOF COAL

73 Spring St.

RANGE and FUEL OILS
Williamstown Mass.

INSURANCE BROKERS

TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY SCHOOL of LAW

Admits Men and Women

Registration

Day and Evening Programs — September 13 to 15, 1948

Early application is necessary

Veterans accepted under G. I. Bills

47 MT. VERNON STREET BOSTON 6, MASSACHUSETTS
Telephone KEmmure 6-5800

Berkshire Optical Company

Prescription Optician

Courteous, efficient and Prompt

Repair Service

Broken Lenses or Frames

FRANK PROVENCHER, Proprietor

2nd Floor of the Kimbell Building.

Phone North Adams 1136

TAACONIC

SUNDAY & MONDAY

The Vigilantes Return

JON HALL
MARGARET LINSAY

Pat Smith Passing Parade
Latest News Color Cartoon
Brooklyn Makes Capitol

Sat. Mat. 2:15 Sat. Eve. Two
Com. Shows from 6:20. Feature at 7:20, 9:20, Last Comp. Show
8:30.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

HER HUSBAND'S AFFAIRS

Lucille Ball
Franchot Tone

Sunday continuous from 2:15
Feature at 2:55, 5:00, 7:05, 9:10
Last complete show: 8:30.

TUESDAY thru THURSDAY

Escape Me Never

SPECIAL MATINEE

ONE SHOWING ONLY

'The Informer'

Wednesday, March 17
4:00 P.M. $4.00

What a Record! . . . It's ART MOONEY'S hot arrangement of "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover"

(An MGM release)

"Four leaf clover" has turned into a real four leaf clover for ork-pilot, Art Mooney. His record is keeping jukes in clover.

An experienced hand in the music biz—Art follows that famous experience rule in the choice of a cigarette, too. "I've smoked many different brands and compared," says Art, "and Camels suit me best."

Try Camels! Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience"!

CAMEL is my cigarette!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY
Winston-Salem, North Carolina

UC...

insurance company will handle policies involving such small amounts of money.

A better way, according to Talbot, is to have a few young, healthy members of the class take out larger policies on themselves. Talbot said that should any man die before his policy matures, the investment is paid immediately. Talbot added that it would greatly simplify matters for the graduates if a decision is made to have the yearly premiums included in the class dues.

Seniors Have To Decide

Harry Dewey '48, UC president, said that he felt that the only way to follow such a scheme is to call the senior class together before it graduates, and to find out then whether to accept or reject the plan for that year.

Horton Kellogg '48, asked the UC for permission to go ahead on a plan to erect a bulletin board in front of the gymnasium. Kellogg said that a centrally located bulletin board, where notices of college activities and athletic events could be posted, is sorely needed. He said that many of the posters printed to announce college activities are confusingly displayed on Spring Street. Kellogg also said that sometimes no notice appears at all of some things, such as hockey games. The UC gave its permission for the SAC to undertake the project.

Wants Ski Team Coach

Roy McWhinney '48, suggested that a coach should be procured for the ski team next winter. He said that considering the facilities provided by Sheep Hill, and the high calibre of the team the college had this year, the ski team deserves a full time coach.

Dean Robert R. R. Brooks agreed with McWhinney, and said, "It is a point well taken." Dean Brooks would like to see the "B" Hill ski development completed, and would like to have skinning made a part of the winter physical training program. He said that the matter of a ski coach for next year would have to be referred to the Athletic Council.

The UC elected John Wilson '48, Robert Boyer '48, and Horton Kellogg '48, to the committee, including the UC president and secretary, to decide upon the winner of the Grosvenor Memorial Cup. The prize is awarded to that member of the junior class who best exemplifies the traditions of Williams, and was presented to Wilson last year.

Report Desired

Dean Brooks asked for a report as to the adherence to the new temporary curfew rule, extending the time for women to be permitted in dormitories. In answering, Wilson said that he thought that everything went very satisfactorily during the past weekend and that he would be able to make a complete report after he conferred with the Junior Advisors.

War...

compatriots to the Nazis, but several months after his imprisonment, Mrs. Remy heard that he had been murdered by the Germans.

Broken by the shock and worry of her husband's imprisonment, as well as by the news of his death, Mrs. Remy was no longer able to care for either her home or Micheline.

Left By Mother

Neglected by a mother who had lost interest in both her child and in life itself, Micheline had to shift for herself until the end of the war when she was brought to a children's colony supported by Foster Parents' organization.

Micheline is a gentle and affectionate little girl who is eager for approbation, said the letter, "but the years of insecurity, fear, and neglect have left the child tense and nervous. She is a pathetic, lonely child."

Pres. Young Supports Plan

The idea of adopting Micheline was suggested to the Sigs in an advertisement sent them by Foster Parents' Plan urging them to undertake the support of a war orphan. Former President James A. Young '48 of the Sig house urged the members to support the plan, with the result that the fraternity will now contribute $180 each year until Micheline is old enough to support herself.

DU Follows Suit

One other house, Delta Upsilon, has also made plans to "adopt" an orphan. House President John Hay told the Record that negotiations have already been made with Foster Parents' Plan, but that information on who the child is has not yet arrived. Robert B. Stallworth '48 is sponsoring the DU's plan.

Personnel...

then be screened in order to insure proper selection and placement." This requires knowledge of interviewing techniques and of testing methods.

Personnel work also involves job evaluation, transfer of employees, merit ratings, and the equalization of wage and salary standards. Often using the services of outside research groups, the personnel manager must keep abreast of the legislative and economical changes which affect employees.

When asked about the worth of a graduate business course for a person contemplating entering personnel work, Mr. Haggard said that he felt it a matter of company policy: some firms prefer that men just out of college spend the time that might have been put into graduate work within the company. He estimated that $2400 was the average starting salary.

Poll...

Truman's Aid Valuable

Maier stated that the entire project has been carried on in as scientific way as possible, and that the aid of Professor Truman in making up the questionnaire has been invaluable.

Sometime during the next month, Gargoyles will poll the faculty by mail on the same subject.

LAM Show...

paperweights and jewelry, and a chair with leather web seat and back. Other alumni contributors are: Mr. Lawrence Bloedel '23—chair and table; Dr. Vanderpoel Adriance '90—needlepoint chair cover.

The exhibit closes March 30.

Swimmers...

could follow the Purple to the finish line.

Awarding the places 6, 4, 3, 2, 1 points, and the relays, 10, 8, 6, 4, 2, the final score will read: Williams-63, Bowdoin-41, Springfield-33, Brown-17, Wesleyan-16, Amherst-11, MIT-5, U. of Conn.-2.

Grapplers...

lbs. Outstanding Coast Guard performers, who will probably also reach last round bouts, are George Rynick at 138 lbs., Jules Du Peza at 155 lbs. and Captain Jim Clune at 185 lbs.

LAMPS

FABRICS

RUGS

GIFTS

on the Bennington Road
just post Phi Gom

TELEPHONE: 498-R — OPEN ALL YEAR — WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

Houseparties, Ski Parties, Overnight Guests

Breakfasts served

ROUTE 2

OPPOSITE HOWARD JOHNSON'S

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY
Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

FAIRFIELD'S FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

FOR SALE

Easy Chair, 8 x 12 Axminster Rug, 6 x 9 Linoleum Rug, and Combination Bed Davenport.

All new

MR. COOPER

Day Phone 897

Night Phone 884-J

HOLIDAY

The Most Talked About
Pipe Mixture in America

☆

Aromatic in the pack...

Aromatic in the pipe!

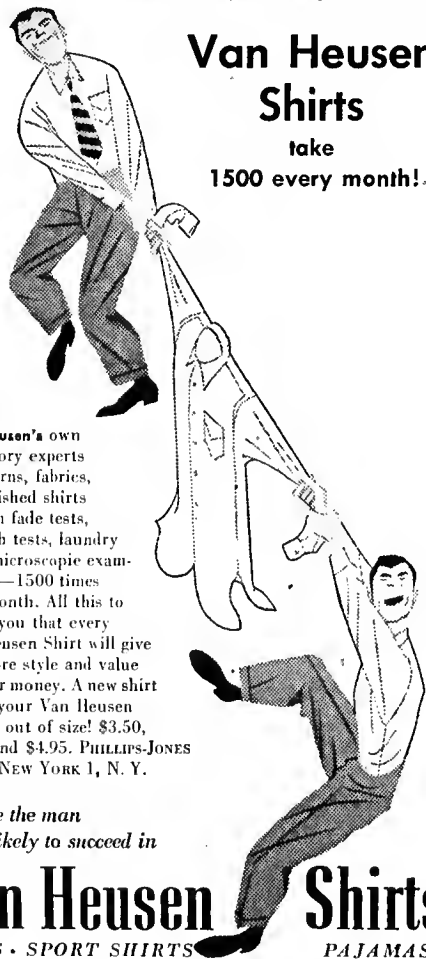

Holiday also comes in a 16 oz. Humi-Seal Glass Jar
Larus & Brother Company, Richmond, Virginia

exams getting you down?

Van Heusen
Shirts

take

1500 every month!

Van Heusen's own laboratory experts take yarns, fabrics, and finished shirts through fade tests, strength tests, laundry tests, microscopic examination—1500 times each month. All this to assure you that every Van Heusen Shirt will give you more style and value for your money. A new shirt free if your Van Heusen shrinks out of size! $3.50, $3.95 and $4.95. PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., NEW YORK 1, N. Y.

You're the man
most likely to succeed in

Van Heusen Shirts
TIES • SPORT SHIRTS PAJAMAS

EXCLUSIVE AGENTS...

Williams Co-op

MANCHESTER, VERMONT

4-SEASON RESORT — ON U. S. ROUTE 7
190 MILES FROM NEW YORK • 130 MILES FROM BOSTON

Stay

Worthy Inn

Two major ski areas
NOW OPEN YEAR ROUND
Gold Room • Cocktail Lounge
12 Co. 11 Co. per day
American Plan
Special rates on longer stays

Ski

Snow Valley

One of the largest skiing seasons in the East
2 LIFTS • 3 ROPE TOWS
4 SKIPES • 2 TRAILS
SKI SCHOOL • RESTAURANT

FOR INFORMATION, RESERVATIONS, 24-HOUR SNOW REPORTS PHONE
MANCH. 92 OR 94W; ALSO, SNOW REPORTS N.Y.C. (24-HR.) VA. 6-2350,
BOSTON, LI. 7070.

WRITE FOR COLOR BROCHURE "X"

WIN CASH! $1300 IN CASH PRIZES!

Mollé "What do you say?" contest!

A Grand Prize of $500 to the smoothest-talking college man!

Individual prizes of $50 to winners at 16 colleges!

You can win! Better get in! It's the Mollé "What do you say?" contest! Here's all you do...

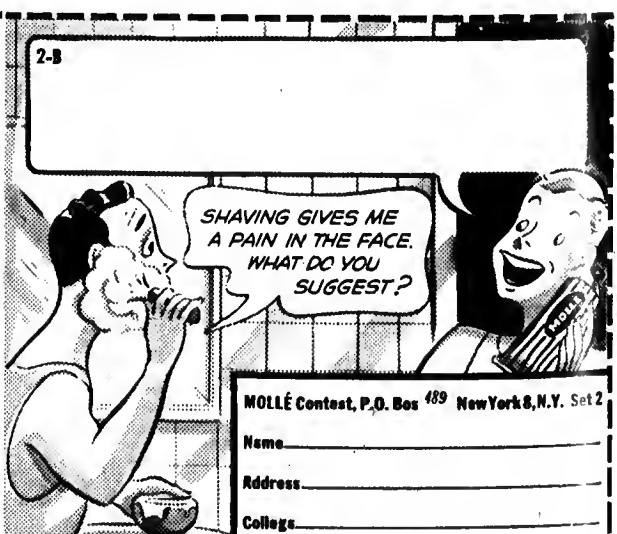

Every week for 10 weeks in this newspaper, you will find a set of two cartoons. Read, then fill in your answers in the blank balloons. At the end of 10 weeks, the judges will select the winners (from among the contestants), based on originality.

Remember! To be eligible, you must have filled in all

What do you say when a gal says:

What do you say when a pal says:

Fill in your answers in the balloons and your name, address, college, in the coupon. Mail right away! Read contest rules.

CONTEST RULES... Mollé "What do you say?" contest

1. Merely write, in the blank cartoon balloons above, your answers to the questions. Mail your entry to the address given in the cartoon above. Be sure to fill in your complete name and address in the space indicated.

2. Each contestant must be a registered male student of the college in whose paper this contest is published, and each contestant must compete in all ten sets of cartoons in order to be eligible for prizes. If you did not receive a copy of this newspaper, a reasonable facsimile of the cartoon or a written description of it will be accepted.

3. With Sets No. 3 and No. 8, the contestant must include a cartoon from a 25¢ or 50¢ tube—or from any size jar—of Mollé. Remember, only two cartoons (of any size) are required, but be sure you send one in with No. 3 and one in with No. 8 of the sets.

4. Only one entry will be accepted from each contestant in each set and all entries must be the original work of the contestants, submitted in their own names.

5. Entries will be judged by the Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation, an independent judging organization. All ten cartoons submitted by a single contestant will be considered as a unit in judging, and the judges' decisions will be based on the originality, aptness and interest of each set. First prize winners of $50 from each school will be eligible for the Grand Prize of $500.00 to be awarded to the best series of entries from all the schools. The decision of the judges is final and duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of ties.

6. All entries become the property of Sterling Drug Inc., and no entries will be returned.

7. All ten sets of answers must be mailed before May 14, 1948, final date of the contest. Entries with inadequate postage will not be accepted. Prize winners will be announced here the week of May 24.

The Williams Record

Volume LXII

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 17, 1948

Number 3

Ephs Win N E Swimming, Wrestling Crowns Purple Teams Capture Seven Individual Titles

Matmen Edge Coast Guard By 6 Points

Individual Crowns Won
By Cook, Leitzinger,
Blakney In Finals

by M. C. Behre

In the New England Intercollegiate last week-end, Coach Bullock's wrestlers added another trophy to the winter's harvest emerging victorious by a six point margin. Three Ephs now hold Championship laurels: Captain Paul Cook at 128 lbs., Bill Leitzinger at 145 lbs., and Chuck Blakney at 175 lbs. In addition, Chuck Turpin, Hank Hall, and John Stillwell gained second places and Grant North a third.

With a decisive, and somewhat unexpected triumph, Williams scored 30 points while the vaunted Coast Guard team placed second with 24; MIT finished third with 21. In one of the meets most surprising facets, Amherst, the Little Three Champions, finished a poor fifth with only 5 points. Tufts and Springfield salvaged 7 and 3 respectively.

In the varsity meets on Friday, a relatively small gallery saw Turpin, Hall, and Stillwell defeat their opponents in preliminary bouts. Harry Neave, our 165 lb. entry, was downed by Amherst's Sandy Keith.

Victory Indicated

The results of the semi-finals Friday evening gave the first indications of the home team's victory. Without doubt, the outstanding attraction was John Stillwell's decision over Soderberg—the MIT Unlimited entry who had pinned Stillwell in a previous dual meet. At 121 lbs, Turpin bowed to Deptula of MIT and at 136 lbs. Hall lost to Rynick of Coast Guard. Both Joe Deptula and George Rynick gained championships in their class, and, by de- See BLAKNEY, page 3

WMS Offers Radio Drama

"Canterville Ghost" Aired Last Monday

Commencing March 29, a series of dramatic programs, managed by guest directors, will be presented by Cap and Bells in an attempt to encourage student script writing. Under the direction of Mrs. Roy Lamson, "The Canterville Ghost" was presented by WMS, Monday night as the first dramatic experiment of the newly organized station.

The WMS presentation of Walton Butterfield's dramatization of Oscar Wilde's story had Helen Kelly, Leslie Smith and Howard Erskine '49 in the leading roles. Mrs. Kelly played Jocasta in the Cap and Bells production of "King Oedipus," and Mrs. Smith and Erskine had major roles in "Golden Boy."

Experienced Direction

Mrs. Lamson is not new to radio or to directing. She has written for the Theatre Guild of the Air, and directed last summer's production of "Alice in Wonderland" at the AMT. "The Canterville Ghost" was in rehearsal for two weeks and was produced by Lloyd Tweedy '49, as the first dramatic attempt of the college radio station this year. Walter Allen '49, See WMS, page 4

'Drinking Man' Still Unknown

Baldwin Writes New Mysteryman Contest

"The Drinking Man," new WMS Wednesday night mystery contest, originated by Harry Baldwin, '48 is the largest project yet undertaken by the college radio station. Sponsored by Cal King, the contest is run in conjunction with his "Everything Goes" show from 9:30 to 10:15 p.m.

Designed to help the Chest Fund, eligibility is limited to those who have already paid their subscriptions. Non-contributors can get on the list by sending their cash to Pete Stites at the Chi Psi Lodge.

King Picks Contestants

The program is run on the plan of the national mysteryman broadcasts. The following riddle describes the Drinking Man: "Ding Ding Dong... It's four and not a soul to tell... Protector of the metropolis... Is not far from wrong." Clues are added each week until the gurgles on the drinking record have been identified.

Cal King determines the week's four contestants by picking numbers corresponding to the pages and names in the College Directory. These names are announced over the air, and their owners have three minutes in which to call WMS and make their guesses.

Ten Prizes

The list of prizes originally announced consisted of ten items ranging from a pair of moccasins from Salvy's to one free flick every week at the Taconic for the entire fall term. An additional two prizes are added every week that the Drinking Man remains unguessed.

J. Edward Pawlick

Resigns From School

The Record announces that J. Edward Pawlick ex'49, recently appointed as co-managing editor of the newspaper, resigned from College March 8 to attend agricultural school.

Having considered the move for several months, Pawlick decided early this month to take a job on a farm before entering school.

Pawlick was president of the Williams News Bureau and played with the Purple Knights during his freshman and sophomore years. He is a member of Theta Delta Chi.

Slides Of Art Masterpieces To Be Shown In Lawrence

S. Lane Faison, Art Department chairman, announced Sunday that he would show part of the Department's latest acquisition, 200 color slides of painting masterpieces from the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin, in Lawrence Hall some time next week. The original paintings, which went on exhibit today, will be displayed for three weeks before being returned to Berlin.

Mr. Faison told the Record that the 200 paintings, valued at $80 million, are the cream of the paintings of the Berlin museum. "They are almost comparable to the 200 best paintings in the Louvre," he said, "and superior to the finest 200 paintings (paint-

Publishers Soon To Release Book By Williams Alumnus Max Eastman

Max Eastman '05, distinguished poet, novelist, and historian, has written his autobiography entitled "Enjoyment of Living." This latest of his works will be released by publishers on March 31.

Eastman, editor-in-chief of the 1904 Gul and one of Williams' most famous sons, began his stormy literary career in 1913 with the publishing of his most successful book, "Enjoyment of Poetry," which has been used in many classrooms as a text in the study of the psychology of literature.

He first became involved in foreign affairs four years later, when, as editor of a socialist-policy magazine, "The Masses," he and a famed communist writer were arrested on a charge of sedition for opposing U. S. entry into the War. But Eastman defended himself and succeeded in securing his release.

In 1922 he went to Russia to learn the language and study Soviet civilization. From these travels came many of his finest works including a volume of poems "Kinds of Love," a novel, "The Science of Revolution," and a biography of "Leon Trotsky, the Portrait of a Youth." During this period Eastman wrote his first criticism of Stalin's dictatorial regime, a political brochure called "Since Lenin Died." He followed this in 1932 with a similar attack on Stalin in "Artists in Uniform."

Max Eastman

Returning to this country, Eastman wrote another in his "Enjoyment" series, "Enjoyment of Laughter" which was a best-seller. Other recent Eastman works include "Marxism, Is It Science?" and "Heroes I Have Known."

'48 Year Book To Be On Time

To Feature Informal Pictures Of College

The 1948 issue of the Gul will be out before graduation according to Managing Editor Joseph F. Dorsey '49. The goal of this year's book is to make the Gul primarily a picture book presenting as many informal shots as possible.

Every member of the college will be solicited during the circulation drive starting in about a week. There will be 700 copies printed and the members of the business staff do not plan to stop selling until 700 subscriptions have been received.

In spite of the higher printing costs, the price will be no higher than last year's $6 figure. Those unable to pay the full amount can make a down payment of $3 now and pay the rest later.

Included with the informal shots in the book will be some of the See GUL, page 4

Professors Discuss Presidential Rep'r't

Commission Proposes Increased Enrollment

Discussion of the recent "Report of the President's Commission on Higher Education" highlighted the meeting of the Williams Chapter of the American Association of University Professors last Wednesday evening. Asst. Prof. Fred H. Stocking started the discussion with a general analysis of the report, which calls for 4.6 million students in American colleges by 1960. This is nearly twice the present number and would necessitate federal aid of 4.5 - 5 billion dollars per year.

William B. Gates, Lecturer in Economics, discussed the economic aspects of the plan, including the nature of the aid, the possibility of expanding college facilities and teaching staffs at that rate, and the effect of the increased number of students in decreasing the total working force. He concluded that the national economy could well afford the huge cost of educating so many. He also felt that the aid should be given directly to individuals in the form of scholarships and not to the educational institutions, in order to avoid the danger of federal control.

T. C. Smith, Professor Emeritus of History, summarized the discussion by telling how this report would have been viewed at the time he graduated from Harvard in 1896. At that time it would have shocked a great many people, for the report assumes that anybody who wants education shall be able to get it. This is in contrast to the then prevalent belief that education should be for those who have the initiative and put forth effort towards getting it.

Prof. Howard P. Stabler, a member of the AAUP National Council, reported on the annual meeting held in St. Louis last month and explained the purposes of the national organization. He said the See DISCUSSION, page 4

New Magazine Out In April

Gleckner, Newm'r's Edit "Comment"

Publication of a new magazine, Comment, in the middle of April, will present the College with a sample of what its creators hope will become an outlet for student opinions on current events, literature and controversial topics. Robert F. Gleckner '48 and Benjamin M. Newmark are the co-chairmen of the magazine.

Gleckner stated that the new magazine will publish critical essays, book reviews and articles on controversial local and national subjects. The editorial board of Comment includes: Burton Sapiro '48, Russel Bourne '50, Terry Bender '48, Williams Holt '51, Steve Sondheim '50, Richard Webber '49, and two members of the English department, Asst. Prof. Clay Hunt and Asst. Prof. Fred Stocking.

In a further statement of Comment aims, Gleckner said that the board is attempting to reach a balance between fiction and non-fiction on the matter of content, although the magazine will lean toward non-fiction.

Short Stories

Gleckner said that the fiction policy of Comment is to have two short stories per issue besides the poetry which is planned to be included. Art will find its place in the new magazine too, though not in the form of cartoons. The policy will be just art for art's sake.

Referring to the new publication, Mr. Hunt said, "We are well set up for the first issue." He said that there is more than enough material for the April issue, but that all contributions possible are desired to meet future needs.

There will be no editorials in See COMMENT, page 4

News Bureau Changes Board

Barney Appointed As New President

The Board of the Williams News Bureau has recently undergone a change with the appointment of William R. Barney Jr. '49 to replace J. Edward Pawlick '49 as President. Four others were named to fill the remaining positions vacated by the old Board. In the sports department assisting Seth Bidwell '49, who will remain on as Co-Sports Editor till June, is Phil Van Dusen '50. Larry Gourlay moves up from the staff to become News Bureau Feature Editor, and Bud Tweedie, new Prep School and Home Town News Editor, is the fifth member nominated to the new Board.

Retiring Editors

Barney and company succeed a retiring Board of four men, who have been at the helm of the News Bureau since last February. Former editor Pawlick headed a News Bureau consisting of Bidwell, holding sway in the sports department, Assignment Editor Barney, and Joe Dorsey '49, Home Town and Prep School Editor.

The function of the News Bureau is to serve as a link between the college and the public. The publicity organ of Williams, it sends campus news to papers throughout the country. News Bureau writers are actually acting in the capacity of reporters for big city newspapers.

Wineman Tops Merrow, Sets NEISA Mark

Baldwin, Reid, Lambert Swim Well; Freestyle Relay Team Victor

by Norm Wood

Riding the crest of its unconquered wave, the Williams swimming team forged its way to its fifth straight New England Intercollegiate Swimming Association crown Saturday afternoon, when it submerged seven other finalists in the MIT pool.

Williams swimmers rolled up 53 points while their nearest rivals, Springfield, Bowdoin, and Brown, could muster only 31, 29, and 27, respectively. As Coach Muir had predicted, the 150-yard backstroke proved to be the outstanding race of the meet.

Roars Over Course

At the gun Eph Hank Wineman shot into a lead, developing it into a couple of feet at the first length. He increased it to two yards at 50, added two more in the next lap, and finished the race five yards out front. His time was an amazing 1:38.7. This eclipsed the MIT pool record, 1:39.1, and, more important, Merrow's NEISA record, 1:36.9, set in the Bowdoin-Williams meet in the Lasell Pool this winter.

The other personal highlight of the meet was Captain Sandy Lambert's fine race in the 440. Lambert had fallen on ice Thursday noon and had aggravated an old shoulder injury. He had qualified third in the 440, behind Bob Reid and Bowdoin's Bill Ingraham. In the finals he swam a spirited race, nosing out Ingraham by a yard.

Brown Trips MIT Mark

The curtain raiser was a tight one. Wineman established a two-yard lead at 100. At 200, Bowdoin's Tony Soltysiak slipped into a See FIFTH, page 4

Debaters Scheduled For New Englands

Freshmen To Debate Pomfret, Dartmouth

The Williams Adelphe Union has scheduled debates with Brown, Vassar, and Middlebury this Spring, and is taking part in the New Englands held at M.I.T., while the Freshman team is scheduled to debate against Hotchkiss, Pomfret, and Dartmouth.

On April 2 and 3, Peter Gutmann '49, Jack McConnell '50, Richard Goodman '49, and George Thomason '49 will debate in the New Englands on the subject of World Federalism. The Adelphe Union will debate later in the year against Brown on Socialized Medicine, and Henry Halsted '48, and Harry McDaniel '49 will go to Vassar to debate the subject, Resolved: "The woman's place is in the home." Resolved: "Socialism is not compatible with Democratic government," is the subject which McConnell and McDaniel will debate when they meet against Middlebury later this year.

William Hollister, Michael Luther, Bradley Seager Jr., and Edward Curtis Jr. are taking a trip for the Freshman team on April 17 and 18 when they debate on universal military training against Hotchkiss and Pomfret. Arnold Midwood, Jesse Brown, Ted Jones, and Roger Dickinson debate against Dartmouth on World Federalism April 12.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editor-in-Chief Seth M. Bidwell, '49
Managing Editor Joseph F. Dorsey, '49
Sports Editor William R. Barney, '49
Senior Associate Editor Charles Klensch, '48
Associate Editors: Russell Platt '48, J. J. Cole '48, John S. Schofer F-'49, Charles E. Urley F-'49.
Editorial Staff: 1949—K. Armstrong, J. Greene, P. Stites. 1950—H. Baker, M. Behre, S. Bloche, P. Collins, K. Delany, W. Fawcett, J. Gibson, J. Golding, E. Gouinlock, R. Heuer, D. Pugh, L. Schafeld, J. Shepardon, W. Stern, H. Van Horne, N. Wood. 1951—E. Jones, B. Perry, F. Reiche, D. Ruder, F. Wiseman.
Business Managers Thomas Healy, Jr., '50, Dudley Irwin, III, '50.
Assistant Business Manager John Prescott, '50
Advertising Manager Edward Stackhouse, '50
Circulation Manager Lon Homeler, '50
Treasurer Roland Palmedo, '50
Business Staff: 1950—P. Ganyard, D. Garfield, D. Pugh, W. Reigal. 1951—P. Avery, C. Fass, H. Frazier, T. Garver, J. Greer, L. Jacob, W. Leitzinger, J. Lund, W. Mann, W. Mill, R. Moir, F. Stebbins, H. Voorhis.

Volume LXII MARCH 17, 1948 Number 3

Junior Prom?

College spirit, class spirit, and spirit generally — the lack of it at Williams and the reasons why have been the subjects of many a midnight "bull session" this year. Many people are concerned with the question and it is a question which should concern all Williams men. Possibly, it is a question which involves the very livelihood of the College when you consider the fact that much of the future Williams' revenue will come from the present classes. There have been many suggestions as to the solution of this dilemma, all of which are worthwhile, but somewhat impractical as a starting point. The Record, however, has a suggestion which it feels might "kill two birds with one stone."

Many Williams' organizations have used houseparty dances as a method of fattening the treasury of their group. The Record is not objecting to any such enterprising organizations or criticizing any past dances. We feel, however, that such dances can be used to a much greater advantage.

If the fall houseparty were traditionally to become the Junior Prom, and the Spring Houseparty, the Sophomore Prom, the two birds mentioned might be well taken care of. By having a class organize, direct, and be responsible for these functions, that class would necessarily have to function as a group and the success of each venture would then be a credit or debit to that class. Thus class pride and spirit would be developed by the success of such an activity and via this medium college spirit would be fostered. The proceeds from such a venture could be used to promote other class functions during the year and any remaining money would be turned over to the Alumni Fund at the close of the year.

The second advantage to be gained by such a venture would be to make houseparty week-ends more of an "affair" and a greater incentive for students to participate in the festivities. We feel that the time has come to convert the supposedly "big evening" of houseparties from a hap-hazard affair which in many instances students have no compunction about missing into a tradition which no one would think of missing.

The Record hopes that the UC will consider this proposal when considering the sponsor of the spring houseparty and that the presidents of the Junior and Sophomore classes will be instrumental in the foundation of what we would like to see become Williams Traditions.

Comment

Several members of the student body and the faculty have answered the pressing need for the publication of the serious thought and writings born and fostered on the Williams campus. In April, the College will receive the first publication of a post-war Williams magazine devoted to such an idea. The Record wishes Comment the best of luck and is looking forward to the orchids we hope will be passed out on opening night.

Max Eastman

"The Enjoyment of Living", newest book of Max Eastman, author and Williams alumnus, will be released to the public on March 31. The Record has had the privilege of receiving an advance copy of this fascinating autobiography and feels it is a book of interest to all Williams men. Included in this account of Eastman's interesting life are numerous chapters on his life at Williams. Because we feel this an interesting and worthwhile book, recommended to all Williams men, we will print a review at deadline March 31.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of the The Williams Record:

What will be done with the facilities of Currier Hall when the new Garfield Club is built on the site of the old Greylock Inn? We need to think about this problem now, and not postpone it until after the club has its new home on North Street.

The Administration Officers: Dean Brooks, Dean Sheehan, and Mr. Copeland are acquainted with the substance of my proposal. They have told me it would be impracticable on the Williams Campus. But they offer no other proposals. They admit that my proposal contains the major considerations of the Shriver Committee in 1944. Correspondence with, and discussion with Williams Alumni indicate that too few Alumni know what is in the Report, or the reasons why such a proposal as this was considered unfeasible. It is time to stimulate thought and discussion on this important problem.

My proposal contains three changes: (1) Convert the Berkshire Quadrangle into the Freshman Quadrangle. (2) Let the facilities of Currier Hall be turned into a Freshman Commons. (3) Convert the present Freshman Quadrangle into rooming space for Garfield Club and Fraternity men who would be living in the Berkshire Quad, under the present arrangement.

My reasons are by no means thorough. There are many considerations that I am not aware of at the moment, but which need and should be put into the arena of thought and discussion.

(1) Class spirit and morale are virtual nonentities on the Williams Campus; they have been so for too long. One of the reasons seems to me to be this: In the Freshman year the class as a whole has no real opportunity to get to know each other. It is a very impressionable one, and should be spent wisely, if real friendships are to emerge.

(2) As it now stands, after Fall Rushing, Freshman divide into 16 social units for eating and social purposes. What unity and strength might be fostered if the Freshmen all ate and lived in the same area!

See LETTER, page 4

The Lightning Rod

by Roger Ernst

The present class attendance and "cut" system is distasteful and anachronistic.

Education implies the development of self-discipline and responsibility. We came to Williams to be educated in the techniques of governing ourselves. Are we undergraduates too immature to regulate our own attendance at classes? The Administration and the undergraduate body feel that it is unfair to place this burden on the students. Are not college men aware of their individual responsibilities under the educational process?

Perhaps certain students would not attend very many classes if attendance were not taken. Some of these might flunk, other students who attend fewer classes, and yet are proficient in their studies might have a salutary effect on the members of the faculty concerned. The amount of stimulation a professor can create in the student's mind might well become the incentive for class attendance.

Another effect of the abolition of the "cut" system would be that of separating the men from the boys. This would permit concentration of the Williams-type "You and the Log" education on the 850 students which the President has indicated is the top number Williams will accommodate after 1950.

"You and The Log"

Perhaps it is too much to ask students and professors to manifest real interest in their work, but I don't think so! Ultimately education depends upon the relation between the teacher and the student that Williams cherishes in phrase "You and the Log." The closer this relationship approaches real intellectual collaboration, the more worthwhile the experience is for both parties. Students should want to go to their classes—to have their minds excited by new ideas, concepts, and realms of factual information. Every idea ever expressed is in essence an incitement, an invitation to contemplation, if not to action.

I consider the "cut" system a bar to real education. It tends to preclude that mental cross-fertilization which is imperative to human progress. Actually the "cut" system is an insult to our professors. It indicates a belief that Williams men would not attend classes if there were no such system. It also insults those who are here to learn, to have their minds excited, and who do govern their attendance in accord with their objectives.

If the distrust of the Undergraduate's maturity were carried to its ultimate we would have no Honor System. How can students be respected in this vital matter, where the pressure to "pass" a given course is certainly greater than the pressure on one to attend classes, and not in the more routine question of presence at classes?

Individual Responsibility

We should introduce the Honor System principle into the "cut" system if we are to do more than pay lip-service to the development of individual responsibility. The idea of individual responsibility is one of the hall marks of Western Culture. It is the other side of the concept of the dignity of the individual, which we prize so highly. It means that we stand on our own two feet, and accept the consequences of our individual acts. This idea of the individual's dignity and responsibility differentiates our mode of life from that in the totalitarian states.

How does this bear on the "cut" system one may ask. Clearly the answer is that we are here to be educated. This concept must be given substance through an educational process. One way is to charge each student with the responsibility of self-government. The penalty for "overcutting" will then fit the "crime"—the Ax... for academic deficiency! The person concerned will bear the total responsibility. He will not be able to blame "the system" or "the professors."

The Undergraduate Council and the faculty should jointly consider this issue with a view toward reforming the existing procedures. I favor abolition of the present system of requiring that attendance be taken. It is likely that it would be wise to draw up special provisions for freshmen in order to get them started in the right direction.

Finally, I propose that each student should sign a statement, similar to the Honor System pledge, indicating that he realizes his obligation with regard to attendance at classes, and the consequences of non-attendance. In other words, attendance will be the student's own baby! If we can move forward in this area of Student relations, and strengthen and increase the realm of government of one's self, we shall have taken a big step.

Uncle Eph's Worm Farm

by D. Light de Moon

From the March 11 'Currier,' Garfield Club house organ: It is with great sorrow that we acknowledge the truth of the report that Newton P. Darling has crossed the Great Divide to become a Phi Gam. PARTY! PARTY! PARTY! ... Reams of paper to Al and Mary Adkins on their first anniversary. Understand the champagne party was one of the best yet, with one Record reporter as the only casualty ... and what a blowout (but not the least bit flat) the Cap & Bellers threw at the Alumni House Saturday night after the last performance of 'Golden Boy' ... Seen doing some late research on the grapefruit cans was Prof. Scott ... The English Dept. well represented as usual by Messrs. O'Neill and Ross ... Sensation of the evening was Bud Treman's sister Jane, who, we hear, made quite an impression on Zete Wolcott J. Humphrey, Jr.

H'PTY HANGOVERS ... congratulations to Marlon van Brunt, the last date to leave town. Sig Phi Jack Hendee seems to have stood the strain rather well.

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT ... The Geek who is convinced that Speck Shea isn't the only thing with a curve to come out of Nauvatus ... The Phi Sig furnace which decided to quit during last week's blizzard ... The Phi Delta soph who strained his back as the result of a sneeze ... Tony Plansky's re-election as secretary-treasurer of the Williams chapter of the American Association of University Professors ... Signs of Spring: the 1896 House and the Taconic Golf Club already have their liquor license applications in.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ITEMS ... High point of the season's social whirl promises to be the Mardi Gras sponsored by the Women's AA of the NA State Teacher's College at Taconic Hall next Friday. A Miss Alice Bosma is in charge ... We notice that the ed. of the Smith 'Scan' is advocating a course in that three-letter word. Never knew Smiths to be deficient in that dept. ...

Political Sub-Division ... The recent IRC public opinion poll was not the first on college campuses, as announced by the Record. The Vassars ran one earlier ... Amherst just finished theirs, and for once the two schools agree on something. The Sabrinas showed that they intend to keep their political feet on the ground by giving Stassen a majority. SPORTUOUSLY SPEAKING ... Pat Higgins signed Saturday with the LA Rams pro football team.

CHIMNEY MIRROR

Marcelle & Frank Ikeler

TEL. 302-M
WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

ROUTE 2
Directly opposite Howard Johnson's
Breakfast Served

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY SCHOOL of LAW

Admits Men and Women

Registration

Day and Evening Programs — September 13 to 15, 1948

Early application is necessary

Veterans accepted under G. I. Bills

47 MT. VERNON STREET BOSTON 8, MASSACHUSETTS
Telephone KEamora 6-5500

INSURANCE BROKERS

TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

KEEP YOUR FORD'S

Showroom Complexion BRIGHT

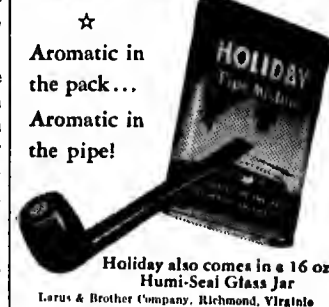

Expert body and fender repairs done the FORD WAY ... with special FORD equipment and finishing materials. Reasonable prices.

The Smith Baker Co.

INCORPORATED
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

HOLIDAY

The Most Talked About
Pipe Mixture in America

Holiday also comes in a 16 oz. Humi-Seal Glass Jar
Lorus & Brother Company, Richmond, Virginia

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue

NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Telephone 3553

Mahogany or Maple Framed Mirrors

with picture in top panel of WILLIAMS CAMPUS in 1850.

$14.00

Sent anywhere in the United States

NEW DRAPERIES

TAVERN CANDLES

George M. Hopkins Co.

Spring Street

Phone 29-R

TACONIC

TUESDAY thru THURSDAY

Escape Me Never

ERROL FLYN
IDA LUPINO

plus

Selected Short Featurettes

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

It Had To Be You

GINGER ROGERS
CORNEL WILDE

SPECIAL MATINEE

ONE SHOWING ONLY

'The Informer'

Wednesday, March 17
4:00 P.M. $4.00

FAIRFIELD'S FARM
GUERNSEY MILK
D. J. GALUSHA
Telephone 121
Williamstown, Mass.

FOR SALE

Easy Chair, 9 x 12 Axminster
Rug, 8 x 9 Linoleum Rug, and Combination Bed Davenport

All new

MR. COOPER

Day Phone 887

Night Phone 884-J

If it's

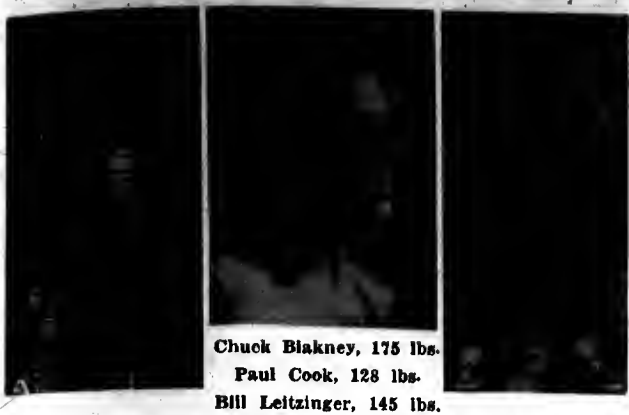

BORDEN'S

It's got to be good

LADY BORDEN'S ICE CREAM

105 Holden Street

"Hail The Victors"

Chuck Blakney, 175 lbs.
Paul Cook, 128 lbs.
Bill Leitzinger, 145 lbs.

The men pictured above represent the three Williams men who won New England Mat titles last Saturday in Lasell Gymnasium.

Blakney Spills Favored Roush fault. Turpin and Hall took second.

Five Ephmen, Cook, Leitzinger, North, Blakney and Stillwell, won Friday night and were slated for the play-off Saturday. Coast Guard equalled this figure with five finalists. MIT and Tufts fielded two each and Amherst and Springfield retained one survivor apiece.

With the stage set, and with a capacity audience in the Lasell Gym Saturday afternoon, the show was on. At 121 lbs. MIT's Deptula won over Guschke of Springfield; because of an injury received in this match, Guschke forfeited the consolation match, and second place, to Turpin.

Williams Leads

Captain Paul Cook took a 7-3 decision over Hay of Coast Guard tallying five points for the victory. Raymond of MIT received third place in this weight class. The 136 lb. match was a repeat of the 121 lb. result. Rynick of Coast Guard beat Lamberto of Tufts and left the latter unable to wrestle Hall in a consolation match. Hank Hall, therefore, finished second and Lamberto third.

Bill Leitzinger's triumph over Thompson of Coast Guard at 145 lbs. earned Williams its second first place in the play-off. MIT's Hagerty also downed Thompson to set the score at 20 points for Williams and 12 for the nearest competitor, Coast Guard.

Perhaps the most disappointing match from the Eph point of view was Grant North's loss to Gil Boyd of Tufts at 155 lbs. Starting out on top, North suffered a complete reversal toward the end of the first and ultimately was pinned by Boyd, who had received the same treatment from North in the dual meet with Tufts. DuPeza of Coast Guard also won over North to capture second place. The 185 lb. class was the only category in which Williams didn't place. MIT's Whit Maury won a first, Sandy Keith of Amherst was second, and Captain Jim Clune of Coast Guard

Cook To Compete In National Wrestling

Captain Paul Cook, newly crowned New England wrestling king at 128 pounds, will compete in the National Championship at Lehigh College in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania next Friday and Saturday.

Paul is undefeated this season, but fought to a draw Pick Fusco of Hofstra in the last dual meet of the year. There is the possibility of a rubber match, with Fusco planning to compete at Bethlehem also.

Strict Olympic and International rules prevail at the Nationals, which are actually pre-Olympic tryouts for 1948. Scoring and judging differ from the New England system, a factor which Coach Bullock thinks may handicap Cook to some extent.

FOR SALE

1947 Dodge

Call North Adams 2190

Between 6:00 & 7:00

tallied a third.

Blakney Downs Roush

In one of the brightest spots of the meet Chuck Blakney won a 6-4 decision over Jim Roush at 175 lbs. For Roush, the only Amherst finalist, this marked the first defeat in two years. At Amherst two weeks ago, Blakney lost a 10-3 decision to him. As a result of this outcome, Williams was certain of victory. Roush forfeited second place to Dick Lemmerman of MIT.

At Unlimited, John Stillwell was pinned by Starr of Coast Guard but in a consolation match won over Wentworth of Springfield to register a second place.

In the presentation ceremony after the meet, presided over by Esty Foster, the Williams' manager, President Baxter awarded medals to the Champions and runners-up in both the Varsity and Freshman teams. Paul Cook, as Captain, also received the Rockwell Cup Trophy in behalf of the team.

Frosh Matmen NE Titlists

Perry, Shorb, Carleton
Delisser Win Laurels

The Freshman Wrestling team carried off the New England title Saturday scoring 33 points and leaving their nearest opposition, Springfield, by five. The other entries, Tufts and MIT, gathered 12 and 11 points respectively. At the matches Friday evening, Harv Potter's cubs won every match and the entire team was slated for the finals.

Carleton, Shorb Pin

At 121 lbs. Ken Moffat took second place being edged out by Springfield's Donecho by a referee's decision. Chuck Halleck also lost to Austin of Springfield but retained a second. In the next four matches Williams came through with a solid block of firsts. Scrubby Perry started the trend at 136 lbs. downing Powers of Tufts by decision. Paul Shorb then won by a fall over Callahan of MIT for the 145 lb. championship. In the next two classes Green Carleton and Pete Delisser won over Cepuran and Leonard of Springfield by a pin and 15-3 decision, respectively. At 175 lbs. Grange Ottley lost out to Ruehl of Springfield in the finals and then to Johnson of Tufts in a consolation match giving him a third. Don Whitehead also lost his finals match to McCool of Springfield but

See FROSH, page 4

LOOK

Over Your Shoes Today And Let Us Take Care Of Those Worn Out Soles And Run Down Heels —

LUPO'S

AT THE END OF
SPRING STREET

"Speaking of Sports"

by Bill Barney

If the winter record made by Williams athletes fails to incite college spirit and pride, it's time somebody threw in the towel. Not only did the swimmers and wrestlers snare New England titles, but they performed the remarkable achievement on the same day. Not to be outdone, the yearlings mat victory conclusively shows that winning can be habit forming. Seems like the youngsters have made a clean sweep, copping all the Little Three titles; basketball, swimming, wrestling, and squash. A goodly heritage for the class of 1952, and a sign of sound reinforcement for next year's varietals.

The human interest element forever crops up whenever important team championships are at stake, but it really took a double front seat last Saturday. Both instances follow a similar pattern. The Blakney-Roush battle royal ended a rivalry which began back in 1944 at Western Reserve Academy. As the story goes Roush was an old hand in the mat game when Chuck started in, but as the master's protegee, Blakney picked up the fundamentals, but nary a victory from the shifty Roush. By quirk of coincidence, one went to Amherst, the other to Williamstown. Last year Chuck won all his matches but one. Until the Amherst-Williams contest two weeks ago, he had had a perfect record until a certain Jim Roush dropped him 10-3 on a one-sided decision. Late Saturday afternoon, the 175 pound crown went to Blakney by a 6-4 count. Jim had lost the only bout of his career except for a fluke loss in high school, when as sophomore, he tripped himself on a mat crease to give his opponent an unearned win. Blakney in defeating the master, concluded his collegiate wrestling campaign. Roush returns next year.

In the swimming pool parallel, Captain Adin Merrow, last year's backstroke champ, was dethroned by Ephman Hank Wineman. The feat might not seem so unusual save for the fact that Hank had thrice been whipped by the Bowdoin ace, rather decisively in the 1947 New England, but not so this year. In a dual meet here both men broke the record, and Wineman was again second best. But Saturday the tables turned, and the fastest backstroke artist Bob Muir has ever had set the only 1948 NEISA record, 1:36.7. It was Merrow's last race and only defeat in the last two years. Wineman has two more seasons

Coach Snively's Hockey squad, piled up one or two wins a few weeks back which won't soon be forgotten, 2-2 draw with West Point and a 3-2 edge over an embarrassed bunch of Princeton prodigies who claimed they were tired from a game the night before. Seems that the boys from Berkshire county had played the night before, too, against a strong Army team which had trimmed Yale. In retrospect, the team did well... no rink, intermittent practice, and a big-time schedule are a tough combo. Houseparty weekend climaxed the pucksters' activities with a gratifying 4-1 triumph over the NYAC, the same outfit which had clipped the Ephmen's wings previously in the season. Shades of 1942 and an echo of a 19-7 football upset in Tigertown!

Varsity basketball, winning but six of their fifteen games, placed second to Wesleyan in the Little Three, twice nipping the Jeffs despite "Shoulders" Kelley. Jack Mason's twenty-three points highlighted the closing 81-49 tilt March 6.

As Little Three champs, Chaffee's squash team for '48-'49 should be hot since it will be bolstered by a currently strong freshman contingent which smothered Yale 9-0.

The Fencing farce reached an all time high when the captain of the coachless foilers failed to show for the Little Three encounter. He had a part in "Golden Boy."

A belated banquet to third place Grange Ottley who spotted his opponents 30 lbs. in the N. E. 175 lb. frosh mat clash.

Huntington, Bens'n Fencers Lose In Little Three Meet

Co-Captains Coleman Year's High Scorers

With the closing of the hockey season last week, the Williams varsity hockey team elected Charlie Huntington and Tom Benson to head the team as co-captains next year.

Huntington takes over the position for the second time, for he was also captain of this year's squad. He is a member of Chi Psi Fraternity and belongs to the Williams Christian Association.

Playing on the first varsity line this year, both Huntington and Benson were very strong players for the team. The latter, a member of Psi Upsilon, was a consistent high scorer, and along with Huntington and Doug Coleman, scored 11 points during the season for three-way scoring honors. Benson held down the right wing position while Huntington played center.

The hopes of the Purple fencers to end their victory-less season on a note of triumph were decidedly crushed last Saturday afternoon, when the bladesmen managed to eke out only nine wins in thirty-six matches in the Little Three meet at Amherst.

The coachless Ephmen trailed both Wesleyan and Amherst in the saber, but did manage to squeeze past the Sabrinas for a second place in the foil — mainly through the efforts of Woody Dickerman, whose 4-2 record gave him the title of being the only Williams man to win more matches than he lost.

The results of the individual matches were: in the foil, Dickerman 4-2, Kurt Joa 2-4, Tom Brown 1-5, and in the saber, Chuck Webber 0-6, Paul Rich 1-5, and Fred Schwarzmann 1-5.

tion while Huntington played center.

KING'S PACKAGE STORE

Always a complete stock of the following CANNED Beers and Ales.

Look Over This List Of America's Finest . . .

BEVERWICK
BALLANTINE
BLATZ
GENESSE
GOEBEL
HAMPDEN
IRISH CREAM
KRUEGER
NARRAGANSETT
PABST
RUPPERT
SCHMIDT
SCHLITZ

Assorted Wines and Champagnes

Open Til 11:00 P. M.

L to R (first row): Hydeman, Rueckert, Hammond, Wineman (co-capt.), Lambert ('47-'48 capt.), Baldwin, (co-capt.), Brashears, Svenson, Stowers; (2nd row): Bernhard, Gentles, Burbank, Murray, Lamot, Warren, Coale, Reid, Arnold, Louis; (3rd row): Wheeler, mgr. Muir, Coach, Mohring, asst. mgr.

Fifth NE Crown For Muir

three-yard lead, and Brown's Milt Brier hoisted Brown into third, a yard behind Williams' Swede Svenson. When the three free-stylers came to the finish line, there was not more than a foot between first, Jim McKelvey, second Bill Rueckert, and third, Pete Grant. Brown had slit the MIT pool record by .5 seconds with its 3:04.7 time.

The 220 continued the meet's rapid pace, as Ephman Ray Baldwin repeated his 1947 NEISA win. Just two yards behind him was Reid, and only one more yard, Bowdoin's Ingraham. Lambert, in spite of his shoulder, placed fifth. In fact, he was so close to fourth that one of the fourth-place judges picked him for the slot. Unfortunately, both fifth-place judges picked him fifth.

Four At Once

The 50 was one of the closest races seen in a long time. The first four men appeared to touch the wall at exactly the same time, and Williams' Moe Murray, who took fifth, was only a foot or so behind. As the judges saw it, Amherst's Lou Ball was the victor.

Once again Springfield dominated the dive. Manuel Sevilla, with 103.9 points was first, and Bill Campbell was second. Williams' Al Hydeman was not quite able to keep the pace, and placed sixth, a scant 1.68 points behind Lennie Gath of Bowdoin.

Ball, Jenkins Swap

Connecticut's Charlie Jenkins won the 100, and Ball took second.

By popular acclaim the
RICHMOND GRILL
is the place to go for
FOOD and DRINKS

Richmond
Hotel

NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.

On sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newsstands

Berkshire Optical Company

Prescription Optician

Courteous, efficient and Prompt

Repair Service

Broken Lenses or Frames

FRANK PROVENCHER, Proprietor

2nd Floor of the Kimbell Building,

Phone North Adams 1136

Letter - - -

There are advantages and disadvantages of Fall Rushing but it seems to be the general opinion that it is preferable to Spring Rushing. Under my proposal, they would be denied none of their present privileges with the single exception of eating regularly at the Fraternities and Club.

(3) Fraternities - would find their messing situation greatly eased than is now the case. I recognize that when the College is fully returned to "normal" that congestion would be eased somewhat. Mr. Ezra Rippe III (Williams '32, and Gargoyle) wrote me that "if memory serves, the revenue derived from freshmen in the "normal" times for meals had a direct bearing on the ability of the social units to maintain a good menu."

(4) Frequent associations of the Freshman Class as a whole, each day, would bring more Freshmen into closer fellowship and acquaintance with each other just that much sooner. Many Freshmen have complained to me that they cannot come to know very many of their class unless they engage in more athletic and extra-curricular activities than they have any right to undertake - and still handle their studies at all well. Paul M. Jacobs (Williams '37, Gargoyle, and President of the Garfield Club) wrote me: "I think that class spirit and morale have always been neglected on the Williams Campus. Were such a plan to be adopted and followed through four years of college, class spirit would be so improved that I can visualize the welfare of the college being enhanced by class insurance in a more successful scale and even perhaps improving the present alumni apathy in the drive now under way."

(5) The Freshman Officers would then be in a position to deal effectively with their class as a whole, as real leaders on all matters relevant to Freshman life at Williams. As more men came to know each other unity and spirit would emerge. The Freshman Class as a whole would become more fully integrated, active, and able to work for the best interests of all its members and the College.

(6) A Freshman Commons would provide a place for weekly meetings. The Freshmen would then be of real service to their respective social units at the unit meetings. They would be in a position to talk intelligently about their problems and interest as their Class as a whole faces them.

(7) In their Sophomore year, when they split up for eating at their respective social units, Class Spirit, Unity, and Morale would still link them together across the campus. The present set-up precludes any such results.

(8) The present Freshman Quadrangle would be more contiguous to the sight of the proposed new Garfield Club, and would be more convenient to those members of the Club not living in the Club rooms. The same would apply to Fraternity men. Walking three times a day for meals from North Street to the Berkshire Quadrangle and back is no joke, as those living in Greylock Hall well realize.

(9) I do not know the rooming capacities of the respective buildings in the two quadrangles. But I do believe that in three or four years when the College has returned to the semblance of "normality" (World War III expected), the witch might be made to the benefit of all students who would be likely to live in those quadrangles.

(10) In this way the Currier Hall Facilities (with its modern up-to-date kitchen facilities), and the two Quadrangles could be better utilized at their maximum, with concomitant convenience too student concerned. Should the temporary Navy annex be removed, as is planned, there is the real problem as to whether the small dining room in Currier could feed 250 Freshmen ("normal" class) with any degree of facility.

Please give this your consideration. We cannot wait until after the new Garfield Club is built. We ought to do so now. Let's bring this whole problem out into the open, now. Let's get views from Alumni, Undergraduates, and the Administration.

Respectfully submitted,
Newton P. Darling, Jr. '48
March 9, 1948

Swimming - - -

Morrow (Bow), Whitton (S), Lamot (W), Patrell (Br), time 1:38.7 (new NEISA record); 200 breast, won by Brier (Br), G. Forbes (Wes), Soltyslak (Bow), Farnsworth (U. of C.), Hoefler (S), time 2:27.7; 440, won by Reid (W), Lambert (W), Ingraham (Bow), Malthaner (S), Wilson (Br), time 4:57.3; 300 Individual medley, won by Morrow (Bow), Kraye (S), Soltyslak (Bow), Lamot (W), Dann (MIT), time 3:50.4; 400 free relay, won by Williams (Murray, Brashears, Rueckert, Baldwin), MIT, Brown, Springfield, Amherst, time 3:40.3.

Frosh - - -

rallied in his play-off to take a second.

Four Champs
After the meet, Perry, Shorb, Carleton, and DeLisser received their well-earned championship medals from Pres. Baxter and appropriately concluded their undefeated season.

KRONICK'S ESSO SERVICE STATION

Complete Car Lubrication
Gas - Oil - Accessories

State Road - Opp. Howard Johnson

Comment - - -

Comment, and it will be made up primarily of student articles. One fact that the organization wishes to stress is that the enterprise is open to everyone on campus who is interested in writing, drawing, and editorial or business work. There will be a faculty contribution in the first issue of Comment by Prof. John Miller on Existentialism.

80 Pages

Heading the business board are Albert Adkins '50, and Harold Santee '50. In a statement concerning the physical aspect of Comment, Adkins said that the magazine would be printed on rough paper with black and white drawings to keep the cost down. The pages will be six inches by nine inches, and the magazine itself will be fifty to sixty pages long. 500 copies of Comment are to be printed at a total cost of around $320, and will be priced at thirty-five cents a copy.

Adkins said, "I think we will be able to meet the costs - about $150 from Williamstown proper - and the rest from outside. Also we have low advertising rates." He pointed out that although the magazine does not have any national advertisements, a few may yet be obtained from book publishers.

SAC Status

The status of the new magazine with the SAC is not definite. The issue appearing in the middle of April will be merely an experimental one. After publication, the situation will be reviewed as to the effect of the new magazine on the other publications, and as to its own financial standing.

Gul - - -

standard features of past year-books. The group pictures of activities and social units, which will be sold separately in April, have turned out very well, according to Dorsey. It is also reported that the "Class History" is of better than average quality. One innovation of this issue will be the first appearance of pictures of the freshman football squad.

Although the March 15 deadline has passed, social units may still have their informal shots placed in the book by putting them in the Gul mailbox in Jesup Hall immediately.

W M S - - -

music director of the station, Williams Holt '51, sound director, and Pete Bigler '50, assistant technician of WMS, aided in producing the program.

Discussion - - -

main interests of the group are academic tenure, standard procedure for regular promotions, and the maintenance of civil rights and academic freedom.

In the election of officers Prof. Richard A. Newhall was chosen to supplant Associate Prof. Luther Mansfield in the president's chair and Asst. Prof. Anthony Plansky was reelected as secretary.

"I've smoked Chesterfields for years
I know THEY SATISFY"

Betty Hutton

STARRING IN
"DREAM GIRL"
A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

WHY I smoke Chesterfield

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"I smoke Chesterfield. I think it's a good cigarette. It has a real good tobacco flavor."

"Liggett & Myers buy a good percentage of my best tobaccos...mild, ripe, sweet tobaccos. When they see a basket of tobacco they want they pay the top price to get it."

J. J. Harrelson
TOBACCO FARMER, YANCEYVILLE, N. C.

The Williams Record

READER:

There are still over twenty issues remaining in this term. Get a subscription for your family, your girl, and yourself NOW! - The cost - $2.00.

Name

Street

City and State

Cut out and mail this blank to—

THE WILLIAMS RECORD

Williamstown, Mass.

CHESTERFIELD

ALWAYS Milder BETTER TASTING COOLER SMOKING

The Williams Record

Volume LXII

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1948

Number 4

Yacht Club To Take Charge Of Spring Houseparty

UC Favors Expansion Of College Skiing

College Ring Decided Necessary; To Cost Approximately $30

Approval of the Yacht Club's bid to sponsor the Spring Houseparty and the passage of a resolution favoring the expansion of college skiing facilities highlighted the Undergraduate Council meeting Monday night.

Because it was felt that classes were too loosely knit to allow effective organization, the UC vetoed the Record's plan to have the sophomore class stage the coming houseparty, and granted permission to the Yacht Club, the only organization to bid for the right before the Monday night deadline.

Ski Coach
The skiing resolution recommended that the Athletic Council hire a coach to supervise a regular physical training and intramural program, plan the winter carnival, and give instructions to ski teams. It was later amended to propose a reallocation of the money given to other sports, if no additional funds are available.

In proposing the resolution, Ernest T. Greeff '38 argued that Amherst already had a ski coach and that "Williams would miss the boat" if the school didn't put more emphasis on skiing soon. He estimated that 600 undergraduates were interested in the sport and pointed out that Professor Rockwell, who has acted as an unofficial coach, will not be able to do any work with the sport next year.

School Ring
The UC passed a motion recognizing definite need for a school ring, after a petition favoring such a ring, which was signed by 360 undergraduates, was submitted by DeLancey Rochester '49. Rochester showed a design for a ring which will cost about $30, and wants to be granted a charter to sell it if enough students are interested.

Dean Robert R. Brooks announced that the Discipline Committee had acted on four cases, and that two students had been put on one month's disciplinary warning for the illegitimate use of a fire extinguisher and unauthorized removal of a book from the library. He also said that there had been a large number of violations of school parking regulations and that he would give two weeks suspensions of driving permits to any students getting tickets.

The Council decided to allow the Nominations and Rules Committee to nominate a chairman for the proposed undergraduate fund drive. UC President Henry Dewey '48 pointed out that Smith College undergraduates had already raised $50,000 for their college fund drive.

No Common Courtesy
Dewey also stated that a number of students had complained about the lack of common courtesy in chapel services. He asked anyone having any suggestions on how to eliminate reading and loud talking during services to contact any UC member.

He announced a complaint by local authorities that someone had been making a habit of dismantling the phone in the west entry of Morgan. The authorities threaten to remove the phone if the practice does not cease, he said.

WMS Elects New Board of Directors

Wallace Barnea '49, was elected President of WMS by the station's board of directors March 7 to succeed Richard Morrill '48.

Frederick Peyser '50 was chosen as Business Manager and SAC representative, and Giles Kelly '49, has taken over as Program Director. New Chief Controlman is James Burbank '50, and the announcing staff is now being directed by Chief Announcer Gerald Youngman '49.

New head of the popular music department is Walter L. Olson '49. Aiding the above men in producing programs is the Technical Director, Norton Cushman '49, and the new IBS representative, Peter Bigler, '50.

New Comic Strip Written By Jones

'47 Graduate Submits Cartoons To 'Tribune'

David T. Jones '47 entered the cartooning field Sunday, March 14 when his comic strip entitled "Uncle Charlie" made its initial appearance in the New York Herald Tribune. The creator, now teaching at St. Johnsbury academy, revealed in a trip to Williamstown last week that he actually drew the cartoons last summer, but only recently was able to get them published on a trial basis.

As a Williams student Jones was instrumental in forming the Purple Cow and served as Art Editor of the magazine until his graduation last June. Also musically talented, he collaborated with Charles A. Wimpfheimer F'49 to compose the Garfield Club song, "He's a Club Man."

Musically Inclined
Last summer Jones, Wimpfheimer and See NEW COMIC, page 4

Enterprising Photo Service Reveals Darkroom Secrets

by Dick Heur '50
Although never breaking into the news as a result of weekly meetings or bi-annual elections of officers, as most other organizations, the Williams Photo Service is nevertheless an important organization on the campus, and it promises to be even more so in the near future.

With the opening of a new portrait studio over the Williamstown Bank March 10, the student photographers hope to gain additional experience and convince the Gul editors of their ability to take the senior pictures next year. The Photo Service also plans to compete with the professional photographers employed by the fraternities.

In one year it has, without SAC aid, acquired $500 worth of equipment and a portrait studio and has steadily improved the quality of its work. One comes upon the workroom of this enterprising group by passing through the men's room in Jesup Hall and down a flight of squeaking stairs to the basement. There one encounters not as expected, a big "Keep Out—Darkroom," but a small, unobtrusive "Key may be obtained in 12 Morgan." It is a small, L-shaped room with a low, built-in ceiling and the masses of black equipment fluster the uninitiated layman whose only experience has been with an old and battered "Brownie." According to Ed Rogers '50, the darkroom is an "ideal setup," and, its two sinks and three enlargers, is equipped for mass production

Purple Sailors Schedule Races

Mariners Elect Davis Commodore of Club

Sailing, although unsuited to Williamstown environment, has gained the wholehearted support of many students. The Williams Yacht Club is one of the least known of the college organizations, perhaps it has never been seen in action on its home waters. The official waters of the club are listed as Lake Pontonauac, near Pittsfield, but the sailors lack boats with which to make use of these facilities.

Undaunted by this handicap, Williams sailors have continued to participate actively in intercollegiate regattas. The club was organized in 1929, and became a regular member of the year-old Intercollegiate Racing Association. The present membership of the I. C. Y. R. A. consists of twenty-four regular member clubs and twenty associates extending from the Atlantic to Lake Michigan and from the St. Lawrence to the Potomac Rivers.

Good Record
Although forced to compete without benefit of practice, the Eph mariners have fared amazingly well. Although most of the old records have been lost, there have been at least two major championships captured by the Purple club. In 1939, Bob Bavler, Jr., and Stan Turner won the Intercollegiate Championships in the McMillan Cup series. In that year the races were sailed in Atlantic Class sloops.

In 1944, Bill Nagle and Archie MacLay sailed to a first place in the National Championship races in the International Star Class. Both championships were captured from such formidable opponents as Harvard, Yale, Coast Guard, M. I. T., Princeton and Brown. In smaller regattas, Williams has usually finished among the leaders in all types of boats.

Bright Future
With an eye on the conquests of the past, the Yacht Club is looking forward to a full schedule of regattas this spring. The club plans to send crews to race in the See PURPLE SAILORS, page 4

Crime Wave Hits Billville

Dorm Robberies, Car Theft Keep Royal Busy

Chief George Royal of the local police has been kept busy this week by further developments in the still unsolved mystery of the recent dormitory robberies and by two hit and run accidents, at least one of which involved a Williams student, that occurred at almost the same spot within a period of four hours Tuesday.

At 4 p. m., an undergraduate's car turned off Main Street into Cole Avenue, skidded half way around, and smashed into the rear end of another car. Without stopping, the driver returned to Main Street and was last seen heading toward the college.

"The car's owner is known," said Royal, "but we have reason to believe that he wasn't driving at the time."

Stolen Car
At 8 p. m. the same day, someone stole a car from Spring Street, which is owned by William T. Widen of Gale Avenue. A few minutes later, the automobile side-swiped another car at the foot of the hill near East College, tearing a fender off it, and skidded into a third car which had stopped for the signal at Water Street. Both cars were severely damaged, and one of the occupants of the third car, Charles Bashara of Adams, suffered a cut which almost severed his jugular vein. The car thief was seen running down Southworth Street, but the police were unable to find him.

"We haven't discarded the possibility that a Williams student might have stolen the car," the chief said.

Walking into his room Monday, William H. Ward '50, who lost $70 in the March 5 dormitory robberies, surprised a stranger who claimed to be looking for "William Green." Suspicious, Ward went to the Dean's office to report the matter, but by the time the police had been called, the stranger had vanished.

Gargoyles Hold Annual Dinner

Baxter, Watters Speak At New York Meeting

Attended by Pres. James P. Baxter 3rd and ten undergraduates, the annual Gargoyle dinner was held at the Williams Club of New York, March 12, with Len Watters as guest speaker.

President Baxter spoke for a short time after dinner on free education. He said that it is of the utmost importance today to have free education without interference or pressure from interested groups.

Gene Detmer '48, President of Gargoyle, mentioned some of the work the society has been doing on campus, so that alumni would feel more connected with the undergraduates. He cited examples such as the current polling project which will determine campus opinion of Williams extracurricular activities.

A question period was held after the few speeches, which any of the approximate 100 persons present was at liberty to ask any other person any question that he desired.

Van Doren Supports United World Federalist Government

Mark Van Doren

Stark Speaks At Delta U.

Discusses Export-Import As Business Career

John Stark '38, speaking to 55 undergraduates in the DU House last Monday night on "Export-Importing as a Career," said, "It is a fascinating business," but he strongly urged anyone contemplating entering it to think it over carefully before committing himself.

"To be successful in the export-importing business," he said, "a person must have an inherent knack for shrewd trading; a person so qualified is a rare occurrence these days."

Business Problems
The problems of the export-importing firm are largely ones of finding the right answers to such questions as "What can I sell to whom where?" and "How can I sell it to receive a maximum amount of profit?" To answer these adequately a sound knowledge of consumer preferences the world over and of the United States Government's financial and foreign policies is necessary.

Mr. Stark pointed out that today the problem of finance is a major one, for there is such a small amount of American dollars at the disposal of foreign countries. Because the Marshall Plan would facilitate an expansion of American currency abroad, many export-import firms today are vitally interested in seeing it or a similar plan adopted in Congress. Tariff barriers also concern the business prospects in this field.

Rhetorical Contest On April Schedule

Impromptu Speaking Basis For Awards

Two prizes of thirty-five and fifteen dollars are being offered to the winners of an impromptu speaking contest to be held shortly after Spring vacation in April.

The contest, known as the Ellsbur Smith Rhetorical Contest, will be open only to Juniors and Seniors. It is being run by Professor George Connelly of the Public Speaking Department.

Strictly Impromptu
The speeches for the contest will be three minute address, with no preparation beforehand. The contestants will receive a choice of three timely subjects upon entering the room, and the delivery will be completely impromptu.

Registration for the competition was held yesterday in Professor Connelly's office.

World Legislation Only Salvation; To Stop War

Asserts Soviets Seek Peace, But War Due Sooner Or Later

Mark Van Doren, addressing an overflow crowd in Jesup Hall last Thursday night, stated that we shall definitely have another war "unless we have the one thing capable of making war unnecessary, world federal government."

Speaking on "Must We Fight Again", Van Doren said that the question of when war will come is insoluble, since "from now on accident and fear make it possible for anything to happen." He felt that we must have a world authority which "will let us live together though we may hate each other" and which will abolish the "idiotical, expensive, and impractical process of war."

Last Three Years
Reviewing the three years since the spring of 1945, he described the pattern leading to the present crisis, which has developed in the absence of world government. All nations, he maintained, have presented each other with a series of apparent threats, justifying their actions in the name of security and peace.

"Whatever has contributed to the next war has been done as a contribution to peace," he stated. Van Doren felt that Russia had been acting solely in the interest of peace since the wars close, but that a mutual antagonism had been established because Russia has regarded the United States as her enemy ever since 1917.

"I want differences between nations to continue," Van Doren remarked, "but all people look alike in helmets and gas masks." Nations individually striving for peace and expanding for security are bringing on the next war. Van Doren suggested world law as the only solution, since at present each country is only attempting to impose its peculiar brand of law on the rest of the world.

Forfeit Sovereignty
Stating that all nations will have to forfeit their sovereignty to a world government, Van Doren said that we would only lose the right "to commit suicide. To become strong is to destroy oneself" was his opinion, since such a process leads inevitably to war.

He expressed his dismay at the tragic way in which people had depended on the United Nations to accomplish "what an association of enemy sovereign nations" can not do. Under the UN, he was convinced, "A foreign minister is a blindfolded man leading other blindfolded people through a sea of chance."

World Federalists
Van Doren drew a parallel between the existence of the forty-eight states under our federal constitution and the set-up of the world's nations under world government. Sovereign nations are by definition, he asserted, the natural enemy of every other nation.

Speaking on behalf of the United World Federalists, he said that our congress would act on a resolution suggesting a world government conference if the congress and American people were honestly interested in world peace.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lomb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editor-in-Chief: Seth M. Bidwell, '49
Managing Editor: Joseph F. Dorsey, '49
Sports Editor: William R. Barney, '49
Senior Associate Editor: Charles Klensch, '48
Associate Editors: Russell Platt '48, J. J. Cole '49, John S. Schofer '49, Charles E. Utley '49
Editorial Staff: 1949—K. Armstrong, J. Greene, P. Stites. 1950—H. Baker, M. Behre, S. Blaschke, P. Collins, K. Delany, W. Fawcett, J. Gibson, J. Golding, E. Gounlock, R. Heuer, H. Mohring, D. Pugh, L. Scofield, J. Shep-ardson, W. Stern, N. Van Horne, N. Wood. 1951—E. Jones, B. Perry, F. Reiche, D. Ruder, F. Wiseman
Business Managers: Thomas Healy, Jr., '50, Dudley Irwin, III, '50
Assistant Business Manager: John Prescott, '50
Advertising Manager: Edward Stockhouse, '50
Circulation Manager: Lon Homeier, '50
Treasurer: Roland Polmedo, '50

Volume LXII

MARCH, 20, 1948

Number 4

Unknown Qualities

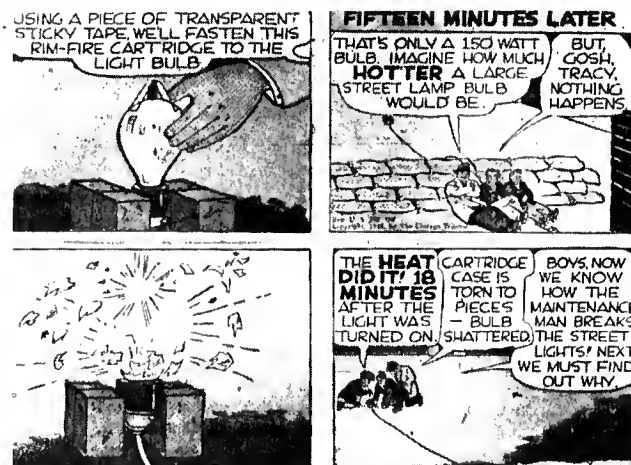

Extra-curricular activities all assume relative degrees of importance according to the amount of interest each develops on the campus. The success of obscure activities thus is fostered by the interest, and at times sacrifice, of the founders and members of the organization. For years, the people of these activities perform numerous services and contribute considerably to the prestige of the College with little or no recognition for such services.

Elsewhere in this paper are accounts of three such organizations—notably, the Yacht Club, the Williams Photo Service, and the ski team. Throughout the past years, these organizations have been in a state of non-recognition as far as the College is concerned. None have received aid from the SAC and yet all have been maintained through the efforts of a few energetic people.

The ski team has finally been allowed a coach in recognition of the interest, service, and aid to the College. The other organizations, however, still remain independent and unknown organizations. Obviously, such activities do not merit the same consideration as the football team or any other similar major activity. They do, however, merit appreciation of their value.

The Record, therefore, has attempted to give these activities their long over-due acclaim and hopes that in the near future the holders of the purse-strings will see fit to give them some very necessary financial aid for some very necessary contributions to college life.

RECORD Ballistics Specialist Proves Dick Tracy All Wet

Alarmed by what he considered to be gross exaggeration of physical laws, ballistics attaché of the RECORD homicide department, "Phearless Phil" Collins, Wednesday flouted the veracity of a comic-strip experiment conducted Sunday by Dick Tracy, renowned syndicated sleuth.

Tracy's contention that a .22 calibre rim fire bullet could be exploded by eighteen minutes' direct contact with a 150 watt light bulb (see cut) troubled Collins's stout devotion to scientific truth and method.

In the RECORD's outdoor firing range near Lehmann Hall, he faithfully reproduced the experiment as depicted in Sunday's Dick Tracy strip.

Collins attached the cartridge to the top of the light bulb with scotch tape, and after supporting the lamp and socket between two beer cans (bricks, as suggested by Tracy, were not available), he repaired with three witnesses to a safe vantage point within Lehmann Hall.

At 3:55 p. m., EST, witness Charles Klensch, Senior Associate Editor of the RECORD, flicked on the lamp switch and started the stop watch. The four men exchanged silent glances of mutual confidence in the success of their project.

After eighteen minutes had passed, a faint smile flickered across "Phearless Phil's" face, for that was the time, according to Tracy, that the bullet should explode.

But for forty more minutes they waited in tense muteness, observing the apparatus which was immersed in the afternoon sunlight in order to receive as much heat as possible. More than an hour's exposure had failed to explode the bullet.

When the lamp had been extinguished, the ballistics expert removed the cartridge and handed it to each of the witnesses. "Why!" exclaimed Klensch, "It's hardly warm."

"I was confident," declared Collins, "that nowhere nearly enough heat could be conducted to the powder in the shell to set it off." Air convection around it, he explained, sufficed to keep it well below the critical temperature.

"I don't wish to smash idols," modestly asserted the physicist, "I think Dick Tracy is as first-rate a strip as I've ever seen... but," and his countenance flushed, "It leaves a bad taste in my mouth to see misrepresented scientific fact go unchallenged."

Collins did not say, however, whether he would turn in his Junior Crime Stoppers badge.

Cum Grano Salis

by Josiah T. S. Horton

Once to every man and idiot comes the moment when he must write a letter to the editor of a newspaper or combust spontaneously. For this reason Cum Grano Salis is often gently given, the heave-ho from its accustomed place to make room for the utterances of subscribers. Last week we of the Williams reading public were treated to a letter from some things at Ohio Wesleyan University who called themselves—not without cause, I suppose—"The Boys"; not "The Jolly Boys" or even "The Flying Boys", but just "The Boys."

It is a breach of Record policy (that nebulous thing) to publish unsigned epistles, but it seemed such a shrieking shame to disregard this one. After all, it was obvious that "The Boys" had spent several sleepless and drunken hours trying to rake up from their minds something which would be so spittingly humorous as to perpetuate the name of Ohio Wesleyan on the Williams campus as the dwelling place of a race of immortal wits.

As is my practice—and it isn't a pleasant one, I assure you—I shall answer their letter with one of my own. Before I begin, let me plead with those maladjusted few who will insist upon writing more letters of this sort that they follow the example of those intelligent and tasteful readers who send me letters of praise. Send them to me rather than to the RECORD. That way they won't be published and we can carry on perfectly lovely little intimate feuds without the entire list of RECORD subscribers looking on. After repeating a procedure such as this several times, it loses any tendency toward humor which it might have had at one time. And I do hate to clutter the column with stuff that isn't funny. Anyway, here's the letter.

Dear "The Boys,"

How perfectly divine of you to write me that little note. You'll be happy to know that you won a bet for me. I had wagered a double martini that people in western colleges could read 1 lost another bet, though, I thought they could write, too. Well, no matter. What's past is past, and I hate to bother you with my little troubles.

You know, the oddest thing happened. Immediately upon receiving your communication, I rushed to the RECORD exchange files to find a copy of the Ohio Wesleyan TRANSCRIPT. I found two which were just sort of sitting there smelling up the office. The odd thing is that they were dated respectively April 29, 1947, and May 13, 1947.

Even the most broad-minded of us—and let me assure you mine is as broad as the next man's—must assume that you have been negligent in returning the RECORD'S courtesy of exchange. What cheek, you scoundrels! It isn't that we especially want your paper—the College keeps us supplied with paper of better quality—it's just that our feelings are hurt to think that you don't care enough for us to include Williams on your exchange list.

Well, when I found the two issues, I immediately turned to the columns with which mine had been compared so unfavorably. The result was a great surge of gratification which swept over me and returned my usual good nature. I hate to do this to you, but I want to quote from a little gem called "100% PROOF" by Helen Mitchell and "Liz" Manuel. The former is probably a girl, but "Liz" might well be one of "The Boys."

Here is a sample of the type of tripe which makes mine look so fallow and utterly triphish: "And speaking of proverbs and intellect, this one is definitely thought provoking: 'He who sits upon a tack shall rise again.' 'Sharp isn't it?' Now be truthful, 'The Boys.' Can you really mean that that sort of stuff looks 'great' even when compared with some of my worst stuff—for instance, when I get started on 'sex in the English Department'?"

If that doesn't convince you, look at this from the same issue: "Sara Swartz put her foot in her mouth the other day. She claimed that as yet no man on campus had given her a thrill. Well, fellows, how about that are you men of mice?" Well, fellows, how about that last sentence? Those copyreaders who find such fun digging errors from CUM GRANO SALIS—which prides itself on its relative lack of errors—might well spend their time putting in little commas where they belong and making sentences make some sense. We'll pass over the subject matter and style. We've all been in grammar school and therefore have seen plenty of stuff better than that. It is rather like another column which appears here occasionally.

I suppose this is getting as boring for you as it is for me, so let's end it with a few general cracks from me to you. (1) We have a class at Williams in corrective composition. We have often wondered just what happened to people who flunked it. From the looks of the original of your letter kindly doctored by our copyreaders and the old mouldy issues of your paper, it is apparent. (2) There is also a paper near us called the TRANSCRIPT, and, if it does give you any pleasure, you may be assured that you are as good as it. (3) Aren't you sorry you wrote that letter? It just took up almost an entire column which I had planned to use for an expose of crumbling college newspapers, and you ruined my chances completely.

Well, that's all. Remember, if you want to write again, don't send your letter to the RECORD, they might print it as editorial matter and lower our quality still further.

Love,
Josie.

TO MY READERS:

My room mate tells me that the letter above is not at all funny and has no place in CUM GRANO SALIS. I apologize for its lack of humor, and I know you will bear with me while I make these few necessary excursions into the realm of non-humorous writing. One must treat these people who have an apparent lack of sense of humor in the way which they will understand most easily. By next time, I shall have retained by old flippant, devil-may-care, rah rah spirit.

II

I notice that Phil Collins and that person who was demoted to my old position on the RECORD board have conducted an experiment which proves Dick Tracy wrong. This is most discouraging. I haven't actually believed in Dick Tracy for quite a while, but my mother still does. With a son in college, there are so few things left which a mother can believe in, that it seems a pity to awaken her to stern realities.

It would have been much nicer, if Phil and Chuk had proved that Little Annie Rooney is really a slut, or that Daddy Warbucks is an out and out Wallace supporter, or even that Superman can't really escape from Lois Lane all his life. Somehow it strikes me that tampering with Dick Tracy's reputation is a trifle dangerous. So many people have tried it, and not a single one has come to a good end.

We all remember Pruneface and Mrs. Pruneface and Shoulders and Al Capp. Three of them are dead, and the other one is making a million dollars. But Al Capp is just the exception that proves the rule. I'm sorry to see two such nice guys get tangled up with the greatest detective in the world and my mother.

"IT'S FROM BROOKS BROTHERS' SIXTH FLOOR SHOP"

We have planned Brooks Brothers' Sixth Floor Shop for men who like Brooks Quality and Good Taste in the Things they wear. Here men find a complete line of Suits, Shirts and Neckties...and other Clothing and Furnishings that fill their every requirement. Things that are typically Brooks...at generally lower prices.

Suits, $70 to $85 • Shirts, $4.25 and $5
Overcoats, $85 • Neckwear, $1.50 to $2.50
Pajamas, $5 and $6

ESTABLISHED 1818

Brooks Brothers
CLOTHING
Men's Furnishings, Hats & Shoes

246 MADISON AVENUE, COR. 44TH ST., NEW YORK 17, N. Y.
10 NEWBURY STREET, BOSTON 16, MASS.
LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

"Well, I can keep the Dentyne Chewing Gum, can't I?"

"What's a little rap like twenty years if I can have all I want of delicious, clean tasting Dentyne Chewing Gum. Just think—twenty years to enjoy that rich, long lasting flavor and all that time Dentyne will help keep my teeth white."

Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City

Undergraduates Always Welcome!

The favorite meeting place of Williams Men features

LADIES LOUNGE

AND

LADIES DINING ROOM

An ideal spot to entertain the family or date.

Special Room Rates for Undergraduates

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

"IT HAD TO BE YOU"

Ginger Rogers
Cornel Wilde
Plus

Ski Demons - Charlie Barnet
Sat. Eve.: Feature at 7.10, 9.30
Last Complete Show at 8.45

SUNDAY & MONDAY

"I WALK ALONE"

Burt Lancaster
Elizabeth Scott
Plus

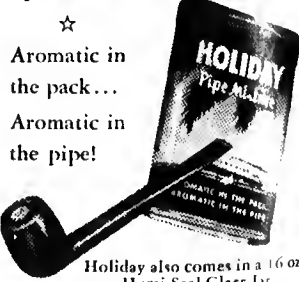

Alvino Rey and Orchestra
Sunday Continuous from 2.15
Feature at 2.45, 4.55, 7.05, 9.15
Last Complete Show 8.45

TUESDAY thru THURSDAY

"FRIEDA"

HOLIDAY

The Most Talked About
Pipe Mixture in America

Holiday also comes in a 16 oz. Humi-Seal Glass Jar

Larus & Brother Company, Richmond, Virginia

By popular acclaim the
RICHMOND GRILL
is the place to go for
FOOD and DRINKS

Richmond
Hotel

NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

Eight Mermen Go To Boston Pharm'cy Cage Team Victors For Easterns

Yale Favorite, Harvard Host; Verdeur May Square Three Events

by Norm Wood

Eight of Coach Bob Muir's newly recruited New England champions headed straight back to Boston this weekend to test their skill in the Eastern Intercollegiate Swimming Association meet at Harvard on Friday and Saturday afternoon and evenings.

Coming up a step into the bracket with Yale, La Salle, Penn., and North Carolina, the Purple will find the competition somewhat less than in last Saturday's New England. To score in the Easterns, the team needs several outstanding performances, and the Purple are a better balanced team than they are a galaxy of

Williams Enters
The Williams men could do quite well. Bob Reid and Captain Scott Lambert will swim the 440 and 880 yard freestyle relay team. The first three men in this quartet are Moe M. M., Chick Brashears and Bill R. R. Murray will enter the 500 and 1000. Brashears the 100 and 200. Hank Wineman will put his backstroke talents to work in the 100 and 200. George Coale is going on the trip as a reserve.

The teams entering the Easterns appear to be the powerhouses and will undoubtedly emerge as victors. Paced by such noted swimmers as backstroke Captain Al Stuck, who recently set a new national 150 backstroke record at 1:30, sprintman Ned Boardent, 220 man Paul Girdes, and dis-

See MERMEN, page 4

Frosh Team Triumphs In Berkshire Tourney

Wearing the white of the College Pharmacy instead of the usual Purple, the freshman basketball team thoroughly trounced the Shepard Youth of Lenox, Mass., 54-28 in the opening round of the Fourteenth Annual Berkshire County basketball tournament last Monday night.

The tournament opener, held in the tiny Pittsfield Boys Club gym saw the freshmen jump off to an early lead which they never relinquished due, chiefly, to their superiority in height. Using a two-one-two zone with six foot five inch "Squid" Sheehy and six foot three inch Bob Larsen controlling the backboards from the guard position, the Pharmacy-sponsored yearlings sported a comfortable twenty point lead at half-time.

Fraser Scores 14

The second half featured the debut of two new additions to the team. They are Norm Sweet, a six foot one inch hookshot artist, who was a high scoring forward on this year's Williamstown High five and Walt Morse, a tall, talented but hitherto unnoticed freshman. Jack Fraser, playing his best game of the season, led the scoring parade with fourteen points while Chick Pusey chipped in with his usual thirteen.

Searles High

The undefeated frosh will meet Searles High, the Western Massachusetts champions, in the quarter-final round on the 18th. This game should be a relatively slight obstacle for the high-riding drug-store cowboys as they have already taken this same team into camp by a convincing 65-47 count in an exhibition game in Great Barrington.

Ten Social Units Compete For Cup In Nine-Week Bowling Tournament

As a result of considerable interest shown on the campus, an interfraternity bowling league, comprising ten social units, has been formed and a week of competition already completed. A round-robin schedule with prizes for the winners has been arranged with all matches to be played at the local Bowlitorium on the Bennington road.

Each house will bowl every other social organization according to an approximately nine weeks schedule. A match consists of a five man team rolling three games each with a possible four points to be won. One point is given to the team with the highest total pinnage in each of the three games and the fourth point is awarded to the house knocking down the highest pinnage of the three games combined.

Mr. Gerald Reed, proprietor of the Bowlitorium, has offered a cup to be presented to the team piling up the most points during the season as well as another cup to go to the man who racks up the highest triple in one afternoon.

Standings at the end of one week's play show a three way tie for the lead between the D Phis, Garfield Club and the Phi Gams. Ted Holsten of the D Phis has rolled a high 577 triple while Dick Lesser of the Club is runner up with a 544 set. Best individual game was turned in by Woolson Brown of the Club with a snappy 221. Ted Holsten has been credited with a 223 game.

Anyone desiring information may contact Bob Warmley who is keeping the league records at the Phi Gam house. The Club, D Phis, and Phi Gams are tied up with four wins and no losses.

Varsity Spring Sports Schedule

Varsity Baseball

Apr. 21	Bowdoin	Home
Apr. 24	R.P.I.	Home
Apr. 28	Army	Away
May 1	Holy Cross	Away
May 6	Trinity	Away
May 8	Wesleyan	Home
May 11	Dartmouth	Away
May 15	Middlebury	Away
May 19	Arnold	Home
May 22	Wesleyan	Away
May 25	Villanova	Home
May 29	St. Michaels	Home
May 31	Amherst	Home
June 2	Yale	Home
June 18	Harvard	Home
June 19	Amherst	Away

Varsity Track

Apr. 17	Massachusetts	Away
Apr. 24	Middlebury	Away
May 1	Wesleyan	Away
May 7	Amherst	Home
May 12	R.P.I.	Home
May 21-22	New England's Brown	Brown
Apr. 17	Harvard	Away
Apr. 24	Springfield	Home
May 1	Tufts	Away
May 8	M.I.T.	Home
May 12	Union	Home
May 22	New Hampshire	Away
May 26	Dartmouth	Home

Varsity Lacrosse

Apr. 17	Harvard	Away
Apr. 24	Springfield	Home
May 1	Tufts	Away
May 8	M.I.T.	Home
May 12	Union	Home
May 22	New Hampshire	Away
May 26	Dartmouth	Home

Eph Skiers Take Third Place In Harvard Giant Slalom

Squash Tourney At Third Round Stage

The annual Williams squash tourney has progressed to the third round. As yet no upsets have occurred and the entire group of eight top seeded players have yet to lose a match.

Top ranked George Wright had a bye in the first round and tripped Logan 3-1 in his second round match. Second ranked Randy Thomas has won over Charley Alberti and Dan Hurlbutt while Bill Mikell, seeded third, has won over Kent and Hank VanAnda without losing a game.

Varsity Tennis

Apr. 17	Princeton
Apr. 21	Bowdoin
Apr. 23	Harvard
Apr. 28	Army
May 4	M.I.T.
May 7	Colgate
May 8	Brown
May 14-16	New England's Hanover
May 19	Wesleyan
May 21	M.I.T.
May 22	Trinity
May 28	Dartmouth
May 29	Amherst

Varsity Golf

Apr. 21	Bowdoin
Apr. 23	Hofstra
Apr. 30	Dartmouth
May 1	West Point
May 6	Middlebury
May 14-16	New England's Hanover
May 17	Brown

See SCHEDULE, page 4

Klein Leads Williams; Purple Makes Best Showing Of Season

by Wally Stern

Shattering all previous efforts and showing spectacular improvement, the Williams ski-team finished third in the Harvard Grand Slalom held at Manchester last Saturday. In so doing, the contingent upset several colleges which had downed the Purple earlier in the season.

Middlebury, one of the top teams in the country, took first place, while Dartmouth was second.

Large Field

Williams took a ninth, fifteenth, seventeenth, and a twenty-eighth place in a large field of fifty-nine to annex third position in team standings. The skiers were competing in a twelve-team field which included such colleges as Harvard, Yale, Amherst, New Hampshire and Princeton, in addition to Middlebury and Dartmouth.

Individual winner of the slalom, which was held by Harvard at Big Bromley, was Don Henderson, probably the best collegiate skier in the country. He was followed by Dartmouth's Norwegian skier, Tor Arneberg, who was considered for the US Olympic Team.

Klein First

First man for Williams was Gus Klein, who finished right up with the leaders in ninth position. Klein, showing his best form of the season, turned in two excellent runs to place him in the

See SKIERS, page 4

$500 GRAND PRIZE! $800 OTHER PRIZES! Mollé "What do you say?" Contest!

$500 to the Grand Prize winner! $50 to winners at each of 16 colleges!

Simple! Not too late to enter! Get in now! All you do is write your answers in the empty balloons! Mollé Contest runs ten weeks. Best sets of ten answers win cash prizes!

This is Set #3. If you missed previous sets, dig them up from recent issues of this newspaper. You must fill in all ten sets of answers to be eligible! With this set (Set #3), you must include carton from 25c or 50c tube or jar of Mollé! Remember to send carton along with Set #3!

Here are some hints for filling in Balloon #3B:

Mollé is brushless. Mollé is heavier! Mollé softens whiskers! Mollé is kind to tender skin, tames toughest whiskers. Mollé sets whiskers up right so your razor can cut them easier. With Mollé, you shave cleanly, quickly, smoothly, closely, more painlessly.

Now—fill in your answers, your name, address and college, enclose carton—and mail!

What do you say when a gal says:

What do you say when a pal says:

Fill 'em in—send 'em in! You can win! Read contest rules! Get in Mollé's easy-money "What do you say?" Contest now!

CONTEST RULES... Mollé "What do you say?" Contest

1. Merely write, in the blank cartoon balloons above, your answers to the questions. Mail your entry to the address given elsewhere in this ad. Be sure to fill in your complete name and address in the space indicated.

2. Each contestant must be a registered male student of the college in whose paper this contest is published, and each contestant must compete in all ten sets of cartoons in order to be eligible for prizes. If you did not receive a copy of this newspaper, a reasonable facsimile of the cartoon or a written description of it will be accepted.

3. With Sets No. 3 and No. 8, the contestant must include a carton from a 25c or 50c tube—or from any size jar—of Mollé. Remember, only two cartons (of any size) are required, but be sure you send one in with No. 3 and one in with No. 8 of the sets.

4. Only one entry will be accepted from each contestant in each set and all entries must be the original work of the contestants, submitted in their own names.

5. Entries will be judged by the Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation, an independent judging organization. All ten cartoons submitted by a single contestant will be considered as a unit in judging, and the judges' decisions will be based on the originality, aptness and interest of each set. First prize winners of $50 from each school will be eligible for the Grand Prize of $500.00 to be awarded to the best series of entries from all the schools. The decision of the judges is final and duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of ties.

6. All entries become the property of Sterling Drug Inc., and no entries will be returned.

7. All ten sets of answers must be mailed before May 14, 1948, final date of the contest. Entries with inadequate postage will not be accepted. Prize winners will be announced here the week of May 24.

What's back of that name for YOU?

Most of the name Western Electric are 130,000 men and women who help make your Bell Telephone service the best—at the lowest possible cost.

Where are they? What do they do?

They're in factories in 18 cities, making vast amounts of telephone equipment designed by their teammates at Bell Telephone Laboratories.

They're all over the map, buying all kinds of Bell System supplies from other manufacturers.

They're at 29 distributing houses, filling orders from Bell Telephone companies for apparatus and supplies.

More than 31,000 of them are in mobile crews installing intricate central office switchboards and equipment.

In doing this huge job—one of the most complex in industry—Western Electric people are contributing daily to the efficiency and economy of your Bell Telephone service.

Western Electric

A UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM SINCE 1882

WMS SCHEDULE

Monday
 5:15 Music, sports, advisor, special announcements, and requests
 6:15 Sign off
 8:00 Class. Music
 9:00 News
 9:15 Music House
 9:30 Mon. Dramatic Work Shop of the Air
 9:30 Tues. 52nd Streeters
 10:00 Music
 10:30 Music
 10:45 Story Hour
 11:00 Sign off

Tuesday
 Sign off
 Class. Music
 News
 Music House
 Music
 Semi-Class. Music
 Semi-Class Mus.
 Sign off

Mermen - - -

tance-man John Moore, the Ellis are definitely the team to beat.

Verdeur Triple Winner?

LaSalle, sparked by Joe Verdeur, national breaststroke champ, co-holder with Jack Medica of the national 220 freestyle record, 2:09.6, set in 1936, and probable winner of the 300 individual medley, and Jimmy Jones, who does the 100 in :51.0, figures to be a real power. Penn is also strong, as is North Carolina; both Dartmouth and Harvard will have some good men in the events.

Purple Sailors - - -

Hexagonal Regatta at Brown tomorrow, and the Connecticut Valley Regatta at the Coast Guard Academy April 11. Seven other regattas are on the spring schedule.

The Yacht Club has received the sanction of the UC to sponsor the college dance during Spring Houseparties. Newly-elected Commodore Wallace M. Davis, Jr. '50, expressed the hope that with the revenue obtained from the dance the club might be able to procure some boats and perhaps make use of Lake Pontoosuc for both practice and regattas. Operating without benefit of a financial grant from the SAC, the club has had a difficult time with finances. However, next year the mariners will receive aid from the SAC and may be able to have a home schedule.

Schedule - - -

May 24	Middlebury	Home
May 26	Wesleyan	Away
May 29	Amherst	Home

New Comic - - -

and several others drove out to California. While there they composed another song entitled "Oh You Bet, The Dew Is Wet." However, after trying everyone from song-pluggers to Hollywood producers, they were unable to get it published.

Not long afterwards Jones hitch-hiked back east alone. In his travels he met a "little kid with blonde hair" whose name was Raymie. Somehow, Raymie gave him an inspiration and by the time he reached New York he had "dreamt up" an entire comic strip centered around little Raymie.

After drawing up about a dozen strips he began searching for a purchaser. Finally, he interested the New York Herald Tribune. However, they debated for several months before they agreed to run 12 trial strips of "Uncle Charlie" to determine the reactions of their readers. Meanwhile Jones is continuing to teach art and French at St. Johnsbury Academy and wondering whether or not there's a contract forthcoming.

Skiers - - -

top brackets.

Case Prime, who whipped off his first run in excellent time, fell on his second run, but his total time was still good enough to place him fifteenth, and second for the Ephs.

Volkman Places

Right behind Prime, placing seventeenth, was Gordy Volkman. Fourth man for Williams was Pete Finlay in the twenty-eighth position.

Each team entered five men, who did two runs each. The total of the two times determined their final ranking, with the first four men on each team counting in the scoring.

Campbell Hurt

The Ephs ran into some hard luck when Dunc Campbell was injured in a test trial before the meet. After trying the first run, he was forced to drop out.

Middlebury swept five of the first six places to take the meet by a run-away score. Dartmouth placed Arneberg in number-two spot and put several more men in the first ten to help the Green win second place.

Amherst Sixth

Following Williams were Harvard, Yale and Amherst in that order. Spread out over the other six positions were Colby, Bowdoin, University of New Hampshire, Norwich, and MIT.

Art Masterpieces

The exhibit of 200 painting masterpieces from the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin will be on exhibit at the National Gallery in Washington until April 18.

Patronize

RECORD
 Advertisers

White magic for Easter

Van Heusen pulls white magic out of the hat for you — with fine, smooth white broadcloth and oxford shirts in all your favorite collar models. These shirts feature the wizardry of Van Heusen's seamanship in every detail: the new low-setting "Comfort Contour" collar styling, action-room tailoring, tapered fit, tug-proof pearl buttons. They're Sanforized, too—a new shirt free if your Van Heusen shrinks out of size. Make like a bunny to your nearest dealer. $3.50, $3.95 and $4.95. PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., NEW YORK 1, NEW YORK.

You're the man most likely to succeed in
Van Heusen Shirts
 TIES • SPORT SHIRTS • PAJAMAS

EXCLUSIVE AGENTS...

Williams Co-op

The Merry-Go-Round

A WILLIAMS FAVORITE FOR DANCING AND DRINKING
 On Route 67 Near Bennington
 Hoosick Falls 333-W

The State Line

The Perfect Spot For An Evening of Fun

Where is it . . . ?

Ask Any Bennington Girl

NOT FOUR

NOT THREE

NOT TWO

Just One Mile Outside of Town on the Road to Bennington

Murphy's Restaurant

For a Quick One on the Way Up or a Night Cap on the Way Back

WHY LOOK FURTHER?

Raleigh's Restaurant

Offers a Variety of Taste Treats

417 Main Street

Bennington, Vermont

BENNINGTON OPENS!

LAMPS

FABRICS

RUGS

GIFTS

on the Bennington Road just past Phi Gam

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER HEADQUARTERS

Smith-Corona

Underwood

Royal

108 Main Street
 North Adams

More Students Are Finding That it Pays to Shop Wisely. We Have the RIGHT Clothes at the RIGHT Price.

C.H. CUTTING & CO.

NORTH ADAMS

Berkshire Optical Company

Prescription Optician

Courteous, efficient and Prompt
 Repair Service
 Broken Lenses or Frames

FRANK PROVENCHER, Proprietor
 2nd Floor of the Kimbell Building,
 Phone North Adams 1138

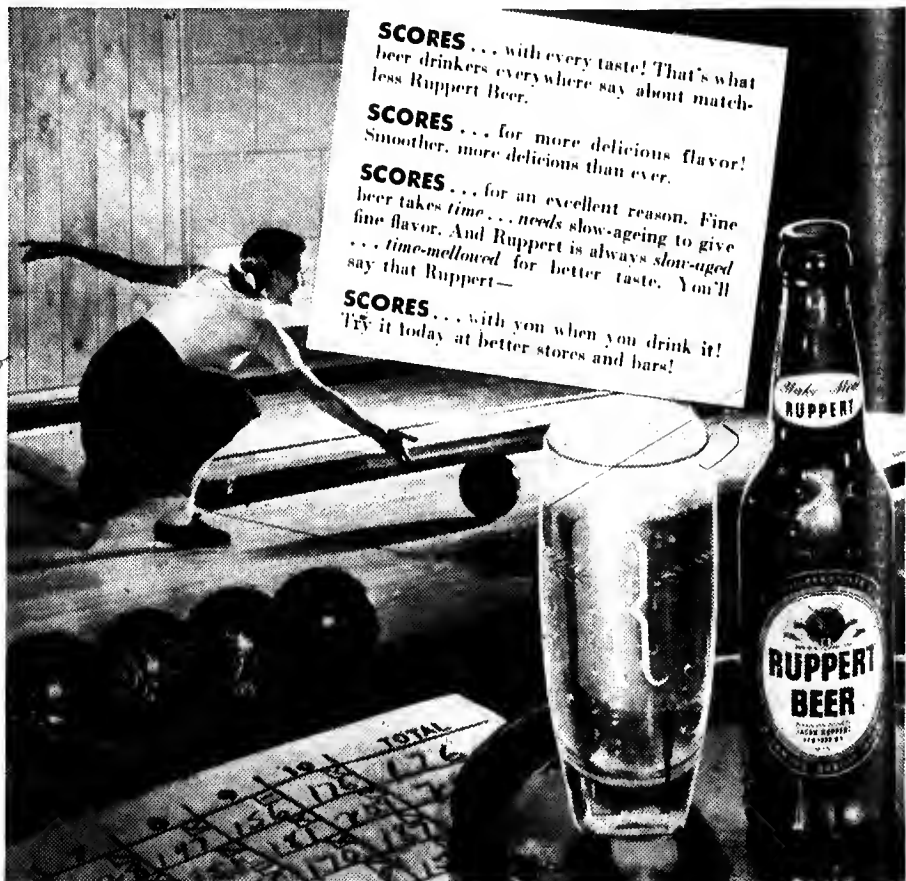

INSURANCE BROKERS
 TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beckman 3-4730

SCORES ...because it's slow-aged!

Ruppert Knickerbocker Beer and Ruppert Ale, Jacob Ruppert, New York City—1948

Today...try New York's Most Famous Beer RUPPERT

Local, National Information And Opinions On Selective Service, Universal Military Training Presented In RECORD Survey

New York Times, March 18—Special—President Truman bluntly accused Soviet Russia today of plotting the subjugation of Europe and demanded universal military training supported by a temporary draft to forestall "threatened Communist control and police-state rule" of the remaining free nations of the Continent ... the Chief Executive urged quick adoption of the European Recovery Program and pledged full United States support of the Western European union agreement on economic co-operation and mutual defense signed today at Brussels ... implicit in the preparedness program he outlined was the need for substantially increased expenditures on the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Boston Daily Globe, March 18—UP—The Army disclosed today that it is writing a bill to revive Selective Service in line with President Truman's request ... Walter G. Andrews of the House Armed Services Committee said he expects the armed forces to ask permission to draft 800,000 to 1,000,000 youths within a year ... Andrews said if the necessary legislation is enacted promptly, the first draftees could be called up for service in July ... and age limit between 20 or 21 and 26, with each draftee to spend at least 18 months in service ... World War II veterans probably would be exempt.

New York Times, March 20—Special—Congress heard with somber anxiety and vast reluctance today President Truman's recommendations for a temporarily restored military draft and for universal military training.

New York Times, March 20—AP—A majority of Senators remain to be convinced that Congress should write into law President Truman's proposals for universal military training and a revival of the draft. The results were as follows: UMT—32 favorable, 12 opposed, 47 undecided or noncommittal. Draft—31 favorable, 3 opposed, 57 undecided or noncommittal.

New York Times, March 19—Special—Congress was urged by the country's top military officials today to approve promptly a stop-gap selective draft which might call a minimum of 340,000 men into service for at least two years ... this number it was conceded probably would go higher.

PM Daily, March 18—Max Lerner: What President Truman's speech amounts to is a call for the mobilization of war manpower ... if war is imminent, then let him tell us about it. Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.)—"If we do not have the minimum of national armed security, we must provide them by the most available means ... This is no moment for hysteria. But it is a moment for straight thinking and prudent action" ... Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Texas)—"It is a very challenging message, one that should cause every true American to think seriously about our situation and the world situation." ... Rep. Vito Marcantonio (ALP-N. Y.)—"A cheap piece of soap opera and an attempt to cause hysteria."

PM Daily, March 19—Henry Wallace declared last night President Truman has expanded his foreign policy "to a point where it threatens the life of every human being in the world." Max Lerner, "there has never been a time in American history since the Civil War when the nation was closer to the brink of tragic disaster than it is today."

Compiled by SETH BIDWELL
Questions: 1. Would you like to see Selective Service passed by Congress? 2. Do you think it will be passed? 3. If not, do you think universal military training is sufficient to meet the crisis which President Truman apparently believes exists? 4. If the draft or UMT is passed what effect do you think it will have on Soviet actions? 5. How do you feel personally about going to war. Do you think it will be now, later, or eventually averted?

R. D. Connelly '49, Grosse Pointe, Mich. "My answer to the first question is definitely yes, but I have my doubts as to whether it will be passed in time. I don't think UMT is a sufficient measure. As far as the effect on Russia, it will have none what-so-ever. For the past two decades the Soviet government has told the Russian people that capitalism and communism are completely incompatible. In their present course of action, they have committed themselves too far—both to the Russian people and the world—so that no action of the US will stop their expansion. It is a steam-roller effect which can lead to only one thing. I obviously feel that war will be now."

Fred W. Logan '49, Louisville, Ky. "Yes, I would like to see the draft passed. It will depend upon the Democrats and the Republicans to work up the people into a frame of mind where it will be accepted. It also depends on Russian activities and the Italian election. UMT is insufficient the way it is drawn up—note the test at Fort Knox—it would not be of any military value. It is an indoctrination of young boys. I think no matter if it is passed or not, Russia has been assuming war in the next five to twenty years and will declare war eventually. I don't think we will go to war now. I think in five years or more we will. I think right now Russia is less prepared to fight than we are. I don't think it will in the future. The Russian power will increase as ours decreases—that goes with past performances."

J. David Maier '48, Milford, Conn. "My answer to the first two questions is no. I don't think it will be passed and I don't even favor UMT because I think that if nations are prepared for war that is just about the quickest way to get into one. If people would stop working for war and work for peace, we would be better off. I think that now the USSR is afraid of the US because of our greater economic potential and if the draft is passed it may scare them more. It may stop their aggression but it may also accelerate their war preparation as a defense. I think it could be averted but don't think it will be. I am afraid we will have a war within ten years but not much before that unless the US starts it."

Mrs. Ann Jones '47, Smith College, Wilmette, Ill. "I would not like to see the draft passed but think it will be if Congress has the war jitters. If the danger Truman claims exists, really does exist, I think that the draft is necessary, and that UMT will not be sufficient. Otherwise, I believe that UMT is a sufficient measure. I think it will make the USSR more hostile and on its guard than it was before. War is possible before November, I think. If we don't have it before then, I think what happens after that depends on who is elected."

DeWitt Morrill '48, Bronxville, N. Y. "I would like to see the draft passed but I don't know enough about it. I fear it won't be on general principles but I also feel that UMT is not enough. I don't think what has been done now is sufficient to have the kind of effect on the Soviets they want. I think, however that this is the only way to prevent war in the sense that arming is way to prevent war, it is not a method. This forces the issue and causes talk on the issue which would otherwise be obscure and the Soviets would continue on their own path."

James A. Geier '51, Cincinnati, Ohio. "I favor the draft if it is necessary. If the situation becomes more critical, I think that UMT will help some. I don't believe that it will have any effect on the Russians. I think the Russians have their time schedule laid out and they know we won't go to war unless we are ready for it, and they don't think we are prepared to go to war. I think we will have war. I don't think we will have it immediately but will have war when the Russians are ready for war."

George W. Selly '51, NYC. "Yes, I favor the draft but I don't think it will get passed because it is election year. As far as UMT is concerned, I don't think it could get under way in time. Nothing can make the Russian situation worse. I think it will possibly slow them down if they aren't ready to go to war now. I don't think war can be averted. I rather think we are going to have it. I don't believe Russia is going to back down and I hope we are not. So it appears that war is inevitable."

Pat Seaman '48, Mt. Holyoke College, Red Bank, N. J. "Yes, I guess I want the draft and I think it will take time but when Congress finally gets in motion it will be passed. I think passage of the draft will scare the Russians. I am not too well versed on Soviet politics but believe that any sound military action will make the Russians reconsider any expansionist activities. The present crisis will be averted I believe. It is possible we will have another war in twenty years, however, because it is a human trait to go to war about conflicting ideologies—economic and politics."

John K. Whitney '50, Wayzata, Minn. "Yes, I would like to see the draft passed, but I don't think it will be because I believe Congress feels that UMT is sufficient. I don't think it affects Russia at all because; unfortunately, UMT is just meant to expand the militarized man-power to 900,000. I am afraid that this will not affect Russian expansion but it might put our country in a stronger military position to combat communism in the future if it is necessary. I don't know about the time of war. I think it can be averted. I think if we can be forceful enough to stay short of war that the Communist doctrine will eventually defeat itself. It is so foul and rotten inside that if we can stay short of war, it will defeat itself."

Students Can Sign In ROTC

Future Sophomores, Juniors Allowed

The Williams Air ROTC unit has announced that it will start tomorrow to receive and process applications from students desiring to begin ROTC training next fall.

Information on the Air ROTC training and applications for entering the program next September may be obtained at the Air ROTC office in Chapin Hall between the hours of 8:30-11 a. m. and 1-4 p. m. on Thursday and Friday, March 25 and 26, and on Monday and Tuesday, April 12 and 13. Veterans who according to latest newspaper reports would be exempted from the temporary draft recommended to Congress by the President, would continue to be exempt if enrolled in the Air ROTC.

Veterans Only

Application at this time is limited to students who next fall will be sophomores with a minimum of six months' previous service in the Armed Forces, or at least three years of Junior ROTC training at an accredited institution, or will be juniors with a minimum of one year's previous military service. Only those applicants who are judged by the Professor of Military Science and Tactics and by the President of the College to be morally, psychologically, and physically suited to subsequently receive a reserve commission in the USAF, and whose past academic grades show promise, will be considered as eligible for the program.

Early application for admission to the program is desirable primarily because government equipment needed for the 1948-49 academic year must be ordered now, based on the exact number of new students who will enter the Air ROTC training next September. Application at this time also benefits the prospective ROTC student, in that his eligibility to enter the ROTC training can be determined now, and he can plan for a substitute course if he is ineligible.

Officers Appointed

The appointment of officers in the Air Reserve Officers' Training Corps at Williams was announced last week by Lieutenant Colonel Joseph A. Greco.

Heading the list of selections. See STUDENTS, page 4

Admissions Is Real Problem

Returnees Force Drop In Class Of 1952

"The admissions problem is more difficult this year than last," according to Director of Admissions Frederick Copeland and Associate Dean Albert Keep, both of whom have recently returned to Williamstown after visiting over 100 schools in various sections of the country. While there have been 2,000 names filed with the Committee on Admissions, about the same number as last year, only 230 to 250 applicants will be accepted as compared with the 270 that were admitted in the fall of 1947. Those who are admitted will be the ones with the highest school records and whose interest in Williams is most sincere. Although this is a decrease from the number in the present freshman class, the total college enrollment will not drop, due to the fact that twenty-five former Williams men have indicated their desire to return next fall. These men, most of whom are veterans, will make up the difference between the two classes.

The admissions office is, however, fully aware of the fact that the majority of the applicants colleges. Those men that really See ADMISSIONS, page 4

Birmingham, Kelley Take Leads In Play

Birmingham as Oedipus. Mrs. Kelley as Jocasta in "The Infernal Machine."

WPS Photo

Pres. Baxter, Wyckoff Ran 1913 RECORD

Three Issues Weekly; Paper Of 25 Years Ago Not As Varied

This March marks the 35th Anniversary since James P. Baxter '3rd '14 and William O. Wyckoff '14 took over their duties as Editor-in-Chief and Managing Editor respectively of the 1913-14 Williams RECORD.

The composition of a college newspaper in 1913 was quite different from what it is today, according to Mr. Wyckoff, now Director of the Placement Bureau. There was no separate sports page then, and sportswriters wrote in the formal style of that time. Furthermore, the RECORD had no columnists such as Josiah T. S. Horton and Roger Ernst, nor were there any by-line or full-spread headlines.

The publishing end of putting out the RECORD was also quite different. Since 1912 there had been three issues a week instead of two, which meant that the editors worked six nights a week. The issues came out on Monday, Thursday, and Saturday. Transportation, too, has changed, for then the paper's deadline had to be set early enough to get it aboard the 10:30 trolley at the foot of "Consumption Hill" for its trip to the printers in Pittsfield.

Then, as now, the editor-in-chief wrote the editorials and directed policy while the managing editor ran the news articles. Oddly enough, one of the biggest issues covered in Baxter's editorial column was the need for a new library and a larger endowment fund to permit paying the faculty better salaries. In 1913 Lawrence Hall, which served as the library, had such limited capacity that many books and periodicals were inaccessibly stored in various campus basements. Later in the year the Trustees authorized a $2,000,000 drive for general endowment and increased professors' salaries, but no provision for a new library was forthcoming at that time.

In contrast to the situation today, the college did not have enough freshman applicants in 1913 and the enrollment dropped. To correct this problem the editorial column urged every student to "do his best to interest prospective freshmen in Williams." An inter-scholastic track meet was also held here to acquaint more high school graduates with Williams.

In the year when Williams beat NYU in basketball 36-18 and had one of the top baseball teams in the East there were many editors See BAXTER, page 4

Cap and Bells To Give Drama Saturday Nite

Mrs. Helen Byrne Kelley and Stephen Birmingham '50, will play the lead roles of Jocasta and Oedipus in Jean Cocteau's "The Infernal Machine" this Saturday at 8:30 p. m. First produced in Paris in the mid-thirties, the play is a very free adaptation of the theme of Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex" that was produced by Cap and Bells last January.

The play's four acts correspond to the return of the phantom of Laius, Oedipus' talk with the Sphinx, the coronation and nuptial celebration, and the blinding of Oedipus. Sophocles' original tragedy dealt only with the events immediately preceding the time when Oedipus stabbed his eyes out with the golden brooches of his wife-mother Jocasta.

Cocteau's fantasy on this well-known theme is spread out over a longer period of Oedipus' life in order to better show the slow unwinding of a machine that is, according to The Voice in the first act, one of the most perfect constructed by the infernal gods for the mathematical destruction of a mortal.

The characterizations of several of Sophocles' original characters are modified to fit into Cocteau's version. Tiresius and Creon become evil-doers whom the audience is lead to believe are actually plotting against Oedipus. In Jocasta, Saturday night's audience will find itself confronted with a fatuous, middle-aged queen instead of the impetuous and volatile woman seen in "Oedipus Rex."

Other members of the cast include Stephen Sondheim '50, Tiresius; Mrs. Janet Burns, Sphinx; William Holt '51, Anubis; George Hopfenbeck '51, and Charles Jarrett '49, Soldiers; and Richard Schwab '48, Chief.

Mrs. Doris Safford plays the Matron, Andrew Heineman '50, Creon; Richard Chinman '51, The Voice; Miss Francis Chaffee, Antigone; and Dominick Dunne '49, Messenger. John Lasell '50, is cast as the Shepherd; Theodore Congdon '51, Drunk; and Irving Austin '48, Phantom of Laius.

Those who do not hold season tickets may obtain tickets for this performance through any Cap and Bells member for $1.20.

Varied Fields Open To June Graduates

Interviewers Scheduled For Wed., Thurs., Fri.

John E. Brassil, Retail Personnel Field Representative of the Sears, Roebuck and Company of Boston, and other prominent representatives of business will be at Williams during the remainder of the week to recruit students in a varied number of fields. Mr. Brassil is at Williams today to interview those interested in retail store management and other executive positions.

G. P. Whitcomb, Technical Employment and Training Supervisor for the Calco Chemical Division of the American Cyanamide Company, Boundbrook, N. J., will talk to chemistry majors on Thursday for work in the chemical industry. J. H. Hawes, Operating Manager of the W. T. Grant Company of Boston, will seek trainees at Williams on Friday for store managers in the New England Area.

A. E. Langenbach of The First National Bank of Chicago and R. W. Baker, Jr. of The Mutual Life See INTERVIEWS, page 4

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts

Williamstown, Massachusetts

"Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.

Editor-in-Chief Seth M. Bidwell, '49
 Managing Editor Joseph F. Dorsey, '49
 Sports Editor William R. Barney, '48
 Senior Associate Editor Charles Klensch, '48
 Associate Editors: Russell Platt '48, J. J. Cole '49, John S. Schafer F-'49, Charles E. Utley '49.
 Editorial Staff: 1949—K. Armstrong, J. Greene, P. Stites. 1950—H. Baker, M. Behre, S. Blaschke, P. Collins, K. Delany, W. Fawcett, J. Gibson, J. Golding, E. Gaurinlock, R. Heuer, H. Mohring, D. Pugh, L. Scofield, J. Shepardson, W. Stern, N. Van Horne, N. Wood. 1951—E. Jones, B. Perry, F. Reiche, D. Ruder, F. Wiseman.
 Business Managers Thomas Healy, Jr., '50, Dudley Irwin, III, '50.
 Assistant Business Manager John Prescott, '50.
 Advertising Manager Edward Stockhouse, '50.
 Circulation Manager Lon Homeier, '50.
 Treasurer Roland Palmedo, '50.

Volume LXII

MARCH 24, 1948

Number 5

Now Is The Hour

All Williams men during the past week have been occupied with the national and international situation and their present and future status with regard to the message delivered to a joint session of Congress by President Truman one week ago. Our editorial on this subject to all intents and purposes will be found in the RECORD survey presented on page one. When Senator Arthur Vandenberg said, "This is no moment for hysteria. But it is a moment for straight thinking and prudent action," he struck a key-note which all Williams men should consider.

Two days before the President's message to Congress, the speculation and rumors which flooded the Campus were mostly fallacious. As rumor had it, war was imminent and the ex-service men were dusting off their uniforms before the message was delivered. Obviously, this attitude now appears to have been pre-mature. However, the threat of war or the possibility of a re-institution of the draft and/or universal military training is prevalent. Thus, the RECORD has attempted to solidify facts and opinions on page one in an effort to clarify the situation for all Williams men.

The "prudent action" which Senator Vandenberg spoke of appears to be the re-vitalization of the draft. War, however, does not appear so imminent. There are many events which must take place before we reach the point of war, and to avoid this point of war, we must mobilize. The way the issue was presented to Congress, however, will make this a difficult task for Congress to accept. President Truman did not tell Congress or the American public enough for them to realize the gravity of the situation. An Associated Press poll of the Senate shows that the majority are undecided because they wish to learn more of the circumstances which prompted the President to deliver his message. In a country which adheres to the democratic process of government, the senators have every right to expect this. The President, obviously, made a mistake when he did not elucidate the reasons for his demands.

The recent putsch in Prague and the Communist threat in Finland and Italy to many people are indications enough. It should be an obvious indication to everyone, but it is not. Thus, it appears that the President's mistake was advocating to much with too little. Everyone, however, should logically assume that either the draft or UNIT, or possibly both, will be passed by Congress. If at least one is not passed, President Truman is guilty of risking our national reputation for the sake of party politics. If the President did not have previous liaison with the Congress that assured him passage of at least one of these measures, he took the chance that if both were defeated the world would become aware of the fact that the United States is not in the position to help others defend the type of government which we so strongly uphold theoretically.

Thus, if he did go to Congress with this chance in mind, it would appear that it was done to obscure other issues which he has found increasingly embarrassing. Covering his own political mistakes by the chance that a hostile Congress would blunder an issue of possible national livelihood is the lowest form of party politics. Let's hope this is not the case. The point is yet to be proven.

Distasteful as it may be, it seems that the only method of combating the Communist expansion, an expansion which has taken place with the ruthless suppression of individual liberty, is to enter the old game of power politics. In the past, such politics have always ended in conflict. With only two parties playing the game, this does not necessarily have to be the end this time. Thus, if power politics is to be the method of our political diplomacy, we must get ready to play the game. A game which may mean another war but a game which does not necessarily have to mean another war.

It appears that the administrative powers that be in the US government have drawn the dividing line between communism and democracy in Italy. The time has come to draw the line somewhere because the proper place has long been over-reached by the Communists. Czechoslovakia is now an example where a minority rules and yet the new government claims to be the will of the people. If such is the case, why do the Communists not allow the circulation of the President's message to Congress? If such is not the case why did Masaryk commit suicide? Was it because he thought the new government would be the mecca for all Czechs? Or was it because he was to democratic to exist in Czechoslovakia—the newest liberal country.

In Italy, much the same situation appears to exist. It is possible for a minority of Communists to pull a "coup" in Italy. If thirty-five percent of the new Italian government is Communist, it is possible to have a recurrence of Czechoslovakia. For a nation dedicated to democracy, we cannot stand by and allow this to happen. Therefore, any aid that the United States can give the Italian democrats is justified. If the Communists should receive fifty-one percent of the vote, then by all moral issue they should have control of the government. If they do not, however, they should only be allowed their just share.

Thus the stand of the United States comes not a moment too soon—if indeed it did not come too late. The rejuvenation of our military force can mean only one thing to Russia. It must mean that the United States is prepared to defend the natural right of all people to be governed as they desire. This is a fundamental concept of our Constitution and any attempt on our part to defend it is not "a cheap piece of soap opera" as Marcantonio contends. Contrary to Henry Wallace, American foreign policy does not "threaten the life of every human being in the world" any more than Soviet policy does.

The Third World War closely resembles the Third Punic War. Now is the hour for the democracies to again be prepared for an attack as it was then. It is not the hour for aggression because there never has been an hour for aggression. Our Russian comrades appear to believe, however, that the hour is near. We must convince them that hour will never come.

The Lightning Rod

Wallace -- Man Of Principle?

by Roger Ernst

I doubt very much that Henry A. Wallace will run for the Presidency. He has never been on the losing side. As Dwight MacDonald in his penetrating analysis entitled "Henry Wallace—the Man and the Myth" says: "There is no recorded case of Henry Wallace's separating himself, on an issue of principle, either from power or from those who dispense it." Wallace's chances of winning are nil. The most lavish estimates give H. A. W. six million votes. If he realizes that he is behaving as a Moscow agent, and then takes a position condemning the USSR policy on any important Soviet move, it is possible that the Communists will shelve him.

Actually it appears as if Wallace will not be able to find a single fault with Soviet acts. His reaction to the recent Czechoslovakian putsch is typical. He blamed the US for the overthrow of the legitimate government, arguing that our Ambassador had supported "rightist" groups in the country. If Wallace meant the Benes-Masaryk party by "rightist" he was calling "rightist" a party pledged to a large measure of socialism. Since when has the advocacy of such a program made a group "rightist?"

Wallace was to me, and to many of my friends, the articulator of the objectives of "the New Deal." He was a man much admired but friendless. He appeared to be a man of integrity, of moral guts; one who rose above party politics in attempting to achieve admirable goals. Was this not the truth? MacDonald argues with cogency that Wallace is a mystic, a man of indecision incapable of "in-fighting," an opportunist, and, at the same time, one who is interested in principles. However, this combination of qualities does not make a man a leader.

Vision—Plus Guts—Needed

One must have vision and one must deal with political realities; but, at the same time, a leader requires the guts necessary to fight the innumerable battles of detail. One must adhere to his principles and run risk of defeat for them. Therein lies integrity.

Wallace is not a man "of principle but of principles," as MacDonald points out. He favored an economy of abundance, but administered the "AAA" whereby every third row of cotton was plowed under! He was the exponent of a carefully blue-printed economy, but in his "Sixty Million Jobs" (1945) he came out for balancing the budget, business tax reductions, and very little more governmental spending than most business interests desired!

Wallace talks a good game. He verbally espouses the cause of eliminating privilege and injustice, but fight on this front he has not. Time and time again he was "out-of-town" when a crisis arose such as that over the Poll Tax Bill of 1942.

Unable To Deal With Reality

Wallace's language is fulsome. He speaks of "forward-looking," "freedom-loving," "clear-thinks," "progressives." He furthers "positive" and "constructive aims" rather than merely "engaging in irresponsible and destructive criticism." This last sentence means nothing in itself, but as an indication of H. A. W.'s nature, it belies an inability to deal with reality, to fight when the chips are down—and it serves as a convenient screen behind which he can prance. His verbiage allows him to espouse all causes at all times.

He is an opportunist. The rebuffs he received from President Roosevelt did not hinder him from staying on the band-wagon. He accommodated his views to those prevailing, and went on his way.

Wallace ignores the truth about the Soviet Union—deliberately. He says that political democracy is emphasized in our country, and that Russia stresses economic democracy. He believes there is "economic democracy" in the USSR! He strongly supports Vito Marcantonio, a Congressman who consistently keeps close to the Comrades. He finds no fault in the actions of the USSR. He feels that "good will" can solve all of the fundamental disputes existing between Western Europe and the USSR. When asked what the basis of the negotiation of the settlement should be, he has no answer.

Act Like Soviet Official

He is not, I believe, either a Communist or an agent of the Kremlin, but his every action supports the USSR. He acts as if he were a Soviet official. He has forgotten those few lines of English, known as the "Bill of Rights," which have at least partial reality here. Losing sight of America's most precious, most potent political asset is a major catastrophe.

Wallace has argued against the Marshall Plan—does he want Italy, France, and perhaps all of Europe to be made subject to the Soviet will as has Czechoslovakia? Does he expect that the USSR will aid the rehabilitation and economic reconstruction of Europe? Even if the the Soviet Union could accomplish such an industrial feat, does he believe it would be done without the complete annihilation of all personal and political liberties? The arrests of Czech citizens opposing the Communists, since the putsch on the twenty-sixth of February, tell the story. This is the reality Wallace is unwilling to face.

He gets my vote—"no-confidence."

Uncle Eph's Worm Farm

by D. Light de Moon

INTERCOLLEGIATE ITEM ... An enterprising group of Ephs put on their shoes last Friday night and disregarded pouring rain to attend the NASTC mardi gras. Our man Godfrey reports that it was well worth the effort. "More fun than a barrel of monkeys!" he enthused. "The gol-dardest fun-time I've had in quite a spell!" Bill Blanks and Jack Gibson vied at bean bags while Sandy Hoon and Dick Bilder competed on the dance floor, and Earl Spencer ducked into a corner, ostensibly to have his palm read. But it was really Psi U's party. Prize winner Steve Wyer, who came formal, racked up a big score pitching pennies. Stu Kennedy was observed puzzling over the number of beans in a glass jar as frat bros John Prescott and Rip West serenaded the bashful Margie.

THEY'RE STILL TALKING ABOUT ... Al Perry, who has replaced Tom Walsh as the sharpest dresser in town... Sleuth Royal pursuing the Gul social unit fotos in search of a mysterious offender. (The search for the Morgan Hall Marauder continues unabated, says the Chief.) ... Bill Jones, Dartmouth author of 'For Men Lonely,' collecting material in Guilfordopolis for a similar guide to men's colleges....

The DU's Saturday lunch last weekend which was interrupted by the arrival of five young ladies from an educational institution called Berkshire Hills. Informing their hosts that it was the charm and reputation of the House which had attracted them, the visitors remained until midnight absorbing DU hospitality. Their next stop—Dartmouth ... The D Phi's Saturday night record dances. Dates are one dollar.

"IT'S FROM BROOKS BROTHERS' SIXTH FLOOR SHOP"

We have planned Brooks Brothers' Sixth Floor Shop for men who like Brooks Quality and Good Taste in the Things they wear. Here men find a complete line of Suits, Shirts and Neckties...and other Clothing and Furnishings that fill their every requirement. Things that are typically Brooks...at generally lower prices.

Suits, $70 to $85 • Shirts, $4.25 and $5
 Overcoats, $85 • Neckwear, $1.50 to $2.50
 Pajamas, $5 and $6

ESTABLISHED 1818

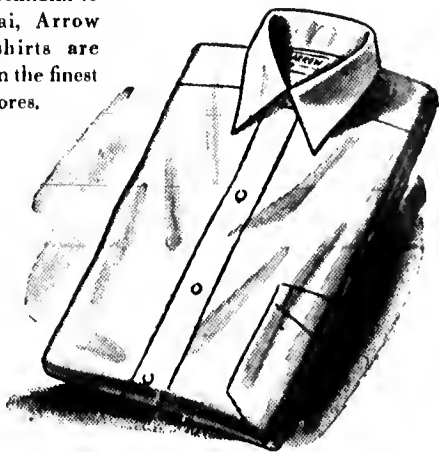

Brooks Brothers
CLOTHING
 Mens Furnishings, Hats & Shoes

346 MADISON AVENUE, COR. 44TH ST., NEW YORK 17, N. Y.
 46 NEWBURY STREET, BOSTON 16, MASS.
 LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

The Best Known and Best Liked White Shirt in the World Bears This Label

ARROW
 SANFORIZED
 BLUE GRAY

From Cairo to Mexico City and from Stockholm to Shanghai, Arrow white shirts are known in the finest men's stores.

With U. S. demand for Arrow whites still far from filled, we cannot yet supply the stores in 100 foreign countries that carried Arrow before the war.

But when we can, you may be sure that Arrow white shirts will still be an export America may be proud of and that the Arrow label will continue to mean style, quality, and value in the American manner!

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

YOU CAN GET ARROW PRODUCTS AT

C. H. Cutting & Co.

North Adams, Massachusetts

Berkshire Optical Company

Prescription Optician

Courteous, efficient and Prompt

Repair Service

Broken Lenses or Frames

FRANK PROVENCHER, Proprietor

2nd Floor of the Kimbell Building.

Phone North Adams 1136

Runners Third In Cleveland K of C Meet

B - W, Michigan Normal Nip Ephs In Midwest Invitational Games

Venturing to the midwest for the first time, the varsity mile relay team of Doc Weeth, Bill Barney, Jordan Smith, and Kev Delany snared third place in the Knights of Columbus track meet at Cleveland, Ohio last Friday night.

Coming to the Ohio Conference Championships of Baldwin Wallace and the second place quartet from Michigan Normal, the Purple runners decisively trimmed Ohio Wesleyan and Miami University. During the race a few mishaps occurred which might have converted the team to victory in this class.

Following the college mile relay, Kev Delany, who was unable to get through the pack as B-W took an early lead which they maintained throughout. On a quick pass from Weeth to Barney, the Williams thincleds from last place to third position in trying to pass the place Michigan runner, the broke through the weak surface. Judges forced the runners to run wide the remainder of the race and managed to slide with both Barney and Smith in the process.

Close behind Michigan all the way the Purple runners were unable to move out of third place, though both Smith and anchorman Delany closed up the gap. Nine college teams competed in the relay event divided into two races, class A and class B. Williams turned in the third fastest time while B-W won in 3:30 flat. Weeth ran his last college indoor race while Barney, Smith, and Delany return to form a solid nucleus for next year's boardrunners.

Tennis Squad Invades South

April Trip To Elude Adverse Weather

In an effort to escape the incredibly poor tennis weather that is invariably found in Williams-town during most of April, the Williams tennis team will journey south to Virginia and North Carolina during the Spring Recess.

This trip, an annual event for five years preceding the war, will be the first excursion since the spring of 1941. As in previous years, William and Mary, Duke, Virginia, and the University of North Carolina will be played.

William and Mary Strong

Coach Chaffee's squad will arrive in Williamsburg, Virginia on April 14. Practice sessions will be held that day and on the morning of April 5. That same afternoon will see the Ephemen take to the courts against the powerful William and Mary team. This team boasts such stars as Fred Kovalski, runner-up in the National Intercollegiate Championships last June, Bernie Bartzen, semi-finalist in the same tourney, and the Maeken brothers, Brendon and Jim, who have been on the Canadian Davis Cup team for the past two seasons.

After the William and Mary match the squad will head for Durham, North Carolina, where they will meet Duke University on April 6.

Following the Duke match the team travels to Chapel Hill, North Carolina where they will play the University of North Carolina on April 7 and 8. North Carolina has a great team led by Vic Seixas who ranks twelfth in the national men's singles and eighth in the doubles. The trip will be completed by a contest with the University of Virginia at Charlottesville on April 9.

Track Squad Well Balanced

Weakness In Hurdles; Strong In Weights

Ten returning lettermen from last year's team and several more letter-winners from previous years top the forty candidates out for track this spring.

This nucleus of lettermen gives Coach Tony Plansky a well-balanced team, particularly strong in the weights and running events, with the only apparent weakness in the hurdles.

Veterans Return

The sprints will be handled by Bill Barney, last year's number-one man and Lehman Cup winner, and Scotty Brooks, number-two man last year. In the quarter, Barney, Beans Bolin and "Doc" Weeth, out with a broken ankle last season, present a trio of capable runners.

Hurdles Weak

With three of last year's hurdlers gone, Benny Read remains as the only returning letterman from last year. He will run the highs, while Wally Shugg, Dan Spaeth and Beans Bolin will compete in the lows.

Kev Delany, who turned in some excellent performances last year in the quarter, half, and mile, leads the half-milers. Gordy Smith, number-two 880 man last year, and a member of the mile-relay team this winter, will give added strength in this event.

In the mile, Bud Wilson will be gone, but Delany, along with Phil Collins and Bill Davis round out a formidable field. Bill Kelton's loss is a big blow to the two-milers, but Paul Cook and Herb Chisolm of the Cross Country team ought to give the Ephs strength in this event.

Williams will be particularly strong in the shot put and discus. Gene Detmer, last year's captain, See TRACK, page 4

Frosh Five Wins Tourney

Beat Besse - Clark By 56 - 55 Score

Apparently not satisfied with an undefeated season and a Little Three Crown, the freshman basketball team, playing under the auspices of the College Pharmacy, added the Pittsfield Boys' Club tournament title by virtue of a 56-55 overtime victory over the Besse-Clark five in the Pittsfield armory last Saturday. Harry Sheehy was voted the tournament's outstanding player while he, Bob Larsen and Jack Fraser were selected for the All-Tournament team.

After a 39-36 victory over Seales High in the Quarter-finals and a 51-34 romp over Mooney's in the Semi-finals, the freshmen ran into trouble in the form of a sharpshooting Besse-Clark club in the final round. The hotly contested first half ended in a 27-27 tie and the final gun went off on a similar 49-49 deadlock.

The overtime period saw the yearlings score three times on lay-ups only to have the Besse-Clark setshot artists come back with the equalizing six points. With seven seconds remaining Jack Fraser stepped to the foul line and calmly swished the 56th and winning point in a real Frank Merriwell finish.

Jack Fraser and Bob Larsen led the scoring by chipping in with fourteen points apiece while "Squid" Sheehy held the younger member of the talented Ditmar family to a single field goal, thus choking off the major Besse-Clark scoring threat.

The tournament champs were awarded maroon warm-up jackets, and may now be viewed around campus in all their bright array. Corduroy jackets were awarded to Sheehy, Larsen and Fraser as members of the All-Tournament team. Most valuable player Sheehy was awarded a silver cup bearing a buxom young lady deftly palming a basketball.

Coombs Plans Six Week Ball Course

School To Develop New Varsity Prospects; Replaces JV Team

As soon as spring definitely makes up its mind to stay in Williams-town this year a new feature will be added to Williams Athletics. It will consist of a six week baseball school which will be run on Weston Field by varsity coach Bobby Coombs to develop new varsity material and take the place of the usual jayvee team.

Coach Coombs hopes that all those men who feel that they might be varsity material if some of the rough spots were ironed out and those men whose service during the late unpleasantness interrupted their ball playing will come out for the school which will be held every afternoon from 2 to 4.

The school will consist of batting practice, infield practice and intersquad games, but more importantly it will give Bobby Coombs a chance to do the individual coaching which he would never have if he kept a large varsity and jayvee squad. Bobby believes that the school will put added pressure on the varsity in that any good prospects are liable to be moved up to the varsity at any time.

Sophomores will receive PT credit for attending and no one in the school will be ineligible for interfraternity competition. At this point a great many men from last year's freshman and jayvee team as well as a number of upperclassmen who have never played ball at Williams have expressed an interest in the school. It is hoped that a large turnout this spring will make the school into an annual feature which will constantly provide a varsity players pool.

Swimmers Tie For Fourth At Easterns

Reid Captures Second Wineman, Lambert Baldwin, Relay Place

by Norm Wood

Coach Bob Muir's miraculous mermen kicked and splashed their way to new honors last weekend when they tied Harvard for fourth place in the Eastern Intercollegiate Swimming Association meet. All seven Williams swimmers who went to Harvard placed in events.

Yale, as usual, dominated the action for two days, during which time twenty-seven teams from all over the East competed for individual championships and the team totals which go with them. While the Elis as a team were accumulating the points, LaSalle ace Joe Verducci was stealing the show by setting two records, one world's record, the other, an American record.

Hank and Ray

Hank Wineman, who established a new New England back stroke mark only a week ago, swam a beautiful race on Friday, only to place third, behind Yale's backstroke twins, Alan Stack, and Ratkevich. Hank was even with the latter with about twenty yards to go, but Ratkevich beat Hank by a little more than a yard.

Ray Baldwin, who had been undefeated in the 220 this year, paddled over the course in the fastest time he had ever done. But two minutes and sixteen seconds was only good enough to give Ray a fifth. Yale's Paul Girdes covered the eighth-mile course in 2:11.5.

Bob, Captain Sandy, Relay Team

Bob Reid swam a tremendous 440, coming from behind to almost nip Eli Jim Moore. Bob had rallied to move from third to second, and was close behind Moore, but the man from New Haven out-See SWIMMING, page 4

"THE BEST IS YET TO BE"

The telephone will be seventy-two years old this year. Its development within a single lifetime has been a modern miracle. Yet it is only the beginning.

There are any number of men in the telephone business today—some just starting out—who will see greater progress than the past has ever known.

Year by year the next half century will be increasingly theirs. New leaders will appear from among them. Step by step, rung by rung, they will mount the ladder to the top. For telephone management is employee management and comes up from the ranks.

There will be more good jobs for qualified men in the telephone business in 1958 and 1998 than now. It just can't help being that way. For of all the businesses and professions, there are few more interesting and necessary.

So the future is bright for those who make telephony their life work. For them, "The best is yet to be."

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

TODAY

try Ruppert—it's Delicious!

Ruppert Knickerbocker Beer and Ruppert Ale, Jacob Ruppert, New York City - 1948

Today—try New York's Most Famous Beer

RUPPERT

Jean Domin, Skidmore Senior, Presents Graduation Recital

Williamstown Soprano Earns Music Major In Varied Program

Miss Jean Domin, soprano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Domin of Meacham Street, Williamstown, presented her graduation recital at Skidmore College Hall in Saratoga Springs on March 10.

Praised by one Saratoga review for her wide range of color and voice quality, Miss Domin sang a program of Italian, French, German and English pieces, culminating in the Liebestod, or Love-Death from Wagner's opera, Tristan und Isolde.

Tone, Interpretations Praised
The review also lauded her "intelligent and expressive interpretations... the clear and resonant tone in all portions of her range." A music major at Skidmore, she gave the recital as a graduation requirement.

Miss Domin's parents said that Jean began her singing career when she was in grammar school in Williamstown. Her uncle, Mr. Ralph Domin of North Adams, was her first voice teacher.

Studied at Northfield
At Northfield Seminary she studied voice under Miss Wollman of Mount Holyoke College who came up from South Hadley each week. She was also active in various singing organizations there, said her father.

Gave Recital in Chapin
Miss Domin gave a recital of light classical music in Chapin Hall, July 11, 1946. She was accompanied at the piano on that occasion by Ellen Safford, daughter of Thomas Safford, former professor of music at Williams and director of the college glee club for many years.

Mr. Domin, who is president of the Williamstown National Bank, asserted that his daughter does not intend to make a career of solo singing. Instead, he declared, she wants to teach music in a public school, preferably near Boston.

Miss Jean Domin

Baxter - - -

Editor Baxter's comments ranged from censure of the lack of hot water in the showers when teams returned from practice, to the proposal that the date of the Amherst baseball game be changed in view of the annual effects of "house-partyitis."

With regard to the present RECORD, Mr. Wyckoff believes that in many respects it has greatly improved since 1914. However, he hopes it will use "honest reporting" and talk to the person or department involved in a story before discussing a situation concerning them. He would also like to see criticisms accompanied by suggested remedies in order that the RECORD will become a more constructive force and a "builder-upper, not a breaker-downer."

WMS Schedule

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday
5:15 Music, Sports	Advisor	Special Announcements and Requests
6:15 Sign Off	Sign Off	Sign Off
8:00 Class. Music	Classical Music	Classical Music
9:00 News	News	News
9:15 Songs - Holt	Songs - Shaufler	Records - W. Ferguson
9:30 Everything Goes	Music House
H. Baldwin
9:45	Speech of the Week	Semi Classical Music
10:00	Inter Fraternity Sing
10:15 Music House		Music House
10:30	Interviews
10:45	C. Blakney - Piano
11:00 Sign Off	Sign Off	Sign Off

Interviews - - -

Insurance Company of N. Y., were at Williams earlier in the week to recruit trainees in their respective fields of business.

Students - - -

which were made on the basis of academic showing in the ROTC and in other departments of the college, leadership, general conduct, and overall appearance, was the appointment of William H. Adkins '49, as Cadet 1st Lieutenant and Squadron Commander. Appointed to Cadet 2nd Lieutenants were Oliver P. Bardes '50, William B. Burke '49, Darcy B. Davis, Jr. '48, and William H. Diment '49.

Cadet Noncommissioned Officers of the ROTC appointed are William B. Falconer, Jr. '49, Cadet 1st Sergeant; and John M. Forster 4th '50, Donald G. Rackerby '49, and Duncan Denny '50, Cadet Technical Sergeants.

Lt.-Col. Greco announced that these appointments will stand until Federal inspection of the unit on May 5. After that, permanent appointments will be made.

Admissions - - -

have filed applications at several desire to come to Williams can show their intention, Mr. Copeland said, "by arranging for a personal interview whenever possible and by indicating Williams as their first choice when they take the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test, which is required of every candidate seeking admission."

Many of the 2,000 applicants have already been discouraged because their school records are not strong, but the final selections will not be announced until the middle of May. The results of the Scholastic Aptitude Test will not come to the College until four weeks after it has been given and the results have to be considered along with the candidates' other records.

While Mr. Copeland thinks it "desirable to have a good cross section of the country" represented in each class, there is no quota system. This means that it is not determined ahead of time that a certain percentage of the class will be coming from high schools or prep schools, from certain prep or high schools, or from certain sections of the country. However, if two candidates of equal caliber, one from New York and the other, for example, from Denver, the one from Denver will be admitted. Geographical distribution being an important factor if all other things are equal.

When asked whether students at Williams might put in a "plug" for someone they knew who was applying, Mr. Copeland replied "recommendations," and that students should encourage their friends to visit Williamstown.

Swimming - - -

touched Bob by inches. Captain Sandy Lambert was also right in there, taking fifth place. It was so close, in fact, that it looked as if Sandy had captured the fourth slot. There was a total difference of .2 seconds between third and fifth places.

The 400 relay was another race in which Williams was just a hand to late. Yale took first place. Ray Baldwin swam a good anchor-man leg, following Moe Murray, Chick Brashears, and Bill Rueckert, but was beaten to the finish line by Rutgers and North Carolina, both by slim margins.

While Williams was chalking up thirteen points to tie Harvard for fourth place behind Yale, Rutgers, and LaSalle, the latter team's Joe Verdeur was wrapping up individual honors. On Friday night he gave up a better than good chance to win the 220 in order to swim in the 300 medley relay. LaSalle scored an upset victory over Yale in the event.

Then on Saturday afternoon he set a new world's record, 2:16.1, in the 200 breaststroke. Earlier that afternoon he had roared over the 300 individual medley course in 3:22.8, setting a new American record, there being no official world's record in the event.

Track - - -

brother Marty and Tom Edwards were all consistent scorers last year. In addition, Bill Blanks, a letter-winner several years ago, will be back to give added strength.

High Jump Weakened
In the high jump, Dick Shope, last year's best jumper has left, but Ben Read, Stan Roiler and Jack Austin will be the leading competitors. Scotty Brooks, Bill Barney and Johnny Hay will be this year's broad jumpers.

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

Provencier Jewelers

C. & J. LEMOINE, Proprietors

• JEWELRY • SILVERWARE • CHINA

5 Holden Street

North Adams, Mass.

Phone 844

By popular acclaim the
RICHMOND GRILL
is the place to go for
FOOD and DRINKS

Richmond
Hotel
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

WE WILL
LUBRICATE
YOUR CAR
THE FORD WAY

The Smith Baker Co.

Incorporated

NORTH ADAMS

Springtime is Ski-time

in Aspen
COLORADO

Learn to Ski Weeks, March 21, May 1

Dormitory room, meals, ski school lessons, unlimited use of lifts... $65.00 per week.

Roaring Fork Dormitory accommodations, $2.00 per night.

Prince Albert, 75c per night... (bring your own sleeping bag)

Three-day lift ticket, $10.75... Three days in ski school, $11.00.

In Aspen the snow lasts into June.

For reservations write:
Charles O. Bishop, Hotel Jerome,
Aspen, Colorado

Planned Printing

Miller, Lamb & Hunter
Incorporated

Weber Avenue
NORTH ADAMS, MASS.
Telephone 3553

If it's

BORDEN'S

It's got to be good

LADY BORDEN'S
ICE CREAM

105 Holden Street

TACONIC
Theatre

TUESDAY thru THURSDAY

"FRIEDA"

David Farrar - Flora Robson
Mai Zetterling

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

BLONDIE'S ANNIVERSARY

Penny Singleton
Arthur Lake

Selected Shorts

You'll arise... and sing with this RECORD!

It's "AIRIZAY" (Arise)—RCA Victor's new platter by Ray McKinley and his band

RAY MCKINLEY'S styling of the New Orleans ditty, "Airizay," is attracting lots of fans. If you ask Ray about it, he says: "I've found from long experience what style of music we do best—just as I've learned from experience that Camels suit my 'T-Zone' to a 'T.'" Try Camels! Learn for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience."

And here's another great record—
More people are smoking
CAMELS
than ever before!

CAMELS
are the choice of experience with me!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO.
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

The Williams Record

Volume LXII

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

SATURDAY, MARCH 27, 1948

Number 6

Roberts Heads Revised A M T Administration

Clarified Powers, Wide Representation Purpose Of Shakeup

by Prof. John Hawley Roberts

During the past few days, President Baxter has strengthened the Committee on the Administration of the Adams Memorial Theater, clarified its powers, and made it more broadly representative. Under the chairmanship of Professor John Hawley Roberts, of the English Department, with Mr. David Bryant, Director of the A.M.T., as its executive secretary it will include Professor S. Lane Faison, chairman of the Art Department, Professor Michele A. Vaccarello, of the Department of Romantic Languages, and Mr. John D. O'Neill of the English Department. Howard Erskine '49 and Dominick Dunne '49 will be undergraduate members of the Committee, on which will also serve Mrs. Richard A. Newhall and Mrs. Lawrence H. Bloedel, who have played many important roles in productions of Cap and Bells and of the former Little Theatre.

The Committee will try to solve various problems, of which one of the most difficult is the budgetary one. In an inflationary period such as the one in which the Theater must now operate, production costs increase while income diminishes. It will be the job of the Committee to keep a strict eye on expenses, hoping not to damage the quality of productions, and at the same time to try to devise means whereby many more students, faculty, and townspeople will become paying patrons of the Theater.

It is to be hoped also that faculty, students, and residents of Williamstown will all participate more actively in the Theater, so that they will come to feel that the A.M.T. belongs to them, will take a constructive interest in its work, and will contribute not only to the box office but to the life of the Theater itself.

Another task of the new committee will be to supervise the artistic function of the A.M.T. without making it stuffy or merely academic. Our theatre is part of an educational institution and can justify its existence only by playing its part in the cultural life of the College. This does not mean

See A.M.T., page 4

Summer Trips For Students

Trip's Average $600 To Europe, Hawaii

More than twenty summer trips to Europe and other parts of the world have been announced by World Study tours, a non-profit corporation of the Columbia University Travel Service. The trips, varying in length from 21 to 97 days, will take students to Eastern and Western Europe, South America, Hawaii, Australia, New Zealand, and points of interest in the United States.

The organization has planned several European trips at costs averaging only $600 from New York. The figure includes transportation, room and board, admission fees, and educational and recreational leadership.

According to World Study tours, its trips are designed not only to be less expensive than commercial tours, but to be more educative in the best sense of the word, since they give insight into economic, social, political and cultural movements abroad. Further information may be obtained by addressing World Study tours, Columbia University Travel Service, New York, 27, N. Y.

WOC To Elect Two Officers Tuesday

Elections for president and secretary-treasurer of the Williams Outing Club will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. in Griffin Hall, club president Ous Klein '48 announced today.

Klein also said that the new competition among club members for the heads of the four standing committees will be explained. The four committees are: Trails and Cabins, Sheep Hill, Winter Carnival, and Program and Personnel. The heads of these committees and the two club officers will comprise the Executive Committee.

Plans for sending a six-man team to the Dartmouth Woodsman's Weekend on May 8 will be discussed. The team will compete with other Eastern colleges in axemanship, canoeing, fly- and plug-casting, and fire-building.

UC Approves Parking Fine

Winter Carnival Nets WOC $231 Profit

Approval of a recommendation that College parking offenses be punished by five dollar fines rather than the present two week license suspensions, was the major decision of the Undergraduate Council at the short Monday night meeting.

Because the Dean's Office feels that the present system of two week driving suspensions is a difficult penalty to enforce for violations of College parking rules, Dean Robert R. Brooks proposed that a five dollar fine be imposed on offenders instead. The Council approved the Dean's recommendations.

Spring Conference

Robert A. Rupen '48, asked the UC for its opinion on changing the topic of the 1949 Spring Conference from politics to the humanities, as was suggested by Prof. S. Lane Faison in the March 8, Record. The recent Arts Conference at Vassar was cited as an example of the type of conference that might be had at Williams.

Since international and local affairs are things "almost everyone thinks he knows something about," Edson Spencer '48, said that he felt that the College leaning would be toward a political theme for the conference.

Prudish JA's Halt Freshm'n Outburst

Poli-Sci Department Instigators Of Fracas

The Political Science Department was under fire following a near riot in the freshman quad Monday night. Only the trigger-quick action of the Junior Advisers in Sage and Williams Halls prevented a sequel to last fall's sophomore-freshman fracas as many freshmen from both dorms joined in the boisterous activities which ranged from fireworks to mud-slinging.

The riot began harmlessly enough as several frosh, celebrating completion of a Political Science 2 hour test, returned to the quad singing. Gradually the noise increased until some freshmen started throwing flaming newspapers out their windows. This was followed by buckets of water, trumpet blasts, and fireworks.

A snow-mud battle between dorms threatened to break out at any moment, but William Anderson '51 averted this by dashing around the quad on his motorcycle, thus giving the throwers a target. Eventually the Junior Advisers restored peace after a frantic half-hour.

NSA Publishes Reg'nal Report

Expect To Coordinate Collegiate Activities

The Williams NSA chapter is now engaged in publishing a bi-monthly newspaper entitled "The NSA Report" which is to be circulated to more than fifty colleges in the northern New England Region of the NSA. According to Henry M. Halsted, III, '48, editor of the publication, the "Report" will act as "a northern New England Adviser" which is expected to coordinate inter-collegiate activities throughout Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, and Massachusetts.

Editors of the "Report" besides Halsted are Harry J. Finke '50, Kenneth Armstrong '49, and Charles Miller '50. The new publication will contain news events, and items of general interest to all colleges, such as, debates, International Relations activities, world study tours, and summer study opportunities.

At present, the "Report" is only in mimeograph form but it is hoped that in the fall it will assume the aspects of a newspaper and will contain national advertising to cut the price of individual copies. The cost of publication is now covered by dues paid by each chapter to the Regional Treasury and the cost of a copy is ten cents.

Harvard Tour

In keeping with one of the objects of the NSA, Harvard is promoting international student relations by conducting a tour of foreign students through several New England colleges. The tour will arrive in Williamstown next Friday, April 2. The members of the NSA will conduct the students around the campus and talk with some of the outstanding professors. The following day, the tour will continue on to Bennington. The students taking the tour are Marcus Culaise, England; Jeanne Priore, France; Helen Mayer, England; Leslie Lau, West Indies; Muzza Rosenstein, Russia.

Conference Delegates

Elections are soon to take place to select delegates to the National Student Congress to be held in the midwest this summer. Over 700 delegates attended the first Congress last year which was the Constituent Assembly of the organization. The purpose of the Congress is to discuss the problems which have arisen during the current college year and to establish the policy of the NSA for the coming year. The College will pay the expenses of those attending.

Szigeti Concert Will Feature Music Of Prokofieff, Bach

Joseph Szigeti, world famous violinist, will give the fourth recital in the Thompson Concert Series at Williams College on March 30 at 8:15 p.m. in Chapin Hall.

A feature on the program will be the first performance in Williamstown of a work by Prokofieff, one of the Russian composers who has recently come under fire in the Soviet Union. Regarded by many as one of the greatest living composers, Prokofieff was criticized by the Soviet Central Committee for reflecting in his work the modern bourgeois music of Europe and America.

On the other hand, his D major sonata has been described by Virgil, distinguished music critic, as "the most continuously interesting single piece of music this listener has encountered by that author in many years."

The program will also include Beethoven's "Kreutzer" Sonata

ADA Debates Truman Plan

Faculty Group Divided Over U M T Proposal

The Williams Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action met Wednesday night in Griffin Hall to discuss President Truman's recent message to Congress. Following a lengthy debate, the group appointed a committee of Dean Robert R. Brooks, Associate Professors Emile Despres and David B. Truman, and Assistant Professor James M. Burns to draft a letter to district congressman, John W. Heslton, telling him the various opinions expressed at the meeting.

More than thirty faculty members and their wives participated in the lively discussion which hit the three features of Truman's plan. While there was general agreement over the European Recovery Act, many disagreed with the proposal for UMT and Selective Service, and expressed concern over the effect of united congressional support in relation to our peace negotiations with Russia.

War Mobilization

In opening the discussion Professor Despres stated his conviction that the change of emphasis in United States foreign policy in the last few weeks has resulted in the "crystallization of the policy that we will rely on military force to check Soviet expansion." He contends that the mere threat of force would never cause Russia to loosen-up its control of satellite countries. Therefore, in view of the fact that UMT and Selective Service would be of no immediate use in the coming Italian elections he concludes that they are part of a long-range schedule for war mobilization.

ERP Can Work

Professor Johnson, however, doubts that the President's plan is an acknowledgment of the need for war. In his opinion the ERP can still work if Western Europe maintains confidence that our economic support will not be weakened by accompanying military demands.

Dean Brooks holds that the objective of the Truman proposals is an attempt "to balance the military potentials between the United States and Russia to give European countries a free choice between the two." Negotiation therefore is enhanced by military power rather than curtailed. Nor does he believe that ERP and Selective Service are incompatible, for ERP funds if used exclusively for economic rather than military purposes will give Europe a strong footing on which to stand.

Garfield Club Takes Scholastic Honors

Scholastic standings of Social Groups for the term from October 6, 1947 to February 15, 1948 recently released from the Dean's Office are as follows:

Rank	No. Men	Sem. Ave.
1 Garfield Club	255	3.5598
2 Beta Theta Pi	55	3.4852
3 Non-affiliates	30	3.4543
4 Sigma Phi	53	3.4219
5 Theta Delta Chi	54	3.3728
College Ave.	1095	3.3655
6 Delta Phi	52	3.3504
7 Chi Psi	57	3.3448
8 Alpha Delta Phi	56	3.3232
9 Delta Upsilon	57	3.3040
10 Zeta Psi	54	3.2935
11 Delta Kappa Epsi	51	3.2882
12 Phi Gamma Delta	59	3.2796
13 Kappa Alpha	47	3.2613
14 Phi Sigma Kappa	50	3.2590
15 Phi Delta Theta	55	3.2467
16 Psi Upsilon	56	3.1854
17 Delta Psi	54	3.1333

Harvard Op'ns Summer Term

Eight Weeks Feature Coeds, 150 Courses

Following a six year wartime lapse, Harvard University's Summer School will re-open for an eight week term June 28, for qualified men and women from all parts of the country.

Over 150 graduate and undergraduate courses are being offered in thirty scholastic fields by a faculty composed of educators and specialists of forty American and foreign schools and colleges. The Harvard Summer School is co-educational, and men students will live in the college dormitories and the women in the Radcliffe College houses.

Half Term's Credit

Under the eight week system of summer school, it will be possible for students to complete half the work of a regular academic term. All courses will carry academic credit, and students can take one full course, two half courses, or eight units. There will be extra-curricular events and activities open to the students.

Commenting on the role of the Summer School, George W. Adams, director, said that "it will provide opportunities for students to accelerate their programs, for teachers to improve their professional standing, and for the intellectually curious to pursue their fields of special interest."

WMS Airs Smith Satire On Ephmen

Newly Opened Station Plans Better Music

Since WMS opened on February 23, the production board built up several good programs including bee-bop, student drama and public speaking, while future shows feature attractions such as a Smith College variety satire on Williams men.

Bee-bop, new jazz style with a little more added, is given justice by the "52nd Streeters," and for the "straight" music, leader Johnny Marvin '50, has a new vocalist, Elaine Goodrich, who made her debut last Tuesday night. With this set-up WMS hopes to improve its music a great deal, since in the words of Harry Baldwin, prolific producer, "a live show has much more to offer than the usual recordings accompanied by a tired droning disc-jockey."

In the dramatic department Williams literary hopefuls get their chance on the "Dramatic Workshop," a program which is designed solely for the presentation of the student-written plays and skits. Likewise public speaking students present their own handiwork over "The Speech of the Week" which is the counter-part See WMS, page 4

UC Organizes Student Fund Drive Support

Undergrad Committee Appointed To Back B & E Campaign

In response to repeated student suggestions that the Williams student body should be more actively participating in the Williams Building and Endowment Fund Drive, the U.C. has set up a Fund Drive Committee, consisting of all this year's and next year's house and Garfield Club presidents plus an additional man from each social unit. Edson W. Spencer '48 heads the program.

This U. C. action stems from the conviction that no persons are more intimately interested in the success of the Fund Drive than the student body, and that it is an anomaly for members of this group to remain casual, relatively uninformed observers.

U. C. president Henry B. Dewey '48 outlined the potential value of student participation in the Drive, stating, "Some fellows will be able to make fairly large contributions, and everyone should be able to give something. The importance of this effort is not only the quantitative returns but also, perhaps more important, the boost that 100% student support would give to the Drive which is proceeding throughout the country."

Spencer has selected an executive committee to handle plans for publicity, subscriptions, and other details. This group consists of Wallace Barnes '49, Robert J. Boyer '48, Newton P. Darling, Jr. '48, Dickinson R. Debevoise '48, Eugene T. Detmar '48, Henry B. Dewey '48, and Charles W. Schmidt '48. The campaign will begin shortly after the April vacation.

Business Men To Speak Here

Firms' Representatives To Recruit Students

William H. Curtiss '40, Assistant to the President of the Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corporation, Toledo, Ohio, and several other business representatives will be at Williams during the week beginning Monday, March 28, to recruit students in their respective fields.

Mr. Curtiss, who was assistant to President Baxter for one year following his graduation, will speak at 7:30 Monday evening at the St. Anthony Lodge to any members of the student body interested in "A Career in Manufacturing."

Chemists, Bankers Here

George C. Capen, Assistant Superintendent of Agencies of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company of Hartford, will be in Williamstown Tuesday to interview students desiring home office and group claims work in the insurance field.

G. L. Bussard, College Contact Representative of the duPont Company, Wilmington, Delaware, will be seeking talent in the research, development, production, and sales fields of the chemical industry when he arrives in Williamstown on Wednesday.

Representing the Chase National Bank of New York, C. A. Bramley '28, will be at Williams Thursday to interview applicants for an eighteen months training course in commercial banking.

John H. Tompkins, Director of Personnel for the Vick Chemical Company of New York, will seek to recruit June graduates for work in merchandising and advertising on April 12, the first Monday following the spring recess.

Joseph Szigeti

the Bach Chaconne for violin alone, and music of Schubert, Paganini, Mompou, and Stravinsky. Szigeti will be accompanied by Joseph Levine at the piano.

The Williams Record

North Adams, Massachusetts Williamstown, Massachusetts
 "Entered as second-class matter November 27, 1944, at the post office at North Adams, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879." Printed by Miller, Lamb and Hunter, Inc., North Adams, Massachusetts. Published Wednesday and Saturday during the college year. Subscription price $5.00 per year. Record Office, Jesup Hall, Williamstown, Telephone 72.
 Volume LXII MARCH 27, 1948 Number 6

The Case Of Professor Schuman

Williams, as we all know, is now in the midst of a Fund Drive. The basic purpose of the Drive is to enable the College to continue its high standards of education by increasing College facilities, and, most important, by maintaining and strengthening the faculty. During this drive, Professor Schuman has deemed it necessary to publicly document his political beliefs which many undergraduates and alumni have considered extremely distasteful. In fact, many feel so strongly on the subject they have advocated the dismissal of Professor Schuman from the Williams faculty. In fact, many feel that unless Professor Schuman is dismissed, they have no obligation to contribute to the Fund Drive.

Obviously, such a position is not only childish but absolutely contrary to the fundamental concepts of American democracy. Everyone has the Constitutional right to criticize or evaluate any utterance of Professor Schuman. No American, however, has the right to suggest that Professor Schuman does not have the right to speak as he so chooses. This is also a fundamental right in the American concept of academic freedom. We may all agree or disagree as we choose but we must never destroy the area of criticism because criticism is fundamental in our education. If a Williams education were the indoctrination of a "single" party line, a Williams education would be worthless and the College may as well close its doors.

We trust the Alumni will recognize this fact when called upon to donate to the Fund Drive. In April when the undergraduates are also called upon to donate, we hope they will remember this principle.

Letter to the Editor

Letter to the Editor of The Williams Record:

Professor Schuman's recent article in the December issue of "Soviet Russia Today" has brought Williams College a certain degree of notoriety. We think it is time someone explained Mr. Schuman's dramatic technique of presentation. No one can deny that he has mastered the art of propaganda — the most effective means of employing its insidious, subtle phraseology. This combined with reams of specially selected facts, smear by association of ideas, and a smattering of psychology, is devastatingly effective, particularly to the average man, easily impressed and not too well informed.

In this article, "The Devil and Jimmy Byrnes", he employs the same technique used by Mark Antony in his attack on Brutus. It is interesting to compare the repetitive effect achieved by Schuman with that of Mark Antony:

For Brutus is an honourable man
 So are they all, all honourable men.

Schuman's words are a little different, but he ingeniously employs the same striking method. Schuman commences by eulogizing Byrnes to the sky: "Mr. Byrnes is a man of reason who all his life has sought peace... a citizen of good will, a genuine Christian in the best sense, a splendid American, a mover and thinker who is devoutly concerned with the welfare of his countryman and of all the world's people, few men have served their country more ably or been more honored by it." At this point it has gotten a bit sticky, but Schuman is quick to drop in an effective comment that Byrnes before he entered politics changed his religion, from Catholicism to Protestantism. Schuman immediately hits the punch line, i.e. how can a man with all these attributes give his "words an appalling quality of nightmarish insanity," an "element of madness". Byrnes "has sold his mind and soul to the dark god variously known as Beelzebub, Satan or Mephistopheles."

To Schuman's horror "the book (Speaking Frankly) sounds deceptively sane, but in reality endorsement is given to almost all the clichés about the Soviet Union which are the stock-in-trade of the Russo-phobes and Red-baiters." Then Schuman like Mark Antony begins to express his doubts about the sincerity of Byrnes. He dismisses as poppycock that Byrnes would have dark ulterior motives, but...? He says the Red Baiters have purposes of their own to serve. "Mr. Byrnes' purposes, one would like to believe, are of a different order. But his sales technique is suspiciously similar." Here we see Schuman again casting doubts on Byrnes' integrity, but dismissing them as intolerable because we know Byrnes is an honourable, honourable man.

Schuman is just beginning to get warmed up, now commencing his tirade of denunciation. In short order he characterizes Byrnes' purposes by such phrases as "mealy-mouthed self righteousness," then to achieve the maximum dramatic effect categorically brands Byrnes' views as "not only utterly nonsensical but that their propagation is dangerous to the point of criminality." Notice how carefully Schuman refrains from calling Byrnes criminal, yet he achieves the same by analogy, which is a far more subtle form of propaganda. Schuman's net is very fine, much to intricately woven for all of us to grasp the many implications. Again comes the punch line: he accuses Byrnes (in weighing American and Soviet politics) of "a number of amazing omissions." "None of them, I believe a product of deliberate deception, BUT..." Then to explain Byrnes' actions he fantastically suggests that Byrnes is laboring under a guilt complex. Schuman has no basis for such a denunciation. He puts it on the common level, by insinuating that he and the reader (notice the we) know "that familiar process whereby the mind, when worried by wears of guilt, suppresses into the unconscious all memory of the sources of anxiety." Isn't this a strange realm for a learned political scientist to be delving into, or is it the only device he can find to prove his point?

Next, Schuman reels off sentence after sentence of irrelevant facts not bearing directly on the points he has presented. To the listener or reader, as the case may be, this makes him think... this man has a lot on the ball... look how he can reel off the quotes. These hodge-podge facts combined with the dramatic emotional buildup makes exciting reading, BUT...?

Schuman, to top off this diatribe, approaches the ridiculous in stating that the U. S. grew wealthy on the war." Is his mind so warped that he considers a $260 billion debt, loss of untold natural resources, and a million injured and killed growing rich? Is this being brilliant and penetrating or merely deceptive and insidious? Schuman reaches new heights when he says, "Misrepresentation is as effective as omission in gilding the lily of delusion." Could these words be applied to Schuman instead of Byrnes? We leave that question to your judgment, for Brutus is an honourable, honourable man.

Schuman continues in the same vein by glossing over controversial points and at a superficial glance his theories appear to hold water. Quote: "Never under any threat will the Soviet leaders and people abandon Eastern Germany and Slavic Europe to Anglo-US control and to inevitable future use as new bases of attack against the Soviet Union." Isn't Schuman being quite dogmatic about the future moves of Communist policy? Shades of Vishinsky! Think of the
 See LETTER, page 4

CUM GRANO SALIS

by Josiah T. S. Horton

Somewhere on the front page of this issue you will stumble upon an article by Professor John Hawley Roberts in which he reveals the basic ideals of the AMT Committee now headed by Professor John Hawley Roberts.

I like basic ideals. I have always held that nothing is so basic as a good old ideal. But sometimes we get into difficulty of one sort or another when we try to live up to the minimum standards we set for ourselves by having basic ideals. Anyway, after I read Prof. Robert's article, I began to wonder what will happen when an attempt is made to set up next season's AMT bill of fare. As is only appropriate, I have written a little play about it. With proper handling, it could become a major production at Professor Robert's AMT.

THE INFERNAL MACHINE by ME Dramatis Personae
 The AMT Committee and other people who happen to drop in.

Scene 1 (Subterranean meeting place of the AMT Com. There is a door)

ROBERTS

This meeting will come to order. All rise and give the sacred oath.

ALL (rising)

I do solemnly swear on this beautifully bound second folio edition of Shakespeare that I will supervise the artistic function of the AMT without making it stuffy or merely academic, that I will cut AMT expenses to the bone without damaging the high quality of productions. I will be adventuresome, experimental, and vital. (They sit.)

O'NEILL

Open yon door, someone. It's stuffy in here.

ROBERTS

Not stuffy! Remember the oath — we mustn't be stuffy or merely academic. However, since this is the first meeting of the Committee with our new non-stuffy policy, I feel that we may open the door, if only to get rid of the stuffiness of the old Committee. (Opens door.)

FAISON

Well, what shall we do today?

ROBERTS

Let's have some fun and pick out the plays for next year.

ALL

Goody! That's a capital idea Roberts, you are a brick.

VACCARIELLO

Let's do something classically modern. I once saw a play called "The Artist". It's all about an artist who draws things. Mrs. Vaccariello and I thought it simply intoxicating.

ROBERTS

Oh, I don't like that. We had a play about a boxer who boxed last year. It's pretty much the same thing. Besides we might be accused of being arty, and that's the next thing to being stuffy, and you know the oath.

BRYANT

Maybe we could do another play in the Oedipus trilogy. All the faculty thought last year's "Oedipus" was swellie.

ROBERTS

The faculty liked it? Oh, that would never do. If the faculty approve of a play, it becomes "merely academic", and you know the oath.

O'NEILL

Why did you ever write that newspaper article. We were so happy until we had to take a sacred oath to uphold the ideals you mentioned. The way things are going, we'll end up with only one production—a student musical. (All cringe.)

ROBERTS

A musical? How can you be so naive to assume that? We've pledged ourselves to cut expenses, and we certainly can't throw money around like drunken sailors on things like that.

FAISON

But your article said the fun of amateur dramatics need not vanish.

ROBERTS

So it did. But I also pledged us to maintain the Cultural tone of the AMT. I don't like musicals anyway. All they do is make money.

(A person drops in.) Person

I saw an article in the RECORD and I want to participate more actively in the Theatre. I do a soft-shoe dance. (Does soft-shoe dance.)

ROBERTS

I'm afraid we haven't much need for a soft-shoe dancer.

PERSON

That's not doing much toward contributing to the life of the Theater. I write plays, too.

VACCARIELLO

How quaint! We're supposed to encourage adventurous and experimental productions. I think we're in the clear, Jack. We can give an entire season of this fellow's plays.

ROBERTS

Not so fast. We also have to balance the productions to include a variety of projects. However, we can include his play as one of the projects. What is it?

PERSON

It concerns this boxer who doesn't really want to be a boxer because his old man wants him to play the cello.

ROBERTS

A good original theme.

PERSON

So he falls in love with his mother. It all takes place in Restoration England.

ROBERTS

Good! We'll take it. Now we only have to find six other plays to fill up the season.

PERSON

Wait a minute! (This play of mine costs fifteen dollars to produce—I'm charging very high royalties.)

ROBERTS

Well, we can't accept it then. Fourteen dollars is the least we have ever taken in, and we can't gamble on budgeting more than that—even though your show is sure-fire. We might only take in thirteen dollars sometime.

O'NEILL

There goes our attempt to be adventuresome and experimental. We have to find some way of making more people become paying patrons of the Theater.

FAISON

We've tried giving plays. Maybe another approach is called for.

BRYANT

If only we didn't have to live up to all your public promises, we could put on the kind of plays we want to.

ROBERTS

We can always try Shakespeare.

O'NEILL

Who?

ROBERTS

All we have to do is produce a season which is not stuffy or academic, which is sober and Cultural fare without shoving aside light entertainment, a season which will be varied but which will please everyone.

BRYANT

O. K. Produce one.

FAISON

Let's sell the Theater. I give up.

ROBERTS

Better still — let's do what we always do. Forget the ideals and choose the kind of plays we like. Those suckers will come to anything. (Loud cheers from all.) Now here's a play which is worth looking into. Mrs. Lamson has dramatized this book by Fred Schuman... (Quick curtain and wild applause.)

INSURANCE BROKERS

TO Williams College

Veitch, Shaw & Remsen, Inc.

116 John Street, N. Y. C.

Beekman 3-4730

THOMAS McMAHON & SON

EST. 1830

CHEVROLET SALES AND SERVICE

DUST PROOF COAL

73
Spring St.

RANGE and FUEL OILS
Williamstown
Mass.

"Come on, Johnny, mother promised us Dentyne Chewing Gum if we only sat through it once!"

"Not even Frankie Swoonatra could make me miss Dentyne Chewing Gum! That nifty flavor really sends me—I mean it really does. And the way Dentyne helps keep my teeth white, I want to turn on the old smile all the time."

Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

Donald J. Atkinson* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil
 Because He Flunked the Finger Nail Test

WHY ACT like a donkey just because your ears are pointed? Don't "burro" your roommate's bottle... of Wildroot Cream-Oil, that is! Get some for yourself. See how it grooms your hair neatly and naturally without that goopy look! See how quickly it goes to work relieving annoying dryness and removing ugly, loose dandruff! Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic is non-alcoholic—it contains soothing Lanolin. Helps you pass the Fingernail Test. No wonder Wildroot Cream-Oil is "again and again the choice of men who put good grooming first!" Get a tube or bottle today at any drug or toilet goods counter. And ask your barber for a professional application.

* of 38 Drumant Terrace, Kenmore, N.Y.

MANCHESTER, VERMONT

FOUR-SEASON RESORT IN HEART OF THE GREEN MOUNTAINS
 ON U. S. 7, 190 MI. FROM NEW YORK, 130 FROM BOSTON

FOR

SPRING SKIING
 AND SPRING VACATIONS

STAY--- WORTHY INN

Open all year •
 Comfort round the clock • spacious lounge • cocktail lounge • Good food • a Duncan Hines selection •
 Sunny rooms • Special spring rates for College students.

SKI--- SNOW VALLEY

The lifetime record:
 Always dependable snow
 'til at least Apr. 15 •
 2 lifts • 3 rope tows •
 4 slopes • 6 trails • ski school • restaurant • Big racing program for Snow Valley guests.

WRITE FOR COLOR BROCHURE 00

Per information, reservations, 24-hour snow reports, phone Manch. 92 or 94W/also snow reports, N.Y.C. (24-hour) VA. 6-2550, Boston, LI. 7070.

Baseball Squad Practices In Cage; Faces 20 Game Schedule

Veteran Team Likely; Thirteen Lettermen Vie For Positions

by Steve Blaschke

Facing a tough twenty game schedule and the unpredictable Williamstown spring, the varsity baseball team has been working out in the cage under the direction of head coach Bobby Coombs for the past two weeks. The team, captained by first baseman Jim Young, will consist of a nucleus of thirteen lettermen and some good prospects from next year's Little Three champion freshman team.

A four-game spring trip will precede the regular season, which will open with a home game against Bowdoin on the twenty-first of April. The tough Army and Holy Cross contests will be played away this year, as will the game with Dartmouth, the first in many years.

The highlights of the nine home game season should be provided by the Wesleyan game on home-plate weekend, the Memorial Day encounter with Amherst, and the Yale and Harvard games on June second and nineteenth respectively.

At this point prospects look exceedingly bright for a team with a veteran ballplayer at every position. Young, a powerful left-handed hitter, is a fixture at first base while basketball captain Bob Brownell, last year's leading hitter with a .310 average, seems to be set at second base. Little Don Le Sage will be back in the shortstop slot but a real battle is forecast between Jim Waugh and Stan DeLisser for the hot corner. Waugh led the hitters last summer, while DeLisser is still remembered for his seven-for-seven Williams debut.

Left Field?

In the outer garden, Chuck Schmidt, last year's Stanky-like leadoff man, will be playing his final year in centerfield, while George Owen's hard lefthanded hitting should assure him the leftfield spot. Left field is wide open at this stage, with lettermen Rex Frost and Ralph Mason the leading contenders. Gordon Schofield and Jack Roth, two newcomers, may, however, give them quite a battle.

Chuck Goodell, who threw the fabulous Glenn Davis out stealing last year, will again be the number one receiver, while the veteran "Free" Salmon and the 1947 star freshman backstop Jerry Palmieri will be fighting it out for the number two slot.

"The Big Two"

The pitching prospects also look brighter than last year. The backbone of the mound staff will again be provided by big Bill Kaufman, who pitched that fourteen inning heart breaker at Amherst last year.

Cook Ousted In Nationals

Mat Captain, Blakney Place In NEAAU

Wrestling matches at Lehigh Friday, March 19, Paul Cook faced the country's top mat talent with the Olympic tryouts. After a grueling three-match schedule, Cook remained one of eight survivors from a field of sixteen. Suffering, he retired before overwhelming odds and flew to Quincy, Mass. to join Chuck Blakney in the New England Amateur Athletic Union matches on Saturday where both Eph entries took second places.

The Wrestling Nationals, in which Cook first competed, were run in accordance with the Olympic rules this year. The primary differences are the fifteen minute instead of one usual nine minute periods and the demerit system of elimination. In the first round Friday afternoon Cook lost by a fall to Lappin of Minnesota after ten minutes' wrestling. During this bout, the Eph Captain received a back injury which, although serious, did not visibly effect his ensuing matches.

The second bout that evening saw him pin Fisher of Rutgers in one minute, thirty seconds. Four hours later, at 1 a.m. Saturday, Cook again came on deck to gain a decision over Frank Fusco of Hofstra.

Although he was not eliminated from the meet, his prospects for the outcome were negligible. That morning, he boarded a plane for Boston to try for the New England AAU Title. After a bye in the first round of this meet, Cook pinned both his opponents in the next two. In the second of these bouts his knee cartilage was dislocated and, without treatment, he went into the finals against Dave Smith of Harvard. That match ended in a tight 3-3 draw and the Referee's decision gave the match and championship to Smith.

Chuck Blakney's score in this meet was identical; drawing an initial bye he also pinned his opposition in the 2nd and 3rd rounds. Unable to get his weight down for the weigh-in, Chuck wrestled in the Unlimited category. In the finals he met MIT's Lars Soderberg and lost a 6-2 decision but retained second place.

and basketball star "Bones" Dittmar who perpetrated an impressive three-hit shutout against RPI in his freshman year. The Big Two will be backed up by righthanders Freddy Lanes, Bob Johnson, Bob Ray and Charley Huntington, as well as by "Lefty" Yeaton and swimming co-captain Ray Baldwin, who do their twirling from the portside.

Wright Wins Squash Crown

George Wright '50, seeded first, captured the annual Williams College squash tournament with a 3-0 victory over Rich Allen '51 last Monday.

Allen, captain of the undefeated freshman team and runner-up dropped the first game 15-7. Wright's corners, coupled with his fine backhand shots, were the main factors in his victory in this initial game.

The second game was nip and tuck all the way. With the score tied at 11-11, Wright accidentally hit Allen on the side of his head, causing a deep gash. After a 15 minute delay, play was resumed and Wright eked out a 15-13 decision.

The final game saw Wright jump to a 9-0 lead. Allen then put on a last-ditch rally and at one spot trailed by only a 13-12 score, but Wright's aggressiveness and ability to hold the "T" position turned the tide and he annexed the third stanza, 15-12.

Fraternity Bowling

Team	W	L	Pct.
D Phi	8	0	1.000
Garfield	4	0	1.000
Phi Sig	3	1	.750
Phi Gam	5	3	.625
Deke	3	5	.375
DU	3	5	.375
Theta Delt	3	5	.375
Sig Phi	2	6	.250
Saints	2	6	.250
Betes	0	4	.000

ROSASCO'S TRAVEL AGENCY

Air - Rail - Bus - Steamship
TEL. 399
90 Main Street North Adams

Purple Teams Move South

Seven Planning On Southern Trip

Wells, Whitney Book Five April Matches

In order to avoid the disastrous consequences of last season's late start, seven Williams golfers have planned a southern trip for the coming spring vacation.

Five matches have been arranged by Dick Wells and Kim Whitney, who are handling the correspondence. The first match is scheduled for Monday afternoon against Georgetown, Virginia is scheduled for Tuesday, April 6, Duke for Wednesday, North Carolina, Thursday, and Wake Forest, Friday.

Those going with Wells and Whitney are Bucky Marchese and Jerry Cole of last year's squad, Dick Heuer, who copped the fall championship, Ted Quinlan, and Bill Burke. These men will travel at their own expense with a little help from the schools to be played, in the way of guarantees, beds and meals.

A review of last year's record should indicate what salutary potentialities this spring trip has. The team lost the first five matches, and then won five in a row before losing the final match and the Little Three crown to Wesleyan when Pete Griggs, number one man, caught the measles.

The first official contest of the season will be against last year's New England champs, Bowdoin, here on April 21.

Varsity Nine Plays Four; Prepares For Tough Season

The varsity baseball squad is preparing for a tough sixteen game schedule by travelling south for a four day spring trip during the April recess. To date four games have been slated, and a fifth is in the offing.

Coach Bobby Coombs expects to take five infielders, four outfielders, five pitchers, and two or three catchers on the excursion which will begin April 5th. The opening contest will be played against Temple University on the sixth, and will be followed by a game at Rutgers the next day. On the eighth the Purple nine encounters Upsala for the third vacation tilt.

Open Date

April 9th is still an open date, and if a baseball diamond can be found, the team will have an opportunity for two additional workout sessions.

The finale will be played at Villanova on the tenth, and by this time, weather permitting, the club should have enough of a headstart to put them in good shape for the April 21st home curtainraiser with Bowdoin. Having scheduled a total of twenty games for the spring campaign, the squad is listed to play its final game against Amherst at Pratt Field June 19th.

Stickmen To Play Princeton, Rutgers

Army, Lehigh Possible; Stevens Third Game

During Spring vacation, Coach Whoop Snively's lacrosse men will journey to Princeton and vicinity to play three, or possibly four games before their regular seven-game season opens at Harvard on April 17.

Princeton, Rutgers, and Stevens Institute are three definite games, and either Lehigh or Army may make a fourth. It is hoped that the experience gained from such a trip will counteract the overlapping winters of Williamstown.

Tigers Strong

The team reports in Princeton on Sunday, April 4, to spend the first two nights there. On Monday afternoon, the stickmen tangle with a strong Tiger team, coached by Dick Coleman '37, Williams graduate and former coach. The 1947 Princeton team was one of the top teams in the East, and this year's club will be sparked by three All-Americans. — Captain Hank Fish and Myrt Gaines in the midfield, and Fred Allner at defense.

On Tuesday morning the team will go either to West Point to play Army, or to Bethlehem, Pa., to play Lehigh. On Wednesday the Purple returns to New Jersey to face Rutgers at New Brunswick. Thursday morning the stickmen go to Hoboken to meet a Stevens Institute outfit that afternoon.

MONEY! MONEY!

$1300 IN CASH PRIZES!

Mollé "What do you say?" Contest!

$500 to the Grand Prize Winner!

$50 to each winner from 16 colleges! It's a cinch to win!

Just fill in the blank balloons of the cartoons with answers of 25 words or less!

This is Set #4! If you haven't entered the Mollé contest as yet, dig up the previous issues of this newspaper and get in it! You can win it!

And here are some hints to help you with cartoon B:

Mollé is heavier; Mollé is brushless; Mollé is kind to tender skin, rough on bristly beards; Mollé shaves you quicker, cleaner, closer, more painlessly!

Now — Get ready to answer Set #4 of the big Mollé contest!

What do you say when a gal says:

What do you say when a pal says:

Fill in the balloons, your name, address and college — then mail! Read contest rules!

CONTEST RULES... Mollé "What do you say?" Contest

1. Merely write, in the blank cartoon balloons above, your answers to the questions. Mail your entry to the address given elsewhere in this ad. Be sure to fill in your complete name and address in the space indicated.

2. Each contestant must be a registered male student of the college in whose paper this contest is published, and each contestant must compete in all ten sets of cartoons in order to be eligible for prizes. If you did not receive a copy of this new paper, a reasonable facsimile of the cartoon or a written description of it will be accepted.

3. With Sets No. 3 and No. 8, the contestant must include a cartoon from a 25¢ or 50¢ tube—or from any size jar—of Mollé. Remember, only two cartoons (of any size) are required, but be sure you send one in with No. 3 and one in with No. 8 of the sets.

4. Only one entry will be accepted from each contestant in each set and all entries must be the original work of the contestants, submitted in their own names.

5. Entries will be judged by the Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation, an independent judging organization. All ten cartoons submitted by a single contestant will be considered as a unit in judging, and the judges' decisions will be based on the originality, aptness and interest of each set. First prize winners of $50 from each school will be eligible for the Grand Prize of $500.00 to be awarded to the best series of entries from all the schools. The decision of the judges is final and duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of tie.

6. All entries become the property of Sterling Drug Inc., and no entries will be returned.

7. All ten sets of answers must be mailed before May 14, 1948, final date of the contest. Entries with inadequate postage will not be accepted. Prize winners will be announced here the week of May 24.

ATTENTION TRAVELERS:

ANNOUNCING NEW SCHEDULE OF DAILY TRIPS ON

Taconic Valley Bus Lines Inc.

Lv. Albany 9:15 A.M. arr Wms. 11:15 A.M.
Lv. Albany 5:15 P.M. arr Wms. 7:15 P.M.

Lv. Wms., College Drug Store, 12:15 P.M. arr Albany 2:05
Lv. Wms., Williams Inn, 8:15 P.M. arr Troy 9:40

Schedule daily, including Sundays and holidays
Terminal only a few blocks from railroad station, Albany

Where to take a date?

Easy — cocktails in the Ladies Lounge of The Williams Club, dinner in the Ladies' Dining Room, (and what drinks, and what dinner!) After that you're on your own.

Just one among many reasons why The Williams Club is the Meeting Place of Williams men in New York.

Some others:

Fine food at reasonable prices in the Grill.
Theatre Ticket Service (with capsule critiques if needed) by Stanley at the front desk.
Good rooms for overnight, with special rates for undergraduates.

The Williams Club

24 East 39th St. New York City
Undergraduates Always Welcome!

Letter - - -

millions of eager Americans aching to clamp their imperialistic paws on Eastern Europe as a base for attack on the Soviet Union! How high are we now! Schuman continues: "The children of Mother Russia have thrice in a single generation heroically faced death against the assaults of the Kaiser's Reich, the Allied and American interventionists." Again the recurring Brutus theme, "Is Jimmy Byrnes—able, affable, well-meaning, and earnest—no better than the mass murderers who died on the gallows?" Schuman answers for himself, of course not "no American today could accept any such monstrous view. BUT acts of men are judged less by their motives than by their fruits." Why does Schuman raise the question if the answer is obvious, another illustration of the technique in propaganda by means of the association of ideas.

Then comes the climax, Schuman heaps the blame for deterioration of relations with Soviet Russia solely on Byrnes. Schuman neglects to mention Czechoslovakia, Hungary, the other Balkan countries, the UN, Korea, her attempts on Persia, Turkey, and Greece? Isn't Schuman forgetting quite a bit himself? Is he doing the very same thing he accuses Byrnes of? Then comes the clincher (Shakespeare could do no better) "Mr. Byrnes is not a vicious

Springtime is Ski-time in Aspen COLORADO

Learn to Ski Weeks, March 21, May 1

Dormitory room, meals, ski school lessons, unlimited use of lifts... $65.00 per week.

Roaring Fork Dormitory accommodations, $2.00 per night.

Prince Albert, 75c per night... (bring your own sleeping bag)

Three-day lift ticket, $10.75... Three days in ski school, $11.00.

In Aspen the snow lasts into June.

For reservations write:
Charles O. Bishop, Hotel Jerome,
Aspen, Colorado

Williams men know what they want in good drinking and eating and so do we...

The Richmond Grill

North Adams, Mass.

Why wait until morning?

When you can get the outstanding news of the day every evening through the full leased wire Associated Press service in

The Transcript

North Adams, Mass.

On sale at 5 p.m. on all
Williamstown Newsstands

man. Neither were Keitel, Frick, Papen, Jodl, or Neurath."

Schuman concludes his dramatic masterpiece by saying that Wallace, Taylor, and Pepper are following the footsteps of Wilkie and Roosevelt. Thus, no matter whether the reader were Republican or Democrat he could only get the inference that Glenn Taylor (the hillbilly singer from Idaho) is in the footsteps of Roosevelt and Wilkie. A strange analogy for any type of reasoning! If we do not follow their path "we will have made a covenant with hell and a pact with death." This is prophet Schuman's great prophecy. He continues: "The measure of their (the U. S. people) ignorance, incapacity, and devilry is the fact that saintly Jimmy Byrnes is now the best advocate of Satan." Amazingly, Schuman has left the realm of theory for his finale and states as a fact that Byrnes is the best advocate of the devil. A far cry from his earlier statement that Byrnes "is a Christian in the best sense." But of course he has always prophesied doom, disaster, and devastating destruction for Civilization, Christianity, and Capitalism.

In summation we think Schuman represents a type of thinker that is good for the Williams student to hear, so he can understand this same "reasoning" when he meets it again. We hope that readers of Mr. Schuman's articles will remember that his victims are not the only ones who may be associated with "The Devil." Perhaps, Schuman himself is as good a subject for psychological analysis as Mr. Byrnes, whom we do not think is necessarily the only or the best perverter of public policy and historical fact.

Hubert R. Hudson

TYPING DONE

Efficient

Speedy

Neat

BARBARA THOMPSON

Call 200

TACONIC Theatre

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

Blondies
Anniversary

Penny Singleton
Arthur Lake

Sat. eve feature at 7:10, 9:10.
Last complete show 8:30

SUNDAY & MONDAY

Albuquerque

Randolph Scott
Barbara Britton

Sunday continuous from 2:15
Feature at 2:55, 5:00, 7:10, 9:20
Last complete show 8:40

TUESDAY thru THURSDAY

GOOD NEWS

June Allyson
Peter Lawford

CHIMNEY MIRROR

Marcello & Frank Ikeler

TEL. 302-M
WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

ROUTE 2
Directly opposite Howard Johnson's
Breakfast Served

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY SCHOOL of LAW

Admits Men and Women

Registration

Day and Evening Programs — September 13 to 15, 1948
Early application is necessary

Veterans accepted under G. I. Bills

47 MT. VERNON STREET BOSTON 8, MASSACHUSETTS
Telephone KEenmore 6-5800

A M T - - -

that the Theater need be dull or that the fun of amateur dramatics need vanish. Nor does it mean that light entertainment must give way entirely to more sober dramatic fare. The Committee will try to balance the production schedule to include a variety of projects, all unified by the excellence of the production and of the material. Certainly one ideal the Theater must strive for is to be adventuresome and experimental, offering from time to time dramatic opportunities that the commercial stage will not risk.

The new administrative committee will do its best to keep the AMT solvent, to bring it as a vital experience to more and more people, and to make its life worthy of the College. The Committee bespeaks the hearty cooperation of students, faculty, and town.

W M S - - -

of the drama section. The inter-fraternity program, singing and quizzing, are now a regular part of the WMS production schedule. In these programs members of various fraternities meet to vie for singing honors or for a battle of wits. This type of program is believed to reach more people on campus and have more general appeal than many; hence the station is already planning enlargements in this department.

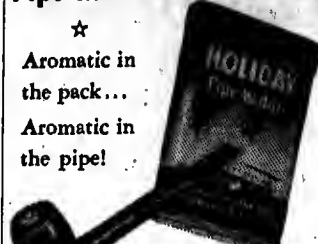

Coming about a week after spring vacation is the Smith College Variety satire program entitled, "The Secret Life of Sophia Smith," being presented by a group of Smith girls who are beginning a radio station of their own. The program is meant to give them experience as well as offer Williams men some humor at their own expense. Since it is still in

HOLIDAY

The Most Talked About
Pipe Mixture in America

★
Aromatic in the pack...

Aromatic in the pipe!

Holiday also comes in a 16 oz.
Hum-Seal Glass Jar
Larus & Brother Company, Richmond, Virginia.

the embryo stage there is little known about the content of the show other than it is to be a half-hour of comedy-skit and music.

LAMPS

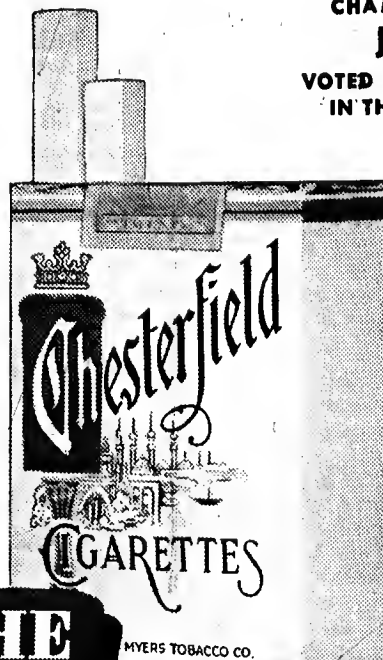

FABRICS

RUGS

GIFTS

on the Bennington Road
just past Phi Gam

CHAMPION N. Y. YANKEE'S
JOE DIMAGGIO
VOTED MOST VALUABLE PLAYER
IN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

THE BASEBALL MAN'S CIGARETTE

When you change to Chesterfield

THE FIRST THING YOU WILL
NOTICE IS THEIR MILDNESS

that's because of their Right Combination
World's Best Tobaccos —

ALWAYS Milder
BETTER TASTING
COOLER SMOKING

BOSTON BRAVE'S
BOB ELLIOTT
VOTED MOST VALUABLE PLAYER
IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

HESTERFIELD

ALWAYS Milder BETTER TASTING COOLER SMOKING

The Williams Record

Volume LXII

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31, 1948

Number 7

Cap and Bells Production Of 'The Infernal Machine' Weak

Mrs. Kelly, William Holt Perform Excellently

by Paul R. Barstow
The uninhibited talents of Helen Kelly, interesting sets, and several excellent minor characterizations saved a disappointing production of Jean Cocteau's "The Infernal Machine" from failure on Saturday night at the Adams Memorial Theater.

The variation on the Oedipus story provides wonderful opportunities for character realization. Mrs. Kelly took full advantage of the extravagant possibilities of her role as the aging Jocasta. She was silly, romantic, impetuous and hilarious, without losing the tragic potential inherent in her fate. Her conception of the role was exuberant and full of vitality; a tour de force which required no restraint and was given none.

Only William Holt as Anubis did not look pale beside her. He came to his role with the same savor faire and stage presence, and made of it a delightful commentary on the inexorable Infernal Machine. He suavely wandered about, cynically amused by the mortal passions, particularly those of the intoxicating Sphinx played by vivacious Jan Burns.

Stephen Birmingham struggled valiantly against his inadequate vocal and emotional power in an attempt to achieve the difficult characterization of Oedipus dictated by Cocteau's superposition of a Shakespearean character flaw on the Greek victim of Fate. After swinging into his stride in the third act, Mr. Birmingham let the last act and all its tragic possibilities go past him without turning his head.

Stephen Sondheim as Tiresias again showed that he has all the emotional and vocal power necessary for fine acting, but seemed held back by a fear of over-acting, or of reaching too high a pitch before his climaxes. When he let himself go he was strikingly effective, but through most of the play he let dramatic opportunities pass unrealized, and seemed only half into his role.

Several of the minor roles were beautifully done. George Hofenbeck as the young soldier so attractive to Jocasta admirably demonstrated the charm of person and naive character which comprised his strong appeal to the high-strung and emotionally starved queen. Dominick Dunne with bashful stance and bewildered look personified the young messenger from Corinth perfectly, and John Lasell played the Shepherd of Laïus with the power which should have been given to another role. The rest of the cast were competent to their rather uninspiring parts.

David Bryant's direction was unobtrusive but effective. In the third act the pace was finally hit, and that quarter of the production was highly successful, somewhat in contrast with the rest of the play.

The sets designed by William Tuttle were striking and ingenious. The square of four sets on a revolving stage was assisted by effective lighting work on the cyclorama. The set for the third act bedroom scene was particularly fine, with the nuptial bed slanted so that it was in the full view of the audience. The costumes, particularly those of Oedipus, were graceful and beautiful as designed by Helen Kelly, and her own headgear was intriguing.

Without Mrs. Kelly and Mr. Holt, the production would have been a failure, but if that was the circumstance which demanded their full powers, it should be praised rather than blamed for this rewarding weakness.

College Fund Meeting Scheduled April 20

The seventy-man student Fund Drive committee met Thursday night in Jesup Hall. Chairman Ed Spencer announced that there will be an all-college assembly Tuesday, April 20, at 7:30 p.m. It will be the job of this committee to persuade every student to attend this all-important meeting.

